Circus To Be Here

The advance man for the Al G. Kelley & Miller Bros. Circus was in town Wednesday and Thursday making arrangements for the circus which is to play a one day stand here Friday, Oct. 16. Show will be sponsored by the Carrizozo Fire Department. This is considered a fine circus. It is motorized, and will show here afternoon and night.

Mrs. Johnson went to Three Rivers to spend a week with her son Carol and wife.

Mrs. Tannis Smoot and her mother Mrs. Stimmel and Mrs. Ada Edmiston went to Alamogordo Tuesday and spent the day.

Central Committee Meeting

Monday at the Court house a county Democratic Central Committee meeting was held at which Mr. T. E. Kelley was re-elected chairman of the county and Mrs. H. E. Kelt was elected chairwoman.

Mrs. Elva Wilson of Ancho, and Mrs. Miller of Ruidoso are State Committeewomen, Dr. J. P. Turner, Messrs. T. E. Kelley and Felix Ramey are the State committee men.

Secretary for the County Chairman is Mrs. Evelyn Greer.

Mr. Felix Ramey will continue as clerk, and also will continue as candidate for re-election on the Democratic ticket. Perfect harmony prevailed and the campaign is getting underway.

Idle Manpower and The War Effort

Full mobilization of manpower on the small farms of Lincoln County for increased food production is needed to win the war, John R. Curry, rural rehabilitation supervisor for the Farm Security Administration, believes. "Unless our small farm operators can produce greater quantities of food," said Mr. Curry, "our country will be compelled to ration almost all foods and there is no assurance that we can maintain nutrition needs of our civilians."

"For this reason," he continued "the federal government has ordered the Farm Security Administration to extend every possible aid to low-income and small farm and ranch operators to enable them to increase production."

The supervisor said the FSA's loan policy, collection policy, health, tenure improvement and cooperative, and all other phases of the total FSA effort is being directed and co-ordinated into a wartime food production program.

Urging all families in Lincoln County to make the most of their opportunity now to conserve food and feed and to plan for next year's production, Mr. Curry, advises that applications for operating loans are being received from farm families at his office in the Court House at Carrizozo.

"The farmer's main job until the war is won. Farm Security is anxious to help all eligible borrowers in the nation so they may exert every effort to feed the United Nations as well as themselves," he said.

Mr. Hancock for Second District

Mr. H. L. (Lee) Hancock, candidate for Commissioner from the second district has been in Lincoln county for a number of years so long in fact that the Corona people consider him an "old timer" in that part of the country. He is strictly a business man, and is a successful ranchman. He is married and has a family. Mr. Hancock is well acquainted all over the county and numbers his friends by his acquaintances. He is honest in all his business deals, is popular in his own community and if elected will give the entire county a fair and impartial administration of affairs.

Record Breaking Attendance at N. M. State Fair

Albuquerque, N. Mexico, Sept. 28, 1942: Record breaking attendance both in the afternoon and evening marked the opening days of the fifth annual New Mexico State Fair. Contrary to the expectations of many people at the state, including the more distant counties, many with exhibits particularly of live stock. Carlsbad and Eddy counties probably led the outside county attendance because of the presence of its mounted sheriff's posse. San Juan county also led a large delegation.

Opening attendance Sunday, both at the afternoon race meeting and at the rodeo, broke all previous records. Pending a final audit fair officials estimated the Sunday attendance at thirty percent greater than any single day at any previous fair.

The live stock exhibits showed marked improvement over former years with larger number of beef cattle and sheep. These come from every county in the state. There were fewer county exhibits, and the farm group displays are not as large or as numerous as in former years due chiefly to the shortage of farm labor.

In the judging so far completed the Future Farmers of American booths are the only displays on which awards have been made. Las Cruces Future Farmers won first place and a twenty dollar prize. Socorro High School was second and Anthony High School third. Eleven of the Future Farmer booths were awarded minimum prizes of $10.00 each.

4-H live stock will be judged Tuesday afternoon to permit attendance of live stock growers here for the quarterly meeting of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association September 30. Hotel reservations indicate attendance at this meeting will be the largest on the Association's records, aside from the annual conventions.

Mrs. Lillian Richard and Mrs. Fred Greer spent Sunday in El Paso.

State President Visits Rebekah Lodge

State President of the Rebekah Assembly honored Coalora Lodge No. 15 by a visit Saturday night. She gave a number of very helpful suggestions, and absent members missed a delightful evening. Lodge members and the officers are planning for an entertainment to be held in the hall in a few weeks; perhaps Hollowe'en. We hope to have a meeting and arrange the plans on Wednesday Oct. 17th.

Judge Fronger Entertains

Last evening at 7 o'clock the Honorable Numa C. Fronger, Judge of the Third Judicial District entertained with a dinner at the Southern Pacific hotel. About 60 were present. Judge Fronger made a brief talk stating he had been looking forward to an opportunity to entertain his Carrizozo friends who had been so kind to him.

Attorney John E. Hall then told of the arrival of Judge Fronger's first granddaughter on Tuesday, September 29th and that this was in the nature of a celebration of the happy event; Mr. Burke then arose and said Mr. Hall omitted to say that his second son had arrived on Saturday 26th and that he had been named John E. Jr. Judge Hudspeth made a pleasing address.

Mr. Whitaker was the "dispenser" and he really did make an excellent showing. Everybody likes "Whit. He is even tempered and clever.

Judge Fronger proved to be a most gracious and entertaining host. After the dinner, the crowd went to the Country Club for dancing.

Country Store

Don't forget to come to the Country Store at the Community Hall, Oct. 10th from 10 A. M. to 5 p. m. Sponsored by the Woman's Club.

The Country Store is the place to buy any thing you want, see and visit your friends and neighbors and learn all the gossip. Everybody welcome. Come and see for your self.

All members of the Club are requested to donate. Mrs. W. S. Norman, Chairman.

Promoted

Mr. W. S. Norman, Southern Pacific employe has been notified that he has been promoted to Locomotive Engineer, effective Sept. 28, 1942. Mr. Norman has been a fireman for quite a number of years and his promotion was well deserved.

For rent—Modern apartment, See Mrs. May Jordan.

RECEPTION FOR TEACHERS

The Woman's Club of Carrizozo held a reception Friday night in honor of the High School faculty. In the receiving line were the officers of the Woman's Club, members of the school board, and all members of the faculty. Mrs. J. P. Turner was chairman of arrangements. She was called upon for the address of welcome in the absence of the appointed. Miss Lewis responded; both ladies gave brief and appropriate talks.

Singing of Miscellaneous songs by the crowd took up part of the evening. Then Bingo and "Pleased or Displeased" were played. The "displeased" ones had the others doing a number of things for the entertainment of the crowd. Between 55 and 60 were present. Refreshments were delicious.

Teachers honored were Superintendent Maneri, Micasa Alsop, Lewis, Collins, Zuber, Wiggins, Cayou, Mrs. Bloodworth, Mrs. Glenneth Stokes and Mr. Thomas, Mica Nolle.

Local Boy in Submarine Service

A letter to Carrizozo friends from Mrs. Reid Dudley, who is in San Francisco, states that Reid completed his radio course "a la Reid style," and that he volunteered for submarine service and was accepted. He is aboard a sub somewhere at sea. His rating is Seaman first class. Reid specialized in radio for several years before volunteering for the Navy. He is one of the best the town has ever produced and is a genius in his line.

Mr. Brack Sloan was in from his ranch buying supplies last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Naldo were in town from the Red Canyon Sheep ranch last Wednesday.

Judge Numa C. Fronger was in Carrizozo the latter part of the week.

The Junk Rally

Date for the Junk Rally is Wednesday, October 14th. We want as many thousand pounds as we can get to turn over to our production plants. Lincoln county citizens always make a good showing, whether it is a Red Cross drive or a Salvation Army drive and this scrap metal drive isn't going to be any exception.

WHAT CAN I DO?

WHAT CAN I DO? is the Citizens' Handbook for War by the U. S. Office of Civilian Defense. It is a free publication that should be read and studied by every member of the family. Regardless of your occupation, age, or talents, you will find a discussion in the pamphlet on What You Can Do to aid your country in this world crisis.

Free copies may be obtained by calling at the Local Council's Headquarters, located in the County Agent's Office at the court house.

Carl P. Rodelliff, County Coordinator of Civilian Defense.

Home on Visit

Bert Skinner who has been in the Navy for some time arrived home Monday to visit his parents Mr. and Mrs. Roy Skinner. Bert has been in Cuba for some time, but arrived in New Orleans recently and came home on leave. He really looks fine. The vessel on which Bert sailed from San Diego was torpedoed off the coast of Mexico and he drifted in a life boat with other crew members, for twelve hours before being rescued.

Mrs. Veda Ruston of Santa Maria, California is a guest of her daughter, Mrs. Claudio Brannum, who has been ill.

Mr. J. M. Shelton of Corona was a business visitor in Carrizozo last Wednesday.

Roosevelt Urges Civilian Economy Cut to Bone if United Nations are to Achieve Certain Victory

In his letter transmitting to Congress the sixth quarterly report on the operations of the Lend-Lease Act, President Roosevelt warned the nation that American civilian economy must be stripped to the bone if weapons are to be produced in the quantities necessary to enable the United Nations to "march forward together to certain victory."

So far the United States has little more than passed the half-way mark toward maximum possible war production, he said, while "Britain and Russia have, up to now produced more weapons than we have."

Following is the text of the letter with which President Roosevelt sent Congress a report on lend-lease operations: To the Congress of the United States of America:

I am transmitting to the Congress the sixth quarterly report on operations under the lend-lease act.

As our men move overseas to battle they must and will have sufficient quantities of the best equipment the United States can produce. At the same time we must provide more weapons to the armies of our allies already in the fighting lines. Britain has been fighting the Nazis for three years, China is in her sixth year of war and in Russia the war's greatest land front is more than a year old. From the beginning they have carried on without enough guns or tanks or planes. It is through their uphill fight that the war has not been lost. Only by strengthening our allies and combining their strength with ours can we surely win.

Deliveries of lend-lease supplies, which have been growing, will have to grow much larger still. We and the other United Nations need all the weapons that all of us can produce and all the men that all of us can muster. In relation to their available resources Britain and Russia have up to now produced more weapons than we have. And they are continuing to produce to the limit, in spite of the fact that Russia is a battlefield and Britain an offensive base. So far the United States has little more than passed the half-way mark towards maximum possible war production. Not until we have reached the maximum—and we can do this only by stripping our civilian economy to the bone—can our fighting men and those of our allies be assured of the vastly greater quantities of weapons required to turn the tide. Not until then can the United Nations march forward together to certain victory.

BANKS AND THE WAR

BANKS AND THE WAR

BLACKOUT

What thoughts run through your mind when danger threatens? You think first of your family's safety, then of your valuables, especially your cash.

You can rid your mind of this second worry by using your bank. A checking account will provide safety for your money; a safe deposit box will supply many safeguards for your valuable personal property.

Both services are every economical. Why don't you use them?

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
Consolidated Features—WNU Release.

NEW YORK.—Heroes are almost necessarily young these days. Hence the more news in the stand of Edouard Herriot and Jules Jeanneney against a "France There Will Always Be" which means against Hitler, and for France. M. Herriot is 70 and M. Jeanneney is 78. There is an old proverb, "A wise old man's word is worth more than a young buzzard's sword."

M. Jeanneney is president of the senate and M. Herriot president of the chamber of deputies, in the overthrown parliament which still lives in the hearts of true Frenchmen. They were big news in 1934 and 1935, when they were not implicated in the fatal Stavisky pawn shop scandal, precursor of the inside job which delivered La Belle France, roped and hog-tied to Hitler.

Stavisky might have been Mark Twain's "Man Who Corrupted Hadleyburg." Smearers were Chantemps, Laval, Flanclin, Tardieu, Daladier and pretty nearly every top-hole politician in France, but not these old-timers, who long before had proven both their honesty and loyalty to the republic. "If there were one honest man among you I would have saved you." France may invoke Scripture and remind the world that she came through with two.

The bullet-headed, bull-necked, pompadoured Herriot, former pedagogue and for 25 years mayor of Lyons, was long known as the Theodore Roosevelt of France, supercharged with energy.

He won the premiership in June, 1924, and he and his cabinet of radical Socialists held power until the following April. Then as later the radical Socialist party was full of tormiles and included in its leadership many of the men who later supervised the moral and political collapse of their country. From then, Herriot was an outsider.

He rose again in 1933 defeating, appropriately, the Tardieu-Laval faction. French politics, in those years, was no place for an honest man and he soon was on the sidelines again. He belongs in the picture of staunch bourgeois liberalism.

Jules Jeanneney, long a bearded patriarch, in an old-school politician who, like M. Herriot, made his political career in the provinces. Several times he narrowly missed being president of France.

SOME people were talking the other night about econometrics, ecology, geo-politics, and logistics. We asked one of them how about it and he said: "I'm not a geometer."

There Appears No Movement Against a stranger hero my Dictionary Inflation. That goes for a lot of us these days, with new names and events outrunning both dictionaries and encyclopedias. Our fat and conservative old dictionary doesn't list econometrics, but here it is, in the financial page, thoroughly respectable.

The news is that Jacob Baker, formerly Harry Hopkins' right-hand man, down among the alphabetical folk at Washington, has been elected vice president of the Institute of Applied Econometrics, Inc. As we get it, after asking many innocent bystanders, econometrics has to do with teaming statisticians and economic theory, in mutual aid, by which the statisticians take on meaning and the theory becomes possibly provable or plausible.

Within the last four days we have pegged news stories touching on all of the above four now bright facets of dinner-table talk. They have to do with post-war reconstruction. Whatever happens, we'll have a word for it.

Mr. Baker was born and reared in Colorado, was graduated from the Colorado Agricultural college and the University of California school of engineering, found plenty of adventure as a mine manager in Mexican hot spots, and started his Chicago career in the service of all utility and engineering firms.

He is genial and baldish, casually dressed, usually smoking a pipe, and is the last man you would pick for such precision and incisiveness as his new title would suggest. We used to meet him at dining parties, a few years ago, at which he was Jake Baker, quite unlike the Jacob Baker of the consulting engineering firm of House, Baker and Associates of Chicago. He was a good catch-as-catch-can, close-harmony singer and everything about him was at variance with his career of zig-zag price charts, co-efficients of expansion, torque and obsolescence.

See Consumers In Vast Buying

U. S. Chamber Reports Public Planning Heavy Post-War Purchase of Goods.

WASHINGTON.—The people of this country are even now looking forward to a vast purchase of goods after the war ends, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce announces as the result of a preliminary survey.

Called a "pilot canvass" to be followed later by a more intensive research, the survey showed that people wanted new homes, new automobiles, home improvements and conveniences, electric irons, washing machines, refrigerators and other articles tending to make living more comfortable.

Twelve per cent of the families interviewed said that they would buy automobiles; 11 per cent wanted washing machines and 10 per cent desired mechanical refrigerators. About 1 in 30 said that they would buy a new home.

Three out of ten homeowners said that they would make repairs and improvements in their homes as soon after the war as possible. Of these, 15 per cent would paint the outside of their houses; 10 per cent would remodel one or more bathrooms; 7 per cent would modernize their kitchens; 7 per cent mentioned furnaces, oil burners or other heating installations, and 5 per cent asserted they would add rooms, either by remodeling or expansion.

Looks to Future Job Needs.

Eric A. Johnston, chamber president, stated that while the first job was to win the war quickly, the organization must realize that "when peace comes we shall have to turn to the every-day task of supplying the nation's accumulated wants and in doing so furnish jobs for the millions who will be released from the armed services and from war production."

"We hope," Mr. Johnston continued, "to ascertain facts that will make easier the huge re-employment task that will follow the ending of the war. Theories have their proper place in post-war planning, but the problems that peace will bring to American industry and to the country as a whole will be solved only on a foundation of facts."

"The coming survey is divided into two phases—consumer research and specific industrial research. First to be analyzed will be the post-war market. Then, the market analysis will be translated into terms of raw materials, plant capacity, machine tools and labor required to meet the demands of consumers."

Public Demand Shown.

The chamber decided to undertake the project on a comprehensive national basis after the test survey had disclosed that:

The public seems to be acutely conscious of things it would like to buy and almost certainly would buy within the next six months if the war should end tomorrow.

Four-fifths of the persons interviewed said that they were now ready to make one or more major purchases of certain specified articles if it were not for the war.

The test survey also revealed that most persons, on the basis of present savings, were not counting on buying for cash.

"If the limited results of the preliminary test should prove typical of the nation as a whole," said Mr. Johnston, "the American habit of installment buying will continue to be a major factor in large consumer purchases."

Snatcher of Hitler Flag Now Is U. S. Bombardier

MIDLAND, TEXAS.—Lou Zamperini, who as a California high school mile runner nearly provoked an international incident by tearing down a Nazi flag in front of Adolf Hitler's chancellery in Berlin during the 1933 Olympic Games, is ready to go back to tear down the chancellery. Zamperini was one of a class of army bombardiers graduated from the Midland flying school. After the Berlin episode he won fame as a pilot at the University of Southern California.

Overseas Broadcasting By Troops Is Limited

WASHINGTON.—The war department ordered cessation of all broadcasts or recordings in which messages are transmitted by voice between troops stationed overseas and relatives or friends in the United States. This practice was called a threat to security.

Exception was made in the order for broadcasts sponsored by the war department, of "short-wave interview or entertainment programs approved by the war department."

Used Silk Hosiery Is Frozen by War Board

WASHINGTON.—The War Production board froze for war purposes all used silk hosiery held by dealers for reclamation, except hosiery being repaired for resale. The WPB said it had undertaken an inventory of used silk hose on dealers' hands to determine whether enough silk for war needs could be obtained from such sources or whether it would be necessary to collect used stockings from homes.

Household Hints

by Lynn Chambers

Let's Have a Real Football Supper!
(See Recipes Below.)

Football Supper

Thoughts for fall naturally bring to mind fall's favorite game, football, and foods that go well after the game. It makes no difference whether you have been to one of the big games or whether you are going to feed the hungry crowd of youngsters who come in from playing in the nearest available field, the uppermost thought in your mind is good, hot, appetizing food.

Smart management dictates a delicious hot dish that you whisk out of the oven, a crisp salad for balance and contrast to the meal, and a smooth, light dessert. Your crowd will be thirsty, too, so don't forget coffee for the grown-ups and a hot, chocolate drink for the children.

Do something special for the table—even a little touching-up will bring the appreciative oh's and ah's from your family and guests. Perhaps there are a few chrysantheums still in the garden or you might try to get together a few, small novelty footballs to make up into a centerpiece. A cloth in the burnished fall colors or deep brown, bright yellow, or what-have-you will mark you as a hostess whose eye is ever on the calendar and season.

Bring on the food! And each food it will be if you serve spaghetti, dump up in casserole with plenty of sauce and cheese for extra goodness:

*Spaghetti Creole.

- (Serves 8)
- 2 pounds long spaghetti
 - 2 onions, chopped
 - 1 clove garlic
 - 1/4 cup butter
 - 1/4 cup oil
 - 3 cans tomato puree
 - 3/4 cups tomatoes
 - 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
 - Salt, pepper
 - 1 pound ground beef
 - Grated cheese

Cook onion and garlic (peeled and a toothpick run through it) in the hot oil and butter, slowly. Remove garlic. Add tomato puree, tomatoes, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Cook meat in additional fat. Add to first mixture and cook very slowly for two hours. Cook spaghetti in boiling, salted water. Drain and rinse in hot water. Place in buttered casserole, first spaghetti layer, then sauce, grated cheese, and so on until casserole is full. Garnish with an additional slice of bacon if desired. Bake in a slow (325-degree) oven 45 minutes.

Contrast note to the Spaghetti Creole is a green vegetable cooked to a crispness. It's also a good idea to balance a starchy food with something so full of minerals and vitamins as an armload of greens clinging together with a light, tart french dressing:

*Tossed Greens.

Wash lettuce and separate into leaves. Use several large spinach leaves, carefully washed, and shredded with the lettuce leaves, or small spinach leaves used whole among the lettuce. Shred three carrots, mince one small onion and toss among the greens. Marinate 1 cup

Lynn Says:

"The Score Card: The secretary of agriculture, Claude Wickard, has announced that meat rationing days are in prospect; so learn now, how to cut down on meat. Fewer meat cuts will be available, so be prepared to learn how to do many different things with what you have.

Eggs, cheese and fish are obtainable at moderate prices and are wonderful preps in place of meat, and are all rich sources of protein which is one of the main values of meat.

Tea supplies are short, so it's suggested you dispense with the one teaspoon per pot measure as a means of saving.

of cooked green beans in french dressing for 20 minutes and add to salad bowl. Add more french dressing and serve.

A bit of the something different for the menu is provided if you serve this salad:

Chiffonade Salad.

Combine cooked, cubed beets with rice, hard-cooked eggs and minced onion. Marinate and serve on crisp romaine or lettuce. You can turn out a chill con carne in no time and it's a wonderful dish on these evenings with a fall tang in the air. The kidney beans, tomatoes and ground meat blend in delicious flavor:

- Chili Con Carne.
(Serves 6)
- 2 1/2 cups kidney beans
 - 1 large onion, sliced
 - 1 chopped green pepper
 - 1 pound ground beef
 - 3 tablespoons lard
 - 3/4 cups tomatoes
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 - Paprika
 - 3 whole cloves
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 1 tablespoon chili powder

Brown onion, green pepper and meat in hot lard. Add tomatoes and seasonings. Simmer two hours, adding water if necessary. Add beans and heat thoroughly.

Corn bread is a delightful variation for any kind of dinner but is especially welcome if you serve the golden wedges of your football supper. Piping hot is the order of the day:

*Corn Bread.

- 1 cup yellow cornmeal
- 1/2 cup wheat flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 beaten egg
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon melted butter

Sift flour and mix with other dry ingredients. Combine egg with milk and add to dry ingredients. Add melted butter and pour batter into a well greased pan. Bake in a hot (425-degree) oven about 20 minutes. Apples can be found in generous quantities now, so use them for thriftness' sake. To save on your sugar, this recipe calls for part molasses and part sugar:

*Apple Pandowdy.

- (Serves 6)
- 1 Recipe Pastry
 - 4 cups sliced apples
 - 3/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1/2 cup molasses
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/4 cup water

Divide pastry into two portions and roll thin. Line shallow baking dish with pastry. Mix apples, salt, spices and sugar and put in pan. Combine molasses with water and pour over fruit. Dot with butter, cover with remaining pastry, press edges together and trim. Bake in a moderately hot (425-degree) oven 15 minutes. Lower temperature to slow (325 degrees) and bake 30 minutes. Remove from oven, chop top crust into fruit, return to oven and continue baking 1 hour. Serve with butter or with plain or whipped cream.

*Football Brew.

Use 1 heaping teaspoon decaffeinated coffee, regular grind for each cup water. Pour cold water into pot or percolator. Set percolator basket with coffee in it. Cover. Let percolate 15 to 20 minutes slowly and gently.

AROUND THE HOUSE

A cottage cheese ring makes a delicious and cool-looking mold for fruit or vegetable salad. Stiffen well-seasoned cottage cheese with a little gelatin or press the cheese into a buttered mold and let stand in a cold place.

To keep apples, bananas, fresh peaches or other salad fruits from darkening, cover the cut fruit with french dressing and store in the refrigerator. At serving time, mix them quickly with the other ingredients.

It is a mistaken idea that cucumbers must be soaked in cold water for some time before serving to remove the poison in them. They are not poisonous. Slice them and cover with ice until ready to serve, then remove ice.

Once a week garbage pails should be scalded with hot soda water and allowed to dry thoroughly in the sun.

To remove old wallpaper stir a quart of flour paste into a pail of hot water and apply the mixture to the walls. Being thick it will not dry quickly but will saturate the paper which may be easily scraped or peeled off.

Children will want to hang up their clothes if the closets are gaily and attractively decorated.

Keep lemons fresh for months by sealing them in glass jars.

For successful baking don't overcrowd your oven. Fill it to capacity, of course, but leave at least a one-inch space between every pan and the edge of the oven. Inspect baking foods frequently and turn them, about for even cooking.

Dressed for Christening

The bottles of champagne that are used in christening American ships require more than five hours to be "dressed" for the occasion, reports Collier's. They have to be fitted with a 1-16th-inch flexible copper mesh jacket, to keep the glass from flying, and adorned with two tricolored ribbons, each 23 feet long.

After launching, the bottle and ribbons are usually stored aboard the vessel to insure lasting good luck.

Dust is easily removed from reed furniture when a hose is used. Set furniture on the lawn when the sun is shining and play the hose on it.

To make a gelatin dessert in layers divide jelly in three portions and put one portion in bottom of mold. When firm decorate, if desired, with candied cherries and cover with a second portion, beaten until light. When that is firm cover with a layer of plain jelly. Mold, chill, cut in slices and serve. The different layers may be colored pink and green.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

I'll calmly take the facts of life
Nor question why they're so.
I'll find the reason for them when
I'm big enough to know.

Necessary Evil

Evil is necessary. If it did not exist, the good would not exist. Evil is the unique reason for the good's being.

What would courage be far from peril? And what pity without pain? What would become of devotion and sacrifice if happiness were universal? It is because of evil and suffering that the earth may be inhabited and that life is worth living.—Anatole France.

For the service man who smokes a pipe or rolls his own, no finer gift could be sent than a pound of his favorite tobacco. Surveys among men in camp and on shipboard show that tobacco is the gift most appreciated. Local dealers are now featuring pound cans of Prince Albert Smoking Tobacco—the world's largest-selling pipe tobacco—to send to men in our armed forces, a favorite with many a pipe-smoker or roll-your-own fan in the services.—Adv.

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

WATERPROOFING GARAGE FLOOR

IN LAYING a concrete floor in a garage or outbuilding, or in the collar of a house, for that matter, it is a simple matter to do the job in such a way that the floor will be dry, even in wet weather.

Crusted Chimney

Q: The chimney of this house has a bend and two coves are connected with it. We burn wood, and the crust that forms in the chimney closes the opening so much that smoke comes into the room.

A: The crust is due to the condensation of vaporized sap and gum in the wood. There would be little or no condensation if you had a stronger draft in the chimney.

Q: When I repaint our house my wife wants certain colors; but as far as colors are concerned I do not know much about them.

Q: There are large open joints between the wide floor boards in my very old house. How can they be filled so that they will stay closed?

Q: Is it advisable to put calcimine over wallpaper? If so, is there some special kind to use?

Q: I am thinking of covering plain wallpaper with casein paint, but am told that if I wish to paper the rooms next year it could not be done, for the casein paint would prevent the present paper from being taken off.

PREPAREDNESS AMERICAN RED CROSS

ASSISTANCE to members of the nation's fighting forces and their dependents is the primary duty of the Red Cross.

This obligation is set forth in the charter granted the American Red Cross by congress in 1905, and in the army and navy regulations.

Red Cross help to service men and their dependents takes two forms: In every army camp and with every American fighting unit anywhere a Red Cross field director is on the job.

In nearly every county in the United States is a local Red Cross chapter, with a home service worker. Its job is to help the service man's dependents, and relieve them, too, of worry and need.

Assistance to members of the armed forces may take the form of advising them or their dependents on government life insurance, allotments or pensions, and of helping them in filling out the necessary application forms.

The Red Cross may even help members of the service man's family in getting employment, emergency medical treatment, or it may grant them money to tide the family over until an allotment is actually received from the government.

More than 2,600 field directors with the armed forces, and 3,735 Red Cross chapters throughout the nation stand ready to help and advise service men and their dependents.

Prepared exclusively for WTV.

An Unnatural Liking

Success is attained not by doing the things we like, but by liking the things we have to do. Perhaps the reason romance lasted longer in the old days was because the bride looked the same after washing her face. If a man doesn't know anything, he will tell you all about it at great length. When one will not, two cannot quarrel.

Casein Paint

Q: I am thinking of covering plain wallpaper with casein paint, but am told that if I wish to paper the rooms next year it could not be done, for the casein paint would prevent the present paper from being taken off. Is the casein paint really waterproof? A: Casein paint is waterproof to the extent that water will not take it off. But it is absorbent, and when well soaked with water, the paper underneath would, I believe, become loosened. Of course, the quality of the paint and of the paper would make a difference but I think that you would be safe in going ahead.

NOTICE
STATE ENGINEER'S OFFICE
Number of Application 2444, Santa Fe, N. M., September 11, 1942.

Notice is hereby given that on the 8th day of September, 1942, in accordance with Section 20, Chapter 49, Irrigation Laws of 1907 R-Bar Ranch, Inc. of Carrizozo, County of Lincoln, State of New Mexico, made formal application to the State Engineer of New Mexico for a permit to appropriate the Public Waters of the State of New Mexico, to be made from Springs in Nogal Canyon of Tularosa Closed Basin, by means of low rock diversion works at points: N. 70° E., 2250 feet distant; S. 87° E., 1830 feet distant; S. 67° E., 1850 feet distant, all from the SW corner of Section 32, Township 8 S., R. 13 E., N. M. P. M., being in the SE 1/4 SW 1/4 of said Section 32, and in NE 1/4 NW 1/4 of Section 5, Township 9 South, Range 13 E., N. M. P. M., and 3 cu. ft. per second, and 120 acre feet are to be conveyed to 40 acres of land described as SE 1/4 SW 1/4, 12 acres; NE 1/4 SW 1/4, 16 acres; SE 1/4 NW 1/4, 12 acres, all of Section 32, Township 8 S., Range 13 East, by means of open ditches and there used for irrigation purposes between the dates of January 1 and December 31 of each year.

Any person, firm, association or corporation deeming that the granting of the above application would be truly detrimental to their rights in the water of said stream system shall file a complete statement of their objections substantiated by affidavits with the State Engineer and serve a copy on applicant on or before the 10th day of November, 1942, the date set for the Engineer to take this application up for final consideration unless protested. In case of protested applications all parties will be given a reasonable length of time in which to submit their evidence in detail or arrange a date convenient for a hearing or appoint a referee satisfactory to all to take testimony. Appearance is not necessary unless advised officially by letter from the State Engineer.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 1 HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 11

Approved April 18, 1941. A JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION THREE (3) ARTICLE FOUR (4) OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO TO PROVIDE FOR THE NUMBER, QUALIFICATION AND APPOINTMENT OF MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO.

Section 1. That it is hereby proposed to amend Section 3, of Article 4 of the Constitution of the State of New Mexico, to read as follows:

Section 3. The Senate shall consist of one Senator from each county of the State, and in the event the number of counties is hereafter increased or decreased, the number of Senators shall be increased or decreased accordingly at the next ensuing election of Senators after such change.

Until changed by law as hereinafter provided the House of Representatives shall consist of one Representative for each eleven thousand, or major fraction thereof, of the inhabitants within each county as shown by the census of the United States next preceding the election of such Representatives; provided, however, that each county of the State shall, regardless of population, be entitled to at least one Representative.

At its first session after the publication of any United States census, hereafter taken, the Legislature may change the number of inhabitants required in a county for each Representative from eleven thousand, as heretofore provided, to such greater number as the Legislature shall deem proper, provided, that each county shall have at least one Representative as heretofore provided.

The members of the Legislature shall be qualified electors of their respective counties and residents of New Mexico for at least three years next preceding their election. Senators shall be not less than twenty-five years and Representatives not less than twenty-one years of age at the time of their election. No person shall be eligible to the Legislature who, at the time of qualifying holds any office of trust or profit under the state, county or national government, except notaries public, officers or employees of municipalities, and officers of the militia who receive no salary.

Section 2. The amendment proposed by this resolution shall be submitted to the people for their approval or rejection at the general election in November 1942 or at any special election held prior thereto.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 2 SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 2

Approved April 10, 1941. A JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTIONS 28 AND 10, ARTICLE 4 OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO, WHICH SHALL EXTEND THE PRESENT PROVISION OF SAID SECTION, SO AS TO ALSO PROHIBIT THE APPOINTMENT OR EMPLOYMENT OF ANY MEMBER OF THE LEGISLATURE TO OR IN ANY PUBLIC OFFICE OR EMPLOYMENT, THE COMPENSATION OF WHICH IS PAID FROM ANY PUBLIC FUNDS; AND TO INCREASE THE COMPENSATION OF MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Section 1. That it is hereby proposed by the Legislature of the State of New Mexico, that Sections 28 and 10, Article 4 of the Constitution of the State of New Mexico be amended by the people of said State so as to read as follows, to-wit:

Section 28. No member of the Legislature shall, during the term for which he was elected, be appointed to or employed in any civil or public office, public capacity or employment within the State; in which the compensation or remuneration is to be paid, in whole or in part, from any public funds of the State or of any of its institutions, agencies, municipalities or other political subdivisions; nor shall he, within one year thereafter, be appointed to any civil or public office created, or the emoluments of which were increased during such term; nor shall any member of the Legislature during the term for which he was elected, nor within one year thereafter, be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with the State or any municipality or any other political subdivision thereof, which was authorized by any law passed during such term.

Section 10. Each member of the Legislature shall receive as compensation for his services the sum of one thousand dollars annually and ten cents for each mile traveled in going to and returning from the seat of government by the usual traveled route, once each session, and he shall receive no other compensation, perquisite or allowance.

Section 11. In the event of the passage and approval of this resolution proposing the foregoing amendment, the same shall be substituted to the electors of the State at the next general election.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 3 SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 3

Approved April 4, 1941. A JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO.

Section 1. That the following Amendment to the Constitution of the State of New Mexico is hereby proposed to be added at the end of ARTICLE XXIV thereof and known as PARAGRAPH (A) thereof and entitled:

CONTRACTS RELATING TO GRAZING AND AGRICULTURAL LEASES UPON STATE LANDS, to be submitted to the electors of the State at the next general election, when and after the Congress of the United States shall consent thereto.

PARAGRAPH (A), ARTICLE XXIV. Leases for grazing and agricultural purposes on lands granted or confirmed to the State of New Mexico by the Act of Congress of June 20, 1910, entitled "An Act enabling the people of New Mexico to form a constitution and state government and be admitted into the union on an equal footing with the rest of the states," may be made under such provisions relating to the necessity or requirements for or the mode and manner of the appraisal, advertisement and competitive bidding, and containing such terms and provisions as may be provided by Act of the Legislature; the rentals and other proceeds therefrom to be applied and conserved in accordance with the provisions of said Act of Congress for the support of or in aid of the common schools or for the attainment of the respective purposes for which those several grants of land were made.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 4 SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 10

Approved April 16, 1941. A JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO TO PROVIDE STAGGERED TERMS FOR BOARDS OF REGENTS FOR THE EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO.

Section 1. That Section 13 of Article XII of the Constitution of the State of New Mexico be amended to read as follows:

"The legislature shall provide for the control and management of each of said institutions by a board of regents for each institution, consisting of five members, who shall be qualified electors of the State of New Mexico, no more than three of whom at the time of their appointment shall be members of the same political party. The Governor shall nominate and by and with the consent of the senate shall appoint the members of each board of regents for each of said institutions. The term of said members shall be for six years, provided that of the five first appointed the terms of two shall be for two years, the terms of two shall be for four years and the term of one shall be for six years. The Governor, after hearing had on specific charges, may remove any member of any board of regents of any of said institutions, for incompetency, neglect of duty or malfeasance in office. Any member so removed, within ten days after the order of removal has been served upon him, may appeal to the Supreme Court of New Mexico, which shall hear, and determine the charges de novo and its decision shall be final. An order of removal made by the Governor shall operate as a suspension of such member during the period allowed for appeal, and if an appeal be taken, during the pendency of such appeal.

Section 2. The amendment proposed by this resolution shall be submitted to the people for their approval or rejection at the general election in November, 1942.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 5 SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 11

Approved April 14, 1941. A SENATE RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION FIVE (5), ARTICLE FOUR (4) OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO TO DIVIDE THE REGULAR SESSIONS OF THE LEGISLATURE INTO A FIRST AND SECOND TERM, IN ORDER TO EXPEDITE THE BUSINESS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Section 1. That it is hereby proposed to amend Section 5 of Article 4 of the Constitution of the State of New Mexico, so as to read, as follows:

Section 5. Each regular session of the Legislature shall begin at 12:00 noon on the second Tuesday of January next after each general election and shall remain in session not to exceed sixty days. Such session shall be divided into a first term of twenty days and a second term of forty days, with a recess of thirty days between such terms. During the first term, all bills to be considered at the session shall be introduced, read not more than twice by title or in full, printed, and referred to the appropriate committee. No bill shall be placed upon its third reading or finally passed during its first term, except appropriations for expenses of the legislature and such measures as shall be submitted for immediate legislative action by the Governor accompanied by a special message setting forth the facts making such action necessary for the general welfare.

During the second term of such session, all bills introduced at the first term shall stand for final action at the second term. Notwithstanding any provision of any section of this constitution to the contrary, no bill shall be introduced at the second term except appropriations for expenses of the legislature, the general appropriations bills, bills to provide for the current expenses of the Government, committee substitutes for bills introduced at the first term, and such measures as may be submitted by the Governor, accompanied by a special message showing necessity for legislative action. The members of the legislature shall be allowed their mileage for attending both the first and second terms of the legislature. No special session of the legislature shall exceed thirty days.

Section 2. In the event of the passage and approval of this Resolution, proposing the foregoing amendment, the same shall be submitted to the people at the general election to be held in November, 1942.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 6 SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 12

Approved April 12, 1941. A JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE XII OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO BY ADDING THERETO A NEW SECTION TO BE NUMBERED SECTION 14, CREATING THE NEW MEXICO EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS BOARD.

Section 1. That Article XII of the State Constitution be amended by adding thereto a new section to be numbered Section 14, and to read as follows:

"Section 14. There is hereby established the New Mexico Educational Institutions Board, consisting of five (5) members, whose qualifications may be prescribed by law. The Board shall consist of five (5) members appointed by the Governor, confirmed by the Senate, and who shall be removable only for cause, as provided by law for the removal of officers not subject to impeachment. Upon the taking effect of this section, the Governor shall appoint the said members for terms of office as follows: two for a term of two years, two for a term of four years, and one for a term of six years. Any appointment to fill a vacancy shall be for the balance of the term only. Except as above designated, the term of office of said members shall be six years or until their successors are appointed and qualified.

"The members shall constitute a coordinating board of control for all State educational institutions described in Section 11 of Article XII of the State Constitution, with the following specific powers: (1) it shall prescribe standards of higher education applicable to each institution; (2) it shall determine the functions and courses of study in each of the institutions to conform to the standards prescribed; (3) it shall grant degrees and other forms of academic recognition for completion of the prescribed courses in all of such institutions; (4) it shall recommend to the State Legislature the budget allocations for each institution.

"The appropriations made by the Legislature for all such institutions shall be made in consolidated form without reference to any particular institution and the New Mexico Educational Institutions Board herein created shall allocate said funds to each institution according to its needs and functions."

Resolución de la Cámara en Conjunto No. 11. Aprobada este día 18 de Abril, A. D., 1941. UNA RESOLUCION EN CONJUNTO PROPONIENDO UNA ENMIENDA A LA SECCION TRES (3) ARTICULO CUARTO (4) DE LA CONSTITUCION DEL ESTADO DE NUEVO MEXICO PROVEENDO EL NUMERO, CALIFICACION Y NOMBRAMIENTO DE MIEMBROS A LA LEGISLATURA DEL ESTADO DE NUEVO MEXICO.

concedidos o confirmados al Estado de Nuevo México por la Acta del Congreso de Junio 20, 1910, titulada "Una Acta habilitando al pueblo de Nuevo México para que forme una constitución y un gobierno de estado y para que sea admitido en la Union con una base igual con los demás de los estados," pueden hacerse bajo tales provistos que tienen relación a la necesidad o los requerimientos para el modo y la manera de la evaluación, anuncio y propuestas competidas, y conteniendo tales términos y provistos como pueda proveer por Acta de la Legislatura; las rentas y otros ingresos de los mismos para aplicarse y conservarse de acuerdo con los provistos de dicha Acta del Congreso para el soporte o en ayuda de las escuelas comunes o para la adquisición de los respectivos fines para los cuales estas concesiones de terreno fueron concedidas.

Resolución Conjunta del Senado No. 10. Aprobada este día 16 de Marzo, A. D., 1941. UNA RESOLUCION EN CONJUNTO PROPONIENDO UNA ENMIENDA A LA CONSTITUCION DEL ESTADO DE NUEVO MEXICO PARA PROVEER TERMINOS ALTERNATIVOS PARA CUERPOS DE REGENTES DE LAS INSTITUCIONES EDUCACIONALES DEL ESTADO DE NUEVO MEXICO.

Sección 1. Que la Sección 13 del Estado de Nuevo México sea enmendada para que sea como sigue: "La legislatura proveerá para el control y manejo de cada una de dichas instituciones por medio de un cuerpo de regentes para cada institución, consistiendo de cinco miembros, quienes serán electores calificados del Estado de Nuevo México, no más que tres de los cuales al tiempo de su nombramiento serán miembros del mismo partido político. El Gobernador nominará y por con el consentimiento del Senado nominará los miembros de cada cuerpo de regentes para cada una de dichas instituciones. El término de dichos miembros será por seis años, provéido que de los primeros cinco nombrados, los términos de dos serán por dos años, los términos de dos por cuatro años y el término de uno por seis años. El Gobernador, después que se tenga una audiencia sobre cargos específicos, puede remover cualquier miembro de cualquier cuerpo de regentes de cualquiera de dichas instituciones, por incompetencia, negligencia de sus deberes o mal proceder en oficina. Cualquier miembro removido así, dentro de diez días después que la orden de remoción ha sido servida sobre el, puede apelar a la Corte Suprema de Nuevo México, la que escuchará y determinará los cargos de novo y su decisión será final. Una orden de remoción hecha por el Gobernador operará como una suspensión de tal miembro durante el período otorgado para una apelación, y si es to una apelación, durante el tiempo que está pendiente tal apelación.

Sección 2. La enmienda propuesta por esta resolución será sometida al pueblo para su aprobación o rechazo en la elección general en Noviembre de 1942.

ENMIENDA CONSTITUCIONAL NO. 5

Resolución Conjunta del Senado No. 11. Aprobada este día 14 de Abril, A. D., 1941. UNA RESOLUCION DEL SENADO PROPONIENDO UNA ENMIENDA A LA SECCION CINCO (5), ARTICULO 4 DE LA CONSTITUCION DEL ESTADO DE NUEVO MEXICO PARA DIVIDIR LAS SECCIONES REGULARES DE LA LEGISLATURA EN TERMINOS PRIMERO Y SEGUNDO PARA APRESURAR EL NEGOCIO DE LA LEGISLATURA.

Resúlvase por la Legislatura del Estado de Nuevo México: Sección 1. Que por esto se propone enmiendar la Sección 5 del Artículo 4 de la Constitución del Estado de Nuevo México para que sea como sigue:

Sección 5. Cada sesión regular de la Legislatura comenzará a las 12:00 del medio día en el segundo Martes de Enero próximo después de cada elección general y permanecerá en sesión que no exceda de treinta días. Tal sesión se dividirá en un primer término de veinte días y un segundo término de cuarenta días con una suspensión de treinta días entre tales términos. Durante el primer término, todos los proyectos que tienen de considerarse en la sesión se presentarán, se leerán no más que dos veces por título o por entero, no imprimirán y no referirán a los propios comités. Ningún proyecto será puesto sobre tercer lectura o pasado finalmente durante un primer término, excepto apropiaciones para gastos de la legislatura y tales medidas que sean sometidas por el gobernador acompañadas de un mensaje especial exponiendo los hechos que hagan tal acción necesaria para el bienestar general.

Durante el segundo término de tal sesión, todos los proyectos presentados en el primer término no pondrán para acción final en el segundo término. No obstante cualquier provisto de cualquier acción de esta constitución a lo contrario, ningún proyecto será presentado en el segundo término excepto apropiaciones para gastos de la legislatura, el proyecto de apropiaciones generales, proyectos para proveer para gastos corrientes del gobierno, sustitutos de comité para proyectos presentados en el primer término, y tal medidas que sean sometidas por el gobernador acompañadas de un mensaje especial exponiendo los hechos que hagan tal acción necesaria para el bienestar general.

Sección 2. En el evento del pasaje y aprobación de esta resolución, proponiendo la enmienda anterior, la misma será sometida al pueblo en la elección general para tenerse en Noviembre de 1942.

Occupation of Aleutian Islands by Japanese Constitutes Serious Menace to Entire U. S.

Battle of Kiska Island, Main Jap Stronghold, Unique in Warfare

By CHARLES A. SINGLER
 Released by Western Newspaper Union.

The Aleutian Islands, or Catherine Archipelago, are a bow-shaped chain of small islands in the North Pacific which point forever towards Japan. This geographical fact took on military significance after the Jap attack on Dutch Harbor last June.

JAP ZERO COMES TO NAUGHT . . . Somewhere in the barren Aleutian Islands, this Japanese Zero fighter plane finds its final resting place. Downed by defenders during a recent raid, its battered remains are shown being examined. The plywood "belly tank" for gas to give it greater range, lies in the foreground.

The Aleutians extend west from Alaska toward Kamchatka peninsula for nearly a thousand miles. There are about 70 islands and 80 inlets, all of which are included in the territory of Alaska. The largest of these islands is Unalaska in the port of entry for western Alaska, and the center of the fur trade.

Desolate, rocky, and forbidding, the Aleutians apparently are a continuation of the main Alaskan range. This is a land of snow-streaked volcanoes.

The climate resembles that of Iceland; mean temperature, July, 50 degrees; January, 35. Rainfall is heavy, and clouds and fogginess are almost constant. All summer long the fog lies thick over the land. During the winter, gales lash the seas.

Practically treeless, the islands are rich in berry-bearing shrubs. The Aleutian natives live in rude huts and spear fish. Indians and Eskimos in the interior live on reindeer, while the Aleuts, for the most part, make their living at fishing. It may be said with a full degree of certainty that this is one place in the world where the fishing is usually very good. There is no need for albinos.

Trouble Starts for Aleuts.
 Things were going along nicely for the Aleuts up to the time of the Japanese invasion, and then their whole world began tumbling about their ears; the war had come to the Far North!

It was almost unthinkable, a few years ago, that this land of fog and 400 tons of steel and TNT into Jap shipping and shore installations in Kiska harbor, wreaking great havoc on Jap ammunition and oil dumps, and on her runways for land-based planes.

Battle of Kiska Unique.
 The battle of Kiska was one of the few battles in this greatest of all wars where ships went to bat in the old-fashioned way, relying on the punch of their guns. The navy's drive right up to Kiska's enemy guns was nothing short of brazen and has few, if any, parallels in the history of naval warfare. It was a hit and run attack built on sheer nerve and courage, but it more than accomplished its objective. Pearl Harbor was a stab in the back. The Kiska attack was not an act of national treachery, but a bold frontal assault which should have been expected, but evidently was not. The Japs were as completely surprised on the U. S. forces were at Pearl Harbor.

American submarines, too, have done splendid work in the Aleutian area, having sent many Jap cargo vessels, transports and warships to the bottom.

The Jap invasion of the Aleutian islands is a constant threat to Alas-cost the U. S. some brave fliers and some good bombers. It is a constant fight with the weather, and fogs and mountains have taken a bigger toll of our planes and fliers than have the Japs.

Some are of the opinion that the Japs may be holding Kiska to guarantee their position in northern waters, from which they take great quantities of fish with which to feed the empire of Japan. This view is not held by Sen. M. C. Wallgren (D.) of Washington, member of the military affairs subcommittee that visited Alaska. Senator Wallgren claims that the Japs must be driven from the Aleutians before a North Pacific offensive can be launched. Wallgren said: "Occupation of three of the larger islands at the tip of the Aleutian chain puts the Japs squarely across our bridge to Russia."

The Japs must be persuaded with gunfire and bombs (the only language they understand) that the Aleutian islands are unhealthy for any but Aleuts and Americans, and this is being done as fast as possible. At present the Japs menace Alaska, and Alaska is of strategic importance to the safety of continental United States. Alaska lies athwart any Jap invasion of this continent, and is the route by which America may most easily strike against Japan and pay off some old scores. And yet, the only way to get supplies and men to this vital area is by plane or boat.

America's Burma Road.
 Very fortunately for Alaska and America, the Alaskan highway is now well under construction. This highway, the greatest wilderness undertaking in American history, will enable the U. S. to rush munitions to guard the bases that lie closest to Japan. Today 20,000 bulldozers and logging crews are hacking a wide swath into MacDonal's Wilderness, creating a corridor for troops and equipment to roll to the Far North. This highway will link the U. S. to its Arctic outpost, and will be of immense strategic importance.

We may all be grateful that Donald MacDonal, an elderly engineer, was so determined in his purpose to get a highway through to Alaska. As if gifted with prophetic vision, for 20 years MacDonal promoted the idea. To prove that his idea was sound and perfectly feasible he made a trip to Alaska on foot, at great personal danger. While an Alaskan highway commission was created some years ago, with MacDonal as one of its members, it was not until December 7, 1941, that anything was done about building the highway. The attack on Pearl Harbor brought into sharp relief the military importance of a highway to this northern U. S. outpost—and America's Burma Road was begun.

Work Proceeds Apace.
 The highway was started at Dawson Creek, just across the British Columbia line from Alberta, and will extend along the east side of the Rockies. The work is now proceeding apace, the ring of the axe and the blast of dynamite now being familiar sounds in wilderness fastnesses which for centuries knew only the howl of the timber wolf and the crashing of the brush as the lordly moose went by.

Uncle Sam has a way of getting things done in a big way, when he rolls up his sleeves, and while this is a stupendous undertaking, it will not be so very long before the North American lifeline to Alaska will be an accomplished fact—one more gigantic stride in the direction of the conquest of ambitious Japan. When completed, soldiers and armored equipment will reach Fairbanks in 80 hours from Edmonton, Alberta.

This trip by ocean from Seattle, takes eight days to Anchorage and another day to Fairbanks. The cost of the highway will be $40,000,000—less than the cost of one battleship.

Brig. Gen. William Morris Hoge is in charge of the construction of the highway, which follows almost mile for mile the route MacDonal blazed through the forest fastnesses years ago. The men on the construction job are living much as our forefathers did, depending to a considerable extent upon their ability as hunters and fishermen. Surrounding forests provide both fuel and shelter.

Old White House Fence Goes for Scrap

The national scrap drive plays no favorites. Photo shows Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the Interior, tossing part of a fence that once surrounded the White House into the Interior department's scrap metal collection. The old fence was replaced in 1937 by a newer and higher fence.

Vichy 'Celebrates'

Marshal Petain, head of Vichy, France, is welcomed by Pierre Laval as he arrives at the Gergovie memorial, near Clermont Ferrand. Here, on the second anniversary of the French Legion, members of the legion brought earth from all parts of the French empire to be sealed in the monument which commemorates Verdun's victory over Julius Caesar in 52 B. C.

U. S. Troops at Port Moresby

Carrying barracks bags, personal belongings and ammunition, these American soldiers are shown as they arrived at Port Moresby, New Guinea. Since then these troops have likely seen action with Jap jungle troops, headed towards this base. New Guinea natives and Australian soldiers sitting on gas drums inspect the troops as they march past.

Rubber Czar

A streamlined rubber program is expected to develop from the appointment of William Jeffers as rubber administrator. Mr. Jeffers (shown) is president of the Union Pacific R.E.

Morning Chores for U. S. Desert Troops

This tank crew, encamped for the night on the desert, is getting things in battle shape as the sun rises. One man keeps a vigilant lookout for the enemy; a second crewman cleans out the 75 mm. gun, and a third works around the treads. American tankists have already given an excellent account of themselves in tank battles against the Rommel forces.

Jap 'Ins' and 'Outs'

Three Big Names in Coast Guard

By any other names, these three smiling members of the U. S. coast guard would be just as efficient, but with the names they've got they sound oh, so impressive! They are, left to right, Winston Churchill of Denver, Charles Evans Hughes of New York, and Henry Edsel Ford of Mt. Sterling, Ky. All are in the U. G. radio school in Atlantic City.

Gets High Post

Rear Admiral John M. Towers, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, who has been named "commander of the air force, Pacific West," a new and important post, just created.

Contractors camp along the Alaskan highway job. Camps are so located that the thick poplar growth serves as protection against winter storms. The camp area is graded to assure proper drainage.

collitude would come day become a land of incredible battles in the air and on the sea—that some day along these dangerous fog-bound coasts one of the world's greatest concentrations of cruisers would steam, without the benefit of destroyer smoke-screen and without air support, right up to the enemy's guns on Kiska Island, and carry the war to Japan.

U. S. destroyers were in that battle line, too, but they didn't lay down any smoke screen. The Almighty had taken care of that.

The Aleutian Islands came into the world spotlight last June when the Japs made their attack on Dutch Harbor from aircraft carriers. This was a hit and run attack, and the carriers disappeared in the mists.

As we now stand, the Japs are occupying Kiska, Attu and Agattu. Kiska Island is some 20 miles long, and is separated from Little Kiska by a narrow strait. Kiska appears to be the main Jap stronghold in this area. When the Japs moved in they renamed this island Narukami.

Narukami—or Kiska, as we prefer to call it—has had considerable attention from the U. S. navy since the Japs took possession under cover of Kiska's fogs. For, on the very same day the battle for the Solomon Islands began at the other end of the world, a U. S. navy task force glided through the fog almost up to the very guns of the invaders and hurled to and American cities, and while the navy has done remarkable work up to the time, it may take a combined land and sea operation to get them out. When the occupation of the Aleutians first was made it was assumed that such occupation was merely a face-saving gesture to pacify the Son of Heaven in Tokyo for the bombing of the Japanese capital. But as the invasion persisted and grew in force this idea was abandoned, and the real danger to America in the presence of the Japs in the Aleutians became apparent.

10,000 Japs on Kiska.
 It has been estimated that at least 10,000 Japs have occupied the island of Kiska alone. Many of these, no doubt, have been taken care of by the fleet's heavy guns and by the navy's big Catalina flying boats and the army's B-17 and B-24 bombers, that dare the dangers of fog and mountain to dump their loads of explosive on the venturesome Japs. The "Cats," condemned by some as slow, lumbering and outmoded, have been the hero planes in the defense of Alaska, searching out the Japs in hide-away islands, and spending endless gruelling hours on patrol duty. When the "Cats" and the Flying Fortresses go roaring through the "soup," as the fog is called in Alaska, there is hell to pay on Kiska.

However, trying to bomb the Japs out of the fog-covered Aleutians has

W.N.U. SERVICE

THE STORY SO FAR: Jeff Curtis and his wife, Lee, are already on their way to Tierra Libre when Jeff receives a note from Zora Mitchell warning them not to come. It is too late to turn back, so Jeff decides not to tell Lee, who was expected to their return to the tropics. She finally agreed to go only after Jeff had persuaded her that the job of chief engineer for a newly organized fruit company is the chance of a lifetime. They arrive in Tierra Libre to find Zora's husband dead. In a conversation with Jerry McInnis, Jeff learns that Mitchell's death was murder and that there is something strange going on. Jeff and Lee are waiting now for Senor Montaya, who they expect to lead them to the fact that his investigation of the company revealed nothing, Jeff is suspicious.

NOW CONTINUE WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

McInnis shoved off for Puerto Soledad at once. His launch was built for service, not speed, and bucking the tides along the coast would slow him down further.

On the dock it took the combined efforts of both Lee and Curt to keep the boys out of mischief.

Presently a downriver boat snuggled into its berth with the ease of a ferry. It gave a pair of toots, delicate as a French railway train's, as the gangplank was wheeled to the vessel's side and the job of berthing completed.

Senor Montaya was unmistakably tall, erect of bearing, very clearly the gente de pelo, the gente principal of these countries. He wore faultless whites, a crisp panama on curly black hair—straight from the ship to the little group he came.

"My sincere apologies, Mr. Curtis, Mrs. Curtis," were his first words. He spoke with very little accent, though the timbre of his voice betrayed his Spanish origin. He made a deep bow to Lee, held out his hand to Curt. "I have been more than busy since—ah, Mr. Mitchell's unfortunate happening. You have discovered by now the reason I need a new Chief Engineer, no?"

Lee took the boys in hand, holding their interest with the selection of a gigantic, gaudy straw hat for each of them, from stock piled a dozen high on a vendor's head, while Senor Montaya led Curt on a quick survey of the docks and facilities here.

In the sheds, two items instantly caught the eye—two boxes forty feet long, ten wide, and quite thin for these dimensions. Curt cocked a brow at them.

Montaya said briefly, "Spare wings. We have two planes. One of them was tied up for weeks once by a damaged wing, so now we have spares on hand."

"I heard you've had considerable use from your planes."

"Yes," was the monosyllabic reply.

"What make are they?"

It was a conversational question. It would have made no difference one way or another what Montaya answered, yet the question brought a sharp, quick glance from eyes that were beady black here in the gleam of the big receiving shed—and a rotund vagueness in reply.

One end of the bodged was piled high with barrels bearing the stencil of a well-known chemical firm. Curt paused before them, looked them over with considerable interest. Linn.

"So you treat the soil before planting?" he asked. "Over-acid, I suppose, from centuries of flooding."

A frown definitely stamped Montaya's forehead at this, but was immediately chased away by a smile that showed even, white teeth.

"That, Mr. Curtis," the senior replied smoothly, "is a question that would come under the head of chemical research. We have a chemical expert, Dr. Toenjes, from Amsterdam. If he likes you, he may be willing to answer your questions. But I wouldn't count on it," he said, with another flash of teeth. "Dr. Toenjes is quite jealous of his theories, which I expect will produce more and better fruit than Associated across the river."

As Curt was turning this over in his mind, Senor Montaya pulled at his lower lip—a lip unusually red even for his swarthy skin.

"I expect you to work along with us in this fashion. You are responsible for the engineering work assigned to you, just as Dr. Toenjes is responsible as Agricultural Superintendent, just as Mr. Lannestock is responsible for aviation and Mr. Ryden for transportation."

"Lannestock? Ryden?"

"Most of our contract employees are Americans. These two are Swedish. I brought them here as pilots. But we no longer need two full-time pilots. As Mr. Ryden proved himself capable in transportation matters, I have given him charge of that department."

Curt had a long-established habit of fiddling with his pipe when mulling over some point that needed thought. He suddenly discovered he'd been stuffing it during this polite harangue. Since the senior while talking had been leading the way into the open, Curt now lit up, expelling a huge cloud of smoke before he said mildly, with a smile:

"All of which is by way of telling me to mind my own business? Well, that's all right. You've hired me for the engineering end of your venture, and that's where my interest lies. I'll try to curb my wandering curiosity."

Senor Montaya eyed Curt a moment.

"I am quite sure we shall get along, Mr. Curtis."

They took a rapid look-see in the port office, Montaya introducing Curt casually, then returned to Lee and the children, seated on their pile of luggage. The boys' leashes were on them again, much to their audible disgust.

A pair of quick toots now came from the river steamer that had been loading all morning, even as the Piscoes docked. The baggage was hauled aboard, the little party followed. As they headed slowly upstream, Senor Montaya made his guests comfortable under a deck awning.

Iced coffee was served as the children, exhausted from heat and excitement, slept on a sarape spread on the deck, each jealously clutching his new hat, big as himself.

To Montaya Jeff said casually, "I suppose there's no reason why you shouldn't say who recommended me to you?"

"No, none," admitted his host. "It was Mr. Mitchell."

"Mitchell!"

"Yes, himself. Though perhaps unknowingly. I explain. Many times I had to warn him about his attitude toward the men under him. Of course, I—what do you say? ah, yes, I hounded him to get the work done, for we have much to do before the rainy season, and it had not gone too well. But certainly I did not want him to antagonize the workers.

Each jealously clutching his new hat big as himself.

"One can—ah, drive some men, others not. It is a fine point to know how far one can go with workers. When I saw the many enemies Mr. Mitchell was making, I thought, 'But this is unfortunate.' I feared—ah, an accident! So it was happy for me that I led him into talk of competent engineers. You were one he mentioned above others. You see?"

Two hours of fighting the current upriver, and they found at Tempujo another modern dock, with a long floating stage built to allow for the rise of the river in flood-time. Near the river at low point, the wharf towered high above them. Their baggage was swung upward in a cargo net, a deckhand riding the hook to avoid the stairs, while Curt and the others climbed the long flight of steps from the floating stage to the landing above.

Spread before them, on the only rise of land for miles along this side of the river, was a small town built arrowhead-fashion around a fan-shaped railroad terminus of storage tracks.

Montaya pointed out a centrally located bungalow. "Your Tempujo office, Mr. Curtis. There is sleeping accommodation there for you. There will be nights when you are unable to get back to San Alejo."

Montaya led the party to two motorcars, automobiles with flanged wheels to operate on the narrow-gauge railroad tracks. Side windows of the sedan bodies rolled completely into the framework, making all-weather cars for the variable climate.

Montaya ordered the two motor boys ahead with the baggage, while he drove the Curtises in the second car.

Off they sped across the flat, uninteresting country.

Far off on Curt's right was what appeared to be a tremendous salt field, but he knew it couldn't be that. Lime, went his thoughts, laid by airplane before planting.

San Alejo sat prettily on an out-jutting hump of the range a full thousand feet above the flats, and the railroad took to sharp curves and steep grades in climbing to the town. Slanting down from a bowl of summits above was a cipe line, indicating a reservoir.

Senor Montaya preened himself. "A good site, no? The whole year there are winds that sweep across this face of the mountains in late afternoon and evening, but never does the wind come up from the old swampland. The result? We are happy to have no malaria here where we live. This makes the senora more comfortable, no?"

He pointed as the car rounded a curve and the town came into fuller view.

"You see that long, low building? Our hospital. Larger than we need, perhaps, but it is more better to be prepared. Across the plaza is our clubhouse. That building of two stories which looks out over the valley from between, it is our administration building. The ground floor is commissary where the senora can get anything she needs. We are very proud of San Alejo."

"Reason to be," grunted Curt, "Good layout."

"So we think, too. There is nothing to break our view. In back of the club we have the swimming pool, the tennis courts, also the schools—three of them. For the different ages of the children, no?"

And now the car took another curve that brought into sight the farther down-slope of Mt. San Alejo. Below, about a kilometer from the town, was an exceptionally long, cleared field, with a broad well-worn strip down its length. A branch of the railroad led to it around the base of the mountain.

"Good sized field," Curt commented. "You've several buildings besides hangars."

"Yes," just the one word.

"But is that a fence I see around the field?"

"Your eyes are sharp, Mr. Curtis. Yes, the field does have a fence. Our chief pilot nearly lost his life during his first month here because of a native's mania for souvenirs. We had not thought to properly protect the planes. It is a serious thing to risk one's life in the air, Mr. Curtis, so I felt I should put a fence around the field."

Curt saw a flash behind the living-quarters. "Swimming pool?"

"Yes, a small one. I do all I can to keep the men contented. It is much worth the cost, it pays well."

At the far end of the field was a sizeable copse of trees, and Curt wondered that they should be left standing within the field. Before he could see more, however, another switch-back of the climbing railroad lost the field to view.

The motorcar, laboring up the grade, came out onto a level stretch, picked up speed, and at once they were in the heart of the small town.

"It is late," Montaya was saying. "You have yet to unpack and get settled. I will take you to your house now. I trust, Senora, that the cook and house servant we furnish you will prove satisfactory."

Lee made a vague sound in reply. "In the morning," Montaya turned to Curt, "if you will come to my office at eight, I will spend the day with you. We shall—how do you say it? ah, yes, buckle down to work."

The sidewalks were not wide enough for the group abreast. Montaya walked ahead, carrying the two children whose shoes made smudges on his spotless coat. The boys were silent with this stranger. Lee wrinkled her nose in distaste at the senior's faultlessly tailored back.

"Hah," she murmured. "Look at him, the dark lily!"

"Sh," Curt tightened his hold on her arm. "He may have ears," he whispered.

"Well, I don't care," she muttered recently. "Look how he carries the kids. He likes children? I laugh, ha-ha."

Montaya deposited the boys carefully before a hedge of hibiscus, opened the wire gate, nudged them through onto the neatly scythed lawn where a mango, a fast-growing tree, already offered some shade to lawn and house. He was about to turn away with a gallant lift of his hat, when Curt mentioned Mrs. Mitchell for the first time.

"We were close friends with the Mitchells a few years ago. It must have been a terrible blow to her," he said. "I think we should express our regrets as soon as possible."

"Ah," Senor Montaya pulled at his lower lip. "It was a most terrible shock to her, Mr. Curtis." He cast a glance at Lee. "I—ah, had not meant to speak of it before the senora, but to be sure she will have to know. Mrs. Mitchell—ah, committed suicide only yesterday. From grief. This morning she was buried. A sad affair, yes. That was what delayed me."

Curt managed a blank face to hide the disturbing shock, but Lee was frankly astonished. She reached for Curt's hand. Not until Montaya was out of hearing, however, did she exclaim:

"She never! Zora Mitchell commit suicide? Not Zora! She won't die! Besides, she never cared that much for him."

"She never seemed to," admitted Curt slowly. "They were a cool enough couple."

He turned to the house. Absently he held Lee's hand as they climbed the steps. But his free hand, in his pocket, was crushing Zora Mitchell's note.

These Items Are Highlights of The College Girl's Wardrobe

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Now that a college girl's "yes" as to the fashion status of this and that has come to be regarded as an ultimatum it is interesting and illuminating to check up on her style preferences.

The first thought that comes to mind is the enthusiasm with which fair collegiates have gone "all out" in favor of cottons for year-round wear. The major recognition they are giving to smart cottons in assembling their back-to-school wardrobes this fall is really most dignified.

Take for example the darling teddy-bear coat shown to the left in the above illustration. This adorable model is made of a white fleece woven on a cotton backing and lined with gay multi-striped broadcloth which accents the cuffs and front closing, edged the pockets and forms the collar. College girls figure this to be a wise buy in that they'll be so warm on the teddy the fleece resembles when they wear a coat of this type, and being "comfy" as well as charming helps a lot when it comes to lustily cheering from one's vantage spot in the stadium. Take it from the college vote that here is a coat that says V-for-Victory in no uncertain terms.

Another decision among campus enthusiasts is that they will be needing plenty of angora sweaters to keep them in comfort and in fashion at the same time. Maybe a college girl's clothes allowance isn't just what it used to be, what with her being the girl behind the bay behind the bombers, by buying up those war bonds. The thing to do is to keep pace with fashion's demands in to bring your last year's wardrobe up to date by trimming it with oodles of chic buttons as the smart ones on the sweater to the right in the group illustrated in the

Thrifty college girls who are doing everything to save for bonds have discovered, too, that it's patriotic to make sewing their hobby. Nowadays sewing is an easy road that leads to fashion success and, besides, it is considered smart these days to "make your own." With the aid of one of the new thermo-plastic dress forms you can cut dress construction time in half by eliminating repeated try-ons. It's worth while knowing that your local coving center can mold your form in half an hour. And then, with the fashion short cuts they will teach you, you'll be all set to do a grand job at home sewing.

If you feel the urge to sew you might try your hand at a jerkin costume like that shown centered in the group pictured above. This is a style easily made, especially if you provide yourself at the start with a good pattern that makes simplicity its theme. College girls adore jerkin costumes, for with a different blouse they may be made appropriate to any occasion in a jiffy. Then, too, jermans are so chic and so flattering and so youthful looking.

Brick red is the color of the fine wale corduroy that fashions this jerkin dress. The billow blouse is a golden yellow, which goes to show how wholeheartedly campus dwellers have gone in for high color. A smart idea is to write your name in your own handwriting across the front of your jerkin blouse, just below the square neckline then fill it in with a signature stitch quickly on your coving machine.

Dear to every collegiate heart is pretty lounging apparel like that pictured above in the inset. The "lacet" as shown at the national wash apparel show recently held in Chicago is effervescent rayon pajamas done in blue for the pajamas and peach rayon satin for the quilted jacket. Please undercore the word "quilted," for there's a perfect craze for things quilted. From negligees to smart daytime jackets with hats and bags to match.

With Velvetten

Velveteen is being combined with other fabrics this season in effective ways. When brown velveteen is paired with brown and beige hound's-tooth check woolen the answer is ultra smartness. That is exactly the case in regard to this charming jacket costume. A suggestion of the military appears in the double-breasted gold button fastening of the brown velvet jacket. The skirt is of the brown and beige check. The jacket edges and simulated pockets are overcast in beige yarn. The newest fashions feature considerable yarn stitching used as trimming. A little costume like this is ideal for early fall, with its warm colors and soft fabric.

Memo to a Modern:

Buy Pretty Things

Here are a few fashion items that the modern girl might jot down in her notebook as "must haves." Sweaters with brushed surfaces, for shaggy effects are the thing this season. Add corduroy separates to juggle as you please, also a swank corduroy coat and a corduroy suit in beige or green or bright red. A jumper dress of denim, gabardine or corduroy should be included, and any and everything quilted from a house robe to a hat and muff two-piece.

The new "jive coat" which is a 20-inch toppler is wanted in wool. A rabbit's hair or wool jersey dress with embroidery touches. Velveteen dirndl skirt. Gingham pajamas, neatly tailored and a gingham nightgown to match. Flannellette nightgown for cold winter wear. Velvet date dress in a luscious color. Cotton gabardine raincoat. Necklace gaily painted rains.

And she will add dozens of little hair bows, flowers and fantasies. Spotted furled tuxedo cloth coat (hat to match). Something in the new purple or violet tones. Lace blouse to wear with afternoon velvet suit.

Cowl Neckline

Much attention is being given to creating flattering necklines. A "new" message from style centers is the revival of cowl neck treatments. Very new and smart is the black frock that has a cowl drape about the neckline done in a contrast-color fabric. Often deep cavalier cuffs match the cowl. If collar and cuffs are detachable, one can make the black frock do double service. A cyclamen pink cowl on black is very effective.

Co-operative use of Farm Machinery to Meet Farm Needs

The San Patricio Orchard Sprayer Co-operative is cited by John K. Curry of the local Farm Security office as an example of what farmers working together as a group can do to provide themselves with facilities which they could not obtain individually.

According to Mr. Curry this co-operative was organized in 1941 with the assistance of FSA for the purpose of purchasing an orchard sprayer to be used on a total of 57 acres of orchard operated by seven individual families and has made sprayer service available to those families for the past two years. The cost of the facility was $49.00 per family, or $343.00 for the entire group.

Mr. Curry stated that Farm Security has for the past several years emphasized the importance of a share-the-machinery program but said "such a program will be reemphasized this year because of the importance of utilizing every piece of equipment to its fullest extent in the production of food and fiber essential to the war effort."

Corona Community Leads in Scrap Drive

According to a recent report submitted by Mr. George Simpson, Chairman of Victory Councilmen in the Corona Community, approximately 27,560 pounds of scrap iron have been collected ready for sale or shipment. This is the largest collection reported recently.

In sponsoring the campaign, each councilman was asked to contact all farmers and ranchers on his list, asking them to bring in their scrap metal on one of four succeeding Saturdays.

Victory Councilmen took alternate turns in weighing the scrap on the designated dates, weight receipts were issued and co-operators will be paid on a pre-rata basis when the scrap is sold.
