CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1939

NUMBER 37

News Notes of Carrizozo Schools

Wednesday a general assembly of the students was called at 2:30 in the auditorium. Following a series of vocal and instrumental musical numbers, Mr. Bloodworth of El Paso, Texas, delivered a very interesting and important speech concerning the changing world we live in and also the necessity of trained workers. Mr. Bloodworth left for El Paso last night about 7 o'clock.

Presented by the Junior Class "No Account David," Comedy-Drama in three acts. High School Auditorium March 16.

Jayne Stiles and Alameda Bowling taught in grade school Friday while Mr. Bright and Miss Smith took the grade school basketball team to Capitan.

Friday, March 10 the Physical Education Girls are giving a Penny Social at the Community Hall for the benefit of the Athletic Association.

The Safety Box was just received this morning to keep the various funds.

Track is the social event in school now as basketball is over.

The eighth grade voted unanimously to accept Mrs. Blaney's kind offer of a beautiful framed American's Creed on condition that they learn said creed.

The Grade School basketball team defeated the Hudson boys and girls teams in our local court last Saturday night. They hope to repeat against San Patricio on March 9 at the same place.

Miss Holt, county nurse, visited the school Thursday. She started to investigate eye difficulties.

County Board Of Education

The County Board of Education was reorganized Monday. Mr. G. T. McQuillen was reappointed president, and Mr. L. P. Hall, vice president, and Mrs. Day, secretary. Members are Terrio Romero.

Notice

An open competitive examination under the rules of the U. S. Civil Service Commission is announced for the position of Senior Fireman (high pressure) in the U. S. Public Health Service, Fort Stanton, New Mexico. Receipt of applications for which will close March 27, 1939.

Application must be made on the prescribed form which, with the necessary instructions, may be obtained from the commission's local representative, William C. Hendren, U. S. Marine Hospital, Fort Stanton, New Mexico, or from the Assistant Manager in charge, Thirteenth Civil Service District, Denver, Colorado.

St. Patrick's Dance

On Saturday, March 11th, the Women's Club of Carrizozo will give a St. Patrick's Day dance. The best of music will be furnished. The Women's Club dances are always successful, and this one will be one of the leading social events of the spring season.

Farm Meeting at Capitan

The second of a series of educational meetings on the 1939 farm program will be held at the Capitan High School, Saturday, March 11, at 1:00 p. m. The meeting will be conducted by the committeemen of that vicinity, the County Extension Agent, and the A. C. P. Secretary. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the provisions of the 1939 docket that apply to this county. A discussion will be made as to how the farmers can earn the most from the program. Individual examples of various farms will be placed on the blackboard pointing out requirements for compliance and methods by which these requirements can be met.

The meeting will apply only to the farm program, as a special meeting will be held in the near future, at which time the range program will be discussed in detail.

At the previous meeting held in Corona, March 4, many questions that these meetings will do much toward giving the farmers a better understanding of the 1939 farm program, and will help to avoid disappointments that originate from a misunderstanding of the program. Farmers are urged to attend.

Tomorrow Night At Community Hall

Hitler Much Alive

Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, personal friend, adviser, and World War commander of Chancellor Adolf Hitler, in New York, en route to his new post as German Consul General in San Francisco. He called the current rumor that Fuhrer is dead and that doubles have taken his place "the wildest fantasy I've ever heard yet." Laughing, he said: "I have known Hitler for 22 years and the last time I saw him was two weeks ago at an automobile show. I can assure you he is alive and in good health." Captain Wiedemann recalled that the Fuhrer was a dispatch runner in his regiment.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Miss Carrie Dell Zamwalt and Mr. Floyd Smith of Nogal.

Pope Imparts Blessing On United States People

Vatican City, March 7.—Pope Pius XII today gave his benediction to the people of the United States in audience with William Cardinal O'Connell and George Cardinal Mundelein.

Cardinal O'Connell, archbishop of Boston, and Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, were received by the new pontiff in separate private audiences in the papal apartments.

Each had a half-hour audience with the pope and then those accompanying the cardinals were presented to the holy father.

Recalling the hospitality he enjoyed during a six-weeks stay in the United States in 1936 as Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, Pope Pius expressed pleasure at having been able to visit America before his pontificate began.

He then imparted his blessing to the people of the United States.

Municipal Board Of Education

The Municipal Board of Education held their meeting last Monday night. New members present were: Mr. Henry Hoffman and Mrs. Jane Turner. Officers elected were: Mr. Gallacher, president; Mrs. Snow, vice president; Mrs. Turner, secretary.

New Registrar Takes Over Old School Job

Socorro, N. M., March 7.—Mrs. Ruby Berry Griffith, widow of the late John E. Griffith, prominent Socorro attorney, found herself back at the New Mexico School of Mines registrar desk today after an absence of some 30 years.

Mrs. Griffith, who resigned from the registrar's office about 30 years ago to marry Griffith, was appointed by the board of regents last night to succeed Miss Marion Foss, who resigned last week to take a position with the National Youth Administration, in Albuquerque.

Miss Foss replaced L. R. Wilton, who is scheduled to face trial in district court this month on embezzlement charges in connection with an alleged shortage in school funds.

Miss Holtz, new county health nurse arrived Sunday.

Chamber of Commerce

At an enthusiastic meeting Wednesday evening a Chamber of Commerce was organized here. It was decided at the meeting to join the United States Chamber of Commerce, and the application has gone forward with check for the annual dues.

Olsen's All-American Red Heads Will Play Here

Tuesday, March 14, Olsen's "All-American Red Heads" champion girls' Basketball team will play here.

This team is equipped by Hockaday's Sporting Goods Co., of Enid, Oklahoma, and is considered the most lavishly uniformed club in the world.

New Mexico Range And Stock Report

Precipitation during February was positively above normal, which improved soil moisture. Heavy snows fell throughout the month and ground is still covered in high altitudes and parts of northern counties, according to the March 1 Range and Livestock Report issued by Fred Daniels, Agricultural Statistician for the United States Department of Agriculture. Prospects for spring range are excellent. Cattle and sheep remain in good flesh, but there was some shrink because of cold weather during February.

RANGES: There was a general improvement over the state during February in soil moisture from snows that were received at different times during the month. With the present soil moisture, prospects are encouraging for early spring feed unless the soil is rapidly depleted of moisture from high cold winds during late spring. It has been too cold for grass to begin growth, but in extreme southwestern-New Mexico some weeds have begun growth. In high altitudes and parts of northern counties the range remains covered with snow. There is ample livestock feed in all counties for the remainder of the winter. Feed requirements this winter have been very low in addition to the available feed on ranges. The condition of ranges is reported at 83 per cent of normal compared with 86 per cent last month, and 81 per cent for the 10-year average.

CATTLE & CALVES: Cold weather during February has caused some shrink in flesh, but cattle are still in above normal condition. Losses of all classes of cattle have been light. There has been some demand for cattle at good prices, but the salable supply is shorter than usual at this time. The condition of cattle and calves is reported at 85 per cent of normal compared with 87 per cent last month, and 84 per cent for the 10-year average.

SHEEP & LAMBS: Sheep have held up well during the recent cold weather of last month, but some shrink in flesh has been reported although the condition of sheep remains good at this time. Ewes generally are in good flesh and prospects are encouraging for a good lambing this season. Losses of sheep have been very light. No contracts for wool have been reported up to this time. The condition of sheep and lambs is reported at 85 per cent of normal compared with 87 per cent last month, and 85 per cent for the 10-year average.

1939 Prospects Good For New Mexico

Santa Fe, N. M., March 6.—Prospects of a better business year for New Mexico are indicated by an increase in the school emergency tax and the gasoline tax collections for February, Governor John E. Miles stated today.

While the increases are not large, they are significant, since in the case of the school tax, February was the first month to show an increase over the corresponding month of the previous year since March of 1938.

"Apparently," Governor Miles said, "the effects of the recession of a year ago have been overcome, and normal purchasing power has been restored. Gasoline tax collections have shown an improvement in each of the last three months over corresponding months of 1938 and 1937, which is a definite indication of a business upturn. This is especially encouraging since the heavy snowstorms of the last two months have reduced the volume of traffic in several parts of the state.

"Travel through New Mexico this year should be stimulated and increased because of the two World's Fairs. Economic conditions locally should show an improvement over 1938. This improvement should be especially felt by our livestock and agricultural interests because of the abundance of moisture."

Atty. Benson Newell transacted legal business here the first of the week.

BANKING LOOKS AHEAD

Do Bank Services Affect You.

Bank services affect every man, woman or child—whether a bank customer or not.

Our economic system is based on money, credit and banking. Our food, our clothes, our homes, are made possible by credit to the farmer, the shipper, the manufacturer and the merchant. Banks, and the credit they supply, have helped to make possible the American system of enterprise and the high American standard of living. And in so doing they have contributed to the well-being of every person in the country.

This bank will continue its policy of providing helpful service for its community.

Youthful Princess Visits Nursery

Princess Josephine Charlotte, 11, oldest daughter of the king of the Belgians, is already taking her place in public life. She is seen amid children and nurses during a recent visit to a public nursery in Brussels, Belgium. The little princess is one of the most popular members of Belgian nobility.

HUNGRY BARONET

When Andrew Ashton-Waller Hills of London, five-year-old son of the late John Waller Hills, privy councillor, was informed that King George VI had conferred a baronetcy on him he thought it was something to eat. His father would have been honored by the king at New Year's ceremonies but for his death Christmas eve.

Household Hints

By BETTY WELLS

"YOU should have heard the remarks George made when I bought a daybed for our bedroom," writes Gertrude. "About who wanted to lay around in the daytime anyway, and besides that one was too fancy for him ever to feel at home with."

"Oh, it is a beauty—upholstered in tufted brocade of old French blue—I blew myself to it with a birthday check from my rich uncle."

"The catch now is that George has calmly taken possession. He settles down with a book or his paper right after supper, and just try to budge him. Being a good wife I don't remind him of his remarks."

"But it's turning out to be a case of the brass andirons—it makes the rest of the room look dowdy. So I'll have to do a bit of redecorating. The walls are all right—they're a pale mauve-gray, but the rug is definitely out, an old worn blue rug."

He has taken over my daybed:

ured Axminster that's seen better days. What rug or carpet would you advise in its place?

"The furniture is all right basically—Sheraton mahogany," continues Gertrude's letter, "but we definitely need a new easy chair, and I'll replace spread and curtains. But what would you suggest? I don't feel up to the job. This is a large room that we use and enjoy a lot."

"I'd like to see a carpet in as near as you can get to that same mauve-gray tone as the walls. It would make the room seem very graciously spacious. Then perhaps a flowered chintz in old rose with blue for spread and easy chair—how would a slender wing chair do for this? At the windows have eggshell nylon made to fall to the floor in organ pipe folds and tailored at the top to draw back and forth in state. Then why not collect lovely old fans and frame them for the wall."

As for the daybed—aren't men the ones? They all like comfort, and most of them like silks and satins a lot better than they'll ever admit."

A 'Blue-Ribbon' Kitchen.

Lillian J. took a notion to do her kitchen over. And before I knew she was really serious about it, she called me up and invited me to come over and have a look-see. I didn't need a second invitation—because I'm always eager to add interesting kitchens to my "collection."

"If I'd had a blue-ribbon, I'd have certainly planned it on Lillian's masterpiece! In the first place, it seems so much more friendly than most modern kitchens, yet it's not sacrificed any of the modern conveniences. The walls are painted pale green and she gave the old linoleum a coat of deeper green paint—then several coats of floor varnish. The curtains are crisp and white, then across the top she tured her husband to make a scalloped valance of plywood. This she painted orange, then stenciled peasant motifs on it. A useful but forlorn looking old chest of drawers she painted spanking white with peasant motifs to outline the drawers, then got friend husband to build shelves above it which she painted white with accents of orange. On these shelves she keeps her everyday dishes, bright pottery and some odd pieces of copper. Even her stove and refrigerator got peasant motifs painted on their gleaming white fronts. The chairs are white with orange seat pads.

But here is the crowning touch. Lillian has put in a "plate rail" all around the kitchen walls and attached a ruffle of orange cotton to it. On this she has an assortment of old-fashioned kitchen utensils as well as any unusual foreign utensils she can lay her hands on. There's an old coffee mill, for instance, and an iron waffle griddle, not to mention some bright enamel trays that a missionary friend in Korea sent her.

So now you may depend on it, Lillian's kitchen is one of the show-places of the house. Yet it's as up-to-the-minute in equipment as anybody's—the even has an electric dish washer.

Cake Frosting Is Matter of Taste

Recipes Vary From Simple Kind to Boiled Variety

By EDITH M. BARBER

YOU may call it icing or frosting—that sweet topping which goes with cake the way butter goes with bread. I prefer the latter term, because the word icing is associated in my mind only with white. As it happens chocolate frostings are fully as popular as shiny white toppings with the golden brown of caramel or coffee a close second. For special occasions, frostings are colored delicate pink, green or yellow without regard to the flavor of the basic frosting.

Recipes for frosting vary greatly from the simplest made with velvety confectioners' sugar blended with hot water, cream, egg white or softened butter, to the more elaborate "boiled" frostings. Boiled frostings are of several types. One of the most popular is that made with granulated sugar, chocolate and milk, or of brown sugar and milk, and cooked a slightly shorter time than if we were making fudge or penuche.

In another group belong the frostings made with egg whites, sugar and water. For the old-fashioned boiled frosting, the sugar and water are cooked together until a thick syrup develops. This is then folded slowly into the well beaten egg whites.

Fillings are generally considered with frostings, because they are particularly good when put between layers of cake. Cakes of this sort are sometimes known as Boston or Boston cream pies. When they are topped with a frosting, however, they are generally known as cream cakes.

Seven Minute Frosting.

- 2 egg whites, unbeaten
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 5 tablespoons water
- 1 1/2 teaspoons corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Whole nuts

Put unbeaten egg whites, sugar, water and corn syrup in upper part of double boiler. Beat with a rotary egg beater until sugar is dissolved. Place over boiling water, beating constantly with egg beater, and cook seven minutes or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire. Add vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread. Frost each layer, put layers together and decorate top layer with whole nuts.

Caramel Frosting

- 1 1/2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 2 tablespoons butter

Combine sugars and milk and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Boil, without stirring, until a small amount of the mixture forms a very soft ball in cold water (232 degrees Fahrenheit). Add butter and remove from heat. Cool to lukewarm. Beat until thick and creamy and of right consistency to spread.

Chocolate Frosting.

- 2 tablespoons butter
  - 2 cups of confectioners' sugar
  - 4 egg yolks
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
  - 4 squares chocolate, melted.
- Cream butter, add sugar and a little beaten egg yolk to cream well. Add rest of beaten egg yolks, milk, vanilla and chocolate. Place bowl in pan of ice water and beat with rotary egg beater until thick enough to spread.

Burnt Almond Frosting.

- 1/2 cup butter
  - 1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar
  - 2 egg yolks
  - 1/2 cup almonds
- Cream the butter, add the sugar and the egg yolks. Spread on the cake when ready to use. Blanch the almonds, bake in a moderate oven until light brown. Cut in pieces and sprinkle on the frosting.

Orange Butter Filling.

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup flour
- Salt
- 2 cups orange juice
- 1 tablespoon grated orange peel
- 2 eggs or egg yolks
- 2 tablespoons butter

Mix sugar flour and salt. Add orange juice and rind slowly. Stir until smooth. Cook 15 minutes over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and afterwards occasionally. Pour some of the hot mixture into beaten eggs and then pour back into hot mixture. Cook over hot water three minutes. Remove from fire, add butter and chill.

Chocolate Cream Filling.

- 2 cups scalded milk
- 3 squares chocolate
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs or 4 egg yolks
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 12 marshmallows

Place milk and chocolate in the top of a double boiler. When chocolate is melted beat a moment with wheel egg-beater to insure smoothness. Mix dry ingredients, add eggs slightly beaten and pour gradually the scalded milk into this mixture. Cook 15 minutes in double boiler, stirring constantly until thick. Cool partially, flavor and spread one-third of the chocolate filling between the layers. Place the remainder on top and dot with the marshmallows, cut in halves.

TIPS to Gardeners

Know Your Herbs

HERBS are becoming more popular each year because they are easy to grow and help make everyday dishes more appetizing and flavorful. Here are important facts about the more important herbs which you can grow in your backyard garden:

Anise—Seeds used to flavor bread, cake, cookies, candy; green leaves good for flavoring salad.

Borage—Leaves and flowers give unusual tang to fruit drinks and are good salad garnish; blossoms good cut flowers.

Caraway—Seeds used to flavor bread, cake, cookies, cheeses, baked apples.

Dill—Seeds and leaves used for making dill pickles.

Chives—Young leaves eaten like onions, or cut up to flavor soups and salads.

Sage—Excellent in meat and poultry dressings.

ACTS FAST TO BRING RELIEF FROM COLDS

This Simple Way Eases Pain with Amazing Speed

1. To ease pain and discomfort and reduce fever take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in 15 minutes. 2. If chest is very sore and throat is sore take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in 15 minutes. 3. If you have a headache take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in 15 minutes.

Use Genuine BAYER Aspirin—the Mostest Year Cold Starts

Try it. Then—ask your doctor. He probably will tell you to continue with Bayer Aspirin because it acts so fast to relieve discomforts of a cold. And to reduce fever.

This simple way, backed by scientific authority, has largely supplanted the use of strong medicines in easing cold symptoms. Perhaps the easiest, most effective way yet discovered. But make sure you get genuine BAYER Aspirin.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman doing her hair: Get it styled by a woman who has about her hair, loss of hair, dandruff, wet nerves and moody spells. Get more fresh air, sleep and if you need a good general system tonic take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It's a natural restorative that helps you build up vitality to enjoy life and start calling pretty names and disturbing symptoms that often accompany a change of life. WELL WORTH TRYING!

Over-Modesty Too much modesty sinks to weakness.

They won't BELIEVE it's CASTOR OIL

Good old reliable castor oil, a household standby for generations, has been "modernized" of late. A brand new refining process washes away all the impurities, which, in the past, made castor oil so objectionable. Now Kellogg's Perfected Tasteless EASY TO TAKE, Full-strength, always dependable, today for general family use. Dissolved in water, Kellogg's Perfected—castor oil—tastes like "tasteless" substance. Sold in all drug stores in 3 1/2 oz. and 7 oz. bottles—only 25c a bottle. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau.

SHOPPING Tour

The best place to start your shopping tour is in front of a store. Make a habit of reading the notices in the paper every week. They can save you time, money and worry.

French Army Rushes Tunisian Fortifications

Keystone of the French colonial empire in Africa, Tunisia is a place highly prized by the Italian Fascists. Should it fall into Italy's hands, the Mediterranean could be closed easily to French and British communications. Fully aware of these strategic considerations, France has been openly rushing Tunisian fortifications. On the Mareth line, near the Libyan border, France has stationed 35,000 soldiers—Eouaves and the Foreign Legion. Italian troops in Libya are reported at 41,000. At the left French troops are camouflaging concrete pillboxes along the defense line, so they will blend with the surrounding desert. Right: This is a typical native soldier serving on the Libyan border.

BRIGADIER-GENERAL

First native born soldier of the U. S. territory of Puerto Rico to be made a brigadier general in the national guard or regular army. Luis Paul Esteves, former colonel recently elevated by President Roosevelt. He is now the highest ranking army officer in Uncle Sam's tropical island, regarded as a strategic outpost for the Panama canal.

Jeep Proves Popular at Sports Show

An albinos dead animal (otherwise known as a jeep) enjoys a good laugh at the expense of onlookers at an outdoor show in New York. He was exhibited by Mrs. Eugenia S. Anti-Nazi Demonstrators Quelled by New York Police

Gay Print Good Spring Tonic For Any Woman's Wardrobe

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A GOOD spring tonic for any woman's wardrobe is a daytime dress in a fresh spring print. This season even the most modest shopping budget can take care of this need without difficulty for stores throughout the country are showing a tempting array of frocks in a bewildering variety of intriguing prints, and at low-money prices.

Utility dresses that are equally at home on resort boardwalks, country club terraces, smart shopping avenues or your own home and garden-path are designed in both tailored spectator types and softly styled dressmaker models that afford ample range of choice for all tastes and figures. Whether you wear misses', women's, little women's, or larger sizes, there are many styles planned for your type in appropriate up-to-the-minute prints.

These glorified budget frocks not only have style and quality and charming looks to recommend them but they are modernized to the nth degree with such practical virtues as built-in dress shields made without rubber so that they go along with the frock safely and repeatedly into the tub, or to the dry cleaner. Their styling takes into account the factor of making the dresses easy to iron, a detail appreciated and sought for by every woman who buys carefully.

Shirtwaist frocks which are again this season high in favor with women for dawn-to-dusk wear in town or country run to neat tailored prints in geometric patterns and in novelties such as embroidered stripe effects in multicolor against dark grounds. Trim spring details such as flapped patch pockets, grouped pleat treatment at bodice and skirt fronts and interesting novelty buttons and bells are typical of the fine workmanship finish of these inexpensive gowns.

Dressmaker styling and soft draping are important in the somewhat more dressy types, done in colorful spaced floral prints in formal vine and wreath motifs, and in close allover prints of tiny flowers such as forget-me-nots or diminutive buttercups. Softly draped necklines, gored or pleated skirts, gracefully tied or draped or shirred sleeves are undressmaker details of definite flattery.

In the new collections, one charming slenderline frock for little women is especially smart in black with wide-spaced red and white poppy print of great distinction (pictured to left at top in group). The fresh white accent is carried out in a row of white buttons of the blouse front below a nicely draped V-line neck and the simple buckled belt is of soft fabric to retain the unbroken line which adds inches to stature.

The smart little front-buttoned frock on shown in foreground to the left for slender young misses has borrowed from its peasant cousin the close-fitted shirred-in waistband and the softly bloused bodice although the shirred skirt is not a dirndl. In smooth rayon crepe with a distinctive clustered dot patterning done in stripes, this attractive frock is nicely adaptable to any daytime occasion.

The gown to the right is especially planned in women's sizes. Although you would not guess from its appearance, it is really among the moderately priced daytime frocks. The fine rayon crepe that fashions it presents one of the new Chinese porcelain print patternings with large white chrysanthemums against a soft luggose tan background. A full-length buttoned front closing banded in matched solid color, softly draped sleeves and action-pleated skirt front are important details. The coarsely draped hat worn is a leader in the millinery realm.

ADVENTUROUS AMERICANS

By Elmo Scott Watson

The Redoubtable Mme. La Compt

IN THE year 1734 a daughter was born to the La Flamme, a French family living at St. Joseph on Lake Michigan. While she was still a little girl, her parents moved to Mackinac and there she grew up and married her first husband, Pilette de Sainte Ange.

In 1765 Sainte Ange took his wife to the site of the future city of Chicago where they lived for several years. After a time she became familiar with the language of the Pottawatomies and other tribes, studying their character and acquiring a great influence over them.

When Sainte Ange died, his widow moved to the French village of Cahokia on the Mississippi. She soon married again, this time to a Canadian named La Compt. During the Revolution, the Cahokia villagers, whom George Rogers Clark had won to the American cause, were in constant danger of attack by the Indian allies of the British, as were the American settlers in the early days of the Territory of Illinois.

Many times Mme. La Compt was awakened in the dead of night by Indian friends who urged her to seek safety in St. Louis. But, instead of fleeing, Mme. La Compt invariably set out along to meet the hostiles and dissuade them from their purpose. Sometimes she stayed with them for days before she succeeded. More than once the fearful villagers of Cahokia, armed and ready for an attack, saw a strange procession coming out of the woods—a band of warriors with their war-paint freshly washed away and humbly obeying the orders given them by the tall white woman marching ahead of them!

A Monument to Failure

LONG'S PEAK, the highest in Colorado, is not only a memorial to its first American discoverer, Maj. Stephen H. Long, of the Engineers Corps of the United States army, but it is also a monument to a great failure.

In 1819 the United States government was preparing to send a great army into the Upper Missouri country to establish a military post to protect and extend the fur trade. The expedition was also expected to add to the scientific knowledge of the West and Major Long was directed to take with him a group of scientists for this purpose.

With a small and inadequately supplied force, he crossed the plains to the base of the Rockies and spent some time exploring that region.

When he returned he made a report that was destined to become famous for its inaccuracies. "In regard to this extensive section of the country," he wrote, "we do not hesitate in giving our opinion that it is almost wholly unfit for cultivation, and of course uninhabitable by a people depending upon agriculture for their subsistence."

More than any other man, perhaps, he was responsible for fixing upon the maps of the United States of that time the words "The Great American Desert" and those words retarded development of that country for nearly half a century.

Sharpshooter and Spy

VIRGINIA MOON of Memphis, Tenn., was 16 years old and going to school in Ohio when the Civil war broke out. She immediately asked for passage through the Union lines to Tennessee and was refused. So, when the Union flag was first raised on the school grounds, she shot every star out of it, one by one.

The results were immediate and most favorable—she was expelled from school and sent home to Memphis, which was just exactly what she wanted.

She was not only a good marks-woman—she was pretty and self-confident. Her beauty and other charms enabled her to become engaged to 10 young Confederate army recruits, all at the same time. This wasn't very honest, she admitted years later, but it made the young soldiers feel good and didn't make her feel bad.

As the war went on, Gen. Sterling Price appointed her special agent and she carried dispatches and other information back and forth from Union to Confederate territory. Several times she was arrested by Northern soldiers, being acquitted on one occasion but found guilty and served short sentences on others.

She was the only Confederate woman spy whose unusual career did not end with the war or with spying. At the age of 75 she became a movie actress in Hollywood. She appeared with Pola Negri and Mary Miles Minter and other prominent stars before her death in Greenwich Village at the age of 81.

Horse Stealing

In the yesteryears horse stealing was as prevalent as automobile stealing is today. And it was just as serious a crime, but the method of punishment was lashing on the back instead of incarceration.

The first offense called for 50 to 100 lashes, the second 100 to 200 lashes, while the third offense stipulated that the offender "have both ears cropped," be imprisoned and fined not more than $1,000.

Persons who knowingly bought a stolen horse were liable to similar punishment.

The Safety Sensation of 1939!

THE NEW Firestone CHAMPION

The Only Tire Made with the NEW SAFETY-LOCK CORD BODY and NEW GEAR-GRIP TREAD...

NEVER before in our experience has a tire met with such instant and unanimous approval as the new Firestone Champion Tire. It's the Safety Sensation of 1939! Our customers have started a word-of-mouth campaign that is making this the biggest selling tire we've ever had. Motor car manufacturers have been so impressed by its superior performance that they have adopted it for their 1939 models.

Why? Because the Firestone Champion Tire is an entirely new achievement in safety engineering.

Stronger Cord Body. This is accomplished first, by the use of a completely new type of tire cord called "Safety-Lock," in which the cotton fibers are more compactly interwoven to assure cooler running and provide greater strength. Then, the fibers in each individual cord, the cords in each ply and the plies themselves, are all securely locked together by a new and advanced Firestone process of Gum-Dipping which provides amazingly greater strength. And greater strength means greater safety.

More Non-Skid Mileage. The new Safety-Lock cord construction provides the extra strength needed for the use of the new, thicker, tougher, deeper Firestone Gear-Grip tread which delivers remarkably longer non-skid mileage. This sensational new tread is called "Gear-Grip" because of its unique design — it has more than 3,000 sharp-edged angles which grip the road with a sure-footed hold to protect against skidding and assure a safe stop.

Let your nearby Firestone Dealer or Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store equip your car with a new set of Firestone Champion Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

This amazing new Firestone development makes a blowout as harmless as a slow leak.
Should a blowout occur the exclusive Firestone Safety Valve holds sufficient air in the inner compartment to support the car until it is brought to a safe stop.

Youth Reflected In Spring Styles

The short skirts that swirl and flare at their widened hemlines carry a "little girl" air about them that makes you feel sure that Dame Fashion surely must have partaken of the fountain of youth. The program of dress planned looks just that way. Of course if you are not of the type to wear school-girlish clothes then you can find models that bring fullness to the front in unpressed pleats.

Speaking of fullness, you see the new movement toward fullness and drapes reflected in coats with full blouse tops and full wristlength sleeves. The new lingerie blouses have long bishop sleeves a la Gibson girl.

Swish of Taffeta Welcomes Spring

Taffeta is a favorite silk this spring. The biggest "swish" taffeta is making its in the cunning "little girl" petticoats that every move of the new stylish swing skirts will be making, when the pageantry of spring fashions takes place. The taffetas employed range from monotonous in any of the new high colors to candy-striped or polka dot effects.

Taffeta for the daytime dress, too, if you please and very smart street suits tailored of taffeta are shown. For your bouffant party dress choose taffeta and bounce it in tiers if you wish to follow the last word in fashion.

Mesh Effects Are Smart
The idea of mesh effects in gloves, in hosiery in the voguish new mood, also in wide washes to girldie about the waist in gypsy fashion is evidenced throughout the current style program.

Wears the Latest

As smartly attired as her mother is this young miss, wearing one of the new fashions presented at a preview style clinic recently held in the Merchandise Mart of Chicago. This intriguing little ensemble is in green plaid wool with a soft green cape and matching hat. The cape will serve as a wrap to wear with the wee lady's dresses the entire spring and summer.

Memorial Fiesta
March 13, 14, 15

Albuquerque, N. M., March 6. (Special).--Every town in New Mexico has been invited to assist in welcoming and entertaining the thousands of delegates to the Will Rogers Highway Convention and Memorial Fiesta, March 13, 14 and 15, at Albuquerque.
"New Mexico is the host state to the meeting and many towns have already signified their intention of cooperating wholeheartedly," Pat H. Flynn, general arrangements chairman, said today. Flynn added that towns not on "66" are giving support "because the convention-Fiesta is in honor of a great American and cowboy-philosopher, who was loved by all."

Mrs. Betty Rogers, widow of Will Rogers, her two sons, Jimmy and Bill, will be in the caravan coming here from the West Coast. They, with Mrs. Tom McSpadden, sister of the actor-humorist, will be honor guests for three days.

The first day, March 13, will be given to business meetings, with delegates from U. S. Highway 85--International Highway from Canada to Mexico--being present. It is the first time in history that one highway has joined another road association in helping hold their meeting.

Three governors, at least, will be present, as well as many other well known personages, including Leo Carrillo and Charles Starrett, motion picture stars. The state heads are Governors John E. Miles of New Mexico, R. T. (Bob) Jones of Arizona, and Leon C. Phillips of Oklahoma. Many state legislators have accepted invitations to attend.

Two highlight shows are to be shown both Fiesta nights--"World of the West," spectacle of girls, gags and giggles, with a cast of 1,000, and "The Drunkard," Hollywood cast of 42, headed by Arthur (Dagwood of the movie, "Blondie") and Florence Lake.

Following the shows each night, the thousands of delegates and tourists will throng the down town area for all night street parties. A dozen orchestras, swing, string, and all, will play while Miss Albuquerque, Queen of '66, will reign with her court, composed of screen and radio stars. A concession with ten rides will be near the block dance floor.

Many bands will be sent here for the three days, and every New Mexico town is urged to send representatives for the parade the morning of March 14.

The celebration and 18th Annual Will Rogers Convention will attract the largest crowd ever in New Mexico.

1939 Cold-Wall Frigidaire Cabinets

Throughout the ages man has recognized the importance of proper preservation of his foods as a necessary part of his existence, and in the early stages of civilization, the dark corners of caves were utilized as storage places. Gradually as man became more civilized, improvements were made in food protection and eventually he evolved the simple method of refrigeration to be followed later by the modern electric refrigerator.

However, since the introduction of the first household electric refrigerator many years ago, there has been virtually no change in the basic effect on foods, except that provided by the Frigidaire hydrator some years ago. There have been gradual improvements and refinements to cabinets and mechanisms, but no other radical or fundamental change made in the principle of food preservation. It has always been the practice to furnish circulation of cold air to all parts of the cabinet by means of a freezing coil or unit and to depend on this "cold" for keeping of food.

But with the introduction of the new 1939 Cold Wall Frigidaire, comes the first radical change in basic design since the first electric household refrigerator was placed on the market. Actually, cold walls of the cabinet play a dominating part in the protection of foods. The lower part of the cabinet is cooled by concealed coils within three walls of the refrigerator.

The upper portion of the refrigerator is separated from the rest of the cabinet by a solid glass shelf. In this upper section, cold air is permitted to circulate from a standard freezer unit. This condition is held by scientists to be good for foods placed in containers or those not affected by the circulation of air. By means of this unit, ice cubes, desserts and cold storage facilities are retained.

The lower half of the Cold Wall Frigidaire retards circulation because the cooling coils entirely surround the compartment walls, all parts are equally cold, and hence, there is no need for circulation. As a result, there is no drying out of foods. Under conditions, atmospheric moisture is very high, keeping foods live and fresh. The old condition of flavors being carried from one food to another is reduced to almost nothing, and the need for covering dishes is likewise virtually eliminated.

"Because of this new principle in refrigeration," said Mr. English, local frigidaire dealer, "greater conveniences and time saving is offered the housewife. Some foods are preserved almost seven times as long as with previous methods, which is a big aid toward economy. Not only are the flavors of foods retained longer, but the fresh appearance of meats and vegetables is maintained. In short, the housewife is able to obtain greater satisfaction and economy as a result of the new Cold-Wall principle."

The new 1939 line of Cold-Wall Frigidaire cabinets may be seen at Carrizozo Hardware Co. Showrooms at Carrizozo, N. M.

TRY EVERY BRAND OF GASOLINE

I'm safe saying that. My own customers won't do it. That's what they're *re*through doing. Maybe they thought it was just another one of their guesses the first time they drove in here for my Special Winter Blend Conoco Bronz-z-z. Now they know they've got the right one, and every cold morning tells them so, and they're getting swell mileage along with starting that never misses. I've even got one man that always had heat in the garage, but keeps it off now, and saves the expense, and tells me the car never used to start up near as fast as it does on Conoco Bronz-z-z. He's one of the ones that keep sending me in other people, which is a heap sight better than my trying to out-yell all the different brands of gasoline.

Hopi Indians Will Take Part in Fiesta

Albuquerque, N. M., March 6. (Special.)—Although it does include many local acts, the "World of the West" to be presented during the Will Rogers Highway Convention and Memorial Fiesta here, March 13-15, is not a typical "local talent" production. Every spot in the two hours of girls, gags and giggles is filled by professional teams, no few of which are internationally known.

Master of Ceremonies for the mirth and melody show will be Leo Carrillo, famous motion picture star and a close friend of Will Rogers. Carrillo will be one of the several motion picture and radio stars here for the three-day celebration.

Professional in every respect are the Kiltie Girls from Oklahoma City with their imported instruments and Scotch uniforms. The Kiltie band is known from coast to coast and has filled many engagements. They within themselves are a show.

Millions of tourists have seen the famous colorfully-dressed Hopi Indian Dancers, of Holbrook, Arizona, who will be here, as will be the champion square dancers of the state. La Charrita, who headlined at the Texas Centennial at Dallas, will be here from Mexico City for the show with her score of dances and costumes valued at several thousands of dollars.

Some of the other of the thirty-five acts include Seymour and Eleanor Royce who have danced throughout Europe and the larger cities in America; Omar and Harry Williams who are champion cow hands; New Mexico Loggers, insane musicians and slapstick comedians; Flat Foot Four, Oklahoma City Police Quartette; Bud Nelson's orchestra; Dorothy Steele, blonde blues singer; Bill Warren and Patsy Quinn, originator of the "66" Hop, which will be danced for the first time in public at the show; Jack Mack, tap artist; and many others.

"La Varsoviana" and "La Raspa" which are almost unknown outside of New Mexico, will also be danced by 60 Spanish couples. The show will be both Fiesta nights with an all-night street dance in downtown Albuquerque following.

New York, March 6.—The relaxing and pain-eliminating effects of anaesthesia are to be demonstrated in the Medicine and Public Health Building of the New York World's Fair 1939 through use of a full-sized mechanized model of a human being lying upon an operating table, surrounded by animated figures of surgeons, nurses and others.

S. P. R. R. Places Order For 40 New Locomotives

The Southern Pacific Company has just placed orders for 40 new locomotives at a cost of approximately $7,250,000, according to announcement by A. D. McDonald, president.

Twenty-eight of the locomotives will be manufactured by the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and twelve by the Lima Locomotive Works. All are for use in freight and passenger service on the Company's Pacific Lines, it was stated.

The purchase is part of Southern Pacific's improvement program for 1939. Recently, the company ordered 40,000 gross tons of steel rail and 12,440 gross tons of rail fastening, at a total cost of approximately $2,500,000.

Fred K. Ellis Will Have Part in Memorial Fiesta

Albuquerque, N. M., March 6. (Special.)—Among the many colorful personages here during Will Rogers Highway Convention and Memorial Fiesta, March 13-15, will be Col. Fred K. Ellis, who has been in the musical business for 50 years, spending a large portion of that time with Barnum & Bailey circus about the turn of the century in Europe and Africa. Col. Ellis is now bandmaster of the Albuquerque City Concert band, the only union professional band in the state. The band will play during the Will Rogers meeting-Fiesta.

After the War, Whither Spain? General Franco Won't Answer

By JOSEPH W. LABINE

The scene: Spain. A final bullet ricochets from the sun-baked, blood-drenched wall. Peace returns to a land which has lost more than 1,000,000 of its best men since July 18, 1936. The civil war becomes ugly history—and then what?

The man who can answer is Francisco Franco, a business-like generalissimo known to his Loyalist enemies as "El Carnicero," the butcher, and to his insurgent followers as "El Caudillo," the chief. General Franco is victor, thanks to superior military strategy, plus a whip hand over Spain's natural resources, plus help from Berlin and Rome.

Spain's war needs repetition here only because things said and done since 1930 must be answered for today. Will General Franco pour awful vengeance on the Loyalist enemies who banished him to a Canary Islands outpost in 1937? Will France and England pay the price of their indecision these past two years by losing all prestige in Spain? Will dictatorships rise, or fall, when Spain's final die is cast?

Man of the Hour.

Too many answers rest with Franco, a shrewd military-political genius who became a cadet in Alcazar's "West Point" at 14, won mild fame fighting the Moroccan Rif in 23, and became the army's youngest brigadier general at 34. Since April, 1931, when King Alfonso fled the country after republican election victories, Franco has been closely enmeshed in Spain's officialdom as a man to be reckoned with.

Once chief of the foreign legion and head of the war college, his allegiance to the deposed Alfonso was so renowned that the jittery young republic quickly made him military governor of the Balearic islands—his first "banishment." In 1934 Franco was rushed back to the mainland to crush leftist revolts against the newly established rightist regime. It was then that Asturias and Catalonia dubbed him "the butcher," a resentment which probably accounts for the stubborn resistance those provinces offered in the civil war. But to rightist Spain Franco became "the man of the hour," certainly the strongest single figure in the fight Catholics, capitalists, monarchists and phalangists (fascists) were waging against a growing Communist element.

The second banishment, to a dreary Canary Islands outpost, came immediately after a leftist victory in the January, 1930, election. But six months later a mysterious civilian-garbed figure climbed into a British plane at Las Palmas, capital of the Canaries. Next day, July 10, Moroccos remembered the 23-year-old youth who had suppressed the Rif. Within a few hours Moors were rallied under the insurgent flag and the war was on.

Franco's Course Steady:

The next two and one-half years made Spain a common battleground on which all Europe's grudges were paraded. Communist fought Fascist, while democracies stood on the sidelines hoping vainly that each would slaughter the other. In far away lands the issue of Christianity versus paganism was held a vital issue in the war. The world's eyes were focused on a conflict where American fought Italian and German fought Russian, where religious, political and economic issues seemed at times to far overshadow the mere fact of civil war in Spain.

Through all this General Franco has pursued a steady course, aided by Fascists; ignored by democracies for obvious reasons of political expediency. But when Barcelona fell in late January and the war seemed headed for an ultimate insurgent victory, Franco began emerging in his true proportions—the man of the hour. His will shall probably be done in Spain.

He is obviously indebted to Italy and Germany. Rome admits 3,000 Fascist troops have been killed in Spain, and from Balearic island bases a giant Italian air armada has operated against the Loyalists. Germany has been equally helpful but neither nation has acted from goodness of heart.

Iberian Peninsula Important.

First, the Franco campaign has offered a chance to fight Communism, but this has been more an excuse than an end in itself. More significant are huge imports of Spanish iron by Italy and Germany, both suffering acutely from lack of metal resources. Still greater is the Iberian peninsula's importance in Italy's campaign to control the Mediterranean and force territorial concessions from France.

Italy-German services have been outright gifts to General Franco, therefore he can honestly claim to owe them no monetary debt. But how about the moral debt? Can he turn on Fascism now that the war is won?

He barely might, for one good reason. More than anything else Spain now needs money for reconstruction, obtainable only from Great Britain, the United States and, to a lesser degree, France. Great Britain is especially anxious to make these loans because Spain was once an excellent customer. Now British coal exports to Spain have dropped 37 per cent; motor cars, 96 per cent, and machinery, 90 per cent.

Greater Spain Fretted.

This is the very logical reasoning behind current British-French overtures to lure Franco from the altars. It is emphasized still more by the growing belief that Spain will some day assume new importance among European nations, holding a whip hand over any potential Mediterranean conflict.

But just as France and Britain look rather foolish in recognizing Franco after he has won his battle, so would Franco look foolish if he tossed his Fascist friends into the abyss. For every nation concerned it would be an unnatural alliance based on immediate expediency, and would merely delay the eventual showdown.

Hints have already been dropped concerning Franco's governmental plans. Last year an order was issued restoring citizenship and properties to King Alfonso, the alleged inside story of that restoration being this: A monarchist delegation met Alfonso in Switzerland last summer, suggesting that his privileges and possessions might be restored if Alfonso would abdicate in favor of his third son, Prince Juan. Alfonso reportedly replied he might.

Healthiest Bourbon.

Don Juan, not a great lover like the caballero of ancient Seville, is a healthy young man of 25 who was brought up under English influence. He even served as a lieutenant in the British navy. Unlike his two elder brothers, the count of Covadonga (who died in Florida last year) and Prince Jaime, he shows no trace of the tragic maladies which have afflicted the rest of the family. He was married in 1935 to Marie, Princess of Bourbon-Sicily. They have one daughter.

Don Juan's appointment would be an important pacifier, since he would return to Spain as an outsider capable of arbitrating the differences between Insurgents and Loyalists.

The selection might meet with Roman disfavor because of the strong influence England has played on the youth during his formative years. But if Duce rules "under" a king in Italy and seems to get along nicely. Certainly there is no reason to think Franco would retire without tasting the fruits of his dearly gained victory. He would probably become premier under such an arrangement.

Anyway Prince Juan, who has spent the past few years under close surveillance of Rome, probably bears stronger Fascist leanings than most people imagine.

Russia Discards 'Biggest' Complex In Newest Plan

Russia's "big" complex is disappearing.

The ambitious Soviet, which once decided to house its massive new industries in such centers as Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev and Gorky, has now decided to build a lot of little industries which in the aggregate will be even bigger than the original "big" idea.

This is the essence of the third five-year plan, being changed in mid-stream by Dictator Joseph Stalin and Premier Vyacheslav M. Molotov. Complete details are being announced at the Communist party congress opening in Moscow March 10.

"Gigantism" will soon give way to erection of manufacturing plants closer to sources of raw materials—and the Soviet evidently has plenty of such resources still untapped. By costly experience Russia has found her big industries to be unwieldy, attracting more population than was healthy to a few centralized points while the rest of the country went unskilled.

One of the most important coming developments is the creation of a "second Baku" oil base in middle Asia, where American machinery will be used to open untouched petroleum reserves. Baku, Baku is located at a strategic point where an invader could easily nip off the Soviet's important petroleum supply, the new development has important military significance. The "second Baku" is far removed from enemy planes.

Other small industrial developments are planned in the Ural mountains, while a large metallurgical base is being built in central Asia where the Soviet claims it has all facilities for building machinery. Most such plants are being built near coal deposits or potential power sites.

C. Houston Goudiss Recommends Generous Use of Eggs; Shows How This Protective Food Helps to Balance the Diet

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

ANY experienced homemaker knows the many cookery uses of eggs. Indeed, she is likely to feel that she could not keep house without this indispensable ingredient, which a French chef once described as "the cement that holds the castles of cookery together." It is true that we should have to do without some of our most delectable dishes if eggs were not available to use as thickening, leavening, coating, binder, clarifier, stabilizer or garnish. But even more significant than their contribution to good cooking are their splendid nutritional values.

A Notable Protective Food

Eggs rank next to milk in that group of mineral- and vitamin-rich foods that we call "protective." They contain substances that are very efficient for growth and development. And in the opinion of nutritionists, they are more nearly interchangeable with milk than any other food.

Eggs are among the first foods to be added to the milk diet of infants. And home-makers who desire to give their families well-balanced meals should provide an egg daily for every individual.

This requirement can be reduced, if necessary, to four eggs weekly. But luckily, as we head toward spring, eggs become more plentiful, and lower in price. And it is usually possible for every family to obtain a full quota of this splendid food. . . so rich in the elements that help to build muscle, bone and blood.

A Fine Body Builder

Eggs contain proteins of high quality, and their proteins seem to be particularly well adapted to building body tissue. That is one reason why this food is so desirable in the child's diet. . . so useful in constructing the diet for adults who need "building up." It also makes eggs a logical choice as a main dish for Lenten meals.

It's interesting to note that the proteins of the white and yolk of an egg are quite different in their properties. Egg white is almost pure protein and water, while the protein of the yolk is combined of a different assortment of amino acids, or building stones.

The yolk also contains fat. . . in a finely emulsified form, so that like milk fat, it is comparatively easy to digest. And it is the yolk which is highly prized for its rich store of minerals and vitamins. It is therefore considered the most important part of the egg for young children, and the white is often withheld and only the grated yolk given.

Rich in Iron and Phosphorus

Eggs are notable as a source of iron and phosphorus. Iron is necessary for the formation of the hemoglobin or red pigment of the blood, and the iron in eggs is valuable for this purpose. Phosphorus is the mineral that pairs with calcium in building teeth and bones. It also plays an important part in regulating the neutrality of the blood. The phosphorus in eggs occurs in a form that is particularly well adapted to the needs of the growing body.

Four Important Vitamins

As our knowledge of vitamins has increased, nutritionists have urged that eggs be accorded a egg. In certain parts of the country, homemakers will pay a premium for eggs with white shells. In other sections, brown eggs are in greater demand, and therefore sell at a higher price. There is no justification for attaching any importance to the color of the shell.

Avoid "Same Old Thing"

Occasionally homemakers tell me that some member of their family doesn't like eggs. It is true that some people have an allergy to eggs, that is, they cannot eat them without having some abnormal reaction. But more often, any antipathy to eggs is due to the fact that they have been served in the same way, day in and day out. There is no excuse for that; for eggs are so versatile that they may be served in dozens of different ways, and in some dishes, their identity can be entirely concealed.

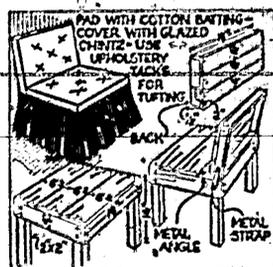

"Sunny side up" may be the most popular method of preparing eggs. But don't get into a menu rut, whether you are serving them for breakfast, dinner, lunch or supper. Cook them soft. Cook them hard. Transform them into omelets and souffles. Scramble them, plain, or dressed up with cheese, diced bacon, frizzled dried beef or sausages.

Eggs for Lenten Meal

As a main dish for a Lenten meal, hard-cooked eggs may be creamed; and served alone, or combined with cooked vegetables or fresh or canned fish. Use them as a binder in croquettes and loaf mixtures, as a coating for deep-fried foods.

Since eggs admirably supplement the food values of milk, puddings made from milk and eggs are an ideal dessert for children, and help to balance the diet of adults. Custard pies, fruit whips and cakes are also delightful dishes that bring to the diet the protective values of eggs.

"DEAR MRS. SPEARS: I HAVE been thinking that with slip covers used so much, one could make a chair out of plain lumber and cover it. Perhaps you could publish something like this in the paper. D. M."

Those who are not so clever about driving nails, may want to call on Dad or Young Son to help with making the simple chair I have sketched here. The metal angles and straps to strengthen the back may be bought at any hardware store along with the nails and screws. When the chair is covered in two tones of cloth with edges of back and seat piped in the darker color, it is really very smart. It is especially useful in a bedroom or hall. If covered in the right colors, it will also look well in the living room.

Phil smiled happily; and then he turned to Mary's letter, and sobered again; and for a moment he held it in his hands, remembering their last word from Mary with bitterness. He was tempted to destroy this letter unopened; but at last, like one performing an unpleasant duty, he tore off the end of the envelope and drew out the letter inside and began to read.

And at the first words, his eyes widened, and his breath came hissing and he sat up sharply in his berth. The letter was from Paris. Mary had written:

Dear Phil—
Gus Loran killed Miss Wines. He has told me so.
I'll try to tell you just what happened. I think I told you he was here. His wife was getting a divorce. We met by accident, but he seemed fascinated by me. My Argentine and I weren't getting along very well. He's gone back to South America now. I began to realize that Loran had something on his mind. He was drinking a lot and looking sick; and then he began to give me presents, pretty valuable ones, and I asked him why, and he was drunk most of the time of course—he began to talk be reached soon after dawn—he said nothing to Mrs. Sentry. When she saw his high spirits and asked some question, he said evasively, "Oh, just looking forward to seeing Barbara, that's all!"

They alighted at the Cleveland station, and Dan and Barbara were there to greet them, and Barbara was quick in her mother's arms, while Phil pumped Dan's hand. Then Barbara came to kiss Phil, her eyes dancing; and she linked her arm through his, and Mrs. Sentry and Dan were close on their heels, and they came to Dan's car. Phil, watching Barbara, thought she was becoming beautiful. It had never occurred to him that his sister was beautiful before. He had thought of her as a nice-looking youngster; but now she wore a subtle radiance of glowing eyes and clear skin and steady lips that were strong even when they curved in quick laughter.

Phil said, "Dan, you've made a beauty out of Barb!"
"Old Doctor Fisher," Dan chuckled. "Every treatment guaranteed. A raving . . . after three

"But mother, how did you know—"

She smiled, "I am not blind! You and Linda wore it like banners, that day you came back to York."

"And you don't mind?"
"I've minded your not trusting me enough to tell me about it, that's all."

"When will you be married?"

Barbara challenged, "Soon?"

Mrs. Sentry said smilingly: "Yes, soon, I hope." And to her son: "I wasn't sure I could—let you go, till we saw Barbara so happy, Phil. At home I had too much the feeling that things were ending; that there was nothing to look forward to. But—things are just beginning here, with Barb and Dan. And you and Linda can make a fine new beginning too."

Phil's throat was full; he thought: This is the time to tell them! He reached in his pocket for Mary's letter. But then Dan came into the room. He came quietly enough; yet his very quiet made them look at him in sudden attention.

Phil saw Dan's face white and set; and Barbara saw Dan's face too, and was in his arms in one swift movement, staring up at him, crying: "Dan! What is it, Dan?"

Dan said in a low tone: "It was the office that called, Mrs. Sentry. They've just had an A. P. bulletin, with—great news! Gus Loran has confessed to the French police that he killed Miss Wines. The Governor says Mr. Sentry will be pardoned at once, will be free today."

Trains are tedious things; but planes move swiftly. Yet to Mrs. Sentry, that day while they seemed to hang motionless in a cloudless sky alive with sunshine so bright she thought it could never be obscured, the swift journey homeward appeared to be interminable.

But it was not. The panoramas below them, moment by moment, changed; the mountains beneath them slid behind; new cities far ahead came quickly into view, and then, distant yet beautiful, the sea.

Before they landed at East Boston, Phil had seen Linda waiting, far below. In his arms, held close, her lips tight to his, she whispered only his name, Phil, Phil, Phil, her lips moving against his. And then: "He is waiting for you, Phil. For you all to take him home together. He is here with the limousine, and I've my car—"

He rode with her through congested streets to the shabby portals of the prison; and the limousine pulled up behind them. Upon arrival there she said:

"Dan and I will go on ahead, Phil. Just you, whom he loves, to meet him here and bring him home." And she whispered, "But hurry to me, Phil."

Phil nodded, his eyes blurred so that he could not see. Of what followed he remembered little save the strong grasp of his father's hand. Then they were in the limousine, Phil on one of the small seats, half turned to face Barbara and his father and mother in the seat behind. They crossed the bridge above the murky railroad yards, and Phil saw how pale his father was. But beyond, driving beside the river where the sun shone clear, Phil thought: It will put color in his cheek again. It will not take long.

And he thought: We are all very silent. And then he nodded, understanding. There was too much to say; and yet there was nothing that was not already being said by Barbara, her hands tight clasped on his father's arm; by Mrs. Sentry pressed close against her husband's side.

They crossed the river, passed familiar corners. Soon now they would be at home. And Linda would be waiting . . .

Phil turned in his seat to face forward, he turned to look ahead.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—Is the "czar" on his way out? Before and since the elevation of Judge Landis and Will Hays we have hired benevolent autocrats, in times of stress and confusion, but now the New York city hotel industry hires, instead, an "impartial chairman," with labor concurring, as he will represent both employers and labor. Is this a precedent, or is the title just a euphemism for "czar"?

Impartial Ump Pushing 'Czar' Into Discard?

Granite-faced, tight-lipped Edward P. Mulrooney gets the umpiring job, at $25,000 a year. He also is now entitled to his $5,000 yearly pension, as a former police commissioner, withheld while he held public office. In 1933, he became chairman of the state alcoholic beverage control board, and later state commissioner of correction, from which office he will resign to accept the hotel post.

He started pounding a beat in West street forty-eight years ago, when Theodore Roosevelt was police commissioner. He first hit the headlines by rescuing women and children in a small boat when the Slocum burned. As a "waterfront flat-foot," he was known as a "cop's cop," always having his mind on his work.

He became police commissioner in 1930. He gave his men orders to shoot to kill, and set shotgun squads patrolling the city. He roughed up the racketeers a lot, and when he was switched to the Albany liquor control job in 1933, the word was out that certain anti-social, anti-cop elements had desired the transfer and helped bring it about.

At 65, his reddish hair is turning brindle. His ferret eyes reveal a penetrating alertness of mind. He looks a great deal like General Pershing. It would seem unlikely that anybody in the hotel business here will be giving the umpire any back-talk.

Among Bothersome Dusts, Silica Said to Be Cause of Disease Known as Silicosis

Dust is never a pleasant thing to breathe, but some dusts are far worse than others. Coal dust, for example, may color a miner's or coal heaver's lungs as black as night, but it rarely does anything more serious, states a writer in the Chicago Tribune. On the other hand, the repeated inhalation of freshly ground silica dust (silica is a general name for the compound that makes up sand and quartz), frequently results in a disease known as silicosis, characterized by an extensive scarring and destruction of lung tissue.

This disease has come to be recognized as a serious industrial hazard. Since sand and quartz are obviously quite nonpoisonous as found in nature, the fact that they are more dangerous than other dusts when finely ground, led to the suspicion that silicosis was a result of some hitherto unrecognized property of silica.

Tests on rabbits appear to have shown that the danger can be greatly lessened if the silica dust is mixed with a trace of metallic aluminum dust.

Silica is a compound of the elements of silicon and oxygen, and the atoms of these elements are so arranged on the surface of freshly broken silica that the oxygen atoms possess a small but definite part of the combining power of free element.

Presumably this is responsible for the fact that freshly ground silica is more soluble than other forms of the material. This in turn suggests that the deadly effect of silica dust is the result of its actually combining chemically with the lung tissues, and not of mere mechanical irritation.

If this were true, the way to bring silica dust would be to dehydrate it in contact with something that had a greater affinity for oxygen, so that the latter would be completely saturated before it had time to attack living tissue. Theoretically, aluminum should have such an effect, and tests with it have borne out these predictions.

about some great wrong he had done me, and about making amends. This went on for weeks, and he was sort of cracking up all the time. I asked him questions, but he'd shut up like a clam. But when my husband left me, he got mad and went about what was happening to me, and he told me, and finally, right before last, he begged me to forgive him and I asked for what, and I finally got it out of him.

He had Miss Wines in Maine in August. The guide lied for him. And he says she tried to blackmail him, and her car was already threatening to divorce him and collect big alimony, and he was scared. Then Miss Wines sent word to him to meet her in the office that night at half past eleven. He was going to New York. Anyway, she decided to try to scare her so she would let him alone. He had a pistol he had carried in the West, and he took it to scare her with. He says he took out the magazine, thought it was empty. He got on the New York train and put on his pyjamas over his clothes and called the porter and told him he was going to sleep, and that he had another train, and went out a different gate, and went to the office, and she was there.

She'd stolen father's key, he says. He offered her the money there was in the safe, and she said she wanted a lot more than that, and she said she was going to tell Mrs. Loran, and started out. And he jammed the pistol against her back as she passed him in the doorway, thinking it was empty, intending to scare her, and it went off.

She took two or three steps and fell, and he saw the empty cartridge rolling across the floor and picked it up, and then ran to her and called to her to get up, and saw she was dead. He heard someone on the stairs, and turned out the lights, and when father came, in the dark, he jumped past him down the stairs and ran. And he saw father's car and started to drive away in it, and realized he had turned into a one-way street and might be arrested for that, so he left it there and hurried back to the station and sneaked on the train. No one saw him.

So, Phil, I went to the American embassy here and told them, and they got the police. They are going to arrange things so they can hear everything we say, in case I can get him to go over it all again. I'll try, Phil. They say my story is true, so maybe he'll be heard from the police before you get this. I read about father's commutation; and even if I can't get Mr. Loran to talk again, this may help to get father pardoned. It's too late to help me. But maybe it will help make up for my deserting you all. Anyway, it's all I can do.

Phil read this letter through with racing eyes; and when he had done, he read it again more slowly, till every word was fixed on his brain. And there was great triumph in him, and a deep jubilation. His first thought was to rouse his mother, tell her. But she was asleep, and if she knew this tonight, she would not sleep again. She would insist that they leave the train, go back to his father.

And he thought of Barbara; Barbara, who of them all had never faltered in her faith. And in the end he hugged this secret close. It would wait, he decided. Wait till tomorrow. Wait till they were with Barbara. Barbara had a right to be the first to know. So in the morning—they were packed early, since Cleveland would months of marriage, or your money back."

Then they were stowing themselves in the car, and Phil saw that it was new, and thought Dan must be prospering, and wondered what their home would be like. It was an apartment, he knew; and when they were arrived, the apartment, though small, proved to be reassuringly sunny and comfortable, and the furniture could not be objected to.

Phil saved his great news, relishing the anticipation of their great happiness. Barbara, through breakfast, did most of the talking, only appealing to Dan for corroboration now and then, relating her arrival in Cleveland when she came to join Dan, and the first days in a hotel when, while Dan was at work, she sought for apartments, till she had a list for his inspection; and how they moved in here with nothing but twin beds, a few towels and some linen, and so began house-keeping.

"So first I furnished the kitchen," Barbara explained. "Just buying each day the things I actually needed. And then the bedroom; and then I began on the living-room. After I had things picked out, Dan would go see them before I decided. And I made all the hangings myself, by hand. I'm as good a sempstress as Miss Simpkins right now, mother. And when we had everything in, I began to monogram our linen—Why mother! You're crying!"

Mrs. Sentry said through tears: "It's all right, Barbara. I was just being sorry for myself because I missed sharing all that fun with you. I should have been here, helped, done most of it." She spoke to Dan. "I'm afraid your bride didn't come to you as well equipped and prepared as she should have been, Dan."

Dan grinned. "I haven't any complaint," he declared. "But maybe it was hard on Barb."

"You idiot!" said Barbara gently; and to her mother: "It's been fun. Perfect! I shouldn't have wanted it any other way."

Mrs. Sentry looked toward Phil, and suddenly her eyes twinkled. "I'll do better by you and Linda, Phil," she promised; and Phil's heart leaped, and Barbara cried delightedly. "Phil! You and Linda? Honest? Oh, that's grand!"

Phil could not speak, staring at his mother. Barbara was kissing him hard and happily, and Dan was shaking his hand, and then the telephone rang in the hall, and Dan went to answer it, and Phil paid shakily.

Vacancies In U. S. Fleet For Marines

The United States Fleet is expected to return to the Long Beach, San Pedro Area from maneuvers early in the month of June and according to word received by Mr. Herman Kelt, our Postmaster, from Major George D. Hamilton, Recruiting Officer for the Marine Corps at Los Angeles, California, many Marines will be transferred from each vessel at that time because of expiration of their tour of duty afloat. Each transfer means a vacancy for some young man who has entered the service and completed his training by that date. All Marines are trained in the shore duties of the Corps but from each recruit platoon only a limited number of outstanding men are selected to go to Sea School for additional training in the duties of Marines afloat. For instance, secondary batteries, anti-aircraft batteries and anti-aircraft machine guns are manned by Marines on each ship and preliminary training is necessary. There is also instruction on ceremony of the Navy, signals, and, last but not least, instruction on how to present at all times a soldierly appearance under sea-going conditions.

Men enlisted during the month of March and early in the month of April will have completed their training in sufficient time to be eligible for assignment to Sea School and further transfer to a ship of the Fleet, to fill the vacancies which will be created by transfer from each ship upon return of the Fleet.

Fact About Cremation
The public health service says that it is not true that in cremation the heart remains unburned. The heart usually burns last, due to the fact that it is the best protected organ in the body. This, of course, depends upon how the heat is applied.

Largest of Bear Species

Finds Parading Oxen Profitable Business
Benedict, N. D.—E. E. Simmons has added a new job to the operation of his 600-acre farm near here by taking advantage of interest in the old ox-drawn covered wagon.
—Simmons and his four oxen make a profit each year appearing in historical parades. His portable historical exhibit, Simmons said, has never had an accident in 350 miles of parading. Simmons denies he is "old-fashioned to the core."
"I bought an automobile 25 years ago and have used a car for business and pleasure ever since," he said.

No Best Age for Work
There is no golden age at which men do their best work, but a study of the achievements of 261 of the greatest men of history showed, according to Prof. M. L. Thorndike, that the "masterpiece age" averaged about 42.8 years.
