AND CARRIZOZO OUTLOOK

Official Paper—Legal Printing

VOLUME XXI (Carrizozo News, Vol. 43)

CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1946

Outlook Vol. 87—No. 18

Carrizozo Public Schools Improvement

Much improvement has been achieved by the public schools of Carrizozo this year. There has been an increase in enrollment of approximately 60 students. New office rooms have been built. The football field has been moved. The grounds have been cleaned by removing the ash heaps. Much paint has been used inside the building. The gym has been repaired. New bleachers for the gym are to be received next month or before. Although football equipment is yet rationed, Carrizozo expects to get its share. A well has been started so that the lawn may be kept up and more started next year. By another year it may be possible to sod the football field.

The faculty is complete. Included in the faculty is the position of principal which has not been filled in the last twenty or more years until this year. This will make possible better and closer supervision.

There seems to be a better spirit both in students and faculty and we are looking forward to a much more profitable year.

A Hero of California. One man dared to expose crooked bankers and financier-politicians whose word was law in San Francisco. How this defiance brought a new dawn of decency is described in The American Weekly, The Magazine distributed with next Sunday's Los Angeles Examiner.

Announcement Mr. Jenkins for Sheriff

In this issue we are authorized to announce the candidacy on the Democratic ticket of Mr. Alex J. Jenkins for sheriff of Lincoln County. Mr. Jenkins has lived in Lincoln County all his life, is well known to the people and is highly regarded. He has been with the highway department for some time and has had a lot of valuable experience for the line of work he will undertake as sheriff of the county. He appreciates the votes he received in the primary and asks the consideration and support of members of both parties in his race for office regardless of past party affiliations.

Ortiz Candidate for Re-Election

We are authorized to publish the announcement of Manuel Ortiz, candidate for re-election as assessor of Lincoln County on the Democratic ticket. He has served as assessor for the past two years and has served efficiently and satisfactorily to all.

This is a responsible job and requires painstaking accuracy, and skillful handling of records. Manuel is always on the job and is always courteous, agreeable and reliable. He requests your vote and support, and will appreciate every effort in his behalf.

TWO SUGAR STAMPS VALID

Spare Stamp 51 in Ration Book 4 became valid September 1 for the purchase of five pounds of sugar for household use, says William H. Black, district OPA rationing executive. At the same time, Black pointed out, an extension has been granted to keep Spare Stamp 49 effective through September.

The extension was granted, the rationing boss explained, because sugar distribution has been poor in many parts of the country due to shortage of freight cars and in some areas housewives have not yet been able to use stamp 49. Thus, during the month of September, two stamps will be acceptable—the old stamp 49 and the new stamp 51—good for five pounds each.

All district offices have been authorized to close the ration bank accounts of sugar wholesalers or retailers who overdraw them, Black warned. When an overdraft is reported the dealer will have 15 days after he is notified to repay it. If he fails to make up the overdraft or repays it and then overdrafts again the account will be closed.

Merle Burnett of Dallas and Earl Thornton visited Bradley Smith in El Paso last Wednesday.

Friends have received the following announcement:

Life or Death? If you were given the tragic choice of saving your husband or your child; if you could choose life or death with your wife, if, as a Doctor, you had the choice of saving the mother or the baby, which would you save? These heart moving choices actually were faced. Read how they were answered, in The American Weekly, The Magazine distributed with next Sunday's Los Angeles Examiner.

FOR COMMISSIONER 1st District

I wish to announce my candidacy for commissioner of District No. 1, Lincoln County on the Republican ticket, subject to the voters in the November election. I was born and reared in Lincoln county. I have been farming in the Ruidoso Valley for a long time. I have a wife and seven children. In case I am elected I will endeavor to keep Lincoln county progressive; will encourage road building and all civic enterprises which will keep the county progressive. I will serve the people to the best of my ability, honestly and fairly; your vote and support will be appreciated.
Signed,
Roman Sanchez.

Murel Burnett Wins Bass Scholarship

Murel Burnett, bass baritone whose home is at Carrizozo, New Mexico won the $1000.00 voice scholarship over 17 other contestants at Dallas, Texas the 23rd of August. Murel has been studying vocal music in Dallas for the past 5 years. He served three years of the time as soloist in Cliff Temple Baptist Church in Dallas.

Before going to New York to take up his musical studies he came by Carrizozo to visit his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burnett; he left Wednesday for New York City where he will continue his work with teacher of voice, Dr. Price Boone, with a view to winning a degree at the School of Music.

This contest was the first of its kind held in Dallas, as a civic project.

Born—Monday morning, Sept. 2, 1946 to Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Davenport, a daughter. She has been named Loretta Irene.

Miss Eliza Gabaldon, who for the past three months has been vacationing in Long Beach, Calif. has resumed her job as deputy county treasurer.

The old fashioned working "Bees" are not entirely obsolete. Jim Tom, a local carpenter lost his home by fire two weeks ago. Last Sunday, several local O'ed Fellows donated a day's work to Mr. Tom and their wives prepared a noon meal for the laborers. As a result, the house has already been made weather proof.

Announces For Re-Election

We are authorized to publish the announcement of Mr. Will T. Coe of Glencoe for re-election as Representative from the 16th District. Mr. Coe was born and reared in Lincoln county, being a son of the late Mr. George Coe, famed pioneer and prominent ranchman. Mr. Coe is a ranchman and fruit grower; he also operates a store near Glencoe. As representative he has served his constituents, faithfully and efficiently. He feels deepest interest in the problems of our war veterans, and has a thorough understanding of problems of Lincoln county citizens; has always been prominent in Republican politics and asks the support and vote of every interested citizen, and promises the same faithful service he has always given.

Uncle Sam Says

I don't my hat to labor, Labor Day, not only for doing a grand job for our country in time of war but for its good sense in contributing to invest part of its earnings in U. S. Savings Bonds. Millions of my nieces and nephews discovered that ownership of U. S. Savings Bonds is an easy, effective, profitable way to save for their future. Savings Bonds are as American as Labor Day itself. Be in step with today's parade of payroll savers.

Mrs. Julia Greer Passes Away

Mrs. Julia Ann Greer, age 89 passed away Tuesday morning at the home of her son, Lester Greer at Fort Stanton after an illness of two weeks. Mrs. Greer and her husband were prominent in the county for many years.

After the death of her husband in 1924, she bought a home in Carrizozo where she spent most of her time, and where she made a home for her grandchildren when they became old enough to attend school; and they every one dearly loved to stay with her during the school term. She was a good Christian, and of a lovable disposition. She was universally admired and respected by a wide circle of relatives, friends and neighbors. Of late years she has spent her time at the home of her daughter Mrs. Ethel Skinner at Carlsbad.

She is survived by two daughters, Mesdames Ethel Skinner, Carlsbad and Lola Cain, Hot Springs, and by three sons, James Greer, Albuquerque; Ira Greer of Tucumcari and Lester Greer of Fort Stanton, and by several grand children and great grand children.

After prayer, at the Kelley funeral home in Carrizozo by the Rev. John J. Loudin, the remains were taken to Angus for funeral services. There in the presence of an unusually large crowd of sorrowing friends and relatives the Rev. Mr. Loudin conducted funeral and burial rites.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Fred and Jimmie Greer, Mr. Cain, two Messrs. Skinner and Mr. Clifton Zumwalt. All of whom were her grandsons, with the exception of Mr. Zumwalt.

Services at the graveside consisted of a song, "In the Sweet Bye and Bye" and a prayer by Rev. Loudin.

The floral offerings were numerous and very beautiful.

MARRIED IN EL PASO

Mr. Bert Skinner of Angus and Miss Ava Lee McClellan of Artesia were married in El Paso August 23rd.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Skinner, and has recently returned from overseas, after spending several years in the United States Navy.

The bride is very pretty and attractive, and is an accomplished musician. They will live in Artesia. Friends extend best wishes and congratulations.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend sincerest thanks to our friends for their words of sympathy, acts of kindness, the lovely floral offerings and we also wish to thank the Rev. John J. Loudin for his comforting sermon and words of hope in the loss of our dear mother and grandmother.

Mrs. Ethel Skinner and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Greer and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Greer and children, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Cain and children.

Notice to Trespassers

Notice is hereby given that all lands in the Cox place and the Sherrer place, located in Sections 6 and 32, which are owned and controlled by me are posted against any and all trespassing. Offenders will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

F. McTigue Announces for Re-Election

Mr. Fred McTigue who, was nominated for the office of county commissioner from District No. 1, and is seeking re-election. Mr. McTigue has served his constituents for the past two years.

During his term of office the commissioners have encouraged road building and road improvement, permanent roads have been built on the north side of the mountain. He lives at Hondo. The village of Ruidoso has been incorporated during this year. Steady up-grade has been encouraged together with many savings to the tax payers, in every plan undertaken. He will appreciate your votes and support in the general election next November and promises faithful performance of duty.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet in the home of Mrs. Ira Stephens on Wednesday, Sept. 11. We trust that all members will be present.

Capt. E. L. Hinton and 1st Sgt. Romero were here 4th and 5th from U. S. Army Recruiting Station at Roswell. Hinton plans to return to attend American Legion meeting Sept. 11th. Anyone with questions can contact him then.

Rev. Phillip McGahey

We take this opportunity to extend an invitation to every one who reads this paper and to every one in the community to be with us in our OLD TIME REVIVAL which is to begin Sunday, Sept. 15th, and run through Sunday the 22nd. The Reverend Phillip McGahey of the First Baptist Church, Albuquerque will do the preaching. The Rev. McGahey is one of the strongest preachers in New Mexico. We want you to hear him each day, 10, A. M. and 7:30, P. M. We are expecting a well organized choir and some good singing which you will appreciate along with good preaching. Yes, we are looking forward and expecting your cooperation and help that our auditorium may be filled every service. This is our personal invitation to you. May we as a Christian people put our prayers and efforts together for a great Spiritual Revival.
O. L. Oldham, Pastor.

DISTRICT COURT SESSION THIS WEEK

Judge Lawson, District Attorney W. G. Scoggin, Jr., Court Reporter Louise Stansel and Interpreter Julian Salas are holding court this week. Cases of minor importance were disposed of rapidly, as were also Civil cases. One criminal case was postponed until the March term of court.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Queen, of Ramona, California, are here for a few days to visit. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Whitwell, and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lemon, Mr. and Mrs. Queen lived at White Oaks for several years, when that town was larger and more prosperous than it is at present, although plenty of people still like the old town, and the way the White Oaks people stick together is a matter that cannot escape notice.

NOTICE

Spotlight by GRANTLAND RICE

IT ALWAYS has been our belief that the time to compare athletes is at the end of their careers. For example, why try to compare Ted Williams, after five seasons, with Ty Cobb's 24 seasons?

Why try to compare Bobby Jones, retired for 16 years after winning 13 national and international championships, with Byron Nelson who so far has won 37. And don't forget that Jones ran 1-2 in the U. S. Open eight out of nine years. Ted Williams and Byron Nelson have many years left in which they may rise to even greater heights, or for one reason or another suddenly fall away.

I recall just about the outbreak of the war when more than a few were placing Joe DiMaggio above Tris Speaker as an all-around outfield star. DiMaggio was and still is a great ball player. But even Joe's most vehement supporters today wouldn't place him above the flight of the Gray Eagle, the class of all outfielders in the air or along the ground, who could also hit from 350 to 380 in his better seasons through a long stretch of time.

Take Ty Cobb and Ted Williams. Few pitchers could. Ted Williams is the longer, harder hitter. But how many remember that Ty Cobb led the American league nine years in a row — that he led the American league in 12 out of 13 consecutive seasons. Think that one over.

What hitters were in Cobb's road? What was their class? Practically no one except Shoeless Joe Jackson, Napoleon Lajoie, Tris Speaker, Babe Ruth, Wahne Sam Crawford, Bobby Beach and a few of that ash-listed ilk.

I see they are now comparing Bob Feller and Walter Johnson, certainly two of the greatest. No one can tell me that Bob Feller or anyone else had Johnson's speed. Feller has a greater variety. But Johnson's speed was enough. They usually beat him 1 to 0 or 2 to 1 and even working with a weak-hitting outfit, he still could win more than 50 games a year pitching against some of the great hitters of all time. But none of these great hitters was on Old Barney's side. The idea is that Johnson has already turned in his 20-year record. Feller still has many years to go.

Feller isn't working with much of a ball club, either. He is to a certain extent in Johnson's spot. Johnson, pitching for the Athletics in those days, could have won 40 games more than once. Feller, working with the Red Sox, could be another 40-game winner. There will be time enough later on to rank Johnson and Feller.

'Old Pete' Alexander

If you talk to hitters who faced him and who have been around, they won't nominate Walter Johnson or Bob Feller as the top master of the pitching tribe. They won't give you Cy Young who won 510 or Christy Mathewson. Their nominee is an entry known as Grover Cleveland Alexander, also known as "Old Pete."

Working with the lowly Phillies, Alexander won 31 games in 1915, 33 games in 1916 and 30 games in 1917, a total of 94 games in three consecutive years with a ball club that never belonged — outside of Alexander.

In 1918 he pitched 16 shutout games, most of them in the Phillies' ballpark. Through six years, he had an earned run average under two runs per game. As a rookie in 1911 he won 28 games with the lowly Phillies.

Alexander was a stretcher bearer with the army in 1918, one of the tough jobs of any war. He then had been pitching seven years. On his return to the Cubs in 1919 and 1920, he allowed 1.72 and 1.51 earned runs per game, an incredible performance. Through his career Old Pete had no interest in any form of training. He happened to be an eccentric genius, a great artist, which so few are. He knew exactly where the ball should go to certain hitters, and he could put it there too.

Johnny Evers, who had battled against the best, once told me that Alexander was the only pitcher he ever faced who made him feel like throwing his bat away. "I knew how useless it was," Evers said.

Cardinal Class

Overlooking the bolsterout and heartfelt boom from Brooklyn, the Cardinals have been the class of the league from the start. They have had no better ball players than Dixie Walker and Pete Reiser and Dewey Reese.

But no sane baseball follower can tell you that the bustling Dodgers have the class to match Stan Musial, Marty Marion, Country Slaughter, Red Schoendienst, Terry Moore and Walter Kowalik.

Household Hints

Milady's dresser need not be marred by lotion or perfume spots. If a piece of waxed paper is placed directly under the dresser scarf.

When planning the location of a new building for the farm, keep in mind the possibilities in labor-saving arrangement as well as appearance.

Fasten all usable snap fasteners taken from all garments back together on a snap card. This saves time and tempers while looking through a drawer for them.

Gone are the days when a woman bought an extra quarter or half yard of material to allow for careless cutting. Figure exactly how much fabric you need for a garment and then buy to the inch.

Instead of buying assorted colored socks for the children in the summer, buy several pairs of identical white socks. If any become lost or worn out, the remaining socks can be matched.

The handles of discarded toothbrushes make good tags for household keys. Break off the brush end and smooth the broken edge with sandpaper or a file. Tie or wire keys through hole in the handle.

Save the drippings from roast beef, lamb, pork, and veal and add them to gravies and sauces for flavor. They need not be strained as the little browned particles contain additional flavor.

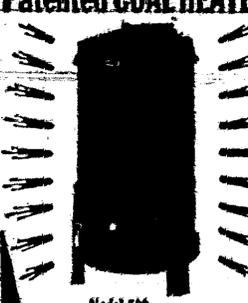

Do not hang glass or china cups by the handles. They may chip or crack and finally break off entirely.

Unshackled in a Garden of Eden

Best American Divorcee, and fastest, is the decree issued by Federal Judge Moore in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, U. S. A. . . . It takes eight hours to get to St. Thomas from New York via plane, flying the new nonstop route. . . . By a new regulation, after six weeks' residence, the decree is signed, eliminating long periods of publication and other delays pertinent to Reno or Miami divorcees. . . . The Virgin Islands are a practically unknown paradise—few tourists, best Scotch on earth at $2.50 a fifth, cigars 50 cents a carton, shopping for native woven products at prewar prices and your buck worth 100 cents. . . . Two American hotels—Hotel 829 and the government-run Bluebeard's Castle—total accommodations 60 people! . . . The Virgin Islands divorce decree is the only one in the country signed by a federal judge, who is appointed by the President. . . . No V. I. divorce has yet been contested by any state. Lawyers feel that the federal character of the decree puts it above protest. . . . In this tropical Capri, the city-harassed American finds new world comforts along with authentic old world atmosphere like the South Sea Islands once had. . . . Natives live in tiny huts, the beaches are blue and coral, the water crystal clear, with vast acres wild, awaiting settlement. . . . The government—local and national—is eager to sell at ridiculously low figures. . . . At Caneel Bay, on St. John (one of the U. S. Virgin group), the most breath-taking beach on earth rests its spreading white arms in cool tropical splendor—with an average of three bathers a day! Cabanas, furnished by the U. S., are usually empty.

Atlantic City shut up tighter than ever. . . . The cops just sent the sad word around, and the wheels stopped rolling. . . . Jack Lynch, who lost his historic club on Philly's Walton hotel roof when sudden fire regulations closed it, is hunting a new street-floor spot there; meanwhile, he wants to take over the now dark Rainbow room, in Radio City—but the Rockefeller don't seem to need the money.

When George White, whose "Scandals" rivaled Ziegfeld's "Follies," ran into hit-and-run trouble in San Diego, the supposedly hard-hearted Broadway boys called a meeting and chipped in for a defense fund. . . . Buddy de Sylva was the leader. . . . The kitty went to $50,000!

Faye (Mrs. Roosevelt) Emerson returns to the stage at Capo Cod, Mass., August 12, in "Here Today," a warmed-over Ruth Gordon starer of 1934. . . . It's official—Joan Crawford's next is "Possessed," with Van Heflin, based on a Cosmopolitan magazine novelette, "One Man's Secret," by Rita Weiman. . . .

Civil aeronautics bureau may not know this: When it approved an around-the-world route for TWA linked with Northwest Air-Line, Howard Hughes, who owns TWA, had an option on control of Northwest. . . . TWA is to fly N. Y. to Shanghai, via Europe; Northwest is to pick up there, flying to Alaska and Seattle. . . . Hughes' option was to become effective if, as and when Northwest got government permission to fly the Pacific. . . . So it appears Hughes, who broke the around-the-world air record, has in hand the around-the-world route he laid out on that famous four-day room. . . . And, with announcement of the globe-circling license, plus the approval of the Constellations with changes, TWA stock leaped so that Hughes' holdings have been rising at a rate of about $1,000,000 a day—as he lies and listens to his ribs knitting.

Jack Dempsey and Jake Amron, former Hollywood restaurant boss, have made a lousy offer for Henry Lustig's Longchamps tax-tainted restaurant chain. . . . "Tobacco Road" earned a fortune largely because Harry Oshrin doesn't go wild on payday. John Barton will draw $350 a week starting as Jester Lester on tour next season, which gives you a rough idea of what the lesser hillbilly performers will rate.

Saratoga bit deeply into New York nightlife. . . . The best and steadiest spenders have flocked to the Spa, which, with all its hopes, didn't anticipate such a gold-rush. . . . The OPA doesn't seem to have penetrated there. . . . Prices were pegged steep for a short season. . . . But when the New York influx fixed in, the natives took up some notches in the jacks. . . . Now the common man with a $4 bill doesn't know whether to lay it on the favorite to show he's a hot dog.

Economize on Clothing Budget By Making Youngster's Garments

By Erta Haley

WHAT is more fun than sewing for children entering school? Nothing, that I can think of right at the moment, because these youngsters usually have such fine, healthy bodies, basically good figures, clear skin, and bright eyes. They look so perfect in almost anything you turn out, that it's a pleasure to sew for them.

Youngsters go through their clothing so rapidly, or outgrow it so quickly, that home sewing for them is a necessity. Not only can yard goods be made up into attractive dresses, but many other things can be remodeled to fit quick as a wink.

Styles in young girls' dresses vary little from year to year, so if you have two or three good basic patterns, these can be used over and over again.

You'll discover that your little girl is very style-conscious, not in her own age and social group. She wants to wear dresses like her friends, the same type, if not the same fabric. Don't steer too far off that course if you want to keep her happy.

For school dresses and outfits, your best choices of material are velveteen, light-weight woolens and plaids. For warm fall days, cotton will still be the choice.

Styling Important in Youngster's Garment

Though basic styles do not change much from year to year in this age group, little girls have fads and fancies which you'll do well to follow. If they should like wide ribbon trimming or bows, or a certain kind of ric rac, then let them have their own way to keep peace in the family.

Princess styles are very becoming on the younger figure. If you plan to have a button front on them, the little girl will be much more able to dress herself, and will require little help from you during the breakfast rush hour. Sew buttons on securely, but do not fasten them too tight.

Another tip to help your youngster dress herself independent of your efforts is to have necklines open down the front rather than the back, whenever possible. This makes it easy for her to slip into the garment, and she won't have to wander about the house half buttoned until you can get around to her.

One of the cardinal "don'ts" in dressing children is not to have the dresses too long, just because you don't want to take them down every year. Long dresses can give a youngster an inferiority complex if her other friends are wearing them short. Another rule is to have them fit nicely enough to allow for movement, neither too loose or too tight.

Don't select fabrics that the youngster has to be careful of always. This will make her too worried about spoiling the dress.

Garment Choice Makes Wearing Easy

Just what exactly should be included in the young girl's wardrobe to give the greatest amount of wear? The answers to that question are easy. First of all there should be plenty of jumpers and blouses, or perhaps one or two good jumpers which can be con-

You'll save money on clothes, converted into five or six outfits—all apparently different—just by a change of blouse.

For early fall plan to use some of the more sturdy cotton mate-

Popular Jumper

Any girl who is handy with a needle, can make this jumper, a perennial favorite, for less than five dollars. The fabric recommended for it is a rayon and aralac with a wool slash.

rials for both jumpers and blouses. Remember that these will have to be washed constantly, and they should be easy to iron.

Another must for the younger wardrobe is a skirt, or preferably several skirts to be worn with blouses and sweaters and even contrasting jackets when the weather becomes cool. Plaids are very popular with the younger set and these are easy to run off on the sewing machine.

If you are considering a suit for the young girl, make it very sporty for everyday wear. By that I mean have a loose jacket with a pleated skirt. Work in soft woolens or all wool or part wool plaids. Both the jacket and skirt in such a suit may be worn separately with other things, of course.

Another good idea for a suit is the ever popular bolero style. This can be worked out attractively for the younger girl if you trim the hem of the skirt and the edges of the jacket in bright wool binding of a contrasting color, or even a decorative braided wool.

Whenever you sew with woolens, remember these three pointers: Cut larger than average seams so that the material will not ravel. If the woolen does not tend to run and ravel, pinking shears may be used. Secondly, always press out the seams after they are sewed, and have them lie flat.

The third has to do with finishing the seam. Most woolen seams should be overcast and finished with a binding tape so there is no opportunity for raveling and loose yarns.

Know-How on Fabrics

A number of chemical processes are now used on fabrics which give certain types of finishes. It is essential to know them because care of the garment differs with its finish.

A resin process makes certain fabrics—cottons and rayons—crease-resistant, but not crease-proof. This is helpful in making skirts and dresses and suits.

Some fabrics contain permanent stiffening and as such will require no starching. Look for washing directions on this type to come with the material. Some stiffening will last only through a few washings, but others will last the life of the garment.

There are some stain-proof fabrics which resist certain stains and dirt. When you buy the material, ask which has a wax finish and which a chemical finish as this information will be important when you wash the garment.

Fashion Forecast

For warm school days there's no neater trick than the striped chambray dress that is so easy to launder. They will look especially youthful on the teen-age girl if they're made with touches of ric rac, saucy shoulder tucks and full gathered skirts.

A three-piece suit offers infinite possibilities for mixing and matching costumes.

What's new in color for the school girl? First of all there are the three basic types to choose from—black, brown and gray. For those who want something a little more vivid, there's bright red and brilliant blue. You'll see these colors appearing constantly in fall plaids.

For dressy dresses, select velveteen—often combined with plaid taffets—or velveteen with wool.

Speaking of Rural Telephone Service... How Are We Doing?

Here are the facts...

• We set our sights high for 1946 when we planned to install 21,000 more rural telephones but by mid-year we had already furnished service to an additional 14,700 farm families, 70 per cent of our planned quota for the year! We're still ahead of schedule, despite material shortages.

• There are now 102,000 farm and ranch homes (or 46 per cent of the total number of such establishments) in the Mountain States area which have telephone service.

• All orders which were held because of the shortage of telephones alone have been cleared up. We have placed about 9000 poles and strung some 2500 miles of new wire. Plans are drawn and materials ordered to provide outside lines and central office equipment necessary to serve others who are waiting.

• The demand for rural telephone service is higher than ever before. It is our aim to satisfy that demand as soon as physically possible.

U. N.'s Food Organization Discusses World Problems

FARM leaders, agricultural experts and government officials interested in agriculture are placing great stress on the outcome of the meeting of the food and agricultural organization of United Nations, which opened its fourth session in Copenhagen on September 2. The session likely will last approximately two weeks.

Organized in the United States, the FAO has held three organizational meetings, one in Mexico City, another in South America and the third in Canada. This fourth meeting is in Denmark.

Each of the national farm organizations has one representative at the meeting to press for the production and distribution plans which were the result of the recent international agricultural meeting in London. The state department, as this is written, has not announced names of the American official delegates, but the department of agriculture already has designated several men who will become, along with farm organization leaders, a part of the American advisory group. These include Under Secretary of Agriculture Dodd, production and marketing administration's Shields, Wells of the bureau of agricultural economics, Bowles (not Chester) of the foreign agricultural relations department, Lambert of agricultural research and Sibley of home economics.

This meeting of FAO will hatch the first long range program for world agriculture, based upon a worldwide survey, which has just been completed and which includes 70 countries.

John Orr of Scotland, director general of FAO, will present the proposals for this food program which, if adopted, will be laid before the meeting of United Nations at its scheduled meeting in October.

Many Smaller Meetings

This program is the result of exploration into the reasons for surpluses and shortages in world food supply, and is expected to contain provisions for preventing the recurrence of such conditions. In the meantime, committees of the organization have been holding meetings in various European cities on such questions as diet, nutritional goal, possible changes in production to meet the goal, a current appraisal of the food situation in all the countries of the world, economics and statistics, forestry and agricultural production and research. Reports on these various phases of the agricultural picture will be presented to the meeting for rejection, adoption or modification.

Farm leaders here are convinced that the future of American agriculture is closely bound with world agriculture, and that never again can the United States draw within her shell with a policy of isolation.

Our own agricultural market is so sensitive that it will be governed largely by world agricultural production, prices and distribution. No longer can our expanded production depend upon the domestic market for consumption.

Seventy countries are now members of the FAO and two new countries, Italy and Switzerland, are expected to apply for membership at the Copenhagen meeting.

In connection with the economics and statistics report, it might be well to consider the recent report of the bureau of economics of the agriculture department, supplemented by findings of the Federal Reserve board, to the effect that some 32 million families in this country still are earning less than $3,000 per year. If that figure is true in this country, and it undoubtedly is, think what the meager income must be of untold millions of families of the rest of the world.

Most People Have Little

Despite the fact that the American people have savings of something like $1 billion dollars in bank deposits, currency and government bonds . . . yet 70 per cent of the American people have little or nothing saved for the inevitable rainy day . . . the saving being concentrated in the upper income brackets . . . the people who take in $10,000 or more a year, and who were well off before the war.

So the war, which poured hundreds of billions of dollars into the pockets of the American people, still left the country with the income divided just about as it was before the war. What then must be the plight of European and Asiatic countries?

So distribution, surplus and price too, at this important meeting of FAO will be one of the major factors to be discussed in any long range agricultural program in which feeding of the world's population is the most essential job before the organization.

CLAIMS WORLD'S SMALLEST COLT . . . Whoever heard of a 15-pound colt? But seeing is believing and above is "Cricket," 15 pounds of long legs, fuzzy hair and frisky tail. Seven-year-old "Tiny," a 210 pound pony, believed to be the smallest matured pony in the world, gave birth to "Cricket." They are shown with their owner, Homer Houser, Dayton, Ohio, who raises colts and shows them at fairs.

ALREADY MAKING THEIR MARK ON THE WORLD . . . Piloted by nurse Ann Lambase, baby Maria Elena records her footprint on the hospital birth certificate, at the Long Island College Hospital, Brooklyn, where the 22,000th mark was passed. Another newcomer to this vale of tears protests as he awaits his turn to put a footprint on the sands of time. At right, babies Maria Elena and Mildred Ann are initiated into the blackfoot tribe and seem contented. Movement has been underway for some time.

SEPARATROOPERS GO RIGHT ON 'CHUTING . . . When Luther Rucker, left, and Fred Cole got out of the army, they thought they were through with parachutes. They had trained and dropped some 5,000 agents behind enemy lines in World War II.

WHALE OF A FISH-STORY! . . . Mildred Knight, Chicago, is amazed (and so are we) by the extremely rare "fur fish" exhibited by Ted White, Boulder Junction, Wis. The fur fish is one of three bigeye salmon specimens on record and there won't be another for 50 years. While it is a member of the Burlington Lions club and claims the fish weighed 12 pounds when caught in waters 50 to 60 degrees below zero, it was 3 feet 8 1/2 inches long.

BROKE LA FOLLETTE TRADITION . . . For the first time in 40 years, a La Follette will not be a member of the U. S. senate at next session. This was assured by the defeat of Sen. Robert La Follette by Joseph E. McCarthy, for the Republican nomination. La Follette had recently rejoined the Republican party.

SIDES FOR NEXT WAR

PARIS. — Perhaps it has ceased to be news but, even so, it can't be emphasized too often that this so-called peace conference is actually a choosing up of sides for another war unless something vital and electrifying in the way of diplomacy steps in to prevent it. Events are moving with terrific speed while this conference moves with humdrum slowness. In the Russian zone of Germany, 12 factories are pouring out munitions for the Red army. In Czechoslovakia, the sum of 400 million dollars has been appropriated for munitions — all of a standard type, interchangeable with either the Czech or the Red army. Yugoslavia and Poland also are pouring out standardized Russian arms.

Meanwhile this peace conference talks sonorously, plausibly of procedure and precedents. Meanwhile, also, the sides are chosen — the line-up, unless heroic measures head it off — for the next war.

The line-up of Russian satellites never varies. In all the conference voting from San Francisco through the United Nations assembly in New York to Paris, Russia's stooges only once voted against their masters in the Kremlin. That was when Byelorussia got its signals crossed: Russia can be absolutely sure of the following votes on every rollcall, come hell or high water: Byelorussia, the Ukraine, Poland, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

The line-up on the other side varies. It is significant that the British dominions frequently desert England. This proves there's real democracy in the British empire. Australia and New Zealand vote more than half the time against England; Canada about 50-50. South Africa and India frequently are aligned with England, although not always.

The most forthright leaders of the anti-Soviet bloc are Australia, the Netherlands, Brazil and Belgium.

Note—Most pathetic satellite in the Soviet line-up is Jan Masaryk of Czechoslovakia, now nicknamed "The Prisoner of Zenda." Son of old President Thomas Masaryk, who founded the Czechoslovak republic in Pittsburgh in 1918 under the godfatherhood of Woodrow Wilson, Jan Masaryk's sympathies are all with the United States and Britain. But with his country solidly surrounded by Russia, he votes consistently with the Russian bloc.

ACCUSED OF SNOOPING

It isn't being advertised but Lt. Gen. Sir John Harding, commander of Allied forces in Venezia Giulia, has sent a hot cable to the White House and the British foreign office against dynamic ex-Mayor La Guardia of New York, accusing the fiery Fiorello of snooping in Trieste. General Harding demanded that the White House and the British crack down on La Guardia and prevent him from slandering American and British troops in Trieste. In fact, General Harding even threatened his resignation unless he got full support. As a result the British, which have some jurisdiction over La Guardia because UNRRA is international, sent New York's former mayor an appeal to pipe down.

Apparently it did no good, however. It was after receiving the London appeal that Fiorello boasted that 25 good New York cops could clean up the thieving in Trieste. La Guardia, previously had demanded that the Anglo-American troops in Trieste prevent the wholesale disappearance of UNRRA supplies.

Note—During the war, F. D. R. promised La Guardia a commission as brigadier general and the job of helping to govern Italy, but the army brass hats blocked it. Apparently they figured they could never handle the ferocious Little Flower. British generals now think their American colleagues were right.

DON'T MISS A TRICK

Chief trouble with the American delegation at this peace conference is that it lets the opposing team take too many bases on balls and steal second too many times. Meanwhile, the Russians are on the umpire's neck, yelling themselves hoarse over every close decision. They don't miss a trick. If a bunt down the first baseline is called a foul, the Russians will argue until blue in the face that it was a fair ball. Finally, the opposing side gets tired of wrangling and arguing and gives in.

MOLOTOFF COCKTAIL

The hard-hitting, mercurial foreign minister of Russia has changed his tactics a lot since the United Nations conference at San Francisco. Also, since the council of foreign ministers in London last September.

At Paris, Molotov is playing his cards more carefully. Perhaps he realizes that public opinion has crystallized against Russia. At any rate, instead of hurling Molotov cocktails when things go against him, he has been curiously calm.

First Jinrikisha Was Made By an American—in Japan

We associate the jinrikisha with Japan, and rightly so, but here's something curious you'll want to know. The first jinrikisha there was made by an American.

Mrs. Jonathan Groble, wife of an American missionary, fell ill in Yokohama. Her husband, the Rev. Jonathan Groble, looked up a picture of a baby carriage and showed it to a Japanese carpenter. Between the two, they made a jinrikisha for Mrs. Groble's convenience.

OVERNIGHT GUEST

By BEN AMES WILLIAMS

THE STORY THIS FAR: Adam Bruce, FBI operator, Inspector Tope and Mrs. Tope met in the Maine woods. Tope found a man murdered in a cabin. The body was first identified as Mr. Ledford, head of New England Builders. A car believed to have been used in the murder was raised from the quagmire, with a woman's murdered body inside. Fred had been found that both the murdered man and the woman had been administered dope prior to their murder. The case, with the suicide of Karl, seemed to have blown up in Tope's face and Joe Dane, assistant D.A., took over the case. Tope, however, still had plans and asked Bruce to help without saying what he had in mind.

CHAPTER XIII

"Stay and stay, as if you didn't know when to go. Stay till I come." He turned to Mr. Eberly. "I expect you've got old clothes and fishing tackle up at the lodge?" he suggested.

"Clothes, yes. Fishing things are at home. Why?"

"I'll lend you mine," said Tope. "Wait here." He turned to Mrs. Tope. "You come along, ma'am," he suggested mildly, "—case I can't find things."

So they departed toward Cascade together, and Adam wondered what instructions Tope was giving Mrs. Tope. Then the old man returned alone, rod in hand, pockets bulging.

"I've got all you'll need, Mr. Eberly," he said. "Now I want to make a phone-call to Whitlock—we may need him. Then I'll be with you."

Upon the dot of half-past four, Mr. Eberly, alone, wearing shoe-pacs, riding breeches, a loose flannel shirt and a bulky hunting coat buttoned to his throat, came in his own car up the drive to the Ledford place in the hills above Ridgcomb. Mr. Eberly was rather pale, but steady.

The driveway forked, a little below the house; one way led to the house itself, the other toward the garages and the service wing. Mr. Eberly turned in that direction, and as he came to the court upon which the garages faced, he pressed his horn.

There were living quarters above the stalls for the cars. At one of the windows there a man appeared, called: "Right, Carl. I'll be down."

Mr. Eberly stayed in the car, kept his engine running. A pulse was thumping faintly in his throat. Ledford, his fishing gear in his hands, a moment later appeared. He came briskly toward the car, a gray-haired little man with a long nose, deep lines framing his mouth, something suggestive of the Oriental in the cast of his eyes. He glanced behind him toward the house, climbed into the car, grasped Eberly by the hand.

"How are you, Carl?"

"First rate," Eberly assured him. He added: "I phoned to make sure you had arrived. You so often have to change your plans."

"Lucky you did," Ledford agreed. "My sister has called. Your Miss Dewain, and an iron-jawed woman I don't know. Alice fusses about my wearing woods clothes in the house. That's why I told you to come here instead of the front door." And he said: "The trout should rise. Wind's westerly."

Eberly made no comment. He was guiding the car up the winding road toward the trout pond, and a thick growth of hemlock and pine had already hidden from their view the house below them.

Ledford remarked: "I'm in a fishing mood, Carl. Sick of New York. I'd like to stay up here a month and do nothing but fish with you."

"How are things in New York?" Ledford said, moving his shoulders as though to shake off a burden. "Well, I've had an unpleasant few days. Holdom has gone wrong, Carl. But let me forget business. Been doing any fishing?"

"Got a new rod," Eberly replied. "And I've gone back to snelled flies."

"The trout won't know the difference," Ledford chuckled. "Well, here we are."

Eberly pulled up beside the boat-house, and they got out and began to set up their rods. "We're here just at the right time," Ledford decided. "Best fishing is from now till dark."

Eberly nodded, and they turned toward the boat-house.

Ledford was ahead, Eberly behind, and Eberly cleared his throat rather loudly, and he asked in a strained tone:

"Rufus, you feel all right?"

Ledford whirled to look at him. "Certainly! I'm tired, but I'm always tired. Why?"

"I don't quite know," Eberly admitted. "Something about you seems—different. Your voice, and the way you handle that rod, and you look a little thinner."

Ledford laughed, not mirthfully. "If you'd been working as hard as I—and I've a slight cold."

Eberly nodded. "So have I. That's why I bundled up against this wind." He added insistently: "I don't know what it is. The way you walk, maybe. You look taller."

"None sense," Ledford turtly insisted. "Come. Get in!" He said, "We came into the water."

retorted with a laugh. "They hear the rowlocks as soon as we leave the dock. Time you got over being afraid of a canoe, old man."

Eberly grinned. "Oh, all right. My life is in your hands," he said, and took the front seat. He held to the edge of the dock while Ledford got in, then took his paddle, and they moved away, out of the little cove, around the wooded point, across the pond.

Once Eberly turned half around in his seat to look back. The boat-house was completely hidden by the wooded point between. The wind was behind them, toward the mouth of the gorge where the dam held back these waters. Ledford, when they were a hundred yards offshore, said:

"Stop paddling, Carl, and let's try them here. We'll drift with the wind, fish the shoals here first, and the deep water afterward."

"Good enough," Eberly agreed. He laid down his paddle and began to cast, turning a little sideways so that his back cast would not interfere with Ledford. Thus he was able to see the other man out of the corner of his eye, and this somehow was consoling. The back of his neck no longer crawled; his spine was no longer cold.

Yet he cast badly, his line a tangle on the water. But Ledford, he saw, did no better. The other's line splashed and slatted against the side of the canoe. Ledford may have felt Eberly's sidelong glance, for he said:

"This line's sticky. Need a new one, I guess." And then he said: "Hullo, you're perspiring, Carl! Better unbutton that coat."

Eberly hesitated. "I am a little hot," he agreed, and—his back toward the other man—he loosened the upper buttons. He said: "You've forgotten how to cast, Rufus."

There was a momentary pause. They had drifted, Eberly perceived, out into the deep water where the old brook-channel ran.

And then Ledford said: "I'll try it standing up. Always could do better so."

He got uncertainly to his feet, and seemed to totter. And suddenly they were both in the water. The canoe, as Ledford in falling clung to it, dipped one gunwale and thus overturned, the other gunwale coming down hard across Eberly's hips as, belatedly, he scrambled clear.

The point that hid the boat-house was well over a hundred yards away; the dam and the near shoulder of the gorge perhaps fifty yards. Ledford, without a word, began to swim toward the rocky shore beside the dam.

Eberly did not call out as he watched Ledford swim so quietly away.

Joe Dane, in the hour of Tope's humiliation, was quick with a theory of his own. "The whole thing's plain enough," he declared. "Ledford was having an affair with Mrs. Kell, brought her to Dewain's Mill that night, and Kell trailed them there and killed both of them."

They stood in Will Banston's chapel. Quill was gone, Doctor Medford busy somewhere in the small rooms behind. Mat Cumberland scratched his head.

So Joe remembered Earl Priddy and Isaac Murrell, and took Cumberland to hear their stories. Cumberland questioned like at length, and was half convinced at last that Rufus Ledford had been on Friday night in Little Bear. Afterward they dropped Earl and Ike at Dewain's Mill, and Mat Cumberland himself thanked them for great services to the commonwealth, while Mr. Murrell and Mrs. Priddy stood by in excited pride. Then Joe and Cumberland drove on.

It was just past five when they came up the drive to the Ledford mansion. Joe recognized Bee Dewain's car at the steps. "What's she doing here?" he wondered, but the district attorney had no answer to propose.

Joe rang the bell and asked to see Miss Ledford. She came to them in the small reception room, and Joe said grimly:

"Miss Ledford, I've an unpleasant duty. This is District Attorney Cumberland. I'm Mr. Dane, his assistant. We've found a man dead; and some people think it is your brother, Mr. Ledford. Will you view the body, identify it?"

The frail old woman turned white as snow. "My brother?" she whispered.

"Yes, Rufus Ledford."

"But Rufus is here!" Miss Ledford protested; her weak voice somehow desperate.

"Here?" It was Joe's turn to be shaken. Then he smiled. "Now, Miss Ledford, I'm sorry, but you mustn't try to deceive us."

"But he is," she insisted, urgently. "He's up at the trout pond fishing with Mr. Eberly."

Joe Dane looked at Mat, and he demanded angrily: "Where is this trout pond?"

"Why, you take the road past the garage," Miss Ledford told him. "You can't miss it." Her voice was tremulous, her white hand pressed to her bosom.

Dane turned. "Come on, Mat," he said harshly. "We'll soon see!"

But Mat said: "Look out, Joe!" Miss Ledford, swaying like a reed, had slipped softly to the floor.

They were alone in the reception room, but the door into the hall was open. At Mat's ejaculation, Bee Dewain appeared there in the doorway, Mrs. Tope behind her. Joe had tried, too late, to catch the fainting woman; he was on his knees now, beside her; he looked up stupidly at Bee, and the girl with a gesture swept him aside:

"Get out of here, both of you!" she cried. "You hearless idiots! We'll take care of her!"

Adam carried a rifle; Whitlock, the last to emerge, carried a small outboard motor; awkwardly.

"All right, Adam," Tope said briskly. "You and Beal get out on the point, where you can see. Whitlock, put the motor on the rowboat, and don't make any noise. Adam, we won't start till you shoot. Miss him once; but hit him if you have to."

Adam nodded, moved quickly away. Behind him, Tope and Whitlock were busy for a while. Then they waited, silent, ready.

Adam lay prone in the underbrush on the point, the rifle trained. The canoe was well offshore; he saw the men in it stop paddling and begin to fish. His pulse was shaking him.

Later, Ledford stood up in the canoe; and then he lurched overboard and fell. The canoe overturned, floated with its bottom just awash. Adam, his eyes peering through the sights, saw Eberly floating with his head well out of water, saw Ledford swimming toward the shore. Ten yards of open water lay between the two men.

Ledford turned to look back. And then he began to swim back toward the other man. Eberly threw up one arm!

Adam pressed the trigger; he saw the water leap upward where the bullet hit, midway between the two men. Ledford looked toward the sound of the report; and at the same instant the outboard motor on the rowboat in the cove started with a staccato roar.

Adam threw in another shell; but then the boat, racing toward the two men in the water, came between him and Ledford. He leaped to his feet as the boat came to where the two men were.

Whitlock handled the boat; Tope was in the bow. Whitlock cut off the engine, and they coasted to a stop. Ledford had reached Mr. Eberly, was supporting the other man in the water.

"It's all right, Carl!" he said reassuringly, in the sudden silence as the engine died. "Take it easy. You're all right now."

And then Tope and Whitlock were helping them both into the boat. Without a word, when this was done, Whitlock started the engine, preventing conversation; and he swung the boat back toward the cove. Whitlock sat in the stern, Tope in the bow, Ledford and Eberly side by side on the midships thwart.

Ledford, facing forward, saw men appear on the wharf, as they approached. Two came leaping from a car; two came running along the shore. One of these two held a rifle in his hands. But the buzzing roar of the engine made it impossible for the moment for Ledford to ask questions which the sight of these strangers provoked; and when the engine cut, they slid alongside the wharf, Joe Dane had the first word.

"What in blazes!" he demanded. "Tope, what are you doing here?"

Tope said gently: "Call it meddling, Joe."

Then Ledford cut in, his face white with anger.

"Just a minute!" he exclaimed. "I've a few questions to ask, myself," he added. "Of course, Mr. Eberly and I are grateful for your rescue; but after all, you're trespassers." He glanced at the gun in Adam's hand. "Poachers too, apparently. Out of season, and on private land. May I have an explanation?"

GRASSROOTS

by WRIGHT A. PATTERSON

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

BIG CITY ADVERTISING PROVIDES 'FREE' LESSONS CARSON, PIRIE, SCOTT & CO., of Chicago, operates a State street department store with sales running into many millions of dollars each year. That volume of sales is attracted through the store's advertising, appearing every day in the Chicago daily papers.

One of the highest paid executives of that store is the advertising manager. He knows sales psychology; what will cause people to buy. He knows the what, when and how of effective advertising. Every paragraph, every sentence, every phrase and every word of the copy of his advertising is carefully weighed in the scales of his trained ability.

Some 100 miles west of Chicago is a good country town of some 1,500 people, surrounded by a trade territory in which there are another 1,500 to 2,000 people. That town has several good stores with adequate stocks of merchandise to meet the requirements of the people of that community, but whose sales do not represent anything like all the purchases of the town and its trade territory.

No store in that town does, or could expect to do, a large enough business to warrant the employment of a capable, efficient advertising manager. The newspaper of the town would profit from the employment of such a man as would know the what, when and how of advertising by each of those local merchants. The publisher bewails the fact that he does not get the advertising he should because the merchants do not possess the know-how of effective advertising.

It has not occurred to either those merchants, or to that publisher that the extremely capable advertising manager employed by Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., is showing them every day, every week, what to advertise, when to advertise, and how to advertise the merchandise they have to offer. That advertising manager cannot cover up his ability. He displays it in every ad carried by the Chicago dailies. Through that advertising, circulated in that local town and its trade territory, through the distribution of Chicago daily papers in the community, Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. is attracting sales to the people that might be buying in the home stores. Advertising of equal effectiveness would keep much of that business at home.

What is true of Chicago and that local Illinois town, is equally true of all sections of the nation. It is a condition that could be remedied to some extent, at least, if both the merchants and the publishers would but watch, and imitate, the advertising methods and copy of the effective advertising managers employed by the large stores of the nearest cities. Each day and each week these high salaried, capable men offer, for all to see, examples of what, when and how advertising, the kind that sells merchandise. These examples can easily be applied to the stocks offered by the local stores, by either the merchants or the publisher. It would mean increased profits for both.

EUROPEAN NATIONS TRY TO 'BLACKMAIL' UNITED STATES

UNCLE SAM, it would seem, has become the victim of blackmail on the part of European nations. They know we wish to preserve world peace, with no reparations or territorial demands, other than a few small islands in the Pacific as naval and air bases. They are willing to co-operate so long as we keep on paying. "Pay, or we start shooting," is the demand and threat. England would have us pay for peace in Palestine, Russia would have us finance her reparation bill against Italy, Greece, Austria, Hungary, France and others are demanding American dollars to keep them quiet and peaceable. It might be well to show them a few battleships and atom bombs, and call their bluff. We have done most of the paying, and a fair share of the fighting in the effort to establish world peace for everybody. There is a limit and we have passed that limit.

THE TWO CENTS TAX on each dollar of wages earned—one cent paid by the worker and one by the employer—has been enough to meet all the expense of social security. In addition, it has produced a large surplus, represented by government IOUs. To increase the tax beyond the present two cents could mean only that the government is seeking additional general revenues to meet the federal deficit, or have more money to spend.

For years Clarence Darrow, famous attorney who had saved a hundred murderers from the gallows in his day, and a fellow lawyer were close friends. The latter spent many nights phoning. When the friend died, Mr. Darrow visited the widow to offer his condolences. She stepped out of the room for a moment, and another visitor whispered: "Clarence, do you see that little metal box on the mantelpiece? Jack was cremated and his wife keeps his ashes in that receptacle." "What a pity," sighed Mr. Darrow, "for now he'll have to stay in nights!"
