Annual Camp Meeting July 28, Aug. 1 Inclusive

Mr. Pat Murphy, one of the committee of Ranchmen who sponsor the Ranchmen's camp meeting every summer was in town last Friday, announcing the dates of the camp meeting, which has become an event of much importance in the social and religious life of the county. It is held in the heart of the mountains where breezes are delightfully cool, and where the view of the surrounding valleys and mountains is superb.

Dates this time are from July 28 to August 1st inclusive. Take your tent and a few blankets and stay for the entire 5 days, renewing your spiritual life, and meeting friends.

The best of preachers, and the best of music will make it an event to recall with pleasure.

Chavez--Martinez

Last Monday morning at nine o'clock, Miss Bertha Chavez, daughter of the late Mr. Saturnino Chavez and Mrs. Maggie V. Chavez, became the bride of Pvt. Arthur Martinez of Topeka, Kansas.

The groom is a son of Mr. Aurelio Martinez and a grandson of Mrs. Eluticia Chavez, formerly from Rabenton. Both the bride and groom belong to well-known and prominent families. Both were reared in Carrizozo and both are graduates of the Carrizozo High School, the bride having graduated with the class of 1943.

The Rev. Fr. J. A. Salvatore Giovanni performed the wedding ceremony at the Santa Rita Catholic Church in the presence of many friends of both families. Mrs. Ben S. Burns played the wedding march. The groomsmen were Messrs. Lupe Gabaldon and Reuben Chavez; the bride's attendants were Mrs. Lupe Gabaldon and Mrs. Reuben Chavez. The bride wore a white wedding gown with long white veil and the groom was attired in his full dress uniform.

A wedding dinner followed the ceremony at the home of bride's mother. In the evening a wedding dance was held at Miller's Pavilion, which was attended by a very large crowd.

The groom is a soldier and is at present stationed at Topeka. He and his bride left last Tuesday evening for that point, where they will make their home. The congratulations and good wishes of a host of friends go with them to their new home.

The body was found in the deepest part of the swimming pool directly beneath the diving board the Barksdale Public Relations Office said that it was thought he may have been struck unconscious while diving in the pool.

He was taken to the family home Monday with a Military Escort Commander who accompanied the body here from Barksdale.

He was graduated from the Capitan High School in 1941, where he had been prominent in football and track activities. He is survived by his parents and one brother Gordon Bigger who resides with his parents on their ranch north of Capitan, and one sister Miss Marietta Bigger, Hotel Dieu Nurses' Training School, El Paso.

Earl Dow has returned to Camp Claiborne, La., after a trip into Arkansas where the soldiers helped to combat the recent floods which did so much damage through that part of the country.

Brazel Hartley, son of Mrs. Beulah Hartley of Capitan was graduated on the 15th of April and received his commission as second lieutenant on that date. He went to Biggs Field and was then sent to Topeka, Kansas, for some more advance work. Lt. Hartley is co-pilot on a 4-motored bomber.

Seaman 2/c Leo Sanchez who is in the University at Norman, Oklahoma, had a nice talk by telephone with his father Mr. Ben Sanchez on Father's Day. Leo is making excellent grades in his tests for which his parents and friends are justly proud.

Sgt. Earl Thornton has been transferred to North Dakota, where he is taking some advanced training in the air corps.

A letter from Orville Dow, who is now in the Southwest Pacific, states that he paid $1.00 each (U. S. money) for some pineapples. He also told about meeting up with some Fiji Islanders who are extra homely and almost giant size.

Mrs. Juanita Marquez left last night for San Francisco, California where she expects to meet her husband before he sails overseas.

GEARED FOR VICTORY

Lumber Production, 1942 New Mexico

The sawmills of New Mexico produced about six percent more lumber to help meet the needs of the nation in 1942, than in 1941. In spite of many adverse factors encountered during the year, according to preliminary statistics compiled by the Forest Service.

In 1942, 119 active mills in the state produced 122,348,000 feet b. m. as compared to 1941 when the same number of active mills produced 114,612,000 feet b. m.

The 1942 cut was divided by species approximately as follows: Ponderosa pine 78 percent; Douglas fir 16 percent; white fir 4 percent; and Engelmann spruce 2 percent.

The above is exclusive of the production of a number of small mills producing less than 50,000 feet each during the year. The inclusion of such mills would only slightly increase the total shown for the state.

These are preliminary statistics compiled by the Forest Service, Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, and the Statistics Division, War Production Board. Final production statistics will be released by the Bureau of the Census.

A WAR TIME PLAGUE

Into the picture of America at war, on the battlefield, in the factory, and on the home front, has crept a new practice, the very name of which has been foreign to our vocabulary.

Blackmarkets are a disgraceful adjunct to America's wartime economy. The buying and selling of foodstuffs and other rationed goods for higher than ceiling prices, and the securing of these products through illegal means, all are part of this vicious game.

Every storekeeper who sells his goods without demanding ration points, who sells "special" things which he could not himself buy through regular channels, is patronizing the blackmarket, and putting the customer who buys from him in the same class.

It is the duty of every patriotic American with friends and relatives at the front, to stamp out blackmarkets by refusing to patronize them directly or indirectly. Blackmarkets are the mani-

Seabees Name July 4th "CAN DO" Day

Naval Construction Battalions seek to enlist 100,000 skilled tradesmen in nation-wide drive.

Out on Island "X" where the SeaBees are building the advanced and mobile bases for the armed forces, nothing is too difficult to accomplish. They are known by their slogan - "CAN DO".

So July 4th has been named "CAN DO" Day - not only in commemoration of jobs well done by the Battalions - but as a rallying call for new recruits.

Now the Navy is seeking 100,000 more skilled tradesmen, mechanics, carpenters, machinists, draftsmen, electricians, riggers, powdermen, pipefitters, and plumbers, welders, wharf builders, concrete workers, and many others. These men will build new bases on islands and territory yet to be taken from the enemy, and to replace battalions in the field who are in need of a well deserved rest.

Naval ratings up to and including Chief Petty Officer with salaries from $54 to $126 per month, plus 20 percent extra for overseas duty, are offered skilled workmen commensurate with experience and ability. In addition enlisted men receive excellent food and quarters; expert dental and medical care; uniforms; generous allowances for dependents; and other incidentals.

Most attractive of all is that a man can do his part in the war effort and yet continue to work at his trade, keeping up with all the new developments and gaining the benefit of the experience of others.

The nearest Navy Recruiting Station is prepared to furnish all details without obligation.

festation of individual selfishness, and refusal to make necessary sacrifices.

If the armed forces can do without comforts, if industry can work night and day, the rest of us can do with a little less now, so everyone will have more later.

Retired After Long Service

(The Monitor, June, 1943)

A luncheon honoring George T. McQuillen was held on April 30, at the Paso del Norte in El Paso, Texas. Mr. McQuillen retired on that day after many years of service in the Bell System. He was presented his service pin by M. A. Chamberlain, district plant superintendent, and J. A. Kelly, state plant supervisor, awarded him a life membership to the Telephone Pioneers of America.

Mr. McQuillen entered the telephone business in 1901, his initial service being with independent companies. For a short time he was employed by the Cumberland Telephone Company and later by the Colorado Telephone and Telegraph Company. During this period he served in the Plant department at Las Cruces, New Mexico. He later served as manager at Alamogordo. In 1912 he was appointed manager of the Carrizozo exchange where he was serving at the time of his retirement.

Mr. McQuillen was a leading citizen in Carrizozo and was prominently associated with all civic affairs there. His plans for the future are rather indefinite, but he will reside at Las Cruces for the present.

SPORTS

By Bob McShane

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

QUITE a few baseball enthusiasts question the activities of the Philadelphia Phillies in trading Danny Litwiler and Earl Naylor to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Baseball in Philadelphia was at its highest ebb in many years when Bill Cox, president of the Phillies, announced the transaction which brought Cardinal outfielders Coaker Triplett, Buster Adams and Dain Clay to the City of Brotherly Love.

The question of which team got the better of the trade seems to be of secondary importance. There is another factor which, in the judgment of many, makes the Phils guilty of an error in timing.

Philadelphia Story

That factor concerns Philadelphia fans. Those long-suffering individuals, accustomed to last-place standing and to predictions that "prospects of moving up are not too good," finally were being convinced that President Cox and Manager Bucky Harris were men who wouldn't dispose of a star player for half interest in the Fort Knox gold vaults.

Bill Cox entered baseball business late last winter when he invested a large pile of money in the Phillies. Prior to the advent of Cox, Gerry Nugent was head man. Nugent would dispose of baseball players as fast as vendors could sell hot dogs in the bleachers.

Cox had sold the cash customers on his new policy. No longer would valuable players be sold down the river. The manner in which the fans responded was little short of pathetic. They had seen the Phils win a few ball games and they were happy. It was once remarked that a Phil winning streak consisted of splitting a double header. Now the club was winning its share of battles.

Litwiler probably was the best all-around player on the team. He was popular—one of the favored few, along with Bobo Dahlgren, Schoolboy Rowe and Johnny Kraus. Perhaps he wasn't quite as good as he was a couple of years ago when he was having a great season, but he still packed plenty of guns.

Miracles Unusual
Granted that the Phils have been slipping a little. Quite possibly the customers expected that. Miracles are unusual this season. But the future looked considerably brighter with a man at the helm determined to hang onto his good players and anxious to acquire more.

It undoubtedly came as quite a blow when Cox sent one of the favorite players on his way. He had run ads thanking the fans for their patronage, and then, oddly enough, turned around and made a move to kill the good will which he had built.

There are two sides to the story, of course. Cox and Harris had their reasons for desiring the swap. Cox expressed little anxiety about fan reaction:

"All three of the new Phillies are speedsters and my first promise in taking over the Phils was that the only thing about baseball of which I was certain was that speed was essential to success. The deal has been completed with that appraisal of baseball success in mind.

"... Sending Litwiler to the world champions is no insult to Danny, who has played hard for us this season and is a competitor we hate to lose. Naylor, while he has not played so much as Litwiler, has shown a splendid attitude."

About Harris

At the season's end, Manager Harris will deserve much of the credit or blame—for the Phils' final standing. He doesn't talk a great deal, but he has his say in settling every deal made by the club. He alone of the organization knows the value of men up for sale or trade.

He put thumbs down on the proposition when the Yankees tried to get rid of Rollie Hemlecy and Bill Knickerbocker in the Nick Etten deal. He insisted on Rowe in the face of strong opposition.

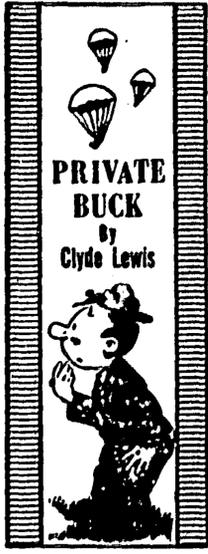

It was Bucky who originated the idea of making Dahlgren over for shortstop duty. Most baseball critics chuckled at Dahlgren's unusual style of handling grounders, which was strictly unorthodox, to put it kindly. But Dahlgren stayed at short and made the grade.

Earl Whitehill, a smart pitching coach, was engaged by Harris. Whitehill taught Jack Kraus to break his curve ball at the waist instead of the shoulder. And Kraus repaid that effort tenfold.

The Future

In an early-spring summary of National league clubs, one writer had this to say: "Phillies lack pitching, catching, fielding, hitting, everything. Only first class major league ball player on team is Danny Litwiler."

Even though Litwiler is gone, it is unlikely that the Phils will go to pieces. They are handled by one of the soundest, most underrated managers in baseball. If anyone can hold the club together, Bucky Harris is the man for the job.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for July 25

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education. Used by permission.

BIBLE TEACHINGS ON THE COST OF DRINKING

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 31:10-21; Proverbs 23:20, 21; 1 Corinthians 6:9-11. GOLDEN TEXT—Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God?—1 Corinthians 6:9.

Billions of dollars—how many we cannot say—make up the annual cost of liquor to America in dollars and cents. Terrifying as it is, that stupendous waste is but a drop in the bucket compared with the moral and spiritual degradation, the sorrow and suffering, the poverty and distress, which must be added into our liquor bill.

For it is not only a matter of dollars, but of blood and tears, or destroyed usefulness, lost virtue, wrecked homes, and so on and on and on. We go right on paying the bill, allowing ourselves to be misled by clever propaganda, and skillfully manipulated statistics—or it may be our sheer indifference. When will America awaken!

Our lesson faces us with the cost of this despicable traffic in the life of the individual to the social order, and in the light of eternity.

I. The Personal Cost (Deut. 21: 15-21).

Liquor destroys individuals relentlessly, rapidly, and effectively. Have we forgotten that fact?

The passage in Deuteronomy presents a drastic remedy for a dreadful situation. Drink and gluttony were recognized as the deadly instrument which would bring a boy to the place where he was incorrigible. Stubborn, rebellious, and disobedient, his parents were to bring him to the elders for a final judgment.

If one thinks the penalty too harsh, he must remember that it was established in the early days of Israel when it was necessary for God to use such drastic remedies to stamp out incipient evil.

It must be remembered that in ancient Greece weak children were left out to die, and in Rome a father could at will put to death even a grown up son.

The point of this scripture for us is that a life of debauchery (and it can start with just a glass of wine) leads to the ultimate destruction of life. It is far too high a cost to pay for a sinful indulgence.

II. The Social Cost (Prov. 23: 20, 21).

Drunkenness and gluttony lead to poverty and rage. The intemperate man cannot keep up with the high cost of supplying his growing appetite. Even as he tries to satisfy his insatiable demand, it also renders him unfit to earn a living.

So the vicious circle works its way around, and stops not until the drunkard totters off in his rags, unless perchance some loved one or friend takes care of him.

Do we not all recall how families in our own communities have been ruined and become charges upon the county or charitable organizations because of the destruction wrought by a father who was a winebibber.

Not only does it bring poverty upon families, but it reduces able and gifted men to chattering wrecks and thus deprives society of the benefit of their lives and service.

A present-day illustration is the unsolved problem of absenteeism for days after pay day in our essential industries. Again we say the cost is altogether too high; let us get rid of this monster before it destroys us!

III. The Eternal Cost (1 Cor. 6: 9-11).

Money lost is serious. Life lost is far more serious. But the saddest cost of all is the eternal damnation of the drinker's soul.

We quote from Dr. Horace Martin these stirring and meaningful words: "It is my calm judgment that any man who names the name of Christ should take an attitude of horror and disgust at the liquor traffic and the use of liquor as a beverage. There are at least three places in the New Testament where the Bible says that no drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of God.

"If any man takes that statement seriously he must think twice before he refers to the use of liquor in a joking manner, or in any way condones the use of alcohol as a beverage" (Lesson Commentary).

Drunkenness is a foul and sinful thing, classed by the apostle Paul with the lowest of human vices. Review the list as it is given in verses 9 and 10 (and by the way notice the other sins mentioned there), and place drunkenness in its proper classification.

Call it what it really is—sin; and then call on the One who can save from sin. You will then be washed from your sin, sanctified, and justified in the name of the Lord Jesus (v. 11). In Christ there is hope for the drunkard. A spiritual revival is the real answer to the liquor problem. Let us seek to promote it even as we at the same time give ourselves to an intelligent and constructive battle against this destructive force in the life of our nation.

Lovely Sheer Cottons Star In Summer Bride Picture

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

There's no need to quote imposing statistics to prove that there's a big boom on in weddings. All anyone has to do is glance at the daily society columns in the newspapers and count her invitations to know that weddings are making an all time record.

Today's young couples, for the most part, believe that budget planning is the better part of patriotism, and at the same time 1943 brides are more anxious than ever to look their loveliest on this day of days—a picture for him to carry over when he goes forth to war. The answer—a wedding gown of one or other of the beguiling cottons that will have a matchless beauty all its own no matter how inexpensive it may be. Girls in cotton bridal gowns are saying "I do" more often than ever before in fashion history.

What an enchanting picture they make, the organdies and nets, morisqueeta, cotton laces and so on, that are being fashioned into wedding gowns so entrancing no bride could wish for anything prettier or more flattering. A dress of cotton lace and net with bodice of lace teamed with a billowy skirt made up of alternate bands of lace and net, as shown to the right in the illustration, will make any bride look as if she had stepped out of the pages of a fairybook story.

This model is perfectly charming, either in all white or an exquisitely delicate pastel (preferably pale pink). It is fashion news of no little importance, this matter of a delectable tint for the wedding gown. The matching net headdress that accompanies this net-with-lace dress is adorable, and it is the last word in chic. The heart neckline and the bracelet sleeves add youthful accent. This dress will prove a perfect gem when it comes to functioning as a dinner gown on gala evenings after the ceremony. Best of all an exquisitely fragile looking as it is, you'll find that it will come up smiling after each laundering.

Wedding marches and organdie brides will be playing a most charming duet the whole summer through. A garden bride who doesn't want a train to trail in the dew does well to select a simple white organdie like the ankle-length gown pictured to the left. The very simplicity of this dress is its charm, with its wide ingenious sash and triple tucks around the hem. The leghorn hat makes the costume resemble a Sir Joshua Reynolds' portrait.

Often organdie is handled in a much beruffled manner, for the bride, since, as you know, ruffles and frills and ruchings of cotton cheer and animate summery frocks in all sorts of delightful ways this season. A recent bride who was greatly admired looked really beautiful in a beruffled organdie, youthfully styled, her headdress instead of the usual veil being a halo of self organdie arranged most artfully.

As to other cottons for the wedding dress, a formal point d'esprit gown with a train as long as the WPB allows, makes its wearer look indescribably lovely. In the young manner also, is an irresistible frosted organdie with a pinaflore look, created by ruffles over the shoulder and forming a peplum flounce. A white organdie with ruffled train, sleeves, skirt panels and headdress achieves a costume that would make any wedding a memorable occasion. For the more mature bride, but just as picturesque and flattering, is a stunning wedding gown that has a fichu of the organdie with medallions of lace applied on both skirt and waist. Most of these bridal gowns come with equally lovely bridesmaids' dresses in pastels that can carry on as summer evening gowns for the duration.

Pert Leghorns

Comes the message from fashion headquarters that a renewed interest is being shown in leghorn hats for little girls. Any wee maiden will look her prettiest this summer in a hat like the leghorn straw shown at the bottom. This cunning chapeau has a woven brim laced with narrow green velvet ribbon. A green gros-grain bow ties beneath the chin so that windy days this treasured bit of headgear will "stay put." A generous application of ribbon makes the outer hat most flattering to the pert young miss whose eyes are saucing you from under the brim.

Satin for Suits

Is New Vogue

There is a new vogue on. It is suits of gleaming "duration" satin in either black or brown. You will also see many coat dresses and suave one-piece modes of satin. The news of satin for hats is also being heralded far and wide. You will find in smart fabric collections both all-silk satins, and particularly good looking is a range of Bemberg-rayon satins. There is a novelty Bemberg satin being shown which is wonderfully attractive, in that it has a reverse side of bright stripes in Mexican colors that is surfaced in a soft duvety-like finish. It is stunning used in fly-back drapes or as trimming accent.

Hat and Bag Sets

It does not matter how simple or modest looking a suit or dress may be, it will take on an air of importance and distinction by teaming it with a gaily colorful hat and bag set such as milliners are taking such pride in turning out this season. Look about in the hat bars and you will come across such alluring twosomes as a tiny calot to wear back on the head together with an imposing envelope bag made of a basket weave fabric and braided all over with color-bright sequin.

Novel Gloves

One finds this season in glove collections many interesting novelties. The fabric glove that is all-over embroidered is very attractive. Long black gloves have applied velvet butterflies up the arm. A crochet mesh white glove has very wide flaring cuffs. A black lace glove carries lavish lace frills about the wrists.

Shots That Tell

The American navy is employing shells which carry highly colored dyes in the nose of the shots. When these shots strike the water, spouts of red, orange, or green rise as high as 20 feet from the surface of the ocean.

When they hit an enemy vessel, the dye splatters over the target. In formation fighting, each ship uses shells of a different color and, thus, the spouts of dye assist the gunners in adjusting their shooting. The colored splashes also aid aviators in spotting enemy ships.

When you hear a Marine called a "Leatherneck," it has nothing to do with the epidermis of his neck. Years ago the Marine uniform was equipped with a high stiff leather collar. From that time on, "Leatherneck" has been the word for a Marine. The word for his favorite cigarette is "Camel"—the favorite cigarette also of men in the Army, Navy, and Coast Guard. (Based on actual sales records from service men's stores.) And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. Aid To Mail Distribution

A new method for purpose of speeding up mail deliveries is the insertion of the branch postoffice number to the address when a letter, package or piece of mail is sent to a large city. If you have a designated number as Los Angeles, 23 place it on the address.

Rapid increase in volume of mail and loss of some 30,000 postal employees to the armed forces made it necessary to adopt this plan, in the interest of accurate, efficient mail service and for the relief of postal personnel who are carrying an extremely heavy burden of work. The average work week in the service now is about 52 hours, and in many postoffices employees are working 10 and 12 hours a day, seven days a week, because of local shortages of personnel.

An example of the new address scheme to hasten sending mail to the proper sub-station of a city is as follows:

John C. Smith,
222 Mattapan Ave.,
Boston 8,
Massachusetts.

The number after the name of the city denotes the sub station.

Where Will Money Come From?

People ask: "Where will the money come from?" to reach the thirteen-billion dollar objective of the Second War Loan. The answer is simple. The people HAVE the money. When we produce munitions or peacetime goods, or anything else, we likewise produce income. For every dollar of production, there is a dollar of income. The problem of war finance boils down to this--if individuals and businesses receive more income after taxes than there are things produced for them to buy, then excess funds arise. The government deficit is matched by the combined surplus of everybody else. This surplus should be put into Government securities to wipe out that deficit. They give their lives... You had your money.

A major, region-wide Farm and Ranch Scrap Drive was launched May 1 throughout the five states of the mountain region with the announced objective of "building the biggest possible pile of scrap in every agricultural community in the West." The drive is being sponsored and promoted by farm and ranch trade publications and rural press in the same way that the urban daily press sponsored the huge and tremendously successful public scrap campaign last fall. In firing the opening gun for the campaign, L.J. # You can speed his visit home by giving up your summer train trips

High point in many a service man's life is his short leave or furlough after months of strenuous training. This is often his last chance to visit home before going overseas — a last chance to see his parents, wife or sweetheart.

Furlough days are far too precious to be spent waiting for train accommodations. Yet nowadays our trains are so crowded that even service men on furlough sometimes have to "wait their turn."

Will you help make more room on our trains for service men and other essential war travelers this summer?

Please cancel reservations promptly if your plans change — release this space for use by other travelers. Postpone all train trips of a merely social, sight-seeing or pleasure nature until after the war.

This summer — unless your train trip is urgently necessary — you can do your country a real service by staying close to home!

No. 18 Rationing Stamp

The Office of Price Administration (OPA) announced that new shoe ration stamp which becomes valid Wednesday must last civilians through October 31.

The stamp is No. 18 in the sugar-coffee book. Stamp 17, first of the shoe ration stamps, expired June 15th.

The new stamp will have to last for four and one half months, which is 11 days longer than Stamp 17. However, OPA said the dates were in line with the policy of providing an average of three pairs per person per year.

As in the case of Stamp 17, Stamp 18 will be transferrable within a family so that, for instance, a parent who does not need his stamp may use it for a child.

The announcement disposed of unofficial reports that OPA would encourage the use of the No. 18 stamp for the purchase of white summer shoes. While OPA has no objection to anyone buying any kind of shoes he made it plain it is not providing any extra stamps for such a purpose.

Sheepmen Continuing Improvement Program

Sheep classification for wool and lamb improvement was started several years ago through the efforts of the New Mexico Extension Service and Experiment Station, and is being continued through the emergency period brought about by the war, says Ivan Watson, of the New Mexico Extension Service.

Under present prices for lambs and wool, almost any kind of a ewe will probably show a profit. The sheepmen of the State are being encouraged to continue the improvement they have made in the past few years to a point where their products of lambs and wool will be in strong demand by the feeder and wool trade.

Mr. Watson gives a few pointers that should be kept in mind in furthering this program.

1. The largest ewe lambs should be selected for replacements as they will wear heavier lambs, with a higher percentage of lamb crop.

2. Open faced ewes will wear from 6 to 8 pounds heavier lambs.

3. Select animals for length of staple to improve the value and amount of clean wool.

4. Selective breeding means "topping" out the best ewes and breeding to the best rams. The best ewes mated to the best rams should give excellent ewe lambs for replacement.

5. Poor feed at breeding time will likely result in a lower percentage of lamb crop, the following spring.

6. Sheep clean of ticks will have lighter shirking wool, and heavier lambs.

Sheep growers should plan now to attend the New Mexico Ram Sale at Albuquerque, August 14. An opportunity will be afforded to purchase rams that will improve the average New Mexico flock.

Jar Rubbers Are Different This Year

It is now thought that red rubber will be available for jar rings this year but there will be no cause for alarm if the rubbers you buy turn out to be black. It is the rubber, not the color, that counts. True, you may be a bit startled when you open your first package of the war models. "But what of it?" asks Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director of Ball Brothers Company. "Our grandmothers got along well enough with lipless rubbers and so can we."

Months ago, manufacturers began experiments to learn how to make jar rings that would conserve both rubber and food—the government set its scientists to the same task. One of the first things upon which all agreed was that lips are unnecessary for opening jars. The point of a thin knife can be run under the rubber to make a tiny space for air to seep through and break the seal. It is then easy to remove cap or lid. It was also agreed that jar rings could be a small fraction of an inch narrower but the thickness must remain at the pre-war standard.

War-time rubbers will keep jars sealed air-tight, but they won't stand abuse. To get good results, break yourself of that never-good habit of stretching to test and follow these four simple rules:
1. Wash and rinse rubbers. Boil them to sterilize if you can fruit the old-fashioned open-kettle way. If processing is to be done, drop the rubbers in boiling water and not aside until needed.
2. Have rubbers wet when they are used—and be sure that each rubber lies flat on the sealing surface of the jar.
3. Partly seal all jars before processing.
4. Screw zinc caps and bands on glass top seal closures slowly when sealing, as quick or jerky turns cause rubbers to slip out of position.

CAN PEAS AND BEANS, TOO!

Peas . . . Some like them hot, some like them cold, but nearly everybody likes them canned, or so claims Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director of Ball Brothers Company. Not everybody likes green or "English" peas and that's all right because there are plenty other peas of different color and flavor.

All kinds of peas, lima beans, and butter beans are canned the same way. All should be picked and canned the very day the pods are full enough to be shelled. At that time they will be from small to medium size, tender and sweet.

Peas and beans begin to lose flavor and food value as soon as pulled from the vine and are likely to spoil if time is wasted between gathering, preparing, and canning.

Flat sour and all other spoilage can be avoided by paying strict attention to canning rules. Yes, Rules, they are as simple as this:

1. Check over jars and lids the day before the canning is done. If glass top seals or two-piece metal vacuum seals are to be used, examine the top edges of the jars—the slightest flaw may cause you to have to do work over. The same is true of the sealing surface of glass lids. If there is any doubt as to the tightness of the when an "lightning" jar, all them with hot water, seal, let stand until cold, then hold upside down and examine for leaks, and don't forget to wash jars, caps and rubbers clean.
2. Use young, tender, freshly gathered vegetables—and they won't be fresh after being out of the garden all night.
3. Prepare no more than your canner will hold and not that many if the canner is large and the help small.
4. Wash the pods clean before shelling. Erry, but dirt is the chief cause of spoilage, so rinse the peas or beans in clean, cool water after they are shelled.
5. Cover with hot water and cook from 3 to 10 minutes, depending upon size; then pour into the jars while boiling hot—this won't break jars that have been covered with lukewarm water, heated to boiling and kept hot until needed.
6. Leave about an inch space at the top when filling the jar; add 1/2 teaspoon salt to each pint. Pint jars are best for peas and shelled beans because the heat reached the center of the pack more quickly but whether pints or quarts are used, be sure to have enough water to insure quick heating all the way to the center of the jar. Seal or partly seal jars, depending upon type used; then put into the canner as quickly as possible and process the correct length of time. Young tender green peas take 50 minutes; black and field peas, limas and butter beans are processed 60 minutes at 10 pounds pressure. If no pressure canner is available, process (boil) 3 1/2 hours in hot-water bath canner. Use the same time for pints and quart jars. Nothing larger than a quart is safe for canning non-acid vegetables.

The bacteria that cause spoilage in peas and beans thrive in the temperature that makes you say "Wow, ain't it hot in here!" The quicker you make it too hot for bacteria, the better. So, don't play around when canning vegetables or anything else for that matter. If you have no pressure cooker, use a water-bath canner (never an oven or a steamer for vegetables). And remember to boil beans and peas 15 minutes before tasting them—even if a pressure cooker is used—for about once in a million or so times, a toxin forms in non-acid foods. Such toxin can be destroyed by boiling. Failure to take this precaution has been known to cause a serious illness. Reboil non-acid vegetables left over from one meal another.

To use a water bath right: If the water steaming hot and deep enough to cover the tops of the jars two or more inches when they are put into the canner. Get the water boiling as quickly as possible and keep it boiling steadily every minute of the time called for in the recipe. Take the jars out of the canner as soon as they have processed long enough; complete the seal on all jars that require it (all except two-piece vacuum seals should be partly sealed before and completely sealed after processing—the vacuum seals are sealed before only); stand the jars far apart on a cloth or folded newspaper to cool. Make sure every jar is sealed when put away for winter and, believe it or not, there will come a day when you will say "I didn't dream it possible that canned peas could taste so much like garden fresh ones."

What Is Inflation?

Do you have excess cash? You will answer, "No." But the fact remains that you do. For almost every wage earner these days has an income, in checkbook or pocketbook, well above the cost of his living, taxes, insurance and debt repayments.

You never actually "bid" against anybody for a porterhouse steak, but when you take the spending of all average Americans as a group, it's a different story. So it is important that excess money be saved rather than used collectively to bid up prices. If it is spent, instead of saved, prices soar. . . That's inflation.

Ideally, it should be invested in Government securities during the Second War Loan. "They give their lives . . . You lend your money."

It's A People's War

We are paying more in taxes than ever before . . . and likely will pay more. But we cannot rely on taxes to finance the war. It would not be fair to base a tax on the average single family income when many families have more than one income. We could borrow all the money from the banks, but for both economic and social reasons this is undesirable. The government would then sacrifice its greatest dam against inflation. This is a People's War and the people should finance it. The people WANT to finance it. Sale of War Bonds has mounted consistently since Pearl Harbor.

They give their lives . . . You lend your money.

Japan Is Satisfied

By Clark Lee

(WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with Collier's Weekly)

Having accomplished every one of her major objectives, Japan is satisfied that she has won the war in the Pacific. All that remains, as she sees it, is to complete the unassailable wall of land, sea and air defenses she is building around her huge, rich new empire—a wall behind which she can grow fat and strong as she welds her "liberated peoples" together for the coming war of extinction against the white race.

All the needs is time—just a little more time, please. Some public leaders in America have stressed the great historic menace that faces us in the Pacific. Few, however, have dared to state the whole startling truth. The truth is that Japan has already won her war.

With the exception of Midway Island, and despite her defeats in the Solomons and New Guinea, Japan has captured every important objective she set out to take.

All She Needs. Japan has seized all the territory and all the resources she needs. Japan now rules 200,000,000 people. We have not yet started in earnest to fight our war—the war to retake the great areas Japan has captured.

That will be a new war, and because Japan will not be caught unprepared, it will be incredibly more costly than the lightning campaigns by which Hirohito's army and navy took over the great wealth and territory the United Nations had left virtually undefended in the Far East.

Unless we start to fight Japan soon, with every weapon at our command, and unless we keep China in the war on our side, we may find this second war impossible to win.

Japan, embarked on a deliberate program of world conquest, sees this struggle as a racial war which may last a century, and in which, backed by the limitless manpower and resources of the Orient, she will win the final victory.

All that Japan needs to make her the world's greatest power is time—time to exploit and develop her new empire and to unite the people of Asia under her leadership.

Until today, Japan has had that time. Japan is under no real military pressure from the United States. Behind a solid network of defenses which we have not yet begun to penetrate, Japan is using her time wisely and efficiently to achieve her immediate objective—the military, economic and political consolidation of the Orient.

Having underestimated Japan's skill, preparedness and determination before the war, we should not make the same mistake again in assessing her ability to carry out her present program.

Japan today is highly vulnerable to air attack. Most of her heavy industry is still concentrated in four areas located along a 400-mile strip of coast extending south and west from Tokyo. More than 23,000,000 people live and work in the great conurbation of Tokyo, Yokohama, Nagoya, Kobe, Osaka, Shimizu and Mei. If these cities were heavily bombed now, Japan would be severely crippled.

Six months from today, however, that may no longer be the case. For Japan is becoming a continental power, through a program of dispersal of heavy industry.

Japan's fundamental aim is to scatter key industries over as wide an area that many thousands of airplanes would be needed to inflict vital damage.

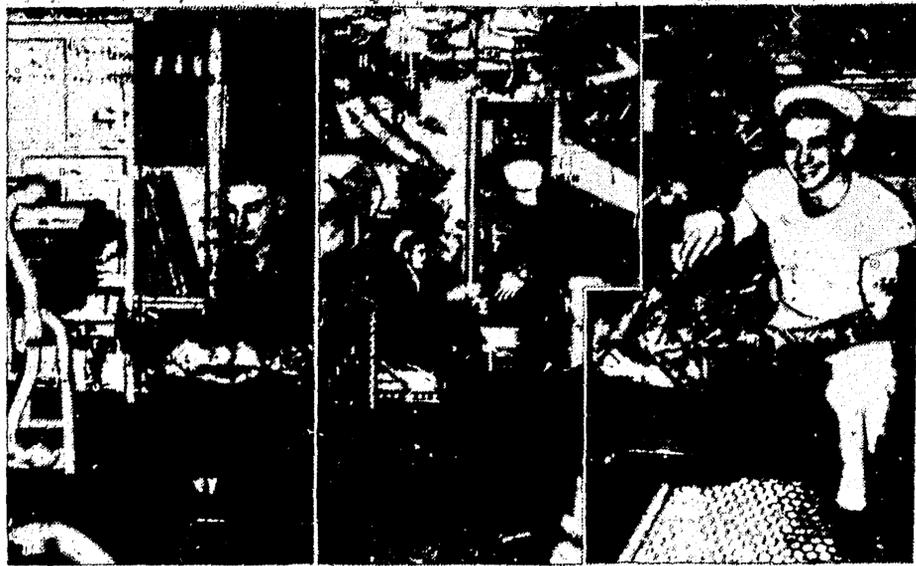

With the seizure of Nientsin, Shanghai, Hong Kong, Manila and Singapore, Japan came into possession of tremendous American and British industrial facilities.

The economic resources of the conquered territories are being exploited under a plan which Japan has been perfecting for the past decade—a master plan for control of labor, transportation, shipping, public works, agriculture, finance, industry and all other functions of captured areas.

From the Philippines, Japan is getting chrome and copper. Malaya is contributing tin and rubber. Coal is coming from the Selanger mines. The Sumatra oil fields are producing great amounts of petroleum.

In Borneo the Japanese report finding large supplies of mercury and cinnabar. From the Andaman islands come lumber and fish. French Indo-China gives rice and coal. Java contributes rubber, quinine and petroleum. In special province of North China is all the iron ore that Japan can ever use. Coal is found nearby.

The Comforts of Home Under the Sea

The USS Cuttlefish, a modern submarine, was built to provide comfortable quarters for its crew as well as to raise havoc with the enemy. Its facilities include a reception room, shower, and radios used solely for amusement. At left, a yeoman keeps records in the sub's office. Those records show that the Cuttlefish has sunk one Jap warship and three Jap merchant ships although it was launched very recently. At center is the crew's quarters, and at right, the cook smiles as he prepares turkey for dinner. The spacious engine room and other compartments of this sub belie the visions of cramped living conditions so often associated with submarines. The Cuttlefish is powered with Diesel engines and has the latest safety developments in its escape hatch.

New Gun Is Sturdy, Accurate and Light

An Allied weapon which is causing all sorts of trouble for the enemy is this sub-machine gun which is small enough to be carried in a briefcase yet so sturdy that 40,000 rounds of test firing improved rather than decreased its accuracy. Corp. Lloyd W. Ricketts is shown in two poses with the gun which is a .45-caliber weapon, weighing less than nine pounds, and has been named the M-3. It is capable of firing 450 rounds per minute and costs less than $20 to produce. Amphibious troops have found that rain, salt, spray, or even complete immersion in sea water has little effect on the reliability of the M-3.

Samoans Invest in U. S. War Bonds

These "skirted" members of the Fita-Fita native guard in Samoa are regulars in the United States navy. They receive overseas pay for serving at this station which is home to them and promptly spend 50 per cent of their income in U. S. war bonds. Boatwain's Mate Sultona (center) and Coxswain Hopali buy bonds from Samoa Postmaster David J. McMullin.

Jap Scores Bullseye but U. S. Fliers Safe

Officers and crewmen of a Liberator B-24 bomber are pictured beside their plane somewhere in the Southwest Pacific shortly after raiding a Japanese base at Gasmala, New Britain. A Jap Zero pilot scored a bullseye through the center of the bomber's marking star but failed to bring the plane down. Four other heavy bombers took part in the raid.

On His Last Leg

Apparently Axis troops are using one-legged men. An American soldier is shown examining an artificial leg which was left on a Tunisian battlefield by some German or Italian soldier who is literally on his last leg. Artificial limbs are a rarity on a battlefield where men are assumed to be in perfect condition.

A Rookie Again

Private Terry Moore, formerly an important member of the St. Louis Cardinals ball team, is shown with his equipment just after being thrown into the army air force in the Canal Zone.

Washington, D. C.

CHURCHILL'S TIP

One significant phase of Winston Churchill's conversations here has just leaked out. He volunteered some valuable advice on the make-up of the U. S. delegation to the peace conference.

Talking to a closed-door session of the senate and house foreign relations committees, he was reminded that if Woodrow Wilson had given more thought to the make-up of the United States in a League of Nations might not have been such a failure.

Churchill at first tactfully sidestepped comment, explaining he didn't want to stick his nose in American affairs. However, he finally observed with a grin that he knew a little about politics himself and probably could offer one suggestion. "What is it?" chorused several of the politicians.

"Appoint a delegation that is strictly bi-partisan," Churchill replied, "half Democrat and half Republican."

If the President named such a commission of outstanding leaders of both parties, the prime minister added, his chances of winning congressional approval of a treaty among the Allied powers would be greatly enhanced.

LEARNING JAP LANGUAGE

Officer Candidate schools have a reputation for being tough, but the Naval Intelligence Japanese Language school at Boulder, Colo., sets a new record. Hand-picked candidates from colleges and graduate schools pore over Japanese "Kanji" (word pictures) 10 hours a day, 6 days a week, for 14 months.

These 600 students are given intimate high pressure instruction in classes of only five men each. The faculty consists of 100 Japanese-Americans, former professional and business men, recruited from the East and West coast Japanese colonies.

The course is intensive, and the students are given no job except the principal one of learning the difficult Japanese language. Unlike other officer candidates, they have no guard duty, KP, or night bivouacs. Their job is to learn Japanese, learn it quickly, and learn it well.

SENATOR GLASS

Much-loved 63-year-old Senator Carter Glass of Virginia is expected by friends to drop out of the senate before many months. He has served as Woodrow Wilson's secretary of the treasury, 23 faithful years in the senate and 17 years in the house.

Virginia politicians close to Governor Darden are passing out the tip that when Glass retires, Darden will appoint as the senator's successor, not 63-year-old Congressman Cliff Woodrum, the most outstanding congressman from Virginia, but 72-year-old Congressman Tom Burch.

WHO OWNS THE FARMS?

Most people have the idea that Washington postwar planners are thinking only of the people in foreign countries. But that isn't the case. They are also thinking of how the land of America can be returned to the people of America.

Real fact is that much of the big land holdings in the U. S. A. are in the hands of insurance companies and absentee landlords, as strikingly brought out by latest AAA conservation land parity payments.

In four of the country's biggest farming states, largest payments were made not to individual farmers but to life insurance companies. Here are the actual payments, each one being the highest payment in that state:

Ohio—Union Central Life Insurance company, Cincinnati, $40,163; Wisconsin—Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, Milwaukee, $37,517; Iowa—Equitable Life Insurance company, Des Moines, $33,418; Missouri—General American Life Insurance company, St. Louis, $32,170.

In Mississippi, the largest payment went to an absentee landlord, the British owners of Delta and Pine Land company, Scott, Miss. The property is managed by a former AAA official, Oscar Johnston. The payment was $30,141.

Highest payment in Illinois went to the First Trust Joint Stock-Land bank, Chicago, $22,152. Highest in Nebraska went to the Federal Land Bank of Omaha, $77,035, while the same thing was true in Minnesota, where the largest payment, $75,761, went to the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul. The land banks hold a lot of property as a result of mortgage foreclosures in the lean years.

Largest payments in the four largest agricultural states of the northeast also went to insurance companies.

New York—Metropolitan Life Insurance company, New York City, $101,063. Incidentally, this was the largest payment made in the entire country. Connecticut—Connecticut General Life Insurance company, Hartford, $44,437. Pennsylvania—Provident Mutual Life Insurance company, Philadelphia, $15,023. New Jersey—Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company of Newark, received payment of $43,124.

Hubby's Caution Serious

Cramped Wife's Efforts. "It's rumored about that Mrs. Grampus hasn't spoken to her husband since she got her First Aid certificate, more than a month ago," gushed Mrs. Giblegaber. "You don't say!" returned Mrs. Cackleclack. "What seems to be the trouble?" "Well, before she took up First Aid, almost every day her husband came home from work with a bruise, cut, or other kind of injury," informed Mrs. Giblegaber; "but now that she has her certificate, he hasn't suffered as much as a scratch, and she's convinced he's being careful on purpose!"

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Just one more question before you go, Judge. What is this thing called propaganda you hear so much talk about these days?"
"I'll give you an example, Hank. Last night I was reading an interesting little book called 'Hitler is in Favor'. It told how Hitler would very much like to see Americans fighting among themselves over prohibition because that would create disunity, waste the time of Congress and legislatures in wet dry arguments and cripple our war effort."

also mentioned a booklet written about Hitler's government telling how Hitler's gang wants to maintain contact with foreign temperance organizations and how it contributes annually to an international temperance union.
"You can bet Hitler isn't interested in seeing prohibition advanced in our country for any reason except that he knows it's a good way to stir up trouble. That's what they mean by propaganda, Hank."
