CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1940

News of Carrizozo Schools

Students in Junior and Senior High School received their grade cards Wednesday. There were a few disappointments which resulted in higher resolves for better future work. The three highest ranking students of the Freshman class are: Jane Gallacher, Margarette Myers, and Mary Vidaurri. The three highest of the Sophomore class are: Margaret Holguin, Myrtle Hobbs and Dorothy Bates. Janice Hall and Lorraine Aguayo tied for fourth place in this class. The three highest in the Junior Class are: Joseph Forsythe, Paul Woodward, and Shirley Rea Phipps, with John Allen Hightower close fourth. The four highest in Senior Class are: Marion Pruitt, Elbert Bates, Mary May Pruitt, and John Wilson.

An exciting and fast game of Basket Ball was played on our local court Tuesday evening with Tularosa. The resulting score was 89 to 19 in favor of Carrizozo. The clean sportsmanship of the Tularosa boys was commendable.

Coach Caton and his team departed for the Roswell Tournament Thursday.

Many favorable comments on Americanization week have been expressed. If enough of the patrons and teachers express a desire to have Americanization week in 1941 general arrangements will be made for the coming year. Questionnaires have been sent to many patrons and teachers in order to get their wish as to another year.

Prof. Frank Martinez is directing a group of Spanish songs and Spanish play to be given to the public in the near future.

March 8th Friday at 10:30 Dr. Zimmerman, Pres. of State University will address our chapel exercise. The public is invited to hear this address, with Dr. Zimmerman will be several other University people who will assist in the variety program.

Shirley Rea Phipps has won an outstanding record in First Year Typing Class. She has the unusual distinction of making 61 words per minute for five minutes without any error.

The Senior Class selected "Let's Go Somewhere" as their class play.

The beautiful bouquet on Mr. Carpenter's desk was presented to him by the second grade as a valentine gift.

Federal Income Tax Act of 1939

Public Salary Tax Act of 1939, now in effect, renders all employees of the State, Counties, Cities, Towns, Villages, including Public School Teachers liable for filing Federal Income Tax Returns.

All married couples whose combined net income is $2500.00 or over, and all single individuals with a net income of $1000.00 or over, are required to file returns. Correspondence for additional information and requests for forms should be addressed to the: "Collector of Internal Revenue, Albuquerque, N. M."

Federal Income Tax Forms covering the calendar year 1939 or fiscal year beginning in 1939 and ending in 1940 will be available for release or distribution on January 3, 1940, at the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue, Albuquerque, N. M.

Will be in Carrizozo at El Cibola Hotel on March 5th to assist Income taxpayers with the filing of returns.

R. O. Crawford,
Deputy Collector.

The American Legion and Americanism

(By Dan Cogley, Post Adjutant)

As a supplement to the services rendered our country during the last World War, the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary, with a present membership of over 1,500,000 in the United States, have dedicated their lives to the preservation of the principle of Americanism. These organizations as a unit have accepted the challenge of the low principled apostles of the ruthless dictators of Europe, who under the disguise of peaceful emigrants have sifted into this country, for the sole purpose of wrecking the principles upon which our great country was founded. The vehemence of the attacks of the American Legion on the subversive group operating in this country, we feel, are justified from the fact that during the last World War, we lost over 110,090 of the finest specimens of American Youth in the name of Democracy, and since it has been proven that the leaders of many of these groups or organizations are the very trigger men behind the guns that cost the lives of these youths and maned thousands of others, who are today permanent cripples; it is little wonder that the American Legion, has intensified its efforts of ferretting out these hirelings of the firm of Hitler, Stalin, Mussolini and Company, and putting them where they rightfully belong.

A major victory to this and is sighted from the statement appearing in a daily newspaper announcing the decision of the German American Bund to move its headquarters from the United States to Mexico City, with the public admission of the successor to Fritz Kuhn, that the Bund is washed up in this country.

The American Legion and Auxiliary wish to express their sincere thanks to those responsible for Americanization Week, and urge that this be continued throughout the years to come. We also wish to express our appreciation for the good cooperation of Mr. Carpenter and the School Faculty in the presentation of our program on Americanism, in the High School Auditorium.

Colorado Woman's College News

The "Western Graphic" official publication of Colorado Woman's college wishes each girl "happy birthday" for each two weeks of the month. In this issue, Miss Zane Harkey of Carrizozo receives good wishes for March 5th.

At the Easter vacation, Senator Johnson of Colorado will conduct a group of thirty-three girls on a sight seeing trip into Mexico and to the Carlsbad Cavern, White Sands and the far-famed New Mexico Lava beds. Miss Zane Harkey is one of the girls signed up for this trip. They will be accompanied by three teachers and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Kelley went to Socorro Sunday, where they met Mrs. Bryson Corbett and all went to visit Mr. and Mrs. Halley Hall and children for the day.

Mrs. Marshall Shearer was a business visitor here Wednesday. Renewals—Mrs. C. H. Thornton, El Paso; Mrs. Albert Scharf, Dr. E. E. Blaney, Mrs. Nellie Branum, City; new subscriptions F. M. Alexander, Dilley; Texas.

Dave Finley

Just as we go to press, we received word that Mr. and Mrs. M. U. Finley will leave in a few minutes for Midland, Texas, on account of the death of their son, Dave Finley who was badly burned in a gas explosion early this morning. Deepest sympathy is felt for the bereaved ones.

Shelton-Hughes

A pretty home wedding took place at Corona, Sunday, February 25, 1940, when Louise Shelton became the bride of David C. Hughes of Ponderosa, New Mexico. The wedding was solemnized at 3 o'clock in the afternoon with the Rev. Leonard C. Whittles of Capitan officiating. Only members of the immediate families were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will be at home at Ponderosa, New Mexico after March 15, 1940.

Mrs. Hughes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Shelton of Corona, and has a host of friends in Carrizozo where her parents formerly lived and where she was graduated from High school.

Things look very lively around the city. The park is being blessed with pavement in all directions from the centrally located fountain; the different city streets are being treated to curbing; and some of the streets around have been graded. We are really going places!

Credited to Carlyle
The first use of the name "the un-speakable Turk," referring to the Turkish empire, is credited to Thomas Carlyle in a public letter in 1817.

Attention Farmers

Plans have been made to hold a series of educational meetings on the 1940 farm program during the first week in March. The meetings will be conducted by local committeemen, the County Extension Agent, and the A.C.A. Secretary.

Changes in the 1940 program will be discussed and farmers given an opportunity to clarify questions relative to the new program. Concrete examples of individual farms will be placed on the board showing how the farmers can earn the most money by complying with the 1940 program.

Following is a schedule of the meetings that will be held in the county:

- Ancho: Saturday, March 2, 10:00 a. m., High school building,
- Corona: Saturday, March 2, 2:00 p. m., High school building
- Capitan: Monday, March 4, 2:00 p. m., High school building.
- Hondo: Tuesday, March 5, 2:00 p. m., High school building.

Farmers are urged to attend one of these meetings, in order that they will be in a position to make their farming plans early and thus expedite the 1940 farm program.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—Old General Plutarco Elias Calles, Mexico's strong-man for 11 years, has repudiated force, on several occasions, but has stopped for just one more round. Just now a resident in southern California, the former president will be allowed to return to Mexico City, to try to recover his expropriated land, according to a dispatch from Mexico City.

The revolution against Porfirio Diaz in 1910 made much of breaking up the great land holdings and distributing them to the peasants. He made the land revolution as much as any man, but on June 15, 1930, he proposed to liquidate it—thus: "If we wish to be sincere, we must confess that agrarianism, as we have understood it and thus far practiced it, has been a failure." Five years later with the ascendancy of Cardenas, lean Indian Savonarola of communal doctrine, he was exiled, and his great estates at Santa Barbara were confiscated.

As a peasant youth in his native mountains he doubled in bar-keeping and school teaching. He led a savage strike against the Sonora Dodge copper interests, and in the turmoil of the revolution, joined Obregon and was president from 1924 to 1928. He was in Cardenas' cabinet and was supposedly pulling the strings, but suddenly hopped a plane for San Diego and took up golf.

He was an unyielding foe of the church during the years of his dictatorship. In the presidency and out. Muscular and vigorous, at 63, with high cheekbones and squinting mongoloid eyes, he is of the cut of the latter-day dictator; and several times there have been reports that he was planning a comeback. It is now indicated that he is up to nothing more important than trying to salvage something out of the agrarianism which he helped to start.

THIS writer had a letter from his old friend, Eddie Persons, of San Francisco, the other day in which Mr. Persons put Santa Barbara county, California, in a test-tube, as a clinical sample of what ruinous taxation can do to a minor commonwealth. It would appear that Santa Barbara county is carrying on just to save funeral expenses and Mr. Persons, one of the leaders of the San Francisco business community, is trying to do something about it.

It was a similar alarm, among many citizens, which started New York's unique tax march on Albany, in which thousands of citizens, representing 829 organizations, moved on the state capitol, "to apply the ax to the tax," as their banners and buttons had it. The new and seemingly unprecedented "economy front" is the state budget emergency committee, in which the various organizations converge. It was started by a man who was scratching gravel, literally and figuratively.

Henry M. Champion had a little sand and gravel pit on his 40-acre farm on the Chenango river, 20 miles north of Binghamton. He was doing nicely until taxes began to pull him down. He called a meeting of farmers in 1938 and formed the Chenango County Taxpayers' association, of which he was elected president. In their first year of ax work, they nicked $75,000 from the county budget, and, moving on from there, found eager allies in similar organizations, culminating in the state committee, with Mr. Champion as chairman. They chalked up a reduction of $26,500,000 in the state budget last year.

Mr. Champion was a punishing ax-man in his youth, working in logging camps in Arkansas and Wisconsin, the latter being his native state. His father is still a lumberman in northern Michigan. He came to New York state in 1914 and made his first visit to New York city last July, rallying the tax rebels.

He is a weather-beaten citizen, 44 years old, who doesn't look at all like the little man in the barrel—although his organization has this undernourished little chap, armed with a blunderbuss, on its badges. Many mystics regard upstate New York as the cradle of prophecy—many prophets having risen there. If it isn't a prophet this time, it would appear to be a Wall Street and the capitol stands on Nottingham hill. The little man in the barrel has had an uphill climb for many years and ought to take this slope easily.

Pastels, Prints and Tweeds on Easter Parade Fashion Program

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

SEEING that the calendar registers an early Easter, the earliest in years, the problem of what to wear becomes a matter for Dame Fashion and the weatherman to figure out between themselves. It's safe to say that the deciding vote will be cast by the latter.

Sunshine or shadow, snow, sleet, rain or the gentle zephyrs of a balmy spring day, be assured that the new fashions are "all set" for come what may. Two trends that may be depended upon to carry the message of style at the same time that they bring a deft to the thermometer's ups and downs are the chic suit versus the gay little frock (notably pastel or navy wool or a bright print) worn under a smart topcoat.

The suit there is exciting this year in that there is such a riot of types from which to make choice. Designers are playing aunts up in every expression from stunning utilitarian well-tailored three-piece ensembles that give you a jacket, a skirt and a long coat of handsome tweed, as shown herewith in the illustration; to soft little dressmaker types (especially bolero models) that make feminizing flattering detail most interesting. There is certainly good logic in buying a suit as pictured, for while it makes its debut in the Easter style parade, it also serves as a perfect foundation on which to build a spring wardrobe that offers endless possibilities for mixing and interchanging, so as to tune to occasion.

There is no question but what you will be smart in tweeds but you will be equally as chic in the new casual suits of endless variety that top cleverly flared skirts (gored, pleated or circular-cut) with contrasting plaid or striped wool jackets. However, by no means will the tweeds and jacketed skirts capture all the honors for on the horizon looms a rival contestant. It's the suit, coat or entire ensemble that flares the vogue for navy blue in big headlines across the spring bulletin. Watch for navies!

Suits, however, are not going to have it all their way for hosts of fashion followers will no doubt decide that a gay little print or pastel frock worn under a smart and protective topcoat is the ideal solution of the Easter dress problem. It adds to the glamour of prints this season that they are styled so fetchingly with emphasis on pockets that give the coveted "new" look. The dress shown to the left will slip under your coat most graciously for it is made of 100 per cent pure silk crepe print that patterns a maize colored ground with brown polka dots—a very smart color combination stressed this season. The diagonal pockets in the skirt together with centered front fullness achieve the very fashionable pegtop silhouette.

The fashion of the simple basic dress that transforms into a glamorous costume under the magic touch of different accessories still holds good. New for spring in the basic dress done in "delicious" monochrome pastel colorings that are typically Easter in their refreshing loveliness. See the costume in the foreground to the right in the group. Here a yarn turban, a well-tailored pastel frock, spanking fresh gloves and a peplum belt bespeak the Easter costume ideal. The rediscovery of peplums adds zest to the current mode, and the fact that you can buy separate peplum belts, such as this fashion-alert young woman is wearing, makes the idea even more intriguing, for it can be worn again and again with different dresses. Of suede soft as a pussy willow this peplum belt by Criterion has a graceful sweeping line, the fluting on the edges giving it a decidedly dress-up air.

Snoods Just Now Milliners' Delight

For drama in fashion, study back views of head and hat. Snoods are the milliners' delight, and the more fantastic the more in keeping with the style trend. Many of the newer tiny hats plunge forward over the forehead and you wonder how they stay on until the back view comes into sight. Greets the eye snoods of versatile type, that anchor the wee hat firmly, or ribbon bandeaux and bows that girdle the head and the most whimsical of contrivances that creative genius can devise.

Subtle Designs in New Spring Prints

Prints with an oriental inspiration show subtle harmonizing colors on olive green or deep blue backgrounds. These prints in bold designs have a diffused coloring that is difficult to identify. They are an effective contrast for plain dark furs and may be worn with a wide variety of accessories.

A pictorial print in blue, yellow, red and green without a definite pattern creates a Persian effect that is lovely with either brown or black furs.

Paris Set.
Jet for your necklace is latest style message from Paris. Many jet-embroidered gowns were shown for evening wear, also blouses sparkling with jet beadwork or jet sequins.

Lace Fan and Bag

So great is the favor for hand-some lace in fashion's realm it receives accent at every opportunity that presents throughout both day and evening modes. A fetching idea in evening fashions is an accessory ensemble that partners a lace bag done over white satin with a matching lace fan for midday to manipulate with devastating glamour in flirtatious moments. The bag is large enough to hold all the beauty aids and gadgets that might be needed for a complete conquest. Lace mantillas worn a la Spanish-senorita also are worn at evening functions, thus giving accent to the importance of lace in the present vogue.

CHOOSE DESSERT TO FIT MAKEUP OF MEAL
(See Recipes Below)

What Shall I Serve for Dessert?

To most of us "something sweet" served at the close of a meal is as important as the main dish itself. For dessert, men undoubtedly have a penchant for such substantial items as pie, ice cream and chocolate cake; but they seem to like the homey, less spectacular desserts almost as much. Baked apples, old-fashioned apple dumplings, rice pudding and fresh fruit desserts are masculine favorites and they're simple enough to suit the youngsters of the family, too. You'll find suggestions and recipes for the desserts that father likes, in my cook book, "Feeding Father."

When you choose a dessert, consider first the meal as a whole—is it substantial or light? If it's a hearty, heavy meal, choose a light dessert, because appetites are likely to be pretty well satisfied by the time the dessert course appears. On the other hand, if the meal has been light, a hearty, satisfying sweet course is in order.

Choose your dessert, too, to fit the general make-up of the meal. Don't forget that contrast is important. If you've had a fruit salad, avoid carving a fruit dessert; if spanish rice or macaroni made up the main dish of the meal don't serve a starchy sweet.

And speaking of desserts: when your facilities for entertaining are limited, why not plan a "dessert party"? Invite your guests to skip their dessert at home, and have it with you. Dessert, with a beverage, is all you serve—and you serve it before the bridge playing or other entertainment begins.

Fruit Macaroon Dessert.

(Serves 6)
3 cups canned fruit
3/4 cup flour
3/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg

Pour fruit and juice into shallow pan about 6 by 10 by 2 inches in size. Sift together the flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Add unbeaten egg and mix well. Spread this mixture (which will be very crumbly) over the fruit and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for about 30 minutes.

Chocolate Fig Pudding.

(Serves 6)
3 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup white sugar
3/4 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup milk
2 eggs (beaten)
3 squares unsweetened chocolate (melted)
1/2 pound dried figs
3/4 cup suet

Combine crumbs, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add milk and eggs. Blend in the melted chocolate. Wash figs, remove stems and put figs and suet through food chopper. Add to other ingredients and mix well. Pour into a well greased casserole, cover and bake in a slow oven (250 degrees) for 2 1/2 hours. Serve hot with a custard sauce or whipped cream.

Orange Torte.

(Serves 6)
1/2 cup butter
3/4 cup granulated sugar
1 egg (separated)
1 1/4 cups general purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup butter/milk
1/2 cup dates (cut fine)
1/2 cup nut meats (cut fine)
1 teaspoon lemon extract
-1 orange

Cream butter thoroughly; then add 1/2 cup sugar while beating constantly. Blend well and add beaten egg yolk. Mix and sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, and soda. Add alternately with the butter/milk, beginning and ending with the nut meats. Add dates and nuts, lemon extract and orange pulp, reserving orange juice carefully. Fold in the beaten egg white. Place in small angel food or torte pan (well greased). Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for approximately 35 to 40 minutes. After removing from oven allow cake to stand undisturbed in the pan for 10 minutes. Then pour over it, by teaspoonfuls, the orange juice in which the remaining 1/4 cup sugar has been dissolved. Serve with whipped cream if desired.

Lemon Sauce.

1 cup sugar
grated rind and juice of 1 lemon
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt

Add grated rind and juice of the lemon to the sugar. Beat egg yolks until light. Moisten cornstarch with a little cold water and add to the beaten egg yolks. Mix thoroughly with lemon and sugar mixture. Place in double boiler, add boiling water and boil constantly, stirring constantly, until thickened. Serve hot.

Red Raspberry Snow Balls

(Makes 6 Snow Balls)
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup general purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup milk
2 egg whites (beaten)

Cream the butter. Add sugar and beat well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Add alternately with the milk and then fold in the beaten egg whites. Steam in small buttered molds for 30 to 35 minutes. Serve with red raspberry sauce.

Apple Dumplings.

2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup orange juice
6 tart apples (medium size)
1/2 cup sugar
nutmeg
cinnamon
butter

Mix and sift dry ingredients and cut in shortening; add liquid. Roll dough to quarter-inch thickness and cut in 4-inch squares. Pare and core apples. Place one apple in center of each square and fill center of apples with a mixture of sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Dot with butter and pinch the four corners of the dough together. Prick with a fork and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 to 40 minutes. Serve with lemon sauce.

Have You Ordered Your Copy of "Feeding Father"?

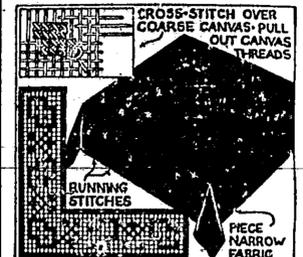

You'll find in this clever cook book — by Eleanor Howe, not only tested recipes for father's favorite desserts, but recipes for the other foods he likes, as well. There are "masculine menus," too—dinners planned especially for father—and hints on how to cook the foods he likes. Send 10 cents in coin to "Feeding Father," care of Eleanor Howe, 919 North Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois. You'll get your copy of "Feeding Father" by return mail. ## White Embroidery On a Dark Color

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

CROSS-STITCH is combined here with plain running stitches to make a smart luncheon cloth that may be embroidered quickly in coarse white embroidery thread. The material may be broadcloth or other smooth-finish cotton. The color is a deep maroon and the white design is very effective on this background.

This cloth is made of two 1 1/2-yard lengths of 36-inch-wide material. Split one piece lengthwise through the center and join to the sides of the other piece by machine. The seams are covered by the rows of running stitches. You do not need a stamping pattern to make the cross-stitch design. Baste coarse open-mesh embroidery canvas over the material; then follow the design given here at the lower left. Repeat the corner of the design to make the four corners of the center square.

NOTE: There are 36 embroidery stitches illustrated in Mrs. Spears' Sewing Book 2; also several original designs for table covers; men's ties; mittens; hats; purses; Baby's bassinet; doll's wardrobe; five ways to mend fabrics. Ask for Book 2, enclosing 10 cents coin. Address Mrs. Spears, Drawer 10, Bedford Hills, New York.

How To Relieve Bronchitis

Bronchitis, acute or chronic, is an inflammatory condition of the mucous membranes lining the bronchial tubes. Creomulsion goes right to the seat of the trouble to loosen germ laden phlegm, increase secretion and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding that you are to take the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

To Check Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation has you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey, it's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a pill. You should get at the cause of the trouble. If you eat the super-refined food most people eat, the chances are the difficulty is simple—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines. If this common form of constipation is your trouble, eat Kellogg's All-Bran regularly, and drink plenty of water. All-Bran isn't a medicine—it's a crunchy, fiber cereal. And it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

KALTENBORN SAYS:

Enemies Stalemated After 6 Months Because Defense Outshines Offense

By H. V. KALTENBORN
Noted Radio Commentator.

AT THE end of the first six months of war we find that the major belligerents have not yet begun to fight, while the major neutral powers have begun to fight for peace. Small wonder that the late Senator Borah called this a "phony" war.

Only in Finland is there a major military effort and mighty Soviet Russia does not even admit that she has gone to war against little Finland. When the war began no one expected Soviet Russia to participate in military operations and no one expected Finland to be invaded. On the other hand, everyone expected an immediate air-raid by hundreds of bombing-planes on the capitals of Europe, and for weeks the headlines spoke of the coming big offensives on the Maginot and Siegfried lines. Neither the raids nor the offensives developed during the first half-year of fighting. Why?

Defense Is Major Factor.

The primary reason is that in modern war, defense is stronger than offense. The war in Spain showed the world that air attack on large cities is tremendously destructive, but it also showed that it is not likely to be decisive. The expense in planes, fuel, bombs and aviators who do not return is apt to offset the military advantages gained in any mass bombing flight. And the effect on neutral opinion of the killing of thousands of women and children, together with the destruction of historic monuments in cities far away from any actual fighting zone, might well be disastrous.

The fear of such wholesale air-raids led France and Britain to surrender at Munich. Now, after a year and a half of additional intensive preparation for air-defense, they no longer fear German attack. They are prepared to meet it and could make it so costly that it would probably not be repeated. The successful defense of the Mannerheim line against the most highly concentrated Soviet military effort showed the strength of defense fortifications in modern war.

Why Poland Was Weak.

The two great surprises of this war so far have been Poland's weakness and Finland's strength. Poland's weakness arose from a lack of national unity and domination of the illiterate masses by an aristocratic caste. In the larger sense, the government of Poland was nei-or indirectly through the air-waves. Nazi leaders are apprehensive about casualties in the propaganda battle. They impose severe punishment on anyone who listens to a foreign broadcast. The British and French, on the other hand, have enough confidence in their people to permit them to listen to whatever Dr. Goebbels orders said.

More Activity on Sea.

At sea, a war of movement has been possible. This is why there has been much more activity at sea than on land. Britain's control of the sea has again demonstrated its importance. The German fleet is bottled up. Except for submarines, the German navy and the German Merchant Marine have been swept from the seas.

The Near Eastern Franco-British army of half a million men under the leadership of General Weygand is now waiting in Syria, ready for instant action against Russia or Germany in any part of the Balkans. This army may yet prove the decisive military factor in this war. Allied victories in Palestine and Turkey preaged the collapse of the Central Powers in 1918.

Germany's commerce-raiders were swept from the seas much more quickly than during the World War. The Graf Spee lies wrecked in Montevideo harbor after being put out of action by the combined efforts of three small British cruisnetic mine sown by the Germans proved very destructive for the first few weeks in which it was used. Then more effective mine-sweeping methods and the establishment of narrow ship-channels which were carefully patrolled reduced the success of Germany's mine-laying airplanes.

British Also Unsuccessful.

On the other hand, the British have been no more successful in their raids against the German navy. Both German and British submarines have destroyed an occasional warship, but these forays have been costly to the submarines attempting them. The British and French claim to have sunk between 40 and 50 German submarines since the beginning of the war. The Germans admit the loss of less than half this number. Yet whenever a submarine is lost, the entire crew is lost with it; and it takes five years to train men to handle a submarine under war conditions.

Talk about the Germans building one submarine a day is nothing more than talk. It is more likely that the Germans are completing anywhere from six to ten U-boats a month, which is just about the rate at which they are being destroyed.

Already Planning for Peace.

There is, then, nothing decisive in action at sea or in the air. Defense is stronger than attack. But what about the economic front? That is probably the most important front of all and the one that will be dominant long after the war has ended. Already Secretary of State Hull is negotiating with the neutral powers to work out a plan of economic reconstruction. The plan must be ready for instant application on the day of the armistice if Europe is not to sink into chaos when the fighting ends.

Every country in Europe, neutral and belligerent alike, has mortgaged its future. Only if the New World remains out of the war and stands ready to lend its resources for European reconstruction is there any hope of true peace. Europe was ready for revolution before the war came and will be much more ready for it when the war is done.

What After Collapse?

France and Britain count on economic pressure to bring about the collapse of Germany, but one wonders whether they have asked themselves, what then? Will they march into Germany at the head of a victorious army, establish a new Kaiser and a new Junker government? Or will they stand aside while Germany's underground Communist movement re-asserts itself and calls out for assistance to the Red brethren in Moscow?

There is the third possibility of organizing those liberal forces that have either been driven out of Germany or driven under cover within Germany, and helping them to re-establish constitutional government by granting them a generous peace. That would be the hardest task.

Rumania Under Pressure.

Meanwhile, there is more pressure behind the economic than behind the military war. Members of the Rumanian government are being bribed, bulldozed, flattered and cajoled by both sides. Both are seeking to purchase Rumania's oil and Rumania's grain. Each wants it so that the other cannot have it. The French and British offer gold, the Germans threaten war. So far, King Carol has kept a precarious balance; Britain and France continue to guarantee his frontiers and King Carol remembers the Blitzkrieg against Poland. Poland had been given the same guarantees.

On the diplomatic front, the Allied powers won their greatest victory in winning Turkey to their cause. This gives them control of the Dardanelles and the Black Sea, in case of war with Russia. It also assures France and Britain complete dominance of the Mediterranean thereby discouraging Italy from siding with Germany.

Out of Sight
Mother—You were a very tidy boy not to throw your orange peel on the floor of the bus. Where did you put it?
Johnny—In the pocket of the man next to me.

Any Suggestions?
Irate Parent—I'll teach you to make love to my daughter, young man.
Suitor—I wish you would, sir. I'm not making much headway.

One Better
Puffing and blowing, the young man just managed to jump into a carriage as the train left the station.

The middle-aged man in the corner eyed him with scorn.
"When I was your age, my lad," he said, "I could run half a mile, catch a train by the skin of my teeth, and yet be as fresh as a daisy."

"Yes," gasped the young fellow, "but I missed this one at the last station."

Nowadays a scandal has to be really bad to be good.

As She Said It
"Is it true, Miss Lollop, that you're going to be married soon?"
"No, it isn't. But I'm very grateful for the rumor."

Owed for It
"My word, that's a nice suit! You're a credit to your tailor."
"No, I'm afraid you're wrong. I am now a debit to my tailor."

When a man makes money hand over fist, it's his wife's job to make fist hand over money.

Tough on Daddy
Little Winnie had evidently been thinking hard as she sat on mother's knee before the fire. Presently she asked:
"Mother, why did you marry daddy?"
Mother looked at her sadly and sighed:
"So you've begun to wonder, too, have you?"

A Quiz With Answers Offering Information on Various Subjects

The Questions

1. Were the blood vessels in a human body placed in one line, how far would they reach?
2. Was the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor brought here as a finished statue?
3. What is meant by a runner getting his second wind?
4. When was the Mississippi river formed?
5. What kind of fruit is a monastery?
6. How many primary human emotions are there?
7. What portion of the Great Lakes belongs to the United States?
8. Why are bananas picked green?
9. What people first became civilized?
10. Do Mohammedans use coffins in which to bury their dead?

The Answers

1. Over 2,000 miles.
2. No. After being exhibited in Paris, it was taken down and shipped in cases.
3. An adjustment of the heart rate to the intake and outgo of air in the lungs.
4. During the latter part of the Ice age, about 20,000 years ago.
5. A rare fruit from Puerto Rico with a taste similar to the pineapple and banana.

There is some hope of a man's conversion so long as he is capable of loving something besides himself.—Phillips.

PATTERN DEPARTMENT

IT'S a button-front style (1902-B) which is one thing decidedly to recommend it, and this suave, simple dress has lots of other good points, too. It can be made with plain v-neckline and edged with bias fold. Or it can be made with a narrow roll collar as its only trimming. Sleeves are either short or three-quarter length. It's simple and unhampering enough for house wear, in gingham, linen or chambray; also tailored enough for the street, in thin wool, flat crepe or small-figured print.

It has just the detailing you like, if you have size to consider—a bodice deftly gathered for correct bust fit, beneath a smooth shoulder-yoke, a slim-hipped skirt, and a waistline drawn in by a sash-bow or buckled belt. Everything about it is slenderizing as well as smart.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1902-B is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, and 52. Size 38 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material without nap; with short sleeves; 4 3/4 yards with three-quarter; 3 3/4 yards braid or bias fold, or 1/2 yard contrast for collar.

For a pattern of this attractive model send 15 cents in coin, your name, address, style, number and size to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., Room 1324, 211 W. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill.

Why Scotland Yard

Scotland Yard got its name from the fact that its site was once occupied by a palace belonging to the kings of Scotland. They used their building as a home during visits to London.

The Metropolitan Police took over the site and the buildings of Scotland Yard in the Nineteenth century for use as headquarters and thus the Yard gained its present-day associations. A later building, New Scotland Yard, today houses an interesting crime museum.

THE AUTHOR—

H. V. Kaltenborn attained eminence in the radio news field during the European crisis last autumn, when his frequent and accurate reports over the Columbia network were awaited each day by millions of listeners. A native of Wisconsin, he worked many years on the Brooklyn Eagle before entering the radio news field as a sideline in 1922. For more than 30 years he has been a keen student of international politics, a background which makes his extemporaneous analyses over CBS among the most accurate heard by the American audience today. His famous broadcast from a haystack in Spain is the first radio description of actual warfare on record. During last autumn's crisis he literally lived at the CBS studios in New York, prepared to go on the air at a moment's notice.

her popular nor efficient. The Finnish people are literate, sturdy and possess a strong sense of social and political independence.

Just as the failure of Poland's defense plan undermined morale, the success of Finland's well-organized plan of defense has given tremendous encouragement to the army, the people and the government. But the success of the German blitzkrieg against Poland and the failure of Russia's blitzkrieg against Finland depended primarily on the difference between the attacking armies. The German army was well organized, well equipped, well directed. The Russian army is poorly organized, poorly equipped and suffers from bad generalship.

Western Lines Invulnerable.

Already Finland's Mannerheim line has withstood an overwhelming Russian assault for more than three months. It is apparent, therefore, that the much more completely organized and much deeper Maginot and Siegfried lines would be similarly invulnerable to attack. And whereas Russia has a superiority of something like 20 to 1 against Finland, the forces lined up on both sides of the French frontier are practically equal in fighting strength.

In considering the progress of this war, we are too much inclined to dwell on military factors. Yet during this first half-year the military front has been less important than the diplomatic front and the economic front. There has even been a more continuous exchange of ammunition on the propaganda front than between the fighting armies themselves.

Radio and loudspeaker systems have made it possible for belligerents to talk to one another incessantly, directly on the fighting lines

ers. The Deutschland, her sister pocket-battleship, thought it best to return to a safe German harbor.

Nazis Stress U-Boat Warfare.

But raiding with surface ships is a minor factor in Germany's sea warfare against Britain and France. The Germans remembered how close they came to forcing a decision with their submarines during the World War. They had from 60 to 75 submarines ready when the war began. For the first few weeks of the war, they used these to excellent advantage.

Then the protective measures which Britain developed during the World War and since became effective. The larger ships were sent out in convoy; airplane patrols were created; minefields against submarines were established and all the resources of the British navy were mobilized against the U-boats.

On the whole, they have proved effective. In six months, the British have lost 550,000 tons of merchant ships. At the same time, the French lost 75,000 tons and the neutrals 350,000 tons. This makes a total of a little over 1,000,000 tons.

Losses Not Important.

But nothing in these losses produced by mines and submarines even suggests the possibility of a decisive result. The British merchant marine alone totals 21,000,000 tons. The British claim that deducting from their losses purchases and new construction, their net loss in six months of warfare has been less than 200,000 tons. It is also probable that the losses will decrease rather than increase, since at sea as well as on land defense is proving itself stronger than attack.

Already submarine torpedoes are far less successful in destroying shipping than mines. The new mag-

AMERICAN BOY MAGAZINE
COMPANION TO THOUSANDS

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of the playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 20c a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

Pioneering for Progress!

THERE ARE PIONEERS today just as in the days of our forefathers when trails were blazed through trackless wilderness. Today's pioneers lead the way in business, in medicine, in engineering—in the advancement of many fields of human endeavor.

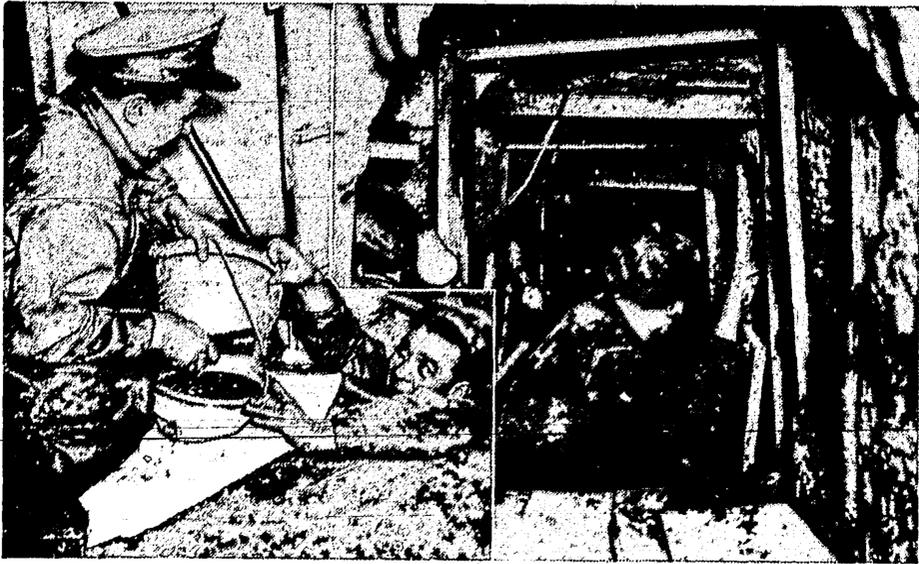

This year we salute some of telephony's pioneers in commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first transcontinental telephone call. It was late in January, 1915 that the continent was first spanned by telephone—a thrill for those in New York and San Francisco whose words traveled back and forth in a fraction of a second.

In 1915 it took about half an hour to complete a connection. Today you call the nearest town or across the country without hanging up—like making a local call.

Telephone pioneers who build the speech trails—the men in the laboratory who are working constantly to make the service better and more comprehensive; represent the never ending effort of the Bell System to continue pioneering for progress.

Prisoners Nabbed in Daring Tunnel Escape Plot

A wholesale jail break was prevented by officials of the Eastern state penitentiary at Philadelphia, Pa., when two 38-foot tunnels, dug by convicts, were discovered leading from prison cells. Left: A guard is shown in one of the underground passageways. Right: The opening where convicts would have made good their escape. Detectives, armed with machine guns, were rushed to the penitentiary when the plot was discovered. One of the suspected inmate plotters committed suicide.

Preview of New Substratosphere Transport Plane

Two features of the Curtiss-Wright substratosphere transport plane now being tested at a St. Louis, Mo., field are pictured here. At left can be seen the slotted wing flaps, four feet wide, operated hydraulically, which reduce landing speed of the 30-passenger airliner to 65 or 70 miles an hour. They also increase the plane's buoyancy by 40 per cent by increasing the wing area. Right: A workman makes an adjustment in the retracting landing gear. The wheels are operated hydraulically. During flight a housing closes over the retracted wheels.

ALWAYS A BRIDESMAID? Leap Year Day Suggestions Will Cure a Broken Heart—Maybe!

CONFUCIUS says: "Little man who wasn't there—lucky this year." The wise old Chinese philosopher had Leap Year in mind—open season on eligible bachelors everywhere.

Softened by four years of comparative safety, the single man is easy game for feminine wiles on Leap Year day—February 29—climax of the year-long man-hunt. Of course the season will continue for 10 months more, but the best huntresses will have discharged their quiver of arrows on that day.

Rules for hunting? Confucius had little to say on that score. He leaves it to the individual. Some prefer the direct attack; others would sooner stalk their game in roundabout fashion. For example: Mary Martin, who made famous the song, "My Heart Belongs to Daddy," prefers the musical ap-am not acting now. Won't you be my leading man for life?"

Here's how other stars of screen and radio confess they would assume the prerogative and "pop the question" during Leap Year:

ELINOR POWELL: "I'd say: 'We certainly dance well together, don't we? Do you think we'd look well dancing down a church aisle together?'"

JUDY GARLAND: "I suppose I'd say: 'I've always wished I could marry Clark Gable and I think you're just like him.'"

LONA MASSEY: "It might be best just to say: 'Do you think we ought to go to Niagara Falls when we get married?'"

PATRICIA MORISON, who holds out for the straight approach, would vary it from "May I suggest that we enter the bonds of holy matrimony?" to "Come on, guy, let's get hitched," depending upon the circumstances and the man.

OLYMPIE BRADNA, who favors a quick flirtatious buildup, would follow that up with a purring "oooooh, let's get married."

JUDITH BARRETT, who has been the spurned "other woman" in seven consecutive pictures, admitted that "I'd rope and hog-tie the nearest male and drag him to the nearest of the peace."

CONNIE BOSWELL, in admitting that she has misgivings: "I'm a professional at blushing, but an amateur at proposing, so howabout comin' round next year?"

Fanny Brice, the famed Baby Snooks, has her own course of action. Here's how she would go about winning a decision: "Look, darling, this is Leap Year. For months I've been thinking about you. Let's get married so I can forget you."

proach. "I'd probably sing something like 'I Love You Truly,' or 'Wonderful One,' or 'Home on the Range'—the kitchen variety."

Rosalind Russell, firm believer in the power of suggestion, admits that "Maybe I'm wrong, but if I had to propose, I'd probably say: 'I've got an appointment to take out a marriage licence. Why don't you come along and fill out one with me?'"

Barbara Jo Allen, radio's "Vera Vague," does not profess to be too

Leap Year? Merely A Headache for Calendar Makers

Truth Shatters Sentiment Probing Origin of Long Year.

Leap year is an astronomical necessity. The year, or the time necessary for the earth to perform one complete revolution about the sun, is exactly 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 45.2 seconds.

These few hours, minutes and seconds cause altogether too much trouble. If we agree that our year should contain 365 days, then each succeeding year starts nearly six hours too early; in four years the year would start a day too early. In 700 years January 1 would occur in mid-summer.

The earliest calendars were based on a week of seven days. Seven was a number of magical power and a week of seven days seemed to have certain indisputable advantages. The months were principally lunar months, measured by the phases of the moon. A lunar month is 29 1/2 days. The ancients early learned that the seasons returned in approximately 12 months, so a year of 12 months or 354 days was instituted.

With a year of 354 days the seasons shifted pretty rapidly. It became necessary to insert into the calendar or intercalate extra months. The Hebrews intercalate a month three times every cycle of 19 years, while the Greeks intercalated a month three times every eight years.

Caesar called in the Alexandrian astronomer, Sosigenes, to make a new calendar. He invented the year of 365 days and he made every fourth year a leap year of 366 days. This year, defined by Sosigenes, is known as the Julian year and it assumes that the year consists of 365 days and six hours. We explained at the beginning of this discussion that the year is 11 minutes and a few seconds less than this. This does not seem like a great error, but it amounts to about three days in 400 years. By the Sixteenth century the error amounted to about 10 days.

In 1577 Pope Gregory XIII took up the problem earnestly and decided to make a change in the calendar. He decided to annul 10 days, October 5, 1582, was to be called October 15, 1582, and thereafter the century years were to be considered as leap years only if divisible by 400. particular. Her attack: "You're a man, aren't you? Well, you're good enough for me."

Dorothy Lamour, who made a garment famous all over the world, believes, "I'd probably have to do my proposing in a carport. If I didn't, maybe the man wouldn't recognize me."

HERE is a new department that we know is going to meet with tremendous popularity with our readers, for it brings you the opportunity of combining pleasure and profit. With jig, coping or keyhole saw, you may cut these designs from wallboard, plywood or thin lumber. Each pattern brings accurate outline of the design, and complete directions for making or painting.

Men, women, boys and girls are finding this a fascinating pastime, and with each order will be sent a circular showing many additional novelties which you may make at home.

Today, we are showing a yard design that will appeal to many, for the long-ago days of "Gone With the Wind" are recalled vividly in these charming cutout figures. Your own imagination might turn them into the vibrant Scarlett O'Hara and the reserved Melanie Wilkes in person. And your jig or coping saw plus a bit of wallboard or plywood will produce these figures for your yard.

Each comes on its own pattern. The beuffled hoop skirt lady at the left is about 24 inches tall and is given on Z9067, 15 cents—she holds a box for flowers. The belle at the right is on pattern Z9068, 15 cents—about 24 inches tall, and a sprinkling can is in her hand.

CHAPTER XIV

The tragical-perplexity of Jebb solved itself. He heard a rustle and Miruma came to him as swiftly as she had vanished. He greeted her with effusion: "Thank heaven, you came, for I was just—"

"I came to beg that you forgive me for to be so rude to you. Jebb Effendi has been so kind to me. It is to him I owe that I am free. I am very bad, I have not the right to be angry that he—"

"Deceived you. Say it!" said Jebb humbly, but she would not accept the word. "That he did not tell me the things I have no right to know. Let us be friends once more—yes? Tell me you forgive me for to be jealous."

"Oh, don't—" he was going to say; "don't stop being jealous of me! but he caught himself. There was no time to explain or to let Miruma escape. Miss Ludlam was at Jebb's elbow with the check folded and palmed, as if it were a slight tip. She pretended to shake hands with him and left the money as she released the clasp: "There you are, Mr. Pier—Dr. Jebb, and I can never thank you enough."

"Don't thank me at all—er—er—Miss Ludlam, may I present to you—may I present to you—Miss Madame—for heaven's sake, hanim efendim, what is your name? She's my dearest friend on earth, but I don't know her name!"

"I am Madame Miruma Janghir. I did take my father's name." Miss Ludlam was staring with both ears at this mysterious conversation. She was so much interested in Miruma as Miruma in her. Each was exotic to the other. Miss Ludlam sat down and motioned the other two to sit.

To explain this ring legend himself was intolerable, so Jebb rose and said: "Won't you two talk to each other a few moments, while I go find out about the trains to Budapest? I must take the first one."

Seeing that Miruma was afraid and deeply troubled either at this news or at being left with her supposed rival, Jebb added: "And perhaps Miss Ludlam will tell you the story of the ring."

Then he accompanied leaving Miruma very erect and dignified toward Miss Ludlam. When he came back the story had evidently been told, for the two women had their heads close together and were on cordial terms. He said: "I find there is a train at 8:45—my old friend the Orient Express. It gets me to Budapest an hour before midnight. I think I'd better take it. There's just time enough for a good drive about Vienna before train time. Would you care to go?"

Miruma was willing enough to go anywhere with Jebb, and she asked only time enough to get a hat and a wrap. When she was gone, Jennie Ludlam, who could see through a millstone with a hole in it, and had guessed at once that Jebb and Miruma were infatuated, lingered to say: "She's a perfect dear—and such a beauty! I'll take care of her for you while you are in Budapest. Your generosity to me was princely. I wish I could repay it in some way—but you are so rich. When you come back I have a scheme which might interest you—as a physician; though I dare say you don't practice any more; but perhaps you would lend me your advice. This is for charity, too."

On a sudden impulse, he made her sit down, and told her briefly the story of his curse, his other personality, the loss of the child, and his arrival in Turkey. And her sympathy came in a rush of warm thoughts implied in a pressure of his hand, a look of compassion, and a few words: "I understand. I had a brother, a younger brother—Wentworth was his name—he would have been about your age now, and he would have been a great man if—if—it's about a memorial to him that I want to talk to you some day—oh, be glad, that you have at least half a life left to you, Dr. Jebb, and don't despair. You have helped so many in distress. You shall help numberless others. And perhaps some day—"

He looked a "God bless you!" but he said: "She is coming now." And he rose to meet Miruma. Sister Jennie rose, too, and said: "You're a vision, my dear. And since Dr. Jebb is called to Budapest for a day or so, I want you to go with my brother and me to the Opera tonight."

Miruma accepted with a bashful gratitude, and Jebb and she set out for their drive. Along the broad glory of the Ringstrasse, over the Danube by the Aspern Bridge, and down the Praterstrasse the horses galloped. In the Prater the turmoil was gay, bewildering. The long colonnades of chestnut trees in the Haupt-Allee were choked with people. And the air was tremulous with music from the Viennese and the Magyar bands in the cafes. At the entrance was a circle where stood a naval monument on a stone column with bronze prows protruding. It reminded Jebb of the entrance to Central Park via Columbus Circle and its monument. He longed to be there again, and above all he longed to have Miruma there with him.

"Jebb Effendi goes to Budapest this evening to find the little child. Could I not help by to go too?" "You could—of course you could, but—but I could hardly take you with me."

"Why?" "Don't you see?—don't you realize?—it would—it would be unfair to you; it would be compromising."

"If you do not want me—" "Oh! The sight of her, distress unnerved him; his love was at his very lips. But he could not say anything without saying everything. When they reached the hotel it was so late that he had no more than time to make his train, and she less than time to dress for the Opera, which begins at seven in Vienna.

So their good-by was a mere exchange of hearty promises to meet again, and a short hand-grip in the crowded hotel corridor. Of course, that evening sister Jennie let slip an allusion to the pathetic affliction of poor Dr. Jebb, thinking Miruma knew of it; and of course Miruma extorted the whole story from her before they parted.

As she crept into her bed her heart was full of pity for her beloved, wrestling like another Jacob with a ghostly enemy, but her heart rejoiced, too, with a radiant happiness, since now her intuition told her that this, and no other cause or person, was the reason for his asperity with her.

Also in Pest there is a Hotel Bristol, and Jebb woke there the next morning. He had not been long in Budapest before he learned that the Margit-Szigel was, as Miruma had imagined, an island—in English, Margaret's Island. But, though it split the Danube, it lay so far to the north that he could not see it from his window.

He took his breakfast at one of the coffee-houses on the promenade, one of the coffee-houses that have never closed since they first opened. It gave Jebb untold relief to find English the favorite language of the town, the affectation of the Magyar. He had not finished his breakfast when a man at the next table addressed him in a rather thick dialect and introduced himself as a fellow-American, though his name was unpronounceable, even when he handed Jebb his card with a legend like a line of pied type: Gyorgy Czeklesz.

He asked Jebb to call him "George Checkless" for short and for easy. He explained, without being asked, that he had been swept into America on one of those tidal waves that nearly depopulated many a Hungarian village; he had become naturalized, had prospered, and returned to his country with Yankee ideas.

After some desultory conversation Mr. Checkless rose with a: "Excuse, please. I got to go and hear de newspaper."

"Hear the newspaper?" "Sure. Ve got a telephone newspaper. Ain't you heard him? Come listen once."

He led Jebb to a telephone-like affair on the wall and putting the receiver to Jebb's ear watched while Jebb listened to a clear voice spilling consonants lavishly: "You don't understand it? No? Let me listen."

He took Jebb's place and a startled expression came over him. "Dere goes scudder bunch—of dough for me. Prooklyn Rapid Transit closed two points off last night in New York."

Checkless repeated more news: "Now the newspapers say the Kink of England comes to Carlsbad next month. Now he names de odds on de horse-races dis afternoon."

But Jebb was not interested in Hungarian horse-races. Jebb had a curiosity to see this Margaret's Island where he and Cynthia had been together. Here George Checkless took pleasure in acting as Vergil to his Dante. They crossed a heavy Y-shaped bridge to the huge emerald set in the tarnished gold of the Danube.

He found himself in a rose garden and here as his nostrils widened over the fragrance, his arm was suddenly clutched by a peasant, evidently a gardener, who bombarded him with a shower of gutturals which he supposed to be peasant Hungarian.

"What's the matter with the old boy?" Jebb asked Checkless. "Does he think I'm going to carry off his garden?" "At length the interpreter interpreted. "He says how dare you came here."

"Isn't it a public garden?" "Yes, but he says that you came here a mont' or so ago and brought a little girl vit you, and then walk off and leave her to strangers to protect."

To Checkless' amazement this heinous accusation seemed to fill Jebb with delight. He embraced the earth-smudged gardener and treated him as a long-lost prodigal.

CHAPTER XV

After much parley, Checkless pledged together the man's fragmentary story into this narrative: "He says one day in the afternoon, you are come here vit a nice little gyormek—child, and he makes notice of her, she is co pretty, and she loves his flowers so. He cannot understand it vat she say, but he loves her because she is so lovinik for his roses. But you did look tired and sick and you sit on a bench and go like you take a little sleep."

"The little girl she plays all the time and talks vit the gardener. He does not know what lengwitch she speaks it, but they make signs and become grand friends. She helps him trim the roseschedgo, and gets vit the thorns sticked, but is very brave and does not make a crynik. Instead she makes such a laughnik!" "Soon a lady and gentleman is sit on another bench and watches the little girl, and they call her and she talks by them. But they are not understanding her either. The man is take her on his lap and lets her listen his watch, and they tell the gardener they weesh God had to them a little child gave like that."

"Long time the child plays here, and then she makes a looking for you. But you are not there. You had gone out of sight. The little girl is afraid, but she tries not to cry. The lady and gentleman stay a long while to keep her brave, for they say all the time you surely come back. Then the lady and gentlemen say, 'Ve take her to our house and if you see the man you tell him we got the child.'"

"The gardener says, 'You better tell the police, too.' And they say, 'Yes, they tell the police; but all the same they like to keep the baby.' "Long times go by and the gardener is almost forgotten it all. When today comes you again and he has got such a big mad at you he wants to fight it. It is curious; you are looking for a child and you look like a mans vat looses a child."

"I am the man," said Jebb; "I was—ill, and I wandered away in a —a sort of delirium. When I came to my senses I was in another country, and I couldn't remember."

Checkless almost swooned at so much history in such essence. "So! Den all yet got to do it is to find the gentlemen and lady vat keeps the child in cold storach and say: 'Here ve are again.'"

"We must find them at once. What was their name?" "On hearing the question translated, the gardener made them wait while he went to the tool-house and brought from his coat a soiled and wrinkled card bearing this, and this only: NIKOLAI POGODIN Machines-a-ecrire Flaubert VARSOVIE ET PARIS

Checkless gleaned from this: "He is a Russian name, and he sells French typewriters in Poland." "I see that," said Jebb. "But this does not tell where he lives in Budapest; ask him."

The gardener turned the card over and put an earthy finger on a penciled address on the back of the card. But it had been blurred till nothing was legible but "Pension—ky . . . Ullout."

"Who is Ullout?" said Jebb. "He is a street, one of the longest streets in Pest."

The gardener could remember nothing more. The number of the house had been there, but it was rubbed off his memory as well as the card.

Abruptly Checkless was smitten with an idea. "I got it," he said. "Ve go to the telephone newspaper and tell them they got to tell everybody in Budapest all about it, and maybe sure somebody telephones to the office something about it."

The vocal advertisement was accepted for its news value without charge and put upon the wires while they waited.

The rest of the day Jebb spent in wandering up and down Ullout street, studying every house and seeing in each one a den where Cynthia was incarcerated.

He dined with Checkless at the Hotel Bristol. When they had ordered dinner, Checkless went to telephone to the telephone-paper. He came back beaming: "A man has called up the paper and says he knows comet'nik. They give him this address and he comes here any minute."

At last a hotel servant brought a man who had asked for Jebb at the desk. Jebb asked Checkless to ask the man to sit down and feast. The stranger answered rather petulantly for himself: "Ain't I got any English? Ain't I gone to New York many times?" "You are not Mr. Pogodin, then."

"No, but if I was I should yoom into the Danube. He is one dam' reckless, that feller. My name is Laszlo Pataky, proprietor the Pension Pataky, rates reasonable, food sublime."

Mr. Pataky was a man of great excitability. He was chiefly impressed with the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Pogodin had gone away owing him money, and that they had refused to pay for a vase and a pitcher the child had broken.

When Jebb offered to pay for the breakages of Cynthia, Mr. Pataky became almost amiable. The gist of a long three-cornered duel with him was that Mr. and Mrs. Pogodin tried to sell French typewriters in vain competition with the American makes.

"The Name Is Familiar"

BY FELIX A. STREYCKMANS and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Poinsettia

THE poinsettia—that crimson flower so popular around Christmas time—was named for a man who was not a botanist but, of all things, one of our secretaries of war! He was Joel Robert Poinsett, seventeenth secretary of war, serving from 1837 to 1841 under President Van Buren. And the full name of the flower, by the way, is poinsettia pulcherrima, Latin for "most beautiful poinsett," but was meant to describe the flower, not the man.

Before he became secretary of war, he was United States minister to Mexico, the country from which the flower was brought to the United States. It had been called "Painted Leaf," and "Mexican Fire Plant." While in Mexico, Poinsett called the flower to the attention of botanists and imported some of the flowers to the United States. This is why, in searching for a scientific name for the flower, Poinsett was honored.

He was of Huguenot descent, the last of his family—if he hadn't fallen in love with the flower, he never would have had a chance to perpetuate the family name.

He was educated in England and traveled extensively. While in Russia, the czar offered him a commission in the army, which he declined. While an American good-will emissary to Chile, the Spaniards seized several of our merchant ships. Poinsett organized a large force right on the spot, led them in an attack against the Spaniards and recaptured the ships.

The name is certainly more appropriate for the flower than the man.

A Maverick

SOMETHING that doesn't belong to anybody is called a maverick—especially if it's wandering around loose. The name was applied originally to cattle that were unbranded.

Samuel A. Maverick, an 1825 graduate of Yale, gave his name to the idea. Although he was one of the founders of Texas independence and a member of the congress of the Republic of Texas in 1845 and had other signs of intelligence, he nevertheless had a reputation for allowing his cattle to wander around without being branded. So unusual was this practice that whenever cattle were discovered without brand-marks someone was almost certain to say, "They're probably Maverick's."

You have to be pretty well known to be referred to that way and must have a lot of cattle, too, and Samuel Maverick was well qualified on both counts. But after all, there is a limit to everything and it was unreasonable to assume that Maverick owned ALL the unbranded cattle.

Cattle rustlers continued to refer to unbranded cattle as Maverick's but they soon meant that they were mavericks—without the capital letter and without that possessive apostrophe. That meant that the cattle merely were unbranded and, therefore, belonged to anybody.

Gerrymander

TO GERRYMANDER means to divide a voting district in an unfair manner, especially so one political party will have an advantage over the other. Elbridge Gerry (1744-1814), a signer of the Declaration of Independence, a vice president of the United States and a governor of Massachusetts, provided the name.

In 1811 the Democrats of Massachusetts elected Gerry governor and also obtained a majority in both houses of the legislature. They then put through a law rearranging the state senatorial districts without regard for geographical location, the main idea being to get enough voters in each district to perpetuate themselves in office.

The arrangement of the towns in Essex county was so absurd that the editor of the Boston Sentinel colored them on a map hung on his wall. A visiting artist added head, wings and claws and, turning to the editor, said, "How's that for a Salamander?"

"Salamander, nothing!" he shouted. "It's a Gerrymander!" The word stuck and is in the dictionary today.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

For Leather Chairs.—Rub equal parts of linseed oil and vinegar, well shaken, into leather chairs, occasionally. It keeps them in good condition.

It is not too early to look over window screens. Mend and paint them now so they will be ready when it is time to put them in.

Save the Buttons.—The continual ripping off of buttons by the clothes wringer can be prevented by folding the buttons inside the garment and holding it flat as you turn it through the wringer.

When poaching eggs, let water come to a full rolling boil, drop eggs into it, turn out gas and eggs will finish poaching in the boiling water.

Bathe Plants.—Plants drink through their leaves, hence an occasional bath or spraying helps keep house plants healthy by freeing the leaves of dust.

In the Bag.—Tie a cheese cloth or paper bag over the mouth of food chopper when cutting bread, nuts, etc., through it. Every bit will then be saved.

When sprinkling flat pieces, such as towels, pillow-slips, napkins, curtains, handkerchiefs, and so forth, for ironing, dip one article in five in clear water, squeeze, not wringing, as dry as possible. Lay flat two dry articles, then one wet, then two dry, and so on, rolling tightly, when all are done. There will be no dry spots and every piece will be a good even dampness. It is a pleasure to iron clothes dampened this way.

Wise and Otherwise

When a girl in her early twenties has a birthday she sometimes takes a day off. After that she usually takes a year off.

That Nagging Backache
May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action
Modern life with its hurry and worry irregular habits, improper eating and drinking, excessive work and exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter toxic acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.
You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, swelling, leg pain, leg pain, swelling, feel constantly tired, nervous, all work out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
Try Doan's Pills. Doan's helps the kidneys to make off harmful acids and poisons. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!
