Legionaires Celebrate

The American Legion and Auxiliary gave a supper and party for themselves and their friends at the Legion Hut last Monday evening.

They had a 50 pound pig roasted at the Southern Pacific hotel, which centered the table. Red candles decorated the table and gave a pleasant glow to the faces of those present. After the pictures were taken, Mr. Joe West did the carving.

In addition to being the annual Thanksgiving entertainment it developed that the date was the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Huffmeyer of White Oaks and the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Edna Gallacher and Messrs. Ben Greisen, sheriff of the County and Phil Laramie of Lincoln.

The Legion Hut is located in the basement of the Masonic Temple and Mr. Dan Conley, toastmaster, said in part: "We must be thankful that even though we are celebrating in a cellar it doesn't mean that we are expecting bombing planes; and we are thankful that we are Americans."

St. Rita School

The Girls Choral Club, which was recently organized, enjoyed its first social meeting last Wednesday afternoon at three-thirty. Refreshments were served and a very interesting game was played. The following were prize winners: Patsy Dolan, Ysabel Ventura, Mary Vega, Therese Vidaurri, Mary Lopez and Lorena Torrez.

Congratulations are extended to Sabino Vidaurri, Mrs. C. M. Prior and Mrs. Consuela Richardson who proved to be the fortunate ones at the raffle held Monday afternoon during the general assembly. The drive was for the benefit of our school. We wish to thank all who helped make this drive a success.

The students of the various grades are busy preparing for a Christmas program, which will be given in High School Auditorium on December eighteenth.

I. O. O. F. Notes

Last Tuesday evening the Odd Fellows held a bumper meeting with a large attendance. Noble Grand Carpenter gave a cigar to each member who arrived at the hall 10 minutes before opening time. Election of Officers was held, results were as follows: H. W. Barnes, Noble Grand; Lawrence Barnes, Vice-Grand; Trustee Colonel Jones; Secretary, W. J. Langston; and Treasurer, L. H. Dow.

Next Tuesday night there is another big surprise in store for the members in attendance as well as a practice meeting for the 1st degree.

The Young Peoples' Sunday School Class of the Methodist church held a class meeting and party at the home of Margy Beth Melton. Plans for the worship service of the Sunday School hour were made by the class. It was suggested that the class as a group plan to attend church service on Sunday night, December 10th. Following the service at 8:00 the class are invited to the apartment of Mrs. Waters to see some home movies in color.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Bob Shafer on Tuesday, December 12th.

Football

Carrizozo's Grizzlies met the Capitan Eleven on the local field for a very exciting game in which the locals were on the low end of the score.

A record crowd of fans was present and the weather was perfect for a good game.

I. O. O. F. Visit Alamo

Ten members of Carrizozo Lodge No. 30 went to Alamogordo last Monday night to confer the second degree on a candidate.

Degree Master Jim Tom and his assistant, H. E. Kelt, together with Messrs. W. J. Langston, J. M. Carpenter, G. H. Dorsett, H. Barnes, Larry Dow, A. L. Burke, Lewis Burke, and Mr. Roy Kent of Osuro were attendants and all report an especially entertaining evening.

A special guest was Grand Master Gloyer of Roswell.

Notice

There will be a regular meeting of the Sunday afternoon singing convention at Tinnie Sunday December 10. Everyone invited to attend.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincerest thanks to all our friends for their offerings and services during the illness and death of our beloved mother and grandmother, Mrs. Burch.

Mrs. Hodgins came over from Duncan, Ariz. and spent the Thanksgiving holidays with her husband, who is employed here by the Southern Pacific.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Van Schoyck, Jr. of Tucumcari spent Thanksgiving Day here and at White Oaks with relatives.

Mr. Les Harman and daughter Daisy went to Artesia the first of the week. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Earl Reeves and baby, and Mrs. Mabel Clymer and son, who are spending the Thanksgiving holidays here.

Drawing Date

The Titworth Co., Inc., of Capitan have a lovely line of articles suitable for gifts; table linens, bed linens, dishes, aluminum ware, enamel ware, toilet articles and wearing apparel.

Their big drawing contest will be held Friday, December 22, when a beautiful chest, a comfortable chair and a set of dainty dishes will be awarded to the holders of lucky numbers.

School Notes

We compliment Mr. Ben Sanchez for the splendid art work he did on the posters advertising the Carrizozo-Capitan football game.

Mrs. Gail Swearingen and committee are working hard on the decorations at the S. P. Hotel for the occasion of the Lincoln County Educational Dinner of date December 8th. Mrs. Grace Corrigan, State Supt. of Schools will be the honored guest at the banquet.

Clifford Hagerty enrolled in the Second grade this week.

Adelin Frances Stokes of the Second grade visited her grandparents in Midland, Texas last week. She reports a joyous time.

The Sophomore Party held last Friday was a huge success with over 40 in attendance. Games were played and dancing was enjoyed by many. Punch and cake was served for refreshments.

The Carrizozo Grizzlies won the football game with Hondo 14-0 after a hard fought battle.

Miss Opal Fors, Home Ec. teacher, is spending Thanksgiving vacation in Albuquerque.

Miss Medina Brady 3rd grade teacher is spending her Thanksgiving Holiday at her home in Forrest, New Mexico.

The Senior Class is sponsoring the musical Grays at the Community Hall, 7:30 tonight.

The 8th Grade Room was host to the Mothers and Dads at a Pre-Thanksgiving Party, Wednesday afternoon. The room mothers Mrs. Pags and Mrs. Huffmeyer furnished refreshments.

Wins Turkey

Mrs. Edith Van Schoyck of White Oaks, who held the lucky number, "26", won the turkey which was given away by the Ladies' Aid.

Mrs. W. W. Smith and each member of the Ladies' Aid wish to thank everyone who helped in anyway. The ladies wish everyone a pleasant Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Marie Fulmer.

Open House

On Dec. 8th from 4:00 to 7:00 p. m. there will be open house at the new Community Center Building.

The members of the Woman's Club will serve doughnuts and coffee.

The teachers are especially invited and any one else wishing to see the building. There will be no charges only a silver offering.

Jobie McPherson came over from Roswell last evening to attend the White Oaks dance.

Lewis Family Reunion

Mrs. Lulu Lewis and daughter Miss-Mary Lewis, and son Rex, returned last Saturday from three delightful weeks spent in Texas.

On November 23rd all attended a family reunion at the home of Mrs. Lewis' mother who is 92. All five of her mother's children were present, and everyone had passed the 60th milestone. This day alone, was so pleasant and so full of reminiscences that the family will cherish it as one of the high marks in their lives.

CHRISTMAS!

Yule Epidemic Sweeps America; Nobody Escapes This Disease!

Immediately after Thanksgiving each year, America begins planning its Christmas celebration. In every city and hamlet decorations blossom on streets and in store windows. Merchants put their shoulders to the wheel, for December is responsible for one-sixth of the year's total retail trade (see graph). On Monday, December 4, banks begin paying more than $300,000,000 to some 7,000,000 Christmas savers.

In New York, Santa Claus is welcomed to the city on Thanksgiving day in a huge parade sponsored by a Manhattan department store.

Throughout the nation, volunteer groups begin repairing discarded toys and dolls for Christmas distribution to needy youngsters.

At Santa Claus, Ind., Charles Howard of Albion, N. Y., begins conducting his school for Santa Clauses.

Toy manufacturers finish their season's work. These eyes will soon provide vision for the doll Sister receives on Christmas morning.

In a war-torn world, Christmas is a time for good deeds. Thousands of gift boxes like these are being shipped to the Orient.

Christmas trees are cut in northern forests and shipped to market, where they will gladden many a heart on Christmas morning.

In schools and churches, choral groups begin practicing holiday productions. Every community has many such activities each year.

Uncle Sam's postoffice gets ready for the Christmas rush.

DOLLAR MAKERS

Tip on Doors: They Can Make Or Break You

By GEORGE T. EAGER
THE boiled down experience of many grocers has proven that a door swinging into the store attracts more customers than a door that swings out. A double acting door that swings either way is still better.

Narrow doors less than three feet wide and doors hard to open have been known to actually send customers to some other store.

Customers should be able to see into a grocery store from the pavement. Strangers who might become new customers like to look into a store before they enter.

The store entrance should be on the same level as the sidewalk. Experts in store arrangement say that every step up to get into a grocery store is one step down toward failure. In many cases the elimination of steps and the placing of the grocery store floor on the same level as the pavement has increased sales as much as 15 per cent.

When the store floor is three or four inches up or down from the pavement level a sloping entrance is better than a step.

Customers prefer to take steps down into a store as against stepping up to enter but a floor on the exact level of the pavement is still best because customers can enter without extra thinking.

Light always attracts customers and the brilliantly lighted store is usually the busy store.

DON'T GET IT TOO PERFECT

THE president of a washing machine company was going over the sales records with his sales manager. "Here's a small dealer in a town of fifteen thousand people who has been selling more of our machines than other dealers in towns five to ten times as big," he said. "Go out and find out why."

Three days later the sales manager was back in the president's office. "I've got the answer," said the sales manager. "He sells washing machines by making mistakes, by not being too perfect. The president was astounded. He had worked for years to find the perfect way to sell a washing machine and had spent thousands of dollars to show dealers and salesmen how to make the perfect sale.

"Yes, he sells by making mistakes," continued the sales manager. "This man tells me he attended our sales school four years ago, heard our talks about sales psychology, memorized every word of our perfect sales presentation and went to work to make a record. Despite his perfect sales talks he didn't sell a single machine in three months.

"One day a woman asked him a question he couldn't answer and he made such an awkward mistake in demonstrating the machine that the woman laughed at him. She laughed but she bought the machine. That night he realized what was the matter. His story was too slick, too perfect, too much like the confidence man who has a ready answer for everything. His little mistake had made him a human being instead of a machine grinding out a sales talk. He has been making mistakes and selling washing machines ever since."

New Discovery Aids in Tracing Indians' Origin
PALO ALTO, CALIF.—Further support of the theory that the American Indian originally came from Central Asia was produced recently by Dr. Franz Weidenreich, of the Peiping Union Medical college at a scientific meeting at Stanford university.

Dr. Weidenreich revealed the recent discovery of bones of a family of seven persons in the so-called upper cave of Choukoutien, in remote western China. Beside the bones were remains of fossilized animals and cultural objects which indicated the group belonged to the Upper Paleolithic, or Stone age.

Three of the skulls, Dr. Weidenreich reported, were so well preserved that it was possible to determine their racial affinities. The skull of an old man looked in general like the Stone age man of Europe, but showed some special features characteristic of Asiatic races of today.

SPAGHETTI WITH CHIPPED BEEF (Recipes Below.)

Old Fashioned Hospitality

With Thanksgiving back of us and winter ahead perhaps this is an excellent time to ask ourselves some searching questions—to be answered just by ourselves.

Do we as homemakers really enjoy neighbors and friends? As they pass our house on our street do they think of us with a friendly warmth? Or have we, perhaps unknowingly, allowed ourselves to be so busy, so concerned about the tasks of the day that we have forgotten that after all the biggest joy in living comes because it is the privilege of each one to "live in my house by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

Let's entertain then, but let's entertain simply, informally, inexpensively. And thinking that you might like to do just this, I have collected for you this week a number of my favorite recipes for just such easy entertaining. Please note the little hints that are attached to each of the recipes.

Spaghetti With Chipped Beef. (Serves 4)

This recipe is particularly nice for a one-dish meal when guests arrive unexpectedly—
1 large (24-ounce) can cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce
1 5-ounce jar chipped beef
1 cup fat
Heat spaghetti. Frizzle the chipped beef in the fat until crisp and brown. Then place the chipped beef in a border around the platter and pour the spaghetti in the center. Garnish with parsley or watercress.

Oven Fried Chicken. (Serves 4)

Oven fried chicken is one of the dishes that is particularly simple to prepare. After the preliminary browning, all that remains to be done is simply to put the chicken in the oven where it takes care of itself and cooks beautifully until you are ready to serve it.
1 2 or 3 pound chicken, cut for frying
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 eggs
1/2 cup water
1 cup fine cracker crumbs
Fat for frying
1 onion, chopped fine
1 cup cream

Dip pieces of chicken in flour in which salt and pepper have been added; then dip in beaten egg to which water has been added and finally roll in cracker crumbs. Brown in hot fat (1 inch in depth). Place in baking pan, sprinkle with onion, and top with cream. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until tender, approximately 1 1/2 hours.

Baked Stuffed Pork Chops.

These baked stuffed pork chops are a favorite with any man. Try them.
Purchase thick pork chops and cut a slit in them from the fat side of the chop through to the bone. Spread inside surface of chop with prepared mustard and fill with any desired breading.
Brown lightly in hot fat in a frying pan. Remove to greased baking pan. Bake slowly in a moderate oven, (350 degrees) for approximately 2 hours, or until meat is tender.

Hasty Oven Baked Beans. (Serves 6)

And as for baked beans—try this 30-minute method and if you don't confess, I defy the guests to guess that they are not home baked beans.
1/2 pound bacon
1/2 cup light brown sugar
2 tablespoons tomato catsup
Four 1/2 can of baked beans into greased baking casserole. Dice 2 or 3 slices bacon and sprinkle over the beans. Add catsup, and then cover with remainder of baked beans. Sprinkle with brown sugar, and top with bacon strips. Bake in hot oven, (400 degrees) for 30 minutes. Serve at once.

Escalloped Potatoes and Ham.
Guests or no guests this escalloped potatoes and ham dish is deliciously simple and simply delicious.

Slice potatoes very thin and place layer by layer in a buttered baking casserole. Dot each layer with butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add milk, sufficient in quantity to just cover the potatoes. Top with a one-inch slice of ham. Bake in a slow oven, (325 degrees) until both the ham and the potatoes are baked to a stage of perfect doneness, approximately 1 hour and 15 minutes.

My Best Chocolate Cake.

All the world loves a chocolate cake and I suppose there are almost as many recipes for chocolate cake as there are women who make them. This recipe, however, remains my favorite.

2 ounces bitter chocolate
1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 eggs
2 1/2 cups cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Melt chocolate carefully over warm water. Cream butter thoroughly and add sugar slowly. Separate eggs, beat egg yolks, and add to butter and sugar mixture. Add the melted chocolate.

Mix and sift together the flour, salt, and baking powder and add alternately with the milk and vanilla extract. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into the cake mixture.

Place in 2 well-greased, 8-inch layer cake pans. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for approximately 30 to 35 minutes.

Chocolate Cream Pie.

And speaking of chocolate—this chocolate cream pie has that just right combination of ingredients that makes it neither too thick nor too thin; too sweet nor not sweet enough. Furthermore, it is just as great a favorite with men as with women; with boys as with girls.

2 1-ounce squares unsweetened chocolate
2 cups milk
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 baked pastry shell

Shave the chocolate and place it together with 1 1/2 cups milk in top of double boiler; heat until chocolate is melted. Mix the sugar, cornstarch, and salt with the remaining 1/2 cup milk, and to it add the melted chocolate mixture. Return to double boiler and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Then beat the egg yolks slightly and slowly pour the chocolate mixture over them. Return to double boiler and cook 2 minutes longer. Add vanilla extract and pour in baked pastry shell. Cool, and top with whipped cream to serve.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

DR. GODFREY LOWELL CABOT, donor of the Columbia university prizes in journalism, awarded to two South American editors, gets top-rating in this department's war-time listing of men of good will, as against the disturbers and trouble-makers.

The experimental house, being plotted in the newspapers, as scientists seek to trap sunlight and store it in the cellar for winter use, is traceable to Dr. Cabot. In 1937, he gave Harvard university $415,773 to carry forward some of his ideas about storing solar energy.

He has been a generous patron of aviation, learning to fly a seaplane in his late years, inventing a system by which a plane can pick up fuel in flight, and is now governor and former president of the National Aeronautic association.

A native of Boston, he attended M. I. T. two years, was graduated from Harvard in 1882, and laid the basis of his fortune manufacturing lampblack in Worthington, Pa., in 1887, branching out in gases and carbides.

DONALD WILLIS DOUGLAS, president of Douglas Aircraft, Inc., of Santa Monica, Calif., says war orders for American planes, and the spurt in building, won't end.

Our War Boom in building, No Bubble, Says won't end. D. W. Douglas with a bursting boom-bubble. He and other plane builders tackle $140,000,000 worth of orders and promise they can deliver 8,000 planes a year.

"Who knows what will come next after the European nations settle their own quarrels?" says Mr. Douglas.

Mr. Douglas is in the midst of a strictly orthodox aviation career, without any stunting or barnstorming. A Brooklyn boy, he was grooved quietly through the M. I. T. and into the Glenn Martin plant, as chief engineer. He will get an important niche in aviation history as the designer of the first plane to lift its own weight.

He was in the U. S. signal corps at the start of the World war. In 1920, he founded the Plane Manufacturing company which later became Douglas Aircraft.

GYPSY SMITH, a full-blooded Roman Gypsy, born under a hornbeam tree in England 78 years ago, is the world's most famous evangelist, now preaching in New York. He turns from militancy to persuasion. He says he has given up "scolding and frightening" people. On this, his thirty-fifth visit to New York, he preaches love and hope.

For 60 years he has carried a clothes-pin as a symbol of his personal salvation. He and his father made clothes-pins. An old lady bought some and gave him a Bible. He was 15 years old then, had never slept under a roof, and was unable to read, but he taught himself with the Bible. He is a small, spruce, compact man, with broad shoulders and the general look of a successful business man.

His name was Petulengro, and he couldn't spell it when he first learned to read. He believes great wars and disasters will end when we have become "masters of small things," but that faith and religion must be of ever widening scope. It must be persuasive rather than militant evangelism, he insists.

You Needn't Be Old to Raise Cattle; 'Child Menace' Hits Livestock Show

Youngsters Have Won Four Championships in Ten Years.

By ARNOLD PATTEN (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

CHICAGO. — Once upon a time you had to be a gray-beard cattleman or your entry didn't stand a chance of winning the top honor at Chicago's International Livestock exposition—the grand champion steer award.

Nowadays you've got to be a youngster, and probably a girl at that. For if recent experience is any criterion, the grand award at this year's show—December 2 to 9—may very likely go to a beardless youth who will thereby prove that modern scientific cattle raising can compete any day with the old-fashioned rough-and-ready tactics.

Four times in the past 10 years the championship has gone to animals shown by youngsters, who in earlier years were politely tolerated by the adult showmen. It's quite an honor, too, because the winning steer is selected from among two or three thousand of the finest beef animals North America can produce.

Dropped Barriers in 1916.

The child menace began in 1916, when a special competition was introduced for steers, lambs and pigs owned and exhibited by farm boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20. A few years later—and oldsters still rue the day—top winners of the junior contest were permitted to compete in open classes.

IN LOS ANGELES—Vert Anderson, 18, of Tremonton, Utah, took top honors in the Great Western Livestock show with Snickleritz, shown here, a nine-month-old steer.

Despite a bit of jealousy, these veterans were a little proud of farm youth on that dramatic day in 1928 when 12-year-old Clarence Goecke, a 4-H clubber from Iowa, trugged into the ring and defeated all contenders with his Hereford baby beef, "Dick."

Like all winners, "Dick" was auctioned off at premium prices to a hotel or railroad, or maybe it was a steamship line. Anyway, he brought a new all-time record of $7 for each of his 1,150 pounds! That meant $8,050, and the proceeds were used to found a Hereford herd on the Goecke farm out in Marshall county, and to provide for the education of Clarence, his brothers and sisters.

Today all Iowa farm folks know Clarence as a member of the Goecke family firm, successful cattle feeders.

Brown Wins Next Year.

The same year young Goecke won the championship, a reserve champion ribbon in the junior classes went to another Iowa strapping, Elliott Brown. Next year Elliott came back and won the grand championship with an Angus steer, "Lucky Strike." This steer brought even a better price—$9.25 a pound, which is still a record. Today young Brown has a purebred Aberdeen-Angus herd.

Not until 1935 did another youth come through. At that year's show 19-year-old Cleo E. Yoder, also from Iowa, took the grand championship with "Pat's Blue Ribbon." Yoder is now farming in partnership with his brother, and they're building up a herd of purebred beef cattle from the head start they had in 4-H projects.

Just to prove that beef cattle raising is becoming a sissy business, the 1938 championship went to—of all things—a 14-year-old girl! Men and boys alike hung their heads in shame when Irene Brown, an Illinois lassie, paraded her 1,130-pound Angus steer around the ring. Later he was sold for $3,765.50. The only proud male in the stands was D. A. Brown, Irene's father, who runs a 400-acre farm in Mercer county and maintains a purebred Angus herd.

Break Record This Year.

This year, according to the exposition's management, young America is coming back stronger than ever. Boys and girls from 13 states have listed entries for 480 baby heaves which they will exhibit in the junior contest. Most youngsters come from midwest states, and others from Montana, New York, Oklahoma and Texas.

The graybeards won't really be too angry if another teen-age exhibitor wins this year. Get them off in a corner, away from the huff and bluff of the show ring, and they're apt to be pretty happy about the whole thing. Tomorrow's farmers are starting young, you see, and what father doesn't hope his son will be a better man than he was?

Solons Find New Interest—the Motorist

10,000 Bills Introduced This Year, but Only 1,200 Are Passed.

NEW YORK. — The hard-pressed American motorist has supplanted the equally as hard-pressed farmer as the favorite topic of the nation's law-makers, it is revealed in a survey of motor vehicle laws considered by state legislatures which have been in session this year.

More than 10,000 bills affecting motorists in one way or another were introduced in the 44 state legislatures which convened this year. Of these, more than 1,200 were written into law, placing the automobile owner far ahead of the farmer and even the relief client as the "most legislatively discussed" single class of persons in the United States.

From the standpoint of motorists who have campaigned for reduced taxation and more simplified and uniform regulations, most of the new laws are good but a large number are of doubtful benefit.

Speed Laws Changed.

With solons largely indisposed to lift any considerable amount of the $1,849,000,000 tax burden carried by motor vehicles, automobile owners can derive a modicum of satisfaction from the liberalization of speed laws in a number of states. Limits which were ridiculously low against the background of automotive development have been stepped up to as high as a legal 50 and even 60 miles an hour for daylight driving in several states. Several other commonwealths followed the lead of Tennessee by avoiding a definite limit and simply warning motorists to "Be Reasonable."

Dozens of bills reinforced and re-defined existing legislation. A notable example was set by Pennsylvania which gained national praise several years ago by enacting a 50-mile speed limit and conducting a state-wide personal pledge campaign among drivers to insure better observance. Recognizing that more liberal speed limits and continued running at high speeds require that cars and equipment be in good condition, the Keystone state solons made it unlawful for any person to drive motor vehicles with a tire worn down to the fabric or showing breaker strip or cushion gum. The new law, which went into effect September 1, is expected to bring about a marked increase in highway safety as it eliminates one of the principal causes of skids and blowouts—the use of smooth tires—a hazard which menaces not only those riding in vehicles equipped with worn-out casings but also occupants of other cars which might be sideswiped or struck when such a tire failure occurs.

Campaigns Underway.

This bill, which coincides with safety and non-skid campaigns conducted over a period of years by such outstanding organizations and private companies as the National Safety Council, Automotive Safety foundation, the B. F. Goodrich Co., and the Travellers Insurance company, has been called to the attention of state motor vehicle commissioners and highway safety authorities by a number of organizations, and similar legislation is expected to be introduced at next sessions of other state law-making bodies.

Speed Laws Eased in Many States; Some Remove Limit.

Every state in the Union now has highway safety patrols, Florida having authorized the creation of a corps of state troopers. Florida also enacted the uniform driver's license law also sponsored by leading safety organizations. Forty-five states now require operator's licenses, Wyoming, Louisiana and South Dakota being the exceptions.

Inspection Laws Killed.

Advocates of laws requiring compulsory periodic inspection of brakes, tires, lights and other equipment were set back in Nebraska and Arkansas where inspection laws were wiped off the books. A similar bill was vetoed in Oregon by the chief executive, while Nevada, California, Wisconsin and Rhode Island failed to pass inspection laws which were introduced. State-owned inspection stations were disapproved by the governor of Maryland. However, South Carolina brought private automobiles under a previously enacted inspection law affecting trucks and busses, while West Virginia enacted a periodic check-up bill.

Scores of bills directed at drunken driving were enacted, Maine taking the lead with a law providing for an alcohol, blood test for drivers who are involved in accidents.

With Washington, North Dakota, Kansas and Idaho writing uniform financial responsibility laws for all vehicles on the statute books, 31 states now require this protection for persons and property injured by motorists. No state has yet followed the lead of Massachusetts, however, in requiring compulsory insurance for all vehicles. Eight states rejected compulsory insurance proposals during sessions this year.

Remove Trade Barrier.

Of particular interest to operators of farm vehicles was the repeal of an "artificial trade barrier" law by Oklahoma. Truckers and others have been hampered seriously by the enactment in 15 states of "port of entry" and other laws which restricted free travel. This year "port of entry" bills were defeated in Arkansas and Nevada, to apparently reverse a trend toward what Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri has branded the "balkanization" of trade in America.

Dormant Bank Accounts

Banks of this country hold $250,000,000 in dormant accounts whose owners have died or forgotten them. In two-thirds of the states, no provision has yet been made for the disposal of this money; while in most of the others it goes to a state fund after the accounts have been inactive for periods ranging from five to thirty years. Indiana banks, however, are permitted to acquire such accounts, after a year of dormancy, through a service charge on the inactive accounts.—Collier's.

A VEILED LADY...

Brings comfort and returning courage to Dr. David Jebb, famed surgeon; when he wakes to find himself alone in a strange land, his memory of preceding events a complete blank.

Cursed with an overpowering desire for drink, David Jebb knows he has shirked a grave responsibility in succumbing to temptation. A little girl, placed temporarily in his charge, has disappeared. All because he could not resist the lure he knew would sooner or later wreck his life.

Help comes to him at an opportune time. The veiled lady, gentle and kind, looks after him, restoring his health and aiding him in his search for his missing charge.

David grows to love his mysterious benefactor, but knows he will again fall victim to his desires. There is only one way out—he must leave the veiled lady, knowing that to remain would cause only unhappiness.

He finds, however, that he is powerless to shape the course of his destiny. A stronger force prevails, and David Jebb finds happiness and contentment.

He was going to be all that he wanted to be, tomorrow. No one should be kinder or braver than he, tomorrow.

A friend who was troubled and weary, he knew, who'd be glad of a lift, and who needed it, too, on him, he would call and see what he could do, tomorrow.

Each morning he stacked up the letters he'd write, tomorrow. And thoughts of the folks he would fill with delight, tomorrow.

It was too bad, indeed, he was busy today, and hadn't stopped on his way. "More time I will have to give others," he'd say, tomorrow.

The greatest of workers, this man would have been, tomorrow.

The world would have known him had he ever seen, tomorrow.

But, in fact, he passed on, and he faded from view, and all that he left here when living was through, was a mountain of things he intended to do, tomorrow. ---Delco.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING
By CHARLES B. ROTH

"PLEASE PASS THE CUSTOMERS"

THERE'S one muscle in the human anatomy which was named by a humorist with boarding-house experience. It is called the "boarding-house muscle" because it is the muscle which enables you to extend your arm—and reach.

It took its name, of course, from the dining-tables of boarding-houses, where to reach far was to get more to eat at a table where everybody was so engrossed in his plate he didn't have the time or the inclination to pass anything to anyone else. Reach won.

In business it is reach also that wins. One of the chief values of advertising to the advertiser is that it gives him a reach for customers. Every business must both reach customers and reach for them if it is to exist.

The business man whose reach is longest or most skilled is the man who brings the most customers into his store. And those who reach the best have the best stores and can give the best values.

The chief concern of every business is its customers. Who are they? Where do they live? Why should they trade with me? How can I tell them of the advantages of my business? Every business man asks these questions. Every successful business man answers them.

In the reach for customers, it isn't a muscle which does the trick. It is advertising.

A man starts a store. Somewhere are men and women who should buy from him. He is sincere in his desire to serve. But unless he does something about it, his store will fall before enough customers find their way to his doors.

He has to reach out for them. He begins to advertise where customers will see—in the newspaper. One reads. He is convinced. He goes to the store. He is well-treated. He buys. He likes what he bought. He returns to buy again.

Gradually, as more advertising appears, more customers come, buy, return to buy again. The reach for customers is building a great business.

But don't you see that the business man is not the only one who has benefited in the process? Every customer who found there a better place to buy, a place where he could get a little bit better merchandise and a little bit better service at a little bit better price, also benefited.

The customer benefits as much from advertising as the business man, if not more.

Byrd's 'Penguin Special' to Get Antarctic Workout

Diagrammed here is the $150,000 snow cruiser designed by Dr. Thomas Foulter at Chicago's Armour institute for Admiral Richard E. Byrd's exploration trip to the Antarctic. It averages 10 miles an hour, and in its 27-ton body carries enough fuel for a non-stop New York-San Francisco trip and back. It carries a plane on its back. Each wheel has a separate motor and tires are changed by raising the axle internally, letting the body rest on the snow.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Hurdy-gurdies were banished long ago by an order of Mayor LaGuardia—now and then some bold soul does bootleg-a-little music and takes a chance with the cops—and little German bands have disappeared even in Yorkville. Bells on the carts of junk dealers are restricted by law to a certain size—many wagon operators use the legal sized bell but instead of one have a number—and barkers in front of movie houses and elsewhere must not raise their voices. The blaring of loud speakers on Cortland street—the Radio Row of the past—were muted when wireless-changed-from build-your-own to a-dollar-down-and-the-rest-occasionally. Since the elevated has been razed there is quiet along Sixth avenue. In the not distant future there will be similar stillness along Ninth avenue.

One familiar street noise still remains. By judicial decision, it is entirely legal. In fact, it has been held judicially, it is a helpful sort of sound, especially to the ears of housewives. The reference is to the tinkle of the bell of the scissors-grinder. The matter came to a head recently in Coney Island court. A zealous patrolman brought before Magistrate Jeanette G. Brill a knife sharpener he'd found in the Fort Hamilton-section-of-Brooklyn. The charge against him was violating the administrative code by ringing a bell to attract the attention of housewives. There didn't seem to be much question about the man's guilt on the bell had been brought into court with him. As a matter of fact, he admitted that he had been ringing it when apprehended.

The scissors-grinder didn't pay a fine or go to jail, however. Magistrate Brill found him guilty but didn't impose any sentence. Her ruling was that housewives welcome the sound of knife sharpeners' bells. To that, she added that New York wouldn't be New York without them. And so the culprit went out to ring his bell come more. But not in midtown. I've been carrying a dull knife for weeks just because I haven't heard the tinkle of a bell.

Midtown Manhattan's most dangerous zone is the area between Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth streets and Sixth and Seventh avenues. The assertion is based on a study of Roosevelt hospital's first 2,000 ambulance calls made public recently by Dr. Joe T. Clemmons, director of the hospital. Five surgeons, attached to the ambulance service which went into effect July 5, said that more calls came from that area than from any other locality between Pennsylvania station and Seventy-second street, with the busiest time of the entire day between four and six p. m.

A combination of pedestrian crowds and heavy motorcar traffic was given as the reason for the prevalence of accidents and illness in that section. Speaking as one who has been swirled about by midtown crowds after offices, stores and other places have closed, and especially as one who has escaped taxi death by inch fractions scores of times, I am inclined to believe that the analysis is entirely correct. As a matter of fact, almost always when I'm in that section in late afternoon, I hear the siren or bell of an ambulance.

Returning to street noises for a final paragraph, there is the chant of "I cash" which is heard so often in the residential sections of the big town. The call indicates that there is a market for castoff clothing. "I cash" being the slogan of those who buy such garments and who in turn sell them to dealers who put them into marketable shape. Some time I'm going down to Bayard street and write something about the old tailors who eke out a living by making such repairs. (Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

First Sit-Down Placed About 700 B. C. in Egypt

SEATTLE, WASH. — The first known sit-down took place in 700 B. C., according to Dr. Don D. Leschler, University of Wisconsin professor.

A group of Egyptian cemetery workers, he said, struck when their pay in cabbage and fish was not delivered promptly. Similar demonstrations were started about 1450 A. D., but soon lost favor, the savant declared.

It's a Blouse, Chic and Lovely, That Gives 'Oomph' to the Suit

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

SUITS are in! And now for the upkeep in the way of one flattering blouse after another to wear with the suit of your choice. For as we all know it's the blouse that gives "oomph" to the suit.

One among many of the likable things about the blouse is that it gracefully fits into the scheme of things, enters, so to speak, into the mood of its wearer, being formal or informal, sporty or dressy to suit time and occasion. One good-looking suit and a wardrobe of versatile blouses and your clothes problem is solved, for via a proper blouse one can meet almost any emergency in dress.

The world of fashion has gone wildly blouse-conscious this season. About the most exciting spot in shopping districts these days is where blouse displays hold forth.

The revival of sterling quality white satin for the blouse marks a significant highspot in the present program. See the smart white silk satin blouse pictured below to the left in the illustration. Note that the sleeves are long and full, gathered into a snug-fitting band at the wristline. Sleeves in the new blouses trend in three directions: short, bracelet length or long, as here shown. The silver necklace and jewelry worn with this blouse add a note of formal elegance.

Not only is white satin a favorite in the blouse realm, for satin blouses in pastel tones are being shown in tempting array. Many of the latest models have a yoke at the back with a gathered-in full blouse effect below. With the voluminous graceful long sleeves and self-satin buttons down the front a youthful soft styling is achieved.

Regarding the blouse shown below to the right, the spontaneous impression one gets at first glance is the formal elegance of this model, and rightly so, for it is just that, elegant and formal. It glorifies a black velvet daytime suit. In the evening wear it with a copper-colored metal cloth skirt and you will be dressed to the queen's taste. It is made of sumptuous white satin, patterned with a delicate tracery done in copper. The perky bow ties, the long fitted sleeves and the deft use of shirred fullness are distinctive style touches.

In the panel to the left behold a costume of the present suit and blouse trend. The jacket and skirt are of black wool with nubby self-stripe. The blouse is of fine faille silk in the new blue that reminds of royal. It has a clever group-shirring down each side of the front stressing the current trend to achieve soft fullness through artful shirring. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Giant Nazi Bomber Humbled by Great Britain's Guns

Twisting, looping and sidestepping, this Nazi bombing plane tried desperately to escape British anti-aircraft guns and planes in Scotland. However, the big ship crashed, smashing through a stone wall. It taxied more than a half-mile in a last unsuccessful effort to take off. The pilot was captured attempting to flee. Two others in the ship were killed, and a third injured.

Safety Note: Why Not Camouflage It?

When air-raid sirens blare out their warblings to take cover, Londoners will do exactly that. They will grab the new bed-comforter and seram for the bomb-proof shelter. The coverlet is shown at left as a comforter. At right, the quilt as it is transformed into a warm, comfortable garment.

Impersonator

Possessed of a burning desire to see Hollywood, Anthony Mell, 16-year-old Lawrence, Mass., schoolboy, dressed as a girl, appropriated $1,000 from his father, and flew to the cinema city. When arrested he had $100, which he spent for male attire "before Papa gets here."

Baby Panda Headed for Brookfield Zoo

Latest arrival at Chicago's Brookfield zoo is this baby panda from Chinese province, Chian, by caretaker Roy Scott. The animals are becoming exceedingly rare and special dispensation was necessary to take the panda out of China.

Needlework King

Crochet and embroidery champion of Utah's state fair is Frank Mertonson of Midvale, who, when he isn't knocking off a bit of fancy needlework, is a "smoker" in an ore smelter. Crocheting is his hobby.

Her Plaid Coat

Of course little daughter must have a winter coat of gay plaid wool, for fashion simply adores plaids this season. The new wool plaids are the handsomest ever and the winter landscape, wherever young folks congregate, is ablaze with colorful plaids. A scotch cap of velvet with crown of matching plaid adds the finishing touch to this stylish outfit.

New Jewelry Ideas Are Cropping Out

Gold jewelry accents on black are still the outstanding fashion. However, new jewelry trends are developing. One of which is the increasing favor expressed for silver necklaces, bracelets, clips, buttons, belt buckles and other gadgets. Huge silver-wrought lockets suspended from silver chains are especially good style. There is also a tendency to wear white jewelry, moonstone settings being in high favor. Many style-alert women are wearing exquisite diamond or thinstone pieces especially with black or the new rich wines and greens. As for pearls, they have held good right along and still remain first choice with women who dress quietly and with un-failing good taste.

Livestock Bureau Adopt Resolution

Extreme interest in the welfare of railroad transportation in the Southwest was shown by delegates to the recent annual meeting of the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau at Albuquerque and prompted adoption of a resolution urging protective measures for the carriers.

The resolution presented on the floor of the convention by Claude Gamble, Clovis, chairman of the committee, was, unanimously adopted. It read:

"We believe that an adequate and efficient railroad system is essential in the interests of agricultural development and prosperity. We believe that the best interests of agriculture will be served by continued private ownership and operation of our railroads. We are opposed to any legislation, state or national, that

"Step Out and Sell"

9,000 Chevrolet dealers have been so heartened and lifted up by Holler during the last six years that they have led the huge automobile industry in sales. They have sold more than 5 billion dollars worth of merchandise in that time. The members of this sales organization point to Holler and his policies as the most important contributions to their success.

So "Step Out And Sell" is a book on selling by a master salesman, at the peak of his powers. It comes as a breath of fresh air in a stifling room and tells what actually makes selling tick.

WINTER'S ACCURSED 90 HOURS

—mild to your OIL-PLATED engine

5 to 8 minutes "isn't much" unless your cold engine is straining to start up without prompt lubrication. And less than a dozen cold starts a day can threaten an hour's lubrication delay. In the course of the Winter that could exceed 90 hours!

Let's not just hope that 90 hours or even half that won't hurt. Avoid the worst chance of this harm... change today to OIL-PLATING. Your engine becomes OIL-PLATED as you drive from Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station with a fill of his Conoco Germ Processed oil—patented. The rare man-made substance in this Germ Processed oil effects a close bond between oil and engine parts. OIL-PLATING can't all drain down every time the car stands, and therefore OIL-PLATING isn't waiting to be restored "from scratch" every time you start up. In advance of any oil-flow, OIL-PLATING is there! ... Lets the starter turn easy, the engine turn fast, and you're safely away. The only wait is a good long one before you add another quart of Germ Processed oil. OIL-PLATE today. Continental Oil Co.
