However your superintendent will be happy to have each of you come to the office with constructive criticism and any thoughtful plans for improvement.
 4. The cost of beautifying and improving the school premises is not small there is a challenge for each of us to do our part in preserving and protecting school property. LET US INSTILL INTO OUR STUDENTS A REAL RESPECT TO HUMAN RIGHTS TO PROPERTY.
 5. The tax-payers are spending [$70] seventy per pupil per year in maintaining this school; Hence they have a right to know for what they are spending their money. Our Booklet of Aims is the blue print of the year's work, a bird's eye view of what the taxpayers are investing their money. Be careful that your aims are within the realm of accomplishment.

Appalling Report of Motor Accidents

The appalling rate of July when 88 motor accidents in New Mexico highways accounted for 19 fatalities and perhaps an equal number of the survivors will be maimed for life has prompted Governor Miles to demand the State Safety Bureau use every effort at their command to reduce these unnecessary crashes which were due, according to records, to excessive speed.

State Safety Director Pickett is in Ann Arbor attending a highway safety experts conference called by the University of Michigan and, in that the conference will be conducted by the nation's foremost authorities on highway safety Governor Miles believes Director Pickett will return with a constructive practical program toward improvement of motor driving and ultimate reduction in accidents.

Camp to Move

By degrees the local CCC camp is being torn down and will be moved to Tokay. The work performed by the division of grazing and the monthly expenditures will be missed by local ranchmen and local businessmen as well. About three or four thousand dollars are spent here each month by the enrollees. The loss of this amount of money will be felt keenly in a town as small as Carrizozo.

The Civilian Conservation Corps was established by executive order of the President on April 5, 1938, to operate under the direction and co-operation of various government departments for the furtherance of state and national parks, soil conservation and preservation. The purpose of the organization is to give employment to young men who otherwise would be unable to find it because of the difficult economic conditions through which we have passed in recent years. About 70 per cent of the labor used to advance the nationwide erosion control program initiated a few years ago has been furnished by enrollees working out of the hundreds of CCC camps assigned to soil conservation projects throughout the country.

Roswell Defeats Carrizozo

(By M. C. St. John)

Manager Jim Gonzalez of Roswell brought his ball team last Sunday and for the third time defeated the Carrizozo Club. Mgr. Harry Miller reinforced his team by getting a left-handed pitcher from Ft. Stanton, the boy pitched a good game but Roswell proved to be a hard hitting team. Felix Chapa started the ball rolling for Roswell and his team mates kept slugging in the same fashion. Speedy Lueraz of Carrizozo slugged one into deep center for a hit, and made 1st. Jerry Beltran started for Carrizozo. The final score was 17-13 in Roswell's favor.

FIGHTING-WRESTLING

The fights and wrestling match at Harry Millers' Sunday night were attended by a large crowd. The first fight on the card was between (Marcey) Orioste of Carrizozo and Burriola of Roswell, Burriola with an advantage of 22 lb weight won an easy 10-round decision on our home town boy. The second fight between Lujan of Roswell and Nelson of Lake Arthur was a fast fight while it lasted, Lujan won by a K. O. in the 4th.

The wrestling match between Horace Stockton of the Skousen road camp and Johnie Otero of Roswell kept the crowd on it's feet till the last fall. Johnie Otero won the first fall in 21 minutes, the second fall was won by Stockton in 19 minutes, and the last and deciding fall was also won by Stockton in 12 minutes. This match was well worth the price of admission and both contestants were clean wrestlers.

Cottons Take on Importance In 'Back-to-School' Wardrobe

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

PLANNING a back-to-school wardrobe for young 1939 sophisticates? Here's news of smart cottons, for cottons are gaining in style prestige. They are the more persuasive in that they are such grand and glorious washable successes, added to which they are durable as well as smart.

True aristocrats among the newer fabrics are the fine shantung cottons and the highly mercerized poplins, both of which actually seem to improve with repeated launderings, for the iron brings out the native luster of the cotton.

Full prints are more subdued. The backgrounds are darker. No wise mother chooses any print these days that is less than perfectly washable, completely color-fast and sanforized shrink.

For dress-up, little girls will wear stunning cloque plaques, fine linens, washable spun-rayons and new crashes that resemble linens but are actually serviceable cotton.

Another outstanding favorite is washable gabardine for school and for all autumn activities. Blouses, shorts, skirts, culottes, in fact every conceivable type of garment for youthful wearers of both sexes will lead a strenuous outdoor life are showing in cotton gabardines that are processed so they cannot shrink out of fit.

Destined to be a schoolgirl favorite is the cunning dress pictured to the left at the top in the group. As much like mother's bolero jacket outfit as possible is this modish frock designed so cleverly for little daughter with whom it is most certain to prove first choice to wear "first day of school." Made of fine quality shantung broadcloth guaranteed pre-shrunk of course, this model is most attractive. The bolero comes off and leaves a smart little short-sleeved frock. Worn with a new fall felt, the outfit makes a chic

Junior ensemble to snuggle under a good warm coat when cool weather sets in.

An ideal tubster is the cunning dress worn by the youngster seated in the foreground. It is made of a modern safe-for-washing print, the excellent shantung cotton print that mothers know and approve for back-to-school wardrobes. Note the dainty hand-fogging in the collar and please observe that a generous shirring gives plenty of front and back fullness. The pockets are clever and new.

The smiling young bicyclist on the right wears a very intriguing frock styled of a striped cotton print that is almost as sturdy a weave as could be found in any collection of materials, added to which is its attractiveness. The skirt is pleated and a gypsy wash of the material ties at the waist.

The teen-age who possesses almost an uncanny style sense are having great fun ensembling gabardine outfits that make color their theme. A marine blue gabardine skirt, a yellow blouse, a magenta kid belt, a yellow jacket, a bright headkerchief square that has peasant figurines dancing around the wide border goes to the color limit and yet how effective it is and best of all dependably washable.

In choosing the new height cottons we can't urge mothers too strongly to stop, look and be cautious before they buy. Look at the label whether it be an all-ready-to-wear garment you are selecting for Junior or little sister or a washable fabric by the yard. Look for service guarantees of non-shrinkage and no-fade on the fabrics.

Modern Pioneers Head for Antarctic, Hoping to Start New American Colony

Byrd Expedition Leaves In Mid-October for Two-Year Stay.

By CLYDE PEARSON

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

ON SOME future day the air voyager bound from New York to Australia may spend the night at America's settlement in the antarctic, proceeding across the South pole next day to complete his trip. During his overnight visit he will chat with American colonists who spend six to seven months a year at the southern tip of the world, bringing precious ores out of the snow-covered mountains and shipping them back home by plane and boat.

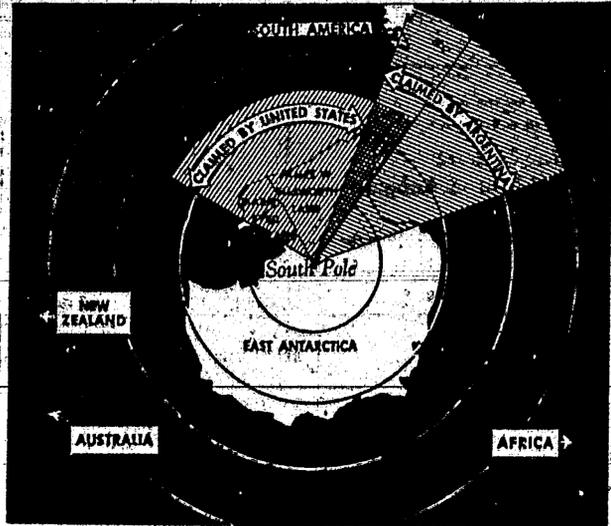

If this idea seems far-fetched to 129,999,999 Americans, it doesn't to the other one—Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd. Come October and he'll head out of Boston on his third trip to the South pole, the first such expedition to be financed by the government since the intrepid Captain Wilkes was given a vague commission by congress in 1838 to "explore new lands."

It will be the first attempt by any nation to establish a polar land claim on the basis of permanent settlement. And it may run into a pack of trouble.

Conflict With Argentina. Commander Byrd hopes to claim for the United States all of Marie Byrd Land and the adjoining James Ellsworth Land, which together include some 600,000 miles. He also hopes to explore (and possibly claim) part of the Weddell sea quadrant, and it is here that he will run against Argentina's claims. As shown on the map, that nation maintains her right to a sector extending toward the pole from the Falkland islands. The territory is also claimed by Great Britain.

Inasmuch as Argentina's friendship is highly valued, the state department will make every effort to respect her wishes, at the same time maintaining her new policy of refusing to recognize any polar claim that has not been permanently settled.

Briefly, the new Byrd expedition has a two-year job. Leaving in three ships, two of them owned by the government and the third—the veteran "Bear of Oakland"—leased on a "dollar-a-year" basis; the party will establish three bases. One will be at Little America, Byrd's old camp in Marie Byrd Land. Another will be at Palmer Land, which is the hook extending out of Antarctica toward South America, just west of the Weddell sea. The third will be midway between the two in what is unexplored territory.

ANTARCTICA—Shaded areas show this section claimed by Argentina and that which Admiral Byrd's party will explore during the next two years, possibly staking out land claims for the United States. As shown on the map, U. S. and Argentine interests clash in part of this section. Right: Admiral Byrd.

Can Stay Two Years.

In early spring, when the long antarctic night has passed, the three parties will set out in sleds and dog-teams to explore the frozen lands of the interior. Unknown territory will be mapped and data will be sought concerning important mineral resources. It has been established definitely that these wastelands contain coal, and probably other minerals of more immediate value to the United States.

About 180 men will make the trip, 60 of them remaining at the three camp for at least a year. They will maintain sufficient food supplies for two years, however, because the shifting ice packs may delay the returning expedition.

Every modern scientific weapon will be at the party's disposal, thanks to a $340,000 appropriation by congress and assistance of the new United States antarctic service. Contributing to its personnel are the interior, state, war and navy departments; the coast guard and several private scientific organizations.

Build Snow Cruiser.

The most novel instrument will be a 45,000-pound snow cruiser being developed by Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, second in command of Admiral Byrd's last antarctic expedition and a member of the new party. This giant craft, which will travel atop the ice, is 65 feet long. It is designed to cross snow-covered crevasses, the greatest peril of antarctic land travel. It has 10-foot wheels equipped with treads on the caterpillar tractor principle and is driven by a brace of diesel engines.

The boat carries three or four men with ample supplies for several months. On its roof will be strapped a small airplane.

Many scientists are now considering the possibility of a permanent settlement. Whether or not such colonization is made depends upon the expedition's findings regarding the antarctic's value as a future source of minerals, as a fishery source and as an observation post for meteorological predictions. Congress will then decide from year to year whether the colony should be maintained.

Propose Observatory.

Admiral Byrd is convinced the settlement should be practical. Early in June he pointed out that antarctic weather stations should be constantly occupied with staffs, changed from season to season.

"The south polar region is a weather breeder for the whole world south of the equator and indirectly affects us in the north," he said. "Data collected there, studied together with that from other parts of the world, will be of much practical importance. It should enable our scientists to make long-range weather forecasts with an accuracy greater than anything we know now."

At antarctic coal mines, and in the vicinity of gold, silver and other deposits expected to be found there, he expects permanent settlements will spring up within the next 50 years.

Predicts Aviation Epoch.

Admiral Byrd thinks antarctic aviation possibilities are enormous. Just as Russia and several other nations have considered a Europe-North America airline via the North pole, Mr. Byrd thinks the time is not far distant when planes will cross the South pole regularly flying between South or even North America and Australia.

And so for the next two years we'll hear lots about the antarctic as the expedition's ships come and go, and as the magic of wireless brings your newspapers constant reports of the unique land-staking junket into the ice-crusted wilderness.

There's only one catch to it. An eagle-eyed reporter recently discovered that congress appropriated funds to send an expedition to the antarctic, without saying anything specifically about getting it back. Speaking privately, several members of the party thought this would be a good idea in case war envelops the civilized world during the next two years.

But Admiral Byrd says no one need worry—the expedition is coming back if it has to walk over the ice like Eliza.

Summer Reaches Washington When Congress Leaves Town

WASHINGTON.—Summer's almost over for most of America, but for Washington it's just started. Moon, sun and climate to the contrary, the nation's capital knows only one unfixd period of summertime each year.

It starts the instant speakers of both houses of congress bang their adjournment gavels and send the thundering herd of legislators back to their home stamping grounds.

But by the same token summer comes when it may—brings a new influx to Washington. It is then that tourist business reaches its peak, drawing thousands of summer-vacation, Christmas-bills-finally-paid-off visitors.

But modern Washington summers have lost the out-to-lunch touch that once made the city a haven for those who sought escape from the madding crowd. Since 1922 a huge crop of new administrative offices has grown up, keeping much of the city's population busy without letup. Once, in the dear dead days, all governmental offices automatically adopted a shorter work day immediately after congress adjourned. Even today, despite the growth of new bureaus, longer lunch hours and brief days are the rule.

Investigators Stay On.

Still another harsh note breaks the Polomac's silliness this summer. As in all summers preceding election years, the current pre-election spell finds investigating committees hard at work. One reason is that their members can draw big headlines without competition during the news-less dog days of late summer.

This summer's committees will be headed by Texas' Rep. Martin Dies, who reopens his investigations of subversive activities. The new house committee to investigate the National labor relations board will provide a bit more entertainment.

Such affairs will not interest the tourists, however. Preparing for a boom season, the board of trade has made plans once more to cash in on a $40,000,000 annual business. Washington tourist business comes from all over the world. It is estimated that only 5 per cent of foreign visitors to the United States fail to see the city. Hence the professional guides who speak French, German, Italian and Spanish. The tourists' favorite meccas are the Smithsonian Institution and National museum, the capitol building (whose chambers still echo the past winter's angry debates) and the White House.

These Draw 'Em, Too!

Following close in popularity come Mount Vernon, the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the bureau of printing and engraving, the Washington cathedral, Supreme court, library of congress, federal bureau of investigation, Pan-American union and the Lincoln memorial.

Most popular method of inspecting the city is via the sightseeing bus. Thus tourists visit the White House and other historical spots at the rate of $,000 a day, listening to guide reel off an unintelligible spiel and crack stock jokes, many of which deservedly draw no laughs.

Though August is the peak month, tourists will continue to pour in through September and October. By November 1 the species becomes almost extinct, remaining thus for the next six months until May again beckons the patriotic American to hallowed ground.

Leading Vogue

Here is a charming interpretation of the "little dinner" suit. It contrasts a formal knee-length skirt with a wee jacket blouse. The fabric that fashions this attractive dinner dress is tulle, a crimped spun acetate rayon weave that looks like sheet muslinlike wool and feels like duvelyn. The modish jacket, that buttons around the waist concealing a deep V-neckline is in dusty pink. The skirt, in an Indian wine shade, is styled with a front fullness that lends its sculptural grace.

Flare for Suede Knows No Bounds

It's going to prove a record season for suede. Paris cables say "suede" with emphasis, citing accessory ensembles of hat, bag, belt and gloves done in richly colorful suede. Some suede enthusiasts are dressing in suede from head to foot. The new suede processing is so amazing, the results are a lightness and softness that yields perfectly to fabric treatments. In consequence high-fashion women are taking to wearing stunning dresses of suede or perhaps a suede topper completes a tweed suit. It's a complete conquest that suede has made in the fashionable world.

Sweaters in for Big Run for Fall

It's going to be a tremendous sweater season. "You can't get any type of sweater in any color, keyed to any occasion from the most formal to the most sporty. Sweaters, ever the schoolgirl's delight, resort to all sorts of tricky devices, such as the names of leading colleges scribbled in gay print all over. Bars of music embroidered across the front of your sweater is something to attract the eye. Latest college girl whim is to wear the long cardigan sweater backwards—instead of buttoning it up at front button it at the back.

From the Wings of a Bird Mamboeher's "aviary" prints are like exotic birds—the Dove, Barnaby, cockatoo—and are as bright as spilled red ink.

Strange Facts

Of Three Faiths Move Up 20 Minutes Lucky Death Chair

China and Japan possess some 400,000,000 people, or one-fifth of the population of the world, who profess and practice two of three religions at the same time. Most Chinese are adherents of two, if not all three, of their native faiths—Buddhism, Confucianism and Taoism—while the majority of Japanese follow both of their popular religions—Buddhism and Shintoism.

All countries do not move their timepieces ahead one hour in observing daylight-saving time. New Zealand, for one, advances its clocks 30 minutes, while several West African colonies advance theirs only 20 minutes.

Constitution Day of former Czechoslovakia was celebrated only once every four years because it fell on February 29. It was observed to honor the Czech constitution, which was ratified on that day in 1920.

An odd superstition long prevalent among the habitual gamblers at the Monte Carlo Casino is that the chair recently occupied by a suicide is the luckiest one in the house.—Collier's.

Youthful Admirers Flock to Conn Training Quarters

Billy Conn, new Irish king of the light-heavyweights, is just like all other champions—always a favorite with the kids. Scores of young admirers hike to his training camp at Lieperville, Pa., every day, hoping to get a glimpse of the popular young fighter. Conn's backers are looking forward to the day when he'll put on enough weight to meet Joe Louis for the heavyweight title.

Peace-Time Maneuvers Test Army Efficiency

When the United States army began its most extensive peace-time maneuvers at Manassas, Va., recently, these members of the Twenty-eighth tank company of Pennsylvania, left, were kept busy checking over their huge mechanized war steeds. Right: That mock war has their casualty lists was proved by one private, who reported at the 194th medical regiment offices to receive first aid for an injured eye. The report did not state just how the soldier suffered the injury.

Tot's Shyness May Result in Backwardness

● WISE HANDLING NECESSARY to eliminate handicap of constant embarrassment. Parents should assist youngsters to rise above ever-present timidity and to enjoy social life with friends.

By MARGARET GONN RHOADS
WE ALL realize that the child who is shy and constantly embarrassed by bashfulness has a handicap that needs very wise handling. Many times a parent can help a child to rise above this timidity and become happily sociable, delighting in personal contacts.

"June started out to be one of those little children who hide behind their mother's skirts at the approach of a stranger; her lips quivered if she were singled out for attention and she evaded the mailman and the milkman when they came on their daily rounds," related a mother before a group of parent students. "I determined that she should never hear any of the family comment on her shyness; I also made up my mind to think of ways of helping the baby to overcome this handicap. I knew I should have to go very carefully along the way or I might make matters worse, but today June is such an unusually responsive child and meets people so easily that I feel my carefully laid plans were well worth while.

"I began with the mailman as he came each day. I allowed June to stick the stamp on my letter. This seemed such a big thing to her! Then, with the letter in her hand to give the mailman, she forgot her fear and ran out to meet him. He helped me by not getting too friendly with her all at once. And in much this same simple way I acquainted June with the milkman and the grocery boy. I let her put the tickets in the milk bottles and let her set the bottles out. That gave her an interest in the man who delivered the milk. I would empty the grocery boy's basket and hand her the empty container to give to him.

Get Acquainted Gradually.

"When guests came to the house I would ask her to open the door. She soon learned to ask them to be seated especially if their manner when they greeted her was not too familiar. Most little boys and girls like to get acquainted with a strange person gradually—but many older people are apt to gush over children, the moment they meet them. When June started for nursery school she was somewhat afraid of the experience. But each morning I let her take some small gift to the teacher and her joy in carrying the flower or the red apple or the cutout she had made lessened her consciousness of self and the problem was solved happily.

"Shyness or backwardness is often regarded by parents as a trait the child will outgrow and so they feel it need not be given special concern. I like to think that in our home we are always helping the children to develop the traits that will benefit them. They should be able to meet people happily, be sufficiently self-possessed to enter into child activities and reap the joy of personal contacts. They should have the assurance within themselves that they are capable of joining in a conversation with a group of their age or of playing games with as much vim as the other children.

Shyness induces an inferiority complex in the child that later makes the grownup cheat himself of much advancement and many pleasures that are rightly his. Today June at five can meet the guests in our home pleasantly, totally unconscious of herself. What picture would she have presented had we ignored her baby-tendency or constantly commented on it? She would have been timid still, and little by little would have become more certain that she would always be a shy person."

Indian Clan

The sachem was a functionary of an Indian clan—a common division of the Indian tribe. The clan had two distinct kinds of leaders, a sachem and a chief. The sachem was judge and administrator of ancient customs and his functions were those of peace time. He was chosen by the adult members of the clan and his election usually depended upon the influence of his immediate family in the clan group. The chief, on the contrary, won his title by individual prowess. He was chosen because of some special deed or because of some outstanding trait. The chief was the war time leader. In current thought the term sachem applies to the principal dignitaries of Tammany Hall—the New York political organization. The Society of St. Tammany, the name under which Tammany Hall was incorporated, takes its name from the Indian who is patron saint of the organization.

Span of Time

Probably the greatest time span between two important cities is that between New York and Hongkong. At 12 noon in New York it is 37 minutes past midnight in Hongkong.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

Mark your dish towels in hand writing.

THERE is logic in the idea that glasses, china and pots and pans should have their own towels. Here is a simple way to make that logic work. Write across the corner of each towel with a soft pencil the purpose for which it is to be used. Use a soft pencil and your best script with the tall letters at least two inches high. If you want to trace the words from paper, blacken the back of the paper with your pencil, place it black side down on the material, then draw the outline.

Work over the hand writing with heavy, bright colored embroidery thread. Chain stitch, as shown here at the upper right, gives a good strong outline and may be done quickly. Use a different color for each kind of towel. Colored facings of prepared bias binding used flat as shown at the lower left make a practical edge finish. If you use flour and sugar sacks for dish towels, these suggestions for adding color will be especially useful.

Dispelling The Fog

"If we nominate conservative candidates or lip service candidates, on a straddlebug platform," said President Roosevelt in his recent letter to the Young Democrats convention, "I personally, for my own self-respect and because of my long service to, and belief in, liberal democracy, will find it impossible to have any active part in such an unfortunate suicide of the old Democratic party."

That sounds like what we used to describe in grammar as a "simple declarative sentence," but the Republicans are reading into it all sorts of hidden meanings and implications.

There is nothing startling about it. The President announced three months ago the party courted defeat if it attempted to give the country a Conservative administration--a Republican administration under a Democratic label. In season and out of season he has proclaimed the same principles. How then could he actively support candidates and a platform that took precisely the opposite course from that to which he is committed?

What sort of speeches could he make, what manner of appeal could he address to his fellow Democrats to do exactly what he had always warned them against doing?

I wonder if any of the Republicans expected Franklin Roosevelt to proclaim that he would positively support a reactionary candidate on a pussy-footing platform?

The Bond of the Taxan

In the newspapers on the day this is written, Sam Rayburn, Democratic Leader in the House of Representatives, announces his enthusiasm for the nomination of Vice President Garner, and that is hailed as widening a deep rift in democratic ranks.

As if anybody expected Sam Rayburn to desert his fellow Taxan; who was his colleague for sixteen years in the House. As if anything else were possible for the Taxan who served loyally during Mr. Gardner's terms as Minority Leader and as Speaker, and who managed the Garner pre-convention Presidential campaign in 1932! Who could find fault with his standing by his old associate--or attach any deep political significance to the incident?

It is about as exciting as the coming out of the Indiana Congressmen for Paul McNutt, or of the likelihood of the Tennessee delegation coming to the 1940 convention for Cordell Hull.

Not having the slightest idea of what nominees will issue from the Democratic Convention of 1940, this observer views with perfect equanimity the progress of all the apparent or prospective candidates. The more strength developed for any or all of them before the nomination is made the bigger will be the force behind whoever is selected by the convention.

Naturally the Republicans are hailing every development as further evidence of irradicable differences in the majority party--they are speaking today in terms of as great confidence as they did when Governor Landon was their standardbearer. Then, it will be remembered, Chairman John Hamilton gravely announced that the Kansas would carry every state North of the Ohio and East of the Mississippi, and perhaps

The Inference From Two Defeats

The chief of the G. O. P. propaganda bureau came perilously close to saying something in an issue the other day, for, after a tribute to the Republican Congressmen for what they had accomplished in the direction of jettisoning the President's program, he added: "It is a good indication of what the country can expect in the way of constructive reforms when the Republicans assume control of the Federal Government in January, 1941." That is the nearest thing to a declaration of Republican police that anybody has been able to extract so far.

The basis for the Republican hopes, as outlined by one of their columnists, is that Dewey came within 60,000 votes of being elected Governor of New York, and that the Republican mayoralty candidate in Chicago in the last election did not do quite so well. The logic of the contention that if New York would not take the prosecuting attorney as Governor it would be more likely to take him for President may not be apparent, and the circumstance that a Democratic mayor prevailed in Chicago would hardly be deemed as conclusive evidence that the G. O. P. will win Illinois in the next election--but that is what they have to go on.

Farm Loans Increase 40%

According to G. Melvin Waters, County Rural Rehabilitation Supervisor for Lincoln County with the office at Carrizozo, FSA borrowers in Lincoln County who are renters operated 40 per cent more farms on written leases in 1939 than in 1938, while leases drawn for more than one year in creased 35 per cent.

Provision for self-support; for workable-sized units and for proper leasing arrangements are important factors in the rehabilitation of farm families. Caton

Mrs. N. L. Caton died this morning at 6:30 o'clock in her home near Forest. Her death was a blow to the community and came unexpectedly. She attended a ball game yesterday and appeared in the best of health.

Mr. and Mrs. Caton came to Quay county in 1907 in a covered wagon and filed on a claim three miles west of the old Plain post office. Ever since their arrival the Catons have been prominent in the civic affairs of the Forrest community. Mr. Caton passed away in May of 1937 and Mrs. Caton's death today leaves a grieving community.

The deceased is survived by eight children. The ninth, Willie, died of influenza during the Great War. They are: Mrs. Emma Journagen and Joranie of Forest, Lonnie of Dallas, Barney of Las Vegas, Louis of Ragland, Julien of Eunice, Pearl, an instructor in the Carrizozo schools last year, and Oren, an instructor in schools somewhere in northwestern New Mexico and now reported as visiting in California.

Funeral arrangements will be made and announced as soon as possible. Lonnie and Oren can be informed of their mother's death.—Tucumcari News, Monday, Aug 21, 1939.

Letter From Southern Pacific President

San Francisco, August 18.—Deepest sympathy for the families of those killed and injured in the wreck of the Streamliner City of San Francisco at Harney, Nevada, August 12, was the first expression of A. D. McDonald, President, Southern Pacific Company, in his first public comment on the wreck issued here today:

Mr. McDonald said: "This is the first opportunity I have had to make any public statement regarding the tragedy at Harney, Nevada, because of the many emergencies we faced at the scene."

"First, let me express our deepest sympathy to the relatives and friends of the passengers and railroad men who lost their lives in the wreck.

"Our people, immediately after performing their first urgent duty of getting word through for relief, made a preliminary survey of the scene, including the tracks, which at once revealed the cause of the wreck.

"Spikes were removed from ties and the bolts and angle bars which connect the two rails were also removed. This permitted criminal or criminals to force the rail four inches out of line, in which position it was spiked down to serve as a derailing switch. Care was taken however not to interfere with the flexible bond wires between the two rails, which, if broken, would have automatically set the block signals at stop position and averted the tragedy.

"Many clues as to the person or persons responsible for the wreck have been received, and every clue, however slight, is being fully investigated.

"All the evidence points to the fact that the wrecking of the Streamliner was planned with craft and deliberation.

"Southern Pacific is the oldest railroad in the West, its great family of officers and employees being bound together by many years of association. Many of our present force are of the second and third generation of loyal Southern Pacific men and women. Our feeling against the person or persons responsible for this tragedy cannot be expressed in words and to the full extent of our facilities and our individual abilities we are aiding in the hunt for the guilty.

"In conclusion, I express our

FREEPORT SULPHUR COMPANY

This launch carries workers 10 miles through a canal from Louisiana's Grande Ecaille mine to Port Sulphur, miners' town on the Mississippi's banks. Old days saw miners wading miles to work, painfully hauling materials across the plains and swamps by plodding mule train.

Financial worries are reduced. This typical worker at Grande Ecaille has just discussed a problem with his personal manager and is receiving a loan. Employees also get group insurance, hospitalization, pensions, service bonuses and discharge compensation.

Left: Miners and their families are ardent sportsmen. Here is a regularly scheduled night softball game between Port Sulphur and Belle Chasse, nearby community. Right: Son of a Grande Ecaille employee recovers from operation at the Port Sulphur hospital.

It's good old summer time six or seven months of the year on the gulf coast and the children's swimming pool at Port Sulphur is always popular. Growups find the gulf of Mexico, only four miles away, as good a swimming pool as it is a fishing ground for tarpon and black bass.

A miner's son strolls on Labor day through laboring man's city.

Grand Central terminal is never a quiet place. Throughout the 24 hours there is activity. Grand Central never sleeps. Ordinarily, it is noisier and busiest when the flood of commuters reaches its crest. These summer days, however, there are hours when it is just about as busy and far more noisy though all the commuters may be at their desks. Hundreds of youngsters, carefully shepherded by adults, come swarming in and with their arrival whatever dignity Grand Central may have vanishes. The groups are noisy. They couldn't be quiet if their lives depended on silence. They are entirely too excited for successful repression. And so a clatter of conversation has overtones of shouts, yells and whistles which blend into sound waves that rise to those twinkling stars dotting the ceiling of the lobby. Travelers hurrying to trains forget their haste, and baggage-laden porters grin.

The youngsters come from homes where rooms are apt to be dark and stuffy, where there are steep stairs instead of elevators, and where cold water may be the only suggestion of modern conveniences. They are bound for the mountains, the country, the seashore. They will be away from the slums for a week or two, weeks and in some instances even longer. In the main their vacations have been made possible through the generosity of the more prosperous. It doesn't cost much to give a tenement kid a vacation. Various organizations, through years of experience, have worked things out to such a fine point that a week's stay costs only a little more than $5. In this supposed-to-be granite-hearted city there are always those willing to help the less fortunate. And so those noisy, happy regiments at railway terminals.

Pale faces. Pinched bodies. The tale of cramped living, scanty food and sidewalk playgrounds told in human documents. Yet on most of those young faces, a strange brightness. The brightness of anticipation of close contact with old Mother Earth. Of swimming without being choked by eyes. Of a real beach instead of a fireplug. Food that doesn't come from a pushcart. . . . dreams of freedom from the slums. . . . freedom to play to the heart's content. God love all those youngsters. May all their dreams come true.

The city of New York also provides outings for underprivileged children. And for underprivileged mothers. Among other activities are those three ferryboats that go up the Hudson every day. The passengers are mothers and children from the slums. Everything possible is done to make the outing pleasant. There is milk for babies and ice cream for older children. Also there are doctors, nurses and police. The cops are taken along not to keep order but to protect the kids. The outings are only for a day. But they are better than none at all and by the end of summer thousands will have enjoyed them.

The hospital ship of St. John's guild has been mentioned in this space previously. But I like to write about that trim, white, engineless vessel which each morning is towed down to Sandy Hook, if the bay is smooth, or up the Hudson if the waves dance. The passengers are mothers and children. Tired mothers and sick children under 12 years of age. The list is compiled from names supplied by various organizations and city hospitals. That sail down the bay or up the smooth river is not a mere outing. It is a part of treatment designed to bring back health. And it too is made possible by generosity, the ship being maintained by private contributions.

A real hospital ship is the Lloyd I. Seaman. A part of the crew are doctors and nurses. There are dietitians also and others to look after the comfort of passengers. The comfort of passengers is the reason why there are no engines aboard the Lloyd I. Seaman. Vibrations might be bad for the patients. A cargo of sick youngsters. . . . I always see the Lloyd I. Seaman through a mist. (Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

Bridge Key Misplaced;
It Weighs 100 Pounds
MODESTO, CALIF.—Everyone has lost a key or two, but can you imagine misplacing one six feet long and weighing 100 pounds? A key answering that description, used to open the span of the Nine Mile bridge across the Tuolumne river, disappeared, and it had authorities worried. It was feared the thief might use the key to open the draw swing, unused now for 30 years, and go away without saying anything.

HOME-CANNED FOODS ALWAYS WELCOME
 (See Recipes Below)

Sugar and Spice

I've long believed that one reason the art of canning and preserving has been neglected is that many of us have forgotten just how good some of the home canned foods can be. We've forgotten the teasing tang of pickling spices, the mellow aroma of rich fruit butters that used to make the air fragrant at canning time. Maybe we need only to be reminded of all this to restore a lost art to favor!

What pride of accomplishment row upon row of jewel-colored jams, jellies and marmalades can create! And how simple it is to make them in the modern manner! You'll find these tested recipes from my own kitchen as practical as they are delicious. Detailed instructions are included in each recipe; you'll find these general suggestions helpful, too.

For Success in Canning and Preserving.

1. Make only a small amount of the product at one time.
2. Follow the recipe exactly.
3. Be sure that jelly glasses, jars, and covers are sterilized.
4. When they are to be filled with hot food, place the hot glasses or jars on a clean towel wrung out of hot water.
5. Use a small, inexpensive teapot for melting paraffin and pouring it. It eliminates dripping wax all over the glasses and your work table.
6. Store jams, jellies and preserves in a cool, dry place.

Apple Chutney.

2 pounds sour apples
 1/2 pound onions (chopped)
 1 pound tomatoes (chopped)
 Juice 1 lemon (strained)
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
 1 1/2 tablespoons ginger
 1/4 teaspoon red pepper
 2 pounds raisins
 2 cups vinegar
 1 cup brown sugar
 Pare, core and chop the apples. To them add the remaining ingredients. Simmer gently until tender, then rub through a fine sieve. Seal in sterilized jars.

Peach Conserve.

3 pounds of peaches (peeled)
 2 oranges (cut in small pieces)
 1 pound seedless raisins
 3 pounds sugar
 1 pound chopped walnuts
 Scald peaches, remove skins, cut into small pieces; discard pits. Place in a saucepan with small pieces of orange pulp, and peel, raisins and sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Sit over a slow flame and cook until thick, stirring occasionally. Add the chopped walnut meats, pour conserve at once into hot sterilized glass jars or glasses.

Amber Jam.

3 oranges
 3 lemons
 4 apples
 2 cups crushed pineapple
 Sugar
 Grate rind of one orange and one lemon. Then peel the remaining 2 oranges and the lemon, being careful to remove all of the white part of the skin. Peel and core the apples. Put all of these fruits through the food chopper and then add the grated orange and lemon rind, and the pineapple.

Measure this fruit and to it add an equal amount of sugar.

Bring slowly to the boiling point and cook, stirring frequently, for 1/2 hour. Pour into sterilized jelly glasses and top with paraffin.

Note: Amber Jam is delicious when used as a cake filling or as a topping for ice cream.

Lindbergh Relish.

2 medium heads cabbage
 8 large carrots
 8 green peppers (or 4 red and 4 green)
 12 medium sized onions
 1 bunch celery
 1 cup grated horseradish

Put all through food chopper. Add 1/2 cup salt and let stand two hours. Drain and mix 3 pints vinegar, 6 cups sugar, 1 tablespoon mustard seed, 1 tablespoon celery seed. Do not cook. Pour into sterilized jars.

Whether your cookie jar is an old-fashioned earthen crock, or a brightly painted tin on the pantry shelf, it needs to be kept filled to satisfy a hungry family. In this column, next week, Eleanor Howe will give you some of her favorite cookie recipes—"Grandmother's Sugar Cookies," and "Butterscotch Brownies" are just two of the delightful recipes you'll find here.

Blackberry Jam.

Wash and drain berries; then pick over and remove the hulls. Take 4 cups of berries and 2 cups of sugar; let come to a boil, and boil 5 minutes. Add 1 more cup sugar and boil 5 minutes longer. Then add 1 more cup sugar and boil approximately 5 minutes more, or until the jelly stage is reached. Then place in sterilized jelly glasses and seal when cold. Makes 4 small or 3 large tumblers.

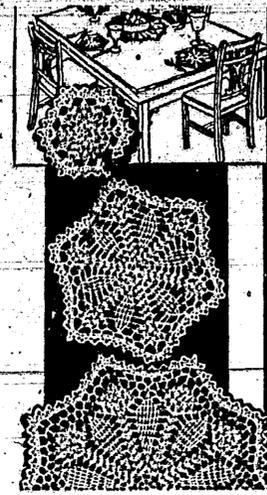

Pickled Peaches.

1 peck small peaches
 4 tablespoons whole cloves
 2 quarts vinegar
 6 pounds brown sugar
 4 teaspoons mace
 1 tablespoon stick cinnamon (broken in small pieces)
 Peel the peaches and stud with whole cloves. Make a syrup of vinegar, sugar, mace and cinnamon. Add the peaches and boil until tender. Pack in hot sterilized jars; cover with syrup and seal.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Sandwiches.—Left-over liver, passed through a sieve, well seasoned, and moistened with lemon juice and a little melted butter, makes a tasty and unusual sandwich filling.

Biscuit Pans.—Pans used in baking biscuits should not be too deep. Otherwise the biscuits will not brown evenly on all sides. Select a pan that is about one inch deep.

Add Horseradish.—A little horseradish added to salad dressing or white sauce makes a piquant sauce for fish. Horseradish also may be added to whipped cream and served with baked, boiled or fried ham.

Vegetables.—Keep root vegetables in a rack, not touching each other. Keep lettuce in a muslin bag suspended from the ladder ceiling. Use left-over vegetables the same day, as they readily putrefy and become sour.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 42), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worry about hot flashes, loss of nerve, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody moods. Get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and 17 you need a good general system tonic like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, then helps give more vitality to enjoy life and make it a happy, healthy, successful one. It's the only medicine that gives you a new, healthy, happy life. WORTH TRYING!

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

'HERE COMES THE QUEEN!'

I WAS talking in his office with a man who is head of a large store. I was complimenting him upon the extraordinary courtesy and service a woman told me she always received in that store.

"My friend says that your salespeople treat her as though she were the queen," I explained. "Come with me," the executive said, and left his chair, and started downstairs. "I want to show you something."

Charles Roth

I followed. He took me behind the counters. He pointed out neatly printed white cards pasted up at close intervals throughout the store, where the clerks couldn't help seeing.

I read what they said. "HERE COMES THE QUEEN!" "It's our slogan," the executive explained. "Yes; it's more than a slogan. It's our watchword, our business policy, to treat every woman who enters the store as though she were the queen."

I happen to know that this policy has paid handsome dividends to the store. As I think it over, however, only in form and expression is that policy different from that of every other organization which advertises for your trade. All have to treat you as though you were the queen—or the king.

Anyone who has been buying much in the stores will tell you that the treatment received from clerks is vastly different from what it was years ago. They are more considerate. They are better informed.

The reason for this change is that they have the ideal which advertising has created in their minds, and to this ideal they must conform.

All over the country, in every newspaper, advertisers are vying with one another in telling the story of their products and in improving their products to make them more acceptable.

Their desire is to produce something fit for the queen—or the king—and their advertising costs up a standard to which they must strive. In the process you get the best products and service it is possible to provide.
