4-H Club News

Farm boys and girls in Lincoln County will be enabled to participate in 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America junior educational and demonstrational farm projects during 1940 with loans advanced by the Farm Security Administration.

New regulations making such loans possible were announced by G. Melvin Waters, FSA rehabilitation supervisor in Lincoln county.

"All young people enrolled in these junior farm groups, and whose parents are among the FSA borrowers," Mr. Waters said, "may secure loans of not more than $75 for purchase of a calf, sow, poultry or other young livestock, as well as seed, plants and fertilizer, for projects approved by the county extension agent or Smith-Hughes instructors in charge of the projects.

Mr. Waters said that by making loans available to young people with no other source of credit, the program is expected to bring the families more into normal community life, sponsor useful farm projects, and contribute to rehabilitation.

He explained the new loan plan will enable county agents and vocational agriculture teachers to broaden their activities and reach a larger number of rural young people who heretofore had been unable to participate in such projects because of limited funds.

Loan applications must be made to the county FSA supervisor and approved by the project leaders. Security on loans will include a note signed jointly with parents and chattel or crop mortgages, with interest at five per cent.

"This is another case," Mr. Waters said, "where the Farm Security Administration is seeking to broaden its facilities to help low-income farm families in cooperation with other agencies. I am sure there are a number of boys and girls in Lincoln county who will benefit from this plan."

Ladies' Aid Society "Take the Cake"

For four weeks the Ladies' Aid Society of White Oaks has been promising the general public a rousing good time. Thus on March 2nd they fulfilled their promise to the last degree. From the very first there were from 60 to 80 dancers on the floor, all the time. Sometimes more. They came from "fur and nigh"; Fort Stanton, Capitan, Nogal, Ancho, Rabenton, Jicarilla, Carrizozo and even Lincoln and Hondo were represented.

First were the prize dances. Mr. W. W. Smith and daughter, Kathleen won the waltz prize. Then Richard Dow and LaWana Conley won the jitterbug prize.

Their dance was really an exhibition dance. For the schottische, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Conley were the winners. All prizes awarded were cakes. In the quilt drawing No. 17 won. The number belonged to Mrs. Rex Lewis. The man auctioned off for the evening was Mr. Fuimer. He was turned over to the highest bidder at some staggering sum, some of the bidders said they hoped to win so they could trade him in as part payment on the quilt, but this dark scheme failed to work. Last feature of the entertainment was the cake auction.

J. C. Hutchison was 21 years old that day, so the musicians played Happy Birthday for him before the cake auction. The rest of the time was spent in dancing. Everyone was thoroughly entertained.

Music was furnished by Tennis Birelow, Lou Pink and their assistants.

Dave Finley

Mr. Dave Finley, age 43, only son of Mr. and Mrs. M. U. Finley passed away at his home in Midland, Texas at 11 o'clock last Friday morning as the result of an explosion in a gas filled room at 6 p. m. the evening before. Mr. Finley had turned the gas on and it is supposed the wind had blown the flame out, without his knowledge. He struck a match, and the explosion resulted. He was fatally burned, and death came the next morning, as stated above. His only survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. U. Finley, and two sisters, one of whom, Mrs. Pilant was in Midland at the time. Mr. Finley's wife died of pneumonia about a year ago.

Funeral services were held in Midland at 8 o'clock last Sunday afternoon. Friends from Carrizozo who attended the funeral were, Messrs. Tom James, Ed Kelley, L. A. Whittaker and Dewey Stokes. Mr. Finley was well known here where he made occasional visits, and where he was highly regarded for his genial disposition, and sound principles.

New Cabriolet With Power-Operated Top

Detroit, March 5. —The performance, economy, and style characteristics of the 1940 Chevrolet are combined with quick adaptability to all weather conditions, in the new cabriolet with power operated top, just introduced. The model available on the Special DeLuxe chassis only, is already in production at the various assembly plant throughout the United States.

Like all the new Chevrolets this new model features the vacuum power shift as standard equipment at no extra cost. Low slung style and grace characterize this attractive car.

Outstanding among the car's features is its power-operated top, utilizing the vacuum that is available from the power plant when the engine is running. To lower the top it is necessary only to unfasten three toggle latches, above the windshield, pull out the control valve knob on the dash, and hold it out while top is lowered.

The fasteners along the edges of the top are of a self-releasing type, and disengage themselves as the top lowers. A boot is provided, into which the top may be enclosed if this is desired.

To raise the top, the control valve is pushed inward and held in that position while the reverse of the lowering operation takes place, vacuum power doing all the work.

The vacuum mechanism is simple, sturdy and trouble-free. It consists of two vacuum cylinders 5 1/4 inches in diameter with 14-inch stroke, a two-way system of vacuum pipes permitting a power stroke in direction, and the two-way valve already mentioned. The cylinders are located at either end of the seat, between the inner body lining panel and the outer body shell. The piston motion is transmitted to the top frame through linkage above each cylinder.

Mr. Jack Cleghorn was in town from White Oaks Wednesday.

Their workshop is a shell shed in a munitions depot of the British ministry of supply. Some 3,000,000 British women did this work during the World war. An even greater number of French women are taking an active part in war-time activities, many of them working on farms and in industrial plants.

(See Recipes Below)

Some Ideas for a Party

Shay-re an' in the mer'ry month o' Mar-rah, it's St. Patrick's day we're thinkin' of when we pass along these ideas for a party.

Parties seem to move along more smoothly after a bit of fun—and fun it is to find an Irish Paddy's Pig at your place at the table!

Small Irish potatoes, scrubbed until they shine, make the fat bodies of the pigs. For the head, fasten a large round gum drop to one end of each potato, with a toothpick. Make the snout from a small gum drop pinched to the proper shape, and fasten it to the head with a toothpick. Insert whole cloves for "facial features." Cut ears and a curly tail from jelly strings and fasten these in position with toothpicks too. Small gum drops, fastened to the body with toothpicks, make the legs.

Nut cups which look like Paddy's clay pipe, can be made from marshmallows, green cellophane soda straw, and a bit of green ribbon. With a pair of sharp-pointed scissors, hollow out the center of the marshmallow slightly, to form the bowl of the pipe. Tie a green ribbon (with a jaunty bow) around the pipe bowl, and insert a cellophane soda sipper low in one side, for the stem.

These two party menus are planned for St. Patrick's day. You'll find other suggestions for parties of every kind, in my cook book, "Easy Entertaining."

Menu I
Chicken Salad in Lettuce Cups
Hot Cloverleaf Rolls
Potato Chips
St. Patrick's Lime Pie

Menu II
Shamrock Salad
St. Pat's Hats
Small Sweet Pickles
Angel Food Snowballs

Green and White Mints
Salted Nuts
Refrigerator Cloverleaf Rolls.
(Makes 3 dozen)

2 cups water (boiling)
1/2 cup and 1 teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon salt
8 tablespoons shortening (part butter for flavor)
2 cakes yeast
1/2 cup water (lukewarm)
2 eggs (beaten)
3 cups flour

Mix together the boiling water, 1/2 cup sugar, the salt, and shortening. Cool slightly. Dissolve yeast and 1 teaspoon sugar in the lukewarm water, and add to the first mixture. Add eggs and half of the flour. Beat well. Add remaining flour and mix thoroughly.

Place dough in greased bowl, grease the top lightly and cover the bowl. Store in refrigerator. Before using, let the dough stand at room temperature to warm up, before shaping the rolls. To shape cloverleaf rolls, brush very small balls of the dough with melted butter and place three balls in each section of a greased muffin pan. Let rise until light and bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) for about 20 minutes.

Cooked Mayonnaise Dressing.
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 eggs (beaten)
1 cup salad oil
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon salt

Add vinegar gradually to the beaten eggs, and continue beating until blended. Cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens. Remove from flame and cool. Then slowly add the oil, beating constantly. Combine seasonings and fold into the dressing.

Fruit Salad Dressing.
While making your favorite boiled salad dressing recipe you'll undoubtedly want to reserve half of the dressing "as is" for use on vegetable salads. However, to the remaining half—which should be hot—

Are "left-overs" a problem in your household? They needn't be! There are clever, unusual ways of using them. Next week Eleanor Howe will give you some of her own favorite recipes and suggestions for using odds and ends of vegetables and meats, and even a hint or two for using stale cake and pie.

add a few quartered marshmallows and fold until melted. This dressing will be sweeter and fluffier than the original and is perfectly delightful to keep on hand for fruit salads of all kinds.

Angel Food Snowballs.
(Makes 10)

1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
4 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Heat milk and butter to scalding point. Add sugar and dissolve. Sift flour, baking powder and salt, and combine with the milk and sugar mixture. Beat well. Beat egg whites until frothy, add cream of tartar, and beat until the egg whites stand up in points. Fold into the batter and add vanilla. Pour into greased muffin pans and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 20 minutes.

St. Patrick's Lime Pie.
(Serves 6)

4 eggs (separated)
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup lime juice
Pastry cut in shamrock shapes and baked
Rind of one lime (grated)
Green vegetable coloring
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 baked pie shell

Beat the egg yolks until thick and light-colored. Mix 1/2 cup of the sugar and the flour, add lime juice and grated rind, and combine with the egg yolks. Cook until thick, over very low heat, stirring constantly. Cool. Add just enough green coloring to tint the filling slightly. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff; gradually add the remaining 1/2 cup of sugar, and beat until very stiff. Fold into the yolk mixture and pour into baked pie shell. Place pastry shamrocks on top. Bake in a moderately hot oven (415 degrees) for 5 to 7 minutes, or until the filling is set. Cool.

St. Pat's 'Hats.'

Using a large round slice of bread (buttered) for a brim, build up a hat crown with a layer each of tuna fish salad and sliced tomato, placed between 3 smaller bread circles. Stick a toothpick down through center. Spread entire sandwich with green-tinted cream cheese. Add green pepper hat band. Chill. Serve on shredded lettuce.

Use Dry Holder.—Never use a damp or wet cloth or holder in removing a hot dish from the oven or stove. A dry one prevents the heat from penetrating and scorching the fingers.

Hooked rugs will lay flat if they are dried properly. Place them, top side down, on papers spread over the floor. Allow them to dry thoroughly.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON (Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—"Gentle Breeze" is a loose translation of the name of Paraguay's new dictator, Jose Felix Estigarribia. On September 13, 1935, this department observed, "It is possible that a new iron man is checking in, in Paraguay, with the emergence of the shrewd, resolute General Estigarribia." It appeared to be a wrong guess, until recently, when the general announced his dictatorship, having assumed the presidency last August.

Graying, handsome austere, just turning 50, he is the smallest of dictators—130 pounds, five feet, six inches tall. He was a Napoleon addict in his youth, but is said to have abandoned such attitudes and interests in later years. Of remote basque ancestry, he is the descendant of a wealthy Paraguayan family, educated for the army at home and in Paris. He entered the Gran Chaco war as a lieutenant colonel, gained a generalcy in a year and emerged as a national hero.

The U. S. A. has a stake in his new dictatorship. When he entered his brief turn as minister to Washington, he lunched at the White House and was extended generous credits for the "re-building" of Paraguay.

"Extrasensory perception" has been fading rapidly after its sudden burgeoning of two years ago, but here it is again, with Professor J. B. Rhine, its high priest at Duke University, making a study of Faith Hope Charity Harding, the little Pennsylvania girl who has been calling the future the way a pool-player calls his shots. Now 4 1/2 years old, she has been making bull's-eye prophecies since she was 18 months old; so naturally they get Professor Rhine on the job.

He has kept right on running his parapsychological laboratory at Duke, since his 2,500,000 tests of University students there convinced him of the reality of mental telepathy, and the possibility of our peeping into the future, as well as into the minds of our neighbors. He said it would take 1,000 digits to express the mathematical degree of improbability in his tests.

Professor and Mrs. Rhine began exploring the spook world when they were getting the doctor's degree at the University of Chicago. Among other such phenomena they examined the feats of "Margery," the Boston medium and reported that the "whole game was base and brazen trickery." They repeatedly have assailed fake occultism. As to mental telepathy, they lay it on the line, but they're still working on the prophecy business. They started the latter inquiry in April last year.

For the last year, knowing observers of European war and politics have warned the world to keep a sharp eye on Col. Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch, commander in chief of the German army. His tracks usually lead in the direction of the next German lunge, and, controlling the army, he makes as well as executes decisions.

General Von Brauchitsch is a member of an old east Prussian feudal family, a conservative by instinct, education and tradition, but politically malleable. A distinguished officer in the World war, he hated the republic, but went along with it, alienating his stiff-necked Junker colleagues, and became head of its armed forces. From 1922 to 1932, he delivered many scholarly denunciations of bolshevism, but, perhaps more than any other man, put through the interchange of officers, technicians, fabricated goods, munitions and raw materials between Germany and Russia during this decade.

Weighty opinion from the other side is that General Von Brauchitsch, rather than Hitler, Goering or Rosenberg, schemed the Russo-German deal and forced it to a conclusion through his unquestioned hold on the army.

To him is also attributed the plan, the decision, the timing and the start of the drive into Poland. In several instances there have been indications of hostility between the general and Goering, with the betting on the former, if it ever comes to an open break. The general was born in Berlin in 1881 and has been in the army since his early youth. He is handsome, imposing and brilliantly educated, within the limits of the old army caste, and has employed power in a manner to make him an ace exhibit in Dr. Rauschning's "revolution of nihilism."

Fabric Alone or With Straw Is Millinery Theme for Easter

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

ONE glance at the new hat fashions for spring, year 1940, and forthwith you feel your spirits mount high for you know in a flash that milliners are turning out creations of the flattering sort. Perhaps the most outstanding news in regard to hats that will grace the Easter millinery picture is the wide use being made of fabric, especially jersey (for wrapped turbans and snoods) and silk prints as gay and colorful as an artist's palette. See the hat centered below in the illustration. Here is a bright and shining example of what is being done with silk print. This wondrously chic little pillbox with shirred crown is made of a bordered silk print scarf. Its patterning of overlapping disc motifs achieves a dashing color alliance. The manner in which the draped matching scarf is attached to the back of the hat by means of snaps so that it can be removed at will is both unique and practical. The fact that the hat can be worn alone with its detached scarf translated into a neckerchief, knotted in place or held with a gay pin, adds greatly to its interest.

One of the big attractions offered to style-seeking women this season, is the print dress and hat ensemble or the print blouse that sells with a matching turban. You will find as the season progresses that the theme of the matching hat of printed silk will prove fashion's favorite spring song. Now that the pastel color craze is taking the world of fashion by storm it has become a reigning vogue to wear a classic draped turban made of the identical pastel material that fashions the dress. The striking dinner gown pictured in the inset oval illustrates this new trend. Sand beige silk jersey is the fabric that fashions this charming costume. The bodice is softly gathered from high neck to high waistline. The flowing skirt is pleated into a wide wrapped girdle. An elaborate ornament set in gold trims the rajah turban of self silk jersey in the manner of a regal potentate.

Sailors are with us again. Milliners report they are better than ever this season. Dusty pink suede forms the bandeau of the navy blue straw sailor shown at the top to the right. The ends of the suede jut through the crown and are stitched to give stiffness. A lovely model this, to wear with the very new and smart navy costume on Easter day. Another type that maintains style prestige is the postillion. Lime green straw and a cactus blossom trim give a springtime air to the postillion illustrated below to the right. This simple model will make an excellent fashion "first" to initiate your spring style program. The new collections include many hats that are made of ribbon. A high-crowned chapeau of golden mustard-colored ribbon swathed in black net veiling, as shown above to the left, is a youthful headpiece that tunes ideally to midseason and early spring wear. Cellophane black straw and felt combine to produce the smart turban pictured below to the left. A fan-shaped end of the felt mounting from the crown gives a note of height.

When the Republican party was formed, Wilnot joined it and was a delegate to its conventions in 1856 and 1860, acting as temporary chairman of the latter. He lost the race for governor of his native state of Pennsylvania in 1857 but continued to serve as president-judge of the Thirteenth Pennsylvania district until 1861 when he was elected United States senator. His term ended in 1863 when he became judge of the United States court of claims.

Wilnot died in 1868, leaving his name in the American history books even though he didn't leave much of a mark on American history.

Colt Six-Shooter WHEN the Mexican war ended and Americans set about to conquer the last frontier, what hung at the tip of every horseman of the plains, whether Texas ranger, trooper in the United States army, cowboy, frontier marshal or outlaw? Not a gun, a pistol or a revolver—nor a "gat" or a "rod." It was a Colt six-shooter, the one word that was universal for revolver. It wasn't named that because it was a smaller edition of the horse pistol carried by horsemen but because it was invented by Samuel Colt, born in Hartford, Conn., in 1814. He invented the revolver—the first small arm to fire more than one shot without reloading. His invention, patented in 1836 when he was only 22, shaped early American history by taming the frontier.

The Colt six-shooter became not only a synonym for a certain type of firearm and a common name, but it became a symbol of the reign of law in a lawless land. "Judge Colt" was judge, jury and executioner when a man's life depended upon the speed of his draw. Gunplay was no horseplay, thanks to a man named Colt. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Diesel Engine

THE Diesel engine that has been threatening to replace the gasoline-operated internal-combustion engine for many years, was patented almost 50 years ago. The man who invented it and for whom it is named was Rudolph Diesel, a German engineer who was born in Paris in 1858.

The main difference between a Diesel engine and a gasoline engine is that the Diesel explodes the fuel by compression instead of a spark and requires no carburetor system, no ignition system and burns crude oil instead of gasoline. The oil is made highly explosive under pressure in the cylinder and the heat of the pressure sets it off. The Diesel engine made the German submarine far more effective in the 1914-1918 World war, increasing its cruising range. Normally operated by electric batteries, subs used the Diesel engine also to recharge the batteries and operate the submarines during that time, allowing them to remain away longer from their bases.

But Rudolph Diesel, although a German by race, worked for France, England, and America as well as Germany. He was drowned after falling from a boat in crossing the English channel to obey a call to consult with the British admiralty in 1913. It is believed that he was pushed off the boat to prevent plans of the German submarines falling into British hands.

Wilmot Proviso IF YOU remember the American history you learned in school you will recall, of course, that the Wilmot Proviso was one of those acts of congress which was to "settle the slavery dispute." Introduced as an amendment to a bill appropriating $2,000,000 to purchase land from Mexico, it stipulated that "neither slavery nor involuntary servitude shall ever exist in any part of the said territory." That was the "proviso" part of the expression. But what about the "Wilmot?"

David Wilnot, elected to the house as a Democrat in 1845, offered that amendment in 1846. It won in the house but failed in the senate; but it had done its work. Eventually, the United States won that land from Mexico by conquest but no slavery ever existed in it.

When the Republican party was formed, Wilnot joined it and was a delegate to its conventions in 1856 and 1860, acting as temporary chairman of the latter. He lost the race for governor of his native state of Pennsylvania in 1857 but continued to serve as president-judge of the Thirteenth Pennsylvania district until 1861 when he was elected United States senator. His term ended in 1863 when he became judge of the United States court of claims. Wilnot died in 1868, leaving his name in the American history books even though he didn't leave much of a mark on American history.

Exaggerated Claims When the Empress of Ireland sank in the St. Lawrence river on May 20, 1914, the amount of money and jewels that the heirs of the victims claimed had been deposited in the purser's safe was so large that the insurers went to the expense of having it salvaged. When opened the safe contained less than five per cent of the alleged loss.—Collier's.

Startling Color Schemes Are Seen

Daring is the word for the startling color schemes that are carried out to a nicety by designers this season. It is really a revelation that colors so intensely "contrasty" can resolve into a symphony of color loveliness under the touch of an artist style creator.

Navy for the skirt, old gold for the blouse, bright red for the wide corseted girdle and the entire sums up to color perfection as a charming dress in sheer wool recently displayed bears testimony.

Clever two or three-color alliances are being handled with brilliant and decidedly novel technique. A dark dress takes on a front panel of vivid tone, such as red with navy, fuchsia with turquoise. An evening gown in blackberry tone has a long train starting between the shoulders of bright fuchsia red.

Dual Personality In Jacket Outfits

Bright print jacket costumes possess a dual personality which more than doubles their practicality. While they may be worn on coatless spring days they also present a smart late winter appearance under fur coats.

A print with a white pattern on pearl gray makes an ideal background for bright-colored accessories. With a gray or black fur coat your accessories might include a gray hat with a red feather trim, and red gloves and bag.

High-Color Gloves Match to Jewelry

A new move in the fashion realm is that of bright-gloves that sound the key color for the rest of the accessories. Especially effective is this color treatment when gloves match the color of the enamel flower-necklace worn.

More Stripes

Day and night, stripes continue active in the fashion realm. A handsome silk in stripes that adopt a color scheme of Quaker gray, pink and white is the fabric choice for this tailored jacket designed for dinner wear. The leg o' mutton sleeves, box-pleated (at the back) peplum, the zippered front fastening are important style details. The skirt is of black taffeta. Taffeta is becoming increasingly important for formal evening gowns and daytime costumes as well.

The Basic Coat A perfect foil for magnificent fur accessories is the simple untrimmed black cloth coat.

AMERICAN BOY MAGAZINE
COMPANION TO THOUSANDS

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of the playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the best of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 20c a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

New Super-Distance Air 'Dreadnaught' Will Fly Non-Stop, New York-to-Rome

WASHINGTON.—On March 15, if the civil aeronautics authority permits, a new air service will be inaugurated between New York and Rome under sponsorship of American Export airlines.

Competing with Pan-American clippers which went into service last spring, the new airline will be but the precursor to an even faster service which American Export lines will start early in 1941.

Patterned After Navy Plane.
For the time being it is planned to carry only mail and express in a two-motor Consolidated flying boat which will run from New York to the Azores, to Lisbon and thence to Rome. But the new airships now being built by Vought-Sikorsky are expected to usher in a new era of trans-oceanic aviation, flying non-stop from New York to Rome.

These giant ships are called "dreadnaughts," for they are nothing less than a commercial version of the American navy's newest long-range flying dreadnaught. The ships will have no trouble carrying a full pay load 4,600 miles non-stop, flying at a maximum rate of 230 miles an hour, and at a cruising speed of 175 miles.

Slightly smaller than the Pan-American clippers, which carry 21 passengers, the Vought-Sikorsky ships will accommodate 10 paying guests plus a crew of 11 and a substantial load of mail and express. They will provide every modern improvement with palatial sleeping accommodations, an attractive lounge and separate dressing rooms for men and women.

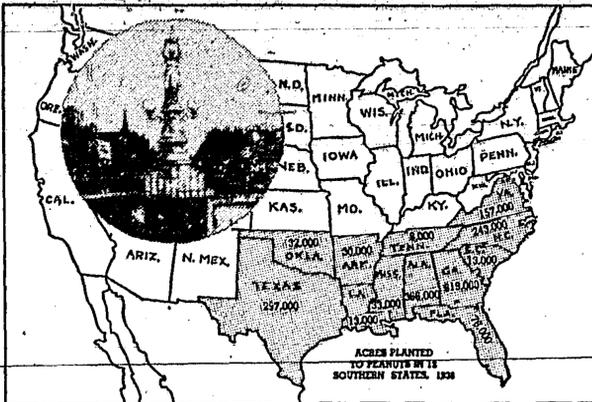

American Export lines believe the non-stop schedule embodies many advantages, providing greater reliability of service and eliminating the hazards of landing in unprotected harbors.

New York to Rome Overnight.
Speed will be an important factor.

Passengers will be able to cross the Atlantic in only a little more time than it now requires to go by train from New York to Chicago. Leaving New York in the morning, the ships will be in Italy the next afternoon. Fast scheduled rail and air connections available at Rome will put the traveler and mail into Paris, London, Berlin, Budapest and other important European cities the same evening or the following morning—36 to 40 hours out of New York.

Co-operating with Igor Sikorsky in designing the ship is Michael E. Gluhareff, chief of design for United Aircraft corporation. The dreadnaught, already thoroughly tested by the United States navy, has a wing span of 124 feet, an overall hull length of 70 feet, 3 inches, and a maximum hull beam of 10 feet. Three separate tanks concealed in the wings will carry 3,000 gallons of fuel, making the non-stop flight across the Atlantic entirely feasible. The ship will be powered with four engines producing 1,200 horsepower each.

Lowly Peanut Replaces Cotton To Boost South's Prosperity

In the little town of Enterprise, Ala., is an elaborate monument (inset) inspired by the lowly peanut. It was erected in honor of the boll weevil when that insect ruined cotton crops and brought peanut raising into popularity. Since then the peanut industry has been expanded so rapidly that today 12 southern states have a total of 1,887,000 acres planted to peanuts, as shown on the map above. The industry is highly promoted, and many new uses for the peanut are being developed each year.

In January the state of Virginia observed its annual "Peanut Week." The peanut is honored each year by the Virginia-Carolina Peanut Association. Miss Emily Cross of Suffolk, Va., (left) was queen.

By this year the peanut harvest has become so great that a serious problem faced more than 30,000 southern farm families who depend on the crop for their livelihood. Organized aid was provided through special producer-consumer drives, the latest in a series to move surplus farm products, by independent merchants and by the rapid distribution system of food chain stores.

Princess Frock Is Simple, Charming

CHARMING and changeable are the words for this very simple princess frock (1898-B). Charming, because it is so slim-waisted and flare-skirted, with wide shoulders gathered at the top. Changeable, because you can make the neckline two ways—either with the round tailored collar, or with the collarless square neckline. As a matter of fact, if you once get it on, and see what nice things it does to your figure, you'll want it both ways, and make it up time and again, in street materials as well as in daytime cottons. It's a very adaptable style, too, becoming to misses' and women's sizes alike.

For home wear, choose crisp cottons like gingham, percale or calico. For street or office wear, faille, flat crepe or gay silk print will be pretty, with collar and cuffs-of-plaque-linen-or-sharkskin.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1898-B is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 40 and 42. Corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 (34) requires 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material without nap; 5/8 yard contrast. Send order to:

Slide Rule Makes Black Magic For Latest Cinematic Thriller

An example of Ernest Schoedsack's magic: One of the "little people" is trampled under the huge boot of "Dr. Cyclops."

HOLLYWOOD.—The black magic of a masterful photographic technician named Ernest Schoedsack is being brought to the screen this year in a motion picture expected to set a new record for weirdness.

People reduced to one-fifth their normal size are the main characters in "Dr. Cyclops," an exciting film which takes place in a scientist's jungle camp at the headwaters of the Amazon. It is Schoedsack's major cinema since he excelled the world several years ago with "King Kong," the giant ape. Aided by a newly developed color process which gives special impact to the shadowy but colorful jungle, the movie tells the story of a malevolent scientist and five people who had come to help him but were repaid by being dwarfed to less than one-fifth their original size.

Process Is a Secret.
How Schoedsack accomplishes this feat is a secret he has attempted to keep within a small circle of trusted assistants. For four months, during production of the picture, not a soul was allowed inside the sets unless directly connected with the film. Thus the "Dr. Cyclops" characters are placed in a strange world where objects and animals once commonplace now assume terrifying proportions. Chickens, cats and dogs have become monsters capable of dealing death. An alligator they encounter assumes the dimensions of a nightmarish giant reptile out of a prehistoric era. The simplest little tasks—when they were normal—now become stupendously difficult. For example, it is almost impossible to lift a plate or open a door.

Uses Slide Rule.
Uncanny therefore, are the scenes where "Dr. Cyclops" hunts his dwarfed victims with a bird net, where he catches one and holds him securely in the grip of one hand, and where one of the "little people" is cornered and faces the enemy with a table knife for defense.

A large slide rule was one of Schoedsack's most valuable assistants in making the picture. Certain sets showed the "little people" in a room of ordinary furniture which loomed far above their heads. A chair, to them, had the dimensions of a tall building, and a door seemed larger than a cliff.

How did Schoedsack do it? Certainly he couldn't really reduce the cast to one-fifth their normal dimensions. Painstakingly, giant sets were created. Every article was enlarged five times its normal size.

Even this was only a part of Schoedsack's wizardry. Giant sets do not explain how "Dr. Cyclops" could hold another human in the palm of his hand or catch two or three people with the swoop of a butterfly net.

Used X-ray in One Scene.
Schoedsack refuses to divulge much of his camera magic. Those are the trade secrets he has worked out laboriously over many years. But some details have leaked out. For example, a scene was photographed in which an actor actually decayed before the camera.

Justice Department Gears for Biggest Tax Case in History

CHICAGO.—In the race-parade of the gambling fraternity, one day soon the government will be off on a fast track here to the trial of Moses L. Annenberg and his henchmen in the late fabulous race wire information empire.

Especially stream-lined court procedure will speed the Annenberg trial, biggest income tax evasion case ever tried by the department of justice, to the barrier while the horse parlor habitués of the nation watch the event. Federal Judge James H. Wilkeron will preside.

Already the fast pace of justice in this federal action, as compared to historic trials of similar nature in the past, has distinguished counsel for the defense literally pop-eyed.

The Annenberg case involves 19 individuals and corporations, seven indictments involving the laws against lotteries and a perjury charge. Batteries of accountants both for the government and the defense are at work on the records of two score Annenberg companies, impounded and guarded 24 hours a day.

In less than three months the defense filed 97 different motions, briefs and legal memoranda. United States Attorney William J. Campbell at Chicago and his assistants have filed answer to this mass of legal documents written by defense counsel in the income tax cases, as well as in the lottery indictments against Annenberg. Outnumbered by defense lawyers, the government, with its limited staff, has never once demanded time out for breathing or to catch up with the pitching, although the defense has put everything into their legal delivery that could be doped out.

In addition to answering the defense tit for tat in its pleas and motions, the government has filed various motions and memoranda of its own in this legal battle of the century. Hundreds of thousands of words already have been incorporated in the record to date. Neither the defense nor the government is leaving any page unturned in preparing the case.

Prosecutor Campbell has said he and his aides are ready. And the "boys in the back rooms" have started making bets on the outcome. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Platina, New Fox Fur, Resulted From Freak

A freak fox born on a farm in Norway in 1933 has given the industry something new to think about and a new kind of fur to sell. Although the little fox was rejected at the Norwegian silver fox show that year, fur experts now know that Nature has performed another miracle by giving the world a new kind of fur.

Several years ago American scientists began experimenting to find new uses for the peanut, thus reducing the ruinous surplus. To date they've found 300 such uses, including a peanut base face powder (above) and a very satisfactory shaving cream (upper left). But peanut butter of which the U. S. consumes 25,000,000 pounds annually, is still No. 1 on the list. Ask the fellow at the left if it's good! We think so too.

Locomotives, too. Peanut oil helps make the wheels turn.

Sacred Things

Commerce is of trivial import: love, faith, truth of character, the aspiration of man, these are sacred.—Emerson.

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of world-wide use, surely must constitute evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that fact. It is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good, direct treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the body without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed. Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer aching backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, allayed on. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

One day, the Pogodins came home with a child. They said they had adopted her.

That evening while Mr. Pataky was at the Folies Caprice seeing a musical work, the Pogodins had made haste to pack up their belongings and ship them to the station. Mr. Pataky being away from home did not learn which of the stations they went to, and from.

In answer to Jebb's frantic demands for a guess as to the probable destination of the couple, Mr. Pataky pulled out a business card, the duplicate of the one Jebb already had. Mr. Pogodin was in business both in Paris and in Warsaw. He had not done well in Pest.

"I am sure you find them in Paris or in Warsaw, if maybe they ain't gone to some other place."

To come to this Y-shaped trail and realize that whichever way he took he would wish he had taken the other; and that every day of delay increased the difficulty and blurred the track, was maddening to Jebb. He gave Pataky the money for Cynthia's little destructions and got rid of him with curt phrases.

When Jebb reached Vienna the next morning and went into the breakfast-room he found Miruma waiting for him. Her face was luminous with welcome, but it turned gloomy as she cried:

"You need not flatter the Cynthia child. Aman! aman!"

He told the story briefly, hastily explained his new dilemma. She solved it in one instant:

"Leesten.—Do you speak Polish or Mosgovian?" He shook his head. Then she ran on, eyes flashing with delight over her scheme:

"I am cherkeo-Circassian born, and I learn some Russian as child, before I am taken to Turkey."

"But leesten? You shall go to Paris and look, and I shall go to Warsaw. The one who finds the child ferret telegraphs the other. I bet you I gone to find her the cherkebull—the sugar lump ferret. What you bet?"

By this time the Ludlams met in the breakfast-room and came over to their table. The story and the scheme told all over again enraptured sister Jennie and even opened the fat eyes of brother Charles. As a much traveled woman, sister Jennie scoffed at the idea of any difficulty in Miruma's way.

Brother Charles volunteered to get the passport from the American consul in Vienna. An hour later he came back with it boastfully:

"It isn't everybody that could have got this," he said; "I had presence of mind enough to realize that if I said Mrs. Janghir was a Turkish lady there'd be all sorts of red tape. So I said she was an American."

"Well, she is, by intention," said sister Jennie. Miruma blushed and Jebb sighed.

The Warsaw train left at noon and required seventeen hours for the journey. Jebb's train to Paris took twenty-seven hours, and he was weary of globe-trotting.

There was so little time to get Miruma aboard her train, and there were so many instructions to give her, that leisure was left to talk of nothing else. And Jebb was sadly glad of this; it saved him from the torment of restraining his words of adoration.

Jebb's mood was funereal when he returned to his hotel. In his absence the Ludlams had decided to go to Paris by the same train—a conspiracy hatched by sister Jennie to console him.

When dinner was finished sister Jennie told Charles to go to the smoking-compartment, and stay there; and she asked Jebb to come back after the expiration of one cigar. As soon as he had accomplished his cigar he wandered back to sister Jennie. Then she unfolded her plan:

"When I first saw you in Vienna the other day, and thought you were very rich, I told you I wanted more of your help, you remember?" Jebb smiled. "Now that I find you are not an idle millionaire, but a keen and brilliant surgeon—oh, don't lift your hand—it gives you away as a surgeon, and Miruma has told me of your miracles in—wherever it was."

"I spoke to you of my poor brother Wentworth. Before I die I want to see a memorial of that beautiful soul, cursed through no fault of his own, by an inheritance from poor ancestors that had heaven knows what sorrows or failure to drive them to despair. My poor, dear brother was started wrong, he could never hope to be what he ought to have been."

"So I thought that a hospital for correcting the malformations and the inherited handicaps of little children would be about as good a memorial for poor Wentworth as I could find."

"And I wanted a large part of its work to be experimental. I want it to keep investigating, finding new methods, pushing into the dark. You understand, don't you?"

"That's about all I understand in this world, Miss Ludlam," Jebb exclaimed with unusual fervor for him. "That's my religion, and the closest I can come to a prayer is an operation. And as for experimenting—it's the crying need of the world, Miss Ludlam. If only a man could have a lot more money to spend and all his time to devote to exploring. Experimental surgery is the new world; it's unbounded, undreamed of—why, my God, it's—excuse me!"

He collapsed in full flight, ashamed of his own excitement, but sister Jennie cried: "Don't mind me—I'm used to Charlie. I love to hear you swear. It shows you have the frenzy that a man needs to be great. You are the man I need to help me found this memorial. It must be just a little different from those that are already established; it must—but you know so much better than I do what is needed. Won't you please—please—take charge of it for me!"

Jebb almost fainted at this gift, so great he had never even dreamed of it.

They talked till the porter informed them that the whole car was complaining.

When the train at last reached Paris, the Wentworth Ludlam Memorial Hospital and Experimental Station was pretty well talked out, and a good deal of it was mapped on paper.

The first place Jebb caught in Paris was the office of the Machine-a-ecrire Flaubert. The president and his son received him and recognized the name of Nikolai Pogodin with contrasting feelings. The younger member of the firm laughed; the elder swore.

Mr. Pogodin, they said, had been their agent, but his interest in the race tracks of various capitals had mixed up his accounts so that they had regretfully erased him from their rolls.

The Flauberts promised Jebb any information in their power, but they doubted if Pogodin were in Warsaw, or that he would remain anywhere long.

Alvin Hamer, Detroit bookseller, has discovered a collection of letters written by the five sons of Josiah Colburn, a dour Yankee of the early Nineteenth century, to let up know the first of the 1800s was not altogether a time of the grand gesture and political pow-wow.

These were men whose letters reveal that they were hard-working journeymen and laborers and seafarers whose main concern was not with the dangers of frontier life, but with the ordinary business of getting jobs and founding homes.

Out of New York state these boys came; to spread as far north as Ontario, as far west as St. Louis, and south to New Orleans, with the Bible-reading father always in the background, giving good Scriptural counsel.

There was Thomas, a rolistering wanderer in sail, whose papers show that he sailed in 1816 from Kingston, Ont., with a cargo of 40 barrels of beer and 427 pounds of cheese, at a time when memories of the war with Britain were still fresh.

It was Jeremiah who wrote of the boom which followed the war in Buffalo, only to complain three years later that jobs were hard to find. He had just finished his apprenticeship as a carpenter and was starting out on his own.

"I am this day pretty good looking, half white and 21 years of age (half Indian, perhaps?). I am now square with the world—I owe nobody and nobody owes me," Jerry wrote to his sailor brother. Thomas had evidently cautioned him on the folly of wandering, for he continued:

"Free and independent, you have advised me to refrain from rambling and be steady. I should be glad if you would take a little to yourself, for I believe you stand in need of becoming more steady than what you have been for these six years past. For you have traveled thousands of miles and I have not traveled half of one."

And then with much hesitation, history has a way of fading into romance with the passing of a century, even though the facts are kept meticulously aligned. So it is that when one thinks of the development of Michigan, Ohio and the rest of the Northwest Territory, he is apt to think in terms of gold-braided boundary jugglers, constring caps, long rifles and buttered rum.

royalty basis with a guarantee of a good income for life.

When the Nord-Express pulled in at the station, Jebb ran through the car's searching.

Cynthia, dawdling in the corridor as before, saw him first and set up a shriek.

The child's first distinguishable speech was:

"Oh, Nunkie Dave, you never told me what Thimpat the Thailor had in the thoot-cathe he bringed his little daughter Bridthet."

And before anything else could be told Jebb had to ransack his excited brain for a catalogue of gifts that would have founded the reindeers of Santa Claus himself.

And after this, Cynthia must tell her own adventures with the Pogodins, and she must show off the Russian she had learned and the Polish words, and what a nice woman Mme. Pogodin was—though not half so nice as Aunt Miruma.

In fact, there was no silencing the child—till fatigue put her to sleep—or at least they supposed she was asleep.

And now, hanim effendim—Miruma—tell me how you managed to find her—you wonderful, angelic— he stopped short on the brink of a plunge.

"Oh, eet ees such a long story. They were not hard to find, the Pogodins, but they refuse to geeve up the baby. They say she is their own, and they defy me to proof she is somebody's who is in America. So I go away much afraid. But I come back and wait in the street. Not till next morning Cynthia comes out alone to play and I—stealed her from the stealers—oh, how I run!

From the depths of his soul Jebb sighed. It seemed impossible to keep his love secret any longer. He had no right to deny her that tribute. It was her privilege to know that he loved her enough to relinquish her for her own sake.

his mouth full of the ashes of confession, he began to tell her of his other self.

"Do not tell me," she said, "It hurts you, and I know it all many days. Seester Jennie tells it, and it makes me such joy to theenk that you have been shrinking from me not because you did hated me, but because you did loved me all thees long-time."

"Then you understand why I kept silent?"

"Yes."

"And why I can never ask you to be my—my wife?"

"No. Leesten, Jebb Effendim, you theenk you have another self that you cannot keel. I theenk you can, weest the help of Allah and weest my love to make you a home. Even if you cannot keel that Meester Pierpont, still when you are that man I could keep you close, take care of you, save you from to run allover the world, and perhaps some day be made dead in some tarrible place. If I should be your wife I should guard you and when the long seekness was over you should wake back to yourself in your own home and in my arms always. Then soon, I know, I know Allah would answer such prayer from two such lovers, soon the other self comes less and less often, stays less and less long. That could be—couldn't eet?"

"Yes, it could be—it would be, if—but I love you too much to let you endure it."

"Hush, Jebb Effendim. I theenk you want me for wife—yes?"

Jebb only cast his eyes up in despair of words to express this desire.

"Then—if thees time instead of to be given by somebody to somebody, I give myself for a gift—then—then—oh, should the gift be refused?—should you ruin my life forever?—should you—oh should you make me do all the proposing?"

Those compartment-cars are very cosy for settling disputes of this sort. And Cynthia was asleep—or at least they thought she was asleep.

(THE END.)

So it is that when one thinks of the development of Michigan, Ohio and the rest of the Northwest Territory, he is apt to think in terms of gold-braided boundary jugglers, constring caps, long rifles and buttered rum.

These were men whose letters reveal that they were hard-working journeymen and laborers and seafarers whose main concern was not with the dangers of frontier life, but with the ordinary business of getting jobs and founding homes.

Out of New York state these boys came; to spread as far north as Ontario, as far west as St. Louis, and south to New Orleans, with the Bible-reading father always in the background, giving good Scriptural counsel.

And then with much hesitation, history has a way of fading into romance with the passing of a century, even though the facts are kept meticulously aligned. By L. L. STEVENSON

Loss: Before going back to her little old home town to have her tonsils removed by her family physician, a young professional woman not only bought a lot of silk things for hospital wear but also had a beauty specialist add to her glamour. The operation was a success and soon the patient demanded a mirror. To her surprise the nurse refused to bring one. Naturally she wanted to know the reason, but didn't get it until after she had become quite upset about the matter. Then the nurse, who'd had a conference with the doctor, explained that "something terrible" had happened.

"It's your beautiful eye lashes," she continued with her hand on the patient's shoulder. "When I washed the vaseline from your eyes they came off on the cloth."

Despite her sore throat, the patient laughed. Those beautiful eye-lashes had been pasted on by the beauty specialist.

Street Scene: A gray-haired colored man pushing a rickety cart piled high with old papers. . . . A vegetable peddler singing the merits of his wares in a rich baritone. . . . A milk wagon horse standing with its forelegs on the sidewalk solemnly eyeing passersby. . . . Youngsters playfully throwing ashes, taken from a convenient can, at one another. . . . A fat woman, her arms loaded with bundles, shrieking as she skids on a bit of ice. . . . A shawled woman slipping out of a saloon with a foam-crowned pitcher. . . . A blind man tapping his way along slowly and chanting monotonously, "Pencil. Pencil buy a pencil." . . . A girl in a thin coat and skirt taking a discarded newspaper from a corner trash can and hurriedly turning to the "Help Wanted" columns.

Insurance: Ed Hart told me about three high school lads who got on a trolley car on Webster avenue. Two of them started riding the third about not dropping his nickel in the farebox—chiseling a ride in other words. The young fellow's face reddened at the charge.

"I did pay my fare," he announced. "Do you think I'd want anything like that on my conscience with examinations today; and I went to church yesterday, too!"

Ed is keeping a sharp lookout for the lad. He's curious to know if he got passing marks.

Questions: Bob Hawk, who conducts one of those radio quiz programs, maintains a suite of offices where 12 girls do nothing but sort mail. More than 500,000 questions have been tallied and 1,250,000 questions indexed. Analysis shows New Yorkers are sports minded; questions from New England trend toward history and, curiously, Midwesterners ask the most cosmopolitan questions. Sixty per cent of those who mail quiz queries are women. Three per cent of the questions are gags and the leading question—more than 4,000 have cast in—is, "What three Presidents were assassinated in office?"

Information: Having a free day between two recent New England concert dates, Erica Morini, violinist, now in the process of becoming an American citizen, thought she might add to her knowledge of her adopted homeland by visiting a few of the local points of historic interest.

Before an ancient colonial house, her guide stopped and asked, "I suppose you have heard about Ethan Allen and the Green Mountain Boys?"

"Well—no," Miss Morini confessed. "You see, I seldom listen to those mountain music quartets on the radio."

End Piece: All that is Russian is not anti-Finnish. Inside the doors of the Russian Kretchma a basket has been placed for funds for Herbert Hoover's relief campaign and the hostessers have unanimously agreed to turn over a percentage of their weekly salaries to that same fund.

Professor Tells Students To Open Minds to Truth

HOLYOKE, MASS.—Prof. Walter Kotschnig told Holyoke college students to keep their minds open—"but not so open that your brains fall out."

He condemned the purpose of students who go to college merely to learn skill and urged his listeners to find the "real aim of education, to acquire a philosophy of life, intellectual honesty and a constant search for truth."

Head of the Class—Above is the Buick Special 4-door touring sedan $996* and fit to be Tried!

THERE are a lot of things about this stunning 1940 Buick to claim your attention, if you want to know what's what in motorcars.

For instance, you've got to admit that it has done a lot to beautify the boulevards.

And, from the way folks are swinging over to Buick, it must have something value-wise that's pretty important.

What you hear about its quick-off-the-mark engine and the silkiness it gets from balancing after assembly certainly calls for inquiry.

So do the rave notices BuicCoil Springing gets and the talk you hear about five-foot front seat room in the SUPRA and its Foamtex cushions soft as a down puff.

But skipping this, even skipping the fact that Buick's prices are lower than some sixes, one thing alone is enough to send you hot-footing to your Buick dealer.

That's the obvious fact that as Buick goes these days so goes the industry.

So do the obvious thing. Go try out this superb traveler. We think you'll decide you'll never be really happy till you have one.

Prices Begin at $895
for Sedan Prices start at $955—
*delivered at Flint, Mich. Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.
