CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, MARCH 22, 1946

Outlook Vol. 36—No. 47

ANNUAL MEETING OF HIGHWAY 54 ASSOCIATION

A meeting and banquet were held Thursday of last week, at the Southern Pacific Hotel in Carrizozo, for members of Highway 54 Association, who met here to discuss ways and means for completion of the famous road.

Mr. Fred Healy, office engineer, from the State Highway Department at Santa Fe, was present, as were representatives from almost all the towns through which the highway passes. Mr. Healy told the group that after the 1945 contracts were completed, that only 53 miles of unpaved road would be left in the state along this highway. Mr. Healy also stated that seventeen miles would be paved in 1947, south of Santa Rosa between Santa Rosa and Vaughn.

Dr. J. P. Turner of Carrizozo, was elected president of the association, and Mr. Dant King of Tusarosa was elected secretary-treasurer. Dr. R. E. Blaney, who has served as president for ten years, was retained an honorary president, and a resolution was passed thanking him for his long and faithful service.

Residents of this town and county are profoundly grateful to highway agencies, and to the state and federal governments for the fine program which will last over a period of seven to nine months, and will eventually make 54 one of the best all-the-year highways in the southwest.

Other Lincoln County roads are also booked for some substantial improvements. Roads entering Capitan and Ruidoso are to be blacktopped, or to receive all-weather gravel, curbs and bridges are to be rebuilt and widened. Altogether more than we had anticipated for 1946, but we are pleased, and this will mean a lot to everybody in this and adjoining counties.

VISIT SANTA FE

Mrs. Mad Jordan and daughter, Elizabeth, went to Santa Fe the past weekend to visit the Joanne Jordan family. They were accompanied by Marvin Smoot, who enjoyed himself immensely in the Capitol City, and plans a return trip.

Mrs. Selma Degitz left Saturday morning for Hurley, to spend some more time with her daughter, before returning to her home in Wilmington, California.

Mr. Robert Valdez, of Santa Fe, is state chairman for the 1946 Jackson Day Dinner campaign. Mr. Valdez was selected by the State Democratic leaders. March 23rd is the date.

MORE BOOKS RECEIVED

There is at the County Library another assortment of books from the State Extension Library, Santa Fe. There is a wider variety in this shipment than any we have received. They treat of gardening, home-making, history, biography, world affairs, popular science, etc. The most of them, however, are fiction. They are free to any one in the county, and are given out for a two week period. A fine of two cents per day is charged for books kept beyond two weeks if a renewal is not made. Parents are urged to see that their children bring their books to the library on time so that there will be no fine.

To The Voters Village of Carrizozo

We the undersigned, having lived in Carrizozo a long time and our interests are within the Village of Carrizozo, and knowing the present Village Council and Mayor are conducting the business affairs in a business-like manner, and to the interest of all the people of Carrizozo and have a progressive program laid out that will develop our Village and make it a better town in which to live. We feel they should continue to look after and manage the business affairs of Carrizozo.

LAY DAY AT WHITE SANDS

Play Day at White Sands National Monument is scheduled for Saturday, April 13th, and indications are that the biggest crowd in the history of the monument will attend. All schools are invited to participate. The program will start at 10 A. M., with competitive ball games between schools. Sank-Tunnell-of-Weed, in charge of athletic events, says that all entries must be in by April 1st. Advice should be given as to whether the entries are for grades or for high school competition. Each school is to furnish their own bat and other equipment. Ribbon prizes for 1st and 2nd places in all events will be given. The New Mexico School for the Deaf will be present for wrestling matches and the Indians dances are scheduled for 4 P. M.

The Old Settlers reunion is scheduled from 1 to 2 P. M. Every one should bring their own lunch.

Officers of the New Mexico State police, the National Park Service and Border Patrol will assist in handling the traffic.

WALKERS TO RETIRE

With the closing of the Lyric on the night of the 31st, the show, which has been operated by Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker for the past fourteen years, will pass into other hands. The Walkers have furnished Carrizozo and surrounding territory with excellent entertainment and high class shows. They bought the Lyric sixteen years ago and leased it for two years, later taking full charge themselves. They will be missed from the show, but we are pleased to state that they will continue to reside at their nice home here and to take part in town affairs as usual. Mr. Walker says that he wants to thank the people for their cooperation and liberal patronage, and that only ill health is responsible for his retirement. They wish for Joylock and Sifton, the new owners, the same success and co-operation that they have enjoyed.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL SCHOOL BOND ELECTION

CAPITAN NEWS

W. O. Mills, Correspondent

(Help us make this column interesting by giving us the items you know.)

The revival which closed at the First Baptist Church, Sunday night, was considered by those attending to be one that accomplished a great deal toward reviving the church, and creating an interest in Christianity in the community. The visible results were good, with eighteen coming for baptism, and church membership, two by letter. All of these were young people but two. Rev. R. A. Long, Association Missionary, brought the evangelistic messages, which were of special interest to the young people. Baptismal services for 13 of the candidates were held at Carrizozo Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist Church here.

Miss Wenda Hickman, of Bakersfield, California, left Thursday for her home. Miss Hickman, who is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Hickman, of Capitan, has been visiting them for several days. She is a former resident of Capitan, having attended school here.

Mrs. Bernice McCoullough, teacher in the High School in Capitan, visited her sister in Santa Fe. She went as far as Albuquerque with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Knudsen, who attended the State Basketball Tournament there, in which the Tigers won over St. Mary's but lost to Silver City.

The weekly social of the young people of the First Baptist Church was well attended with nineteen present. Games were played and a good time was had. Refreshments of cookies and butterscotch pudding were served by the refreshment committee. The young people began work on their Easter music, Wednesday night, and will meet each Wednesday night to work on the special program which they plan to give on Easter, which includes a playlet. All young people not now enlisted in some other church are invited to come and take part in these activities.

Joe Wigley, the man who has kept the village of Capitan going during the war and post-war labor shortage, holding more jobs than any one man we know of, was painfully burned Tuesday night, when he took hold of a hot relief valve. His left thumb, fore finger and the palm of his hand were burned badly but it is not expected to cause serious trouble. He has notified Capitan residents that if the job requires two hands, to get someone else.

The City Hall was a very busy center in our town Monday morning. Mr. Serkland and Mr. MacIntyre from the Reclamation Service, were here from their regional office in Amarillo, Texas, to explain the high line being erected from the Alamogordo proving grounds to Hollywood, New Mexico. Also meeting at the City Hall were Mrs. League and Mr. Lecher with the Otero Co-op. Their business being to offer purchase of the Capitan electric system.

Mr. Hunsaker, from Roswell, has been in Capitan, organizing a Cub Scout Pack. They have a membership of 13 boys. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sell and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Ferguson were elected Den leaders.

Mrs. Frank Titsworth, mother of Marjorie Titsworth, has gone to Temple, Texas for an operation at the Scott-White Hospital.

Mrs. J. W. Earling received a wire Monday morning relating the sad news of her father's death.

The Capitan Chamber of Commerce recently organized, is really getting off to a good start. They now boast of 70 members. We believe this will be a good thing for the town and want everyone to get behind it and make a go of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Carol Anderson have moved back to Wichita Falls, Texas. Mr. Anderson has gone into the sheet metal business, in which he was engaged before the war shortage of material forced him to quit business. His plans for his place are not known but it is thought that he will either sell or lease it. The Andersons are missed by a number of friends in the surrounding community.

Mrs. Biri Mitchell and her brother, Charles Pruitt, visited their mother, Mrs. Pearl Pruitt, last week-end. Charles, who was in the armed forces as a chaplain's assistant, is attending college in Albuquerque. He is studying to be a beauty operator. He is living in the home of his sister, there.

J. A. Beecroft was in Roswell Tuesday, on business for Mary's Cafe.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Dill, of Benton Harbor, Mich., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Cloud. Mr. Dill is a brother of Mrs. Cloud. They are trying to locate near Capitan, on a farm.

Tommy Rogers, stepon of Mr. L. E. Powell, who was in the navy for three years and in the Southwest Pacific one year, is at home again. He is in partnership with Mr. Powell in the Capitan Motor Service, having charge of the service station.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. William Gallacher celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary of marital bliss, Tuesday, March 12th, and Mr. Gallacher plans for them a trip to Mexico City to celebrate the event.

WE HOPE SO!

Some clipping bureau has sent us the following: "Standard Oil announces plans to drill four test wells in Western Lincoln County, New Mexico in 1946." That is all the clipping has to say. As for us, we are wondering where and when the drilling will start. "Western Lincoln County" might be several nearby spots. We only hope it is true.

The Mayor and City Council of Carrizozo, adopted a pay-as-they-go plan for the city administration of business affairs that has worked well for the past two years. It has resulted in the entire payment of all water bonds, and in the reduction of the city debt. Long range financial planning and specific improvements for the city have been recommended. Post-war plans are for extension of water service as soon as materials and help are available. Plans have already matured for another standpipe, which is to be placed on the East side to furnish adequate water supplies to residents and business houses. Cheaper electric power rates, a new hospital, and any number of substantial improvements are in prospect.

Carrizozo Woman's Club

The Carrizozo Woman's Club met Friday the 15th, meeting was called to order by the president Mrs. Ralph Petty. The Star Spangled Banner was sung, Mrs. Morgan leading with Mrs. Barnes at the piano, salute to the flag followed, then "Dixie" was sung. Mrs. Wallace, general field chairman of Red Cross, asked the Woman's Club to sponsor the drive in town. Six members were asked to help with the drive. Mrs. Degitz a former president was present. Mrs. Moore presented the program. Mrs. Rickerson read an interesting paper on fashions in Mexico.

Jane Gallacher and Mary Vidaurri entertained us with a Spanish Lunch Jarabe Tapatio, in costume.

The hostesses Mesdames Lemon, P. M. Johnson, P. E. Johnson, Karlin, served lovely refreshments, carrying out the St. Patrick color.

—Mrs. Finley, Reporter.

The Pettys have sold their property at Las Vegas and have purchased at Hot Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Petty were in Hot Springs last Sunday.

Mrs. S. O. Spoles had as guests last week her sister, Mrs. J. A. Callahan daughter and Mrs. Callahan's son, J. A. Callahan, Jr., and his wife, all of Bristol, Va., and Mrs. Callahan's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Watson, of Montgomery, Alabama.

Seven people were injured in an automobile wreck at Capitan Sunday morning about 1 o'clock when a car which was driven by Tommy Rogers, and another by a Spanish American young man ran together, head on. The car driven by Rogers was a total wreck. The other car was damaged. Rogers, Miss Irene Rogers, and Miss Esther Robinson suffered bruises and cuts, Miss Trujillo received a broken leg and Miss Herrera a fractured leg. All were treated at Dr. Wildman's office.

One battle more, this is a war. We've got to win this one.

DEARS ACCOUNT OF SON'S DEATH

(Printed by request)
J. G. Atkins has returned from Los Angeles, Calif., where he went to secure information from Douglas R. DeRome, the last man to see Atkins on Raymond N. Atkins, alive. He was killed on Okinawa, May 2, 1945.

This is the story DeRome told the father of Raymond: "While a battle was raging on New Britain, two Japanese riflemen, while fleeing from U. S. Marine fire, stumbled and fell into the trench on top of Raymond, who was giving first aid to a fallen Marine. Raymond pulled his .45 and killed the two Japs—but a captain in a nearby trench came over and did a little bit of shooting at the dead Japs and then blamed credit for their death. Raymond was just like me—he never needed too much credit or any bonuses—so he let the report go at that.

"The next battle in which Raymond took part was on Peleliu Island where he fighting was bitter and the losses were heavy. About 200 Marines were cut off from their supporting forces and the entire group wiped out, with the exception of Raymond, who was under a dead Marine. Hand grenades fell in the trenches all night and the group was given up as dead by the entire company. However, Raymond survived the night battle with only a shrapnel wound in his right arm and when morning came he crawled out of the trench and made his way to the remaining forces. He said to me: 'I believe I was surely scared all night.'

"The next engagement with the enemy was on Okinawa where very little opposition was encountered during the first two weeks, then we ran into Jap snipers. Raymond was killed while giving first aid to a Marine, who was also killed at the same time."

That is the account of the activities of Raymond as recounted to me in the lobby of the San Carlos hotel in Los Angeles, Sunday, March 3rd, and I am repeating the words of DeRome because I believe Raymond's friends would like to know something of his experiences during his last year in the service of his country, the father stated.

WOMAN'S CLUB

of Capitan elected the following officers: Mrs. J. W. Earling, re-elected president; Mrs. H. W. Dodds, vice president; Mrs. T. B. Smoot, secretary; Miss Ruth White, treasurer; Mrs. R. A. Knudsen, historian; Mrs. R. R. Morgan, parliamentarian.

Trinity Methodist Church Special Lenten Services.

Each Thursday evening at 7:30 we will have our lesson on the Parables of Jesus.

Thursday, March 21 will be an introduction of The Parables of Jesus. Thursday, March 28 The Parable of The Foundations.

We invite the general public to enjoy these services with us. We want a free discussion of these lessons in these meetings,
John J. Loudin, Minister.

Mr. L. F. Dryden, village clerk of Ruidoso was a business visitor here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Robert of Albuquerque visited Carrizozo relatives Sunday.

Joe Ventura plans to open the skating rink at Harry Miller's place Sunday, March 24.

Mr. John W. Harkey of the Harkey Lumber Co., bought the home next to the Methodist church owned by the Rev. John L. Lawson of Cimarron.

The Red Cross Drive Nearing Completion

Workers throughout Lincoln County are collecting for the annual Red Cross Drive. The drive started March 1 and ends the last of the month. The Lincoln County quota this year is $2100.

Reports coming in from over the county indicate that the drive will be successful and that the quota will be reached by the end of the month.

The Carrizozo Women's Club is sponsoring the drive here. Mrs. Mildred Nicholas and Mrs. Jane Turner have charge of the business drive. Those volunteering to work in the residential section and otherwise assist were: Mrs. Edna Gallacher, Miss Jane Gallacher, Mrs. Joe Morgan, Mrs. Mae Shafer, Margaret Stearns, Mrs. Mary Vidaurri, Mrs. Ruth Rickerson, Mrs. Edith Crawford, Mrs. Laura Norman, Z. Manire and Mrs. Ruth Rickerson are chairmen of the county wide drive.

Although the war is over there is still much for the Red Cross to do. The three greatest needs this year are for: Veterans' Work; Overseas Work. Local Needs: The local home service work will go on for many years. This is concerned with the needs of the servicemen, veterans and their families. Mrs. Crawford, Home Service Secretary states that the work is heavier now than during the war. Other local needs include such Red Cross programs as disaster preparation, production, home nursing, first aid and any programs which the county chapter wishes to participate in.

The chairmen wish to express their appreciation for the help of all volunteers throughout the county.

"Your Red Cross Must Carry On."

If an Income Tax return has not been turned in, better late than never. Everybody who made over $500 in 1945 is supposed to turn in a report. For those who have had money held out by employer, your only way to get any part of this back is to make out a return. Better make out a return if you have not already done so. Atty. Elfred H. Jones will help you make out the report.

REPORT ON THE RUSSIANS.....

INSTALLMENT SEVEN

Our Leningrad trip comes to a climax with a big dinner given in Eric's honor by Popkov, whose title I suppose would be Mayor of Leningrad. Anyway, he is head of the local Soviet and more important still, he is for this region Stalin's right hand in the organization of the Communist Party, second only to Zdanov. Like an American city boss, he runs the town, regardless of what title he holds.

Popkov apologizes because his wife and family were evacuated and cannot meet us. It is the first time this has happened in Russia. So far, these important Bolsheviks have entertained us like Moslem princes—without mentioning their hidden families.

Then at Eric's request he tells of the siege. He was in command the whole time.

The palace dining hall and table were what you would expect, something out of an eighteenth century set in the movies. We were impressed and showed it, and this pleased Popkov, who had settled into his great throne at the head of the table.

The dinner now began to jog along. Popkov turned loose with a couple of Soviet funny stories, one of which was mildly dirty and the other mildly anti-Semitic. I begin with the latter.

"It seems," said Popkov, or rather the interpreter for him, "that the First Imperialist War of 1914-1917 created such a rumptus that it penetrated Heaven, so the Lord God sent Saint Peter down to find out what was the matter. Next day he got a telegram: URGENT. NOT HAVING PROPERLY COUNTER-SIGNED TRAVEL PERMIT HAVE BEEN THROWN IN JAIL BY THE CHEKA. PLEASE OBTAIN RELEASE EARLIEST. PETER.

"The Lord God sent Saint Paul, and next day got this telegram: WHILE MAKING INQUIRIES FOR PETER ENCOUNTERED CHEKA POLICE AND NOT HAVING PROPER IDENTITY PAPERS AM HELD IN JAIL FOR INVESTIGATION. IMPORTANT SEND HELP AT ONCE. PAUL.

"So the Lord God sent Saint Jacob, this also being a common Jewish name in Russia, and the following day opened this telegram: PETER AND PAUL RELEASED WITH APOLOGIES SITUATION COMPLETELY IN HAND. AWAIT YOUR FURTHER ORDERS. JACOB, CHIEF OF THE CHEKA."

Popkov, by now, was reasonably mellow, leaning back in his chair. He said he was delighted to have us with him. He hoped we were learning about Russia, which maybe we hadn't understood. Now, for instance, he said, there were some things he certainly didn't understand about our country.

And the principal thing, he said, equating it as, was this: Here we were, fighting a war together, or anyway Russia was fighting, and maybe we would be soon. But in spite of that, we let a Fascist Press exist in America, clearly fascist because it frequently criticized Russia. That, he said, he certainly could not understand; why we let Russia and her leader be criticized in America.

Now, of course, this was Eric's show, but I wanted to handle this one and signaled as much to Eric. He gave me a nod to go ahead.

I said I could well understand his confusion and perhaps could clear it up because I was not a business man but ran a newspaper. America was a free country, and therefore had a free press. And while most Americans supported both President Roosevelt and Russia, all of us would fight anyone who tried to stop criticism of them. There was a society which criticism is held in a trap. This right to criticism, I said, is the most important thing for which we are now fight-

Then a curious thing happened. Some of Popkov's henchmen at the table were old-timers—men in their fifties and sixties. They were smiling and nodding approval. One thin old man even had his hands poised to clap, but then he looked at Popkov and he didn't clap.

At this point Joyce got up and said that in a free country we always criticized our friends. We had been supporting and criticizing the British ever since this war began in 1939, and we saw no reason why we shouldn't do the same with Russia.

Then Eric got up and smoothly settled everything, freedom of the press; Russia, England, and even Popkov, who had been a little bit taken aback by it all, and who now said that this freedom to criticize was a most interesting thing, and he hoped we didn't mind that he had himself used some of this American freedom to criticize America.

So then he filled up his glass and mine, and grinning, said he suspected me of being a khitra moujik, a back-handed Russian slang compliment, which means "sly farmer"—one who knows more than he appears to.

So I said I was sure he was a khitra proletarian, and after that we got along very well. We all liked Popkov. He meets you head-on. He is tough but this is a tough country and only tough men can ride this broncho. Talkers don't last. Kerensky and Trotsky weren't quick enough on the draw. These combination city manager-Little Caesar types are the only ones who can handle it.

We start for the Finnish front and the reporters, against all experience, are hoping. All previous front trips have gone no further than the headquarters of a general. But Eric Johnston, even in America, was promised a look at the fighting.

We drive over one of Russia's few paved highways—from Leningrad to Viipuri, until 1940 Finland's second largest city. Russia took it by the treaty of that year.

In 1941 the Finns again reoccupied it, continued to their old frontier and then dug in a few kilometers beyond. In these trenches they stayed during 1942, 1943 and half of 1944.

They were there until a few weeks ago, when the Russian drive really crashed through their first carefully prepared defense line, and then their second. We are told that they have now been pushed back to their third, just outside Viipuri.

The Russians profited greatly in experience by that little war. They were badly mauled in the first months of fighting because, being overly impressed by the success of German tank tactics in flat, treeless Poland, they had tried to copy them in Finland, a rolling, heavily forested country studded with lakes and swamps.

After early setbacks they corrected their errors. They abandoned all open tactics, brought up their big guns (which are excellent and which they possess in great numbers), banked them hub to hub in front of the Mannerheim line and blew it to bits, after which the Finnish infantry could offer only token opposition to the Red Army masses.

On June 22, 1941, Hitler attacked Russia. As his armies crossed the border he spoke over the radio. Several paragraphs were devoted to praise of Finland's 1940 resistance to Russia. Germany was ready to defend the integrity of little Finland, he said. And even now German troops were on Finnish soil.

Technically this was true. It had been explained to the Finns, who had no foreknowledge of the attack on Russia, that these German divisions were only en route to Narvik.

But the Russians jumped to the conclusion (as Hitler intended they should) that Finland was already in the war. The Finnish version of events is the Russians immediately began bombing Finnish cities, that the Finns sent unanswered notes of protest. Historians will settle this point. At present we only know that the Finnish declaration of war on the Soviets came four days after Hitler's attack, indicating the obvious reluctance of many Finns.

It was a beautiful June day, and the countryside was vividly green. The land is rolling, with patches of woodland and not many houses. We share the road with truckloads of Red Army boys rolling toward the front. None of them seemed to have steel helmets, also rare in Moscow.

Then we pass a curious sight—to our Western eyes—the wounded coming back from the front—heads in bloody bandages, arms in slings, but jolting along in horse-drawn carts. They are the kind we often whisk back across the Atlantic by plane.

Maybe it was not typical. From three creaking wooden carriages it is not safe to assume that human suffering is so cheap in Russia that you take a man to battle by truck but, when his fighting usefulness is gone his name is not valuable, and a horse cart is not enough. Only there were the trucks and the carts on the way back I saw.

We mount the crest of a hill, and below us in the valley and on the hill opposite we see the outworks of the Finnish defense line, behind which they camped from the fall of 1941 until June 12, 1944—about a week ago. The valley is thick with barbed-wire spun like spider web on a stubby forest of waist-high posts. The green hill beyond is scarred with zigzag trenches. A number of Russian tanks pass, big ones and good-looking, on their way up to the front.

Behind us comes a dull roar and we look up to see a formation of Stofmoviks on their way toward the Viipuri front.

Finally at about noon, we arrive at the little village of Terijoki, which I had visited almost five years before when it was a front-line town on the other side of the Russo-Finnish lines.

Kirillov leaves us to visit the local commander who will decide how much farther and by what road we may go to the front.

A quarter of an hour later, he comes back and imperturbably motions us to follow. We drive to the outskirts of Terijoki.

Kirillov strolls over. But the front, we ask.

"The commander has said today we can go no farther. There would be danger."

We argue, plead, expostulate. We express dismay, chagrin, consternation. We point out that we have been nowhere near the front.

"The commander has said no further. Now we picnic."

The Soviet standard of living is a shock to anyone from the Western countries. During the world depression, a number of young English and American workers, intellectually inclined, took passage to the Soviet Union because in this land there is always work for everyone.

Swept away by the enthusiasm of the first few weeks, they surrendered their British or American passports and took out Soviet citizenship. Within a year practically all of them were back, clamoring at the doors of their former embassies, pleading for help to get out of Russia.

It was, of course, impossible. They had freely given up their passports and with them their rights, and under any interpretation of international law they were indistinguishable from any other Soviet citizen, bound to their assigned jobs and with no hope of leaving.

And when they exercised their former Anglo-Saxon rights to protest about living conditions they got the treatment meted out to any other Soviet citizen who stirs up discontent: they were arrested and thrown into labor battalions. All trace of them was lost and no longer could they plead with their embassies in Moscow.

But one man's family made persistent inquiries for news of him, and his legation brought pressure to bear on the Russians for at least some information. So after some months, it was announced that the man had died in his labor camp, that according to law his effects had been sold, and the legation was given a check for 15 roubles to be turned over to his next-of-kin abroad. These relatives, however, would not believe that he was dead, and darkly suspected that it was worth those 15 roubles to the Soviet government to be rid of the tedious inquiries.

Americans frequently express amazement that the Red Army should have been able to resist the German attack, and feel its exploits are a miracle.

The Red Army is good. Russians make good soldiers. They are well disciplined, competent, led, and equipped with good rifles and plenty of heavy artillery which they handle with skill. But this is not all. Soldiers must be young, and the military strength of any nation is determined not only by its total population, but by the number of boys in that population and early training.

Calculator Is Fast As Light

Robot Electronic Machine Solves Hard Problems Like Lightning.

PHILADELPHIA.—"The world's fastest calculating machine" has been unveiled by the war department. It is said that the robot possibly has opened the mathematical way to better living for every man. Better communication and transportation, improved industrial products, superior weather forecasting and general advances in science and engineering may be made possible, the army said, from the development of "the first all-electronic general purpose computer."

The army described the machine as 1,000 times faster than the most advanced calculating machine previously built and declared the apparatus makes it possible "to solve in hours problems which would take years" on any other mathematical machine.

The machine, which can add, subtract, multiply, divide and compute square roots, and do most complex calculations based on those operations is called the "Eniac"—short for "electronic numerical integrator and computer." It also has been nick-named the "mechanical Einstein."

Designed for Army, it was dedicated at the University of Pennsylvania, where it was designed and constructed for the army ordnance department at the university's Moore school of electrical engineering.

Maj. Gen. G. M. Bornes, chief of the ordnance department's research and development service, told reporters prior to the dedication that the new machine would be removed to the army's proving ground at Aberdeen, Md., "to be used in the development of ballistics (the mathematics of weapons) for the safety of this country."

But the army also announced that similar machines could be constructed for the use of industry and science generally as a new mathematical tool in the design of products or the analysis of complex scientific data.

As an example of Eniac's speed, the army said the machine can take a five-digit number, like 63,905, and add it to itself 5,000 times—in one second. If you did such an addition with pencil and paper you'd fill space equivalent to two full pages of a newspaper.

Eniac weighs 30 tons, occupies a room 30 by 50 feet, has 18,000 vacuum tubes and looks like a giant switchboard in a telephone company office, even to tiny lights that flash on and off when a complex brain-tweaker is getting the works.

Uses Electrodes. The machine cost $400,000—including all research and development work—but the army says "future machines of this type can be produced much more cheaply."

While Eniac does its figuring through the magic of modern electronics—actually counting on "electronic fingers"—it employs, basically, the principle of a primitive computing machine known since ancient times.

In effect, Eniac is an electronic big-brother of the "Abacus"—an apparatus which utilizes bead-like counters strung on parallel rods or wires as a means of counting, still in use in the Orient.

Eniac begins computing when punched cards, containing holes corresponding to arithmetical numbers, are fed into the machine.

Inside the machine are thousands of tiny neon light bulbs—arranged in rows of 10, and as the problem is being worked, these lights flash on and off in the proper combinations. Answers come out on other punched cards.

Baby Is Blinded When Boys Set Carriage Afire

NEW YORK.—A five-month-old baby boy, left asleep in his carriage on the sidewalk, was burned critically and permanently blinded, police said, when two small boys set fire to the vehicle. The baby's father, Clyde L. Chadwick, is an employee of the city fire department and resides in the Bronx.

The carriage flames were first seen by Harry Rigka, laundry truck driver. He and Mrs. Josephine Dougherty, resident of an apartment building in which the baby's mother was visiting, lifted the baby out of the carriage and beat out the flames. The baby's mother was attracted to the street shortly afterwards by screams.

A detective said he found two six-year-old boys who admitted setting fire to the vehicle while playing with matches on their way home from school.

Britain Plans 3-Bedroom Flats to Cost $2 a Week

LONDON.—Health Minister Aneurin Bevan announced new housing subsidies designed as local authorities can provide unfurnished three-bedroom apartments for an average rental of 18 shillings ($2) a week.

The annual cost of the subsidies for each 100,000 sq. ft. block was estimated at $18,000,000. Of this amount, $2,000,000 would be provided by the government.

DANGER OF COLLECTIVISM PRESENT IN AMERICA

THE GREATEST, right-now, danger we Americans face is collectivism or state socialism. In Germany they called it Nazism, in Italy, Fascism, in Russia, it is Communism. They are practically all one and the same thing. They substitute the interest of the mass for that of the individual. They wipe out the individual's opportunity of development. They promise security, the assurance of something desirable without effort. Any one of them foisted upon America would mean the passing of our free enterprise system. It would mean bureaucratic bosses to plan for us. We would live and do as such bureaucratic bosses direct. It would mean the regulation and regimentation of every citizen. It is all not so far away as we think. Back of its coming are the economic disturbances with which we have been afflicted. The demand, on the part of labor, for higher wages and lower prices of commodities.

The effort to force the government to take over production, and the effort is all too near to being successful. Should it succeed we will be a totalitarian state. As individuals we will have nothing we can call our own. Ambition will be valueless and dead. America will have been made over, not because we desired it, but because we were asleep.

ADVERTISING INCREASES DEMAND FOR PRODUCTS

UNTIL HE HAD TOLD the people about it, the man who invented a superior mousetrap would not see a throng beating a path to his door. Demand, created by advertising, would produce the throng.

American inventive genius, supplemented by American advertising, has made of us the greatest producing nation of the modern world. Genius, alone, could not have done the job. It took more than the genius of the inventor to put more automobiles per each 1,000 of population on the roads of America; to put more radios, automatic refrigerators, telephones, bath tubs, home heating furnaces, electric irons, toasters and the thousand and one conveniences we enjoy in our homes, than is true of any other people. Demand for these conveniences was created by advertising. Because of that demand, jobs were created and jobs at a higher wage scale than any other people have ever known made the purchase of these conveniences possible.

Advertising created that keen American competition that is the life blood of our economic system. The methods of attracting customers included lowering prices with a smaller margin of profit on each sale, effect by a larger number of sales created by advertising that paid its own way.

Advertising has created increased markets for the farm products of America. The food processor produces a new cereal. He gives it a brand name, and creates a demand for it by advertising that name. That demand means an increased consumption of the grain from which the cereal is made, and the farmer's profit from an increased market. The meat packer gives a name to his processed products. His advertising creates demand for those products, and assures a more staple demand for the farmer's food animals. Through advertising, a demand is created for many things that were considered as waste, and so enables the processor to pay higher prices for the food animals, as well as enabling him to sell at lower prices because of eliminating the waste.

RETAILERS AND PRODUCERS BENEFIT BY ADVERTISING

THE MERCHANT shares in the advantage provided by advertising of branded commodities that has created a consumer demand. By announcing to the people of his community that he has desired brands in stock he attracts the patronage of those who want them.

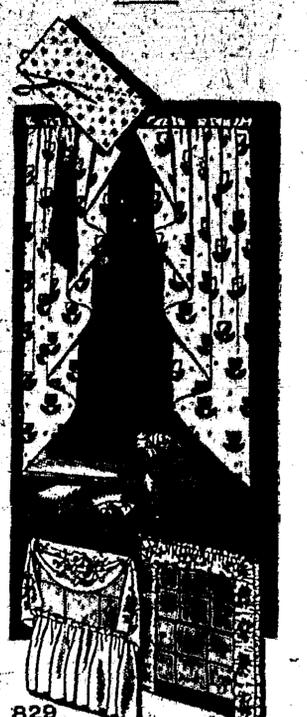

SO IT IS that advertising benefits all of us. By increasing demand it makes more production, and more jobs, possible. The larger production reduces unit costs, resulting in lower prices to the consumer.

There are those theorists who propose to "make over" our America, who tell us advertising is an economic waste. The fallacy of that is in line with their fallacies on other things, including their advocated state socialistic government. They are not safe guides to follow.

WE ARE SADLY in need of a Money we can lead us out of the wilderness of confusion, and show us definite and detailed ways of preserving the freedom that is our heritage, and which we greatly value. Glittering generalities are not enough. We want the way and how details.

INVITATIONS WITHOUT a date are about as satisfying as a meal without food.

TEACHING A CHILD VALUE OF PENNIES

A child of a wise mother will be taught from early childhood to be content with a few pennies. He will learn that every penny counts. He will learn that every penny is earned. He will learn that every penny is saved. He will learn that every penny is used. He will learn that every penny is counted. He will learn that every penny is valued.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Variety is supposed to be the spice of life, but so are accidents in a baseball training camp.

"Why is it?" one Cardinal wanted to know. "That a fellow can be smart in many ways, but dumb when he gets into football or baseball? Or why he can be pretty dumb until he gets into some athletic competition, when he may be smarter than almost anybody?"

This is a fair question. Does anyone recall the most intelligent member of the old Giant team from 1908 through 1913? I can give you his name. He is better known as Bonehead Merkle — the Giant who forgot to touch second base in 1908. Yet Fred Merkle was the best educated member of the Giant squad.

There were two famous ball players who, as far as I know, never made a mental mistake on the field. One was Babe Ruth who came along from an industrial school. The other was Nap Lajoie who was lifted from a cab driver's seat in Woonsocket, R. I., and a trifle later was surrounded and captured by Uncle Egbert Barrow.

Instinct and Intuition

The athlete who is naturally smart in competition must have a high degree of instinct, intuition and concentration. I know Eddie Arcaro figured it that way in racing.

Ty Cobb had this natural instinct, this ability to concentrate, but Cobb also worked on these natural gifts. "I used to lay in bed at night for hours thinking up plays," he said once.

Old time ball players had no motor cars, movies, night clubs or other distractions to kill time. So many of them thought only about baseball. I mean such men as King Mike Kelly, Kid Nichols, John Montgomery Ward, Charlie Comiskey, Hughey Jennings, Clark Griffith, John McGraw and most of the old Orioles.

The main mental asset in any game is concentration. Many have this needed ingredient more than others. But the art or knack of concentration can also be developed. Concentration means keeping your mind on the job from start to finish.

As Knute Rockne used to tell his squad — "Keep physically relaxed — but mentally alert."

Borowy's Predictions

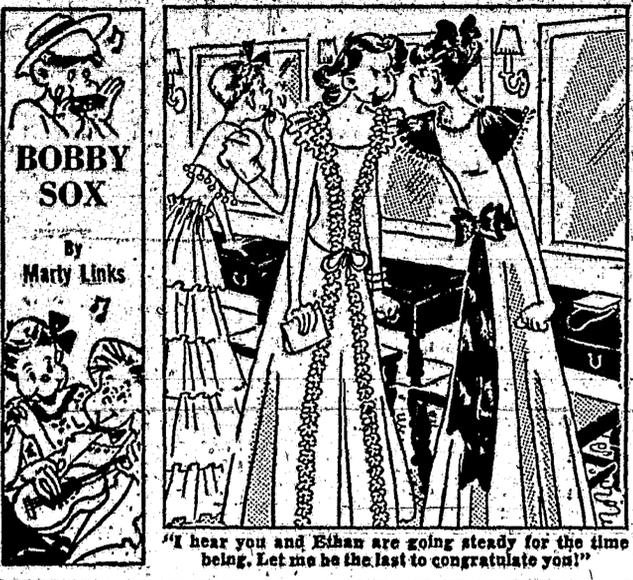

"We caught Hank Borowy on the fly just as he was heading for the Cub camp and Catalina Island. "How about Cub prospects?" we queried.

"We'll need all the pitching we can get this season," the Cub star said. "By that I mean most of the other clubs will be stronger where we will have about the same cast. We get little back from the services. The Cardinals, Giants and Dodgers will all be stronger. So will the Pirates, Braves and Phillies.

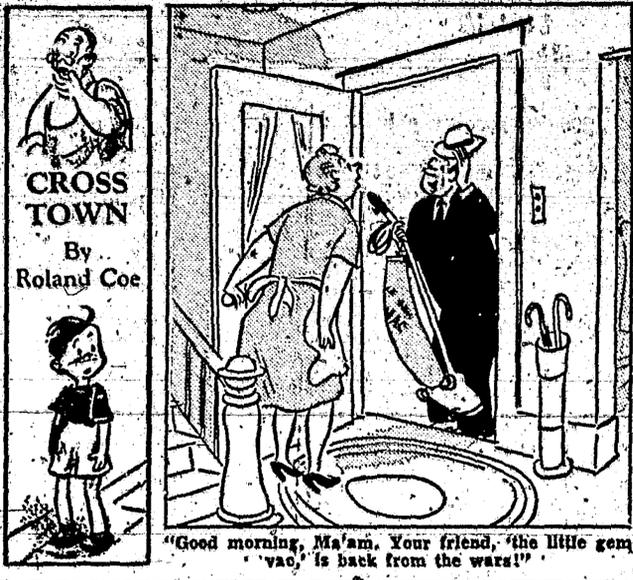

"Hitting in the two leagues? I can't see much difference. I had a better record in the National than I had in the American. But my arm was in much better shape when I joined the Cubs."

I asked Borowy how the National league race looked from his angle. "The Cardinals are the team to beat," he said, "with so much strength at every point. But they can be beaten. I'm sure we'll be up there. The Giants have all the power or any team needs at bat, but their pitching is still uncertain. What pitcher can Mel Ott depend on for so many as 15 games?"

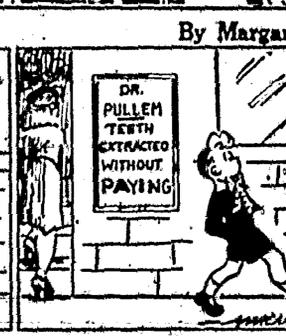

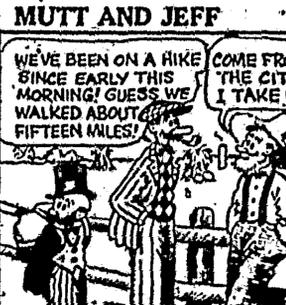

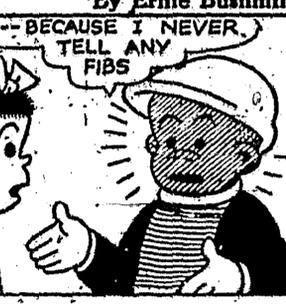

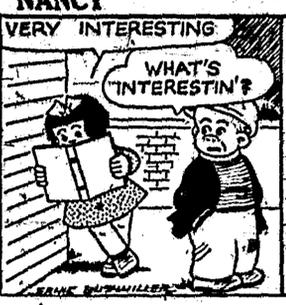

"The Dodgers will be better and they were tough enough at times last season. The Pirates will be improved and the Braves will probably be hitting everybody."

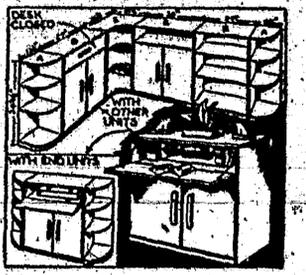

"I hear you and Ethan are going steady for the time being. Let me be the last to congratulate you!"

"Good morning, Ma'am. Your friend, 'the little gem' 'vao,' is back from the wars!"

NOTICE OF SUIT AND PRESENTATION OF PETITION
State of New Mexico,
County of Lincoln
IN THE DISTRICT COURT
THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS of Lincoln County, State of New Mexico, Plaintiff, vs.
FRANCIS M. GODDARD, Impleaded with the following named defendants against whom substituted service is hereby sought: to be obtained, to-wit: Francis M. Goddard, Dorothy Goddard, Lucy Goddard, Charles A. Goddard, and William H. Goddard, Defendants.
NO. 5292

The State of New Mexico to the above-named defendants, greetings: you, and each of you, are hereby notified that the Board of County Commissioners of Lincoln County, State of New Mexico, as plaintiff, has filed its petition in the above entitled court and cause; and that the same is now pending therein; that in said petition plaintiff alleges that the State Highway Commission of the State of New Mexico is about to engage in construction work on and in straightening the highway known and designated as U. S. Highway No. 54, in Lincoln County, State of New Mexico, and that it is necessary in constructing and maintaining said highway that the lands hereinafter described and sought to be condemned be acquired for the purpose of creating waterways to satisfactory channels; and plaintiff, by said petition and cause of action, seeks to condemn, for the purposes aforesaid, the lands and premises described in said complaint; and, described as follows, to-wit:

A strip of land 75 feet wide to be used for a channel change lying and being situate in the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 25, township eight South, Range nine East, N. M. P. M., being 87.5 feet wide on each side of, parallel and adjacent to the following described center line, to-wit: Beginning at a point S 76 deg. 43' E. a distance of 785 feet, thence S 45 deg. 18' E. a distance of 1191.5 feet, and thence S. 2 deg. 30' west a distance of 150 feet from center line Sta. 1621 plus 25 of N. M. P. -P-99 (4), Lincoln County, New Mexico, a point on the northerly line of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 25; thence S. 2 deg. 30' W. a distance of 600 feet; containing 1.038 acres, more or less; all of said lands being situate in Lincoln county, State of New Mexico.

Plaintiff further alleges in said petition that all of the lands and premises above described are necessary for the public use aforesaid, namely, for the purpose of creating waterways to satisfactory channels in connection with the construction and maintenance of said public highway; and plaintiff prays in said petition for the appointment of three commissioners, as provided by law, to assess the damages which the owners and claimants of said lands may sustain by reason of and in consequence of said condemnation and appropriation of said lands for said purpose, and that plaintiff will have judgment against you, and each of you, condemning the lands described in said petition, and above described, as provided by law, and thereafter, upon compliance with the requirements of said judgment, and the provisions of the statutes applicable thereto, that a final order of condemnation of said premises above described, and described in plaintiff's petition be entered in said cause, and for such other and further relief as may be just and right in the premises.

You are further notified that on the 4th day of April, 1946, at the County Court House in Alamogordo, Otero County, State of New Mexico, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, or as soon thereafter as counsel may be heard, plaintiff will present said petition to the Court and thereupon ask and move the Court to appoint three commissioners to assess the damages, as provided by law, and for such other relief, orders, and judgment as it may be entitled to under said petition and such proceedings will thereafter be had in said cause as prescribed by law in such case.

W. T. Scoggin, Jr., District Attorney of the Third Judicial District, Las Cruces, New Mexico, is attorney for plaintiff.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Court this 18th day of March, 1946.

Powerful Lobby Fighting Missouri Valley Project

VIGOROUS freshman Congressman Charles Raymon Savage of the state of Washington's third district, former official of both CIO and AFL unions, former grange master and 4-H club leader, and himself a construction engineer, touched the match which may set off a congressional investigation into the lobbying activities of power and other interests seeking to defeat the regional authority measures for public control of the Missouri, Columbia and other river basins.

The young Washington congressman minced no words when he called upon the congress to institute an investigation "of the expenditures and of the corrupt practices" of the organizations lobbying against passage of these measures seeking to harness the rivers under congressional grants of regional authorities.

Last fall this writer told you of the formation of one of the most powerful lobbies in Washington's legislative history to defeat the Murray Missouri Valley authority bill and companion bills, which include the Columbia River Valley authority measure.

Now the lobby has been dragged onto the floor of congress and unclocked for all to see as "the largest lobby of its kind in all power history . . . spending hundreds of thousands of dollars a year influencing legislation."

Congressman Savage declares the lobby consists of a "small group of men, led by a former-insult company official, spearheading the organization, financing the operation of these three high-sounding organizations: the Reclamation Association, the National Association of Electric Companies, and the natural resources committee of the U. S. chamber of commerce.

Out to Rook People

"They are tied together as tightly as peas in a pod in their plan to rook the American people," Congressman Savage said.

He charged these organizations are seeking to prevent the construction of power dams by government in the nation's rivers. Failing in that, they are seeking to buy the power at the bus bar "to repeat their Muscle Shoals steal by paying the government a fifth of a cent a kilowatt and force the people to pay 10 cents . . . 50 times as much as it cost them."

The gentleman from Washington state charged that the lobbies have entered into "a definite conspiracy to break the Holding Company act"; that they are seeking to cripple the Rural Electric administration, to discredit TVA, to block the Columbia River Valley authority bill and to thwart other public power programs.

He declared that the lobby was headed by Purcell L. Smith and Kinsey W. Robinson. Smith, he said, is former treasurer of Illinois Power & Light, jointly owned by the late Sam Insull and North American company. Also he was a former president of the Insull holding company, the Mid-West corporation, and then an officer of the Commonwealth Edison company of Chicago.

"He (Smith) is now receiving $66,000 a year for his lobbying efforts," Mr. Savage said. Mr. Robinson, the congressman charged, is leader of the resources committee of the U. S. chamber of commerce and president of Washington Water Power company and "has been lobbying against Columbia river legislation since 1937."

He charged that the lobby through referendum #1 of the U. S. C. of C., attempted to get support for legislation placing Columbia river power into their hands at the bus bar in the recent Rivers and Harbors bill, but failed.

Gift to Slick Promoters

"If that provision had gone into the bill, we would have deeded over all of our great streams, lock, stock and barrel, to a group of slick eastern and midwestern promoters," Savage said.

He charged that power companies were supporting the Washington office of the Reclamation Association, "a lobby much larger than the lobby which was created to defeat the Walsh reclamation covering an investigation into power trust financing and propaganda in 1936."

He cited evidence intending to show that the efforts of the lobby had postponed indefinitely further hearings on the Missouri valley authority bill and the same attempt was being made before the house rivers and harbors committee on the Columbia river authority bill.

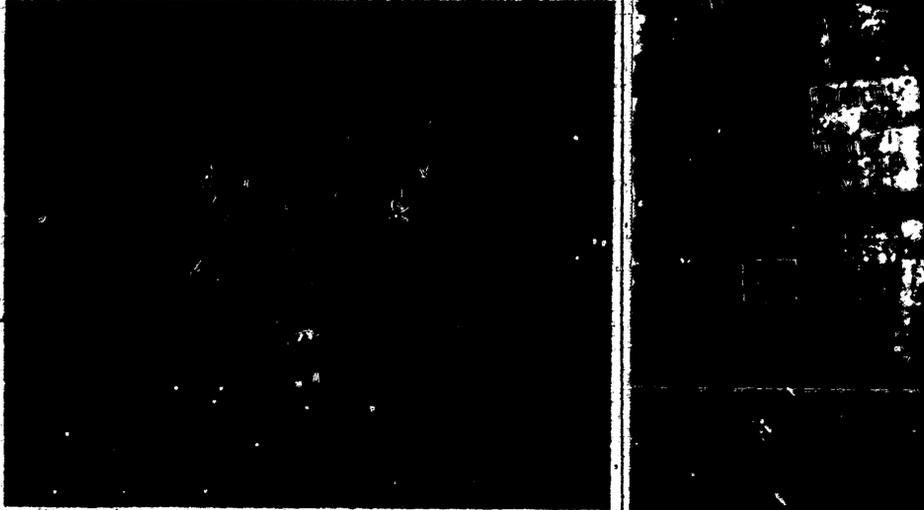

Referring to the activities of Purcell Smith, Savage said: "This former Insull associate recently stated that 10 power companies are supporting his office here in Washington. He will send a handwork in every bureau and department, and 10 each of our legislators."

BOWLING CONQUERED BY WOUNDED VETS . . . For thousands of war wounded, the Red Cross insignia is a badge of mercy. They give their services and provide facilities to aid while away tedious hours of hospitalization. Here aided by Mrs. Lucille Carey, Mrs. Matlan Lee and Capt. L. J. Sheaffer, are left to right, Sgt. Paul Jackson, Sgt. Robert Abajian and Pvt. George Rodriguez, who are given a chance to continue their bowling in Los Angeles alley. Reports indicate that many of the wounded have become expert bowlers, which also aided in their rapid recovery.

FAMOUS FIGHTING FAMILY REUNITED . . . The famous fighting family of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ostler, Chelsea, Mass., are together for the first time since Pearl Harbor, with the exception of the oldest son, Pfc. Charles, 22, who was killed in action in Italy. The group around their father and mother includes twins, Roland and Robert, twin Richard and Lawrence, George, Donald, Arthur, Howard, Leon and sister Marilyn at piano.

EGYPTIAN STUDENTS RIOT IN CAIRO . . . With demands that the British leave Egypt, students and sympathizers take possession of part of the city of Cairo without opposition from police. The rioters torched the capital, many fires were started and considerable damage resulted. Similar riots later broke out in Alexandria, site of a great British naval base. While the riots did not have government backing, little effort was made to prevent or control the demonstrations against the British government.

WYATT MILLSOME SET GOALS FOR HIS GOAL . . . Wyatt J. Williams, Spangh expeller, is shown, left, with Capt. Edward Johnson, as they planned expedition to recover a reported $20,000,000 in gold from the sunken Spanish galleon "Santa Rosa," which has been on the sea's bottom since 1701. Williams discovered location in 1941 and brought up the ship's bell. Location is somewhere off the coast of Cuba.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round
DREW REASON

HERBERT HOOVER HESITATED
WASHINGTON. — Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson had a hard time at first persuading Herbert Hoover to come to Washington for the food conference. Anderson caught the ex-President at West, Fla., where he was fishing. "I've promised my family for seven years to take them fishing," Hoover told the secretary of agriculture, "and now at last here I am."

Anderson, however, emphasized the urgency of the food crisis. "We need your experience and advice, Mr. President," he said. "You can go back to your fishing immediately afterward. But this is a time when your country needs you."

Hoover finally consented to come.

BRICKBATS WIN ELECTIONS

Two of the bitterest opponents on the house floor and in the interstate commerce committee are Representatives Clarence Brown, conservative Republican of Blanchester, Ohio, and Vito Marcantonio, American Laborite of New York City. Off the floor, however, the two respect each other's ability and get along well.

Sitting in the house lobby the other day they smilingly concluded an agreement which will probably never be carried out.

They were talking about campaign expenses, when Brown proposed: "Vito, I've got a suggestion. Why don't we both cut our campaign expenses to the bone? Here's how to do it:

"You go into my district and make three speeches against me. Call me a reactionary Hooverite, an isolationist, an economic royalist — and anything else you can think of. That'll elect me."

"Then I'll go into your district and make three speeches. I'll call you a Red, a Dago, a new dealer and an anti-Rankinite."

"With the proper literature about you in my district and the proper literature about me in your district, both of us are a cinch for re-election when we do that."

NAZIS REMAIN IN GERMANY

A secret report on failure to denazify Germany has been made to the war department, but is considered so shocking that it probably will be destroyed. It is now in the office of Brig. Gen. Frank A. Meade.

The report shows complete failure to clean out high-ranking Nazis. It also shows a surprising number of so-called German "laborers" who have secretaries and stenographers assigned to them.

This is one of the latest dodges to get around the employment of Nazis by the American army. According to army rules, no former Nazi can be employed in any job more important than that of a "laborer." Result is that many Nazis are used in important jobs, but listed on the books as "laborers." That is why they are assigned secretaries and stenographers.

These "common laborers" are then put in charge of important manufacturing plants. The report now in the hands of the war department was made by the public safety and inspection division of military government. It may never see the light of day.

HOW WYATT DID IT

If there were more men like Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt around, President Truman would have easier sailing. The other day in Chicago, Wyatt was guest speaker at a banquet of the National Association of home builders, 3,200 strong, all hostile, all prepared to boo at the man who proposed revolutionary building reforms in order to complete 3,000,000 homes in two years.

As Wyatt arose, the atmosphere was charged with hostility. However, he told stories, explained his program, made no antagonistic statements.

"If you gentlemen are against this program, then you don't understand it," Wyatt said. "It's my fault for not making it clear."

After 45 minutes, having won over a considerable part of the audience, he stopped. Then for 45 minutes more he answered questions. Every inch of the way he fought for his program of low-cost housing for veterans.

Finally, when he finished, every builder in the huge dining room rose to his feet and cheered.

NOW WHITE SPAGHETTI

Some of the strongest opposition to the President's "dark bread" order is coming from an unexpected quarter — spaghetti manufacturers. Spaghetti, macaroni and noodles are made from semolina, a gritty flour made, in turn, from durum wheat.

Semolina millers, as well as spaghetti makers, are up in arms about the "dark bread" order, declaring it will drive them out of business. A number of semolina mills have filed an objection.

Nevoletta: When Harry Tugend (who wrote the film "Wake Up and Live") was an unknown writer, he courted Jean Barkow. At the time she was Billy Rose's Girl Friday. "Why do you go around with a nobody?" Rose asked her. "Hook up with a success or some guy likely to be one!" Jean disregarded the counsel and married Tugend. They've been living (happily ever after) in Movietown, where Tugend is now Paramount Studio's executive producer. He will soon produce Paramount's film, "The Life of Billy Rose."

Three months ago the U.S. Army in Germany discovered the lists of Nazi sympathizers in the U. S. A. Army officials promised the lists would be made public. The State Dept. promised the lists would be made public. A Cong. Committee promised the lists would be made public. And what happened? Absolutely nothing! After all those promises — the lists are still a secret. And even the reason the lists are being hushed up—is a secret.

Woman's World Recipe for a New Spring Suit: First, Take a Dated Formal

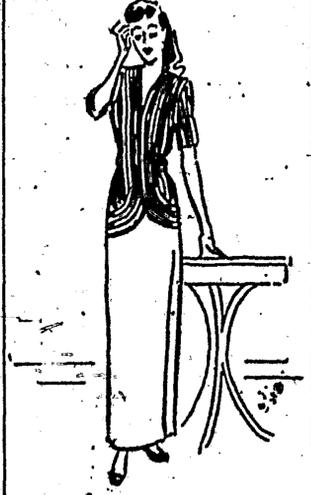

By Etta Haley

THERE is no such thing as the young teen-ager who has all the fashions she wants. When some new fad, trinket or fad takes the wool by storm, girls frequently get out of the swing of things if they can't have them. On the other hand, clothes budgets for the high school girl are frequently limited, and it's impossible to buy everything.

In cases like this, the girls who can sew, or whose mothers are handy with the needle are truly born under a lucky star. There are always dresses in the wardrobe that are dated, rather than worn, but with skillful recutting and sewing they can be transformed into new and lovely things.

One of the items in a young girl's wardrobe which easily acquires a dated look, but does not lose its value as a good piece of material, is a formal. Formals are worn a few times, and then they lose their usefulness as such. But what a wealth of good material for sewing!

Not only one but several articles can be made from dated formals. The bodice can be recut and sewed as the top of a suit, and the skirt especially if it is full, offers ample material for the skirt of a suit, and even an extra blouse or skirt.

A discarded formal...

Striped effects are popular this season for both boleros and jackets. The formal with a striped top can easily be utilized for this providing it is ripped apart completely and every scrap of material given thorough use.

If the skirt of the formal is striped rather than the top, then it can be used for the jacket or bolero, with perhaps a peplum at the same time.

Precision Stripes

Impeccably hand-tailored but with distinctive dressmaker detail is this precision striped jacket. In navy and red striped worsted, this suit is indicative of the trend in fashion being shown this spring.

Spring Fashion Notes

Boleros are going to be more important than ever, and so are belts, wide ones, slim ones and colorful belts. Peppums are in to stay, too. Skirts are longer for street wear, shorter for dancing, hence ideas taking their cue from ballet styles. Speaking of ballet, you will notice that beading and beech apparel have been much influenced by this classic form of the dance, too. Eretot trar on peppums and oil.

Becomes a bolero and skirt.

terial. The bodice of the formal, in this case would not offer enough material for the skirt, but the purchase of extra, matching material would be a worthwhile investment if a complete suit is the result.

If you do not want to use the remainder of the striped skirt material in another skirt or blouse, it will make beautiful accessories such as a hat or gloves. The accessories will then pick up their cue from the costume itself and add a smart, finishing touch to the outfit.

Should you be making a bolero as topping for the skirt, then try the rounded shoulder effect. Pads can be purchased or made from muslin in a large enough size to give the desired rounded effect. They should be fitted carefully to the wearer.

For making the pads, you will find that featherbone in two or three ply makes an ideal support for these pads. They are easy to stitch to position with a long machine stitch.

Making a Circular Skirt For the Suit

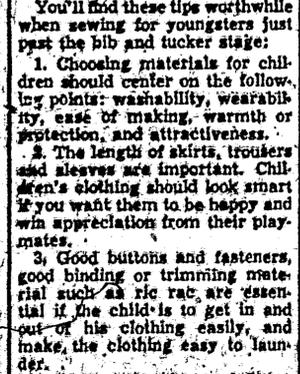

The main thing to remember in making a circular skirt is to let the garment hang on a garment hanger overnight. This is done to let the fabric sag—if it will—and let you make adjustments before you really turn the hem and stitch it. This may be done after the garment is on its way toward finishing. When you are ready to sew the hem, take the garment off the hanger and try it on with the shoes you plan to wear.

The hem is then marked with a skirt-marker, just as you would for any other type of skirt. Now the dress is removed. Lay the skirt on the table, folded at center-front and center-back lines and measure evenly all the way across the skirt. Mark with chalk for length. Trim a little off at the sides because of the sagging bias seams and then measure the depth you want them finished in. A circular skirt requires a narrower hem than does a lengthwise skirt. Turn the raw edge under a generous one-half inch and clean-stitch it. Use a long stitch to draw up the fullness of the hem with a bobbin thread. When the hem is basted and the lower edge pressed, try the skirt on again for fit. Then slip-stitch the hem into position, doing this with the skirt spread out on a table so the hem will lie perfectly in position. Long slip-stitches are best—and be careful so that they do not show through.

Sewing for Youngsters

You'll find these tips worthwhile when sewing for youngsters just past the bib and tucker stage: 1. Choosing materials for children should center on the following points: washability, wearability, ease of making, warmth or protection, and attractiveness. 2. The length of skirts, trousers and sleeves are important. Children's clothing should look smart if you want them to be happy and win appreciation from their playmates. 3. Good buttons and fasteners, good binding or trimming material such as ric rac, are essential if the child is to get in and out of his clothing easily, and make the clothing easy to launder. 4. Little folks like good fitting clothes. Making up a muslin pattern takes little time and saves ripping and tedious pinning that make youngsters fidgety. 5. Make sewing easy for your child by doing all the cutting at one time. Then the sewing can all be done at a sitting. You can concentrate better when your work is well organized.

DDT-Soybean Flour Spray Reduces Loss

DDT mixed with soy bean flour and sprayed on apple trees at intervals which will not prove dangerous to bees, has proven an effective means of reducing spraying costs and eliminating serious pests. Four treatments with the DDT-soy bean flour mixture are usually required for effective control under general conditions. The spraying must be done prior to the time when the bees start pollinating.

Soil Fumigation Has Been Proven Sound

Machine Application Successfully Tested

By W. J. Dryden WNU Farm Editor

While fumigation of the soil for the control of soil-borne plant pests has been undertaken during the past 20 years, it is only recently that the practice becomes of commercial importance. With the development of hand and drawn machines, it is now possible to fumigate the cold frame, hot bed or greenhouse soils as well as the garden or farm tract.

There are several types of fumigant on the market such as Dowfume G, which is a mixture of methyl bromide and chlorinated hydrocarbons. It is highly toxic to nematodes (ellworms) and soil insects. The rapidity of action has also been improved. It will kill most nematodes in four hours of exposure and permit the Hand-drawn machine developed for soil fumigation.

Improved Machinery Farm Welder

A new electric welder suitable for rural power lines has just been released by the Lincoln Electric Company, Cleveland, Ohio. It has a maximum input current of 35 amperes and provides a machine which meets the new NEMA standards for this type of welder. Under modern farming, practical electric welding has become a must.

Household Hints

When boiling rice, add a teaspoon of lemon juice to a quart of water. It will make the rice white and the grains will be separated when it is boiled.

Powerful Lobby Fighting Missouri Valley Project

VIGOROUS freshman Congressman Charles Raymon Savage of the state of Washington's third district, former official of both CIO and AFL unions, former grange master and 4-H club leader, and himself a construction engineer, touched the match which may set off a congressional investigation into the lobbying activities of power and other interests seeking to defeat the regional authority measures for public control of the Missouri, Columbia and other river basins.

The young Washington congressman minced no words when he called upon the congress to institute an investigation "of the expenditures and of the corrupt practices" of the organizations lobbying against passage of these measures seeking to harness the rivers under congressional grants of regional authorities.

Last fall this writer told you of the formation of one of the most powerful lobbies in Washington's legislative history to defeat the Murray Missouri Valley authority bill and companion bills, which include the Columbia River Valley authority measure.

Now the lobby has been dragged onto the floor of congress and unclocked for all to see as "the largest lobby of its kind in all power history . . . spending hundreds of thousands of dollars a year influencing legislation. . . ."

Congressman Savage declares the lobby consists of a "small group of men, led by a former Insull company official, spearheading the organization, financing the operation of these three high-sounding organizations: the Reclamation association, the National Association of Electric companies, and the natural resources committee of the U. S. chamber of commerce.

Out to Rook People

"They are tied together as tightly as peas in a pod in their plan to rook the American people," Congressman Savage said.

He charged these organizations are seeking to prevent the construction of power dams by government in the nation's rivers. Failing in that, they are seeking to buy the power at the bus bar "to repeat their Muscle Shoals steal by paying the government a fifth of a cent a kilowatt and force the people to pay 10 cents . . . 50 times as much as it cost them."

The gentleman from Washington state charged that the lobbies have entered into "a definite conspiracy to break the Holding Company act"; that they are seeking to cripple the Rural Electric administration, to discredit TVA, to block the Columbia River Valley authority bill and to thwart other public power programs.

He declared that the lobby was headed by Purcell L. Smith and Kinsey W. Robinson. Smith, he said, is former treasurer of Illinois Power & Light, jointly owned by the late Sam Insull and North American company. Also he was a former president of the Insull holding company, the Mid-West corporation, and then an officer of the Commonwealth Edison company of Chicago.

"He (Smith) is now receiving $66,000 a year for his lobbying efforts," Mr. Savage said. Mr. Robinson, the congressman charged, is leader of the resources committee of the U. S. chamber of commerce and president of Washington Water Power company and "has been lobbying against Columbia river legislation since 1937."

He charged that the lobby through referendum 81 of the U. S. C. of C., attempted to get support for legislation placing Columbia river power into their hands at the bus-bar in the recent Rivers and Harbors bill, but failed.

Gift to Slick Promoters

"If that provision had gone into the bill, we would have deeded over all of our great streams, lock, stock and barrel, to a group of slick eastern and midwestern promoters," Savage said.

He charged that power companies were supporting the Washington office of the Reclamation association, "a lobby much larger than the lobby which was created to defeat the Walsh resolution covering an investigation into power trust financing and propaganda in 1906."

He cited evidence intending to show that the efforts of the lobby had postponed indefinitely further hearings on the Missouri valley authority bill and the same attempt was being made before the house rivers and harbors committee on the Columbia river authority bill.

Referring to the activities of Purcell Smith, Savage said: "This former Insull associate recently stated that 50 power companies are supporting his office here in Washington. We will find their handwork in every bureau and department, and in much of our legislation."

BOWLING CONQUERED BY WOUNDED VETS . . . For thousands of war wounded, the Red Cross insignia is a badge of mercy. They give their services and provide facilities to aid while away tedious hours of hospitalization. Here aided by Mrs. Lucille Carey, Mrs. Marian Lee and Capt. L. J. Sheaffer, are left to right, Sgt. Paul Jackson, Sgt. Robert Abajian and Pvt. George Rodriguez, who are given a chance to continue their bowling in Los Angeles alley. Reports indicate that many of the wounded have become expert bowlers, which also aided in their rapid recovery.

FAMOUS FIGHTING FAMILY REUNITED . . . The famous fighting family of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ostler, Chelsea, Mass., are together for the first time since Pearl Harbor, with the exception of the eldest son, Pfc. Charles, 23, who was killed in action in Italy. The group around their father and mother includes twins, Roland and Robert, twins Richard and Lawrence, George, Donald, Arthur, Howard, Leon and sister Marilyn at plane.

EGYPTIAN STUDENTS RIOT IN CAIRO . . . With demands that the British leave Egypt, students and sympathizers take possession of part of the city of Cairo without opposition from police. The rioters tormented the capital, many fires were started and considerable damage resulted. Similar riots later broke out in Alexandria, site of a great British naval base. While the riots did not have government backing, little effort was made to prevent or control the demonstrations against the British government.

THIRTY MILLIONS IN GOLD THEIR GOAL . . . Capt. J. Williamson, former explorer, is shown, left, with Capt. Edward Robinson, as they planned expedition to recover a reported $30,000,000 in gold from the cursed Spanish galleon 'Santa Rosa,' which had been on the sea's bottom since 1708. Williamson discovered location in 1951 and brought up the ship's bell. Location is somewhere off the coast of Cuba.

PARIS OBJECTS . . . Against France execution of 10 anti-Fascists. This mass demonstration was held in Paris demanding an immediate break with France.

IRON-PIEDGE SPAGHETTI . . . Harold Newman, left, president, and Hank Greenberg, star batter of the Detroit Tigers, were together during training at Camp Udon, U.S. Their combined salaries are said to exceed $400,000.

HERBERT HOOVER HESITATED WASHINGTON. —Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson had a hard time at first persuading Herbert Hoover to come to Washington for the food conference. Anderson caught the ex-President at West, Fla., where he was fishing. "I've promised my family for seven years to take them fishing," Hoover told the secretary of agriculture, "and now at last here I am."

Anderson, however, emphasized the urgency of the food crisis. "We need your experience and advice, Mr. President," he said. "You can go back to your fishing immediately afterward. But this is a time when your country needs you."

Hoover finally consented to come.

BRICKBATS WIN ELECTIONS

Two of the bitterest opponents on the house floor and in the interstate commerce committee are Representatives Clarence Brown, conservative Republican of Blanchester, Ohio, and Vito Marcantonio, American Laborite of New York City. Off the floor, however, the two respect each other's ability and get along well.

Sitting in the house lobby the other day they smilingly concluded an agreement which will probably never be carried out.

They were talking about campaign expenses, when Brown proposed: "Vito, I've got a suggestion. Why don't we both cut our campaign expenses to the bone? Here's how to do it:

"You go into my district and make three speeches against me. Call me a reactionary Hooverite, an isolationist, an economic royalist — and anything else you can think of. That'll elect me."

"Then I'll go into your district and make three speeches. I'll call you a Red, a Dago, a new dealer and an anti-Rankinite."

"With the proper literature about you in my district and the proper literature about me in your district, both of us are a cinch for re-election when we do that."

Marcantonio agreed that the idea had merit, and they shook hands on it.

NAZIS-REMAIN IN GERMANY

A secret report on failure to de-Nazify Germany has been made to the war department, but is considered so shocking that it probably will be destroyed. It is now in the office of Brig. Gen. Frank A. Meade.

The report shows complete failure to clean out high-ranking Nazis. It also shows a surprising number of so-called German "laborers" who have secretaries and stenographers assigned to them.

This is one of the latest dodges to get around the employment of Nazis by the American army. According to army rules, no former Nazi can be employed in any job more important than that of a "laborer." Result is that many Nazis are used in important jobs, but listed on the books as "laborers." That is why they are assigned secretaries and stenographers.

These "common laborers" are then put in charge of important manufacturing plants. The report now in the hands of the war department was made by the public safety and inspection division of military government. It may never see the light of day.

HOW WYATT DID IT

If there were more men like Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt around, President Truman would have easier selling. The other day in Chicago, Wyatt was guest speaker at a banquet of the National Association of home builders, 3,200 strong, all hostile, all prepared to boo at the man who proposed revolutionary building reforms in order to complete 3,000,000 homes in two years.

As Wyatt arose, the atmosphere was charged with hostility. However, he told stories, explained his program, made no antagonistic statements.

"If you gentlemen are against this program, then you don't understand it," Wyatt said. "It's my fault for not making it clear."

After 45 minutes, having won over a considerable part of the audience, he stopped. Then for 45 minutes more he answered questions. Every inch of the way he fought for his program of low-cost housing for veterans.

Finally, when he finished, every builder in the huge dining room rose to his feet and cheered.

NOW WHITE SPAGHETTI

Some of the strongest opposition to the President's "dark bread" order is coming from an unexpected quarter — spaghetti manufacturers. Spaghetti, macaroni and noodles are made from semolina, a gritty flour made, in turn, from durum wheat.

Semolina millers, as well as spaghetti makers, are up in arms about the "dark bread" order, declaring it will drive them out of business. A number of semolina mills have filed an objection.

Recipe for a New Spring Suit: First, Take a Dated Formal

By Erta Haley

THERE is no such thing as the young teen-ager who has all the clothes she wants. When some new fad, trinket or fad takes the school by storm, girls frequently get out of the swing of things if they can't have them.

In cases like this, the girls who can sew, or whose mothers are handy with the needle are truly born under a lucky star.

Not only one but several articles can be made from dated formals. The bodice can be recut and sewed as the top of a suit, and the skirt especially if it is full, offers ample material for the skirt of a suit, and even an extra blouse or skirt.

Material. The bodice of the formal, in this case would not offer enough material for the skirt, but the purchase of extra, matching material would be a worthwhile investment if a complete suit is the result.

Should you be making a bolero as topping for the skirt, then try the rounded shoulder effect. Pads can be purchased or made from muslin in a large enough size to give the desired rounded effect.

For making the pads, you will find that featherbone in two or three ply makes an ideal support for these pads. They are easy to stitch to position with a long machine stitch.

Making a Circular Skirt For the Suit The main thing to remember in making a circular skirt is to let the garment hang on a garment hanger overnight.

The hem is then marked with a skirt-marker, just as you would for any other type of skirt. Now the dress is removed. Lay the skirt on the table, folded at center-front and center-back lines and measure evenly all the way across the skirt.

Striped effects are popular this season for both boleros and jackets. The formal with a striped top can easily be utilized for this providing it is ripped apart completely and every scrap of material given thorough use.

If the skirt of the formal is striped rather than the top, then it can be used for the jacket or bolero, with perhaps a peplum of the same material.

Precision Stripes

Impeccably hand-tailored but with distinctive dressmaker detail is this precision striped jacket. In navy and red striped worsted, this suit is indicative of the trend in fashion being shown this spring.

Spring Fashion Notes

Boleros are going to be more important than ever, and so are belts, wide ones, slim ones and colorful belts. Peplums are in to stay, too.

Sewing for Youngsters

You'll find these tips worthwhile when sewing for youngsters just past the bib and tucker stage.

1. Choosing materials for children should center on the following points: washability, wearability, ease of making, warmth or protection, and attractiveness.

2. The length of skirts, trousers and sleeves are important. Children's clothing should look smart if you want them to be happy and win appreciation from their playmates.

3. Good buttons and fasteners, good binding or trimming material such as ric rac are essential if the child is to get in and out of his clothing easily, and make the clothing easy to launder.

4. Little folks like good fitting clothes. Making up a muslin pattern takes little time and saves ripping and tedious pinning that make youngsters seditious.

5. Make sewing easy for yourself by doing all the cutting at one time. Then the sewing can all be done at a sitting. You can concentrate better when your work is well organized.

Tunic suits are being seen more and more frequently in this trend of longer jackets. If you have a large build, wear garments with broken lines to make you look smaller.

Soil Fumigation Has Been Proven Sound

Machine Application Successfully Tested

By W. J. Dryden WNU Farm Editor

While fumigation of the soil for the control of soil-borne plant pests has been undertaken during the past 20 years, it is only recently that the practice becomes of commercial importance.

There are several types of fumigant on the market such as Dowfume G, which is a mixture of methyl bromide and chlorinated hydrocarbons. It is highly toxic to nematodes (ellworms) and soil insects.

Here tractor drawn machine developed for field fumigation.

successful seed planting in two days and most plants within four days.

Application is made at staggered injection points to depths of 5 inches. The surface is sealed by thoroughly soaking with water. Outdoor fumigation is practical wherever there is sufficient water available for soaking the surface after application.

In many parts of the country, infestation of the soils by the root-knot nematodes is so extensive that many garden crops cannot be produced on otherwise desirable lands.

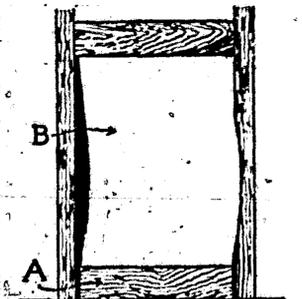

Improved Machinery Farm Welder

A new electric welder suitable for rural power lines has just been released by the Lincoln Electric Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

It has a maximum input current of 35 amperes and provides a machine which meets the new NEMA standards for this type of welder.
