Valuckas Infant's Funeral Yesterday

Another tragic drowning occurred at the Bar W ranch last Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock when Albert Bernard Valuckas, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Valuckas, of Honolulu, T. H. was drowned, in the large tank, or pond.

The baby was born in Long Beach, California, April 12, 1945, being at the time of death 16 months and one day old.

The parents have been living here several months for the mother's health, and it is indeed a heart-breaking accident. Deep sympathy is felt for them in this sorrow.

When the fire siren blew, people thought it was for fire, but the department was called hoping the baby could be revived, but it was too late for resuscitation.

Funeral services were held yesterday August 15th at 4 p. m. at the Carrizozo cemetery, by the Episcopal minister of Fort Stanton. Interment followed at the graveside service.

Messrs. Bert and Pink Roberts of Oakland, California, arrived Wednesday morning to visit their mother, Mrs. Alice Roberts, and their sisters Mmes. Adz Edmiston and Anna Roberts.

The Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department is getting ready for another big dance to be held on Saturday, August 24th, at Community Hall. The Department consists of twelve members, all volunteers, who drop their own affairs wherever they happen to be, whenever the fire siren wails. This means they receive no salary and must depend upon their dances and other entertainments for the upkeep of their equipment and to buy new equipment. They appreciate the wonderful spirit of cooperation shown by the people and especially hope this dance will be the most successful yet as they are going to use the funds to buy some much needed equipment. Music will be furnished by the Alamogordo string band and music will be plenty peppy for everybody.

O. W. McElhanev

Mr. Owen Waldo McElhanev, the first Mayor of Ruidoso was found shot to death with a bullet wound, through his mouth, just after 2 o'clock last Friday afternoon. His body was found on a new golf course which was being constructed at the mountain city. A coronor's jury stated that "death occurred from a self inflicted gunshot wound".

Mr. McElhanev had suffered heavy losses recently when his store was washed out by a flooded arroyo, but he seemingly was not taking the matter too hard, and was planning to prevent another occurrence of the disaster by building dykes or walls. He came to Ruidoso in 1939. Prior to that he had spent ten years in Houston, Texas where he was in business. He was a veteran of World War I, and at the time of his death was 55. After brief services by the Methodist Minister in Roswell the body was shipped to Wickford, Rhode Island, accompanied by his widow, Mrs. Violet Mae McElhanev and by his son, Jan Bruce McElhanev. Also surviving at Wickford, R. I. are a brother and a sister.

When Ruidoso was incorporated last November, Mr. McElhanev was elected Mayor and was serving satisfactorily to the citizens of the town. His death was a decided shock to everyone in the county who was acquainted with him.

Rev. E. D. Hammons, Sr., who has made his home in Capitan the past year, will move September 1st, to Estancia where he will continue in his work as Evangelist for the Churches of Christ. Mr. Hammons moved to Capitan from Mayhill where he had been preaching all through the Sacramento Mountains for ten years. He has resided in New Mexico for 20 years and has accomplished a great deal of good. At Capitan he took great pride in civic organizations, helping with the Boy Scouts and Chamber of Commerce. With the Scouts he started with eight members, and now has more than 30 active scouts in troop No. 55. The troop has gone on more hikes, and has more activities going than any other Scout troop in the White Mountain district. When the Capitan Chamber of Commerce first organized Mr. Hammons became a member. He regrets to leave Capitan, the fine school, the excellent faculty and all his friends and co-workers, but has been called to other fields and will take up his work with the Church of Christ at Estancia, September 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mac Veigh, 3rd arrived last Saturday from New Jersey to visit Mrs. Mac Veigh's mother Mrs. Mae Jordan.

Politics Makes Strange, Etc.

Peculiar deals involving congressional war profiteering revivify similar shenanigans by legislators in the past. About a century ago a group of business men borrowed $200,000 and incorporated the Central Pacific railroad. Then they used the 200Gs to bribe congressmen to steal railroad franchises. The 200Gs eventually secured land grants for 9,000,000 acres and a federal loan of $27,000,000.

The swindlers became rich and powerful railroad owners without investing a penny of their own money!

The Tweed Ring was the most corrupt gang that ever afflicted New York. Boss Tweed filched millions via bribery and legalistic hocus-pocus—until he was finally put behind bars. But Tweed beat the rap many times. After one grand jury failed to dig up enough evidence to indict Tweed, an editorialist wrote that it reminded him of the man who had been discovered dead and the jury was puzzled as to what caused his death.

The jury finally issued this report: "It was an act of God under very suspicious circumstances."

Capitol Hill now is burdened with too many demagogues. But the current batch aren't gifted with Huey Long's evil talent. He was a wily rat. . . . A reporter once saw a page from a Huey Long address. Various instructions were penciled in the margins. Such as "pause here," and "use angry fist gesture," etc.

At the end of one long paragraph, the following was scribbled in capital letters: "Argument weak here. Yell like hell!"

One machine in the East doesn't miss a vote-getting trick. The boss sends toys to children of voters. He uses expensive chauffeured cars to bring voters to the polls. And on Election day he sends nurses to take care of tots while mothers vote.

No one ever has estimated how much money grafting officials have filched. But the sum reaches astronomical figures. . . . One fact will give you a faint idea of the rooking that the public has taken—and still is taking. . . . When Tammany was riding high its take during one year was $75,000,000.

The influence of corrupt political bosses on national affairs cannot be overestimated. Many lawmakers are merely errand boys for local ward helders. A reporter recently snapped: "This is truly a mechanical age. Even public officials are frequently machine made."

All is fair in love, war and politics. Sen. George Norris' political opponents once persuaded a grocer named George Norris to enter the primary against the U. S. senator. The Big Idea was to confuse voters by having similar names on the ballots. But the scheme was called off when it was spotlighted by the press.

Mark Twain used his pungent pen to attack the shady schemes of Tammany. The death of a Tammany leader inspired one of Twain's famed quips: "I refused to attend his funeral. But I wrote a very nice letter explaining that I approved of it!"

New York Side-Show: He started working for a Wall Street nearly a year ago. . . . Under the impression his employer was wealthy. . . . He practiced forging the boss' signatures. . . . After 10 months or so—he tried passing a check "signed" with the employer's name—to see if it worked. . . . He wrote it out for only $50. . . . It came back marked "Insufficient Funds!"

Mussolini's daughter, Edda, who has been "amnestied" by Italy, has applied for entry into Argentina because there's no spot in Italy where she would be welcome. But the passport hasn't been okayed yet. . . . Belgian monarchists are perturbed over the 16-year-old crown prince of Belgium, who would prefer entering a monastery to assuming the throne. . . . The king (as expected) abdicates. . . . The most quoted gag (in the foreign bars in Shanghai) goes this way: "The Russians will probably obtain the atomic bomb in the Shanghai market." . . . Los Angeles, they say, is being flooded with phony ten spots.

Mrs. M. Falkenburg (Jinx's mother) will follow in her daughter's footsteps and become a Conover model. Irving Berlin has two songs on the Hit Parade at once! . . . Doris Duke shows off for Honolulu shortly, accompanied by a boogie-woogie teacher. She will spurn the offer of a fashion mag post in Paris. . . . A famed photo mag is dropping 20 p. c. of its roster, as is a big N. Y. avem paper. . . . A mobster, who tells the underworld the mayor "crossed him," threatens to urase hka when he gets out.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for August 11

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JESUS AND HOME RELATIONSHIPS

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:12; Mark 7:10; Luke 2:51, 52; Ephesians 6:1-4. MEMORY SELECTION—Honor thy father and thy mother; that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.—Exodus 20:12.

Home—that place so dear to the heart of each one of us—is even more precious in the sight of God. He is concerned about our homes and those who live in them.

Right relationship between children and parents have much to do with the peace and prosperity of a community and a nation. Experience has demonstrated that to be true, but even more basic is the fact that it is in accord with the promise of God.

One of the sad breakdowns in modern life is that of proper honor and obedience to parents by children. In all too many homes God's order has been reversed and instead of honoring and obeying their parents, children (both young and old) have taken the place of "boss" and mother and father must obey if they want peace and rest.

The problem of juvenile delinquency, or perhaps we should say more correctly, parental delinquency, is right on our doorsteps now. That means that the need for our lesson is both great and acute. The future happiness of hundreds of thousands of children and the present welfare of thousands of neglected and boss-ridden parents will depend on the intelligence and faithfulness with which this lesson is taught in our churches, and the honesty of heart with which we all receive its truth.

I. The Responsibility Stated (Exod. 20:12). "Honor thy father and thy mother"—how good, and substantial, and right those words sound.

We are told by Paul that this is the "first commandment with promise" (Eph. 6:1-3). The Lord was not making a bargain with man, or seeking to draw out obedience by a prize, but there is obviously a great reward in the observing of this commandment.

Then too as the children of God (if we are such)—through Jesus Christ, the first and most important consideration to come before us is, What is the mind and will of the Maker of us all regarding this matter of the relationship between parents and children? His words are plain: we are to "honor" our fathers and our mothers.

The word "honor" carries with it a great many things, but perhaps the three outstanding elements are respect, obedience and affection. But men do not wish to follow God's direction, so we see next

II. The Responsibility Evaded (Mark 7:9-13).

Such an important commandment naturally held a high place in the thinking of the community. To violate it involved a measure of shame which men sought to avoid. So the Jews of Christ's day devised a scheme which made it possible for a man to appear to be very religious even as he deprived his parents of the honor and help to which they were entitled by the law of God.

The man who did not wish to support his aged and needy parents could entirely evade that God-given responsibility by declaring that his property was "Corban"; that is, dedicated by a vow to God. Thereafter no matter how great was the need of his parents they could receive nothing, and yet he could keep it and use it for himself.

Thus do men make "the word of God of none effect" (v. 13) through their traditions. The method differs but the spirit persists even in our day.

Jesus made short work of such trickery and evasion. He declared their man-made creeds and traditions to be simply a means of making the command of God of none effect. Once more he condemns that formal religious observance which serves as a cloak for sin and selfishness!

III. The Responsibility Fulfilled (Luke 2:51-52; Eph. 6:1-4).

The manner in which children should be obedient to their parents and honor them in the home is beautifully exemplified in the life of our Lord, living as a boy in Nazareth. In the home the growing youth finds the best place for normal, well-rounded development (v. 52). There is no substitute for the home.

The words of the Holy Spirit through Paul in Ephesians 6:1-4 stress the same truth and enlarge upon it.

This matter of honoring and obeying parents "is right," says Paul. It is the Lord's way, but it is also that which commends itself to every right-thinking person.

There is tremendously important truth on the other side of the picture. Parents are not to provoke their children to anger, to disrespect or disobedience.

May God help us who are parents that we may take in heart this part of our lesson. Our children are our most valuable possession.

WOMAN'S WORLD Old Coats Make Nice Toppers - If Tailoring Is Well Handled

By Ertta Haley

Designed for School

Shoulder detail takes this blue and white striped blouse out of the ordinary class. Diana Lynn, star of "Easy Come, Easy Go," wears this costume, so ideal for the school girl.

THE most popular coat for the younger set for the present appears to be the short topper that fits well over all kinds of dresses and even suits. It's sort of a casual affair that slips on and off easily but still makes the girls look well turned out.

It's surprising how many old coats can be converted easily into attractive toppers for school. Perhaps last year's coat looks just a bit shabby for wear this year, or is a bit outmoded by the abundance of shorter coats the others are wearing. If the coat is plaid or tweed or a nice solid color, then it is perfect material for the popular topper.

Look for a coat whose material is firmly woven with enough body to tailor nicely. If the coat has a nice top, such as a lapel style or even a collarless one that sets well on the girl, you will have to do little to the coat except, perhaps, to change the padding in the shoulders, and make a present of a new lining that will carry it through the present school season.

You will probably not use a pattern for the coat, but in cutting it down it is perhaps best to fit it on the girl so as to be sure that you get the right length to it. This should be folded up and pinned first so that you will know exactly how it looks before going to work with the shears.

When Changing Sizes Use New Patterns

If, however, you are making a large coat into a smaller one, the best plan to follow is to rip the coat apart and use a pattern. Have the coat cleaned, ripped carefully, and pressed very flat so that pinning and cutting can be easily done.

When working with woollens, you can't have the ironing board too handy. All seams on such heavy material should be pressed open carefully as soon as they are stitched. This pressing may sound like a lot of nonsense, but it's absolutely essential so that you work along carefully planned lines and get the stitching as even as possible.

Remodel last year's coat. . . .

The seam allowance on woollens should be ample as the fabric will pull out unless you've taken care of this carefully. It's also necessary to allow plenty for seams so that the garment can be pressed well and have the seams lie flat once they are put together.

In some woollens which do not ravel easily, or those which are not too heavy, the seams may be finished with pinking shears, but should the fabric be heavy at all it's best to overcast the edges to give a nice finish to the garment.

If you are remodeling an old coat, and particularly if shortening it to a topper style, you will have to remove the pockets. Fit the pockets onto the coat after it has been shortened because in most cases they will have to be lifted, and they should fit the wearer.

Pin the pockets in place, with the sides of the pockets on a true lengthwise grain of fabric. Then stitch up to the top of the pocket, then turn down and stitch to the bottom, across, up to the top of the opposite side, and down the width of the hem. Pivot squarely at each corner. Keep stitching within 1/2 inch of the edge, which will make the stitching less conspicuous than if you stitched 1/4 or 1/2 of an inch from the edge.

For this year's football games.

Easy Guide Offered For Lining Coat

If you're remodeling a coat, chances are that the lining will have to be replaced. Select a fabric that slips easily—a type always desirable for lining any garment—and choose a color that is harmonious. Some of the somber colors may be livened with gay plaid or contrasting brighter colors. An inconspicuous dark color, or a color a shade darker than the coat itself, is always a good guide.

Remove the old lining from the coat, rip it apart and use this as a pattern for cutting a new lining. Since most lining fabrics are of a slippery material, such as rayons and taffets, it is perhaps best to baste them before sewing.

Remember that the linings are sewed on the outside, as the inside of the lining is actually the outside when it is placed in the coat. You will have to attach the lining with hand stitching and this is done with small stitches so that the material will not slip loose.

While you are sewing on the coat, you will press it on the wrong side making sure all the seams are flat. However, when the coat is completely finished, the final pressing job will have to be done on the outside. Have a fairly heavy cloth well dampened, and lay this over the right side of the material before you run the iron over it. Hang carefully and the coat will be ready to wear.

Handling Materials

Labels on ready-made garments and fabrics are an important guide to their care and will repay you well in the long run. These directions will tell you what temperature to use for pressing, as well as tips on the types of cleaning necessary.

If your label tells you wool is preshrunk, you won't have to shrink it yourself. If not shrunk, do it thus: Wet a three-yard piece of muslin, wring it out and lay over the wool. Roll both fabrics together smoothly and allow to stand for 12-hours. Then remove wool, hang to dry. You may then be sure there will not be shrinkage after the garment is cut and sewed.

If you are an inexperienced seamstress, select only small prints and checks so that they can be matched easily to other pieces during the sewing.

Fashion Forecast

Accessories are an important wardrobe brightener. Look for flowers, jewelry and interesting stitches in gloves if you want to be in fashion.

The romantic influence is still predominant in many fashions. You'll see it in suits with flared tails, in those colorful apron effects for dresses and skirts, and in very, very "minkie hats."

Look for velvet and ruffles—feathers, too—in dressy costumes for the fall. This is a romantic era, and fashion is using that theme, particularly for evening wear.

Beach coats are here in full force this year. Some of them look like robes for the home, except for the material, and others are pert and crisp, about knee-length. Others are made to match the bathing suit

Household Hints

When handles break off teacups, let them do duty as flower pots. With hammer and nail drill a hole in the center of cup for plant drainage. Easy on the drilling through, to keep the brittle china from breaking.

Inexpensive towels can be made at home from white terry toweling 22 inches wide. Allow 1/4 yard for a face towel or a small child's bath towel; for an average bath towel, one yard; for an extra large bath towel, 1 1/4 yards.

If you have a weakness for buttons, but despise making buttonholes, here's what you do. Use the buttons to make attractive lapel ornaments or to trim the edge of a pocket.

To prevent mold or rot, spread out oranges or lemons—do not pile them together.

Never put a dress away immediately after wearing it. Air it to get the wrinkles out.

Lincoln County News and CARRIZOZO OUTLOOK PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY

Entered as second-class matter July 30, 1925, at the Post Office at Carrizozo, New Mexico, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Mrs. Era B. Smith, Editor-Publisher Friday, August 16, 1946

No one ever made a dream come true by dreaming. Dreams come true when the dreamer wakes up and gets to work.

Keeping wages up and prices down is another of those schemes that won't work, and all the maneuvering and organization and effort can't make it work.

When we hear of all the crookedness in high places, the shady deals in which individuals have reaped large profits by questionable methods, it causes us to seriously wonder if there aren't enough honest men in the country to fill the positions of trust.

A local woman said yesterday, one of the four freedoms we heard so much about during the war was freedom from want. It seems to me that we are farther away from this goal than we ever were at any time. There are more things I want now and can't get than at any time in my life that I can recall.

In our opinion President Truman should have vetoed the second OPA bill also. It is a jumbled hodge-podge of half-baked, ill-considered legislation—a crazy quilt patchwork that is going to create more confusion than the old law. It would have been better to have vetoed the bill and let the responsibility lie with the Congress.

A New Name

Does anybody know what a Western pit gate is? Don't everybody speak at once. We didn't know either until we read this description of our western cattle guard in about the finest, biggest and most entertaining weekly newspaper published in Kentucky, or anywhere else, in the world: "The so-called western pit gate is proving popular throughout the county. It is a gateless gateway—if you know what that is. Ten feet in length, three feet deep and around four feet across and covered with iron piping running lengthwise spaced two to three inches, this type of gate is sure guarantee against any form of animal escaping. They just don't dare cross it. This, of course, eliminates the bothersome opening and closing of the ordinary farm gate. However, a supplemental gate of the prevailing type must be provided at another point for livestock on the hoof and for the animal-drawn vehicle."

Coming Exhibit at Fair

Albuquerque, N. M.—The art of canning will have a prominent place in the home Science exhibits at the New Mexico State Fair this year; officials predicted more varied entries in spite of shortages, as preliminary arrangements for this department got under way this week. Meats, vegetables and fruits will be exhibited by contestants from all over the state. Since the contest is an open one, all homemakers are urged by the department to set aside examples of their canning for entry.

1946 rules will be similar to those of previous years. All jars must be labeled with the names and addresses of the exhibitors, and items will be judged on selection, color, pack, condition and flavor. Neatness and cleanliness of containers is also an important factor.

FINANCING BUSINESS IS BANK BUSINESS.

Banks long have been the principal source of helpfulness, inspiration and credit to small business. For example, in the last full pre-war year, tabulation of loans by 5,000 banks (only one-third of the country's banks), totaled 24 million loans to business—a total of 39 billion dollars and an average of $700 per loan.

Lending to small business is truly a big business, and one that banks are best equipped to handle. Today, and in the months and years ahead, when the efforts of small business will be so important in getting our economic machine back on the track, we pledge ourselves to give every possible assistance and to make every possible loan to local business concerns. Come in and talk over your problems with us.

Old Tricks In New Packages

The Better Business Bureau lists 177 ways that tricksters use to defraud the public. People in all walks of life are victimized. Some lose small amounts. Some their life savings. The tricksters play upon human urge to get something for nothing, or to make money fast. In times especially, when money is plentiful, every trick in the bag is being used to separate people from their money and their U. S. Savings Bonds. If a stranger tries to run you into some money-making scheme about which you know little or nothing, take it easy. Investigate the proposition first, and don't sign anything before reading it thoroughly. Here at our bank, we are always ready to help you get the facts before you act. Come in at any time.

THANK YOU
for waiting for delivery of your
NEW CHEVROLET
We are doing our best to see that you get your new car as quickly as possible

We want to thank our customers and prospective customers for your friendly patience while awaiting your new Chevrolet.
"We know it is a hardship to wait for needed transportation; but we believe you will understand that we, and Chevrolet, are as eager to deliver cars as you are to obtain them. Unfortunately, production so far this year is far under expectations. Chevrolet Motor Division sums up the situation thus:
"Even though our rate of production normally exceeds that of any other manufacturer, we have been able to build, up to July 1, only 12.4 per cent as many cars as we had built up to that date in 1941. Production is still far below normal, because of frequent shortages of essential materials and parts. Strike after strike at the plants of our suppliers has seriously impeded our progress toward full production, and the cumulative effect severely hampers every manufacturing and assembly plant. In June we were able to build only 29.2 per cent as many cars as we produced in the same month in 1941."
While production is restricted, so—in proportion—are shipments of cars to us. As production increases, we are assured of getting our proportionate share of the total—and as quickly as cars are received, we will speed deliveries to our customers.

Remember—Our CAR-SERVICE is your best CAR-SEVER. Keep your present car "alive" until you get delivery of your new Chevrolet by bringing it to us for skilled service now and at regular intervals.

A Little Bit of America Transplanted in S. Pacific

BIKINI ISLAND.—There is an unforgettable picture spread before me here in this south Pacific atoll . . . a picture of great beauty and a lesson which portrays the American way.

For tonight as far as the eye can see in a huge arc which marks the curving length of this three-mile-long island thousands of electric lights wink in the soft trade winds and mirror their reflections in the gently swelling waters of the lagoon. Thousands of other lights from the fleet of some 200 ships anchored in array form other patterns of reflected lights, numerous searchlights stab the star-studded sky and the winking lights of ship communications play a soundless tattoo upon the southern night. Red and green riding lights atop the masts sway in the rolling waves and add color to the magical picture in this far-off place.

Yet only a few short months ago this island and the entire atoll of coral reefs and islets was as primitive and wild as when the first Polynesians steered their frail outrigger canoes into Bikini lagoon some 800 years ago. Today the small band of natives has been moved bag and baggage to another larger island and taking their place are thousands of American boys swarming the beaches and playing beneath the coconut palms from which the natives derived their chief food supply.

Paving, Steel Buildings

Concrete walks have taken the place of the rough native trails; coral roads have replaced the sandy paths trod for centuries; rough thatched huts have been replaced by sturdy American structures; handball, basketball, tennis and horseshoe courts edge into the palm groves. Steel towers form installations for radio, television and other communications standing high above the trees. The chug of a gasoline engine, the roar of bulldozer motors and the shouts of men in recreation break the stillness of the night . . . such sounds as have never before been heard since this ancient volcano thrust its crater rim above the waters of the Pacific and the countless millions of coral polyps deposited their skeletons for eons of time to form the rock and sand base of the atoll reefs . . . the crashing splitting thunder of two atomic bombs have broken the peace and stillness of this fairyland. American ships lie upon the coral heads of the lagoon floor . . . 30 fathoms down.

Soon divers will explore their wrecked hulls to note the work of atomic energy and blast upon the workmanship of shipbuilders. Oceanographers will again chart the lagoon bed to see what this man-made force has done to nature's work. Biologists will study the fish life to learn what radio-activity has done to the living tissues. In the years to come an entirely new species of fish may be one result. A radio station, ice plant and electric plant lend their functions to this newest outpost of the American way . . . for where American sailors and American soldiers and airmen go so must go the American way in ships and planes.

Expensive, but Worth It

To date this mass movement of ships and men their supply and maintenance has cost the American taxpayers some $70,000,000 so that our military planners might learn the effect of atomic energy on ships and men and material. And it is costing an approximate half million dollars a day to keep it going . . . going well beyond the summer months for the third test is now scheduled for November and the total cost will run well over $100,000,000. Our congress and our military leaders believe it is well worth it. And they've left nothing undone. A jazz orchestra plays sweet swing music and the sound is wafted across the water from the officers' club where the legend over the doors reads "Up and Atom." And there's plenty of refreshment in liquid form, so plentiful it may be the reason for the shortage in the States and cheap too.

Some 30,000 men are here . . . a little piece of the United States transported to the South Pacific. If we could only see a ferris wheel the scene before us would resemble nothing more than Coney Island.

About one-fourth of the animals exposed to the atom bomb test of July 1 are now dead. This does not include those killed for autopsy. Capt. Shields Warren, radiological expert, says that about one-third of the survivors are in a critical condition from burns. Four goats, all quite sick, have been flown to the U. of Chicago for blood studies. Their ailment is due to radioactive eggs. One hundred and eight white mice have been flown to the National Health Institute at Bethesda, Md., where they will be studied.

PEACE ON EARTH . . . As Old Glory was lowered in the gathering dusk of V-J Day, 1945, a marine kneels in silent prayer beside the grave of a comrade in the cemetery on Okinawa. Peace came for him after the war as it came for many on the battlefields. Insert shows Air Vice Marshall Isitt, New Zealand, as he signs the surrender aboard the USS Missouri in Tokyo bay, while General MacArthur looks on. One year later, on August 14, all the world will honor those who willingly gave their lives that their's might live in peace. While V-J Day marked the end of the war, hundreds of thousands of veterans are still on active duty, finishing their job to see that war never lifts its head in the world. The nation honors all who contributed to success of the war against Japan, many who formerly fought against Germany.

H. C. L. AFTER TWO WARS . . . Following the trend of the cost of living in the United States after World Wars I and II, economists point out that in 1918 and 1919 prices rose spectacularly. Cost of commodities took but slight rises after World War II because of government price controls. Following demise of OPA, prices rose sharply on some staples and articles. This chart compares increases after both wars. It is based on the U. S. bureau of labor statistics' consumers' price index and covers 290 goods and services in 34 large cities throughout the country.

WATER SPOUTED A MILE . . . Power and heat of the fifth atomic bomb charred Bikini lagoon into a caldera of flame, smoke and steam and pitched battleships about like toy boats. The underwater explosion sank the battleship Arkansas and two smaller craft and dealt mortal wounds to the aircraft carrier Saratoga, which sank seven hours after the explosion. Size of water disturbance can be seen in above photograph, by comparison with naval ships still floating.

OFFICIALS' WIVES AID HOME CANNING PROGRAM . . . Mrs. Henry A. Wallace, Mrs. John R. Steelman, Miss Dracole Snyder, Mrs. Robert Shields and Mrs. J. A. Krug did their bit for National Home Food Preservation week by canning peaches at community center in Washington. They are shown with their cans of peaches ready to be placed in canner. Hundreds of wives of U. S. government officials took active part in the program to preserve to-be-grown food.

QUEEN OF INDIAN TRIBES . . . Miss America of the Indian Nations, Princess Dorothy Lee Kaim, selected in a recent competition at Atlantic City. Princess Kaimwater has traded her tribal costume for American sports attire.

MODERN CRUSOE ON BIKINI . . . George A. (Gator) Mehlis, Orlando, Fla., operator of a navy power crane at Bikini atoll, where atomic bomb tests have been carried out, believes he is being successful on the job. He survived the final test.

MISSIONARY GETS POST

WASHINGTON.—Here's the inside story on the sudden appointment of John Leighton Stuart as new American ambassador to China.

Originally, President Truman planned to appoint Lt. Gen. Al Wedemeyer as ambassador to China. As a matter of fact, Wedemeyer's nomination already had been typed and was on the President's desk. However, last week General Marshall sent Truman an urgent cable advising that he finally had found one man who could act as ambassador and who was on good terms with both the Communists and the Chiang Kai-shek group. Marshall also pointed out that Stuart had lived in China for 50 years and spoke fluent Chinese.

So, 24 hours later, President Truman nominated J. Leighton Stuart to be American ambassador to China.

ARGENTINE ATOM BOMBS

The fascist Argentine government has completed elaborate plans for going into the atomic-bomb business on a scale parallel to that of the U. S.

The Argentine Scientific association has proposed and received approval of the Argentine war and navy departments to finance importation and operations of the best nuclear physicists in the world, including German refugees.

The Argentine government is guaranteeing these scientists unlimited funds, complete scientific liberty and absolute personal security from police terror. The head of one important Argentine scientific group informed the Peron government that Nazi scientists are doing well but still are not operating rapidly enough to satisfy the Argentinians.

ATOMIC RAT RACE

U. S. atomic delegate Bernie Baruch has confided to friends that he is much opposed to having chairmanship of the atomic commission rotate each month. This means that Australian Foreign Minister Herbert Evatt, United Nations dynamo, now steps down as chairman.

The Australian is about the only member of the atomic commission who has Soviet Envoy Gromyko afraid of him. The other day Gromyko opposed a decision by majority rule, proposing a two-thirds vote instead. Evatt was on the Russian in a flash.

"It's not necessarily true, Mr. Gromyko, that the majority is always wrong," rebuked the Australian.

On another occasion, Gromyko was protesting against the Baruch plan. Instead he proposed immediate destruction of all existing atomic bombs and release of the atomic bomb secret by the U. S.

When Bernie Baruch, listening through his ear phone, heard this he became almost apoplectic. But before Baruch could speak, Evatt took on the Russian again.

"You know, Mr. Gromyko," said Evatt, "not all the parliaments in the world would approve all the proposals that you make here. If they did, it would be a different world."

NO CONGRESSMAN IS GUILTY

The case of Andrew Jackson May and his backstage wire-pulling for war profiteers illustrates two defects in our politico-congressional system which sooner or later must be cured.

1. The almost-life-or-death power of the chairman of any congressional committee over executive branches of the government.

2. The fact that certain congressional districts are so dominated by political bosses that no matter what a man does in Washington he can't be defeated for reelection at home.

Congressman May comes from a district in the Kentucky mountains, many of whose people now regard him as something of a hero. They believe that Jack May can do no wrong. Prior to May's incumbency his district sent a Republican, John Langley, to congress. He landed in jail for bootlegging. But even after he had been convicted, Langley was re-elected to congress. And when it became clear that Langley could not adequately represent his district while behind bars, his loyal constituents sent his wife to congress. Actually, the great majority of congressmen are absolutely honest. Misguided and frequently wrong they may be, but most of them are honest.

BIKINI AFTERMATH

Air Chief General "Toughy" Spaatz is not happy over the air force's role in the first Bikini test. The bombardier and pilot, who dropped the bomb more than a thousand feet wide of the mark, are in the doghouse permanently. Both will be transferred to routine assignments. General Spaatz feels there is no excuse for their wide miss. . . . The British cabinet has decided to settle 250,000 anti-Russian members of the Polish army in England permanently.

Our Elder Best
Sixty old Thaddeus Stevens once arrived late at a hearing of the committee on elections. The two speakers engaged in violent debate were unknown to him, so he asked a friend, "Who are these men, and what's the point?"
"There's not much point in it," was the reply. "They're both scoundrels."
"Well," Stevens asked, "which is the Republican scoundrel? I want to side with him!"

Poor Beginning
"Your face seems familiar but I do not recall who you are," said the state's attorney to an office visitor.
"You should know me — I'm the first man you sent to the penitentiary."
"You're mistaken. The first one I sent up was a man named Fields."
"Oh, no, this was before you were elected — when the court appointed you to defend me."

OVERNIGHT GUEST

By BEN AMES WILLIAMS

THE STORY BEGINS EARLY: Adam, a... operator, Inspector Tope and Mrs. Tope... found a man murdered in a camp... operated by Bee Dewain. He was... killed by Mr. Ledford, head of...
England utilities. Ledford's friend...
found in hospital with head injuries...
his murderer, Kell, was found, admitted...
he hit Holdom on head, upon Holdom's... orders. Kell was not known where...
Mrs. Kell was, Joe Dane, assistant D.A.,... returned with Holdom and learned from...
handyman Friday that a woman and man... had been there at time of murder and...
the man was called Ray, which might...
have been Ledford, as his name was...
Rube.

CHAPTER X

He admitted: "Matter of fact, I... thought there was two women in...
there. I thought she said 'Ruth,'... till Earl here told me it was a man...
and a woman."

Joe took both men in his car back... to his home in North Madderson. Here... were vital witnesses; he meant to...
keep their information to himself...
for a while.

"And you stay here," he directed.
"Don't talk to anybody till I come... for you, or send for you. See?"

He went back to the courthouse, where...
Pringle still held his vigil over...
Holdom. "He's been asleep most... of the time," the detective reported.
"Seems kind of dopey. Don't say a... word."

Joe nodded. "I've got a hot trail,"...
he reported. "Have you heard anything...
from Mat?"

"Why, yes," Pringle told him. "They... got that car out of the quarry."...
Telephoned for Will Banion's ambulance... here a minute ago. Mrs. Kell was...
in it. Dead."

Joe nodded again, loftily. "Naturally,"... he agreed. "Well, I'll run out...
there, take charge."

He made speed toward the quarry. Beyond...
Dewain's Mill, in the front seat of a... car stopped at a filling-station there, he...
saw Tope sitting alone, his head bowed... apparently asleep. But Joe did not... stop. He had no desire to share with...
this later-coming discoverer now. . . .

Mr. Eberly came out to meet them... and remembered Adam, and said...
gravely: "I heard your car. Sorry... the gate was locked." He smiled in...
faint mirthless fashion. "More... trouble, Bruce?"

"Not for you, sir," Adam told him...
and he introduced Inspector Tope, leaving... it to Tope to explain their presence...

Tope handed Eberly that letter from...
Ledford. "Miss Dewain thought you'd... want it," he said. "As long as it's...
this afternoon Mr. Ledford wants you...
to meet him."

Eberly read the letter swiftly; he... looked at Tope. "Miss Dewain showed...
this to you?"

"Yes sir," Tope confessed; and he... said briefly: "Mr. Eberly, I don't want...
to try to tell you all that's happened...
If I told you the story, you'd think...
more about the questions you want...
to ask than about the questions I'm... asking you. Mind if I don't start... explaining at all?"

Eberly was white and still. "What is...
it you want to know?"

"Why, that's fine," said Tope contentedly.
"You know Mr. Ledford pretty well, don't you?"

"I'm probably his most intimate friend,"...
Eberly glanced at Adam.

At the Mill, Bee and Mrs. Tope were...
here to greet them. After the first...
moment, Bee caught Adam's arm, drew...
him aside.

"What's happened?" she demanded...
softly. "Where have you been?"

Adam saw Whitlock move, although... to speak, knew what the other was... about to say. It was early Friday... morning, before she could have...
known that her brother had not...
come home as he planned, that...
Miss Ledford had set these men... upon the trail. But Tope touched...
Whitlock's arm, restraining him; spoke... himself instead.

"Well, ma'am, that's all right,"...
And he added: "I want to leave Mr. Whitlock... here. He's expecting a phone call... from Mr. Myers. Can he stay?"

"Of course," she assured him; and... then Tope was saying good-by. Outside... the old man said gruffly: "Whitlock... and Beal stay here till you hear from... me." And he added: "Your job is to... see that nothing happens to that old...
lady."

"I don't look for anything," Tope...
admitted. "Your being here will prevent...
But—you stay."

And he turned and with Adam by his... side strode toward the car. Whitlock...
gaped with bewilderment, swung...
away to where Beal waited in the...
other machine.

At the Mill, Bee and Mrs. Tope were...
here to greet them. After the first...
moment, Bee caught Adam's arm, drew...
him aside.

"What's happened?" she demanded...
softly. "Where have you been?"

"Lost in an impenetrable forest,"... he assured her, chuckling. "When it...
comes to giving a man directions, you're... a total loss. What were you trying... to do, get rid of us for good and...
all? We didn't find the lodge till...
daylight."

"Idiot!" she protested. "You didn't...
listen! But it's hours since daylight...
Where have you been since? And why... did he bring Mr. Eberly here? And...
what did you find out?"

"Well," he said, "we called on...
Miss Ledford. It was she who put...
Whitlock and Beal on this thing, because... her brother wrote her that he was...
sick."

Killing Heel Flies With Power Sprays

Cattle Grubs Can Be Eliminated Profitably

By W. J. DRYDEN
The cattle grub and heel fly are different forms of the same insect. Starting in the spring, when it is in the fly form, the heel fly lays eggs in hairs of the animals. These eggs hatch into maggots which work their way through the hide and enter the muscle tissues. During the next nine months they migrate through the internal organs of the cattle and come out along the back.

Cysts are formed and the maggots then turn into grubs about an inch long. In the spring they work their way out of the holes in the hide and fall to the ground. Within a few weeks they turn into heel flies and the yearly cycle repeats itself. The U.S.A. reports an annual loss of $100,000,000 in milk, meat and leather due to cattle grubs and heel flies.

While the use of a 1 1/2 rotenone dust has proven effective, many will find it advisable to treat with a power spray. For this method either of the following solutions will be effective: 20 pounds rotenone sulphur with 100 gallons water or cube or derris, 10 pounds, sodium lauryl sulfate, 2 ounces added to 100 gallons of water. There are many good commercial preparations on the market.

By W. J. DRYDEN

The grand champion bull at the 1945 National Hereford show, and owned by the Circle M. Hereford ranch, Senatobia, Miss., and illustrated here, will illustrate this remarkable beef type of cattle. It is distinguished from all other beef breeds by its red body and white face. The white color is found also on the underline, flank, crest, switch, breast and below the knee and hock.

Could This Be a New Corn Hybrid?

THE RECORDS, as compiled by FBI, show the percentage of crime in proportion to population has migrated from Chicago, New York and the East to the Rocky Mountain and West coast states, and to the South, especially Florida and Kentucky. The difference is the newspapers of these sections do not boast of their crime supremacy, as did those of Chicago.

GRASSROOTS

WRIGHT A. PATTERSON

Released by Western Newspaper Union.
HOOVER, TOO, STRUGGLED WITH SELF-WILLED CONGRESS
UNFORTUNATE IS THE President who, in times of emergency, must deal with what he considers an obstreperous congress. President Truman was by no means the first chief executive to have such an experience. One of the comparatively recent occurrences of the same kind fell to the lot of President Hoover. At the congressional elections in the middle of his term, the Democratic party captured control of the house of representatives. When the banking emergency arose and became especially acute during the last three months of the Hoover administration, the President was entirely dependent on a Democratic house for any legislation needed to meet that emergency.

During the months between the presidential election and the inauguration of Mr. Roosevelt the banks were falling by the dozens every day. Congress was in session in December, and would continue in session until the day of the inauguration, March 4. Mr. Hoover did not need congressional action to close the banks but he did need action before they could be opened. Not to reopen them quickly would mean financial chaos for the nation. President Hoover called the Democratic leaders of the house to a conference. He explained his difficulty; showed them the proclamation he wished to issue closing the banks, and the bill embodying legislation needed to make a reopening possible. He asked their co-operation in passing that legislation.

Those leaders told Mr. Hoover the house would pass the desired legislation only at the request of the president-elect, Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Hoover sent the whole story to Hyde Park, including the statement of the Democratic house leaders regarding the passage of the legislation if Mr. Roosevelt requested such action and assuring him of full credit for such action. There was no reply. A second appeal, in January was made, that time sent by special messenger. The reply to that was that Mr. Roosevelt would be going to Warm Springs in February, and would stop in Washington for a few hours to talk it over.

In the latter part of February Mr. Roosevelt called at the White House but declined to make any request to the Democratic majority in the house saying it was not his problem until after March 4, and he would act at that time.

On March 5 the new president closed the banks by issuing the proclamation prepared by Hoover, but with the Roosevelt signature. He called a special session of congress for the purpose of passing the identical bill prepared by the Hoover administration that would make it possible to reopen the banks.

Between the time when the outgoing administration had asked for co-operative help and the March 5 date hundreds of banks had failed, millions of dollars had been lost by depositors, but the incoming administration was credited with constructive action. Such is the way the game of politics is played. Blue chips are not wasted even in times of emergency. President Truman's demands on congress may be wrong or they may be right but wrong or right the game of politics must be played according to political rules.
