"THREE DAYS IN OLD LINCOLN" PLANNED JUNE 20-22 INCLUSIVE

"Billy The Kid" Drama Opening Night

A representative group of citizens met today in the Penfield store in Lincoln and made final plans for a "Three Days in Old Lincoln" celebration featuring a "Billy the Kid" drama on the opening night, as their form of participation in the Coronado Cuarto Centennial. Other events planned for the half week of festivity to give visitors a true picture of life as it was lived in this historic old town in the days of the Lincoln County war, include: bryce riding, cattle branding, adobe brick making, Spanish dancing, the setting of Spanish food in homes of local citizens, a cowboy orchestra from Ft. Sumner, Spanish street-musicians, Spanish dances, street shows, chuck wagon parties, and, in all seriousness and with every authentic detail in ceremony, a Mexican wedding. Luminaries are to be used in the scheme of decorations for the village.

Clinton P. Anderson of the Cuarto Centennial Celebration has loaned the services of Blanding Sloan, artist of the theatre, who directed the 1936 "Cavalade of Texas," to direct the "Billy the Kid" drama. Sloan's services plus the equipment being loaned by the Centennial, seats, lighting, sound devices, settings, promise a professional production which will attract visitors from many states.

The play is being cast from among local town's talent which includes several well known artists.

A. T. Pflingsten, superintendent of Bonita Ranch, was elected chairman of general committee on arrangements. Serving with him are: Mrs. T. Laramie, as secretary; Mrs. Lucy Lepper Shaw, director of NYA's Capitan Camp for girls, as chairman of Señoritas Songs and Dances; L. Vernon Baker, Street Shows; Mrs. Ruth Penfield, Concessions and the Mexican Wedding; Mrs. Nellie Day, County Superintendent Schools on Schools participation; Fred R. ## ANCHO SCHOOL NOTES

"South of the Border, down Mexico way" there's a picturesque land abundant in brilliant color. The guests who attended the banquet for the eighth grade graduates, Herbert Ellis, Paul

Jones and Wallace Hall, given by their teacher, Mrs. Ola Jones, found themselves in such an atmosphere Monday evening. The auditorium had been transformed into the most gorgeous Spanish night club imaginable. The Spanish theme, using class colors, blue and yellow and class flowers, yucca, was beautifully carried out in the elaborate menu, table appointments, room decorations, place cards and program.

The waiters, Vick Payne and Tom Jones, were dashing handsome in their colorful Spanish costumes.

The following program was rendered:

There was a splendid exhibit of garments made by 4H Club girls. A final report on hot lunch project was presented. This project under supervision of Mrs. Ola Jones and her able assistants, Mesdames Reed and Ream, and with co-operation of the patrons and friends of the school, has been a decided success.

LINCOLN COUNTY SUMMER SCHOOL

The sessions of Lincoln County Summer School of Eastern New Mexico College will be held at Ruidoso and Lincoln town between June 3 and 6; classes are designed to meet all teachers' certification requirements with the addition of Anthropology, Spanish, and special study in history and flora of the Southwest. We cannot, for the lack of equipment, offer physics, chemistry, and zoology.

It will be possible to take six hours' credit, the tuition is twelve dollars plus library fee. Resort owners in Lincoln and Ruidoso are giving special pre-cession rates to students. For a small extra charge students will be able to enjoy horse-back riding, old-fashioned and modern dancing at any of the Ruidoso dance-halls, and week end trips through the Mal Pais, the White Sands, the prehistoric Indian villages the famous mining "ghost towns", and the whole "Billy the Kid" country.

Two of the most colorful pageants of the Coronado Cuarto-Centennial will be given in Lincoln County during the summer school session. Ruidoso is the terminus of a covered wagon "trail".

We will welcome correspondence with you, regarding any courses you need. Any information you care to pass on to interested friends will, I am sure, add to their chances of summer enjoyment.

KNOW YOUR BANK

THIS BANK IS EAGER TO MAKE LOANS

THE money we have available to lend is our stock in trade and, like a progressive merchant, we are anxious to keep that stock in use. Sound loans are an important source of bank earnings, so we naturally welcome opportunities to make them.

UNLIKE the merchant, however, the funds which we lend belong to our depositors and must be returned to them upon demand. Consequently, before making a loan we must make sure that this money will be safe during the life of the loan and that it will be paid back promptly when the loan matures.

A LOAN helps the borrower, puts money to work, stimulates business, and keeps men employed—all resulting in earnings and savings which help the community and help the bank. Your loan application will find a welcome here.

Sunbonnet Sue No Longer Pencil-Shy; She Handles Farm Financial Problems

By GRACE McILRATH ELLIS
(Reprinted by Western Newspaper Union.)

United States census reports are expected to confirm agricultural authorities' statements that thousands of rural women have replaced their husbands as active farm business managers. In increasing numbers these women are handling economic and financial problems of the farm. The following article is illustrative of women's new place in the farm life of the nation.

WHEN I was growing up on the farm our most interesting neighbors were the Fosters. Pa Foster had six daughters, a fascinating black money pouch, which pulled up with thongs like a knitting bag, and the weight of the family financial enterprise on his own thin shoulders.

The Foster women picked peaches, made tubs of butter, even lent a hand on occasions with the field work. But when there was a decision to be made involving money, they ran to Pa. He either whipped out the old money pouch. Or didn't.

When Pa died, Mrs. Foster beat a dazed path from bank to courthouse to my father's door, completely enveloped in that fog of gloom properly associated with widows of her day. Until old friends sighed and courthouse clerks ducked behind bars at her coming.

Molly Has the Money Pouch.
Today a son, John, farms the old Foster place. If the money pouch still exists John has long since given it to his wife, Molly. Molly is the clerical half of the farming partnership. In a downstairs den she keeps books, checks bank statements—does secretarial work for the business.

Doris Monte, Michigan Four-H club girl, knows how to raise sheep—and she knows, too, how to market them. The study of markets and marketing conditions is one phase of new farm activities for rural women.

Pride in their work is written on the faces of these Four-H club winners in a food preparation contest. In addition to teaching home economics, Four-H clubs are teaching girls like this how to keep books, study markets and assume financial management of the farm. The girls are, left to right, Maxine Koons, Fairmont, Minn.; Orr-Lyda J. Brown, Eugene, Ore.; Catherine Bagnes, Moultrie, Fla., and Betty Freeman, Pikeville, Tenn.

Who knows what the month's cream checks total and when the next Land Bank payment comes due?—Molly! Who dials in radio market reports and relays significant ups and downs out to the feed lots?—Molly! Who mails insurance payments, writes monthly rural electric co-operative checks—does for the family enterprise, in fact, what a paid secretary would do for the boss of a comparable urban business—plus shouldering partnership share in farm decisions?—Sunbonnet, taffy-haired Molly.

Molly Part of Modern Movement.
And there's nothing startling, farm leaders say, about the Foster arrangement. It's duplicated in upwards of 100,000 homes the country over. Molly's no ambitious domestic with her eye on the family financial pants. She's part of a movement.

For a year now I have been delving into the movement's history, prying questions with leaders and poking through piles of reports. And I'm amazed at the extent to which the country woman of today—particularly the young country wife—is up to her neck in business.

Neither genius nor wishful thinking catapulted her into the new position. She's been trained for it. The economic avalanche of '29 uncovered her responsibility. Numerous agencies have stepped in to help her meet it.

The most astonishing piece of work has been done by the Home Management divisions of the various state extension departments. Some 150,000 rural women have flocked to the courses in business and economic education offered during the last

10 years by three-fourths of the states to rural homemakers' study groups. (Michigan had 4,240 women enrolled last year; Iowa expects to reach 15,000 in '39.)

Business Legalities Draw Interest.
Exact procedures vary considerably, but practically all states cover three phases: "Making the Family Money Plan" (including practice in accounting), "Economic Facts Which Affect Farm Women" and "Business and Legal Procedures a Farm Woman Should Know." Some states offer study, too, in taxation and government.

Work in accounting is based on the need for correlating records and decisions of both farm and home. Effectiveness is indicated by the fact that in '38 and '39, 121 heretofore pencil-shy housewives rigged up business corners and started assuming some secretarial duties for the farm-home enterprise.

But it's the dive into business legalities which really brings sparkle to wifely eyes. Women love it! Women everywhere—in Georgia, in Maine, in Kansas, and Louisiana. They love knowing how a contract is made—a check—wills, deeds, mortgages, abstracts. They like the practice given in reading and signing legal papers.

Credit Works Two Ways.
Of the 200,000 4-H girls who were wrinkling foreheads over personal expense accounts back in '30 and '32 an amazing number are cropping up among today's outstanding keepers of husbands' farm records and books.

In 14 states an estimated 50,000 women have since '30 taken advantage of work in the legal phases of credit and loan supplied through the Family Credit division of the Farm Security administration. Sound credit, the women are taught, is credit that is "good" for both borrower and lender. A justifiable mortgage is one based on no less than 12 months of actual farm records. And "the farm woman, unlike the city woman, is so important a factor in her husband's business success that an appraiser's first rule is 'get acquainted with the wife.'"

Outstanding example of the let's-tackle-this-together spirit which ripens in such communities is the Benton county, Iowa, "Recent-Wed" group.

To Jimmy Green, agricultural agent, in one of the Cedar Valley counties, had come news of a young farm friend "cleaned out." Jimmy knew secretly because of sole responsibility—an inadequate wife. Problems of young farm operators are similar. Would the young couples in his district enjoy getting together now and then to pool problems, shoot questions at bankers, landlords, management experts. He planned such a meeting, invited in all couples in the county under 35, expected 50, got 400.

"Hopeful Sign of Age."
Benton county "Recent-Wed" meetings are now the amazement of community elders, "the most exciting and hopeful gatherings I've ever attended," a visiting banker told me. It's not the subjects discussed—"What'll we spend our money for?" "How can we get adequate credit?" "How about landlord-tenant relationship?" nor the experts attracted, but the way the women take part in the thing, partnership style, without self-consciousness on either side—just as though their grandmothers had been doing it. It's a thrill—one of the hopeful signs of the age.

"I used to think family discussions about money were bad-stuff," John Foster told me recently. (He and Molly are Benton county products, leaders in the "Recent-Wed" group.) "But when you do it co-operatively and base it on facts—they're interesting as the dickens. Farming looks to me like the biggest co-operative on earth—family co-operative. Soon as the children can hold pens we're taking them into it. But it's the little woman," he grinned, "who has a natural born knack for handling the money end of it."

Independent Iceland Places Confidence in Premier's Rule

ICELAND'S recent decision to place complete governmental control in the hands of Premier Hermann Jonasson and his cabinet has served to focus world attention on that small nation which has had no foreign war in more than a thousand years.

The 120,000 people of Iceland have never wanted a monarchy, and were not satisfied with the dual role played by His Majesty Christian X, king of Denmark, who also served as king of Iceland. When Denmark was taken by Germany, Iceland's Althing (World's oldest parliament) voted not to depose their king, but that "having regard for the fact that the situation now created makes it impossible for His Majesty the King of Iceland to execute the royal power," it shall be vested "until further notice" in Icelandic Premier Hermann Jonasson and his cabinet.

Premier Jonasson is Iceland's strongest figure. In addition to being president of the council of Iceland, he is also minister of justice, and of agriculture. In 1923 Jonasson was chief of police of Reykjavik, nation's capital, where more than a quarter of the total population is concentrated.

In 1934 he was elected to the Althing, and that same year became premier.

Jonasson has been termed "Iceland's muscleman." As strong physically as he is politically, for many years he kept winning the Icelandic wrestling championship in Norse games handed down through the centuries from the Vikings.

Icelanders are proud of their nation's history. Since its settlement in the Ninth century, Iceland, for the most part, has had a representative form of government. The Althing was established in 930, more than 800 years before the infant United States declared its independence. This assembly, comprised largely of fisherfolk and farmers, has been in continuous existence ever since, with the exception of a "blackout" between 1800 and 1843.

Though ties of blood, culture and economic life have been linked closely to Europe in the past, Iceland has turned more and more toward the West. Shortly before the German invasion of Denmark, the island obtained a $1,000,000 credit loan from the United States for the purchase of wheat, stock feed, rye and gasoline.

Trade figures of the past few years give Great Britain first place in Iceland's import-export books. Denmark ranked second as a source of supply, and German business, expanding rapidly, captured third place. Last year the United States ranked fourth as an Iceland customer. Purchases of cod liver oil boosted United States purchases.

Iceland has no illiteracy, no jails, no army, no navy, no air force and no national debt. Iceland has a balanced budget, rich fishing and sheep-production industry, and six sheep to every Icelandic.

Table-Cloth Penmen Prove Business Is Picking Up

CHICAGO.—Take it from A. A. McVittie, National Restaurant association head, business is better. McVittie doesn't prove it in this instance, although he says he could, by citing surveys of sales gains in his own industry.

The answer, he says, is the increasing trend among restaurant patrons of the male species to write on table cloths.

Carrizozo and Capitan Churches

Bid You Welcome

Keep Holy The Lord's Day!

Christ's Church existed in preparation from the time that Jesus first began to teach till the first Pentecost after the ascension, when it became a fact—a reality. On the birthday of the church, the Lord added those to the Church who gladly received Peter's words—those who believed, repented, confessed their faith in Christ and were baptized. The first day three thousand souls were added from that day to this all those who should be saved. (See Acts 2:1-47). You could not join the Church then, nor join the Church of your choice, it was the Church of Christ or the world which-ever they preferred. The church had no prefixes or suffixes. It was the Church of Christ. (See Rom. 16:16).

Salvation was put in the Church, the act of saving people was the act of God, and by the Church. (See Acts 2:47, Zech. 13:1). The members were called saints, disciples and christians. No handles to those names. The Church was called The Church of God. (It's language was living and dead.) "The Church of the first born," "The House of God," "The [Continued on this page col. 4].

Temple of God," "The body of Christ." The church had no head on earth, no councils, no synods, no auxiliaries and no missionary societies. Christ was it's Lord, God, it's Father.

Christ died, gave himself for the Church (Eph. 5:25). He is the Savior of the body of the Church. (Eph. 5:29). He died for all, but He actually saves the body—the Church.

Christ inhabits the Church, so does God. He came into their hearts by faith.

Christ purposed that the Church should have assemblies on certain days. At first, they met from house to house, but always to worship God and in meeting they were continuing in the apostolic doctrine and fellowship. (Acts 2). Before Christ died He instituted his supper. After he arose the supper was placed in the assembly, by His apostles. (1 Cor. 11). When they broke bread and drank this cup they did it in remembrance of Him and in it, showed His death. It was spiritual food for them. In Acts 20:7 we read:

"That on the first day of the week the disciples came together to break bread.

Paul commanded the Hebrews not to neglect to assemble. Finally, we are all baptized into one body—the Church. (1 Cor. 12:13) and into Christ (Gal. 3:26, 27). Christians dwell in Christ—in His body—the Church and Christ dwells in them.

Can we therefore neglect to assemble with the brethren? Christ has promised to be in the midst of every assembly. When one becomes a member of His body he is by that act obligated to go to church. You cannot neglect to go to church without being conformed to this world.

We have an appointment with the Lord. Brother, Sister, are you keeping that appointment? You cannot be like the apostolic Christians and neglect the assembly, for they went to church.

The church is the Father's House on earth. As loyal children let us honor him there, in His House with our presence, each Lord's Day.

Friends lets get back to God and the Bible and worship Him in spirit and in truth.

Robert L. Allen,
Minister, Church of Christ, Carrizozo

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—It just happens that a specialist in bankruptcy law is the co-partner of General Trujillo of the Dominican Republic in installing the first of the European refugees in their island haven under the Trujillo plan. But, this specialist, John N. Rosenberg, New York lawyer, has, since the World war, been occupied with the large-scale human-race bankruptcy of war and famine in Europe, so he is entering no new field. He is president of the Dominican Resettlement association, which is co-operating with General Trujillo in what appears to be an absolutely unique experiment in giving 500 refugees a new start in the western world, with houses, roads, land, cattle and farm implements ready for them.

Mr. Rosenberg has helped liquidate and rebuild all sorts of financial and social wreckage, including Ivar Krueger's International Match company. He is the author of "Corporate Reorganization and the Federal Courts," but he is also the author of another book called "Punchinello."

Fantasy, or at any rate, a play of the imagination, has occupied quite a much of his time as law and bankruptcy. He has painted hundreds of pictures, many of which are hung in good galleries, including the Fogg museum of Harvard. He is an etcher, lithographer and playwright, and Broadway has produced his plays. For six years he was associated with Kenneth MacGowan and Stark Young in backing the Provincetown theater. His short stories have appeared in many magazines. All this with time out to be counsel for the Irving Trust company.

The foregoing might suggest the activities of a tramp-drummer. But he is, instead, leisurely and meditative, an easy-going pipe-smoker who always seems to have a lot of time on his hands. Another of his books is "Pastel-Expression." He is busy in communal, civic and philanthropic enterprises and in the immediate post-war years was head of the American Joint Distribution Commission for Europe. This took him to Russia, and he wrote a book about that, too—"On the Steppes." If there is to be a general European reconvertibility—financial and cultural—he might as well take over. He is a native of Allegheny, Pa., educated at Columbia university.

THIS decade, it appears, will feature flaming youth among college presidents. The recalcitrant and unorthodox, and comparatively young, Maynard Hutchins of Chicago and Stringfellow Barr of St. John's college are shelling the academic ramparts in their drive against what they consider outworn educational techniques. President James B. Conant of Harvard scores an assist in his observation that many college graduates can't read and write fluently, and Dr. Mary Ellen Chase, of Smith, finds undergraduates who don't know their ABCs. She says they find it difficult to use the dictionary because they don't know the alphabetical sequence of letters.

Messrs. Hutchins and Barr would scrap much of the present school curriculum and start rubbing in the great books of the ages, in which they find strong support by Mortimer J. Adler, with his challenging new book, "How to Read a Book."

In 1937, Mr. Barr burned his bridges behind him, when he and young Scott Buchanan, dean of St. John's, started their revolution. A native of Suffolk, Va., Mr. Barr attended the University of Virginia, was a Rhodes scholar and pursued post-graduate studies in Paris and at the University of Ghent, Belgium. He was in the ambulance service in the World war and taught at the Universities of Virginia and Chicago before becoming president of St. John's.

IN THE earlier days of the Nazi movement, young Josef Terboven of Essen was up against stiff competition in intemperate language, but he was gifted in that line, was advanced rapidly, and is now rewarded by the post of commissioner of German-held areas in Norway. For several years he headed the department of throwing a scare into small countries. He was governor of the Rhine Province.

SOMETHING NEW AND DIFFERENT
(See Recipes Below)

New Recipes for Your File

"Something old and something new" is just as important in menus as it is in a bride's costume.

It's a good idea, when you plan to experiment with something entirely new, to include in that meal one dish you know the family is really keen about. For instance, if the dessert is something very new and different, be sure that the main dish of your meal is one that's familiar and well-liked.

And, it's an excellent idea, when most of a meal is composed of family favorites, to include one new dish for a touch of variety. It may be a cut of meat that you haven't used before, prepared in an unusual manner; or perhaps it will be a vegetable that's new and strange to you; or it might be just an out-of-the-ordinary conserve or relish to supplement last summer's supply, which, by this time is probably running very low.

You'll find, here, an assortment of recipes for foods that are unusual and delicious. There's a new way of preparing shoulder of beef—in one of those easy casserole dishes you like to serve, where you don't want to spend too much time in the kitchen; serve the Baked-Shoulder Steak with baked or scalloped potatoes, buttered green beans and rhubarb pie, and watch your family beam!

"Pork chop treat" served with a crisp, chilled salad of lettuce, apples, and dates, needs only a beverage, bread and a favorite dessert to make a completely satisfying meal; and if you want to please the man of the family in any kind of weather, serve "pork chops delicious" with cheese biscuits, a simple green salad, lemon meringue pie and coffee.

Pork Chops Delicious.
(Serves 4)
5 pork chops (rib or loin)
2 medium size onions
1/2 cup rice (uncooked)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup hot water
1 cup tomato puree
1 green pepper (minced)
1 clove garlic (grated)

Brown chops and on each chop place one slice of onion, then a tablespoon of rice (uncooked). Season with salt and pepper. Add water, cover and steam for 1/2 hour. Then top with tomato puree, mixed with the green pepper and garlic. Return to steamer and cook until rice is tender (about 30 minutes longer).

Baked Shoulder Steak With Apricots and Mushrooms.
(Serves 6)

1 1/2 inch slice shoulder of beef (about 4 pounds)
4 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 cup tomato pulp
1 small 4-oz. can button mushrooms, etc.
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, cut in quarters
1 tablespoon butter
12 halves canned apricots, (about half of a No. 2 1/2 can)

Wipe meat with damp cloth and sprinkle with mixture of flour, salt and curry powder. Brown one side in a well-greased frying pan and place brown side up in a 2-quart glass casserole. Sift remaining flour mixture over the top of the meat. Spread the top of the meat with tomato pulp. Cover the dish. Bake in a moderate oven, allowing about 30 minutes to each pound. Slightly brown mushrooms in butter over low heat. Place on top of roast when it is removed from the oven. Garnish with canned apricots, and serve from the baking dish, which keeps the meat hot throughout the meal.

Cherry Roll.
Biscuit dough (2 cups flour recipe)
1 No. 2 can cherries
1/4 cup light brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon lemon rind (grated)

Roll baking powder biscuit dough 1/2 inch thick. Drain cherries. Cover dough with cherries and sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon. Roll like a jelly roll and place in buttered loaf baking pan. Bake approximately 30 minutes in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees). Baste with cherry juice while baking. Serve with whipped cream or with hard sauce.

Pork Chop Treat.
Place seasoned pork chops, 1 inch thick, at one end of a large roasting pan. In the center, place a mound of good bread dressing seasoned with sage or poultry seasoning. At the other end put thinly sliced potatoes and thinly sliced onions, seasoned with salt and pepper. Dot with butter. Bake for 15 minutes in a hot oven (450 degrees) and then reduce heat to a moderate oven (350 degrees) and bake about 45 minutes longer.

Rhubarb Conserve.
(Makes 12 glasses)
1 1/2 quarts rhubarb (diced)
8 cups sugar
1/2 cup seeded raisins
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup orange rind (ground)
1 cup pecans (cut fine)

Place rhubarb, sugar, raisins, water and orange juice in kettle. Remove white membrane from the orange peel, and put peel through the food chopper, using the fine blade. Add to conserve, and bring mixture to a boil. Boil gently for 20 minutes. Add nut meats and cook 5 minutes longer. Pour into sterilized glasses and seal.

Lemon Meringue Pie.

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup boiling water
3 egg yolks
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon lemon rind (grated)

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add cold water; stir until smooth. Add boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is clear and thick. Cook 2 minutes longer. Beat egg yolks; stir cooked mixture into them. Add remaining ingredients, return to flame and cook 1 minute. Pour immediately into baked-pie shell. Top with meringue.

Meringue.
3 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt

Beat egg whites partially; then add sugar slowly, beating until mixture is stiff. Bake in slow oven, (300 degrees) for 15 minutes.

By L. L. STEVENSON

Reward: The woman was old. In her arms were two large bundles. She looked worried as she stood waiting for a Broadway bus. Another woman, also gray-haired, approached and she smiled. She could get on the bus all right, she explained to the newcomer, if someone would help her merely by dropping her fare into the box. The other woman graciously replied that she would be glad to oblige. The woman with the bundles handed her five pennies. Just then the bus came along and they both got aboard, the woman with the bundles hurrying past the fare box to the nearest seat. The other woman dropped in her nickel and the five pennies. And with that, there was such an explosion on the part of the bus driver that her face turned scarlet. It seems that it is against rules and regulations to drop pennies into a fare box, only nickels or dimes being acceptable.

Street Scene: The shopping hours on Fifth avenue . . . Crowds pouring in and out of the huge stores . . . Women, their arms laden with bundles, stopping to do window shopping . . . Tenement urchins darning here and there, their grimaces in contrast with the neatness of the shoppers . . . A traffic cop inquiring, "Wanna get killed?" as a jaywalker strolls into the street . . . A good-looking boy walking along and paying no attention to passers-by . . . A lovely lady crosses his path just in time to catch her heel in the cuff of his trousers . . . Both take a tumble . . . The boy actually blushes . . . But the girl carries off the incident in the grand manner.

Display: The young woman who looks after the branch telegraph office in a midtown hotel is accustomed to all sorts of questions and requests but when a man, evidently a guest in the hotel, came up and asked for glue she was stopped, since such wasn't included in the supplies. The man insisted that he had to have the glue and incidentally mentioned that he was a big shot from Peoria and had just returned from a trip around the world. Her interest aroused, the young woman finally asked him why the need of glue was so urgent.

"Well, you see," explained the Peorianite, "one of the labels on my grip has come loose and I want to paste it back on."

Floral: The other evening during the intermission of "Reunion in New York," Edith Meiser witnessed a scene between an ornamental member of the dear sex and a policeman's horse. It seems that the gal was enjoying a cigarette with her escort and the horse nosed over to sniff her corsage. Seeing that the horse was interested, she unpinned her lovely bunch of gardenias she was wearing and offered them to the animal, which proceeded to eat them seemingly with enjoyment. Miss Meiser wondered about the escort's feelings in regard to the matter but from where she stood they didn't seem to be very important.

Useful: On my desk is Larry Nixon's "American Vacations," published by Little, Brown & Co., which is a fitting companion for his "Vagabond Voyages." Packed in its pages is valuable information for anyone planning to go away for a few days or a few months, hiking, camping, motoring, seafaring, or by train. Not only does Larry list the attractions each state has to offer, but also gives costs. There is especial appeal for those of moderate means since many instances are cited of how a vacation dollar may be stretched.

End Piece: Since New York fishermen are again throwing flies at trout, Milton Boyle's story about two brothers who went fishing together seems to fit in. One brother had all the luck, hauling in fish after fish while the other got nary a nibble. The same thing happened the next day. The third day the luckless brother went out alone. For hours he sat in the boat and nothing happened. As he started to row home angrily, a big fish poked its head out of the water. "Hey, buddy," inquired the fish, "where's your brother?" # Are Women Better Shoppers than Men?

GRANTING a woman's reputation for wise buying, let's trace the methods by which she has earned it. Where does she find out about the advantages and details of electrical refrigeration? What tells her how to keep the whole household clean—rugs, floors, bathroom tiles—and have energy left over for golf and parties? How does she learn about new and delicious eatables and desserts that surprise and delight her family? Where does she discover those subtleties of dress and make-up that a man appreciates but never understands?

Why, she reads the advertisements. She is a consistent, thoughtful reader of advertisements, because she has found that she can believe them—and profit thereby. Overlooking the advertisements would be depriving herself of data continuously useful in her job of Purchasing Agent to the Family.

For that matter, watch a wise man buy a car or a suit or an insurance policy. Not a bad shopper himself! He reads advertisements, too!

Flower and Fruit Hats Accent Fashion's 'Be Pretty' Trend

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

MILLINERS are turning out perfectly charming hats this season. The myriads of little flower hats that grace every collection are the very essence of loveliness. Add the wispy colorful veils so all-prevailing and enchantment is the word.

Challenging the style supremacy of the cunning flower confections are many superbly beautiful fruit garnished hats, with the result that a keen rivalry is going on between the two. About the only sure way to settle the matter is to indulge in both after perusing yourself that two new hats are better than one in any fashionable wardrobe.

There is no doubt about fruit hats being tremendously smart this season. The fact that they look decidedly new argues in their favor. See the two fruit-laden models pictured above in the accompanying illustration. The model to the left is radiantly colorful because of the profusion of luminously red currants, together with green berries, that encircle its crown.

The other fruit hat shown plays up the fashionable black-and-white theme. In this instance frost-white berries and foliage strikingly contrast the jet blackness of the straw hat they trim. A snow-flecked veil adds the finishing touch.

Because of their universal becomingness little flower piteaux that dip right over the forehead after the manner of the one pictured to the left below, are numbering among the season's favorites. Women are ordering this model in flowers color-matched to dress or coat or to complement accessories worn with the costume. Note the head-fitting band and streamer of lacy-mesh jersey at the back.

The lady of fashion to the right is following a leading trend of thought that features dainty finger tips as part of the color scheme together with hat and accessories. She carries out the idea in that the hat she wears of gleaming braid and the flowers that trim it, blend to the new red-sequin shine of her nail polish, sparkling fingertips being a clever vogue introduced by Peggy Page this season. At her wrist she wears a glittering bauble that repeats the chic red-sequin of her fingertips.

The winsome little bonnet type centered in the group places the accent on youth. A single lovely creamy rose, together with golden mimosa sprays peeks atop the cap-like crown with bewitching grace. The latticed transparency that frames her pretty face in a flaring fringe adds infinite charm. The very essence of coquetry is expressed in the baby cap ribbons that tie so quaintly under the chin. As to the flower trim on this curling bonnet, it carries a most important message in that fashion this season places the accent on roses used either singly or en masse.

Voilà! Hats are simple swathed in yards and yards of airy whimsy veils that add a very ecstasy of color to the picture. In fact the veil this season really keynotes the color scheme of one's accessories. The fashion-wise are wearing jewelry and gloves and carrying bags matched to the color of their veils. ## There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with your first motions, get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't endure it first and "cure" it afterward. Find out what's giving you the trouble.

Chances are it's simple if you eat the super-refined foods most people do: meat, white bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, you should eat a natural "bulk" producing food—such as one as the crunchy, coated, ready-to-eat cereal, Kellogg's All-Bran. Eat it often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

HOW to SEW By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

IN THIS column we have shown how to make useful, attractive things out of everything most from spoils to tin cans, but several readers have reminded me lately that I have neglected orange crates. Here is a pair of tables to match a smart new bedspread.

The spread is made of green and white checked gingham trimmed in bands, monogram and frills of white muslin. The bed is an old iron one that has been cut down and then padded and covered with the gingham (detailed directions are in Book 3). The orange crates for the tables are lined with green oil cloth and each wears a green and white checked skirt; and a top cover frilled in white. The lamps are white and the shades are old ones covered with a plain ruffle of white held in around the top with a band and a bow of green cut from the check material.

Modest Applicant Was Not a Bit Superstitious

The smiling, confident young man stepped up to the bank manager's desk.

"Good day, sir," he said. "Have you any need for a highly intelligent and trained man just out of college?"

"Well," said the manager, "what kind of a position are you seeking?"

"I want something in the executive line," replied the young man. "Say a vice presidency."

"I'm really sorry," said the manager sarcastically, "but we have twelve vice presidents."

"Oh, that's all right," came the eager response. "I'm not afraid of thirteen."

Week Days' Names

Names of the days of the week are derived from Saxon idolatry. Adoring seven of their various deities more particularly than all the rest, the Saxons dedicated the days of the week to them, namely: The Sun, the Moon, Tuwice (bro of Germans' as well as Saxons), Woden (father of gods and god of war), Thor (eldest son of Woden), Friga (wife of Woden and mother of gods), and Saeter (the Roman Saturnus.—Pallfinder.

Sheer and Lovely

Fashion is going in for sheer and lacy lingerie blouses with an enthusiasm that knows no bounds. Here are two lovely types. The sheer white blouse pictured at the top is of the sweet simplicity type that captures the fancy at a glance. Bands of embroidered organdy and lace alternate in the other blouse, with a tapering waistline that zippers down the front under a lacy frill. Here is a blouse that will do double duty in that it can be worn neatly under a suit and it also looks well with a long skirt for evening because of its waistcoat style.

New Turbans Have Sophisticated Air

Draped and molded with a knowing hand, the new turbans have an air of sophistication that distinguishes them from the casual wrap-your-own kind which have flourished during the past few seasons. Printed silk scarfs are wound, twisted, pleated, stiffened and stitched with the greatest ingenuity. One charming example is the bonnet-crowned turban designed by Florence Reichman. It has a stiffened heart-shaped crown that is held in position with a twist of silk banding extending over the head from front to back and around the crown.

Here's an Umbrella That Stands Alone

At last our troubles are over. That is so far as positioning your umbrella so it won't topple to the floor. The aggravating problem is solved. Now showing in leading stores is man's latest invention—the umbrella that stands alone. It seems there is a little cuplike contrivance devised that looks like an ornament at the umbrella tip that sets on the floor upholding the umbrella so it does not have to be propped up against some object—the wall, a chair or counter. Bravo! Why didn't someone think of this long ago?

LARGEST SALAD BOWL IN WORLD SERVED BY S. P.

Mention of the "Salad Bowl" may sound out of season, but be advised that this one has nothing to do with football. Instead the reference is to Southern Pacific's famous dining car specialty which has done so much to promote the nationwide use of lettuce and other choice western vegetables.

First introduced by Southern Pacific in 1926, the Salad Bowl has been called upon to satisfy an ever-increasing demand, its aggregate bulk having amounted to 642 carloads at the end of 1933—enough to make up a train approximately five and one-half miles long, according to Bernard S. Burns, local agent for the railroad. And that, he says, is some salad!

To fill a bowl that size the company used 2300 tons of lettuce, 1861 tons of radishes, 1023 tons of tomatoes, 792 tons of cucumbers and 66 tons of green peppers, not to mention the oil and condiments required for the dressing. By the close of 1940, after Mr. and Mrs. America have made this our greatest travel year, it will be another and bigger story, Burns declares.

Messrs Don Rice and Frank Purcella were business visitors from Tinnie last Saturday.

Mrs. Margaret Hendricks and son Bryan, deputy County Clerk, left last Friday night for Dallas, Texas to visit relatives. They were accompanied by Mrs. Hendricks' niece Mrs. Copeland, of Capitan.
