Pooled Their Resources

[Special to the News]

Roswell Army Flying School, Roswell, N. M., Nov. 2, 1942:— The story of three friends, raised together from childhood, who have pooled their resources and left their wives behind so that they may become airplane mechanics for Uncle Sam is being enacted at the 91st Sub Depot at the Roswell Army Flying School.

The three men, all from Carrizozo, are Ruben Chavez, 25, Manuel Chavez, 32, brothers, and Salvador Ortiz, 28. By carefully manipulating their finances they have reduced living expenses to a figure that would make the ordinary housewife stand aghast and at the same time they have progressed swiftly in their work as airplane mechanics.

Starting work at the Sub Depot only about two months ago they are now earning, as mechanic learners, $1200 a year each and, with rapid advancement in sight, have higher salaries to spur them on as their skill progresses.

Alert, curious, eager to learn, and now discovering the intricacies of airplane engine installations, they are learning the huge motors from A. to Z. Mechanically minded and with a spirit of camaraderie that is contagious, they go at their jobs with the zeal of men working in a new and interesting field.

People who are worried about the high cost of living might well take a lesson in economy from these young mechanics. By working out a cooperative scheme of finances, they have reduced their daily expenses to 30c each!

That 30c daily expense doesn't include food only, the mechanics emphasized. It also takes in room rent and transportation. Taking turns at cooking, dishwashing, and housecleaning, they have organized a neat little kitchen brigade that would make most any housekeeper turn green with envy.

Due for work at the Sub Depot by 6:00 a. m., the trio gets up at 4:00, cleans up the apartment, eats, prepares the noon lunches to be taken to work, and starts on its way. After work is done in the afternoon, the men go home, cook, eat, and maybe attend a show, always turning in early. They take their jobs seriously.

Asked what they think of their jobs they said in unison, "It's the nuts! In fact, it's swell."

WOMEN AT WAR—Oversalls, wrenches and drills replace finery as these war workers in an Army Arsenal march to their regular jobs. Note the determination on their faces. These women are typical of hundreds of thousands who are working in war factories and inventing part of their earnings in War Bonds.

Red Cross Nurse Saves Soldier's Life

Washington, D. C. — Pretty Lieut. Evelyn Sutton, Red Cross Army nurse from Trenton, N. J., is the heroine of the troops stationed at Reykjavik, Iceland, because she is credited with saving the life of a corporal seriously injured in an automobile accident.

Lieutenant Sutton happened to be at the scene of the accident and quickly examining the wounded soldier, found that he had a severe head wound. With the aid of a pocket knife borrowed from a bystander, she slashed her slip into strips and made bandages of them. She then stemmed the flow of blood, bound the corporal's head and gave him treatment for shock. When the doctor arrived with an ambulance crew, he commended the nurse on her skill and told her that the patient would not have survived without her aid. The corporal is recovering in an Army hospital and will rejoin his unit shortly fit and in fighting trim.

APPRECIATION

I wish to extend my sincerest thanks to all the voters of Lincoln county who again have placed their trust in me by re-electing me to the office of County Assessor. I promise to give the best and unbiased service that my ability can offer.

L. H. Dow.

NOTICE

Santa Fe, November 11.—Edward H. Oakley, State OCD Director, has been advised that a young people's volunteer aviation corps to be known as Civil Air Patrol Cadets will be organized under the sponsorship of the senior organization.

The cadets will not be assigned to flying duties but will be eligible for full membership in the CAP when they graduate from high school and complete their special training.

Each CAP unit is now authorized to sponsor a counterpart unit of CAPC, Mr. Oakley said.

Agriculture and Labor
"Agriculture has excellent reasons to take concern for the welfare of labor," says Wheeler McMillen. "The situation after the war is over will be of particular importance to farmers. Men earning good wages full time are much better customers than men without jobs. Men steadily employed under satisfactory conditions are far less likely than men without work to become the prey of men who agitate for strange kinds of government. Agriculture ought not, therefore, to develop hostility toward labor and toward labor organizations as such. A wiser course would be to try to use agriculture's influence for correction of those abuses which do no good either to laborers, farmers or the nation."

To Inspect Military Property and Equipment

Santa Fe, Nov. 12. — A complete inspection of all military property, equipment and personnel under the jurisdiction of the Adjutant General's office will be made during January, Lt. Col. W. R. Guild, Executive Officer in the Office of the Adjutant General, announced today.

Col. Guild said that a schedule is being worked out to cover the 17 New Mexico cities in which Guard units, armories, and state military equipment are located.

Adjutant General R. C. Charlton and Col. Guild will make the complete statewide inspection trip, and battalion commanders will participate in the inspection within their jurisdiction.

State Guard companies in all cities will stand inspection. The progress of the training program now under way will be observed and an inventory check of equipment will be made.

Col. Guild said that in keeping with war conditions the inspection will be the most thorough that has ever been undertaken by the Adjutant General's office.

A New Record

A record output of more than 24 million bushels of garden vegetables and small fruits will be produced this year by 4-H Club members throughout the nation, in response to the Government's call for super-production of these foodstuffs to meet war needs. This output is an increase of 60 percent over last year's production by the clubsters.

Roughly 350,000 members participated in the 1942 National 4-H Victory Garden contest conducted in cooperation with the Extension Service, in which Sears, Roebuck provided awards consisting chiefly of U. S. War Savings Bonds. This also is an all-time high enrollment in the 4-H gardening project, and shows how vital 4-H production is to the war effort in this as in all lines.

County winners in this competition received gold filled medals, and four representatives of each State's blue award group were awarded a $25 War Savings Bond. One of the latter will be considered in selecting sectional and national winners. All-expense trips to the 21st National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 29, Dec. 2, will be awarded to the two highest scoring participants in each of the four extension sections, who will also receive a $100 War Savings Bond apiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thomas and children have returned from Abilene, Texas, where they had spent Saturday.

MRS. JOHN ROBERTS

Mrs. Alice Judy Roberts, aged 65, widow of the late Mr. John Roberts, passed away last Sunday morning after an illness of several months. Funeral services were held at the Kelley Mortuary at 2:00 last Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Roberts had made her home in Lincoln county since 1911, having moved here from Texas with her husband at that time. During her long residence she had acquired many friends whom she loved and who loved her. She was quiet and liked to stay at home, deriving pleasure from the daily tasks to be performed at her pleasant ranch home.

Mr. Roberts, who was a highly respected ranchman of Lincoln County died in 1934, since which time Mrs. Roberts and her son Marvin continued living at the ranch.

Her son Marvin and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Marvin Roberts and an infant grand daughter survive.

She is also survived by several sisters and brothers who reside in Texas.

The Rev. John Klassen conducted funeral services and interment was in Nogal cemetery.

Pall bearers were Messrs. Calvin Carl, Raymond Davis, A. J. Rolland, Tennis Smoot, Dewey Stokes and Roley Ward.

Penfield-Amastae Nuptials

Miss Joana Penfield of Lincoln became the bride of Mr. Jonathan Amastae of the Albuquerque airport on Monday, Nov. 2nd, 1942. The wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Studeland of Fort Stanton at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ruth Penfield, with all members of the family present.

The bride is attending the State University in Albuquerque, while the groom is employed by the government at the air base there.

Both are popular and have the best wishes of their many friends.

Mrs. Marvin Roberts and her mother, Mrs. Willingham were El Paso visitors Armistice day.

Sam J. Dow, Scaman Guard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Dow, Sr., has been assigned to school at the University of Chicago for advanced training.

Gladney Zumwalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bowen Zumwalt is stationed at Alamogordo air field now.

Albert Roberts, of the Monte Vista service station who volunteered for the air corps, is now stationed at Albuquerque.

Pvt. Ramon St. John who recently graduated from the radio school of the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command at Scott Field, Ill., was transferred to Chanute Field, Ill., where he will receive eight more weeks of special training.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Rear have returned home from a trip to Texas.

Little Robert Edward Hemphill, son of Mrs. R. E. Hemphill of Black Butte, Calif., who fell out and broke his collar bone two weeks ago, is getting along nicely.

Mr. Scharff who has been in the hospital is still quite ill.

Bonnie Barnett went to Roswell Wednesday to volunteer for the Navy.

Hogs Should Be Marked at Heavy Weights

Farmers in Lincoln County can help meet the national pork-war goals by marketing this year's at heavy weights. All the pork and lard American farmers can produce is needed in the national war effort.

Special hog rations and protein supplements can be used to get faster gains and to make grain go farther. Studies by the Department of Agriculture reveal that five to six bushels of corn fed with 50 pounds of protein supplements will add as much weight to a hog in less time than 10 bushels of corn fed alone.

Carl P. Radcliff, County Extension Agent.

Miss Betty Shafer in in Albuquerque attending a District meeting of telephone employes.

Mrs. Fred Greer went to Tucumcari last Sunday and staid until Wednesday.

Miss Ruth Barnett, who is employed by the telephone Company in Tucumcari will be at home tomorrow to spend the week-end with her parents.

Miss Hilda Ann Barnett has accepted a position at the Roswell air base.

Colonel Jones of the Standard Service Station is ill of influenza.

Mrs. Frank A. English went to El Paso yesterday on business.

Mrs. Roy Lomon entertained the Society of Christian Service at her ranch home Wednesday.

The American Legion Auxiliary gave a tea Wednesday afternoon, which was largely attended. Mothers, wives and sisters of soldiers were the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Rentfrow were in from their ranch yesterday.

Mrs. Lulu Lewis was in town yesterday buying supplies.

Notice

A message from the Office of Defense Transportation to all commercial motor vehicle operators in Lincoln County.

After Nov. 15, all trucks, buses, taxicabs and other commercial motor vehicles must carry certificates of war necessity. Without a certificate, it will be impossible to obtain gasoline, tires or parts for any such vehicle.

Mailing of application forms to all registered commercial motor vehicle owners in Lincoln County is now complete. Carriers who have received their blanks should fill them out accurately and return them at once in self-addressed envelopes provided for the purpose. Avoid mistakes, and fill out all pertinent questions fully. Mistakes in the applications or incomplete answers will mean delay in obtaining the certificates.

Carriers who have not received application blanks by mail should apply at once to the ODT Motor Transport Division field office at Albuquerque.

Serve the Festive Bird—Plump With Stuffing
(See Recipes Below.)

Day of Praise

Now that the frost-nipped days have come and we've gathered the harvest, Thanksgiving time is here again. It really is a Thanksgiving, for a year of plenty if not of peace, and it's to be celebrated with a dinner symbolic of the plenty of harvest.

Your family will feel a deep and heartfelt satisfaction if you place yellow-gold and deep crimson autumn leaves over the mantel, or provide a blazing fire and have bowls of lush colored grapes, crisp shelled nuts, blushing pears and apples within reach.

The Bird Itself

Select tender chicken for roasting. Pick dry. Glaze and take out pin feathers with tweezers. Cut around vent and make split almost to tip of breastbone. Insert hand and take out entrails carefully from back and sides. Pull out. Be sure lungs are removed. Push back skin of neck, and cut off neck close to body. Remove windpipe. Separate gizzard, heart and liver and cut away gall bladder which is attached to liver, being careful not to break it. Cut through gizzard and clean. Remove oil sock from tail.

Wash outside with cold water. Wipe inside with damp cloth. Sprinkle inside with salt and then stuff loosely. Insert toothpick or metal pins across opening and lace them with cord. Fold skin of neck over back and fasten with toothpick. Fold wings across back. Tie ends of legs together with a cord, then bring cord around tail and forward to tip of wings to tie. Rub skin with fat (unsalted) and place on roaster rack. Roast uncovered in a moderately slow oven (325-350 degrees) 20 minutes to the pound for a chicken under 3 1/2 pounds, 22-25 minutes for a chicken over 4 pounds.

Stuffing

(Makes 3 1/2 cups)

- 1/2 cup rice
- 3 cups boiling water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup fat
- 1/2 cup diced celery
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 2 1/2 cups oven-popped rice cereal
- 3 tablespoons minced parsley
- 1 tablespoon poultry seasoning
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup stock

Wash rice thoroughly in a sieve. Drain well. Add rice to boiling water slowly as water continues to bubble. Boil rapidly about 20 minutes until rice is tender, then drain. Drain celery and onion in fat.

Lynn Says:

Speaking of Stuffing: The old-fashioned bread dressing is easily adapted to many variations. Here is the basic idea: To 1 1/2 pounds of dried bread cut in one-inch cubes add 1/2 to 1 cup melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon white pepper, 1/2 cup minced onion, cooked but not browned, and 3 tablespoons of poultry dressing. Toss lightly and stuff fowl.

If you like crisp turkey tasty dressing, add 2 cups finely chopped celery to the bread dressing.

On the other hand, if you like the crispness of chestnuts, add 1 pound of chestnuts, chopped and cooked.

Giblets go well with bread dressing, cook and chop and toss into bread dressing. Mushrooms are distinctive, if simply chopped and sautéed in butter and added to bread stuffing.

Oysters make a tempting dressing. Use 1 pint, chopped and heated until edges curl in 3 tablespoons butter.

- ### Thanksgiving Dinner
- Chilled Cranberry Juice
 - Roast Chicken or Turkey With Rice Stuffing
 - Baked Hubbard Squash
 - *Brussels Sprouts
 - *Yams With Oranges
 - *Apple Muffins
 - Pickled Pears
 - Cucumber Pickles
 - *Hot Mince (or Hot Apple Pie)
 - Coffee Cider Milk
 - Raisins Nuts
 - *Recipe Given

Sit in rice and mix well. Crush oven-popped rice cereal into coarse crumbs, add parsley, seasonings and stock. Combine with rice and mix thoroughly.

- ### *Yams With Oranges
- (Serves 6)
- 2 to 3 pounds yams
 - 2 oranges, peeled
 - 1/2 cup brown sugar
 - 1 1/2 cups pineapple juice
- Peel raw potatoes and slice into buttered casserole. Lay sliced oranges between yam slices, sprinkle brown sugar over all, then add pineapple juice. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 1 hour or until tender.

- ### *Brussels Sprouts
- Cut off wilted leaves, leave whole, and wash thoroughly. Cook covered in a small amount of boiling, unsalted water for 10 to 15 minutes. Flavor with melted butter, salt, pepper and mix in 1/4 cup chopped chestnuts.

A hot-muffin with the tang of fall—these spicy apple muffins are guaranteed to whet the most listless—if there be such on Thanksgiving day—appetite:

- ### *Apple Muffins
- (Makes 20)
- 2 1/4 cups sifted flour
 - 3 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 4 tablespoons shortening
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1 egg, beaten
 - 1 cup evaporated milk (undiluted)
 - 1 cup finely chopped, raw apples
- Gift dry ingredients. Cream shortening and sugar, stir in egg and add flour alternately with milk. Fold in apples and all ground muffin mix almost full. Sprinkle tops of muffins with additional sugar (about 2 tablespoons in all) mixed with a dash of cinnamon and nutmeg. Bake in a moderately hot (425 degree) oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Busy homemakers like to use prepared, packaged or canned mince-meat for pies, but there are still many of you, who I am sure will like putting up some right in your own kitchen. Here's how:

*Grandmother's Mince-meat Pie

- 2 pounds beef neck
- 1 pound suet
- 4 pounds fair apples
- 4 cups sugar
- 2 pounds currants
- 3 pounds seedless raisins
- 1/2 pound citron, cut
- Juice and grated rind of 3 oranges
- Juice and rind of 3 lemons
- 1 pint cider
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon mace

Cook beef slowly in hot water for 3 hours. Cool and force through food chopper with suet and apples, using coarse grinder. Add remaining ingredients, blending thoroughly. Cook slowly one hour, then seal in sterilized jars. This makes 6 quarts.

Line pie tin with pastry, then pour in mince-meat. Top with criss-cross or lattice crust and bake in a hot oven 35 minutes.

Women Purchasers Can Aid U. S. Farmers

Fitting Family's Diet With Farm Production Helps U. S. War Effort

America's 6,000,000 farmers today aren't feeding a mere 132,000,000 citizens of the United States. They are also responsible for filling huge gaps in the food supplies of most of the free world—the uniformed and civilian.

This is a large order. They will need all the help they can get from the consumer at home if they are to continue to fill steadily growing lend-lease orders from the United Nations.

The consumer is a woman. If you're a man, you'll probably say, "Hey! What about me?" Well, Mister, you're practically nobody when it comes to deciding what you'll eat and what you'll wear. Women buy 80 per cent of the food sold and 75 per cent of the clothing. Further than that, they influence almost all customer purchasing.

This is where the housewife can offer one of the greatest contributions to winning the war. She can see to it that the diet of her family fits in with farm production and the shortages created by the war. She should be informed on the problems involved in producing the goods she wants and getting them into her hands.

As the buyers for some 34 million households from coast to coast, women have a tremendous responsibility to the families they feed and clothe.

During 1942 the farmer has marked the highest production level in history. At the same time, annual income payments nationally have increased some 20 billions of dollars. But crop goals met and passed, and an income increase of over 17 per cent, don't mean that the housewife can go out and buy whatever she wants and as much as she wants.

Since Pearl Harbor, the consumer picture has undergone radical changes. "Scarcity," "colling price" and "rationing" have become common words.

Food is no longer readily available if the housewife has the price to pay. Some of her old-time staples are on the "scarcity" list, items such as tea, bananas, coffee and sugar.

Off-the-farm consumers, the urban group, comprise over 75 per cent of the population of the United States. Foodstuffs and clothing combined account for about 40 per cent of every dollar spent by the average urban family.

It is therefore obvious that at no previous time has women's good management in buying been more important.

Give Consumer Protection. Urging consumers—and remember that means women—to take heed of the farmer's problems, brings out the little-known fact that the U. S. Department of Agriculture in return does not forget consumer protection in its farming for freedom program.

When the housewife buys fresh vegetables from day to day, she isn't likely to think much about the fact that the vegetables arrived on season schedule, that they were in sufficient quantity and that the price was "right." It's only when these conditions didn't exist that she might begin to wonder how her table is served.

Then she would learn that by taking the "long view" for both farmer and consumer safety, the overall agricultural program results in uniform distribution of farm commodities, an even flow of goods into homes, prevention of market scarcities and glutted markets, and provision of benefits in price and quality.

Fresh vegetables head the market list of this housewife. Her family is well-nourished because America's farmers are doing their part for wartime health and efficiency.

The Victory Specials, announced from week to week, are a part of this plan. They use up products which are plentiful, often preventing waste and loss to the farmer, and allowing the buyer to take advantage of diet variations at a better price.

Whether or not the consumer's needs are met really depends upon the accuracy with which production has been scheduled to obtain an adequate and steady supply of food at prices fair alike to producers and consumers. This is the consumer's best insurance against the problems of scarcity.

Something known as "acreage allotment" is now being used to increase production of certain crops needed for the war, a part of the change-over from normal peacetime farming to all-out war production. The farmer is converting his fields to war production just as surely as the manufacturer turns his machines from automobiles to airplanes.

Production without adjustment would be inexcusable waste at any time. In wartime it is criminal.

What Crop Reserves Do. Probably Mrs. Average Housewife wouldn't be able to tell you what an Ever-Normal granary is—but she's enjoying the advantages of living under a farming system that provides for crop reserves. In recent years, lots of wheat, corn and other products have been stored against a time when crops might be smaller or demands greater. When drought once pushed corn production as much as 40 per cent below normal, meat prices skyrocketed and consumers suffered hardships. But now with the Ever-Normal granary's stored reserves of more than 25 per cent of a normal year's crop, there is plenty of food to convert into meat, eggs, and dairy products.

"Crop insurance" has a formidable sound, but it is a simple procedure that pays big dividends to the consumer as well as to the producer who meets the premiums. Such insurance keeps farmers in business producing needed goods by guaranteeing them, for example, some wheat or cotton income every year even if a crop fails. This protection gives farmers the assurance they need to go in for production of critical war crops.

That's consumer protection for everybody, even if it doesn't occur to the woman who buys a loaf of bread. Housewives are currently faced with the necessity of cutting down on sugar, once so much a part of their regular purchases that they

Marketing his produce is the final step in the farmer's program of supplying the American table.

Paint Your House Gutters, Downspouts

Gutters and downspouts, if damaged or raised by rust or corrosion in this wartime period of metal scarcity, are likely to result in high disrepair to the owner, to say nothing of the further damage that may be caused by inability to carry the water from rains away from the house. Many a home owner who has failed to give attention to these important parts of his house has been dismayed to find them full of holes and leaks, and sometimes actually collapsing. Such neglect is a sad waste at any time, but in wartime, with such items becoming practically irreplaceable for the duration, it becomes a near tragedy. The best insurance against such loss is thorough removal of all surface rust and corrosion, followed by prompt protection of the metal by painting or varnishing. All gutters and downspouts should be painted.

This young homemaker is choosing her dinner vegetables from the wide variety sent to market every day by the nation's farmers. Her family will get plenty of vitamins.

She must steer her food buying so that supplies may be used to the best advantage and at the same time provide the highest consumer satisfaction.

The individual buyer these days must think always of her purchases as they relate to those of the 34 million other American housewives—what the result would be if that buying were multiplied by 34 million. Would it create new scarcity or make a scarce food non-existent? Or would it have the effect of utilizing the foods that are available in abundance?

Alarm over possible increased food costs has been evidenced by some homemakers. The retail cost of a basket of foods, representing annual family purchases, amounted to $43 in September, 1942, an increase of $73 over the price of the same foods in the period from 1933-35, but the cost was still $10 lower than in 1929.

Workingmen's families today can buy a basket of specified food products for the smallest share of family income on record since 1913. In September, 1942, it required only 22 per cent of the family income. During the preceding five years the same food basket accounted for 27 per cent of the income. Average family income has been rising more rapidly than food prices during the last three years and through the first 10 months of 1942. Reasons include higher wage rates, more hours of work per week with over-time payments, and more persons employed.

The family averaging five persons this fall reached a wage level 57 per cent higher than the pre-war average for 1935-39.

This seems to indicate that the housewife's food problems will not be those of capacity to buy but rather of the market's ability to supply her needs. Reaching her goal—just as the farmer meets his production goal—will mean that scarcity of some particular type of food will be a matter of unconcern to any American, so long as he is able to eat what he needs.

The retail cost of a basket of foods, representing annual family purchases, amounted to $43 in September, 1942, an increase of $73 over the price of the same foods in the period from 1933-35, but the cost was still $10 lower than in 1929.

Workingmen's families today can buy a basket of specified food products for the smallest share of family income on record since 1913. In September, 1942, it required only 22 per cent of the family income. During the preceding five years the same food basket accounted for 27 per cent of the income. Average family income has been rising more rapidly than food prices during the last three years and through the first 10 months of 1942. Reasons include higher wage rates, more hours of work per week with over-time payments, and more persons employed.

The family averaging five persons this fall reached a wage level 57 per cent higher than the pre-war average for 1935-39.

This seems to indicate that the housewife's food problems will not be those of capacity to buy but rather of the market's ability to supply her needs. Reaching her goal—just as the farmer meets his production goal—will mean that scarcity of some particular type of food will be a matter of unconcern to any American, so long as he is able to eat what he needs.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Japan now controls about 85% of the rubber plantations of the world. Best of whether synthetic rubber is made from petroleum, grain, or other chemicals it will be scarce. Use before car owners will be able to purchase synthetic rubber tires. War purposes have first call. A tubelike strip, the size of a shoe sole, is used in the modern automobile. Without this the car would truly be a "rub" wagon. There is talk these days of supplying 25,000,000 tires a year! Get a jump from the 3,400,000 tires now produced each year of 1937. Automobiles were on over 50% of all U.S. tires in 1940; 12% of the tires had motor trucks and 21% motor tractors. Jerry Shaw

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

COLDNESS OF ROOMS MAY BE DUE TO LEAKS AROUND WINDOWS

THE owner of an old house writes that her tenants complain of cold rooms. The steam heating plant has recently been overhauled, but while it is apparently of sufficient size, the complaints still come in, and she wants to know what to do about it. As the house is old, cold air probably leaks into it all over. She should close all leaks around the sills and elsewhere in the cellar. Storm sash should be provided for all windows, and storm vestibules also. Joints between the window frames and the outside walls should all be caulked. She should apply insulation, especially in the attic floor. It is possible that the walls are so thin that cold air can pass through them, which can be overcome by overcoating the house. A wood shingle overcoat would be the least expensive. I am taking it for granted that the radiators and heating plant are of sufficient size for the job. This can be told by measuring the house for heat losses, which can be done by any competent heating contractor. If the leakage of cold air into the house is prevented, the savings in fuel consumption should go a long way to cover the cost of the improvement.

Sewer Gas

Question: Since my house was built, 11 years ago, I have been having trouble with the escape of sewer gas. Not long ago I was awakened by the odor, and going to the cellar, found that the water was out of the trap. Pouring in a bucket of water stopped the trouble for the time being. Plumbers cannot account for it. What can I do? The gas is also noticed in the upstairs bathroom.

Answer: When your plumbing was installed, the plumber may have failed to include vent pipes. Without these, discharge of water from upstairs creates a partial vacuum that sucks all of the water out of the traps on the floors below. He may have put in the vent pipes upstairs, and neglected to connect the cellar drain. Another possibility is a break in the drain that permits the water seal to leak out. Sewer gas in an upstairs bathroom may indicate an open joint in the soil pipe or a leak in the soil pipe connection. Any good plumber should be able to locate the trouble and correct it.

Foundation Settlement

Question: One of the two large chimneys in my 12-year-old house has cracked and moved away from the house. One end of the house shows cracks in the basement wall and in the outside brickwork, and there is a crack an inch wide in the alcove in the living-room. Slate particles from the roof chingle wash off and fill the gutters and downspouts. What can I do about all this?

Answer: Trouble starts with the settlement of the foundations of your house, possibly because the footings are too small. You should take no time in having the house inspected by a competent builder or mason, for if the cracking continues, there may be serious damage. The condition of your roof also requires inspection. Have it looked at by a competent roofer or a building contractor.

Vacuum Steam Valves

Question: My one-pipe steam house-heating plant heats 15 radiators at very low pressure. Would it pay me to install vacuum type air valves?

Answer: Probably, but it would not be enough to put on only the valves. It would be necessary to vacuumize the whole system. Radiator steam valves, boiler attachments and all pipe connections should be made airtight. The present pressure gauge should be replaced by a gauge indicating vacuum as well as pressure. It is best to have the job done by a competent steamfitter.

Relief Valve

Question: My hot water supply tank exploded. I asked the plumber to put a safety valve on the new one, which he did. It is supposed to relieve the steam pressure by pushing a ball up. Is such a safety valve really acceptable and safe?

Answer: From your description that valve should not be trusted. Manufacturers of valves all publish circulars describing their products. Ask different plumbers and steam fitters for circulars describing hot water tank relief valves, and compare them.

Stained Wallpaper

Question: I used transparent tape to hold paper on my wall for the protection of new wallpaper. The tape has slipped and has left a sticky mark. How can I get rid of it? Answer: Dab it lightly with fingernail polish remover.

PREPAREDNESS by the AMERICAN RED CROSS

A NATION at war must guard its health. One sure guard, and one of the best forms of preparedness is proper diet.

Since World War I, the American Red Cross has offered the nation's housewives nutrition courses, designed to teach both men and women how to eat and keep well and strong. But Americans felt that since they were the best fed people of the world, they must also be the best nourished. In that belief they were mistaken.

The army reported that one-third of all applicants for war service were being rejected because of poor health—bad teeth, heart trouble, poor eyesight, skin diseases—all traceable to undernourishment. America's mothers and housewives were shocked into action.

Within the past year, more than 250,000 women have won Red Cross Food and Nutrition certificates by attending these courses held by Red Cross chapters in more than 1,050 counties throughout the United States.

In these Food and Nutrition courses, women learned the importance of preparing and serving the right amounts of the right kinds of foods—foods which contained the needed health protective qualities to keep their husbands fit for jobs in the shipyards, the farms, the mines, the steel mills, and to build their children into physically stronger Americans.

Uncle Phil Says:

The Unattainable Lures There's no such thing as the biggest half in spite of the fact that we all want it.

Too many people who talk about war aims have concrete opinions—thoroughly mixed and permanently set.

The father of a bright baby is always ready and willing to concede that smartness is hereditary.

It is necessary that he who commands well should have at some time obeyed.

They're More Vital Some men need so much more self-restraint than others.

It isn't more optimism we want, but more hop-to-it-ism.

Habit may be either good or bad, depending upon whether you rule it or it rules you.

You'll never get a reputation for generosity by sharing your troubles with your friends.

Subconscious Training

The ease with which the subconscious mind can train itself is illustrated by the case of a certain cannibalist, reports Collier's. The man placed a tub of cold water beside his bed when retiring so he would step into it and be awakened when starting his nightly sleepwalk.

The plan worked successfully a few times and then his subconscious mind began to make him get out on the other or "safe" side of the bed.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

In the home, plants give off moisture through the leaves, from the surface of the soil, and from the pot itself if it is of the porous type, so provide sand, sphagnum moss or similar material, to keep the pots moist. And, if possible, keep the temperature down to below 68 degrees.

It is not usually advisable to let prepared but uncooked vegetables stand for any time in water; it frequently causes a loss of mineral content.

When unsalted fats are used to replace butter or margarine in baking, additional salt may be needed.

Broiled vegetables brown better when dipped in salad oil or melted butter.

Take some garden soil, mix in some compost and fertilizer, and put it away where it won't freeze. Then next winter or next spring when you want to do some extra potting of plants, you will have some nice soil ready.

When painting a room the following hints may be found useful: Don't be in a hurry to finish; put down old newspapers before work and remove all curtains and hangings; keep handy a rag soaked in turpentine to wipe off "mistakes"; start painting in the darkest corner of the room and work toward the light; don't drown your brush—immerse it about half an inch; use a piece of stout cardboard with a straight edge to protect woodwork or wall that it is not desired to splash.

A Gentle Way to Treat Constipation!

Get up and cheer, constipation suffered if you are one of the millions of people with normal intestines who suffer due to lack of "bulk" in the diet—here's news of a gentler, pleasanter way to win welcome relief! You see, many medicinal laxatives prod the intestine into action or draw moisture into them from other parts of the body. But KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a crisp, delicious cereal, acts quite differently. It works principally on the contents of your colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination. Eat it often and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped, by this simple treatment, see your doctor.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The Navy is making a plea to civilians to turn in their binoculars for military use during the War. The Army and Navy both need binoculars for navigation and scouting purposes. Depending on the power of the lenses, they cost from $50 to $200 each.

If you have a set of 6 x 80 up to 7 x 50-power lenses binoculars loan them to the Army or Navy. If not, your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps will help buy this equipment for our fighting forces. At least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every payday will do the job... and provide the "eyes" through which a scouting pilot may spot an enemy battleship.

Record War Bond Sales Is Goal Of Women At War Week Nov. 22

WASHINGTON, D. C.—America's women in the cities and on the farms—in war factories, and in their homes—are determined to make Women At War Week the greatest War Bond selling effort since Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt sounded the keynote for the Treasury Department's Women At War Week, Nov. 22 to 28, with an appeal to women to save on "little things" to provide money for War Bonds.

"We women want to work hard, we want to be a part of this strenuous period because unless we are, we will not be able to face the men when they return and claim our share of the future responsibility for building a peaceful world," the First Lady declared.

The overall direction of Women At War Week rests with the Women's Section of the War Savings Staff under the leadership of Miss Harriet Elliott, Associate Field Director, and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Chief of the Special Activities Unit.

From coast to coast women in every community have made plans for torchlight parades, fashion shows, teas, rallies, store window displays, Stamp and Bond booths, pageants, civic sings, balls and mardi gras. In each locality administration of the one week drive rests with the local War Savings Committee which has worked out activities adapted to their areas.

Mrs. Morgenthau, in a special message for Women At War Week, declared that the spirit of America's pioneer women lives today more strongly than ever. "The average American woman began to rise to new heights on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941," Mrs. Morgenthau said. "This winter the average American woman will be spending less in order to save more to invest in War Bonds and Stamps. She will not, please God, ever have to fire a gun or fly a bomber. But she will, please God, always do everything she can to help buy anything—and the best of everything—that fires or flies or floats in this terrible war."

During Women At War Week volunteer War Bond saleswomen will wear an armband similar to the one being attached to the sleeve of Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., by Miss Harriet Elliott.

Luna County War Bond Quota Assured for Nov.

Albuquerque, N. Mex., Nov. 9, 1942. Declaring that pledges from Luna county cattlemen alone assured that county War Bond Quota in November, three days following inauguration of "Stockmen's Victory Bond Month" November 1st, Floyd W. Lee, San Mateo, Chairman of the State Stockmen's war bond committee stated that the Stockmen's war bond committee stated that the Stockmen's Victory Bond Drive in New Mexico this month promised to be an outstanding success. The Lincoln county quota for November is $11,984.

Among the various plans being used by county and local Stockmen's Committees, include: Call Auction Sales with proceeds to be invested in War Bonds; Petitions being carried and passed from ranch to ranch declaring pledges for War Bond Purchases; and Barn Dances with box suppers, proceeds going to War Bond purchases, Lee said.

In connection with county and local rancher campaigns to put the November Quota of $1,400,000 for New Mexico over the top, Lee stated, that the Stockmen's Victory Bond Headquarters at Albuquerque was mailing more than ten thousand personal letters to ranchers throughout the state urging their co operation in the campaign and substantial investments in War Bonds.

Recalling that the first duty of cattlemen and sheepmen was producing the necessary food and clothing to win the war, Mr. Lee said that ranchers after paying debts and taxes should invest a substantial portion of their profit in War Bonds to assure stability of their personal business, the livestock industry and the nation in general.

Simply Old Superstition

The word "lunatic" comes from the Latin word "luna," meaning moon, and it is a old superstition that the moon has a direct effect upon the brain of human beings, hence the superstition that sleeping in the moonlight causes blindness, insanity and kindred calamities. This has long since been disproved by scientific investigation.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—In this war, it appears that newly appointed commanders always look more promising than the men they succeed. The Adm. Halsey Jr. dossier reveals a seasoned warrior, usually "friendly and democratic but a stiff disciplinarian."

When Vice Admiral William F. Halsey Jr. replaced Vice Admiral Robert L. Ghormley in command of the Solomon Islands action, we took a couple of days to look for a professionally informed and disinterested appraisal of Admiral Halsey's qualifications for his critically important job.

As an officer, his emphasis, and his proven ability, has been in adaptiveness and mobility. With Rear Admirals John H. Towers and Arthur B. Cook, he has combined the skills and furthered the techniques of men who, like himself, can both sail and fly.

He once said: "I believe in violating rules. We violate them every day. We do the unexpected."

At the age of 58, he pilots his own plane and gets close in where action is real or impending. He is one of the most experienced men in the navy in operations such as those in the Solomons today, having been awarded the Distinguished Service medal for planning and carrying through the raids in the Marshall and Gilbert Islands.

Admiral Halsey was born and grew up in Elizabeth, N. J., and entered Annapolis in 1900. He rode destroyers for a few years and later was a member of the Annapolis executive staff.

ABOUT two years ago, the British discovered that their industrial tempo was set to the pace of "Auld Lang Syne," or "Comin' Through the Rye." One of their leading classical composers, long a foe of ultra-modern music, suddenly reformed and started tapping out hot music for factory hands.

Over here, we got the point of the experiment. Professor Harold Burris-Meyer reports on researches, which he made with one of his colleagues, showing that factory music in eastern factories has stepped up production in a range from 1.5 to 11.4 per cent. But that is just a start, says Professor Burris-Meyer. He notes that "the leisure music is not the idiom of the modern industrial plant."

In May, 1935, Professor Burris-Meyer unveiled a sound machine which, working with an audience "would induce hysteria within 30 seconds." For 12 years, at Stevens, he has pioneered the field of sound stimuli, as an augmentation of dramatic effects. Previously, he had taught at Washington and Jefferson and C.G.N.Y.

IT IS not clear whether Karl Hermann Frank has decided to exterminate the Czech people, but he appears to be thinking it over. Herr Frank is state secretary of the Bohemia-Moravia Protectorate. Berne quotes him: "The murder of Heydrich has not yet been explained and it still constitutes a blood guilt that incriminates the Czech people in its entirety."

Herr Frank was active in the early stages of the Sudeten gangster buildup, serving as a diligent facilitator of hatred and savagery.

TO YOUR Good Health by DR. JAMES W. BARTON

PHYSICAL TESTS

It will be hard to convince some fathers and mothers that any good thing can come from this war. We who are parents can well understand that.

Just one instance — In a program to re-establish or rehabilitate selective service men rejected or deferred on account of tuberculosis, the Illinois state health director, Dr. Roland R. Cross, announces that so far out of 591 men rejected for tuberculosis, since November, 1940, the state health department has found only 21 who previous to this army examination had been reported as having tuberculosis.

Of nearly 600 men rejected for tuberculosis, only 21 knew they had tuberculosis or were known to have tuberculosis.

What will be done with this large number of cases?

Those with active tuberculosis will be treated by the state board of health in institutions for tuberculosis and those with inactive tuberculosis will be referred to their own physician for medical supervision.

Another instance is the psychological testing in the British army. It is under the direction of a new army department, the general service corps, in which recruits undergo their basic training and the corps for which they are best suited is determined.

Recruits for an armored formation were tested and a list was made of the men found unsuitable for service with tanks. After three months the list was compared with practical experience and found to agree within 5 per cent of error.

Use of Proteins In Reducing Diets

Nutrition experts, by measuring the amounts of the different kinds of food eaten—proteins, starches and fats—are able to tell how much heat these foods will manufacture or create in the body.

However, it is found that this amount of heat is actually more than can be accounted for by the amount of food consumed, that is, if, as should be the case, all the food is completely burned.

Why is more heat created than the amount of food eaten can create?

This extra heat is almost entirely due to the protein in the food and hardly at all to the fat or starch. This means that the protein—meat and fish—has a special action—special dynamic action—not possessed by the starch and fat foods.

Now, as this extra heat does not come from the food it must come from somewhere and that somewhere is the tissues of the body. In other words the burning of the protein foods causes a burning of the body tissues thus creating more heat. And the cells or tissues burned are those made up of fat and starch.

It is for this reason that all reducing diets do not cut down on the proteins, in fact, come diets allow an increased amount of protein. The protein not only burns up the excess fat, but causes the individual to feel more like exercising or working, thus burning up more fat tissue.

In his book "Science and Nutrition," A. L. Bacharach, professor of biochemistry in the University of London, says:

"This stimulating effect of food protein on the burning up of body tissue has an important result. It shows clearly that a high protein diet should be effective in enabling the body to burn up its existing stores of fats and starches (carbohydrates). A diet of lean meat and lean fish must therefore be a 'slimming' diet while hardly at all depriving the body of necessary food materials."

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Please give me some suggestions regarding cause and cure of lumbago. I am having a great deal of trouble with it. A.—Lumbago is due to injury or infection. If pain is present during the night, it is likely due to infection—leth, sinus, etc. Try to find cause. If it gets worse when walking, some injury may be present. Cut down on starch foods—potatoes, bread, sugar, pastry, candy as much as possible.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its busy and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—brings heavy strain on the back of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer aching backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feet constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, stinging, or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's tells the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body wastes. They have had more than half a century of successful approval. Are made in Doan's Pills factory, Des Moines, Iowa.

THE STORY SO FAR: JEFF Curtis and his wife, Lee, are already on their way to Tierra Libre when he receives a note from Zora Mitchell warning them not to come. They arrive to find both Zora and her husband dead. Although he investigated the fruit company that hired him before accepting a job as chief engineer, Jeff is already suspicious of the company and of his employer, Senor Montaya. Conversations with Jerry Monahan, who works for a rival company, and with Bill Henderson and Slats Monahan reveal that there is something going on and that Mitchell and Zora were killed because they knew too much. Bill Henderson is killed, and Jeff is convinced his death is murder. Jeff and Montaya are talking to the company's two flyers, Eyden and Lammestock.

NOW CONTINUE WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

This trend of talk was not to his liking, and Montaya patted Karl Ryden comfortingly on the shoulder and steered the conversation into other channels, mentioning at last the fatal injury of Bill Henderson the night before.

"They were good friends, the three of them. Karl and Gosta both feel Henderson's death keenly."

The proprietress satisfied, Montaya put a period to the meeting, much to the young men's relief.

"You haven't visited the airfield yet, Mr. Curtis," Montaya said in parting. "You can telephone any time it is—ah, convenient, to learn if Karl or Gosta is there to show you about. If you play tennis, they will be glad to have a new partner."

The three men left. Curt settled back in his chair, hoisted his feet, reached for his pouch. He felt vaguely unsatisfied—and couldn't put his finger on the reason.

Curt was a good organizer. He put his program on paper that Sunday night, at home, and made prodigious strides in the field during the next two days.

One big job was doubling man hours on railroad work—ballasting the main line, the pushing of two spur lines to feed farms already planted or now being planted.

Another was in putting all earth-moving machines and crews on two shifts a day, using floodlights hastily improvised from ordinary tin dishes and wachbasins.

There were minor matters under the Chief Engineer—farmhouses, wells and windmills, furniture manufacture, production of concrete items—culvert pipe, building blocks, reinforced girders and slabs to bridge farm ditches—all coming along at a fine pace.

But the really important jobs, the Rio Negro levee, the railroad branch lines to haul from present plantings to Tempujo three or four months from now when fruit should start to come in—these things had dragged! The drainage ditches, too, were far behind schedule.

Curt sometimes talked over his problems with Lee. This usually amounted to a monolog, but putting bothersome angles into words seemed to help. And here was something in which Lee had a vital interest.

It was Tuesday evening. The children had been put to bed, and Curt was lounging on the darkened veranda, propped up with cushions, Lee in the curve of his arm. His dangling left foot lazily pushed the couch-hammock back and forth. It was the half-hour after dinner that he was matching for himself.

They'd held a silence for some time, lulled by the gentle rattling of young palms in the evening breeze, so like rain on a tin roof. The lightning sliker of a lizard darting up the screen to the wide overhanging eaves roused Curt. He sat straight and reached into a hip pocket for his tobacco pouch. When he spoke it was in a calmer voice.

"Lee, I'm worried. No, not worried—puzzled is the word. There's something rotten going on here, and I don't know what it is. I'm afraid of stepping into something unaware. Like Mitchell might have. If I knew what it was, I could steer clear."

"What—what do you mean, Jeff?"

"You remarked about the coincidence of those three deaths. I didn't intend to go over this with you, but you're level-headed and whatever it is I've got us into, you're in it. You should have the whole picture."

"Jeff, what are you trying to say?"

"Lee, I'm convinced those three deaths were no coincidence. That they were all deliberate murders. The second and third, I suspect, to cover up the first."

"I knew Zora Mitchell couldn't possibly have committed suicide! Not the Zora I used to know. But Bill Henderson? What you told me about his accident..."

Curt was silent a moment. "I know. It looked like an accident, sure enough. But Lee, last Wednesday Bill told me he knew who killed Mitch, and then refused to tell me anything more for fear of involving me. He pointed out my precarious position, having you and the kids here. Said he'd work it out himself, for me to keep hands off. Well, I was all set to get behind that on Saturday night, and you know what happened."

He felt Lee stiffen beside him, but she didn't speak.

He went on. "You didn't know, I didn't tell you, but Zora Mitchell sent me an urgent note warning me not to come to Tierra Libre, not to bring my family. I got it in New Orleans and like a fool didn't look at that batch of mail readdressed to us until we'd dropped the pilot and were out in the Gulf. Then it was too late to do anything about it. I kept quiet, not wanting to alarm you. I intended to talk with her first chance I got. But she—died."

He read fear in Lee's voice when she finally said, "Jeff, what are you leading up to?"

"I don't know, Lee, I don't know. I've been going over this business until I'm dizzy! Look. Here are several possibilities. Listen and give me your reactions."

"Go on."

"First, Bill Henderson knew who killed Mitchell, and why. That 'why' is somehow important, from the way Bill stressed it. He was done away with before he could pass it on. Zora knew something, and she died. Well, these two deaths would seem to be for the purpose of covering up Mitchell's murder. Then, the crux of the whole business is why Mitch was killed. Was it really a personal grudge, or was it something deeper?"

"Go on," Lee said, in a small far-away voice.

"Well, Mitch was no fool, yet at the rate the work was going here, the coming rainy season would have flooded the whole valley again. The railroad and all the planting done this year would have been washed out!"

"Jeff, what are you driving at?"

"You think Montaya had him killed?"

"Just this. You've read my contract. Pretty stiff one. I'm absolute boss in my department—practically—so long as I follow the plans laid down. Well, if Mitchell had a contract like mine, and we can assume he did have, and if he was deliberately slowing up the work, then his death was very convenient for Montaya."

"Sabotage! You're advancing that as the reason? You think Montaya had him killed?"

"I don't say that, honey," Curt answered doggedly. "It simply seems a possible answer."

"Well," Lee replied slowly, "I know you don't like Senor Montaya. I don't, either. But that's simply personal taste on our part. We have no reason to dislike him. Or have we?"

"No."

"It's an ironclad contract you have, sure—for Montaya. There's an escape clause which would let him cancel the contract if you should turn out incompetent or unsatisfactory. Surely he could have got rid of Mitchell in a case of sabotage."

"Sabotage is difficult to prove sometimes!" Curt exclaimed. "For example, I've found Mitchell was making the dragline men use cables too slender for the job. They kept breaking. Every break slowed up the work a little more. There are many ways he could, or I could, slow up the work without enabling Montaya to invoke that clause you mention."

"That clause isn't as elastic as you think. A court, in an ensuing breach of contract case against the company had Mitchell been let out, might have obliged Montaya to pay heavy damages. Not only for remainder of salary under contract, but punitive damages for injury to reputation."

"I see what you mean," Lee said slowly. "But no, Jeff, I can't see Montaya having Mitchell killed for any such simple reason. And two other murders, too!"

"One planned murder," Curt pointed out. "The other two were follow-ups."

Lee said nothing.

"Well, another point. Montaya's put this Emilio Vargas on my tail as a bodyguard. Lee, I never had any trouble with native labor—or any labor. Kid 'em along and you can get anything done. I don't need a bodyguard. Montaya may or may not be involved in these murders—either way, I can understand his wanting to hush them up with the least trouble—but at least he does know what's behind them. Otherwise, why this Emilio Vargas?"

There was another silence. Then, "You say you had several possibilities," Lee reminded him.

"Yes. Well, let's go back to Mitchell. The fact remains that Mitchell was slowing up the work. That's conclusive. But why? Was he really working for C. A. T. or for Associated, say, to prevent rising competition?"

"Well, in that case Montaya might have reason to kill him. But Jeff, I simply can't see Mitchell as that kind of snake-in-the-grass. Whatever we might say about his social graces, he was certainly honest about his work. That's my idea."

"Mine, too. All right, could Old Man Moore have ordered it done? You know big business has few scruples when the matter of money and competition is concerned."

Lee shook her head. Light from the room beyond faintly outlined the two on the couch. "It was a positive shake."

"No. I wouldn't have put it past him if this were twenty years ago. He's older now; more careful and sly. And I don't believe he's that much concerned today about what competition he'd get from this outfit."

"It may be pretty stiff competition, Lee. Things look mighty good here for bananas."

"Even so," she answered. "No, I can't accept that."

"Well," he went on, "suppose Montaya—this is his project, lock, stock, and barrel—suppose Montaya has a personal enemy determined to wipe him out, who goes to work on his Chief Engineer as the most important single factor for the purpose."

She thought this over.

"That theory's full of holes. Why wouldn't such an enemy go after Montaya direct?"

"Make him suffer piecemeal!" Curt suggested. "Bit by bit?"

"No. That wouldn't explain Mitchell's slowing up the work. That's an important angle, from all you've said."

"I know."

"Darling," said Lee, troubled, "we're right back where we started. I can see your point in wanting to know more. But oh, Jeff, darling, be careful. Don't do anything that would put you in danger. I just couldn't bear it if anything should—should happen to you. And we've the children."

He pulled her to him.

"Don't worry, sweetheart," he said, his words muffled in the thickness of her hair. "I'm no fool. I shan't stick my neck out. I can't forget you and the kids. But I can't promise to drop the matter completely. I've got to know what's behind Mitch's murder. I've got to."

Curt insisted, "to protect myself from a possible similar danger. I can't help feeling that Montaya's in back of all this, but I don't see myself in any danger because I'm too valuable to him. He has too much at stake. For proof of that, there's the bodyguard he's assigned me..."

Yes, there was the bodyguard. Toirk Curt more and more. Though Montaya may have had Curt's safety in view, Curt also felt himself to be under rigid surveillance. Not a chance could he find to get in a word privately with Slats Monahan.

The following day Curt took to the field again. He made a fast trip to the levee camp, saw his plans for speeding the work were coming right along, tried again to get Monahan aside. It was no go.

But Vargas did have his uses. Not only did he relieve Curt of many minor details, but he kept an eye on his well-being, too. He saw to it there were lunches and vacuumed drinks when they'd be too far from camp or village. And on this trip, when Curt scratched his arm badly on a poisonous puncture-weed, Emilio was close at hand to drag out a first-aid kit and swab it with mercurochrome. He also insisted on returning to San Alejo early, that the wound might be better cared for.

The mercurochrome had little effect and the flesh about the scratch swelled. Reaching San Alejo in the middle of the afternoon, Curt unloaded himself of musette bag, field glasses, pistol and cartridge belt, as he piled out of the motorcar at the station.

"I'll go on to the hospital from here," he told Emilio. "You can drop these at the office for me. I'll see you in the morning."

Leaving the doctor's office, Curt took a turn in the corridor by mistake and found himself in the patio used by convalescents. Since he hadn't yet had a full look around, he decided to push on farther.

The patio was squared by hospital and service buildings, open at the rear corners. Wandering out one of these openings Curt found himself at the brink of a sharply descending ravine. From here he had a much wider view of the airfield than obtainable from the railroad. There were men on the field and both planes were in front of their hangar.

He pulled a sour face at thought of the two pilots, but mused, "We're here together for a long time. If I can break them down, so much the better. Cost nothing to try. Be pleasanter all around."

Knitwear Keeps You Warm and Smartly Attired All Day Long

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

SUCH a splurge of things knitted of gay and beautiful yarns in intricate patterns and unique design as fashion is making this season.

Pullovers, cardigans by day and bed jackets by night; smart tailored woolknit jackets for town wear; sweaters for casual wear, for sports or attuned to dine-and-dance wear; waistcoats, vestees and dickeys too stunning for words; jenkins, too, to add extra warmth and to sound a convincing note of chic—this in the message fashion is broadcasting from the knitted realm in answer to the challenge of prospective lowered room temperatures in houses, theaters and stores this winter due to fuel restrictions, and of gas rationing, which will cause us to walk more than ever before.

One of the outstanding items of interest in the new collections is the waistcoat, now being revived in all its former glory. Note the smart checked knitted vestee, or waistcoat, shown to the left in the above picture. Here's warmth for you underwritten with a declaration of definite chic. Choose it in yellow, gray and white check as shown here, and you will make no mistake. Add a hundred per cent Australian wool sweater and you will have the kind of protection that cruel winter blasts will find it difficult to penetrate.

As to tailor-knit jackets, they are not missing a fashion "trick" in their styling. They are taking the place of the gay tweed jackets (at least they make a grand alternative) which have been so conspicuously present for many seasons.

It takes mastery styling to achieve a knitted jacket as smart and patrician looking as the model shown at the lower right in the illustration. This navy and white tailored knit jacket is one hundred per cent wool. As pictured it is worn with wool slacks. It would be equally an good-style worn with a dress or with a separate skirt.

As to the new sweaters, women could be written about them. The prospect is that there will be a stampede this winter for both utilitarian types and evening modes of dazzling wiles.

College girls are making a mad rush for twin sweater sets, a pull-over teamed with a jacket sweater type. Fashion is especially featuring chaggy effects, with teddy-bear cardigans in the lead. White sweaters with vivid wool embroidery and novelty yarn fringe trimming are particularly in the spotlight this season.

Evening sweaters provide a theme for poets to sing of and painters to glorify in portraiture. To say that they dazzle the eye is not a figure of speech, but literally so. The big news about them is their glittering embroidery. The white woolknit evening sweater shown above to the right is elegantly embroidered with pearls and fine gold braid. Note the novel bracelet embroidered directly on the knitted surface. Long "cultured" pearls, diamond corings and a dainty spray-pin of pearls for the hair complete the jewelry ensemble.

By the way, it's correct to wear beads and jewelry with daytime sweaters as well as with evening knits. The smart young modern pictured in the group wearing the checked knitted vest is very appropriately flaunting a new version of the popular bangle bracelets in light and dark amber set in gold. Also, she is proudly wearing an amber ring set in gold and a chateleine gold watch suspended by a chain from a gold key pin.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Yarn Ensemble

This most intriguing hat and muff set goes to show the perfectly charming things that are being done with gay yarns this season. The fluttering hat with its port tail-pointed crown, together with the huge muff, is in a beautiful shade of turquoise blue yarn with black jet beads decorating the fringe. The enormous muff is a crochet and knit masterpiece. A dramatic jewelry ensemble of highly polished faceted jet adds the perfect touch to this accessory group.

Fluid Drape

The one dress that stands pre-eminently forth as making a grand success of it from the very beginning of the season is the silhouette dress of crepe, satin, or rayon or of wool jersey, that is made with utmost simplicity, its importance centering about the exquisiteness of its fluid drape that swings it into graceful slenderizing lines.

Glitter Brightens Simple Dark Wools

The fact that simple little daytime wool frocks, and even knitted modes, are highlighted with glitter accents in the way of bead work and sequin embroidery is very style-significant. Two outstanding trends in the use of glitter notes give variety to the mode.

The one is the positioning of a single motif of sequin-worked flowers on frocks that are otherwise styled with extreme simplicity. An afternoon frock of either velvet or crepe that interprets this technique makes for good style this season.

The other gesture in adding the sparkle highlight to oen in alluring cheer yokes that top otherwise simple dark dresses. These yokes are often as filmy as chiffon or sheer weave can make them, and they take on glamour in that they are finished off at the lower edge with a handworked jewelry effect or a huge bowknot done in sequins. Sometimes the treatment is varied in that the filmy yoke is all over studded with seed pearls or sparkling tiny beads.

Neckline Notes

Both long and short dresses often have low square necklines and plunging V-necks. There is a disposition on the part of designers to create such fascinating, artful effects that the rest of the dress is styled with extreme simplicity as to better accent the chic and charm of the ingenious necklines. Accents of sequins, embroidery and filmy black lace add to the picture.

Quilted Satin

Quilted satin in pastel colors is a new medium for collar and cuff sets. Yokes with square necklines and dickeys with round "jewelry" necklines are popular. For all-ling for velvet suits there are metal cloth dickeys in high colors, such as emerald, purple and fuchsia red.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

It is a good hobby to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most precious feeling in the world, the feeling of being adequately prepared.

When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go on as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the misadventures in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. The advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an old friend, looking off our business relationships, making them secure and pleasant.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Military motorcycles, for couriers, for speeding light guns from one section to another, are an important part of America's mechanized army. Many are equipped with sidecars for use of staff officers. They cost from $400 to $450.

We need thousands of these small maneuverable machines in our Army today. You and your neighbors, all buying War Bonds and Stamps, can help buy them for the Army. Invest at least ten percent of your income every payday in War Bonds and Stamps and become a member of the patriotic "Ten Percent Club." It is rapidly becoming the largest club in the world.

Warfare on Ants
Ants infesting house timbers, which have not been provisionally impregnated with creosote, may sometimes be reached and killed by the abundant use of kerosene injected by means of a syringe, or, where the timbers are accessible, by spraying or soaking them with kerosene. All timbers which have been mined and weakened should be replaced with timbers protected with creosote.

Four Names for One River
The St. Johns river has had four names: the Indians called it Wolocca, the French named it the River Blai, and the Spanish first called it the Rio Mateo and later changed it to Rio San Juan in honor of St. John.

Queen of Dances
The waltz is said to be the most famous and consistently popular dance in all history. The origin of the waltz is obscure in the dim past. In its modern guise it appeared in 1760, and "Ach du lieber Augustin" is said to be the first tune to which the waltz was danced.

Ev'rybody Ev'ry Pay Day
6,000,000 Women Enrolled in War Savings Payroll Plan.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Women At War Week, opening Nov. 22, during which women will seek to sell the greatest single week's volume of War Bonds and Stamps will serve to put the spotlight on the mighty contribution women generally are making toward financing the war.

Six million women are on War Savings payroll plans. Their monthly deductions total $3,000,000.

The customers of 830,000 newspaper boys who have sold more than $3,000,000 in War Bonds and Stamps are mostly women.

Volunteer saleswomen run nearly all the Bond booths in theatres from Maine to California. They also are operating the War Bond sales in retail stores.

Ralph G. Engelsman, Associate Field Director of the payroll savings section of the War Savings Staff, readily admits that without the support of women the phenomenal record of payroll savings enrollments would not have been achieved. Payroll savings plans are now in operation in 140,000 businesses and factories. Employees of twenty-five thousand of these firms are converting at least 10 percent of gross payrolls into War Bonds every payday.

Associate Field Director Engelsman says that women have contributed directly and indirectly toward this record. When a man devoted 10 or more percent of his pay envelope to War Bonds, the woman at home has had a powerful voice in the decision. Her planning, her economies and her cheerfulness play their part in the success of payroll savings.

The Treasury Department is counting upon this woman influence in its current campaign to step that 10 percent by New Year's. By the first of the year the Treasury hopes to enroll at least 2,000,000 women workers in a payroll savings plan and 5,000,000 more men with total deductions for War Bonds over the 10 percent mark.

'This Is My Fight Too'

PAYROLL SAVINGS

Fond of her investment in the American way of life and equally proud of the part she plays in the "Women At War Week" campaign, a member of the payroll savings plan and 5,000,000 more men with total deductions for War Bonds over the 10 percent mark.
