News Notes of Carrizozo Schools

The wall of our high school is adorned by a valuable certificate from Smithsonian Institution. This certificate shows that the high school is now a regular patron of the Smithsonian Institute of Washington, D. C. This recognition is of the utmost value and comes to few high schools. Hence we are as proud of it as we are the accredited relations with Colleges and Universities.

Friday the 13th and final Examinations too; a strange event.

The Junior Class is practicing daily on their play entitled "No Account David". It is a three-act comedy-drama and will be presented in the near future.

Mr. Carpenter our local Supt., Mr. McLaskey Supt. of Alamogordo Schools, Mr. Grissom Supt. Corona Schools and Supt. Williams of Capitan departed at five o'clock in the morning last Friday for the meeting in Santa Fe of City Superintendents. They were delayed by the bad roads on return trip and Mr. Grissom did not get back to his schools until Tuesday morning.

The semester or mid-term examinations this week was not a cause of nervousness. However some students felt nervous just because of the atmospheric conditions. The school citizenship test shows that all students should give more time and attention to such important things as; school pep, attitude, and work habits.

Last Monday evening seventeen ambitious young people met in the study hall and made arrangements for college extension classes. More will be said about this at a later date.

The Spanish Department is preparing a play for assembly program, also a systematic study is being made of the Spanish Theatre.

Feb. 6 to 12 is Americanization week and Supt. Carpenter plans to celebrate it with a program to be published later.

BANKING LOOKS AHEAD

E Pluribus Unum

The famous motto of the United States, "E Pluribus Unum," meaning "One unity composed of many parts," has taken on added meaning in recent years.

Today our geographical units, the states, are welded into a homogeneous, closely knit whole. But our various classes and groups have not achieved the unity essential to sustained progress.

Government, labor, farmers, business men, banks—all must work together, shoulder to shoulder, if our country is to forge ahead. This bank will do its part.

Household Hints

By BETTY WELLS

IN DAYS of old when knights were bold, dining was a state occasion. But it took place in the main hall of the castle where the space was needed for other purposes between meals (sounds like modern apartment life, doesn't it?). Anyway the tables were usually made of trestles with enormous plank tops laid across the top.

The whole business was moved away when the meal was over so as to make space for dancing or entertainers. For a big party, two long tables of this type extended the length of the hall with a connecting high table for the more important guests, making a huge U shaped table.

The draw-top table came in when huge banquet halls went out and life became simpler. The refectory table was used widely at this time too. But just an everyday person would never have presumed to sit on a chair in those days—it had all the importance of a throne. At the table long benches were the common lot. It was not till the round or oval gate-leg table came in that chairs for dining became usual—after all you wouldn't do so well with benches at a round table. The tilt top table and the side flap table both belong along about this time.

The table with leaves that we find so practical today is a pretty modern development. For everyday family use, it's easier to manage and more versatile than the other earlier types of tables.

In early days the "trencher" was the chief dish or plate—it was a large oblong wooden bowl. This type of plate was still used up through Queen Anne's time. China for the table didn't become common till the Eighteenth century. The napkin and spoon were about all else the guest got in those days—there are no records of forks before the Seventeenth century and they weren't in everyday use till much later. Knives up till the Eighteenth century were individual possessions that a guest carried along like his gold toothpick.

Leather Upholstery

My mother got a leather couch and two enormous leather chairs when she married—button tufted they were and finished around the bottom with knotted leather fringe. Bet the old-timers can guess my age to a T! We grew up with those friendly old pieces, though they spent their declining years in slip covers—not because they wore out but just because they went "out."

But styles have come around to leather again. This time though it's a much more interesting and versatile material than it used to be. It is available in the most delicious colors, ranging from white and pastels to the deep subtle tones. But best of all it has also acquired a practical finish that makes it almost stain-proof and easily kept clean. It's being used for dining table tops and buffets as well as for dressers and vanities. It is stunning as wall paneling, too—and of course for upholstery both colors and textures in leather are exciting.

If you can't manage real leather, don't snub some of the excellent imitations that are now on the market. They too are easily cleaned and available in an interesting range of colors. There's quite a vogue for reptile and ostrich leathers in upholstery too, but for practicality their markings are usually stamped on the sturdier leathers such as cowhide.

Try the leather cure in the down-at-the-heels dining room. What wouldn't jade leather seats for the chairs do for the ivory-to-brown room? Or canary yellow seats in a white and maple room?

Or add one or a pair of leather covered chairs in the living room to break the monotony of fabric textures. French blue leather, for instance, to pull together a room that's predominantly brown, rust and gold. Or pale beige leather for the green and rust room. Or turquoise leather to go with a wine and gray ensemble. Or bright red leather in the room with pale-to-deep gray-blues.

One of the most attractive bedrooms I've seen about was in gray and coral and yellow with blond furniture.

Food Habits Alter As Years March On

Vegetables Now Included As Part of Infant Diet

By EDITH M. BARBER

WITH the increasingly abundant supply of vegetables in fresh, frozen and canned form which are now available throughout the year, our food habits have undergone an important change. We recognize the contributions of minerals and vitamins and also of fiber which vegetables make to the diet.

It is now considered an essential part of infant feeding to include vegetables within the first few months of life. The first reason is on account of their food contributions. The second reason for their early inclusion is the importance of educating the child to like vegetables and thus promote the taste for them throughout life.

Because the fiber is not suitable for the infant's digestive mechanism, only vegetable juice which is prepared by cooking the vegetable in a small amount of water, should be given at first. Shortly, however, the vegetable itself in strained form is added in increasingly large quantities.

As both vegetables and fruits, as well as cereals, can now be purchased in small glass jars or in cans already for use, it is easy for the mother to add strained foods to the baby's diet as the doctor orders.

Borscht

- 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1/4 cup minced onion
 - 1 jar or can (4 1/2 oz.) strained beets
 - 1 jar or can (4 1/2 oz.) strained carrots
 - 2 cups water
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - Pepper
 - 1 cup cooked cabbage, if desired
 - 1/2 cup sour cream
- Melt butter, add onion and cook until yellow. Add strained vegetables, water and seasonings. Bring to a boil, add cabbage and reheat. Pour into soup dishes and add a little sour cream to each serving. Yield—five to six servings.

Apricot Mousse

- 1 cup cream
 - 2 egg whites
 - 1 jar or can (4 1/2 oz.) strained apricots
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon almond flavoring
- Whip cream. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into whipped cream. Fold in strained apricots which have been mixed with sugar, salt and flavoring. Pour mixture into refrigerator tray and freeze three to four hours. Yield—six servings.

FOR OLDER ONES

Blanc Mâgé.

- 3 cups milk
 - 1/2 cup cornstarch
 - 2 eggs
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Scald 2 1/2 cups of milk, add remaining cold milk to cornstarch, stir to smooth paste and add to hot milk, stirring constantly. Cover and cook over hot water 15 to 20 minutes. Beat egg yolks with sugar and salt, and stir into hot mixture. Cook five minutes, remove from fire and stir in vanilla and fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into one large or six small molds and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

Rice Pudding.

- 1/2 cup rice
 - 4 cups milk
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - Nutmeg
- Wash the rice, mix the ingredients and pour into buttered pudding dish; bake three hours in a very slow oven (250 degrees Fahrenheit) stirring three times during the first hour of baking.

Savory Sausage. Cook small sausages until they are light brown. Remove from pan, pour off all but two tablespoons of fat and add one tablespoon butter, two tablespoons minced celery and one-half cup tomato catsup (to three-fourths pound sausage). Stir until hot and serve with sausage on buttered toast.

Baked Apples. Wash and core sour apples. With a sharp knife cut a line through the skin around the middle of each apple. This will prevent the skins bursting as the apples cook. Allow a quarter of a cup of sugar mixed with a quarter of a teaspoon of cinnamon to five apples. Fill the cavities with this mixture, place in a baking dish and cover the bottom of the dish with hot water. Bake in a hot oven, basting occasionally with the sirup. More water may be added as needed. Apples may be baked on top of the stove by placing in a covered dripping pan and cooking slowly, basting occasionally.

Creamed Fried Onions. 1 dozen medium sized onions
3 tablespoons fat
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper

Slice and fry the onions in fat. When light brown, dredge with flour, stir well and add milk and seasoning. Cook until thick and serve on French toast, made by dipping bread in milk and frying until light brown.

DOAN'S PILLS

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—This writer, encountering—Frederick Jagel of the Metropolitan Opera at luncheon the other day, quizzed him about his season at Buenos Aires, from which he recently returned. He thinks cultural penetration of South America might be more effective than our trade and diplomatic missions, in which he is inclined to believe we aren't getting anywhere.

South America has long had the idea that we were a nation of hard-boiled-money-grubbers. Any creditable performance in the arts, he believes, will be our best line of export. He said he found the Argentines most generous and appreciative hosts. Once they find you haven't an extra ace in your cuff and you measure up to their standard of propriety, they wear their hearts on their sleeve.

Incidentally, Mr. Jagel's singing makes audiences weep, but no one meeting him ever feels sorry for him. He is a businesslike, compact Brooklynite, formerly an actuary with the Mutual Life Insurance Company, long before he took his perch in the old red plush aviary, where, on occasion, he still hits high C.

As an actuary, young Mr. Jagel, charting other careers, began to think of his own career. He tossed his insurance job out of the window, found a backer, sang in movie houses up and down Broadway and proved to all and sundry that he had a voice. He studied with Portanova in New York and with Caladini in Milan. Making his operatic debut in Milan, in "La Boheme," he hit Rodolfo's high C with a bull's eye that greatly improved Italo-American relations. He sang for four seasons in Italy, before making his New York debut as Radameo, on November 8, 1927. He knows about 40 roles, and 25 of them he can sing offhand and on the slightest provocation.

With the precision and clarity of a man trained in business, he tells you of the superiority of our South American competitors in their specialty of gold-prize trade economics. Hence, his talk of "cultural penetration" isn't just ivory tower stuff. If Secretary Hull could sing as well as Mr. Jagel can talk international trade, he, too, would be in the Metropolitan.

Mr. Jagel thinks we have the making of a grand musical renaissance in this country, with talent, teachers and a fine national appreciation vastly enhanced by the radio.

THE amiable white magic of John Mulholland once enabled me to deal myself four aces against another's four kings, which, of course, revived faltering hopes of the existence of kindly elves with whom Mr. Mulholland was wired in and whom he could summon in behalf of his friends. But now one of the cleverest magicians in the country—the cleverest, to this none-too-seeing eye—publishes a book, "Beware Familiar Spirits," in which he banishes all trolls and makes all magic just manual dexterity and technique. It isn't exactly a debunking book. He leaves the door open for faith in the occult, if you think you have evidence, but, as to prevailing mystagoguery, he reduces it to fraud or to honest self-deception, aided by slow eyesight.

He sold school books and was a teacher of dramatics and industrial arts at Columbia university, before he became a full-time magician and vice president of Society of American Magicians. He has performed and lectured in about 40 countries. Nobody, anywhere, ever had more fun. He likes to shepherd four or five friends through a subway turnstile, with one nickel, making it reissue from the slot each time and click through the next man. That brings the change dealer roaring from his den. Mr. Mulholland hands him a half-dollar, the wayfarers take their train, and then the dealer finds he has an aluminum disk with a rabbit in a silk hat on it. He usually screams and butts his head against the wall. But, in each case, the subway already has its full count of sound nickels.

As to the above poker hands, it happened at a luncheon table of five or six men. Mr. Mulholland sent for a new deck of cards and asked me to shuffle them and deal four hands. It couldn't have been a trained deck. It was thoroughly shuffled. Mr. Mulholland never touched the cards, standing with his back turned a few feet away, and never said a word. The hands fell as he ordered, the orders apparently issuing silently, from the lack of his head.

Women Must Utilize Their Natural Gifts

By PATRICIA LINDSAY

SOMEONE has said, "No beauties are born, all are made." And what hope and encouragement to all women lie in that statement! True it is that few of us are born beautiful but persistence in making the most of what Nature endowed us with does make us attractive. And after all, it is the interesting-looking woman today, rather than the pretty-pretty, who is recognized and toasted as the modern beauty. The woman who has developed her natural gifts by being beauty-loving and beauty-seeking.

Gone are the days when one's earnest devotion to good looks was frowned upon, or when doctors voiced their disapproval of cosmetics. Today it is considered a woman's duty to society to be as lovely as possible and leading physicians believe strongly that the healthy, normal woman should keep astride of her times and make herself most attractive.

No matter what your age, your occupation, your circumstances, you owe it to yourself as a woman, and to those around you, to make the most of your feminine heritage. Husbands and children alike unconsciously dote on wives and mothers who have not allowed themselves to become duds. Proud is the child who can produce a personable mother to show his friends and school-mates.

—But Don't Be Extravagant!

But in seeking beauty, I do not advocate spending the rent or grocery money on expensive treatments or a fussy wardrobe. No indeed. If you can afford such luxuries well and good, but don't encourage frowns and wrinkles and a distorted mind by fretting over what you cannot have. You can exercise your body into a pleasing figure just as well in your own home as you can in a costly studio. Current newspapers and magazines offer sound advice on meticulous grooming and body care, so there is little excuse for you to moan because you have not the wherewithal for frequent visits to beauty salons.

Every woman's budget, however, should allow for occasional visits to a reliable physician to check her general health and diet, and also for a few good cosmetics—specific aids for ailing skin or hair and those necessary to preserve personal daintiness. To these, every woman has a right—they assist her mentally.

Myrna Loy epitomizes the charm for which women should strive. An arresting, smiling personality, an interest in her work and a piquant beauty enhanced by scrupulous grooming.

But just as pertinent as cosmetics to a woman's loveliness is the right approach to living. Gracious thoughts and characteristics, an active interest in something other than herself and her home, a desire to be an inspiration to society, rather than a burden. Such attainments certainly enhance the charm any woman creates by being pleasing to look at.

Keep Child's Mind Active

If you are truly concerned about her beauty you cannot fail to keep her mind active and growing. What nonsense to allow her to concentrate on make-up! Teach her simple daily groomings. Fill her day with small duties and childish pleasures. Let her grow! Every child loves to be read to. Every child loves to paint and draw pictures. Think up new activities that will teach her to be self-reliant and progressive.

There is no beauty as appealing in all the world as a child's beauty. It must be held sacred. It must not be scarred by stupid parents who feel that artificial beauty aids can possibly make their child more attractive!

Body health, skin health, mental health are the goals to be reached. Help your child by concentrating on those. She will grow to lovely womanhood; happy in the knowledge that her parents were wise parents who did not sacrifice her youth needlessly.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

Quilted pads for dresser drawers.

THERE seems to be no corner in the house where the decorators' art is not applied. Closets used to be drab and dreary places but now they are bedecked in scalloped shelf edgings, gay garment bags and bright hat boxes. Dresser drawers are also perking up. Time was when a clean newspaper was put in the bottom of a drawer every so often, and the date of the one removed proclaimed how long it had been since this housewifely task had been performed. Now, we make pads to fit the drawers. We scent them with our favorite scents and find infinite joy in their soft colorings.

Machine quilting is just the thing to give the pads the stiffness and body they require so that they will lay flat in the bottom of the drawer and not wrinkle up. Glazed chintz in a plain soft blue with darker blue bindings is used for the pads made to fit the chest of drawers shown here. Thin muslin is used for the backing and sheet wadding for the padding. When all three layers of material have been cut the right size, baste them together. The first row of basting is run diagonally across the center and then the rows are spaced about six inches apart as shown. Here also is a sketch of a machine quilter in operation. It is merely a foot with an indicator attached. The end of the indicator runs along each previous row stitched making an accurate gauge for the spacing of the quilting.

Practical

A preacher likes to tell this story of a confrere who missed his train because he relied on a watch which misled him. "I can scarcely believe it," he said as he looked after the train just disappearing. "I had such faith in this watch."

"Well, it seems to me," remarked his companion, "that this is a case for good works rather than for faith."—Montreal Star.

ing. After the pads are quilted, bind the edges as shown.

NOTE: Mrs. Spears' Book 2—Gifts, Novelties and Embroidery, has helped thousands of women to use odds and ends of materials and their spare time to make things to sell and to use. Book 1—SEWING, for the Home Decorator, is full of inspiration for every homemaker. These books make delightful gifts. Mrs. Spears will autograph them on request. Crazy-quilt quilt leaflet is included free with every order for both books. Books are 25 cents each. Address Mrs. Spears, 210 S. Desplains St., Chicago, Ill.

NO ONE IS IMMUNE TO ACID INDIGESTION

But Why Suffer? Here's how you can "Alkalize" anytime—anywhere—the easy "Phillips" way!

WHY SUFFER from headaches, "gas," "upsets" and "biliousness," due to Acid Indigestion—when there is a way that relieves excess stomach acid with incredible speed. Simply take two Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets at first sign of distress. Carry them with you—take them unnoticed by others. Results are amazing. There's no nausea or "bloated" feeling. It produces no "gas" to embarrass you and offend others. "Acid indigestion" disappears. You feel great.

Get a bottle of liquid "Phillips" for home use. And a box of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets to carry with you. But—be sure any bottle or box you accept is clearly marked "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

LARRY ROMANO (above, right) adds: "I want my L'makin's' smokes to be rich-tasting but without harshness, and that's just the way I get 'em with Prince Albert—mild, fragrant, and extra tasty. What's more, P. A. rolled smokes hold their shape. They stay rolled—and stay lit too."

You'll find that Prince Albert smokes cooler because it's specially cut to burn slow. That means mellow smokes without sacrificing ripe, rich taste.
