CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1945

Outlook Vol. 86—No. 88

Silver Star Awarded for Gallantry

Flem C. Stover of Carrizozo, New Mexico, former staff sergeant in Gen. Terry de la Allen's famous Timberwolves, 104th Infantry Division, was presented the Silver Star by Brig. Gen. George J. Forester, Post Commander, in a ceremony at Fort Bliss Headquarters, last Saturday morning.

The Silver Star was awarded "for gallantry in action in German," on Nov. 17, 1944. The citation reads in part: "Realizing the urgent need for radio operators, Sergeant Stover refused to be evacuated despite a serious hand wound and made his way forward to the company position. Later, when a man was seriously wounded, Sergeant Stover crawled through a murderous hail of enemy fire to evacuate the man to a station. The superb courage and devotion to duty and to his comrades displayed by Sergeant Stover are in keeping with the finest traditions of the American combat soldier, reflecting distinct credit upon himself and the military service."

The New Mexico man was overseas 11½ months, serving in Holland, Belgium, and German.

Besides the Silver Star, he wears the Purple Heart and cluster awarded for two wounds received in action in the Rhineland, and three battle stars. He returned from overseas in July of this year and was honorably discharged from the Army at San Luis Obispo, California, in October. He is now at home on his ranch between Carrizozo and Three Rivers, New Mexico, but plans to return to State College at Las Cruces, to finish work on his degree. He had attended the college for three years and was majoring in animal husbandry when he entered the Army at Fort Bliss in October, 1942.

Mrs. Glenneth Stokes and son, Tommy have been ill of flu.

Herman E. Kelt, Jr., with the Navy is at home on leave. Herman E. has re-enlisted for two years, and expects to be stationed in the far East. These New Mexico boys have grit and are all ways eager to get into the danger zone.

Father of Freedom

Washington believed so thoroughly in the preservation of individual freedom as a basis for national progress that he dedicated his life toward that end.

Today, all America must be constantly alert against influences that are at work to change the American Way and remove the "free" from free enterprise and free chartered banking.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom."

PRESIDENT'S MOTHER IS 93

WASHINGTON. — The President's mother is 93 years old. It's been a long 93 years of taking knocks and enjoying good times since her birth November 25, 1852.

That was just two years after the famous Missouri compromise which historians claim contributed to the Civil war. In the years that have passed, the Jackson county farm where Martha Ellen Truman was born has become 33rd and Indiana avenue in Kansas City, while her son, whom she never expected to be President, now sits in the White House.

Like her son, Mrs. Truman is a friendly person who likes company, including newspaper reporters. And if it wasn't for her maiden daughter, Miss Mary Jane Truman, who lives with her, and another son, who lives not far away, the President's mother would be a mecca of news interest. But whenever her son and daughter see a reporter approaching, death lurks in their eyes. The newsmen is treated as a carrier of bubonic plague.

If you are fortunate enough to meet Mrs. Truman, however, you can understand where her son gets his energy. Except for being slightly hard of hearing, she is exceptionally hearty. Her voice is crisp, her observations pointed, and she possesses a poise and calmness of spirit rare in women of her age.

Like her son, who likes to get up early, Mrs. Truman is up with the dawn and about her household tasks. The house in Grandview, Mo., is a one-story affair, which enables her to get about without climbing stairs. A half-acre yard, enclosed by wire, surrounds the house. Four rocking chairs are in the front room.

HELPED HARRY'S CAMPAIGN.

Mrs. Truman reads with interest, occasionally attends the Baptist church, knows everyone in Grandview and until recently took an active part in the affairs of the community.

Back in 1934 when she was a relative youngster of only 82, Mrs. Truman even took an active part in Harry's campaign for the Democratic senatorial nomination, making frequent trips into Missouri counties visiting old friends in behalf of her son. Then, during the last Presidential campaign, she opened her home to women of Washington township communities and served as chairman of county group meetings for women party workers.

When Truman first was mentioned as vice presidential nominee, his mother didn't want him to be vice president.

"Harry is doing a good job in the senate," she said. "And he ought to stay there."

But listening to radio returns the night of the election, she switched chairs frequently and refused to go to bed until definite word of a Democratic victory was received.

"If Harry doesn't win," she commented then, "he won't be disgraced. After all, it won't kill him to lose."

Months later, when Truman was elevated to the Presidency by the death of the late Franklin Roosevelt, she said: "I never thought Harry would be President some day, like most mothers think. I never thought he would be vice president—nor senator, for that matter. But whatever he is—I'm for him."

And anyone who has ever talked with Mrs. Truman cannot deny that. Her eyes never fail to twinkle when someone mentions her son.

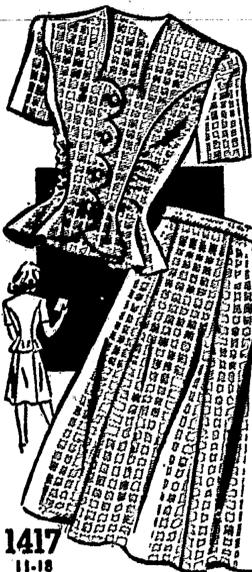

Mrs. Truman has enjoyed good health since her recovery from a fall in April, 1944, when she slipped on a rug and suffered a broken left hip and left shoulder. When she attends community activities she usually wears a black dress and hat, and a dark wool shoulderette to keep her warm.

Secret service men who have found it difficult to keep up with the pace of President Truman undoubtedly will agree with her statement describing her son when she said: "He is no slow person. He gets where he's going in short order."

CAPITAL CHAFF

After flirting with various law firm offers, Franklin Roosevelt Jr., finally decided to team up with New York's ex-Lt. Gov. Charlie Poletti. The firm is Poletti, Diamond, Rabin, Freidin and Mackay. . . . Young Roosevelt has been doing a swell job pushing housing for veterans dumped off the boats from Europe. He is roaring mad at Mayor LaGuardia for neglecting this. . . . "The mayor knew way last summer that these men were going to be coming back," says young FDR, "but did nothing about it. Most of the men can't afford to stay in New York hotels, even if the hotels had any rooms, which they haven't." . . . Kentucky Republicans view 269-pound Ed Pritchard (he reduced from 300) as one of the smartest political organizers in the state. But they don't like having him around. He is trying to mould split-up Democratic factions, and as long as they remain split, the Republicans can win.

To Save Money, Mix Your Cough Relief at Home

So Easy! No Cooking! Quick Relief.
Even if you're not interested in saving good money, you surely want a really effective relief for coughs due to colds. So try mixing it yourself in your kitchen, and be ready for a surprise. It's so easy to mix, a child could do it. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Then fill up with your syrup. This makes a pint—about four times as much for your money. It tastes good—children really like it. It lasts a family a long time, and never spoils. But what you'll like most is the way it takes the right hold of a cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes irritation, and helps clear their passages. Eases soreness, and lets you sleep. You'll say you've never seen its superior. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its quick action on throat and bronchial irritations. Try it, and if you're not really delighted, your money will be refunded. —Adv.

by
WRIGHT A. PATTERSON

Released by Western Newspaper Union.
CAPITAL, MANAGEMENT, LABOR AND PUBLIC
ON VARIOUS OCCASIONS, we have stressed the need of a working partnership between the three elements that are essential to production. Those three are capital, management and labor. To those three there should be added a silent partner that must, at all times, receive consideration. That silent partner is the general public, the purchaser of the commodities that are produced.

To make such a production partnership work effectively no one or more of its essential elements can attempt to withhold information that should be shared by all partners. Should management attempt to withhold information from capital, the support of capital would stop. There would be no available funds for expansion, or for bridging those stop-gaps that are encountered at intervals. What is true of management and capital is also true of management and labor and capital and labor. Much the same thing is true of that silent partner, the general public. Unless production has the confidence of that silent partner, production will fail in achieving full accomplishment.

The tendency of the post has been to deny one or more of the partners of production a full knowledge of its operations. That method has resulted in strife and eventual disaster. It has meant strikes and lock-outs. It has resulted in a lack of financial support when such support was needed. It has produced a lack of patronage from that silent partner, without which production cannot succeed.

It is the known trio of this production partnership that must work out the details of its operation. Each of them must lay its cards face up on the table; each of the three must have no secrets from the other two, or from that silent partner, the public. When production operates on a known and equitable basis for all of its four partners America will be in a position to achieve to the full its manifest destiny.

Unity of Action Must Be Gained

This is not proposing socialism of any type. It is proposing an honest course through which to avoid the state socialism toward which we are drifting. Those who would make of us a state socialist nation use the ceaseless strife between the elements involved in production as a foundation on which to build their air castles.

It is proposing a practical basis on which the production elements should get together, and through honesty of purpose, honesty with each other, can make American production what it should, and can, be in a badly demoralized world. With an honest affiliation between the partners of production, based on an honest exchange of information, and with each assuming its share of responsibility, there would be no threat of government operation, and less, if any, need for government regulation.

No one of the partners of production want state socialism, and the way to avoid it is honesty in dealings between themselves. Cover up methods will not achieve the needed confidence. Put the cards on the table.

THERE WAS NEVER A YIP from any of those individuals who are promoting state socialism for America, urging a free exchange of news between the totalitarian countries of Europe, especially Russia, and the United States. For the American people to have day by day an uncensored account of what is happening in Russia would not fit in with their hopes for state socialism in this country. They prefer that we have only the story of Russia as the Communists want that story told. We should have the other side before deciding to jump into the fire.

FOR CENTURIES France has been the spoiled child of Europe. Her tantrums have provoked many of the continental wars. Again she is being cantankerous, and refuses to play the game with the other Allies in the administration of Germany unless she is awarded the Saar and the Rhineland now, instead of awaiting the peace conference. She needs another spanking.

SOME FOREIGN NATIONS have yet to learn that it takes congressional action to make an American promise binding.

From the concentration camps, where they have been for nearly four years, the California Japs are being returned to their home communities. To the track gardeners of the state, their return will mean hard price competition. To the people of California cities, it will mean lower living costs because of cheaper prices for fresh vegetables. These four years were a harvest time for white track gardeners without Jap competition.

Japs Had Only 3 Divisions Left

V-J Day Found Foe's Proud Army Almost Wiped Out By MacArthur's Men.

TOKYO. — Only three first-class Japanese divisions were available in the late hours of the war to defend the homeland from invasion, U. S. army records disclose.

The divisions that led the triumphant Japanese march throughout Asia were chewed up or by-passed, and at the end even the great Kwangtung army of Manchuria was stripped for Japan's own defense against invasion.

The decline and fall of the army were charted by a card catalog kept by Lt. Col. George Magruder while the war was on and confirmed by investigations after occupation.

Best Units Sent Home. "In Manchuria when the Russians hit," said the colonel, who is one of General MacArthur's intelligence officers, "the last of the Kwangtung army's best outfits—the 25th and 1st armored divisions—had been sent to the homeland against the expected assault."

The home army of 2,500,000 men also had the veteran 57th division, but "the remainder of the home divisions were just thrown together," Magruder said.

"The Japanese re-enforced the edges of the empire first with troops from the south, then from central China," Magruder said. "Finally they were taking units from the bottom of their barrel of trained men."

Months before the surrender, Americans studying the card history were able to foretell the growing shortage of man power heralding the end of the war.

The notorious 16th division of Bataan death march infamy was smashed on Leyte in the American comeback offensive in the Philippines. The tide of war swept past three other divisions that were in on the final assault of Bataan and Corregidor and they were rounded up after the surrender—the 4th in Siam, the 21st in Indo-China and the 40th on Timor.

Crushed by British. The "emperor's own troops," the imperial guards division, were badly mauled in the drive on Singapore and were sent to Sumatra, where they saw no more action. The 10th division which was responsible for the rape of Nanking went from the quececes at Singapore and led in the capture of Burma, only to be crushed in the British counter-offensive.

Hong Kong fell to the 51st and 20th divisions. The 51st was destroyed in New Guinea and the 20th on Guadalcanal and Bougainville after it had helped conquer Java. The 2nd division from Java's battlefields also was destroyed at Guadalcanal.

This accounts for 14 divisions, or most of Japan's original conquering units, but many another top division was wrecked. For example, the 1st was smashed on Leyte, the 6th and 16th south and east of Manila, the 2nd armored on northern Luzon and the 6th on Bougainville.

Great Britain Cuts Down On Soldiers' Cigarettes

LONDON. — British soldiers in Europe, some of whom have profited in the cigarette black market, are to receive no more duty free tobacco parcels, the government announced.

Sir Alexander Maxwell, tobacco adviser to the board of trade, said the wartime concession was withdrawn to help relieve the critical shortage at home. He said large quantities of cigarettes had been going to hands "other than those for which they were originally intended."

Soldiers will continue to get normal cigarette rations through the army.

Municipal Elections Set By Spain for Next March

MADRID, SPAIN. — Generalissimo Franco's cabinet announced recently that municipal elections will be held during the first two weeks of March, 1940. At same time the cabinet announced general amnesty for political prisoners convicted of rebellion before April 1, 1939—the end of the Spanish civil war.

Youth Recovers Bicycle Stolen Over Year Ago

QUINCY, ILL. — Jimmy Feld, 15, rates as good detective material around the Quincy police station. Jimmy reported he had found in a secondhand store a bicycle stolen from him a year ago. An officer established the youth's ownership. "My brother and I have been looking for the bike every day since it disappeared," Jimmy said.

Surplus Sales Loss Is Estimated at 50 Billion

WASHINGTON. — Federal officials expect a loss of at least 50 billion dollars in sale and disposal of America's surplus war goods. This estimate was disclosed by Rep. Carter Manasco (D., Ala.), chairman of the house expenditures committee.

Mr. Manasco added, however, that he believed a heavy loss on the goods should be accepted by the public as a "cost of war."

By GRANTLAND RICE

FORTY-FIVE years ago it was inevitable that another big league baseball club would come along to divide patronage with the National that had been in operation for 24 years. So the American League arrived.

It has been just as inevitable that another new football league would come along the same road. Now the battle of the pro leagues is already under way, although the new All-American outfit won't take to the field until 1940.

In the earlier and perhaps the later milling of this gridiron war, a large number of pocketbooks are going to be badly dented or flattened out. Only four teams have ever made any money to date in the National—New York, Washington, Chicago Bears and Green Bay. The others together have lost well over a million dollars.

But in spite of this there is no longer any questioning or doubting the fact that the new league is already here. Jimmy Crowley's circuit has signed up many smart coaches who couldn't have been lured away by anything less than protected financial guarantees. The new circuit has already signed up too many good college football players—Bertelli, Bill Daley, George Franek, Glen Dobbs, Otto Graham and others, to back out now. The new league has paid out too much money already to quit.

What will happen later, you might ask? For one thing the good college football players will benefit tremendously in a financial way.

Battle of Pocketbooks

For another thing, with greatly increased salaries, bonuses and what not, there will be a big drop in profits all around. Even as things have been, it takes an attendance of some 25,000 to break even.

It will be a battle of pocketbooks and bank accounts for some time to come. The National League can't afford to let its rival grab all the leading stars, for such men as Hutson, Baugh and Luckman have been largely responsible for big crowds. There will be enough good football players to go around, but there are never enough outstanding stars or actual gate builders.

What will happen later on? It is our opinion that after a series of painful cortices on the bankrolls involved, there will eventually be two major football leagues with eight teams in each circuit.

Some cities now on trial may fall to stand up or to show their enthusiasm for pro football on the needed scale. This is still true of big league baseball today where more than one or two big league cities should be replaced by others and where there should be some shifts in two-club centers that can only carry one club. New York, Chicago and Philadelphia can handle two major league football clubs. Granted the new league intends to hustle and put up a hard fight, there will probably be a football civil war for about a year, as there was in baseball when the young American League raided the National and took away many of its better players.

Bonanza for Players

Neither league can afford this type of competition long. It will be a wonderful thing for the players and coaches, but more than most of the club owners can face without going broke. Any number of good football players will be emerging from war service this winter and spring and many more will be graduating from college next June. Most of these will go with the team which offers most.

There is one point that both leagues should watch. This is, taking good care that they don't cross up the colleges or start raiding college teams. The colleges are now far stronger than the pros, considering the entire map, and they should remain that way. They are the foundation of football. There are or will be less than 20 pro league teams. There are over 200 college teams that appeal to more than 10,000 college players.

The present National League arrangement of taking in no player until his college class has graduated should be maintained by both leagues. After all such teams as Army, Navy, Pennsylvania, Southern California, Ohio State, Michigan and Minnesota, to mention only a few, far outdraw any professional outfit. Army and Notre Dame, Army and Navy games could each play to 300,000 spectators if there was only space enough.

Overlooked Old-Timers

During Ty Cobb's recent visit east the talk got around to some of the great ones of the past who are generally overlooked.

"For example," Ty said, "there was Kid Nichols of Boston, St. Louis and Philadelphia. Kid Nichols was one of the greatest pitchers of all time, but how many even remember his name today?"

I happened to recall some 40 years ago the admiration Christy Mathewson had for Nichols.

People Make Fun of Mrs. Beulah Hankins

INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA. — Mrs. Beulah Hankins, who lives at 634 S. Collier, wrote an amusing letter to Faultless Starch Company recently. She said,

"I want to tell you about your wonderful starch. I sure think it's grand. Several people make fun of me for not boiling my starch. They say this starch is for lazy people. I have a boy four years old and I iron ten to fifteen suits of clothes a week for him. I love to iron them as Faultless Starch makes easy ironing. I also have twins, eight months old, and do they have a laundry—from twenty to twenty-five dresses a week and most of these are white ones. They iron so smooth and smell good. Thanks again for Faultless Starch. It sure saves me many hours of ironing."

SAVES TIME AND WORK

That's probably the most wonderful letter anyone could write about Faultless Starch! Mrs. Hankins is a busy wife and mother and she has found that Faultless Starch saves time and work for her. She makes starch without cooking and she has found that Faultless Starch makes her ironing easy. She gets a kick out of people saying that her Faultless Starch is for lazy people. Certainly she isn't lazy!

MADE A SPECIAL WAY

If you are busy, too—especially on washday and ironing day—you deserve the time-saving and work-saving help Faultless Starch can give you. You see Faultless Starch is made a special way to help you through your washing and to save you hours of ironing. So why not enjoy Faultless Starch? All you have to do is ask your grocer for it. Then you can make perfect hot starch without cooking! And you can make ironing so smooth, easy and beautiful. It's yours for the asking... Faultless Starch!—Adv.

It's the "CENTER BITE" of Firestone GROUND GRIPS that helps You Do MORE WORK

ONLY one tractor tire has the patented "Center Bite" tread design... that's the Firestone Ground Grip. This "Center Bite" will give your tractor up to 16% more pull at the drawbar. That's because the triple-braced bars cross at the very heart of the traction zone where the center of your load falls. And it doesn't catch trash and clog up like open-center treads.

But the extra pull of a "Center Bite" Ground Grip tire is not its only advantage. It has a 40% longer tread life and the cord body is 14% stronger. That's why more farmers use Firestone Ground Grips than any other make.

You will find that you can save time, money and do a better job of farming with Firestone Ground Grips... the only tires with the "Center Bite."

*Area in white shows the "Center Bite" traction zone not found in other tires because of Firestone's exclusive patent rights.

Alto Trapper Wins Award

W. B. Van Pelt, well known trapper from Alto, is a winner of a Daily Award in the Sixteenth National Fur Show conducted by the Raw Fur Marketing Service of Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Van Pelt's carefully handled Wolf pelt brought him one of the $5.00 Daily Awards as a result of its being judged one of the three best handled skins among all pelts received at Sears Raw Fur Marketing Station in Dallas on Saturday, December 1st, and in addition entitles Van Pelt to consideration for one of the Major Awards, including $1,000.00 First Award, to be selected at the final judging which will be held in April.

Correct pelt handling—the prime purpose of the Fur Shows—has proved to be of vital importance to trappers due to the fact that millions of dollars were formerly wasted through carelessness, in correct skinning, stretching and drying of furs—dollars which could readily have gone into the trappers pockets instead of being sent to the winds. Well prepared pelts command more money than poorly handled ones—thus increasing not alone the earnings of the trapper, but the value of our country's natural resources. Sears Fur Show was established to stress the point and, thus, to encourage correct pelt handling.

This season's 17th National awards again total $71,900.00 in cash, including 918 Daily $5.00 Awards, amounting to $1,590.00—topped by an eagerly sought—after $1,000.00 First Award—plus twelve Sectional Awards for complete fur shipments—aggregating $800.00. All awards are for pelt handling only, not kind or value of skin. Every pelt shipped to Sears, during the term of the Fur Show, is automatically considered for one or more awards. Full details are given in the 1945 46 edition of TIPS TO TRAPPERS; free copy of this book may be obtained by writing Sears Raw Fur Marketing Service at Dallas.

Skillful Handling of Wolf Pelts Earns Award for W. B. Van Pelt in Sears 17th National Fur Show

Read How You, Too, May Win an Award as High as $1,000.00 Cash

Proving again that "better pelt handling pays," this local trapper got an extra $5.00 in cash—one of the Daily Awards in Sears 17th National Fur Show—and, besides, a chance to share in the big major award!

Miss 16th National smiles as she exhibits some of the pelts shown during the judging at Sears 16th National Fur Show.

What this trapper did, you too can do—whether or not you sell your furs through Sears Raw Fur Marketing Service. For Sears Fur Show offers, this season, a total of 942 cash awards, including the First Award of $1,000.00 for the best handled pelt of all.

942 Awards—$7,590 Cash

Yes, a total of 942 cash awards for fur shippers—942 opportunities to share in $7,590.00 in cash.

MAJOR CASH AWARDS: There are ten major cash awards, ranging from $50.00 to $1,000.00.

SECTIONAL CASH AWARDS: There are sectional awards, too—for complete shipments of five or more pelts—one award of $250.00; eleven of $50.00 each.

DAILY CASH AWARDS: Finally, there are 918 daily cash awards of $5.00 each, for pelts received during the Fur Show.

Got In—It's Easy

Every fur you ship to Sears, during the term of the Fur Show, is automatically considered for awards.

Moreover, only the handling of the pelts counts; not the kind of fur, not its value.

So this season, why not try for some big extra money? Remember, everybody has an equal chance. You have everything to gain—nothing to lose.

When your furs are ready, ship them to Sears, Roebuck and Co., Raw Fur Marketing Service at the nearest of these points: Chicago, Philadelphia, Memphis, Dallas, Kansas City or Seattle. Thousands of trappers have earned awards. YOU CAN, too!

Pays You 3 Ways

First, every award is in addition to the cash Sears get you for your pelts.

Second, Sears can be depended on to obtain for you top prices.

Third, even if you don't win an award, careful handling enhances the value of your furs.

This third feature is the real reason for Sears 17th National Raw Fur Show with 942 Cash awards, totaling $7,590.00.

By encouraging careful pelt handling, Sears believe the annual value of America's raw furs can be increased by millions of dollars. And that the income of every trapper can be given a big boost.

How do Victory Bonds fit into a farm erosion control program? Of course I've got the money now without dipping into my Bonds, but say current income in some future year doesn't leave me enough ready-cash to do the job... will erosion on my farm wait for me to get the money?

You bet it won't! And that's one of the things a reserve fund of Victory Bonds will do for me—insure a backlog to take care of emergencies of all sorts.

And I'm not forgetting, either, that my reserve of Victory Bonds will be drawing good interest all the time—at maturity these bonds will pay off $4 for every $3 I put in today!

Waiting?

A farmer friend of mine, accompanied by small son, took his well-used truck and drove over the river to the county seat on a recent wet Saturday. He did the week's shopping, treated the boy to a "western" and started home; but not the road was under rising water on both sides of the bridge. Returning to town he engaged a night's lodging and tried to telephone home. Service on his party line had grown steadily worse since Pearl Harbor, especially on rainy days. Now the instrument at his ear crackled like cold breakfast food and the ringing signal suggested Central America. He feared the worst. Strangers menaced him, wanting something—the telephone maybe. At last the operator cut in with her impersonal "Waiting?"—and the farmer exploded.

Congressmen Likewise
Most people have had such experiences. They seem to overtake us easily when we're waiting for advice from home. Congressmen in Washington know the feeling well, I am told. They, most of all public servants, want to hear from home. They don't consider themselves rulers, merely units out of far-away communities, hand-picked to represent their neighbors who elected them.

Most of our legislators are competent and eloquent; handle their work well, but they want to be faithful representatives. Not pretending to know all the answers, they try earnestly to get word from the electorate. Pressure groups menace them, wanting something—their votes maybe. Their deliberations are belittled by frantic executives saying "Waiting? What's the delay?"

What's Your Pleasure?
What do you think about paying $25 a week for 23 weeks to Tom, Dick and Harry? Do you favor America's helping the Russians build bigger and better atomic bombs? How do you feel on the subject of compulsory military training? Do you believe Congress should guarantee government jobs for all unemployed? Your representative would really like to know your wishes in these matters.

Hon. Carter Manasco and a score more congressmen recently listened to testimony for more than 30 days on the question of guaranteed jobs. They invited every citizen with an idea on the subject to come and testify and especially urged many to appear. They were most liberal with time for preparation and time to testify. The House Committee on Executive Expenditures deserved much credit and took plenty of panning for that cautious job.

Genuine Cooperation
It was just a year ago now that sixty citizens of Batesville, Ark., met voluntarily to study a piece of proposed legislation about to be considered by the House committee of which their Washington representative was a member. They deliberated thoughtfully, reached a conclusion and mailed Hon. Wilbur D. Mills a brief statement of their wishes and a list of their names. I wish the back-home friends of every congressman in Washington would hold such a meeting soon on one or more vital national issues. It would lift the lever from the hand of pressure groups. It would clear the atmosphere along the Potomac. It would strengthen the morals of Congress, which is the individual citizen's only check from oppression.

SUMMARY OF SPECIAL DEER AND ELK SEASONS FOR 1945.
The regular big game season is November 10 to 21, inclusive. In addition, the following special seasons have been established by the State Game Commission:

Magdalena Mountain Area, east side of Magdalena mountains—approximately 250 permits for does only (number of permits depends on number of bucks taken during regular season) Season: Dec. 12-16. Final date set for receiving applications: December 3, 10:00 A. M.
Mimbres, G.O.S. Area, north of Silver City: 300 permits for either buck or doe. Season: Dec. 12 to 16. Final date for applications: Dec. 3, 10:00 A. M.

The Game Department wants the full number of permittees on each area, hence sportsmen are urged not to apply for permits unless they fully intend to use them. Do not apply for a permit on more than one area.

No hunter will be allowed to kill more than one deer in New Mexico during the 1945 season.

ELK.
Upper Pecos Area: During regular big game season (Nov. 10 to 21) 125 permits for either a cow or a bull. Final date set for receiving applications: Oct. 15, 10:00 A. M. Deer, bear and turkey may also be hunted at the same time.

Johnson Mesa Area near Raton: 100 permits for either a cow or a bull; some of which will be reserved for land owners. Season: Nov. 23 to Dec. 1. Final date for receiving applications: Oct. 20, 10:00 A. M. (Chances of getting a permit here are not as good as on other two areas).

Applications accompanied by $10.00 fee which is required for elk permits in addition to regular license, should be sent to this office before final date set in each case.

Note: No special application form is necessary; just submit your name and complete mailing address and specify area where you desire to hunt. No special fee is required for any of the deer permits.

NEW MEXICO 1945-46

BIRD SEASONS.
Ducks, geese and coots: Season: Nov. 2 to Jan. 20. Limit 10 ducks, 2 geese and 25 coot per day and (except on opening day) 20 ducks and 4 geese may be possessed.
Mergansers (fish ducks): Federal Season: Nov. 2 to Jan. 20. Limit 25 per day. No state restrictions as to season or bag limit.

Rails and Gallinules: Season: Sept. 1 to Nov. 30. Limit 15 in the aggregate or in possession.

Upland birds, that is grouse and pheasants, may be possessed for 20 days after close of season. Shooting hours for these species are from sunrise to sunset, except pheasant season, which opens at noon. Migratory birds (ducks, geese, coots, doves, pigeons, rails and gallinules), may be possessed for 90 days after close of season for each species. Shooting hours for migratory birds are from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Taking waterfowl by means of bait or use of live duck and goose decoys, or dummies by means of bait, is unlawful regardless of the distance between bait or decoy and hunter.

It shall be illegal to take migratory game birds from or by aid of an automobile, airplane, sink box, battery, power boat, sail boat, and boat under sail, any floating craft or device of any kind towed by power boat or sail power.

All persons hunting waterfowl must have valid license to hunt birds and those over sixteen years old are required to have an unexpired Federal Migratory Bird Hunting Stamp on the back of the license to hunt, which must be validated by signature on the face of the stamp. These stamps, commonly called duck stamps, may be obtained at post offices for $1.00.

Cattle Growers to Meet December 17-18
 Albuquerque, Nov. 21, 1945—The Executive Board of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association will meet at Raton on December 17 and 18 according to E. G. Hayward, Cimarron, President of the organization. In addition to the 100 members of the Executive Committee, all members of the association and state cattlemen in general are urged to attend this session due to the numerous problems confronting the association and industry at this time, Hayward said. Chief problems under consideration will be Forest Grazing Land and Public Domain Grazing land questions which have come up in recent months. In addition considerable time will be given to discussions on the protein feed situation in the state, the ranch labor shortage, meat rationing and the government meat subsidy program, Hayward continued. Grover Hill, former Under-Secretary of Agriculture who is now with the Farm Credit Bank, will be one of the chief speakers on the meeting program. Plans will be made at the Raton session for the general business to be taken up at the Annual Convention of the Association which will be held at Albuquerque, in March of 1946. Plans will also be made for a large delegation to attend the Annual meeting of the American National Live Stock Association at Denver on January 9-11. A. D. Brownfield of Deming, is serving his second term as president of the National organization. More than three hundred applications for membership are now pending in the Association's office and they will be formally approved by the Executive Board at the December meeting. Approval of these new members will bring the groups' total membership past the 3300 mark. Dr. R. E. Blaney wishes to state his friends and patrons that due to ill health he has retired from the practice of dentistry.

What Helps Agriculture Helps All of Us

WHAT is it that helps agriculture? We know that to grow good crops it takes good seed, fertile soil, a favorable climate, and the skill and experience of the individual. Likewise in the production of livestock you need well-bred animals, proper care and feeding, plus intelligent management.

Through better seeds and new types of plants like hybrid corn, through soil conservation methods, better land management, and improved machinery; through more effective control of pests and parasites, America has reached a level of food production never before achieved by any nation in history. Therein lies much of America's strength for the future.

By many a tragic example, history teaches us that when food supplies fail, nations fall. We of America must see to it that our agriculture becomes always a stronger, purer base for the economy of our nation. This is a task not only for you as producers but also for us who, by providing nationwide facilities and services, bridge the gap which separates farmers and ranchers from the distant consumers who must have their products.

And because our business is so closely linked with the land, we at Swift & Company are vitally interested in all developments that help agriculture. And so in these Swift pages we publish helpful information, knowing that a prosperous agriculture is essential to the livestock and meat industry—and to the prosperity of the nation as a whole.

OUR LIVESTOCK JUDGING METHODS

By R. G. JOHNSON
Head, Department of Animal Husbandry, Oregon State College

Domestic animals are machines for converting plant material into meat, fibers, and other human needs. Competition forces the modern farmer to evaluate efficiency in terms of tons or bushels per acre, dairy production in pounds of butterfat per cow per year, and poultry results in number of eggs per year. Thus, since the livestock producer evaluates breeding stock on the basis of meat or of wool their offspring produce per 100 pounds of feed consumed?

The show ring standards for judging animals by external appearance have given us a certain point, but breeding for the show ring does not always lead to efficient feed utilization.

A step in the right direction is the increasing use of proved genes. Today, through use of artificial insemination, the purebred breeder is greatly assisted in the establishment and increase of efficient blood lines.

Tomorrow's "yardstick" will not only be bigger yields per acre but also more pounds of meat and fiber per ton of feed.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW? How many of the amino acids essential to health are found in meat?
What governs the price of livestock?
In what dessert is meat an important ingredient?

Answers to these questions may be found in the various articles which are printed elsewhere on this page.

Buy Victory Bonds

THE EDITOR'S COLUMN

A smart steer on range goes to where the forage is best. A smart livestock producer sells where the market is best. There are many sources of information to help him decide where that best market may be. Radio networks and nearby stations report daily on receipts and prices at central and local markets. Commission houses and their field men are ready to give personal advice on the best time and place to sell. Newspapers publish detailed descriptions of market conditions. Various timely reports are available from the U. S. D. A. and other impartial sources on trends and developments in the livestock-and-meat industry.

In making their bids, livestock buyers also use current market information. Acceptance of any price offered is entirely up to the producer or his sales agent. Meat packing plants and their buyers are located at so many widespread points that if a producer is not satisfied with prices offered by any one buyer, he has a choice of several others to which he may sell his animals.

Moreover, with 3,600 meat packing plants and 26,000 other concerns and individuals who slaughter livestock commercially, there is bound to be keen competitive bidding for your livestock. Barring meat rationing and price ceilings, livestock prices are governed by what the packer can get for the meat and by-products.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS and A HAPPY NEW YEAR

"AMINOS" ARE IMPORTANT TO YOU! From the nutrition research laboratories comes the story of amino acids, mysterious substances found in the proteins we eat. Amino acids are used by our bodies to build and rebuild our tissues, organs, and blood. They also help fight off infections.

Of the 23 known amino acids, ten are absolutely essential to health and even to life itself. Most of them are found in meat. That's why doctors, working to rebuild the shattered bodies of wounded servicemen, order diets with large amounts of meat. That is also why everybody should eat meat for health as well as for its fine flavor and its "catch-to-the-fiber" food value.

Swift and other meat packers, through The American Meat Institute, are telling this vital story of meat and its health-building amino acids in many millions of advertising messages. As people read this story, there will be wider markets for meat—and the livestock you produce.

SORGHUMS ON INCREASE AS CATTLE FEED

By A. D. WEBER
Head, Department of Animal Husbandry, Kansas State College

Proof that the new combine-type grain sorghums, Midland milo and Westland milo are the equal of corn as cattle feed, which was demonstrated recently at the Fort Hays Branch of the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station, will interest feeders who fatten cattle in the Southwest.

Yearling steers fed these two new grains for 150 days gained 314 pounds per head daily. This was equal to results gained by feeding yearling steers No. 2 corn over a like period. The steers in each lot produced the same (choice), and sold at the same price ($17.00 per cwt.). All grains were fed at the rate of 13 pounds per head daily. Each ration included sweet corn silage, 37 pounds; cottonseed meal, 1 1/2 pounds; and finely ground limestone, 1-10 pound.

Three similar feeding trials also proved conclusively that the new combine-type grain sorghums compare favorably with corn as cattle fattening feed—Wheatland milo, Colby milo and Westland milo being tested in these trials.

Increasing use of native feed grains, such as these new type grain sorghums, will greatly benefit the stability and prosperity of this agricultural region.

There was no loss at refrigeration temperatures of 40 degrees Fahrenheit or lower.

Dutch Return From Nazi Camps
Some 103,000 Netherlanders have been liberated from German war prisoner and labor camps since the Allied armies entered Germany, according to a report from Supreme Allied headquarters. Of these, 28,000 have so far been repatriated. The others are being cared for in various centers in France and Germany. Another 1,500 Dutch civilians, many of them women, are being evacuated to Sweden from German concentration camps. Among these who were liberated were 800 Dutch women from the Bolzen, Ravensbrueck, and Neuengamme camps. In addition, a Swedish Red Cross ship is now at Luback, Germany, to bring another group of 1,000 Dutch citizens to Sweden. Of 600 Dutch women originally interned at Ravensbrueck, only 200 had survived, the refugees reported. Besides, out of a group of 250 which arrived at Malmo, Sweden, 10 per cent were so seriously ill that they had to be sent to hospitals.

A Bell for Adano
John Hersey

THE STORY THUS FAR: The American troops arrived in Adano, with Major Joppolo, the Amgot officer in charge. Sergeant North was in charge of security. The Major was determined to hold the confidence of the people and to replace their bell stolen by the Nazis. Despite orders issued by General Marvin, barring carts from the city, Joppolo recalled the order, to permit food and water to enter the city. Lord Rucina, high British official on the Amgot, called upon Major Joppolo, and after receiving reports on the work done at Adano, expressed himself as well satisfied with the progress made. The Major was naturally pleased. Lord Rucina told the Major how he might get a bell.

CHAPTER XVI

I found that your barbarians had smashed my terra cotta head, it was done by the Florentine Camilliani in the sixteenth century. What value can you place on that? They tore my Venus; it was by Giorgione. What is the price of that? They smashed the glasses in which my mother drank her bridal toasts in Venice. How many lira do you think they were worth to me? Quattrocchi began to cry, and became incoherent. Major Joppolo was furious. He called up Captain Purvis and said: "Purvis, what's the matter with your men? Did you know they'd been behaving like a bunch of wild men in their billet? This fellow was good enough to let them use his house and some of the stuff in it, why the hell did they have to abuse it? I want you to find out who busted up the stuff down at your billet and have them in your office in fifteen minutes." And he hung up without waiting for the astonished Captain to take a deep breath.

Major Joppolo walked around to the other side of his desk and patted the sobbing Quattrocchi on the shoulder. He said: "Come, Quattrocchi, let's go down to your house and see exactly what they did."

So the two men walked down the street to the beautiful house. Quattrocchi led the Major through the rooms on the second floor and showed him the broken things.

Major Joppolo was terribly depressed by what he saw. "There is no excuse for it," he said softly to Quattrocchi, who was beyond fury.

Major Joppolo took Quattrocchi up to the M.P. headquarters. Captain Purvis had Chuck, Bill and Polack there. As soon as the Major came in, the three boys stood at attention.

"At ease," Major Joppolo said, "but listen."

The three boys stood at ease. "You fellows ought to be sent home to the States," he said. "What kind of an example do you think you men are for the people here? How do you think we'll ever persuade them that we're decent people if you behave like we all live in the woods and have shaggy fur?"

Polack said: "We didn't mean no hurt, Major."

The Major said: "Your intentions don't make the slightest bit of difference. It's the result that matters."

Polack said: "We was doin' it for you, Major."

"What do you mean, doing it for me? How could you think I would want you to do anything like that?"

Polack said: "We was lookin' for a present for you, sir." Polack thought that if the Major stacked up to all the boasting Chuck Schultz had done about him the night before, he ought to be able to talk their way out of this fix.

The Major said: "Why would you want to get me a present? I've never seen you before."

Polack said: "We've just enlisted men. We seen you before."

Major Joppolo said: "I still want to know how you thought you were getting me a present, and why you were."

Polack said: "It was gain' to be a gain-away present."

The Major said: "Who's going away?"

Polack said: "Well, Corporal Schultz here said—"

Chuck Schultz said: "You let me handle this, Polack."

Major Joppolo turned on Corporal Schultz: "Say, what is this all about anyway?"

Chuck Schultz saw that there was no way out. He said: "There wasn't no excuse for what we done, Major. We was very drunk. I think Polack here's still a little drunk."

Polack raised a threatening fist and said: "Why you—"

Major Joppolo said: "What's all this about a present?"

Chuck said: "Sir, we just got some kind of a drunk idea that you was about the best officer we ever seen, and we figured we wanted to give you a present. We thought maybe we could find a present for you in the house. We knew you was Italian, more or less, and we thought you'd like something Italian from the house. That's all there was to it."

Major Joppolo said, and his voice was much softer: "I'm not Italian, boys. I'm American, and sometimes I'm not as proud of it as I'd like to be."

Then the Major turned to Quattrocchi, and he said in Italian: "I hardly know what to tell you. I know that no apologies and no payment can ever return what you have lost. I wish to tell you that these men who committed the crime are sorry for what they did, now that they realize how cruel they were to you. I wish to tell you, Quattrocchi, that I feel less proud of being an American than I did yesterday. These men will be punished justly and severely for what they have done. I want you to file a claim for payment for what was destroyed, and I wouldn't blame you for doubling the price. That's all I can say, Quattrocchi."

Quattrocchi said: "I don't know about most Americans, but I know I can always get justice from you, Mister Major."

The Major said: "Good day, Quattrocchi. From now on your house will be kept nicely, I can promise you that."

Quattrocchi left. The Major turned to the three boys. He said: "I don't know whether you realize yet what you've done to this Italian. It's as if you had cut his arm off. He loved those things you busted up. Now I just told him that you three would be punished severely—as severely as you have hurt him."

The three boys stiffened up a little.

The Major said: "I'm going to make this your punishment: to have this man's unhappiness of your conscience, and from now on to keep his house as clean as if everything in it belonged to your own mother. That's all. You're dismissed."

Chuck said: "Yes sir, thank you, sir."

Polack said: "Thank you, sir."

Bill said: "Thank you, sir. We'll take care of the house."

Polack said: "Yes sir, we sure will."

States.

Here are four examples that Major Joppolo dug up, which show exactly how the black market and inflation grew up:

He traced the black market in wine to the house of Carmelina, wife of the lazy Fatta. The very first person who bought wine from Carmelina, on the very first night of the invasion, was Corporal Chuck Schultz. Carmelina's story to the Major was that the Corporal had just handed her a dollar and walked away. Schultz's story was that the Italian lady had haggled and shouted and threatened to call the police. In any case, Schultz paid a dollar. The regular price for that grade of wine before the invasion had been twenty lira, or twenty cents.

Four soldiers sauntered into a barber shop one morning, and made motions with their fingers around their skulls that indicated they wanted haircuts. None of them could speak Italian, so they based their payment on what they had last paid for haircuts in the States. Each plunked down a fifty cent piece and said: "Keep the change, Joe."

The regular price for haircuts had been three lira, or three cents. Shaves had cost two lira. Here in one morning's work, the barber had made two hundred lira. He retired to a life of leisure, and refused to cut any hair for three weeks, till his money gave out.

To stop, or at least to curb, the black market, Major Joppolo did three things: he put the town out of bounds to American soldiers, who from then on could enter only on business; he had the Carabinieri stop all foodstuffs from leaving the town; and he fined anyone caught selling over-price or under-measure three thousand lira—a lifetime's savings for a poor Italian peasant.

Sergeant Trapani's having addressed the purple slip reporting the countermand order on the carts to the wrong person did not help much. As soon as the wrong person opened up the envelope and read the slip, he forwarded it to the right person.

The right person was Lieut. Col. W. W. Norris, G-One Officer of the 40th Division. The wrong person put the purple slip on his desk. Col. Norris, who was burdened down with much too much paper work, did not even read it all the way through. He just read the first part, about General Marvin's issuing the order that carts should be stopped on the outskirts of Adano.

Then he wrote in pencil on the upper left hand corner of the slip: "Usual copies for Division files. One extra copy to be sent to Colonel Middleton marked 'For General Marvin's Information.'" And then he tossed the slip in his outgoing basket.

A couple of hours later a Technical Sergeant emptied Col. Norris's outgoing basket, and in time got around to making three copies of the purple slip for the files of the 40th Division, where they would be buried, never to be seen again. One copy went under M.P.'s, one copy into the Personnel file, and the third into the Intelligence file under Occupied Territory, Disciplinary Measures. The Technical Sergeant recopied the purple slip, so that he could make a clean top copy for Colonel Middleton and the General. He wanted to get ahead. He didn't want to do anything sloppy. He was so careful in his typing that he didn't even notice what the purple slip said.

The Technical Sergeant put the four copies and the original purple slip into Col. Norris's incoming basket.

It happens that Col. Norris had an assistant, one Lieutenant Butters, who was very inquisitive. He annoyed the Colonel often by reading over his shoulder. He always wanted to know what the Battle Order was the moment it was drawn up, before it even went to regimental commanders.

The only advantage of Lieutenant Butters' curiosity was that he usually read Colonel Norris's mail more carefully than either Colonel Norris or his Technical Sergeant.

The morning after the Technical Sergeant put the purple slip and the four copies into the Colonel's incoming basket, Lieutenant Butters got up bright and early, dressed, shaved out of his helmet, and before breakfast went to Colonel Norris's desk and went through his incoming basket.

When he came to the purple slip and the four copies, he took the papers out of the pile, read until he had finished, put the pile back into the incoming basket, and then tucked the purple slip and the four copies into a portfolio on his own desk.

Later in the day, when the Colonel was out to a conference, Lieutenant Butters took out the purple slip and the four copies. He called the Technical Sergeant over to his desk.

"Did you see these?" the Lieutenant asked. The Technical Sergeant, who was afraid he had made a mistake in typing, said merely: "Yes, sir."

"Well, that Major was right," the Lieutenant said. The Technical Sergeant, who hadn't the faintest idea what the purple slip was about, said: "He was?"

SNAPPY FACTS about RUBBER

A synthetic rubber developed entirely from petroleum gases is now being used in the manufacture of truck-tire inner tubes. Called Butyl, the new synthetic provides an extra margin of safety against puncture, holds air much longer.

Since Pearl Harbor, the United States has produced as much synthetic rubber as the entire world's supply of natural rubber for the 18 years from 1900 through 1918.

The rubber industry's greater capacity of 65,000,000 tires a year has been increased to more than 110,000,000 civilian tires annually.

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidney weakness may be in their work--not act as Nature intended--fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and speed the whole way of death.

Symptoms may be sleeping backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, gritty or itchy eyes, and a general feeling of the system--a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney weakness are: a swollen or puffy face, a bladder that often is sore and itchy, a tendency to lose frequent urination.

To the Public
As a rancher, I have a lot of complaint to make against coyotes and other rodents. They didn't stop on the calves and goats. Now they are eating the chickens. The coyotes have been thicker every year since the bounty money has been turned over to the state. Lincoln county has one government trapper. You couldn't expect one man to catch all the rodents in a county as big as this. If each and every county was allowed to handle bounty money, more would go after the rodents for the fur and the money in it. It would be a whole lot better for everybody if the counties had charge of the bounty money.
Signed,
Rayner Crockett.
