WITH THE MEN IN SERVICE

FLETCHER HALL AND BILL ELLIOTT ON ITALIAN FRONT WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, ITALY
—2nd Lt. Fletcher H. Hall, Jr., of Capitan, New Mexico is Transportation Officer, and S/Sgt. John William Elliott of Carrizozo is Mess sergeant, in the 804th Tank Destroyer Battalion, Fifth Army unit that has proved itself extremely versatile in action on the Italian front.

Lt. Hall is the son of Mr. Fletcher Hall, Sr., of Hall's Drug Store at Capitan, and Sgt. Elliott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Elliott of Carrizozo.

The destroyers often have been dug in to perform as artillery pieces, supporting infantry, knocking out strong points and breaking up counter attacks. At other times, they serve as roving artillery, moving up to advanced firing points after dark and returning at dawn.

Mules have been used at times to keep the TDs supplied with ammunition. They've used plenty of that. By early November, it was calculated, the battalion had fired 634 tons of ammunition in combat, or 100,000 rounds.

The 804th went into the line along the Garigliano River March 8, 1944 and played a leading role in the spectacular summer advance of the Fifth Army, being among the first troops to pass through Rome and early arrivals in Leghorn, where its C Company entered from the east and rejoined the 804th's reconnaissance Company, as it entered the port city from the south.

The 804th is commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Fred G. Rowell, Roswell, New Mexico.

The unit, an outgrowth of the New Mexico National Guard, was formerly the 104th Anti-Tank Battalion and was stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, until December, 1941. The TDs later trained in the Borrego Desert in California, stayed a while at Camp San Luis Obispo, California, and then moved to the tank destroyer center at Camp Hood, Texas.

15TH AMERICAN AIR FORCE IN ITALY.—Assigned to active combat duty, Sgt. Curtis A. Ontiveros of Box 769, Route 3, Bakersfield, Cal., a gunner on a B-24 Liberator, has joined his outfit overseas—a veteran 15th Army Air Force heavy bombardment group stationed in Italy that has already participated in more than 150 combat missions against Axis installations in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations.

Sergeant Ontiveros, 26, is a graduate of Kern County Union High School, class of 1938. A former farmer, he entered the service at Ft. MeArthur, Feb. 20, 1942. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Ontiveros, live at the above address.

His wife, Ann K. Ontiveros, is a resident of Picacho, N. M.

Clayton Crumley, S-2e, U. S. Navy, got married in Portland Ore, on Feb. 8, 1945. Clayton and his bride will reside in San Diego.

Pvt. Allen Beck, who has been in an overseas hospital arrived at Charleston S. C., recently.

Manuel de Herrera of Lincoln, who was overseas many months, has again gone overseas after several months in the States.

Cadet Chas. Albert Snow, Jr., in training at Peru, Ind.

Lt. J. E. Thornton, Jr., who is stationed at Asheville, N. C. was promoted to first lieutenant the first. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thornton of Thornton's Grocery.

FEBRUARY 15, 6th ARMY GROUP, FRANCE—From "railwaymen" to "chemists" to "ferrovieri" and back to "chemists." That, in brief, is the overseas history of the men in the 761st Railway Transportation Company, for that is what they have been called as they moved from the British Isles to North Africa to Italy and to France.

The 761st, an important unit in the 1st Military Railway Service, which supports all the troops of the U. S. Seventh and French First Armies on the Western Front, was activated July 23, 1942 at Camp Shelby, Miss. Veterans from three of the oldest railway operating battalions, the 727th, the 712th and the 711th, joined the 761st just before and after it arrived in Scotland on September 5, 1942, only five weeks after its evacuation.

In England, the company operated a small British military experimental railroad. The line, with 12 miles of track and eight stations, presented many problems that the railwaymen would meet later. Also, about ten train crews from the company trained on the London, Midland and Scottish Railway.

The 761st landed at Oran three days after the initial North African landings, while the firing was still going on. The company immediately took over the railroad station in Oran and supervised rail transportation between that city and Algiers.

Moving to Italy in June, 1944, the 761st had the job of operating the Naples terminal and furnishing yardmasters, checkers, interpreters at the docks, railyards and movement control offices and other personnel. Similar duties were assigned the unit when it moved into Southern France. Keeping supplies moving from the great ports to the men at the front has meant plenty of hard work. The 761st recently shared in a commendation of the 1st Military Railway Service by Lt. Gen. Jacob L. Dovers, commanding general of the 6th Army Group.

Members of the company include: Cpl Edward L. Hastings of Hollywood, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Romero of Hondo were visitors here last Tuesday. Mrs. Romero subscribed for the News to send to her brother, D. D. Gomez, P. M. 3-c, overseas.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEEF

Seriously wounded by an exploding grenade, Marine Gunner Angus R. Goss of Tampa, Florida, braved point-blank enemy fire to charge an enemy machine gun emplacement in a cave. Single handed, he wiped out Japanese gunners and snipers with a submachine gun, saving the lives of his unit. Angus Goss is dead—leaving a Navy Cross for "indomitable fighting spirit and extreme courage." If such heroism doesn't deserve an extra War Bond, what does?

LOCAL MAN'S UNIT IN ITALY EVACUATED—50,000 CASUALTIES WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, ITALY
—Pfc. Manuel Corona, Jr., of San Patricio, an ambulance driver, is a member of the 109th Medical Infantrymen from the battlefields of Tunisia and Italy. He is the son of former Probate Judge, Manuel Corona of San Patricio.

The 109th is a supporting unit of the 34th "Red Bull" Division, the American division which has been in action on the Fifth Army front in Italy longer than any other.

Participating recently in the breach of the Gothic Line, the 109th added to a record of nearly three years in overseas service and a combat record that began more than two years ago in North Africa. There the medics improvised much of their equipment and innovated methods to meet the needs of modern warfare. Their ambulances shuttled patients to evacuation hospitals from 85 to 100 miles to the rear end, in the first half of the Tunisian campaign, the battalion's three surgeons performed all emergency operations.

This trio performed 50 major operations within three days during the siege of Fondouk, all of which were successful. The outfit participated also in action at Hill 603, Fald Pass, Kasserine Pass and Bizerte.

The 109th landed at Salerno, Italy, September 21, 1943, and its men swam across the Volturno River with the 34th Division spearhead and floated casualties back across the river in a rubber raft, guided in its course by taut ropes. The Volturno was twice again forded in the face of German shellfire.

The outfit's litter bearers carried the wounded down a rocky six-mile trail during the fight for Mount Pantano.

Organization of 500 volunteers to stretcher squads saved the lives of many wounded during the fight for Cassino.

Ambulances of the 109th took a beating on the Anzio beachhead, where some of them were captured by the Germans and litter squads sometimes came face to face with German patrols. The battalion's bivouac area was hit by 40 German bombs in one night.

The medics campaigned through the Lanuvio-Velletri Line, through Rome and Ceclina and on to the Arno River.

Original personnel of the 109th was drawn from the Iowa National Guard.

The battalion was commanded until recently by Lieutenant Colonel Edward W. Paulus of Iowa City, Iowa, who is now division surgeon. Present commander of the 109th is Major Roger M. Minkel of Fort Dodge, Iowa.

After all, why worry. Either you are successful or you're not successful. If you are successful, there's nothing to worry about, and if you're not successful, there are only two things to worry about. If your health is good there's nothing to worry about, and if you're sick there are only two things to worry about; either you are going to get well or you are not. If you are going to heaven, you have nothing to worry about, and if you are going to the other place you'll be so busy shaking hands with old friends you won't have time to worry. If the election did not go to suit you you have nothing to worry about for four years and if it did go to suit you, you have nothing to worry about for your man will do all the worrying. So why worry?

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

During at least the first three years following the end of the war, experts believe that 70 million tires will be needed annually in the U. S. alone. The peak year, 1941, saw a production of 62 million tires in this country.

Greater use of mechanical farm implements in post-war years is expected to make agriculture one of the largest consumers of rubber.

Despite the Far East war, the Foreign Economic Administration expects that 73,100 tons of natural rubber will be shipped to the U. S. from Ceylon and India during 1944.

Snapshots of Big Shots: (This is what comes from reading books!)

Edgar Allan Poe was a dollar-a-year-man too. . . He spent 10 years writing and rewriting "The Raven" and got 10 bucks for it. . . The original manuscript sold the last time for $10,000. . . Poe paid $3 a month rent for his honeymoon cottage on Grand Concourse (in the Bronx), which is now a New York state historical shrine. If it hadn't been a grand neighborhood for dandelions he and his bride would have starved.

Marconi, son of an Italian father and Irish mother, was 27 when he invented radio, and even then there were people who wanted to kill him. . . These cranks said electrical waves were passing through their bodies, destroying their nerves and making it impossible for them to sleep.

Barnum, who said "there's one born every minute," was one himself. He lost a fortune on a bear's grease hair tonic, was swindled out of another selling illustrated bibles, trimmed again on a fire extinguisher that wouldn't extinguish, went into bankruptcy for half a million making alarm clocks. . . Without a dime to his name he wrote a lecture on "How to Make Money," grossing $1,000 a night. . . And that's how the famous Barnumism was born.

Alexander Dumas, one-fourth Negro, whose book, "The Three Musketeers," was a best seller for almost 100 years, used to boast that he had more than 600 children and swore he would never marry. . . He changed his mind when a smart sweetheart bought up all his debts and gave him a choice between marriage and jail. . . He wrote novels on blue paper, poetry on yellow, articles on red, and nothing else would do. . . He wrote more than 1,200 volumes of plays, novels and histories, made over 5 million dollars and died broke, living off the charity of his son.

Woolworth started his five-and-dime stores on a capital of $300, and his first three failed. Thirty years later he was able to pay $11,000,000 cash for the building bearing his name, then the world's highest office building.

George Gerahwin sold his first song for $5; nine years later a Hollywood studio paid $50,000 just to use "Rhapsody in Blue," which he wrote in his spare time, in a single picture.

Sir Isaac Newton was so absent-minded he once rammed his niece's fingers into his pipe. . . Trying to fix himself a three-minute egg, he boiled his watch while watching the egg. . . When he went to fetch anything he usually came back without it. . . He was usually last in his class at school. . . He was a woman hater and never married. . . He always claimed he solved many of his mathematical problems in his sleep.

Dr. Samuel Johnson continually distorted his face by violent grimaces. . . When walking in the street he touched every post he passed and if he missed one he always returned. He always made a point of entering or leaving a door on a certain foot, but his biographer, Boswell, wasn't sure which one.

Lord Byron was so emotional that once a theatrical performance put him into convulsions. . . In a fit of temper he threw his watch into the fire and hammered it to pieces with the poker. . . He also fired a pistol in the bedroom of his wife, who left him after a year of marriage. . . So he went to Venice and bought a harem.

Schiller liked to keep his feet in ice while working. . . He once wrote a full and perfect description of the Swiss land and people - although he knew neither. . . Coleridge, who wrote "Kubla Khan" under the influence of an opiate, could remember only 54 lines when he sufficiently recovered to write. . . Richelieu at times imagined himself to be a horse and neighed, trotted and jumped like one. . . Beau Brummel, the fashion plate (who taught the Prince of Wales how to dress), died in rags in an insane asylum.

Beethoven had a passion for meeting and sometimes was paying rent on two or three places at once, but Mozart, who died at 35, starved and frozen, never could pay rent on one.

Chopin walked out on the biggest love of his life because she didn't offer him a chair before she offered one to others in the room. . . In his will he ordered himself buried in white lace shoes and silver lace breeches.

Ball Powder Is New Yank Feat

Explosive Produced Faster Than Smokeless Variety By Novel Process.

EAST ALTON, ILL.—Ball powder, a smokeless powder made by a revolutionary new process, is produced like a Panama hat—under water. But powder-makers don't wear swimming suits to manufacture these tiny spherical balls of explosive that look like miniature BB shot. They don't even have to touch the powder.

Ball powder is made by a chemical process and is untouched by human hands from the moment raw materials are fed into stills until the completed ball powder globules are pumped out of huge water-filled sorting vats to be dried under infra-red lights.

Regarded by ammunition makers as one of the few major scientific achievements in the field of explosives since the Chinese invented gun powder, ball powder was invented here on the banks of the Mississippi river in the laboratories of the Western Cartridge company.

Safe and Fast. Ball powder is not only safe to make, but is being made ten times faster than smokeless powder made by conventional processes. The average manufacturing time for ball powder has been cut down from 376 hours to 40 hours. Recently a batch of raw cotton was nitrated for ball powder at nine o'clock in the morning, and at three o'clock that afternoon cartridges loaded with the powder were fired on the testing range of Western Cartridge company. It was the fastest production of smokeless powder in history, Western workers believe.

Where ordinary smokeless powder is made by pressing nitrocellulose through dies and chopping the slender spaghetti-like rods into the proper sizes, ball powder is manufactured chemically under water. The nitrocellulose is first reduced to a liquid by the addition of ethyl acetate, a chemical used in the making of women's nail polish.

Method Is Simple. Because it is lighter than water, the liquid nitrocellulose rises to the top of the still. By whipping the mixture, it breaks into a multitude of tiny globules—the pellets of ball powder. The greater the speed of churning, the smaller the balls become. A chemical is added to prevent the balls from reuniting. After the balls are dried they are ready for loading into ammunition.

Although 40 chemists are kept busy checking every stage of production, actual manufacture is so simple that few critical materials have been used in building the ball powder-making equipment. Local boiler-makers constructed the stills and steamfitters put together the pipe used to convey the product from one tank to another.

U. S. Navy Plans to Step Up Training for Fliers

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The navy announced recently that it would re-institute part of its pilot training program, which was cut back last summer.

Plane Production Soars, Reaches 96,369 in '44

WASHINGTON. — American factories delivered 96,369 planes of all types in 1944, bringing production since July 1, 1940, to an Axis-staggering total of 233,236.

The 1944 output represented an increase of 11,423 planes, but by using weight as the yardstick the increase exceeded 50 per cent. Weight now is regarded as a more accurate gauge.

The trend toward greater average weight will continue in 1945, with increasing numbers of B-29 Superfortresses and other giants.

Present planning calls for 78,227 planes in 1945, but Chairman J. A. Krug, WPB chairman, said recently that the indications are that this will be increased.

December deliveries totaled 6,697 planes, a slight decrease from November's 6,747, but there was no decline on a weight basis.

Spring Fashions Put Emphasis On Soft Styling and Gay Color

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

ONE of the most important messages that the new fashions bring to us is the fact of a new soft-styling technique that accents the prettily feminine throughout the entire spring mode.

Instead of mannish tailored effects, designers are turning out charming bolero and cape suits together with simple cardigan types galore. These abound in prettifying highlights, such as bright linings, intriguing pockets and sprightly little self-fabric bows or contrast bindings to finish off edges. There's much braidwork entering into the scheme of things and big eye-catching buttons will play a star role in costume design.

The new spring coats and costume ensembles that include topcoat, jacket and skirt, or a color-bright coat worn over a one-piece gown, all reflect a most flattering soft styling. The trend to a soft silhouette is aptly demonstrated in the stunning new styles illustrated herewith. This trio of fashion-firsts for spring was selected from advance collections created and displayed by Chicago Fashion Industries.

Because of its drawing waistline, its fastening and its roomy sleeves, the coat shown to the left is definitely representative of the new soft-styled trend. Made of suede-finish strictly all-wool cloth in bright color range (if comes in sparkling spring shades) and having the new "shorty" length, it is outstandingly spring, 1945.

This is going to be a big season for big buttons. The coat to the right tells you how smart are the new and large lucite buttons that impart "style" to many a handsome coat for spring. This all-wool fleecy mandarin coat possesses unlimited wearing qualities. Its raglan cleavage and slit pockets are right up to the moment in chic.

wins high fashion rank both because of its soft styling and its play-up of striking color contrast. The skirt is black. The jacket underneath the black topper is bright red. Pockets formed of hand basket-woven self-fabric folds in black and red embellish the smart coat.

Color is playing an exciting role in fashions for spring. The call for grays is tremendous. "Any color go it's gray," about expresses it. Added to the list of practical utilitarian grays are many tones and tints in gray that fascinate with their subtle loveliness. The new pussy-willow gray is one of the new grays that you will fall in love with at first sight. Another choice color that is making conversation is known as white wine or white rum as some call it. Entire dress and coat ensembles in these beautiful grays are shown, also separate smartly styled toppers. White coats in the spring collection come as a surprise. However, their early entry into the fashion picture is but a prelude to the important role they are scheduled to play all through the spring and summer season.

The neutrals in grayish and pale beige tones are a hundred per cent good looking. In cape suits they are outstanding. Great importance is being attached to pink. It is definitely in the limelight, being made up in most flattering wool toppers, and prettiest ever dresses and suits. Pink with navy is a leading theme. Enthusiasm for navy knows no bounds. It is the big success color of the season. Brown for the wool topcoat worn over brown and white prints is very smart. Brown with pink accessories also is high fashion.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Three-Piece Suit

An invaluable addition to the wardrobe of a college senior, the girl who is about to launch on an exciting career and is planning for it now, is this smart rayon-and-wool flannel three-piece suit. It's designed for smart wear and long wear, as promised on the informative fabric label you should look for when shopping. In a three-in-one ensemble like this, one finds that most of the spring clothes problem is being taken care of. Choose either gray and white or brown and white flannel for this all-year-round costume and you'll register as among the best dressed.

Cape Costumes Are 'Fashion Important'

When the spring season gets into full stride watch the new and smart-looking cape costumes come out in endless parade. There is something very intriguing about the idea of a dress, a suit or a skirt with a hand-somely styled matching cape. Out of all the excitement in regard to the new cape fashions a new and very practical and ultra chic costume-idea is developing for career and college girls. For that matter it will be welcomed by every woman who is looking for practical fashions for practical wear. Briefly described it is that of the wool skirt with a smart hip-length matching cape with which you will need a whole wardrobe of pretty blouses that tune to occasion. Grand idea! They are now showing skirt-and-cape twosomes to be worn with blouses. Buy a smart pullover sweater too. Be sure that it is a perfect color match to your skirt and blouse (you'll love the new neutral grays or beige). With your jewelry neck sweater it's smart to wear a strand or more of pearls.

Designers Employing Lace In Many Versatile Ways

In neckwear departments they are showing lovely fabrics all of lace that look stunning on the new black or navy faille or moire suit. You can also get frills of matching lace to sew in the sleeves. Print frocks show a surprising amount of lace trims. Incrustations of fine black lace enhance many of this season's sheer black frocks.

Bertha Collars Back in Style

Bertha collars are again in fashion. They are liked because they give the "little girl" look to dainty cotton frocks now being made with drop sleeves. They also are manipulated to give a short sleeve effect.

Silk Patchwork Quilt Colorful and Quaint

AN OLD-FASHIONED crazy-quilt patch quilt aglow with color and quaint dithering makes a decorative slumber throw for the sofa in today's living room. It picks up and repeats all the room colors and the hit-and-miss pattern harmonizes with furnishings old and new.

In Victorian days great grandfather's cravats were the source of many a rich piece of silk for these quilts. Why not look over the old ties that G.I. Joe left behind with an eye to the same purpose? The ends are always good no matter how worn the center part may be. Collecting bits of bright silk, ribbon and embroidery thread will be an exciting hobby and it costs nothing.

NOTE—BOOK 2 of the series of 25-page booklets offered with these articles gives complete directions for making crazy-quilt quilts with exact diagrams showing the old-fashioned embroidery stitches used. Copy of BOOK 2 will be sent postpaid upon receipt of 15 cents with name and address. Write to:

A DEFINITE PROGRAM IS ALWAYS GOOD FOR ANY COMMUNITY

The principal reason many communities do not show greater development and progress is lack of a definite program.

The workers of the Community clubs, or Chamber of Commerce, do not have a definite task set before them to do.

The result is, there is no concentration of effort or resources, no banner or standard behind which the forces of the community can be rallied and put to work, no goal ahead toward which the drive for a more prosperous community can be directed.

In some instances communities do not progress because of lack of leadership but more often the reason is lack of objective and definite program.

If a definite program is presented, the leadership of the community can be rallied about it as a standard and much can be accomplished.

For instance, a few worthwhile projects are being accomplished here. The Women's Club is working toward ownership of the building and are making headway. They are also starting a new library which will keep them occupied for some time to come, acquiring books and working out plans.

The village council is installing a new 54,000 dollar locker system which will keep them occupied for months to come. In fact, in spite of war, about once from every family group and a whole of obstacles to be surmounted, little old Carizozo is still plugging along.

A new industry has developed with a future so tentatively limited that its full significance can scarcely be grasped. The industry is aviation especially commercial air transport. The air plane ranks high in the public imagination as a means of seeing the remote corners of the world and this is not surprising. More than 200,000 route miles have been flown by passenger and cargo planes operated by personnel of the army air transport command and naval air transport service. No small Pacific island, no sun-baked desert, no sunny African plain, no Himalayan peak has failed to see in ever-increasing numbers American transport planes carrying men and supplies everywhere on earth. When the war is over world wide military supply lines will become air lines for passengers and cargoes of peace time products. The age of adventure and the opening of new frontiers has just begun.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned was on the 19th day of February, 1945, duly appointed administrator of the Estate of Mary E. Wiggins, deceased, by the Probate Court of Lincoln County, State of New Mexico, and being qualified as such Administrator, all persons having claims against said Estate are hereby notified to file and present the same in the manner prescribed by law on or before the 24th day of August, 1945.

M. M. PENIX,
Corona N. M.,
Administrator.

Notice

S. P. Vidal, Collector of Internal Revenue, today reminded individual income taxpayers that Congress has changed from December 15, 1944, to January 15, 1945, the final date for filing Declarations of Estimated Income Tax, either original (as in the amended Declaration of Estimated tax by January 15, 1945, files his annual income tax return for 1944 (on Form 1040) and pays all taxes due by January 15, his return will serve as both a return and declaration and he need not file the 1944 declaration.

If a taxpayer who would otherwise be required to file an original or amended, or amended, and paying of installments of estimated tax for the calendar year 1944.

Among the taxpayers affected by this change in dates are: farmers who exercised their right to defer filing declarations last April 15; others who have already filed 1944 declarations but desire to change their estimates by filing amended declarations; all persons who owe the final installment of 1944 estimated tax.

Also, if a taxpayer files his final 1944 return (on Form 1040) and pays the tax due on it by January 15, he need not pay the final installment which otherwise would be due on his estimated tax.

A bill from the Collector for the final installment of 1944 estimated tax may be ignored by a taxpayer who files his annual return (on Form 1040) and pays the tax due on it by January 15.

The New Mexico Collector stated that these changes will enable a taxpayer, if he desires to do so, to wind up all of his 1944 income tax obligations by January 15, but it does not affect the filing of his 1945 declaration which will be due March 15. Also, taxpayers who do not file their final 1944 returns by January 15 must do so by March 15.

EL PASO SOUTHWESTERN LIVESTOCK SHOW AND RODEO DATES CHANGED

Sixteenth Annual Southwestern Livestock Show and Eightieth Annual Southwestern Championship Rodeo dates have been changed to April 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9, 1945, according to an announcement made today by the Show Officials.

Both events were originally scheduled for one week earlier which is Holy Week and Easter Sunday.

Team-racing contestants of the Cowboys' Turtle Association will ride, rope and bulldog the rugged rodeo stock of Don Nesbitt and Verne Elliott, world-famous rodeo producers and directors.

The Livestock Show of 1945 is inviting breeders of Registered Hereford, Aberdeen-Angus, and Short-horns - fatcaves, swine, sheep, poultry, Quarter Horses and Palomino Horses - are again appearing in the horn cattle to exhibit here for the first time. A Division under the sponsorship of the local chapter of the new feature. All classes of former American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association has also been added as a Premium List.

1944 Federal Income Tax Returns

Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service, February 8, 1945.

Below is a deputy collector's name, and time and place where he will be during the drive, as well as a few pertinent facts for the taxpayers. (A second trip to a particular locality cannot be made):

Deputy Collector W. J. McAuley, at Lincoln County Court House, Carizozo, New Mexico, from March 1 through March 3, 1945.

Who Must File
Any individual whose total income in 1944 was $500 or more.

Bring tax form mailed you and Form W-2, supplied by employers, disclosing the Federal Tax withheld from wages. The above forms are absolutely necessary before return can be completed to disclose tax due or refund to be made. Tax returns must be filed even though taxes have been withheld. Taxpayers must have a detailed listing of all income and expenses. These items must must be segregated for the deputy's use in the preparation of the return; otherwise, it may become necessary for the taxpayer to return home for further information. The assistance of the deputy collector will be free to those desiring to take advantage of it.

Deputy Collector.

New Mexico Cattle Growers Association

Special To the Lincoln County News:

Albuquerque, N. Mex., Feb. 20. E. G. Hayward, Cimarron, President of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association, denounced the recommendation of the State Committee of the Department of Agricultural Economics that cattle numbers in New Mexico should be reduced by 26 per cent this year. The recommendation was made by means of a confidential report to all agricultural government bureaus within the state, Hayward said.

"Such a drastic reduction in cattle numbers in New Mexico would bring our total cattle population to less than 1,000,000 head. This move would be a serious blow to the economy of the entire state," Mr. Hayward stated.

"New Mexico has shown practically no increase in cattle numbers in the past ten years. We are now being urged to decrease our cattle population by some 26 per cent. The Midwest, Eastern and Southern States which have shown an increase during the past decade (as much as 50 per cent in beef cattle have been asked for no decrease in cattle numbers by the department," Hayward said. "Such an inconsistent policy on part of the Department would appear to be an organized move to discourage beef production in the West and encourage it in the Eastern and Southern States."

Asked if livestock producers were consulted as to the recommended decrease in cattle numbers in the State, Hayward said "Although P. W. Cockerill of the State Department of Agricultural Economics has informed us that producers were heard, such proposal has never been approved by the representative cattle growers association of New Mexico. If such a drastic cut in cattle numbers in New Mexico was approved by each cattle producer, they were no doubt led to believe that a like reduction was being urged equally throughout the nation."

Ninety three per cent of the entire land area of the state is adaptable only to grazing purposes," Hayward stated. Sheep numbers are at present far below normal. If the cattle numbers are cut 25 per cent, it will mean complete loss of revenue of valuable grazing lands. Eastern and Southeastern states can grow other crops on their lands. New Mexico and Western States must sell their land for grazing purposes only, or let them go to waste. Our state cannot afford to allow millions of dollars of productive income to be pushed aside because of the whims of certain bureaus of the federal government attempting to regulate and pattern the agricultural industry of the nation."

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, with the danger of threatened inflation which becomes apparent in our city, county and nation during this war emergency, it becomes a matter of national and personal concern to each of us.

WHEREAS, the citizens of Carizozo and Lincoln county have cooperated to the fullest extent with all of the requirements of our country during this time of national peril, and have been of particular assistance to the Office of Price Administration in distributing scarce commodities and controlling inflationary prices, and

WHEREAS, a plan of city-wide price survey procedure has been instituted in the city of Carizozo for the purpose of protecting our national economy and holding the price line, and

WHEREAS, the people of Carizozo will assist the local representatives of our war price and rationing board in any effort which they might make to protect the home and savings of all of our citizens.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, F. A. English, mayor of Carizozo, do hereby proclaim the week of February 12th to 17th, inclusive, and all succeeding days thereafter until the danger of inflation has passed, as INFLATION CONTROL WEEK in Carizozo for the purpose of making a survey and the establishment of a price-administered price control, and hereby request the full co-operation of the merchants and citizens of Carizozo with the representatives of War Price and Rationing Board No. 14 in the making of such survey.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I hereunto set my hand this 12th day of February, 1945.

Mayor of the town of Carizozo.

TAKE CARE OF BOOKS.

The public was warned this week by the District OPA office to take better care of War Ration books. Replacement of lost, stolen, or mutilated books will be more difficult in the future, it was announced.

Hereafter, persons reporting lost ration books will be asked to make a thorough explanation, and search for them, before being issued new ones. Recently, OPA officials say, 19 of 23 persons who reported lost ration books found them.

Francis L. Horn, OPA Attorney, and H. L. Galles, Rationing Executive, say that duplication of books must be avoided. Usually, they say, the books are merely misplaced. Recently a woman customer at a bank left her six family ration books on the counter. The bank notified the OPA office. When the woman phoned the OPA seeking new books, she was informed that her old ones were at the bank.

VETERANS' BUREAU LOANS UNDER G. I. BILL

The necessary machinery for processing applications for veterans of World War II for business loans under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 (G. I. Bill of Rights) has been set up in the El Paso Office of the Dallas Loan Agency of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, A. J. McKinnon, Examiner in charge of the local office, announced today.

Mr. McKinnon's statement followed an announcement from Washington, D. C., that the Veterans Administration had designated the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as an Agency to review applications to banks by veterans for the guaranty of business loans. Under the program, RFC will recommend to the appropriate office of the Administrator of Veterans Affairs whether that office should approve or disapprove such applications.

Loans applied for may be used in purchasing any business, supplies, equipment, machinery or tools to be used by the veteran in pursuing a gainful occupation. The Government may guarantee repayment of such loans to the extent of 50 percent, but not in an amount exceeding $2,000 as its maximum guaranty. Thus, the veteran who qualifies for a business loan may obtain a guaranty for 50 percent of any loan up to $4000. He may, of course, obtain from his banker a loan of greater amount, for instance, $6,000; but the guaranty is limited to $2,000. In loans of less than $4,000, the Government guarantees half; thus, in a $3,000 loan the guaranty amounts to $1,500, not more.

Mr. McKinnon outlined the following essential steps for veterans desiring guaranteed loans:

1. The veteran should first contact his local banker.

2. If the veteran is unable to obtain a loan from his local banker, he should then apply to his nearest RFC Loan Agency for a loan. The address of the appropriate agency for this region is 711 El Paso National Bank Building, El Paso, Texas.

"Banks desiring to assist veterans in this program may obtain the necessary regulations and loan application blanks from the local regional office of the Veterans Administration," Mr. McKinnon said.

"Since the Act does not provide for loans to run businesses, the lender will want to know whether the veteran has sufficient funds for this purpose, as well as ability, dependability, business experience, and business character, to assume a reasonable likelihood that the veteran's contemplated operations will be successful. The lender will also want to know whether the veteran has been in such business before entering the service and the nature of his service experience and training.

"Veterans are well advised to be on guard against fraudulent or absurd propositions and careful of exploiters. With the aid of the banker, who is schooled in such matters, veterans should investigate very carefully all propositions presented to them. There are many pitfalls, difficulties and hard work in operating one's own business."

"The requirements of the Law are that the veteran must be found qualified by training or experience to engage in the type of business for which he seeks a loan, the property sought to be acquired is reasonable in price and suited to its intended purpose, and that the venture is likely to succeed.

NO SHOE STAMPS ARE BEING CANCELLED.

In response to the question as to whether or not the OPA intended to cancel and outstanding shoe stamps, Price Administrator Chester Bowles has made the following statement: "Not a chance in a million. We are not going to cancel any shoe stamps." William H. Black, District OPA Rationing Official, followed this announcement by urging people to conserve their shoe stamps for use next spring and summer.

RATIONING TIMETABLE

Red Stamps—Q5 through X5, Book Four, valid for meats, fats.

Blue Stamps—X5 through G2, Book Four, valid for processed foods. People are urged to destroy all invalid coupons.

Sugar Stamps—No. 34, Book Four, is valid for five pounds. Another sugar stamp will be validated on February 1.

Shoe Stamps—Airplane stamps 1, 2 and 3, Book Three, valid for one pair each of rationed shoes. Next shoe stamp, not to be valid until late summer.

Gasoline Stamps—A-14 coupons are good for four gallons each, through March 21.

Importance of Food Production

President Franklin D. Roosevelt today emphasized the importance of food production and conservation in a statement released through the New Mexico Extension Service. Declaring that the food battle is far from won, the President of the United States called on American people to continue their "magnificent work."

His statement follows: "During the past three years every American who has played a part in the job of growing, conserving, harvesting, distributing and processing our food supply has done a magnificent job."

As we enter a new year, the demands for our food at home and abroad are so great that it is essential for every man and woman to do everything to help in the huge task of getting the food produced and seeing that it is conserved and shared. Many of our favorite foods are scarce.

To this end, I ask the people in cities, towns and villages to assist our farmers in every possible way to reach the food goals which have been set for this year.

I call upon the millions of victory gardeners who have done so much to swell the nation's food supply in these war years to continue their good work.

I ask those people who can spare the time, to assist the nation's food processors in the task of preparing the food for our armed services, our civilians and our allies.

I ask the millions of women who have preserved food at home so that our armed services could have the fruits and vegetables they need, to carry on until the war is won.

I ask every American to share our available food by observing the rules of rationing and by cooperating with food merchants in the observance of food price ceilings.

I know I can count on the American people to respond to these calls to action, so that we can all truly continue to say when the war is won that our food has played an important role in the fight for freedom.

New Postal Notes

Save Time and Money

The new postal notes replace the long used and complicated money orders in amounts up to and including $10, and are less expensive to purchase. There is a flat charge of 5 cents on all postal notes, whereas the old money orders cost from 6 cents for $2.50 to 11 cents for $10.

The new streamlined postal notes are less complicated. They are to be obtained at the postal window in denominations from $1 to $10. Special stamps will be available where the customer desires to send an amount involving odd pennies; for instance where the purchaser desires to send a postal note for $5.43 he is given a $5 postal note and 43 cents in special postal note stamps which are affixed to the note.

The postal clerk issues the note and it is not necessary for the customer to fill out an application as in the old type money order.

There is a stub on the postal note which the purchaser retains. The notes may be cashed at a postoffice or a bank by signature and are time and money savers.

Serving Labor

San Francisco was the first big city I ever saw. Young and interested in everything, I stopped one day to look at a big piece of plate glass being installed in a storefront. It was the lunch hour and the workmen were not busy. As they ate they drank from bottles. When the bottles were empty, they broke them. The incident gave me a distinct shock, and I never forgot it.

Back in Oklahoma, 60 miles from a railroad where I had learned to walk as well as to plow, every manufactured thing was deemed to have value. My mother literally hoarded bottles for many useful purposes. A milk bottle would have been prized in her collection. My curiosity won a battle with bashfulness and I asked the workmen why they broke the bottles, and they told me.

Idea to Make Work

"You see, buddy," the foreman explained, "we work in glass. So do the working men who make the bottles. The more bottles we break the more work they will have." Later I learned that this was a tradition of the industry, supposedly based on fellowship and loyalty to Labor. At first I was very much confused—loyalty to Labor seemed entirely right to me, destructiveness entirely wrong.

Just recently, Edward T. Cheyfitz, national chairman of an important labor union, a member of the National Reconversion Committee of the C.I.O., touched on the subject in as clear and sound an economic treatise as I ever read. It appeared in the December issue of Fortune. He called bottle breaking a waste of labor and raw material, typical of an old fashioned and wrong attitude toward jobs and wages.

For High Production,
This big labor leader said, "I know of numerous cases in prewar days where workers deliberately held down production because they had been made to feel that this was the road to wage and employment security. We must educate union membership," he continued, "to practice high productivity. Certainly labor can not increase its own share of goods by producing less."

To sum up the whole article, Mr. Cheyfitz contends that labor and management must find a common ground if our nation, as now constituted, is to survive. He said the survival of labor unions depends on the same thing. To find this common ground, the C.I.O. man suggests that labor and management travel the same road of maximum production. Let me add, he is right.

A 44-Year Record.
History backs him up. High production has always helped labor. In 1899 the average factory employee toiled 60 hours a week and earned only $420 a year because what he produced would sell for no more than $1,030. In 1939 the average factory worker put in only 38 hours a week, turned out $5,140 worth of merchandise and earned $1,150 a year. Good tools make the difference.

With better equipment, the worker produces three times as much and therefore earns three times as much. The formula is still good. Greater and more efficient production will make many jobs at good pay in the postwar years. It will require better equipment but this can be provided wherever employers and employees see eye-to-eye. Mr. Cheyfitz points to the only hope in sight for labor or capital either.

LIVING IN MEXICO

The News is in receipt of card from Mr. M. C. St. John who is located at Queretaro, Qui Mex., and who was for many years the News office for about 10 years. He is now employed by the Southern Pacific, south of the Border.

Woman's Club

Mrs. Will Norman called the meeting to order February 16th. After the usual preliminaries, that is, singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," and "Salute to the Flag," the club got down to regular routine business. Mayor English met with the club, explaining details of their purchase of the club building. Mrs. Nellie Brannum suggested that donations be accepted for the purchase, in addition to the money earned by the club; this motion carried so Mayor English very generously started the donations off with $20. Others followed suit, and a neat sum was realized.

Mrs. Davis asked for donations of chicken and other items for the Washington's birthday dinner (and by way of parenthesis—$76 were cleared on the dinner after the expenses were all paid).

It was found that the club could use the room in the basement of the County School Library to start a state-sponsored library for the public in general. Details to be gone into later by the committee.

Mrs. Carl P. Radcliff was leader for the day. One high light was a talk on "Nutrition" delivered by Mrs. Wilma Snow-White, who is spending some time here while her husband, Lieut. White, is overseas.

Last Friday evening the Odd Fellows entertained all their wives and lady friends and members of the Rebekah Lodge. About 40 members and guests accepted the invitation. Miss Garrison said grace over the table as bounteously supplied with food of different kinds of sandwiches and cakes of every variety; coffee and cocoa were also served. After everyone had eaten and eaten until food didn't even look tempting any more, Mr. McGinnis announced that everyone was invited to take a sandwich and some cake home—in fact they were expected to—as there was a war on and not a thing should be wasted. After the tables were cleared, a radio furnished the music and dancing was enjoyed by some; while others sat and talked.

The Odd Fellows really "did themselves proud" or "covered themselves with glory," as royal, hospitable hosts, etc., etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Dink Myers and their mother, Mrs. Cherille Coe, are visitors of Mrs. Elva Sherell here last Thursday and went to Ruidoso to spend Sunday.

CONGRESS NEEDS REORGANIZATION—NOW

I met the lady as she was leaving the visitor's gallery of the house of representatives. She looked discouraged and despondent, as though she had received a severe shock. Knowing her, I asked what the trouble, if any, might be.

"Oh!" she said, with a tremor in her voice that sounded as though it might call for tears. "All of my adult life I have wanted to see and hear congress — our congress — in session. I had anticipated inspiration. If what I have just seen and heard is congress then God help America.

That lady's experience was much like the experience of many thousands of Americans who visit that gallery. What they see from there is not inspiring, but they see only the slap stick comedy side of congress. Many of those they see on the floor are but little more than loudly vocal manikins who say "yes" or "no" as the strings are pulled from back stage.

In reality congress is a group of comparatively few men. They are the legislative leaders of the two major parties. They are capable and hard working. Their job is done behind doors of private offices in the house or senate office buildings, or in committee rooms. They are on the floor of the house or senate only infrequently. They are back stage operating the strings that cause the manikins on the floor to produce a show for the spectators, and to say "yes" or "no" on a vote on legislation, the meaning of which the manikins on the floor, playing their small parts in the slap stick comedy, have no understanding.

I have known the house of representatives when, through two or three two-year sessions, it, in reality, consisted of two men. Uncle Joe Cannon was the speaker, and presided over the comedy. Martin B. Madden, chairman of the rules committee, operated back stage. No bill reached the floor of the house that did not have Madden's approval.

The constitution provides a well defined place for the legislative branch of our three way—legislative, administrative, judicial—government. It was about 1015 that the legislative branch began chirking its part in government operation, and passing its authority and responsibility on to the administrative branch. Year after year congress has surrendered a bit here and a bit there until the legislative branch is no longer necessary to the conduct of government. Executive directives have largely replaced legislation by congress.

New congress proposes to, if possible, retrieve its lost authority and responsibility. A bi-partisan committee of the house and senate is to provide plans for simplifying the procedures in both houses, to define more definitely just what congress shall do, and how, with an organization of committee experts and clerks who will write into legislation the details of its operation instead of passing the buck to the President.

Such changes are needed if our three way government is to continue to function. Let us hope the committee does a practical job before next April when it is directed to report the why and how of a reorganization of congressional methods.

Nothing that may be done will change the personnel of congress. There will continue to be a minority of capable men representing both major parties who will still be the real congress, pulling the strings from the back stage to operate the manikins for the edification of the audience in the galleries.

It is not those who answer the most roll calls who may be considered the most capable legislators. The real work is done on the back stage.

THERE ARE THOUSANDS of privately owned and operated farms in Russia, but on them there are no employed farm hands. Private enterprise exists in many lines insofar as it can be operated by the individual who owns it. Whether it be a farm, a factory or a store the owner can not employ help. The government only can provide a job at wages. The individual can own his own home, but he cannot rent one except from the one landlord, the government. The system is very different from our own, but if the Russians like it why should we worry.

SOME HOUSES are but four walls and a roof, others are homes. No matter where located the first are always on the wrong side of the American tracks. The two kinds of houses represent the only two classes into which the American people are divided. The one, those who would make a pig sty of a palace. The other, those who would make a palace of a humble cottage.

NOW GLORIOUS will be that day when we do not have to count rafter joints.

Gen. Stilwell Road Completed to Supply China

The greatest engineering feat in the annals of the United States army was the completion of the Stilwell road through Burma, by Brig. Gen. Lewis A. Peck, his American engineers and thousands of native laborers. Not only was the road constructed, air fields built, mountains and jungles conquered, the monsoons defeated, raging rivers bridged, but malaria was licked in solving the problem as General Peck and his men slaved against time, nature and the Japanese; thousands of miles from home.

Ex-G.I.s Enter College for Postwar Training

While industry is still laying its careful plans for the day when swords may be beaten into plowshares, the government has already put into operation its machinery of reconversion for the men discharged from the armed forces. Thousands of young men are being discharged monthly, and many of them, like those shown above, have resumed their studies or are receiving training for new vocations.

General Eddy Wins Decoration

Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy, right, receives the Distinguished Service medal from Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, for his leadership of the 12th army corps in the drive across France. He is the officer who outmaneuvered German Field Marshal Von Rundstedt on the Moselle river and led assault between Nancy and Metz.

Assistant Chaplain

Believed to be the first woman to serve as a chaplain's assistant, Miss Ethel Wilson of Harrogate, England, will serve overseas. She has been assigned for an 18-month commission in East Africa.

GERMAN UNDERGROUND SEETHES

According to uncensored dispatches now reaching Washington, active guerrilla warfare is flaring up on a mounting scale behind the German lines.

First real indication of an active Fifth column in Germany came recently with accurate reports of pitched battles inside Berlin, Breslau and Bremen. This new guerrilla warfare differs from that of partisan units inside France, Yugoslavia and Greece in that few of the guerrilla troops are Germans. The bulk are Frenchmen and Russians who were captured earlier in the war and have been used as slave labor in the reich.

All of these workers were carefully guarded by Himmler until recently. Most lived in big cities and worked in large industrial plants. In Berlin for example, hundreds of thousands of slave laborers have been housed in fenced off temporary barracks in the heart of the city.

But recent powerful allied air raids have created such chaos that thousands of foreign workers escaped from their enclosures and have hidden in the bomb ruins.

At night, the guerrillas prowl the streets, capture Nazi centres, steal food and ammunition, commit extensive sabotage. They have been joined by some German army deserters, afraid to return to the front, advisers say.

Once Berlin is taken it is expected that the several million slave laborers will flare into such revolt that Germany—except in the mountainous south—will cave like an egg-shell.

OVER-AGE SERVICEMEN

Greatest hardship on men in the army probably is with enlisted men over 30, now too old to become officers but who can't resign as officers can.

Typical case of how this hardship works is that of Cpl. Alexander C. Sloris, age 43, who has served in the army three years, most of the time overseas. Corporal Sloris is not only a college graduate, but holds a doctor's degree. Twice he was recommended for officers' training school, but each time his unit moved overseas and he had to call with his unit. Now he is too old to be commissioned, too old for combat, yet under present army rules must be kept on—doing menial jobs.

There are thousands of similar cases. What the army needs is a good overhauling of its manpower, especially older men who have been in the army a long time.

NEW MANPOWER PROGRAM

War Manpower Commission Director Paul McNutt may put a new program into effect very soon in all light labor areas. This would limit employers in non-essential or less essential industries to a certain percentage of the number of workers they employed last year. This ceiling-employee program has already been tried out in Chicago and proven successful.

Chicago employers in non-essential and less essential industries will be required to cut the number of employees on the payroll 10 per cent by March 15.

SECRET RED WEAPONS

The Russians are way ahead of both the United States and Great Britain in the use of rocket guns, have employed them with devastating effect in the lightning drive through Poland, and particularly in the offensive against the Nazis in East Prussia.

One new and very important weapon which Stalin unveiled in the new drive is the 100-ton tank named after himself. The Stalin tank is superior to the German royal tiger tank, and our own Sherman heavy tank. It carries a 4.2-inch gun against the 3-inch gun carried on our Sherman. So long as the ground remains hard, the Stalin tank is capable of resisting any but the largest point-blank German shells. On the other hand, the mobile gun on the Stalin tank can pierce most of the German secondary fortifications so far encountered by the Russians, it is said.

WAR NOTES

Germans are already trying to escape from the threatened Nazi homeland. Reports from Lisbon, Madrid, Stockholm and Berna reveal hundreds of Germans trying to crash the frontier to get out of Germany before the Allies take over.

FDR still hasn't decided who he will name as high commissioner of the Philippines. WMC Director Paul McNutt and Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy both are ready to go. If Murphy takes it, Roosevelt will nominate Judge Sam Rosenman to the Supreme court.

A significant new Slav treaty is now being negotiated. It will bind together the Czechoslovak government and the Lublin-Polish government in the first step toward the creation of an eastern European Slavic alliance — naturally with Moscow's blessing.

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, thirst, or getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be sure to get a medicine recommended by the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and helps them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain no harmful ingredients. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

GIRL OVERBOARD

by GEORGE F. WORTS

W.M. RELEASE

THE STORY THUS FAR: Zorie Corey, who is in love with Paul Duncan, agrees to help edit the memoirs of his grandfather, Admiral Duncan. Aboard ship bound for Hawaii she is thrown overboard by enemy agents, but is rescued. After landing at Oahu, Paul and Zorie overhear Paul's brother, Steve, with whom Zorie is infatuated, plotting against the U. S. with Lanning. Believing Steve to be in danger, Zorie tries to rescue him, but is captured by Lanning and driven into the mountains. She is told she must wait for Steve. Steve arrives at the camp and Zorie tries to hold the group until help arrives.

CHAPTER XIX

She staggered out of the door which the three struggling men had crashed open. She crossed a little porch and walked down a step into the yard. She stopped beside a stunted tree.

Pierre was standing less than a yard away from the two fighting men. The revolver was raised. He was waiting his chance to shoot Steve without hitting Winthrop Lanning.

Zorie remembered her father's saying, "Hold your breath when you pull the trigger." She drew a deep breath. The air was cool and sweet with the early morning fragrance of Chinese Jasmine.

She aimed the pistol at Pierre's head. She held the trigger back. The explosion almost kicked the pistol out of her hand. But she did not once blink. Pierre spun about. The revolver dropped from his hand. He pitched forward into the mud.

One of Steve's muddy fists struck Mr. Lanning in the mouth. She saw Mr. Lanning sag to his knees with his hands covering his mouth.

All of the strength left Zorie. The pistol slipped out of her hand and she sat down in the mud.

Then Steve's strange, rumbling voice said, "Baby, we did it!"

She put her hands to her face. She felt sick and confused. Her hands and her feet were throbbing with pain. Steve was trying to lift her up, but she was too weak to help.

Steve cut her down in a chair on the little porch. She saw him attending to Mr. Lanning. Steve had found some pieces of rope. He tied Mr. Lanning's hands together, then he tied his ankles together, just as Mr. Lanning had tied her, in the garage at Ulukouhi. And she wondered what, after all he'd been through, was keeping Steve alive.

She heard Steve talking, in his strange, throaty voice to Basil Stromberg. She heard Steve say he was sorry he had shot Mr. Stromberg in the shoulder.

"I intended," Steve said, "to shoot you in the head."

She heard other voices, and thought she was imagining them—the sharp, thin voice of the admiral, and the excited voice of Paul. It was, Zorie decided a moment before she slid out of the chair unconscious, very ironical. She had tried so desperately to detain Mr. Stromberg until Paul and the admiral arrived. And here they were!

The days were difficult, especially the first ones, but it was the nights that Zorie really dreaded. Every night, even with her bedside lamp on, all the things she wanted to forget kept coming back and living themselves all over again, so that, in spite of sleeping capsules, she could not sleep.

A morning came when Zorie felt amazingly better. She had had a good night, fairly free from disturbing images. She ate a big breakfast and she asked the nurse if she couldn't get dressed and sit out in the sunlight on the little lanai that adjoined her bedroom.

"Can I see some people?" Zorie asked. "I would love to see some people."

"What people would you love to see?" her nurse asked. "I would love to see Lieutenant Duncan."

Steve came out onto the lanai—but he was not alone. The admiral trotted along beside him.

to know! Where are Mr. Stromberg and Mr. Lanning?"

"In Honolulu—in custody," Steve answered. "I saw them a couple of days ago. They are still a little bitter at the way you outsmarted them on one point after another all night long and held them until the U. S. Navy arrived. But they believe in putting credit where it belongs. They admire you tremendously. They spoke of you so flatteringly that my ears burned for you."

"What will happen to them?" Steve shrugged. "The case is out of my hands and I can now return to my job at Pearl Harbor. I do not like Naval Intelligence and I hope I will never be assigned to it again."

"There is one thing I am very curious to know," Zorie said. "Does this magical radio device that all this excitement was about—this JY-419—really exist?"

"That," Steve gently answered, "I consider a military secret not to be entrusted to the mercy of an innocent young girl."

"I will try," Zorie said, "to blush with maidenly modest shame for asking the question. There's another thing that's puzzled me. I'm granting, of course, that you are bright."

"Next to being a genius," Steve said, "comes the ability to recognize it."

"The historic night I met you in the rain by the trash basket, you thought for a moment that I was Anna Boland."

"Well?" said Steve. "Later, when the admiral decided to take me along, you must have realized that my presence might jeopardize your plans."

"I gave it some thought," Steve admitted. "While I was waiting outside your Aunt Hannah's, I tried to look at it as my war-muddled friends would look at it. I reasoned that they knew Anna Boland had been shot in Berlin, that it would be very easy to check up on you, and that they would realize that, if I were double-crossing them, I wouldn't be dumb enough to associate openly with Anna Boland. . . . Will you please tell me why you brought along that thesis on the re-tooling of the Waffenfabrik Krupp plant? I honestly think it was that harmless piece of literature that tipped the scales."

"Your grandfather," Zorie answered, "was standing over me while I packed. We were trying to catch a plane. Remember? I grabbed everything in sight. I happened to grab that."

"But why had you saved it?" "You wouldn't understand," Zorie answered. "Only a girl who has copied dozens of theses and knows how badly most engineers spell and punctuate would understand. . . . There is another question, Steve. . . . Pierre."

"I am so sorry," Steve gravely stopped her, "to have to tell you that that gallant fellow died of lead poisoning."

During these long white nights, she had wondered so often if Pierre had died. Now that she knew, she could face it as a moral issue. She, Zorie Corey, had deliberately shot and killed a man! But now that she knew, she experienced no sense of guilt. The fact was chilling, but it left her with no regrets.

"If you don't mind," Steve was saying, "there are some things my grandfather wants to consult you about."

"The Book?" Zorie asked. "No. The admiral has somehow acquired the notion—perhaps from the recent front page headlines in which you have figured so prettily—that you are an unusually clear-minded, judicious young woman. He is, for example, determined to keep my brother in the doghouse for certain careless things he said on the historic night of the dinner party."

"Where he belongs!" the admiral said belligerently. "Well," said Steve, "I argue that the admiral was throwing his weight around too freely when he dragged Paul out here. I also argue that the admiral is making a pest of himself in popping in on all his grandchildren the way he does and trying to run their lives."

"But it's good for them!" the admiral cried. "It keeps them on their toes!"

"One moment, Admiral," Steve said firmly. "Court is now in session and you are out of order."

The admiral's white hair stirred in the soft sea breeze. His china-blue eyes were glowing with determination. His jaw was more prominent than usual.

"Now, look here, my dear—" he began with his amazing vigor. "It's no use, Admiral," Zorie said. "If you really want my opinion—Steve is right."

"But Paul needs a lesson!" the admiral shrilled. "He needs the healthy, wholesome kind of outdoor work he'll get on a plantation. Furthermore—"

"Admiral," Zorie stopped him, "you don't understand Paul. He belongs where books are. Let him go back to Elleryton."

"And lose you?" the admiral yelled. "But I'm staying here to help you with your book."

"But you're marrying Paul!" Zorie looked quickly from his ceamed red face to Steve's big brown one. She sat forward in her chair. "Hasn't Paul told you? We agreed the other night we are completely wrong for each other. Our engagement is broken. In fact, Paul broke it himself."

"This," Steve said lazily, "is very interesting. I don't know which I've heard anything so interesting."

"Our ten minutes are up," said the admiral. "Admiral," said Steve, "will you kindly tell that nurse that I've got to have five minutes alone with her patient?"

"She won't like it," said the admiral. "She will love it," Zorie assured him. The admiral trotted out. Steve pulled a chair across the lanai so that it was close to Zorie's and facing her. He sat down, bent forward, and looked at her. His blue eyes were very curious. He took her hands.

Zorie's heart was beating rapidly. She was reasonably certain that, in a very short time, she would be in this man's arms. Something in his manner made it seem imminent.

She recalled a night on the Pacific when she had stood beside Steve at the rail and watched the moon come up. Amber had crossed the deck and said, in her assured way, "Steve! When are you going to ask me for a dance?"

At that time, as Zorie recalled it, she had reflected with bitterness that she wouldn't have the courage to ask a man to dance with her if she lived to be a hundred.

"Steve," she said, "I love you. I wonder if you love me."

"Zorie," Steve answered, bending closer, "I have been in love with you from the night I met you in the rain."

Zorie got up. "Steve," she said, "if there is anything I can say or do to encourage you, don't hesitate to ask for my co-operation."

Treated Fence Posts Last Twenty Years

New Method Cost Now Reduced to Six Cents

THE chlorinated phenol dunking method of treating fence posts, a comparatively new wood preservative, can be used at a cost of from 5 to 6 cents per post. Tests conducted at the University of Idaho experiment station show that the life of soft wood posts, properly treated by this method, will be from 15 to 20 years. They found that the bottom of the post will last the life of the top.

Not only is it possible to treat fence posts, but fence rails, gates, barn silos, bridge timbers, irrigation gates, and similar pieces can be treated.

Chlorinated phenol is a liquid concentrate, and can be obtained full strength or diluted with various amounts of oil. Buying in concentrate form saves shipping and storage; it can then be diluted in proportions of one part of concentrate to 14 parts of diesel oil, stove oil or old crank case drainings. Not only for this purpose but for spraying purposes, it is usually possible to secure crank case drainings at service stations at little cost.

"She will love it," Zorie assured him. The admiral trotted out. Steve pulled a chair across the lanai so that it was close to Zorie's and facing her. He sat down, bent forward, and looked at her. His blue eyes were very curious. He took her hands.

Zorie's heart was beating rapidly. She was reasonably certain that, in a very short time, she would be in this man's arms. Something in his manner made it seem imminent.

White Ash

The white ash is not only America's leading hardwood but its most important ash. It grows from Nova Scotia westward to Minnesota and southward almost to the Gulf of Mexico. It is a stately tree 75 to 125 feet high.

The wood of the white ash is heavy, hard, strong and stiff, seasons well, takes a good polish and is free from taste or odor. Its principal uses are for handles, cooperage, furniture, motor vehicle parts, sporting and athletic goods, as well as railroad ties, veneer and fuel.

Select Dairy Cows On Standard Basis

In selecting dairy cows certain definite points must be looked for. Among the most important are:

1. Ample digestive capacity, which means good length, width and depth of body.
2. A good constitution as shown by great chest capacity.
3. A large udder of soft quality.

A good type dairy cow.

4. The rump should be long, wide and level and the hip bones should be wide apart.
5. The hide should be thin, loose and pliable, and the bones of medium size, with the head showing general refinement.
6. Must have dairy temperament, or tendency and ability to produce milk.
7. Generally the larger the dairy cow the better. Size and quality, however, must be properly correlated.

Acompañenos... Have a Coke

(JOIN US)

... or how to be hep in Puerto Rico

In Puerto Rico, as in Painesuaway or Pasadena, Coca-Cola is a friend-maker your American soldier can count on. To natives and to his buddies alike, Have a Coke says How ya doing, pal. It's a simple gesture of friendly courtesy. Yes, Coca-Cola is truly an American symbol of a refreshing way to make friends.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Pearl Proctor, of Tucuman, mother of Mrs. C. O. Davis, Jr., was in town Tuesday and Wednesday on account of her daughter's appendectomy at the Turner hospital. She was a guest of the Davis family while here.

Mrs. Lillian Richard went to Tucuman on business last Friday. Mr. Roy took care of Junior during her absence and proved very adept at carrying him around constantly, but he said he wasn't going to "spoil him."

M., against the adverse claims of you and each of you, and day, one claiming by, under or through you, and to forever bar and estop you from having or claiming any lien upon, or right or title to said real estate and premises.

Unless you enter your appearance in said court on or before April 10, 1945, judgment will be rendered in said cause against you and each of you by default. Plaintiff's attorney is John E. Hall, Tahoka Bldg., Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Given under my hand and seal of the Third Judicial District Court of the State of New Mexico this 28th day of February, 1945.

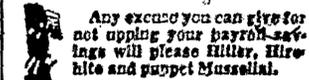

S. E. GREISEN, District Court Clerk. March 2, 9, 10, 20.

Small Towns Backbone of American Red Cross

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It is the small communities throughout the country that form the backbone of Red Cross.

The latest tally of Red Cross chapters shows that of 3,755 chapters are no communities having a population under 10,000.

Every chapter, regardless of size, is obligated to provide Home Service to service and ex-service men and their families and to organize for disaster preparedness and relief. In addition, the majority of chapters provide additional Red Cross services, including the all-important Nursing Enrollment, Home Nursing, First Aid and Life Saving.
