EARLY DAY LINCOLN COUNTY RANCH FOUNDED BY W. M. REILY IN 1892

The following article which appeared in the New Mexico Stockman yesterday will be of interest to many people who knew the Reily and Grey families in the early days of Lincoln County; and it will also be of interest to friends of Mrs. Reily and daughters who live here at present.

Many years before New Mexico was admitted to the Union as a state, W. M. Reily of Louisiana, came to the territory of New Mexico to establish his ranch headquarters where the present town of Capitán in Lincoln County now stands. He came to Lincoln County in 1892 at the recommendation of his cousin Governor George Curry, who had spoken and written to him many times relative to the great possibilities of the livestock industry in the territory.

Two daughters of Mr. Reily continue in the ranch business today. They are Mrs. Will Ed Harris of Carrizozo and Mrs. Truman A. Spencer of Three Rivers.

The Reily ranch comprised thousands of acres in Lincoln County with ranch headquarters at Capitán. George Fitzworn Fitzworth of Capitán today owns most of the original Reily holdings.

Meaning more than 3,000 sheep and 800 cattle, Reily made a great success in the ranch business in New Mexico. He lived in Lincoln County from 1892 until his death in March of 1931, and during that time did much to develop the country and civic improvement in the county. He served as County Tax Assessor when the town of Lincoln was the county seat. He served as President of the Board of Regents of the New Mexico Institution for the Blind at Alamosa for more than twenty years prior to his death.

Shortly after arriving in New Mexico he married Miss Nellie Grey, who came to the state in a covered wagon with her father, S. P. Grey, from Grapevine, Tex. Mrs. Reily now makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Harris of Carrizozo.

Mrs. E. H. Ramey of Lincoln was in town on business today.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Mills Oldham were honored with a miscellaneous wedding shower Thursday night at the Oldham home. They were the recipients of many lovely gifts.

Mrs. Margaret English and son Frank Charles, were guests of relative and friends here Armistice Day.

Refreshments of coffee and sandwiches were served to both Legion and Auxiliary members present.

Hostesses were Blye, Cox and Neil Cooper.

No further business meeting adjourned.

TO ASSIST VETERANS IN OWN LOCALITY

SANTA FE, NEW MEXICO, NOV. 1, 1945.—New Mexico State Veterans Service Committee functioning under the Retraining and Reemployment Administration, held their regular meeting on Tuesday, October 30, in the office of Mr. D. K. Dalager, District Manager for the Veterans Administration in Albuquerque. Other members attending the meeting were Mr. L. E. Ruffin, Manpower Commission State Director and Colonel Rufus Sedillo, Selective Service State Director.

Mr. Dalager said, "Heretofore it has been the policy of the Veterans Administration to have all the veterans seeking assistance and information to come to Veterans Administration offices. General Omar Bradley, National Administrator, has placed a reverse procedure into operation. The Veterans Administration will now do everything possible to meet the veteran and assist him in his own locality."

"In inaugurating this itinerant service by the Veterans Administration," Colonel Sedillo stated, "we are going to give more service to returning veterans at Information Centers than has ever been available before and they will be saved from making long trips to the Veterans Administration offices."

Capt. Elliott E. Jones

Friends will be grieved to learn of the sad death of Capt. Elliott E. Jones, son of Mrs. Lola Jones Carpenter, of Telluride, Colorado.

Capt. Jones was graduated in 1941 from the Corona, N. M. High school and entered service January 22, 1942. He attended Eastern New Mexico college at Portales in 1942. He received his wings at Randolph Field, Texas. From there he was sent to California. Later he was stationed in Oregon and in Oklahoma at the Oklahoma City air field, from which place he was sent over seas in October 1944, with the 18th air force, 38th Photo Recon. Squadron. Later he was assigned to a P-38, flying alone over enemy country taking pictures and locating enemy targets.

Elliott, as he was known and loved by all, was killed on his last mission at 8 a. m. on the 6th of October, 1945. He was buried at 1 p. m. the same day at Mt. Ararat Island, Dutch East Indies.

On October 15, 1945 he was to have returned to the States. Memorial services were held in Colorado Springs, Colorado October 20, 1945, with many friends attending from Corona. Flowers were many and beautiful.

Capt. Jones leaves to mourn his passing—his wife, Helen, and two year old daughter, Sherrel Kay; his mother, Mrs. J. M. Carpenter and one brother, 1st Lt. Frankie Jones, who is somewhere on Guam. Many other relatives and friends survive, who share with the family in this dark hour.

Big Chinese Welcome for American Leathernecks

The usually phlegmatic Chinese let themselves go with wild enthusiasm to welcome the first contingent of U. S. marines that arrived in Tientsin, China, during the occupation of North China. The cheering crowd stood like this from dawn until the leathernecks arrived late at night. The leathernecks are well known by the Chinese, for during peacetime some U. S. marines were always on duty in that country.

President Approves New Banner

President Truman has accepted the new presidential flag, which had been designed by orders of President Roosevelt. The eagle is looking toward the olive branch of peace clutched in its right talon, instead of toward its left talon holding arrows symbol of war, as was the case in the former presidential flag. Star in each corner has also been omitted. The change of omitting the four stars was made when five-star generals were authorized.

DEPARTMENT OF PEACE

WASHINGTON. — This columnist recently proposed that we begin thinking a little more about the Sermon on the Mount in our international relations, and among other things establish a Department of Peace.

It was suggested that along with the Department of War and the navy department, we set up as our first line of defense a Department of Peace to promote the idea that the only alternative to the atom bomb is to teach the world and ourselves that we must get along with each other.

One aftermath of this idea is significant. It occurred in the appropriations committee of the house of representatives the other day when its members voted appropriations for the state department.

It happens that the nearest thing we have to a Department of Peace is the Department of State. That organization is by no means perfect, and might not be ideal to operate a Department of Peace. But its new chief, Jimmy Byrnes, has some good ideas and is working hard to establish new bureaus for spreading goodwill and helping peace.

He is trying to carry on the ideas of the office of war information which furnished propaganda to newspapers, aimed toward a better understanding of the USA. Byrnes is also trying to raise salaries. For years state department officials have struggled along on starvation wages. This is partly the fault of the wealthy career clique which wanted to keep wages low and thus operate a closed shop for themselves. So Secretary of State Byrnes is trying to raise diplomatic wages as the first step toward having alert diplomats guard the peace front.

However, when Byrnes' appropriation bill got up before his old friends in congress the other day, the house appropriations committee eluded it to ribbons. They particularly cut the new agencies patterned on the general idea of a Department of Peace.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S TRAVELS

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will soon be off on another globe-girdling tour designed to help international relations. This time Mrs. Roosevelt plans to visit Russia as well as other war-ravaged nations in Europe.

In recent weeks, she has been taking a more vocal, outspoken position on public issues. Although she denied having blasted Secretary of State Byrnes publicly for his handling of the foreign minister conference, Mrs. Roosevelt has been very sharp in private conversations about the way Truman and Byrnes have been rocking the ship of state, especially when it comes to foreign affairs.

Mrs. Roosevelt claims age is creeping up on her, but to an outside observer she gives no evidence of slowing down. She is now almost as active as she was before her husband's death — certainly still the most forthright lady ever to live in the White House.

WHY MEN LEAVE NAVY

Worried about the failure of men and officers to remain in the navy, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal recently put out an order to naval capitation centers to interview the next 100 reserve officers who came up for discharge. The result showed bitter resentment on the part of reserve officers against the Annapolis clique. Here are some typical interviews quoted verbatim:

"The only reason I would join the navy again would be if I were starving."

"It's mighty late for the navy to try to call itself reservists."

"I think the officers of the regular navy are grasping, pushing and self-centered."

"The attitude of the majority of Annapolis officers to reservists is that they are to be endured only for the time being."

"The Annapolis grade should cast aside their childish attitude."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Judge Samuel Rosenman, one of Franklin Roosevelt's closest friends, has become a staunch defender of Mississippi's George Allen, who holds a similar position with Harry Truman. To his skeptical New Deal friends, Judge Rosenman protests, "But George is a liberal." Allen, a protégé of the late Senator Pat Harrison and an insurance executive, spends part of every morning with Truman going over his problems.

The White House is quietly passing the word around to newsmen not to pack their bags. There will be no more presidential junkets for quite a while. Truman got enough kidding about his journey to the Missouri county fair to last him a long time.

OPA estimates that 700,000 veterans and their families have no place to live. Their wives and children have been living "doubled up" while the G.I.s were out fighting. Now the veterans want a home of their own and can't find it. Reports coming to me say that homeless veterans will stage a demonstration in New York City.

The house committee on un-American activities has investigated ex-Sen. Robert Reynolds' Nationalist party. But, according to Investigator George McDavitt, it found nothing wrong with this group.

Try Making Cough Syrup at Home. Quick Relief

Saves Big Dollars. No Cooking. No matter what you usually use for coughs due to colds, you'll be more than surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and give it a trial. You'll wonder why you never used it before. It certainly does the work in a hurry. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—it's no trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, if desired. Get from your druggist 3 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint—a family supply—and gives you about four times as much for your money. It tastes fine, and never spoils. Children love it. And for quick action, you've never seen its superior. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the coughing, makes breathing easier, and lets you sleep. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients in concentrated form, a famous reliable coughing agent for throat and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.—Adv.

'End of Trail' Symbolizes

Passing of the Red Man

The statue of an Indian with a spear under his arm, sitting on a horse, in an attitude of utter abandon, is intended to symbolize the passing of a great race—the Indian, once the unchallenged master of this continent, but who now, as the acceptor, James Earle Fraser, conceived it, stands hopeless and despairing at "the end of the trail."

The statue is very literally at the end of the trail, too, in Golden Gate park, San Francisco.

NOW IRONING IS A JOY, NOT A JOB

LUKA, MISSISSIPPI. Mrs. Florence Solomon has discovered a wonderful relief for "ironing day blues." Here is what she said about it to Faultless Starch recently:

"I used to dread ironing day so much, but after I began using Faultless Starch, ironing is a pleasure instead of a dread."

Do you dread ironing day, too? If you have to iron with a "sticky" iron, no wonder! Your arms get tired, your back aches, your neck aches, your legs ache. It's mighty hard work to iron when the iron sticks at the end of each stroke.

But you don't HAVE to iron with a "sticky" iron. Just change to Faultless Starch and iron with a smooth, slick iron that just flies along!

AMAZING EASY IRONING There's a simple reason why Faultless Starch makes ironing easy. You see, it is made a special way. One of the special things about Faultless Starch is that it contains ironing-aid, already mixed in, that make it easy to do smooth, beautiful ironing. No more "sticky" iron!

EASY TO MAKE THIS STARCH But that isn't all. You know how busy you are on washday. Then you have to stop and take out ten or fifteen minutes to make hot starch. But not when you use Faultless Starch! You make Faultless Starch in barely a minute—NO COOKING! Just cream it with a little cool water, add boiling water while stirring and presto! you're through! Start to starch!

You deserve the wonderful advantages of Faultless Starch. NO COOKING! NO "STICKY" IRON! So ask your grocer for Faultless Starch. Give all your wash that absolutely faultless look!—Adv.

A SPORTS enthusiast asks this one: "What man in football, player or coach, would you pick as the top of the long list in the way of influence upon his team and the game itself?" Oddly enough this is easy to answer. His brilliant career came to an end on March 31, 1931, over 14 years ago, when they picked his broken body out of a wrecked plane in the Midwest. The name is Knute Rockne.

I know the lasting influence that such men as Yost, Zuppke, Haughton, Grange, Bierman, Little and many others have had. I know what these men, and others, have meant to football. But I still say Rockne.

Starting as head coach back in 1917 when Notre Dame was well down the football list, Rockne in the next 14 years made Notre Dame the synonym for football greatness, from Los Angeles to New York and Baltimore—from Chicago to Atlanta. Facing a killing schedule of 10 games year after year, his winning record was a phenomenal thing.

But Rockne's winning record was only a small part of the job he did. Almost from the start he gave his squads the finest spirit, year after year, that I have seen. It wasn't so much a matter of gameness, which most football players have. It was a matter of keenness, alertness, smartness, condition and love of the game. He gave his men a brand of sportsmanship that has never been questioned.

An Inspiration

I have never seen a Notre Dame player under Rockne's reign who was not in superb physical condition, barring only those injured in play or practice. He had no material as a rule, but a good part of this was due to the fact that many budding stars wanted to come to Notre Dame and play under the baldheaded Norwegian.

Strictly as a football coach on the technical side, it would be difficult to rank Rockne above such men as Pop Warner, Hurry-up Yost, Percy Houghton, Bernie Bierman and others who had exceptional coaching careers in their various primes. Rockne was a fine coach, but hardly the greatest. It was the inspirational side, his complete control of the squad on and off the field, that took him to the front. The bark of his voice had a lift to it that caught and held attention.

I recall the night before an Army-Notre Dame game in New York. Army's scout for Notre Dame games filed this report to the head coach. "Whatever you do, take the kickoff starting the third period, if you can. Don't let Notre Dame get the ball right after they have listened to Rockne between halves. I've found out what that means." The advice was overlooked. Army kicked off to start the second half and a Notre Dame back on the first play thereafter ran 75 yards for a touchdown with practically every Army defender flat on the back of his neck from the blocking that followed.

Knew Human Nature

I also recall this—when a big game was being played by Notre Dame in either New York or Chicago, visiting coaches sometimes numbering 10 or 12, immediately headed for Rockne's room. They all wanted to visit with Rock, who also had a keen sense of humor, a gift for repartee and what it takes to supply cheerful, friendly entertainment. Rock's personality was always an outstanding feature. He knew human nature, how to handle men, including his famous top sergeant, the redoubtable Hank Anderson, who on occasions was about as easy to handle as a Bengal tiger or a Numidian lion. Something like 50 of his players left Notre Dame to coach at other colleges.

But it wasn't so much the Notre Dame shift or any other part of the Rockne system that such coaches as Frank Thomas, Harry Mehre, Elmer Layden, Buck Shaw, Jimmy Crowley, Harry Stuhldreher, Rip Miller, and many, many others carried to their teams. It was more the Rockne contribution in the way of condition, spirit and smartness. I have seen many slightly dumb football teams. I never saw a dumb Notre Dame team that I can now recall.

It is for these and other reasons that I rank Rockne on top when it comes to his influence upon the game—not only when he was alive, but 14 years after his death.

Best Football Section

The football query most often asked by servicemen is this: "Which section of the country turns out the strongest football team, taking a general average year-after-year?" The only answer we could offer was that it is the Midwest. When you have a section year after year that can turn out such teams as Notre Dame, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, you have a mass of gridiron talent that is hard to beat.

Vaccination Will Reduce Poultry Pox

Mosquito Control by DDT Also Recommended

Mosquitoes have been determined as a factor in the transmission of fowl pox. It has also been found that the mosquito along with the fly can now be largely eliminated from poultry houses by the application of the miracle spray, DDT.

This is not the only answer to fowl pox control. Vaccination often becomes essential. Poultrymen who have failed to protect their birds by vaccination should make plans at once. It is believed that fowl pox will be rather common this winter unless proper preventive measures are taken.

When pigeon pox is used for poultry, it is necessary to use the brush method of application and inoculate at least 25 to 30 feather follicles. The feathers are pulled under the wing and the vaccine applied by a small brush. Full instructions accompany each package of virus. Of great importance is the necessity of liberal dosage to develop adequate immunity. Unlike fowl pox virus, the pigeon type is not followed by severe reaction and can therefore be freely applied. When the essentials of good vaccination procedure are met, Rutgers university reports that the immunity that birds acquire appears to be satisfactory.

Improved Machinery Water Heater

The electric fount is a new type that is heated with a chromalox element controlled by a snap action micro switch, a big improvement over the old type light bulb. It will keep the water between 50 and 55 degrees Fahrenheit. These founts are made in both five and eight gallon sizes by the Bower Manufacturing company, Quincy, Ill.

Pigs Fed Coal Give Good Growth Record

These pigs have been fed bituminous coal all their lives, without any apparent setbacks. It seems that the hogs like the mineral content. No evidence has been found that indicates the value of coal feeding, although it has been practiced in some coal producing regions to some extent.

Brucellosis Control

Indiscriminate vaccination will not stamp out brucellosis (bang's disease). Systematic vaccination, testing and gradual elimination and proper sanitary measures, must all be resorted to in order to control the disease which is now causing tremendous loss among dairy farmers. Raw milk from all reactors, vaccinated or not, represents a degree of danger to man. Swine brucellosis is also on the increase.

Household Hints

Never have any exposed wiring anywhere. Replace at once any broken or cracked switch-plates or outlet plates. Never use frayed or broken extension cords.

To mix cheese with other ingredients to be cooked, cut the cheese into small pieces or grate it. If the cheese is soft, press it through a coarse sieve.

Keep such small things as salts and peppers, sugar and creamer, cups and saucers, and napkins on a large tray. Place conveniently near, when ready to set table.

If you keep an extra dust mop and dust-cloth upstairs you can save yourself many trips carrying them from one floor to the other.

Pour a little paraffin over the sliding groove in the drawer to make it slide easier.

To wash galoshes put in washer after washing is finished and wash them about five minutes. Rinse well and put to dry in a warm but not hot place. They will be as clean and nice as when new.

It's Big-It's Beautiful-It's BUICK

THIS, we reasoned, is no time to offer folks a car that stops with artful face-lifting.

It has been nearly four years, since our last new Buick was built - it wouldn't be shooting square now to give you less than our honor-bright best.

So we overhauled our whole factory to advantage it with the latest in war-developed machines and processes.

We scoured the country for the stoutest metals anyone can buy today.

We set ourselves precisions that in some cases exceed those of aircraft engine production.

And we eagle-eyed every one of this Buick's 12,000 parts to see if it could be bettered in any way, big or little.

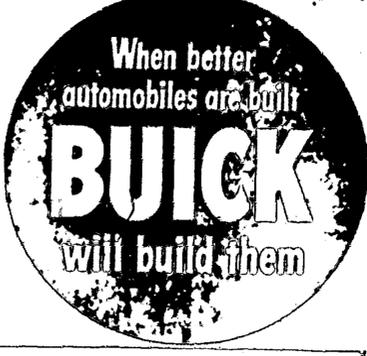

The result is that through every stunning inch of this bright new honey runs solid, dependable Buick character, honest and uncompromised.

It's in swift clean lines. In seats that are three-persons wide. In stout, time-defying frames and underpinning. Above all - in the lift and life of a Fireball straight-eight that's even livelier than in 1942.

The cars your Buick dealer will have are big. They're beautiful. They're Buicks.

In fact - the best Buicks yet!

To the People

Some day in the next few weeks a volunteer salesman will ask you to buy more bonds. You may be tempted to answer: "The war's over."

Have you heard? Would you care to give that reply to any one of the 300,000 young Americans now fighting for health in military hospitals from coast to coast? Would you care to walk a patrol in Tokyo or Berlin with a GI and tell him
"the war's over?"

Of course, the bloody fighting is over. Your job in helping to clean up the money cost is the easiest patriotic chore any country ever asked of its citizens; loan of more dollars to be repaid at good interest in 10 years. Compare that job with the chore you have handed to your own son or neighbor's son to spend countless days in strange lands to nail down the victory.

Think you can afford to say no to the Victory Loan salesman? Have a talk with your conscience this very moment. Be ready for your Victory Loan salesman in spirit as well as in pocketbook.

THE EDITOR

FAT SALVAGE

Washington, D. C.
Oct. 22, 1945.

By continuing their magnificent job of fat salvage, housewives can help return to store shelves plentiful supplies of soap and hundreds of other things they've been waiting for. Fats and oils are just as important to the production of peace-time goods as they were for munitions and supplies of industrial fats are far short of demands and needs. That is why the government has increased from two to four points the bonus for used fats.
Domestic production, which has never been able to compensate fully for the loss of imports from the Pacific, is down this year and it will take many months to bring imports back to peace-time levels. Meanwhile, there is a tremendous demand for fats and oils. They are urgently needed in the manufacture of soap and nearly all other consumer goods—nylons, refrigerators, automobiles, and paints.
American women can speed the return of these things by saving used fat and turning them in as soon as they can no longer be re-used for cooking.

Why Supplies are Still Short.
The shortage of fats and oils is due to a decline in domestic production, a reduction in South American imports and the continued inaccessibility of imports from the East Indies and Philippines.

A decline in domestic output is mainly the result of a reduction in lard and factory grease production.

Despite the end of the war, imports in 1945 are expected to be lower than during the war years. Although V-J Day released the lands of the Far East which provided us with two billion pounds of fats and oils annually in peacetime, it will be many months before imports from the Far East can again approach that level. War destroyed almost all of the copra-processing mills, coconut groves were neglected, and the inter-island communications systems which connected with the big ports has been disrupted.
Imports from other countries are also down this year. We will get far less than our normal supply of flaxseed from Argentina in 1945 because of a severe drought and the use of flaxseed for fuel in that country.

The Olive-oil exporting countries in the Mediterranean have all that they can do to meet demands in Europe, which has suffered for six years from a severe shortage of fats and oils.

Why Fats and Oils are so Urgently Needed.
Coupled with this decreased supply of fats and oils is a great industrial demand for them. Fats and oils are needed in the production of nearly everything we use in our daily lives.

About forty percent of the total allocations of fats and oils for industrial uses goes to civilian soaps; another thirteen percent to the manufacture of copra for industrial purposes; the remaining forty seven per cent to paints and varnishes, coated fabrics, lubricating oils, textiles and leather, core oils, pharmaceuticals, putty, calling, etc.

Your TELEPHONE
IS ON THE WAY!

To the thousands of our applicants who have been waiting so patiently for telephone service, we are now happy to be able to say: "We have turned the corner."

Our list of "hold orders" for telephone service in the Mountain States territory increased by about 3000 each month for almost two years, and during the past month reached a peak of more than 60,000. Today that figure is somewhat lower, and we expect by the end of this year to reduce the total by about 18,000, as the flow of telephone instruments from Western Electric increases in volume.

There is still a "long row to hoe" before we can install service for everyone who wants it, when he wants it, but it may be reassuring to know that every machine in Western Electric which can turn out telephone equipment is now going full speed.

The greater portion of our unfilled orders are being held for telephone instruments, and these are going to be installed as fast as humanly possible when we receive them from the factories.

In those places where we must have new switchboards, new cable or new buildings it will take longer—in some cases quite a little longer—before everyone who wants service can have it.

Clearing the waiting list is number one post-war business with us however, and no effort will be spared to make the waiting period as short as possible.

TOUGH AS AN ELEPHANT'S HIDE!

That's Phillips 66

When you pay for protection—it pays to get the best! That's why we'd like to call your attention to Phillips 66 Motor Oil—the oil that's as tough as an old bull-elephant's hide!

You know, toughness isn't something you can refine into an oil. It's got to be there in the first place. Well, Mother Nature made this oil tough—and it took her thousands of years to do it!

All we do is pump it out of the ground... give it some special Phillips refining... and bring it to you with all those wonderful God-given lubricating qualities unimpaired!

When there's only a few pennies difference between "the best" and "mediocre," why take a chance? Drive in where you see the big Orange-and-Black sign with the double-six and say—"Fill 'er full o' Phillips!"

You won't find a more honest, natural lubricating oil in America!

"Fill 'er Full o' Phillips!"

THE HONEST OIL - FROM DEEP IN THE HEART OF OKLAHOMA!

Our Roots Are in This Land...

How often you hear a man say of the land he owns... "When my son takes over, this will be a better place than when I got it!" Such a desire is natural to a father and splendidly American! Along with the expressed thought, there is a deep-rooted pride in continuous family ownership of productive land. So long as this ideal lives, agriculture will continue to be "the broad, enduring base upon which the entire U. S. economy rests."

There are many farm and ranch sons who stay in their families' business on the land. Some who do leave, however, might also stay, were there written business agreements between father and son. Such agreements insure a fair return to both "partners" for the labor, capital and ability they contribute to their joint enterprise.

Practical father-and-son farm business agreements have been worked out and are proving their worth in actual practice on many of the nation's farms and ranches. The various forms of these agreements cannot be explained in detail here, but they are available and worth study. Excellent bulletins on this subject may be had by writing to the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois, for Circular No. 587; or to Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan, for Special Bulletin No. 330.

We, at Swift & Company, know that a prosperous agriculture is the base of our prosperity and we are proud to say with you... "Our roots are in this land."

Soda Bill Sez:

... That a steer is like a sofa. His frame is built on the range, his upholstery is put on in the Corn Belt, and he is often polished off in the city.

... That the important thing about a water-hole is water, and the important thing about a good farm is good farming.

Have you heard about the new improved lard? Swift & Company, after ten years of research and consumer tests, has developed a brand new product—Swift's Bland Lard. It has all the advantages of other high grade shortenings, plus the important qualities found only in lard. It will cause millions of American housewives to use more lard, and that's mighty important to hog producers.

Any improvement in pork products which boosts consumer demand (such as a superior lard) will have a supporting effect on live hog prices, because the price paid for livestock is governed by what the consumer can get for the meat and by-products.

THE EDITOR'S COLUMN

The livestock-and-meat industry is like an endless chain. The meat travels in one direction; from livestock producer to meat packer, to retail dealer, to consumer. And coming back in the opposite direction is money; from the meat purchaser to the retailer, to the meat packer, to the man who grows the livestock.

There must be motive power to keep that chain running, and that motive power is profit. It is profit that keeps ranchers and farmers producing livestock profit keeps meat packers slaughtering, dressing and delivering meat to retailers; profit keeps retailers selling meat in their stores.

We at Swift & Company well know that a continuing loss anywhere along the line would mean that all of us would suffer. Thus, it is clearly to our own advantage to operate our end of the livestock-and-meat industry so efficiently that the money the consumer pays for meat shall cover all costs plus a sufficient profit for retailers and livestock producers, as well as for ourselves.

CATTLEMAN ON HORSEBACK

Next time you are at the Union Stock Yards in Chicago, if you see this big, jovial man sitting on a horse in the middle of a milling pen of cattle, that will be M. S. ("SI") Hughes, Swift's Head Cattle Buyer at Chicago.

"Way back in 1917, Si Hughes walked up to the Swift buyer in Kansas City and said, "Mister Stemm, I want a job." He got the job, and he's been with Swift ever since, except for a two-year army hitch in World War I. Kansas City, St. Louis, Fort Worth, St. Joseph, Kansas City again, and finally Chicago—all added to his experience in judging the quality and yield percentages, grading, etc., of cattle.

In 1943 he was made Head Cattle Buyer for Swift & Company at the Chicago Yards. He has a staff of experienced cattle buyers directly associated with him.

PHENOTHIAZINE FOR FARM FLOCKS

By RICHARD C. MILLER
Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station

All sheep in farm flocks—ewes, rams and lambs—should be dosed late this fall or early winter with phenothiazine and again in the spring after lambing time. From at least May 1, through September, the one-to-nine phenothiazine-calt mixture should be accessible in a covered feeder that protects it from the weather.

In Kentucky tests during the past three years involving 30,000 breeding ewes, this program (in connection with generally recognized good farm flock practices, such as pasture rotation), eliminated the dosing of any lambs in more than 90 percent of the flocks, and made possible the growing out of even the latest lambs to good market weights and finish. The average increase in weight per lamb was nearly 12 pounds above normal pre-war average. The average annual cost for phenothiazine was less than 30 cents per ewe.

Farmers and ranchers in doubt as to time and frequency of treatment best suited to their conditions and purposes should consult their state agricultural college.

A Bell for Adano

By John Hersey

THE STORY THUS FAR: The American troops arrived at Adano, with Major Joppolo, the Amgot officer in charge. Sergeant North was in charge of security. The Major was determined to replace the town bell stolen by the Nazis. He arranged with the navy to permit the Scharmes to return to the waters. Despite orders issued by General Marvia, barring carts from the city, Major Joppolo recalled the order to permit food and water to enter the town. Tommasino, the chief fisherman, invited the major to his home for dinner. When he arrived he found Captain Purvis and the two daughters of Tommasino. Captain Purvis got drunk and the Major took him home early.

CHAPTER XII

"I thought at first perhaps you were from Northern Italy," the Major said politely.

Tina laughed. "Tell me some more about yourself," she said.

"There's not much to tell," he said.

"Did you go to one of those American colleges? I've seen them in the movies at Vicinamare."

"No, not exactly. I went to school until I was sixteen. Then I lied about my age, I said I was eighteen so that I could get a driver's license and take a job. I worked as a truck driver until I was twenty, then I had an accident, from lifting things which were too heavy."

"What kind of an accident, Mister Major?"

"It was a rupture. After the accident I had no job for two months. It is not very exciting to be unemployed in the United States. Finally I got a job as a clerk in a grocery store at twelve dollars a week."

"How much is that?"

"Twelve hundred lira."

"Twelve hundred lira! You must have been rich."

"No, Tina, twelve hundred lira is all right for Adano—"

"All right! I should say it is all right. Six hundred is high pay. My father used to think six hundred was a very good week—and he hasn't been out for a long time."

"But that's not so much in the States."

"You mean everyone is rich in the Bronx?"

"No, I wouldn't say so, Tina. It's just that our standard of living is higher than yours."

"What does that mean?"

"Well, that's hard to explain, too. It's just that everyone has a little more than they have here. They mostly have automobiles, in peacetime, that is. The food is a little better, everyone gets orange juice and milk and things like that. They get paid a little more. They have to pay more for what they get, though."

"In other words, it's just what I said. Everyone is rich in the Bronx."

"Well, have it your own way. Anyway, I think fate has had a lot to do with my life, because one night a friend of mine told me that they were about to have examinations for jobs in the City Government."

"The City of the Bronx?"

"No, Tina, New York City. He told me I ought to take them. I said I hadn't had enough education, but he said I ought to go ahead and try. So I did and I came out number 177 out of 1,100. That made me feel pretty good, as if I knew something after all. They gave me a job as a clerk in the Department of Taxation and Finance."

"Did this make you rich again?"

"No, being a tax collector did not make you rich in New York. I was earning twenty dollars a week. That's two thousand lira."

"Two thousand, richer than ever."

"I did all right, too, only then they elected a man named LaGuardia, and since he was a different party from the previous man, a lot of people got thrown out, and I was one. I borrowed some money from my mother-in-law—"

"Your mother-in-law? Were you married?"

"Yes, Tina, I'll tell you about that some time. I borrowed this money and bought a grocery store in the Bronx, and it was all mine. Only then about two years later things went badly, we had hard times, and I had to sell out before it was too late. I went back to the City to see if they'd have me back, because they had sent me a couple of notices while I had the grocery store, saying they wanted me. They said: 'Why didn't you answer the notices?' I said: 'I never got them, I must have been in Florida when you sent them to me.'"

"Where is Florida?"

"It's in the south, I wasn't there at all. That was the second time I lied to get a job. Since then I've tried never to lie, the truth is much better and much safer. So they gave me a job in the Sanitation Department. Later I took my examinations for advancement to Third Class Clerk, and afterwards I got to be a Second Class Clerk. I was earning forty-two dollars a week when I went into the Army."

Major Joppolo was getting a little boastful about his non-existent riches. "That was four thousand two hundred lira a week."

Tina said: "The wife, is she pretty?"

Major Joppolo said: "Yes, she is very pretty, at least she seems so to me. I miss her very much. She has a mole on the left side of her chin, but otherwise she is very pretty. She is of Italian parentage, so she has dark skin like yours. In some ways you remind me of her."

Tina had been looking up at the stars. But now she suddenly looked down into the dark valley of the street and said: "Let's go in and dance." And she opened up the shutter doors and went inside. Major Joppolo went in after her.

Captain Purvis had gone to work on Tommasino's wine, and he was making a decided nuisance of himself, so Major Joppolo persuaded him to go home. He and Giuseppe led the Captain home.

When he got back to his own villa, and was undressed and in bed, Major Joppolo felt miserable. It wasn't until nearly three o'clock that he realized why. Giuseppe was right. It made a man feel very unhappy to be as far from home as the Bronx, New York, is from Adano, Italy.

The next morning Captain Purvis sat with his feet up on his desk. He was in a bad humor.

Sergeant Trapani was out of the office. The Captain spoke to Corporal Chuck Schultz, who was on guard. "That Major Joppolo," he said. "I was beginning to like him, but he's a wet blanket. I was just getting a wonderful buzz on last night, and he decended on me, cober as a whitefish, and he made me go home."

Corporal Schultz said: "Was you getting buzzed on that Dago red?"

The Captain said: "Yeah, there's an old fish-hound down here. Giuseppe took me to his house because he's got a couple of nice quail, he gave me some red stuff."

Corporal Schultz said: "That vino's bad stuff, sir, you don't want to get mixed up with that vino no more'n you can help. Had some myself last night."

Captain Purvis said: "I'm still sore at that Major."

He leaned back in his chair, and put his feet up on his desk again. As he did so, he knocked some papers on the floor.

"I suppose I might as well clean up my desk. Got to do it sooner or later."

He reached down on the floor and picked up the stray papers. He began to sort and arrange papers in piles, and he threw some away, and he got up and put some away in his files. He read some of them aloud to Corporal Schultz, who was not in the least interested.

In due course he picked up a purple slip, and he said: "What's this?" And he read: "On July 10, orders were received from General Marvia, Forty-Ninth Division, to keep all mule carts out of the town of Adano. Guards were posted at bridge over Rosso River and at Cacopardo Sulphur Refinery. Order carried out. On July 23, guards were removed on order of Major Victor Joppolo."

Captain Purvis banged the flat of a hand down on the table.

"Hey, Schultz," he said. "Where's Trapani?"

"Said he was just stepping out for a couple of minutes, sir, said he'd be right back. Anything I can do, sir?"

"No. Wait till I get that Trapani."

Trapani came in in a few minutes.

"Hey, you, come over here," Captain Purvis said as soon as he arrived.

"Yes, sir," Trapani said.

"What's this?" the Captain said, and he held out the purple slip.

Trapani took it and looked at it. "That's the report on the mule cart situation, sir," Trapani said coolly.

"You told me to make out a report, remember?"

"You're right I remember, and where did I tell you to send it?"

"It was to go to G-one of the Division, sir."

"Well, why didn't you send it?"

"I put it on your desk for approval, sir."

Captain Purvis huffed and puffed. He knew very well he didn't pay as much attention to his desk as he ought to. "Well, let's send it out of here. I want to personally see you put that thing in the pouch for Division."

Sergeant Trapani sat right down and addressed an envelope, and put the slip in it, and put the envelope in the pouch which was to leave the next afternoon by courier for Division headquarters. He addressed the envelope to the wrong person at Division, but then, Captain Purvis didn't notice that.

A perspiring courier brought a note to Major Joppolo's office.

It said in English: "I got to see you in the immediate." And it was signed M. Cacopardo.

Not five minutes behind the courier, Cacopardo himself showed up, all dressed for traveling. He had leather gauntlets on, and goggles up on his forehead, and he carried a green parasol in his right hand.

The eighty-two-year-old man trotted the length of Major Joppolo's office, leaned forward over his desk, looked over his shoulder at Giuseppe and Zito, then looked at the Major and said in a loud whisper: "I got to talk alone."

Major Joppolo asked his interpreter and usher to step outside.

"I have received a secret message from the Moia," the old man said, still whispering loudly. "I have the military secrets of where are the German troops. You must send your soldiers, Mister Major."

Major Joppolo said: "I have no soldiers, I'm just the administrator of Adano."

Cacopardo said: "I got to go to the General. I am ready."

"I will send you to the General, Mister Cacopardo," he said, "but I want to warn you. The General is a very impatient man. If your dope isn't straight, he'll be very angry. I don't know what he'll do to you, but it won't be nice. Also, old man, I've got to ask you not to get me in trouble with him. I'm already in Dutch with General Marvia. Pramlco me that you will be careful, will you?"

"I will be careful," Cacopardo said, "but the informations is important."

Major Joppolo made out a pass for Cacopardo and sent for a jeep from the motor pool.

Cacopardo stopped back, and raised his hand in a Fascist salute. Then, as his aged memory functioned, the hand wavered over to his forehead, and the salute became military. And he said: "Cacopardo to sulphur and sulphur is Cacopardo." He turned on his heel, as militarily as he could, and marched out.

Between the Palazzo in Adano and the headquarters of the Forty-Ninth Division, in a villa beyond Vicinamare, old Cacopardo did not say a word to the jeep driver. He sat leaning forward against the wind, his goggles down over his eyes and his parasol straining over his head. The jeep's windshield was down on the hood, with the canvas cover over it, as all jeep windshields should be where there is possibility of enemy strafing attacks, and so the wind was very strong. After a while old Cacopardo decided that sun was preferable to wind, and he moved the parasol down and held it in front of him, to fend off the wind.

The villa in which the Forty-Ninth Division was dug in for the time being had belonged to a friend of Cacopardo's. Cacopardo and this friend had shared an interest in Italian furniture, and the old man knew the value of the things in this villa. The friend was dead now, but Cacopardo had a hard time remembering which of his friends had died and which were still living; he therefore thought of them all as living. It was easier that way.

Because he was entering the villa of his friend, whom he considered to be living, Cacopardo approached the gate in the spirit of a cordial visit, and he expected to be received cordially. He was in for a surprise.

Anyone who has never tried to see a general could not possibly know what Cacopardo's reception was like.

A sentry stopped him at the gate. "Good morning," said Cacopardo, as if addressing a butler at his friend's door. "Is my friend Salatiello here?"

The sentry said: "Ain't nobody here of that name as I know of. What is he, an M.P.?"

"Military Police, indeed. He is prefect of Vicinamare and a collector of wooden curiosities. He is my friend. This is his house. Is he here?"

"No," Buck shouted back. "No one round here with a name like of that."

"No one here that name," the sentry repeated.

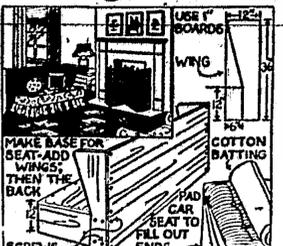

Cacopardo said: "Then where is General Marvini?"

M.P.'s are trained to be mysterious with strangers. "Jeex, I can't tell you that, Bud," the sentry said.

"I have a paper to see General Marvini," Cacopardo said, pulling out his pass.

"You're right I remember, and where did I tell you to send it?"

SNAPPY FACTS about RUBBER

The 24 million American passenger automobiles that survived the war need 50 million new tires, according to Government estimates.

New passenger tires will continue to be all-synthetic for some time to come.

It takes 450 rubber trees and two men a year, working full time, to produce a ton of natural rubber.

The work of inscribing names on headstones has been made easier by development of a rubber sandblast stencil sheet.

The first commercial application of B. F. Goodrich Company's "Farcathic" rubber spring is in 1,000 two-coach buses to be produced this year.

- Built to lead in Economy*

Outstanding appearance features of the new 1946 Chevrolet include: new Beauty-Leader Styling; luxurious Body by Fisher; new Wide-Wing radiator grille; new hood ornamentation; new two-tone color harmonies; distinctive new instrument panel; and massive new "Car-Saver" bumpers both front and rear.

Notable engineering features include: Chevrolet's proved Valve-in-Head Thrift-Master Engine for performance with economy; the famous Unitized Knee-Action Ride for comfort; Extra-Easy Vacuum-Power Shift and Shockproof Steering for driving ease; and Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes for smooth, safe, positive stops.

For years, Chevrolet has been the most economical of all largest-selling low-priced cars, from the all-round standpoint of gas, oil, tires and upkeep, and the new Chevrolet for 1946 is designed and built to maintain this reputation for highest quality at low cost. Be sure to see this beautiful new car at your Chevrolet dealer's.
