IN THE PROBATE COURT OF LINCOLN COUNTY, STATE OF NEW MEXICO

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF CHARLES W. KNIGHT, DECEASED.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON FINAL ACCOUNT AND REPORT OF ADMINISTRATOR.

THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO, To
Eather K. Wilson, James M. Knight, Jamie Drane, Mazie Buck, Tennis Sue Knight, Sam Knight, Beniah Wallace, Novella Hefner and to all unknown heirs of said decedent and to all unknown persons claiming any lien upon or right, title or interest in or to the estate of said decedent,

GREETING:
You and each of you are hereby notified that John R. Downing, Administrator of the estate of Charles W. Knight, deceased, has filed in said court and cause his final account and report and application for discharge, and the court has appointed the 6th day of November A. D. 1940, at the hour of 1:00 o'clock P. M., at the court-room of said court in Carrizozo, Lincoln County, New Mexico, as the time and place for hearing said final account, report and application for discharge.

You are further notified that at said time and place the court will also determine the heirship of said decedent, the ownership of his estate, the interest of each respective claimant thereto or therein, the person or persons entitled to the distribution thereof, settle and close said estate and discharge said administrator. That Emmett Patton Esq., whose address is Box 763, Roswell, New Mexico, is attorney for the administrator.

WITNESS the Honorable John Mackey, Judge of said Court, and the seal thereof, this 16th day of September A. D. 1940.

(SEAL) EDWARD PENFIELD Clerk.

Sept. 20-Oct. 11.

APPRECIATION
To the People of Lincoln County:
Thanks to you for your kind support in Saturday's election.
Yours truly,
L. F. HALL

PECKHAM HILL

Miss Vernon Ruth Peckham and Mr. Wayland Hill were united in marriage Saturday evening, at the Baptist Church with Rev. L. D. Cochran officiating. Witnesses were the bride's mother, Mrs. Peckham, and her sister, Mrs. Fay Harkey.

The bride is the younger daughter of Mrs. M. G. Peckham and was born reared and educated in Carrizozo. She is very attractive and popular.

The groom has a position with the Division of Grazing, is an exemplary young man and is well liked by everybody. They will reside in Carrizozo for the present.

Friends of Mrs. Hill gave her a miscellaneous bridal shower at the home of M. S. Zane Harkey Wednesday afternoon. She received quite an array of gifts, both useful and beautiful, as well as good wishes for a happy and prosperous future.

Dainty refreshments were served.

SANTA RITA NEWS

The Ladies of St. Rita Parish are planning a Bazaar to be held on the St. Rita school grounds, Sept. 29, from 4:00 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. A good, old Spanish Supper, various concessions, an entertainment by the school children, a beautiful Spanish dance, plus special music will be the principal features of the event. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the school. All are assured of a welcome and a most enjoyable evening.

The Seventh and Eighth graders of St. Rita's School elected the following class officers for the coming year: Thomas Morales, president; Theresa Vidaurri, vice president; Yeabel Ventura, secretary; Lucilla Gutierrez, treasurer.

The following teachers form the St. Rita teaching staff: Sister Mary Pauline, beginners and first grade; Sister Agnes Marie, grades 2 and 3; Sister Mary Regis, grades 4, 5, and 6; Sister Mary Caroline, grades 7 and 8.

LIVESTOCK SITUATION

Sept. 18.—Mr. J. A. McNaughton, Vice President and General Manager of the Los Angeles Union Stock yards says: Surplus of lard in this country is one of the gravest problems in the livestock industry, and in the opinion of many, is responsible for a hog market that is lower than it would be if lard were being moved at the same rate as pork. From R. L. Pemberton, field representative of the Iowa Swine Producers Association, and widely known judge of swine at leading shows throughout the United States, we learn that hog growers in the Corn Belt are taking active steps to reduce the lard surplus.

They are attacking the problem of reducing lard production in two ways, encouraging farmers to market their hogs at 200 rather than 200-pound weights, and favoring a type of hog that has more lean meat and less lard. Since the 200-pound hog has about twice as much lard as the 200-pound hog, it is obvious that marketing hogs at smaller weights will reduce the amount of lard in proportion to the amount of pork. Marketing hogs at around 200 pounds is to the advantage of the grower in another respect, since the cost of 100 lbs gain increases with the size and age of the animal. In other words, it costs less to produce a pound of pork up to 200 pounds than from 200 to 300 pounds. Here on the Pacific Coast, our hog raisers have been educated by packer requirements and show ring judging to market hogs at around 200 pounds, so that we don't have the heavy hogs to contend with that they have in the middle west.

The other way to reduce the amount of lard being produced is to swing to a meat type hog. In carcass cutout shows in the middle west, they have found that this type of hog will have 5 pounds more ham and 3 pounds more loin than other hogs of the same weight. Since the ham and loin is worth several times as much per pound as lard, increasing the proportion of ham and loin makes the hog worth more, even though they weigh no more. For this reason, stock show judges are favoring a hog that carries a full ham, down to within 2 1/2 inches of the hook, a ham that will have even cuts all the way through. Full hams have been found an indication of well-filled loins and the hog with the good ham also has a good loin.

Another attack on the lard surplus has been launched with a government grading system for lard, which will take effect November 1, and which will be coupled with a producer-packer advertising campaign to boost lard as a shortening. The government grading will apply to all plants under federal inspection in the entire nation. Lard will be required to measure up to certain standards that will assure its quality, and anything that cannot meet these requirements will be marketed under the name of rendered pork fat. Thus the housewife, in buying lard for shortening, will be assured of a product of uniformly high quality. Increased confidence in lard, strengthened by an adequate advertising campaign, should do much to increase consumption of lard.

Mrs. Rex Lewis and daughter Mary, Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis and Mrs. Maggie Ward were in Carrizozo last Saturday evening.

The Primary Election Is Over . . .

The expression of confidence which the men and women of the Democratic Party gave me, and my administration, in the Primary Election is deeply appreciated.

I promise sincerely that no act of mine will ever give my party cause to regret their trust and confidence in me.

Let me urge that all voters now join together in a common effort to preserve the economic and social gains, and improvement in governmental services, that have been made in recent years.

JOHN E. MILES
Governor

LEGION AND AUXILIARY ACTIVITIES

The American Legion and Auxiliary held their monthly meeting Friday night, Sept. 13. Twenty-four members were present, namely: Albert and Beula Scharf, Dan and May Conley, Joe and Rachel West, Will and Laura Norman, Ben and Mayme Greese, Tom and Dolly Shields, Law and Mary Pink, Robert and Birdie Walker, Grace Hobbs, Edna Carl, Marvin Burton, Milt Lesnett, Barney Ward, Marshall St. John and Mr. Holmes.

Business was transacted and plans were made for a variety of social functions during the winter. Plans were discussed for a covered dish luncheon for the next meeting night, Thursday, Oct. 10.

The 1941 membership cards are due and can be purchased from May Conley. Ten dozen "God Bless America" plaques were ordered and most of them sold. The proceeds will be used for the child welfare work.

Chevrolet Sales

Chevrolet, which led the industry in sales again in 1940, makes its bid for continued pre-eminence in 1941, with two series of new cars, in which modern streamline styling, and larger, roomier bodies, combine with numerous mechanical improvements to produce the finest Chevrolet ever built.

Numerous mechanical changes have been made in the new Chevrolet, many of them in the interests of performance, riding comfort, or long life, and others to adapt the chassis of the 1940 style treatment. Engine output has been stepped up to a full 90 horsepower, largely through raising the compression ratio and by changes in combustion chamber shape. Even with the car larger, with a longer wheelbase, than in 1940, performance characteristics remain exceptionally high.

Mr. Clint Branum of Las Vegas spent Saturday in Carrizozo. He came home to vote.

Mrs. Roy Richard, popular chief operator at the local telephone office has returned from her vacation, which was spent with relatives in Tucumcari and Roswells.

Mrs. Frank English has returned from Winslow, Arizona where she had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. T. J. Stokes and children.

Lesnett Anderson came home last Saturday to vote in the primary election.

NEWS NOTES OF CARRIZOZO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The Girls Pop Squad are practicing several marching formations which will be staged between the halves of Football Games in next few weeks. Joe Phillips of C. H. S., a popular center, went to Hondo Friday and transported the suits of football team recently purchased by Coach Woods. It is a splendid sight to see 23 boys out for football all dressed in uniform, suitable for practice and playing.

The Seniors are finalizing the Freshman this week. The formalities will be over at 4 p. m. Friday. We have heard of a promise from the faculty that if upper-classmen do not get a good example for freshmen and all stay in the straight and narrow path that come upper-classmen might be initiated next week by the faculty. (This is just hear-say we don't know whether it is true or not.)

The Home Economics Girls attended the Cooking School at the English Hardware Company last Thursday and Friday. They appreciate the courtesy of the kind invitation of Mr. Frank English, and each girl feels that her future cooking will be enhanced.

Today at 1:30 the local Football team "Grizzlies" will meet the Corona team on the local court. Hereafter games will be called at 2:30. Miss Earlene Berry is the efficient office assistant in Supt. Office during the third hour each day.

Miss Wanda East of Portales, N. M. joined our Sophomore Class Monday.

We are very sorry to see Paul Woodward depart for Arizona, for now the Senior Class is reduced to 25 in number.

The primary election went off very nicely and if the Democrats will present a united front, working loyally for the party nominee, there isn't anything to prevent a clean sweep in the November election.

Mrs. Ola C. Jones led the Democratic ticket in the county with 1241 votes; Larry Dow, 2nd with 1300; Tommy Cook got 1251 votes and Marshall St. John, 1225.

Guy Mix was severely injured at the Block Ranch this week when a horse fell on him.

THANKS, EVERYBODY!

In behalf of Governor John E. Miles, I want to thank the Democratic voters of Lincoln County for their wonderful cooperation extended toward his Nomination and Re-election, in the recent Primary Election.

The expression of confidence, reflected by the large majority of votes cast in his favor, must be gratifying to one who I believe has done his best, and an incentive to the accomplishment of still greater things, beneficial to the welfare of our citizens.

Careers in Engineering

By Rufus T. Strohm
Dean, International Correspondence Schools

ANY young man who is planning a career in engineering must give consideration to the pay he may earn. A recent study showed that the earning curve of engineers as a class continues upward to well past the age of 50, in sharp contrast to that of the artisan or technician whose earnings usually taper off after 40. Incidentally, this upward trend also is common to most other professions, such as law and medicine.

An effort has been made by the United States Civil Service Commission to divide the various grades of engineering ability into eight brackets, with annual compensations ranging from $2,000 for the junior professional grade with duties under immediate supervision, to $9,000 or over for special administrative work.

Another study of salaries for engineering graduates conducted by the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education showed a first-year salary of $1,475. After five years the salary was $2,860, and then upward to about $7,500 thirty years after graduation. The highest ten per cent of this group reached salaries averaging $30,000.

Never before have the opportunities in engineering been so great. Under such circumstances there is no question but that the field is an appealing and a promising one for the young man who has ability to work with people, ability to analyze programs, good judgment, good imagination and mechanical intuition.

U. S. Smoke-Jumpers Wage Blitzkrieg on Forest Fires

Prehistoric man could produce fire but he could not always put it out. Modern man finds himself in much the same predicament when it comes to putting out large-scale fires, such as forest fires are likely to become, but he is making great strides towards gaining fire control. By using parachutes to combat forest fires started either by man's carelessness or by nature's blitzkriegs, the U. S. Forest Service demonstrates that parachute troops may be used to fight destruction as well as to cause it. The smoke jumpers have performed excellent work in combating dry lightning blazes in our national forests this summer. We take you now to the scene of action.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—

Whether Benedict Crowell is a good prophet or not may yet be revealed. Mr. Crowell, assistant secretary of war in the World War, has been named special consultant on defense, by Secretary Stimson. Addressing the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia, July 11, 1931, Mr. Crowell said:

"Should a great war ever again engulf our country, American manufacturers, including the new industrialism of the South, as well as the older industrialisms of the North and East, without waste of time, material or priceless human lives, will perform their essential function of munitions supply... our national security is on a sound foundation."

Mr. Crowell, who was a consulting engineer before he became a Cleveland banker and industrialist, is a brigadier general in the ordnance reserve. His specialty, as assistant secretary of war, was in organizing our munitions industries for the war effort.

He was widely praised for his efficiency in this and gained fame as the most ruthless cutter of red-tape in the army high command. This may have something to do with his selection as defense consultant at this moment. Yale university, his alma mater, recognized the above service by giving him an honorary master of arts degree in 1918.

A native of Cleveland, 71 years old, Mr. Crowell began his business career as a chemist with the Gils Steel company. He rose in executive positions and at the same time gained technical qualifications which made him a metallurgist and consulting engineer.

He is the author of several books, including a six-volume series called "America Went to War," of which Robert Ferret Wilcox was co-author. One of these volumes is entitled "The Armies of Industry," singularly pertinent to problems and back-ground of our present national endeavor.

Reporters, interviewing Mr. Crowell in the old days, frequently used to note his resemblance to ruby Bob Fitzsimmons, and deduce, from this his capacity for hitting and staying-power.

IN HIS novel, "Le Couple," published in 1923, Victor Marguerite, the French writer, foretold the disaster which was to overtake France. He described the debacle quite accurately, but put the date at 1943 instead of 1949. Today, the author accepts the conquest, which he tragically described and makes common cause with the conquerors. He denounces General De Gaulle and his followers as the hirelings of England.

In present and future clinical research into the fall of France and its causes, M. Marguerite's lament and prophecy, as of 1923, will be interesting. After describing the alliance of French politicians with "Prussian and Bavarian junkers," and the subsequent collapse and conquest, he says:

"And then we shall be repaying what we have sown. It will be the result of our policy of attempting the semblance of grandeur—stupid because it is not warranted by our power, nor by our national wealth, nor by our trickling birth-rate, nor by our exhausted finances."

Years of self-indulgence, mad pleasure-seeking, the softening of moral fiber and the ebbing of national vitality, he said, would precede the final destruction of the French nation. The League of Nations, he predicted, would be a ghastly failure.

M. Marguerite is the son of a famous French general of the Franco-Prussian war. In his study were medals and memorials of his father's war service. He is a stout, well-built man, tall and straight with abundant pompadour hair and a Van Dyke beard.

He was a member of the Legion of Honor and honorary president of the French Society of Men of Letters. Poincare, he said, had urged his Legion of Honor decoration. This and all his other honors were stripped from him when he published an offending book, "La Garconne."

He had been for 10 years an officer in the French army. In his books, which he continued to write during his army service, he championed virile French nationalism. Now, at 73, he watched France "reap what she has sown."

Wardrobe of College Girl Has Attractive, Pace-Setting Styles

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

OF ALL the highspots in a college girl's life, what adventure is charged with thrills and moments of excitement as the mad, merry quest for back-to-school "clothes" that recure each fall of the year!

The college girl's what-to-wear problem certainly received the perfect answer recently in a preview of fashions presented in a series of style clinics held in the great, known far-and-wide Merchandise Mart of Chicago where gather semi-annual hundreds of merchants who are over on the alert to create fashion trends in advance. The two coats illustrated herewith were particularly stressed as types style-ambitious co-eds are sure to favor.

You can tell at a glance the message of the model to the right. Yes, it's most assuredly spotted fur leopard and ocelot and fur of kindred type will fairly stampede the spectator sport grandstand when the football season is on. It is a scintillating fur and it's going to be the "rage" this season. In the picture it trims a zipper coat in olive green. The bag problem is solved with a muff bag of the ocelot worked with the self-wool that fashions the coat.

Fashion scouts looking for the ideal black coat this season will hail the model to the left as a real "find." It has a zipper fastening. You'll love the big pockets bound with Persian lamb (very smart again this season) and the hood is detachable, may be worn as a collar. Black is tremendously smart this season; keep this in mind when you go to look up new coats.

With almost uncanny wizardry designers are designing such ingenious contrivances as linings that slip in and out of coats in the twinkling of an eye, jackets, coats, and even dresses are made reversible and with a mere sleight of hand gesture of the wearer your garment is a monotone or a vivid plaid at your will. Hoods are convertible into collars, detachable pinafore skirts give you two dresses in one, and for more change this same double-duty skirt serves as a cape. A handbag is a handbag one moment and the next it develops into a muff; hats have removable brims, and so on this necromancy in wearing apparel continues. It behooves every college girl to peek out fashion's "latest improvements" for it means economy in dress as well as being first in your set to proudly flaunt the "new."

Just a word about the little pen-and-ink sketches in the background of our illustration. They are items gleaned from the aforesaid style preview that will "put you wise" as to a few of the fashion highlights that will enliven your college career.

Mentioning them briefly, there's the American jeweled dog pin at the top to the left that tells of the widespread vogue for patriotic jewelry. Wear it on your lapel. And the cunning fringed chawl of green jersey with hat to match. See it centered to the left? It's adorable. Below note the many-strand necklace and bracelet of large pearls. It's the latest. The sketch at the center top tells you that huge fur pockets on coats are tres chic. A triangle or square babushka head kerchief of multi-colored gleaming ryan satin worn peasant style you must have. You will not be able to resist a brush wool sweater with lacy crocheted hood as shown below to right. The snow-white house robe of fleecy texture as sketched center below is destined to become a college girl classic. This robe is "big news."

Novelty Purse

New is the purse mounted on a wide shoulder band as pictured. In this instance the purse is really part of a jewelry ensemble. Bright gold and topaz are used for bracelet, earrings, purse clip and ring. Wings is the motif for the purse clip and small earrings. Both are jeweled with topaz which also is used for the finger ring. The jewelry ensemble is worn with a three-piece black wool crepe suit highlighted with earth green suede accessories. Very interesting is the hat which has a crocheted wool crown with black velvet trim and upright quill in black and white. Designers are enthusiastic over the use of hand crocheted. Very new is the idea of a cloth jacket with crocheted sleeves of color-matched yarn, pockets of the crocheted added. A new feature also is insets of crochet, such as yarn-crocheted triangles worked into a cloth dress.

Two-Piece Dress Looks Like a Suit

One of the most successful fashions for early fall is the two-piece dress that looks like a suit. You will see the smartest models with the new two-piece look developed in wool, in satin and in velveteen this fall. This type dress makes you look thin, for there is absolutely no bulkiness round the waistline. Thus the long-term line is accentuated. In some instances skirts are seamed on to the new longer-length jackets, which actually gives impression of a two-piece. Often large flap pockets are added, the newest idea being for pockets made of flat fur.

Patriotism Theme Becoming Popular

Wear a bejeweled flag pin. Everybody's doing it. Perhaps you like the American eagle better and it is spreading its jeweled wings on many a suit lapel. The vogue for patriotic themes extends to every phase of fashion. The new star pattern prints are very attractive. Red, white and blue checked taffeta is being made up into children's dresses. Milliners are making hat and bag sets of red, white and blue jersey.

Pinafore Prettiness

Pinafore styles meant for play and sports occasions have lost none of their delectable decorative features. Many of them have lace edges on their pockets, collars and cuffs. Ruffles at hems and shoulder straps, shirring on pockets, and quaint matching bonnets that tie with a bow under the chin, are some of the favorite details.

SUNDAY NIGHT SUPPERS
(Recipes Below)

Have you ever juggled a cup of coffee in one hand, a salad plate in the other, and at the same time attempted to eat the appetizing food the hostess has served you? It is a feat that even the most experienced cannot often manage.

To save a guest the embarrassment of having his suit ruined by a cup of coffee tipping over, or salad dressing trickling over the side of the plate which is being precariously balanced on the knees, serve your supper on individual trays.

Simplicity is the keynote of the Sunday night supper. That is why the "meal-on-the-tray" has become so popular.

Plan your Sunday supper around one central dish. It may be a salad, a creamed dish served on toast, or even a casserole dish.

Here is a favorite supper menu for warm fall evenings which easily adapts itself to buffet style of serving, or a tray supper.

- Cranberry Molded Salad
- Cottage Cheese with Chives
- Olives
- Relishes
- Hot Rolls
- Potato Chips
- Butter
- Coffee

As you glance through the menu you can see that nothing in the meal, with the exception of the hot rolls, requires last minute preparation in the kitchen.

The buffet should be an inviting one if it is possible to make it. The cranberry molded salad with a mound of cottage cheese and chives in the center of the ring mold makes an especially attractive center piece for serving table. The rolls may be placed in a cunning bread basket, covered with a napkin to keep them hot. The serving table must also have the necessary silverware, dishes, napkins and trays on it. When the meal is ready, each guest helps himself, and delights in the informality of the occasion.

Instead of using the buffet style of serving, you may want to prepare the trays in the kitchen. Then with the aid of the members of the family, the trays are served to the guests.

The following menu is an excellent one to serve when fall evenings are a little nippy, and a warm dish is appealing.

- Welsh Rabbit on Toast
- Cole Slaw
- Baked Apple
- Coffee
- Tea

Molded Cranberry Salad.
(Serves 8)
1 package lemon flavored gelatin dessert
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1 cup cranberry sauce
1/2 cup pineapple (diced)
1/4 cup nuts (chopped fine)

Pour boiling water over gelatin and stir until dissolved. Crush cranberry sauce with a fork and add to the gelatin mixture. Pour into a ring mold and let stand until partially set. Fold in pineapple and nuts. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Fill ring with chilled cottage cheese to which finely chopped chives have been added; or use any other salad mixture which may be desirable.

Stuffed Tomato Salad.
(Serves 6)
5 medium sized tomatoes
Dash celery, onion or garlic salt
1 cup canned kidney beans
2 tablespoons celery (chopped)
2 tablespoons green onion (minced)
2 tablespoons ripe olives (chopped fine)
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 hard cooked egg (grated)

Select firm, medium sized tomatoes and peel. Hollow out the interiors and sprinkle with celery, garlic or onion salt. Mix together the kidney beans, celery, onion, olives and mayonnaise, and stuff the tomatoes with this mixture. Chill, and serve on lettuce leaves. Garnish with hard cooked egg, which has been put through potato ricer or coarse strainer.

Eggs a King.

(Serves 4-8)

- 6 eggs
- 1/4 cup mushroom caps
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1/2 cup cream
- 1/2 cup green peas (drained)
- 1/2 cup green pepper (chopped fine)
- 1 tablespoon pimiento (chopped fine)
- 1 tablespoon parsley (chopped fine)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- Dash paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

Hard cook the eggs, peel and slice. Saute the mushroom caps in the butter, over low heat, in the top part of double boiler (directly over flame). Add flour, and blend well, cooking over hot water. Add milk and cream, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and is smooth. Add peas, green pepper, pimiento, parsley and sliced eggs, and stir gently to avoid breaking the egg slices. Season with salt, pepper, paprika and lemon juice. Serve hot on buttered toast.

Cole Slaw.

(Serves 6-8)

- 1 1/2 quarts cabbage (cutted finely)
- 1 cup green peppers (cut in thin slices)
- 1/2 cup stuffed olives (sliced thin)
- 5 or 6 small green onions (cut fine)
- Toss cabbage, pepper, olives and green onions lightly together. Serve cold with french dressing.

Devonshire Buns.

(Makes 2 1/2 dozen small buns)

- 1 cup milk
- 2 cakes yeast
- 1/2 cup butter (softened)
- 1/2 cup sugar
- Dash of salt
- 3 1/4 cups flour (sifted)

Heat milk to lukewarm. Add crumbled yeast and stir until dissolved. Add butter and sugar. Blend. Add salt. When liquid is cool, add flour and beat smooth. Knead 4 minutes, or until satiny to the touch. Cut across each way with a knife, rub with fat and cover with a cloth. Let rise 1 hour, or until doubled, in bulk. Form into small narrow rolls, about 3 inches long. Brush with melted fat and let rise 1 hour, or until doubled in bulk. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for about 18 minutes.

When cold split and spread with raspberry jam and clotted cream. Replace tops and serve.

Hot Muffins.

(Makes 10 medium sized muffins)

- 2 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1 egg (beaten)
- 1/2 cup milk

Mix and sift together the flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Cut in the shortening. Combine beaten egg and milk, and add to mixture. Mix lightly, blending only until the dry ingredients are moistened. Place in greased muffin pans and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) approximately 25 minutes.

Tomato French Dressing.

(Makes 2 cups)

- 1/2 can condensed tomato soup (1/2 cup)
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1/4 cup oil
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika

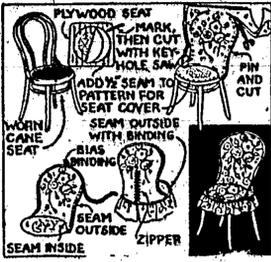

Place all of the ingredients in a mixing bowl and beat until blended. Store in refrigerator in a quart jar.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

THERE were two of these old bent-wood chairs — both with cane seats gone and a badly scarred varnish finish. "Get them out of my sight!" their owner said, "I can't stand the thought of wood bent and forced into unnatural curves." In the end she did get them out of sight and used them too. The trick was done with slip covers made, as shown here.

The one you see in the sketch became a side chair for the living room dressed in richly colored cretonne in soft red and blue-green tones with deep wine bindings. The legs of the chair were sandpapered and stained mahogany to tone in with the cover. The cane seat was inexpensively repaired with a ready made seat of plywood reshaped to fit by first cutting a paper pattern to fit the seat of the chair and then using

Cost of War

America's generosity toward its veterans may be gauged by a recent analysis of the costs of the Revolution, War of 1812, Mexican, Civil and Spanish-American wars. It shows that for every $100 spent during these wars, $160 was later expended for pensions and medical care. The study excludes the World War, the final cost of which cannot be estimated for years.—Collier's.

To Check Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation has you down so you feel heavy, tired and drowsy it's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble. If you eat the super-refined food most people eat, the chances are the difficulty is simple—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines. If this common form of constipation is your trouble, eat Kellogg's All-Bran regularly, and drink plenty of water. All-Bran isn't a medicine—it's a crunchy, toasted cereal. And it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Every One a Builder

Every man is the builder of a temple, balled his body, to the god he worships, after a style purely his own, nor can he get off by hammering marble instead. We are all sculptors and painters, and our material is our own flesh and blood and bones.—Thoreau.

Villalobos and his Strange Cargo

IN 1521, two years after Cortez and his conquistadores marched on Montezuma's capital, a Spanish ship sailed from Santo Domingo for the shores of Mexico with a strange, but important, cargo.

The boat was not loaded with soldiers in mail, with explorers or priests—but with Andalusian cattle. The shipper was Gregorio de Villalobos.

Little is known about Villalobos or his ship, but this cargo started the cattle business in this country, for the cattle increased and spread over into what is now territory of the United States.

In like manner the beginnings of today's telephone service were modest. In June, 1875, there were but two telephones which talked imperfectly between two rooms in the same house.

Today there are over 21,000,000 telephones in this country. From your telephone you may talk easily, naturally, to anyone in almost any village or hamlet in this country, and in normal times to telephone users in sixty foreign countries. The telephone not only makes pleasant and easy your voice visits with friends or relatives in other cities, but it facilitates the functioning of business as well.

KNOW YOUR BANK

The federal or state governmental body which char- ters and supervises a bank has power to examine it at regu- lar intervals--usually twice a year. In addition to the ex- aminations required by state law of state banks and by Na- tional Bank Act of national banks, both the Federal Reserve banks and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation author- ized to examine their members.

The purpose of the examinations are (1) to ascer- tain that the bank is solvent, (2) to determine that it is operating within legal limitations, and (3) to ascertain that sound policies are being pursued. Through such examina- tions we obtain a review of our operations, and receive ex- pert suggestions and advice on our policies and practices whereby we may improve our service to our customers.

N. Mex. State Fair

Roswell, New Mexico, Septem- ber 18 The opening gun of the Eastern New Mexico State Fair to be held here Oct. 2, 3, 4, and 5, will be more than a figure of speech this year. A detachment of the regular army will be at the fair all four days with a complete array of modern army equipment giving demonstrations on its use. With 92 men, 26 horses and mo- torized armament the unit will participate in the opening day's parade, and put on a special feature at the rodeo which will be held the first three after- noons. Demonstrations of the use of the modern equipment will be given at the fair grounds throughout the four days.

A larger entry list than any of the previous seventeen exhibitions is indicated by the advance reser- vations. This is true in the farm products division, the Hereford section, sheep, dairy cattle and hogs department and the 4-H club department. Superintendents of practically every department are already calling for more space. The rodeo each of the first three afternoons will be one of the big entertainments features, and specialties have been arranged for day and night at the fair grounds. Old Timers day, in which those who have been in New Mexico 30 years or longer will be special guests, will be held Friday Octo- ber 4.

University of Pennsylvania Celebrating Two Hundredth Anniversary of Founding

By GEO. L. SIMPSON SR. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

TWO centuries of growth are being marked by the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia this month with a week of celebration from September 16 to 21.

The celebration includes symposia and professional conferences, cultural and scientific exhibits, laboratory and clinical demonstrations, and convocations for the conferring of honorary degrees. More than 500 colleges, universities and learned societies are represented at the celebration by official delegates.

Among the recipients of honorary degrees are President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Sir Lyman Poore Duff, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Canada. While the list of distinguished guests also includes 200 American and European scholars and leaders in various fields.

F. D. R.

The symposia and conferences, which constitute the program of the Bicentennial conference being held as a part of the September week celebration, are being featured by lectures and papers in six general fields—the fine arts, humanities, medical sciences, natural sciences, religion, and the social sciences.

The offerings in the field of the humanities are designed to bring out the continuity of culture, while in the other fields the objective is to reveal the trends of modern thought and the advances of science.

Former President Herbert Clark Hoover, Henry A. Wallace, the Democratic nominee for vice president, Hu Shih, the Chinese ambassador, Dr. Frank Baldwin Jewett, president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories and president of the National Academy of Sciences, Dr. Elmer V. McCollum, co-discoverer of vitamin A, and Dr. Jacques Maritain, famous French author and philosopher, are a few of the many noted speakers on the program of the conference.

Many Graduates Return.

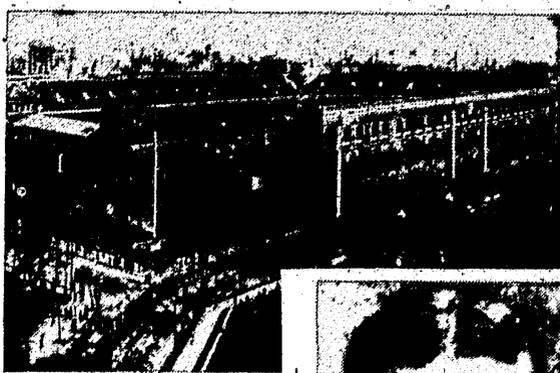

The symposia and conferences of the Bicentennial conference claims a major portion of attention during the first days of the Bicentennial week celebration. At the same time, the program has been so arranged as to provide an opportunity for all to attend the various other events scheduled for the same period as well as to view the special bicentennial exhibits, demonstrations and clinics, and to enjoy tours of the campus, according to Robert T. McCracken, chairman.

Hundreds of the university's graduates and former students are attending the opening of class reunions Wednesday and Thursday, while on the latter day Pennsylvania's undergraduates greet student delegates from colleges and universities throughout the country.

Ten thousand alumni and alumnae of Pennsylvania join in paying tribute to the university on Friday morning, September 20, at a bicentennial meeting in the dormitory quadrangle. In the afternoon there is another impressive meeting, including a convocation of university council in Convention hall.

Addresses Given.

The morning program in the quadrangle includes addresses by Dr.

Franklin field, mammoth stadium of the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, has been the scene of many historic football games. At right is pictured Robert T. McCracken, chairman of the bicentennial planning committee for the university's 200th anniversary, being celebrated this month.

Thomas S. Gates, president of the University of Pennsylvania, former United States Sen. George Wharton Pepper, an alumnus and trustee of the university, and Thomas I. Parkinson, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society of the United States, who is chairman of the National Alumni Bicentennial committee.

Presentation of the bicentennial fund; addresses by representatives of the student body; and selections by the university band and glee club feature the program. Ralph Morgan, president of the General Alumni society, is presiding.

President Roosevelt and Sir Lyman Poore Duff receive honorary degrees and deliver addresses at the convocation in Convention hall on Friday afternoon.

In addition, Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts of the Supreme Court of the United States, who is an alumnus of the University of Pennsylvania, is delivering an address, and the bicentennial poem is being presented by its author, Edward W. Mumford, secretary of the university.

Water Carnival Staged.

A bicentennial river pageant and water carnival is being staged Friday night on the Schuylkill river in Fairmount park. A fireworks display, crew races, and a parade of floats depicting various phases of the university's life make up the program. Many former university oarsmen are taking part.

The University of Pennsylvania traces its origin to a "charity school" for which a building was erected in Philadelphia in 1740. Nine years later, after the publication of Benjamin Franklin's "Proposals Relating to the Education of Youth in Pennsylvania," there was established an academy with which the charity school was combined.

Franklin served as the first president of the academy's trustees, and so successful was the undertaking that in 1753 a charter was obtained in the name of the "Academy and Charitable School in the Province of Pennsylvania."

Charter Granted in 1755.

In 1755 a "confirmatory charter" incorporating "The College, Academy and Charitable School" was granted by Thomas and Richard Penn, and the institution continued under that name until 1779, when the state legislative body changed the corporate title to "Trustees of the University of the State of Pennsylvania."

Nazis Bomb Poet Milton's Tomb

The statue of John Milton, the famous blind poet of Great Britain, is toppled from its pedestal by a Nazi bomb that fell on St. Giles, one of London's oldest churches. In the churchyard lies the tomb of the great poet. The interior of the church itself was also damaged by the blast.

Heroine

Miss Leonora Lindsley of New York, shown on her return to Gotham, after having been an ambulance driver in France. She distinguished herself in the great retreat of Dunkerque when she carried many wounded and refugees to safety.

Both Their Hearts on Wrong Side

The Smith twins, Bell and Nell, of Decatur, Ga., are in reverse. Their hearts are on the right sides of their bodies, instead of the usual left side. Their spleens, too, are on the wrong side—right instead of left, and their livers, to make the turnabout complete, are on the left instead of the right side. Their eyes, strangely enough, have exactly the same measurements, and exactly the same ailments, a rarity, even in identical twins. The girls are eight years old.

Hero

Father Francis X. Quinn of New York receives Congressional medal from President Roosevelt for inducing a gunman to surrender after police had been unable to dislodge him from a home. Congress appropriated $250 for the gold medal.

Pre-views

U. S. Postmasters to Convene

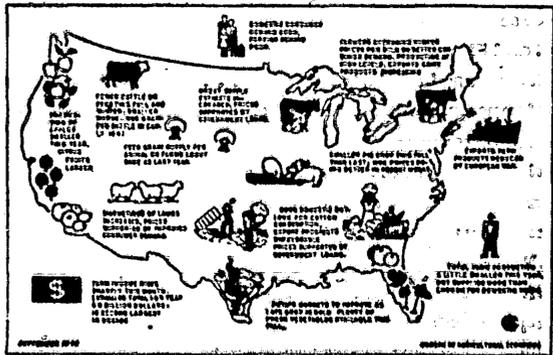

While the guardian of the U. S. mails at "the world's smallest complete post office" of De Luz, Calif., (pictured at right) may not take time off from his strenuous duties to attend the convention of the National Association of Postmasters at Columbus, Ohio, September 26-28, approximately 5,000 of his brother workers will. Michael J. O'Rourke, Beverly Hills, Calif., (upper right) is scheduled to be chosen the group's next president, and Frank C. Walker, (directly above) President Roosevelt's new postmaster general appointee, is expected to attend some of the sessions.

Mother and Child

Lina Medina, the world's youngest mother, who will observe her sixth birthday on September 23. The juvenile mother who is shown with her 15-month-old son was expected to journey from her home in Lima, Peru, to Chicago to undergo an investigation of her strange case by scientists.

U. S. Agriculture at Present Time

The above map, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, summarizes the present condition of agricultural activity and markets throughout the nation.

London Called World's Best Air Target

WASHINGTON.—Tense headlines of "London Bombed" are reminders that England's capital is in some ways the most difficult in the world to defend, according to a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. "Because London's clay soil forbids high skyscrapers, its growth has spread out intensively to cover 382 square miles, exceeding the combined areas of New York city, Chicago, and Philadelphia. Berlin is only half as vast a target, Paris less than a third as large. "London's great lateral expansion means that a bomb dropped within a 15-mile radius of Charing Cross and the Towers of Parliament hits an urban population of 11,000 per square mile. For more than three miles around Westminster, the central core of London supports 37,500 people per square mile.

The university was also well represented among those who later sat in the Constitutional convention, the group of Pennsylvanians there including Benjamin Franklin, Robert Morris, James Wilson, Thomas Mifflin, George Clymer, Jared Ingersoll, John Dickinson, Thomas Fitzsimons and Hugh Williamson.

The university, of which Dr. Thomas S. Gates now is president, also has an outstanding record of leadership in the pursuit of new ventures in education.

First Medical School. The first school of medicine in North America was founded at the university in 1765, and the first department of botany in this country had its origin there three years later. The first teaching hospital was established at the university in 1874. The Wharton school of finance and commerce, established at Pennsylvania in 1881, was the first university school of business, and in 1886 the first psychological clinic in the world was established at the university.

In 1910 the first department of research medicine was started in connection with the university's school of medicine, and in 1916 the first comprehensive graduate school of medicine was established.

The University of Pennsylvania has occupied three sites in Philadelphia in the course of its history, at one time being housed in a mansion built for the President of the United States. The university moved to the west bank of the Schuylkill in 1873. It is this tract of 150 acres which contains most of the 180 units of the university community.

Sophie Tunes Up for Legion Convention

Happy Birthday!

A famous English author and an American statesman who advocates every assistance to Britain short of war will celebrate their birthdays September 21. The English author is H. G. Wells, (right) who will be 74. The American statesman is Col. Henry L. Stimson, (left) new secretary of war, who will be 73.

CHAPTER XVIII—Continued

"You've never seen Wild, tight, have you? He's a scream! He's in stitches. He put Mrs. Wall's goldfish in the champagne. You should have seen them. They got cock-eyed!"

Terry was not trying to be cruel. It never occurred to him that Lynn was taking Wild seriously.

She felt she could not face Rene just now and she went straight to her new apartment. Terry wrote down the number.

"Have you a telephone? Well, I can get you at the shop," he waved good-by. "See you soon."

The room darkened. It must have been nine when she got up and bathed her face, and put on a white linen dress. She'd go to Rene now. Then she laughed at herself. She knew why she was going. To see if Wild might be waiting.

From the street she could see Rene's apartment was dark. He often sat with the lights out, so she went on up. Rene, however, was not there. She found a note for her.

"I've gone to eat with Marty."

She waited a while, idling about the room, picking up this sketch and that. She could stand it no longer. She scribbled a few words on the end of Rene's note and left. If only Wild were waiting for her as usual.

She was crying now, for she knew that Wild would not come. What had happened? Terry? His mother? What?

Wearily she made up the cot for the night, and undressed.

It was hours later when the door bell awakened her. She jumped up, stubbed her toe on the strange chair, felt for the buzzer. Rene? He must be ill. She hunted for her dressing gown and threw it on over her thin nightdress. Her eyes were heavy with sleep as she waited at the door. She could hear somebody stumbling up the stairs at the next floor. She was sure something had happened to Rene! She waited until the footsteps reached her door. Then she opened it. It was Wild.

He came to her and took her in his arms, buried his face in her ruffled, blonde hair.

"My God, Lynn! I couldn't stay away. I tried, but I couldn't!" He would not let her go, his lips on hers.

"Wild!" Lynn's voice was pleading. She realized he had been drinking. She struggled to get away from him.

"Don't, Lynn! I love you so!" There were tears in his eyes as he spoke.

"You've got to let me go," Lynn's voice was desperate.

"I'll never let you go, not after these two days." Finally she broke away from him.

"You've got to leave here, Wild. Right now!"

Lynn was in a panic. Mrs. Roth had warned her against men visitors late at night.

He laughed softly: "I thought I could give you up if I wanted to. Well, I'm putting my cards on the table. I can't."

He sat down suddenly, as though his knees were weak. "And I thought I was so smart! I who hate women!"

"Wild, please. Go, now, like a good boy."

He pulled her down into his arms. "Of course, I'm not going! I'm here to stay."

Lynn could not break away from him, and she lay there sobbing as though her heart would break. Wild was nonplussed at the storm.

"Don't you love me, Lynn?" he asked plaintively.

"I think I almost hate you tonight!" All her suffering of the last two days welled up. But he held her there, a rebellious, sobbing figure.

Just then, there was a knock on the door. Lynn struggled out of Wild's arms and went slowly to answer. It was Mr. Roth, in his night-shirt which hung below a hastily donned raincoat.

"This is a nice way to carry on, young woman," Roth charged into the room.

Lynn, horrified, managed to say: "I'm sorry Mr. Roth. The gentleman was just leaving." Roth brushed that aside:

"You'll leave tomorrow morning. We told you this was a respectable place." Then he turned to Wild: "Now get out. Take her with you if you want to but get out of my house."

Lynn stood straight against the wall. The humiliation of the whole thing was ghastly. Wild evidently sobered by the turn of events rose.

"I apologize, Lynn. I'm a fool!" He went over to her, touched her arm appealingly, took his hat and left without a backward glance. And he left her to contemplate the most humiliating experience in her whole young life.

CHAPTER XIX

Lynn, standing there in the middle of the floor, covered her face with her hands. It was disgusting! A fury took possession of her. How dare Wild! How dare he!

She began packing wildly, determined not to stay in this place a moment longer than necessary. She began tossing clothes, hats, books into the cot, pulling out suitcases from under the bed.

As she worked, dawn began to break. She worked with a white-set face until everything was neatly packed, the pictures she had hung with such pleasure, the little vases, even the disturbing papers from the table.

She made some coffee and managed to drink it. Then she bathed and dressed slowly watching the slow-moving hands of the clock. By seven, she could stand the place no longer. Ready for work, she walked down the stairs, praying she'd meet none of her neighbors on the way.

She made her escape and almost ran into the street. She'd have to begin the job of apartment hunting all over again. There parked at the curb was Wild's car. He was at the wheel. When he saw her he got out and walked over to her.

Somewhere he'd found a barber shop. He was shaved, and sober. Only the fine moisture on his forehead showed his two days of drinking.

"Lynn."

She did not answer him.

"Don't make a scene here. I'll pick you up and put you in the car if you do. I swear it!" And Lynn knew he meant it. She opened the door and got in.

Wild drove away in silence for a few blocks, then parked the car and turned to her.

"I'm asking you to forgive me, Lynn." He tried to look into her

"I say, will you marry me, Lynn?"

haggard eyes. "I was drunk. That's the only explanation I can offer! I'm a fool. If you only knew what I've been through these last two days!" He put his hand over hers and would not let her take hers away.

"You've got to listen. You'd allow a murderer that I—" he stumbled on.

He could not tell Lynn there had been a difficult scene with his mother. She had tried to be kind, had tried to make him see how impossible his infatuation for Lynn was. She'd kept her temper and had been logical and straightforward.

"You don't understand how I love you, Lynn. I mean it!"

She looked so ill and tired. He reviled himself bitterly.

"It was pretty awful, wasn't it? That old fool! But I must have been mad. I ran into Terry and he said he'd seen you and that you'd moved. I had no idea of time. I just came, that's all!"

An officer came along and told Wild not to park his car there. The morning rush traffic was beginning.

"You didn't sleep did you? Or eat any breakfast?"

"I'm all packed, ready to move." These simple words pushed Wild back into the slough of despond.

"I'm no good! I deserve to be shot! What can I do, Lynn, to make you forgive me?"

Tears were rolling down the girl's cheeks, and he tried to wipe them away with his pocket handkerchief as they halted in traffic. Finally he saw a place to park and pulled his car over to the curb.

"You're going to get something to eat." Together they went into the nearest automat. "I'll have the boy bring us something."

The place was crowded now with the rushing men and women, fighting for their breakfast coffee. It was noisy and confused. Lynn leaned her aching head on her hands and tried to hear what Wild said above the clatter.

"I say, will you marry me, Lynn? Now, any time, ever?"

He had to say it twice, to make himself heard above the clatter of dishes. The waiter slammed a tray down and unloaded their breakfast.

Wild put her coffee before her and motioned for her to drink it. Lynn's eyes looked less frozen now. As the clatter increased Wild grinned at her and shouted:

"I pick the nicest places to ask you to marry me! I didn't hear what you said."

"I said, 'Don't be ridiculous!'" How could she remain furious at him in this absurd situation? There was a faint quiver of her mouth and he reached over and gave her hand a squeeze.

When he dropped her off at the shop, he said: "I'll be waiting for you tonight." And he dashed off to complete his plans for the day.

How different this day was than the one previous! Lynn chided herself and sometimes when she thought of Wild's absurd proposal in the little automat, her heart got cold. She must tell him all about Rene. Tonight she'd tell him. The longer she waited the worse it would be.

That night Lynn flew into her street clothes.

And then she went out to meet Wild.

"I must drop in and see Rene for a moment and then go apartment hunting. Maybe I can stay in a hotel tonight. I'm all ready to move."

"I'll wait," Wild retorted crisply. "It's all my fault you're moving. The least I can do is to help you find another place."

When Lynn got to Rene's studio she found him and Marty deep in a conference.

"Where on earth have you been?" Rene demanded in annoyance.

"Apartment hunting."

"I thought you'd found something."

"It didn't pan out, Rene. I'm sorry. Why this solemn conclave?"

"Rene's going to do the illustrations for Bryant Montgomery's new novel," he announced. "That means we've got to work like wildcats, Lynn. I've been reading the thing and we're mapping out plans now." Marty insisted that Lynn sit down and talk to them.

"It means you've got to leave Mme. Renoud's, Lynn. Rene needs you. He'll pay you $50 a week."

"But, poor Mme. Renoud. I hate to leave her now when she needs all of us."

"I'm going up there tomorrow to see if I can fix things with her. Maybe she'll let you work afternoons and give the mornings to Rene."

Lynn had a bad time trying to get away, but she escaped at last to an impatient Wild. When she came back he said:

"I thought you'd stood me up! Now—"

"I want to get my stuff."

"Just a minute. I had our rental agent get a list of apartments down here today, at the price of your other one. Let's try this address. On Minicitta Street.

Glad of the suggestion, Lynn complied, and they stopped before a tall, old building.

"These look too expensive."

"Same as your old one," Wild said shortly. "I'll go get the caretaker."

When the man opened the door to the little apartment, there was something oddly familiar about it. On the walls were her pictures. Through a half-opened door, she could see her clothes neatly hung in the clothes closet. The place was filled with fresh flowers.

"Wild! What have you done!" Lynn just stood there, staring about. It was a pretty room. Much nicer than the other, and there was a neat little bedroom, and best of all, a view of the city up town.

Wild was laughing in delight. "How much is this apartment? I'm sure it's too expensive, Wild."

"It's $40, lady."

"That was the price Lynn had paid for the other. Wild did not explain he had sworn the man to secrecy, had paid the additional $40 for six months."

Lynn ran to the fireplace, to windows with their view.

"It's perfect, Wild! How did you do it?"

"I called home and got Elsie to come down and move you. Simple. I had nothing to do with it all."

There was a knock on the door. Wild opened it. It was a waiter from a nearby restaurant, with a menu card.

"We're having a house warming, darling. Do you want a steak?"

Lynn hurried around and set the little table by the window. It was cool tonight, and the stars were clear in the deep blue sky.

The fire was blazing on the hearth when their dinner came. There was even a bottle of champagne.

"Miss Morrow, your good health!" Wild said as he raised his glass and touched hers.

"And yours, Mr. Austin."

"May I call you Lynn?"

Then he took her in his arms, kissed her solemnly and they sat down to the house-warming dinner.

CHAPTER XX

They were completely and utterly happy, those two, oblivious to the rest of the world. That Autumn always remained one of the happiest times in Lynn's life. In after years when she'd see the city she loved sparkling in the Autumn sun, or lit by a harvest moon, it brought a vague nostalgia, a little heartbeat one feels for lost youth.

Wild did not, however, take Lynn back to Austin Manor. The girl's name was not mentioned between him and his parents; although he talked to Chuck about her. But Mrs. Austin knew her son was seeing the lovely model. She heard gossip. She was bound to, for Lynn's face appeared more and more frequently in the magazines. Rene's work was causing considerable comment. Then, too, Wild was too important a person to escape general gossip.

Damp Cupboard.

QUESTION: In the sacristy of our church the altar guild has a cupboard for linens and hangings. This cupboard has shallow drawers with doors in front. We find dampness and mold in the two lower drawers. What can we do to make the drawers dry?

Answer: That dampness comes up through the floor and through the two walls backing the cupboard. One method would be to move the cupboard away from the walls by at least two inches, and to raise it on blocks so that there will be a circulation of air behind and under it. In addition, the under part of the cupboard, the back and the one side toward the wall should be covered with waterproof felt tacked on. It will not do to lay the felt on the floor or attach it to the wall, for dampness that comes through should evaporate; if it remains in the floor and wall there might be trouble.

Door Through Cement Block Wall.

Question: In changing the entrance to a basement apartment, we would have to go through a wall of cement blocks. How can the blocks be cut? Would this be an enormous expense?

Answer: As cement blocks are hollow, cutting is not a difficult or expensive process. It can be done with a cold chisel and hammer, but the quickest and easiest way is with an electric chisel. A mason contractor will have this tool, and would do the job at no great cost. Your very first move should be to set a heavy timber in the wall to form the upper edge of the opening that will be cut, to take the weight of the wall above it when the wall below has been removed.

Moisture-Proof Wall Finish.

Question: Walls of our bathroom and kitchen are painted. Would there be any advantage in using wall-cloth?

Answer: Wall-cloth is actually a light form of canvas finished with oil paints, and in its best form is waterproof and washable. It can be had in wallpaper patterns, and in appearance cannot be distinguished from wallpaper. When properly hung, the walls are resistant to moisture and can be washed. Grease that is always present in kitchen air will not penetrate and can be washed off. The additional advantage over paint is that there is no chipping.

Window Leakage.

Question: How can I eliminate leakage through the horizontal bars of French windows in heavy driving rain?

Answer: That leakage is due to faulty putty, the putty having drawn away from the wood to leave a fine hair-line crack. This can be closed by painting, although if the putty shows signs of general cracking and deterioration, it should be replaced. After taking off the old putty, the wood should be given a coat of paint to prevent oil in the new putty from being absorbed. Ordinary putty can be improved by adding one-fifth as much white lead paste.

New Roof Over Old.

Question: I am told that new shingles can be laid over an old shingle roof; that the old roof makes good insulation. What is your opinion of this?

Answer: Laying a new shingle roof over an old roof is an excellent plan. The double thick roof gives good insulation and the roof is stiffened. Also, you are saved the cost of tearing off the old shingles and clearing up the mess. Dry rot in the old roof will die out and become harmless. Full instructions for doing the job can be obtained from the Red Cedar Shingle bureau, Chicago.

Oil-Stained Cement.

Question: Can you recommend something to dry up a cement floor in the cellar which has been stained with oil?

Answer: Cover new stains for several days with an inch or two of dry portland cement. Dry hydrated lime is also effective. For old stains wash with a solution of two pounds of trisodium phosphate to the gallon of hot water. Rinse with plenty of clear water.

Limed Teakettle.

Question: How can encrusted lime be removed from the inside of a copper teakettle?

Answer: Fill the kettle with a mixture of cider vinegar and water in the proportion of one cupful to the quart; bring to a boil and let stand all night. Another method is to mash several raw potatoes, to put into the kettle for overnight, and then to add a little water and bring to a boil.

Hard Water Drip.

Question: The drip of hard water has formed a rough coating on my wash basins. What will remove it?

Answer: You can take that off with sandpaper or fine steel wool, but must be careful not to dull the gloss of the enamel, which can not be renewed. Rub very lightly and go at the job slowly.

Size Before Painting.

An excellent way to size plaster walls before applying paint is to mix in one pint of linseed oil to the gallon of paint that you are going to use, and put that on as the first coat. Brush it in well and allow time for thorough drying.

AROUND the HOUSE Items of Interest to the Housewife

If new tinware is rubbed with fresh lard and thoroughly heated in the oven before it is used, it will never rust, no matter how much it is put into water. For stained tinware borax produces the best results. If a tea pot or coffee pot is discolored on the inside, boil it in a strong solution of borax for a short time and all its brightness will return.

Mint and herbs should be washed in cold water, wrung dry in a cloth and chopped with a sharp knife. If carefully dried thus they will be crisp and, instead of clinging in a wet mass to the knife and board, will be quickly chopped to powder. The board also will not be stained green or require special attention to clean.

A teaspoon of salt and dessert-spoon of lemon juice answer the same purpose as "salts of Lemon" for removing iron mold from linen. It is not a poison and will not prove injurious to the linen.

Dogs having access to the house should be kept thoroughly clean and free from fleas. Serious damage may be done if fleas enter rugs or upholstered furniture.

One soon learns by handling pots when managing house plants that if pots are light the plants are dry; if heavy they may be left without water for a time.

When laundering curtains of voile, scrim or any material which has to be ironed, if they are folded so the selvaige ends are together and ironed they will hang perfectly even and straight.

Beauty Reaches All-Time High in New '41 Chevrolet

Completely new styling joins with numerous mechanical improvements to make the new 1941 Chevrolet, now on display at all dealers, a worthy successor to the cars which have earned first place in public favor year after year. The greater size and roominess of the new models, as well as their sleek new beauty, are apparent in the Special De Luxe Sport Sedan, shown above.

At (2) is shown the spacious interior of the same model's rear compartment, and at (3) is its front compartment, showing two-spoke steering wheel with horn-blowing ring, new sliding-type sun visors, and smartly re-styled dash.

One of the major changes is substitution of concealed safety-steps (4) for the running boards of other years, an improvement adding to the car's beauty without sacrifice of the safety and convenience which running boards provide. At (5) is the six-cylinder Chevrolet valve-in-head engine for 1941, in which many refinements have been made. Horsepower is increased from 85 to 90 without affecting economy; and cooling, lubrication and carburetion are all improved. In circle is the new switch which reverses the ignition current polarity each time the starter is operated, indefinitely prolonging the life of distributor points.
