Art Exhibit and Tea Held Here

The art exhibit and tea held at the Carrizozo Woman's Club building last Sunday afternoon was attended by about 100. Mr. Bopst, critic and exhibitor from Santa Fe was here with the display, the "New Mexico Scene". Some of the paintings were very beautiful. One by Mr. Hurd was a New Mexico ranch scene and was greatly appreciated by many. A painting by Alice Sloan Anderson was of the Lincoln County Motors service station and garage.

Following are names of several of the artists and a brief sketch of their lives:

Peter Hurd, of San Patricio, is a native of New Mexico, born in Roswell, in 1904. He is known across the country for his temperas, water colors and lithographs depicting the ranch country and people of southern New Mexico. A pupil of the eminent N. C. Wyeth, he married Wyeth's daughter, Henriette, a distinguished portrait painter in her own right.

Ira McAfee, of Taos, was born in Gunnison, Colorado, in 1900, but has been a New Mexican for more than twenty years. She secured her art training from the Haz School of Art, Los Angeles; Art Student's League and National Academy, New York City; and under James McBurney, Chicago. Her particular interest is in the portrayal of animal life, especially horses, which she handles in both literal and decorative manners. Her preferred medium is oil.

Bert Phillips, the first resident Taos painter, was born in New York City in 1838. He studied at the National Academy of Design and Art Students League, New York City, and in Paris with Constant and Laurens. He calls himself an "Observationist and compositionist" and his oils portray an integral part of the New Mexico scene.

Aileen Shannon, of Las Cruces, was born in Hillsburg, Miss., in 1898 and first came to New Mexico in 1917. She studied at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia, with William Chase and Thomas Anshutz. Mrs. Shannon's portraits and landscape are done principally in oil, although she also likes to work in pencil.

Joseph Henry Sharp, a pioneer member of the Taos Art Colony, was born in Bridgeport, Ohio, in 1839. He studied at the Royal Academy in Munich under Marr; at the Julian Academy in Paris under Laurens and Constant; in Antwerp under Veriat; with Duveneck in Spain and Italy. Over 100 of his realistic Indian studies and portraits done in oil are in the permanent collections of galleries and institutions throughout the country.

Mrs. Tom White and Mrs. Kelley Stevenson poured. Dainty sandwiches, cup cakes and mints were served with the tea and coffee. Junior Club members Misses Hope Snow, Janet Mae Shafer, Martha Miller and Patricia Stevenson assisted with the hostess duties.

Basketball Games

Last Friday night Vaughn High School Hoop quintets journeyed to Carrizozo and met the Grizzlies 1st and 2nd strings.

2nd team game was fast and exciting score was 44 to 22 in favor of Vaughn.

At the drawing for the 20lb turkey, C. A. Branum was the winner.

1st teams were evenly matched and all star players with the final score of Vaughn 39 and Carrizozo 38. A fast game with a tied score from the start until a few minutes from the final gun.

The Referees were Salvador Ortiz, Joe Phillips and Bennie Barnett.

Chavez to Talk Road Issue in Mexico

Senator Chavez said that he will discuss New Mexico's international road problems directly with Mexican government officials.

Chavez will leave Washington Monday to attend inaugural ceremonies for President Miguel Aleman at Mexico City on December 1.

While in Mexico, he told a reporter, he will meet with Governor Mira Montes of Chihuahua and Mexican highway officials with reference to construction of a highway from Chihuahua to Columbus, N. M.

Before leaving Washington, he said, he will discuss with the veterans administration reported plans for closing the veteran hospital at Fort Bayard.

"We understand the officer in charge of the hospital has recommended that it be closed", Chavez said. He termed such a proposal as "preposterous".—Roswell Daily Record.

A box supper and auction, and dance will be held at the Country Club Nov. 30, 1946. Proceeds to be used to buy a heating plant for the Carrizozo Woman's Club Building.

Frankie Silva was here on business last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McDonald of Tulsa were here on business Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Richard and son were here shopping Friday of last week.

Mrs. Ina J. Mayer has been ill at the Turner hospital since last Monday.

I will be at Lane Sisters Tuesday, Dec. 3 p. m. and Wednesday, Dec. 4, until 1:30. Mrs. Ira Johnson.

Mrs. Pete Johnson, Sr., is visiting her daughters, Mrs. Ira Greer and Mrs. Bryan Gazler in Tucumcari.

Mr. Bill Gallacher pleasantly surprised us with a delicious venison roast last Saturday which we enjoyed Sunday.

Senator Chavez and wife, have gone to Mexico City to attend the inaugural Ceremonies of the President of Mexico.

Mrs. Elmer Eaker invited Mr. Jack Crow to give a piano recital at her home Tuesday afternoon. Several guests attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete O'Rear and little son returned to their home this week after a pleasant visit to relatives and friends here.

John Phillips of Capitan underwent a tonsilectomy at the Turner hospital last week. He is the son of Mrs. Rosella Phillips.

As no proper bids were received on the Community hall all bids were refused and republication is necessary, which starts in today's News-Outlook.

Mr. Jess Roberts has gone to Hotchkiss, Colorado for an indefinite stay. His sister, Mrs. Ada Edmiston sent him the News-Outlook to keep him informed of Carrizozo affairs.

Mr. Lewis Farris had an accident last Monday which was rather serious when, he plunged his skinning knife through his left wrist. They took him to the Turner hospital where six stitches were taken.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snow spent Sunday at El Paso and brought their little grand son, Allen White, home with them to stay until Thanksgiving when the Snow family will go down to spend the holiday at Yaleta with Mr. and Mrs. White.

Mr. Edward Penfield has been extremely ill. He is in the Fort Stanton hospital. The Rev. Mr. Martin and Mr. Frank E. Smith came from Fort Stanton last Friday to meet his sister, Miss Ruth Penfield of El Paso, who came up to visit him.

Tax Valuations on Livestock Increased

Santa Fe—Acting in the face of protests from New Mexico livestock dealers, the State Tax Commission announced Friday increases of 20 percent and more on assessed valuations of cattle and sheep.

The increase in the assessed valuations for tax purposes become effective next Jun. 1.

Chief State Tax Commissioner H. B. Sellers declined to estimate how much tax money the increased valuations will bring in, but indicated the amount may be around 20 percent above current taxes paid on cattle and sheep.

He said that 828,180 cattle were listed on last year's tax roll at a valuation of $15,904,340. Sheep listed on last year's totaled 880,498 head at an assessed valuation of $2,848,715.

Assessed valuation on graded bulls was increased from $41.25 to $50. These other increases were announced: graded cows, from $20.50 to $25; three-year-old steers, from $16.50 to $25; yearlings, from $13.75 to $15.

Valuations on sheep were increased as follows: graded rams, from $7.50 to $9; ewes over one year old, from $3.25 to $4.50; wethers over one year old, $2.50 to $3.25; sheep under one year old, $2.50 to $3.25.

New Mexico livestock dealers appeared at a tax hearing Tuesday to protest increases in livestock assessed valuations, and were told by Sellers that cattle have been carried on the tax rolls the past few years at an average valuation of $19.32 and sheep at an average of $3.23. These figures, he said, were much too low.

The Virginia State Corporation Commission has ordered John I. Lewis to appear to answer charges that he has violated the State's "blue sky" law which forbids the sale of securities without first having qualified the said securities or without having obtained a certification of exemption as required by law.

Department of Game and Fish

Santa Fe, N. Mex. Nov. 14. (Special)—Due to an error in printing the reverse side of the trapper's license, the following explanation of the far trapping regulation is given. Season during which it is legal to trap protected fur bearing animals, except muskrat is Nov. 1 to Mar. 31. This includes foxes, coons, badgers, weasels, civet cat, ringtail cat and masked ferret. Muskrat season above elevations of 7,500 ft. in Taos, Sandoval and Colfax counties, is Oct. 15 to Mar. 31. Below elevations of 7,500 feet season for muskrat is Jan. 1 to Feb. 28. No open season on mink, marmot, and pika. Beavers may be trapped by land owners, where damage is being done to property, under special permit.

No license required to trap or shoot coyotes, bobcats, house skunks and there is no closed season on these species.

Willie Hanson proprietor of the Golden Key Night Club of Capitan left this week for New York to meet his brother Cal Hanson and family who will arrive in New York on or about Dec. 1st the first immigrant from the family from Denmark since 1909 when the war clouds began to fly over Europe.

Pilot Killed In Plane Crash Near Ruidoso

Ruidoso—A small plane crashed seven and a half miles west of here about noon Friday, killing its pilot and sole occupant, who apparently had tried to land the craft on U. S. highway 70.

Lincoln county sheriff Nick Vega said papers found on the dead man indicated he was M. L. Schreier of Brawley, Calif., and that he had recently left Clinton, Okla.

The plane was discovered by driver of an El Paso, Tex., Roswell, N. M. bus at 12:35 p. m.

Vega said the plane's wheel tracks stretched along the highway for 300 feet, indicating the pilot had attempted a forced landing. At the end of the tracks, and 100 feet from the over-turned plane, investigators found a wing tip snapped off by a tree.

Vega described the plane as a Stearman (PT-17) primary trainer, painted yellow with no military markings. The pilot wore civilian clothing, but papers found on the body indicated he had been a first lieutenant in the Marine corps.

Due to ill health, Mrs. Perry Sears will take a leave of absence from the Capitan postoffice for an indefinite period of time. Mr. and Mrs. Sears will move to Carlsbad where they intend to live for the next few months for the benefit of Mrs. Sears' health.

The football boys of Capitan were given a banquet last week sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. The Capitan Senior Girls served. Principal speaker was Mr. Irving of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce. Mr. L. D. Merchant introduced the speaker of the evening. He prefaced his speech of introduction by talking to the boys about their sports life, and their school life and urged them to "fight the good fight."

Methodist Church

F. J. Johnston, Pastor
Yes! Trinity is a big white Church. A white elephant, some one may say economically, socially and intellectually. It is to the tight-wads, the wildbunch and the mentally reticent, but not to the Lord of Heaven. The preachers of Lincoln County have no apologies to make for their profession or message. We're connected with the biggest business on earth, are supporters of the highest social standards and campaigners of the most rational philosophy in thought.

The hullabaloo of election is over, thousands are ransacking the mountains for deer while the Church Of The Living God still stands waiting in the place that Isaiah gave it nearly eight hundred years B. C. But it will get due recognition one of these days.

"It shall come to pass — that the Mountain Of The Lord's House shall be established in the top of the mountains and shall be exalted above the hills — and many people shall say, "Let us go up to the house of the God of Jacob (and He) will teach us of His Ways", Isa. 2:2-3.

Sermon Topic next Sunday: "The Mountain Of The Lord's House." That stray bullet of religious indifference has wounded many a gospel preacher. Maybe we should get us a red cap when we answer the call to the mountain next Sunday? Make it a date, please.

New Mexico Boys Ranch

Box 261, Albuquerque, Nov. 22. —A statewide appeal for funds to carry forward the New Mexico Boys Ranch program will be made starting next week, it was announced today by Al Bueck, president of the organization, who stated that at a recent meeting of directors and advisors plans for raising funds were outlined and Joe Ruvalo, one of the directors, was appointed general chairman.

"This is an extensive program" Bueck said, "and operations must be on a large scale in order to help the large number of boys who need it and to make it economically sound. We have had to start from scratch, but buildings to accommodate the ranch father and mother and the first group of boys have been completed, 125 acres were cultivated this year to provide feed for stock, the foundation herd of fine Hereford cattle donated by Mr. Albert K. Mitchell is at the ranch, along with a minimum of farm and ranch equipment, three miles of fencing have been completed, essential household furnishings have been installed and the Flying B R has commenced operations."

Mr. Robert Ridge of Socorro brought us some of his giant sweet potatoes. All the potatoes weighed 4 and 5 pounds and several ounces each.

We wish to mention that Mrs. Ada Edmiston brought us some very beautiful flowers and they brightened our dining room and our lives, for a number of days.

The Question Before The House

The big question most home-planners face is "When can we buy or build?" It has become quite obvious that the supply of building materials will fall far behind demand for a long time.

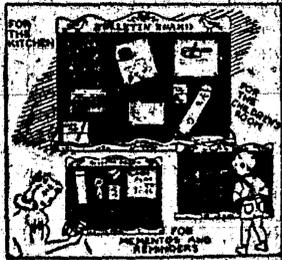

That doesn't mean you should become despondent or stop your home planning. On the contrary, the months ahead give you an excellent opportunity to plan carefully and have a better home in the long run.

One thing to check into is financing. A good mortgage plan is highly important to your peace of mind and enjoyment of life. We are mortgage specialists and will be glad to give you the benefit of our experience. Come in and talk your home ideas over with us.

Decorated Bulletin Board of Plywood

BIRDS and stenciled lettering decorate this useful bulletin board. It also has a decorated trough at the bottom to hold chalk and thumbtacks for you can write on it as well as use it for pin-ups. It has many practical uses that will make your household run more smoothly.

It is made from a piece of plywood painted with a special black paint that you can prepare easily from the formula given on the pattern. The decorative pieces on the board may be cut out with a hand saw or a 1/4" saw.

Pattern 267 gives complete directions for making with actual size cutting guides for all shaped pieces. Manual designs and color guide are included. The boards for the quaint Dutch birds and hearts may be used over and over in decorating many different articles. To get the pattern, send 15 cents with name and address direct to:

She Got the Bird

Russian basso Feodor Chalapin was asked by a society hostess to sing at one of her pet benefits. He agreed, but demanded a staggering fee.

"You must be joking," she gasped. "After all, this is a benefit. I thought you would sing for nothing."

"My dear woman," growled Chalapin, who was always strictly business, "only birds sing for nothing."

Russian delegates are privately stating that if the veto power of the Big 4 is cancelled, Russia will take it on the lam for home. It will be denied, but the British foreign office is using heavy pressure (politically) on American delegates—to play ball with British policy—or else. Those who have suffered from Bilbo's cussedness will be overjoyed to learn that he is in agony. Can't we hear, ever again, Alibuster. Might kill him if he tries. Can hardly whisper, too, without something like a stiletto cutting his throat. A guy on the coast who does a column called "Piker Peak" is threatening to sue Earl Wilson for titling his comical book that way. That's what comes from writing books. And why write books? They invariably show up in Broadway drug store windows (on sale for 15c) a few months later. A certain syndicate is letting column-raiders take all they want for their alleged books. Then, next year, demand an accounting and royalties from their publishers at $1 per copy.

New York Novelists: She had been his woman for years. She had him well-trained, too. Example: If she felt he was neglecting her (not phoning or seeing her often enough), she got immediate action with her "systems." She'd dial his number—wait for the phone to ring once, then hang up. This saving her pride by not "actually calling him." He knew what the One Ring meant, and he would call right back. This system, however, was her undoing. When she started two-lining him, some of his pals heard about it but didn't want to wound him by informing him directly. Sooooo one 2 p. m., one of them dialed his number—let it ring once—and hang up. Our Hero immediately phoned her. A man's voice answered. And That (as Confucius used to say) Was That.

A newspaper's boom for Contant of Harvard (as the Ideal Republican) has brought many favorable replies. A scandal bigger than the Garson case is brewing. Somebody took a powder after a big pay-off was made. An air-purifier is to hit the market soon. It should make fight arenas and night spots breathable. The Tax agency (the Russians) and a Chicago gazette's offices at Lake Success are the only press staffs with locks on their doors. Pat O'Brien, the star, tells chums "no more producing." Learned his lesson with "Crackup." When the chaplain at Lakehurst naval station (he's a red-hot southpaw hurler) joined the officers' bowling team there, they promptly changed the name of the team from "Barflies" to "Holy-Rollers." Since the N. Y. recreation committee closed, they report that it is "impossible to get theater seats for vets." Vets well enough to leave hospital beds for relaxation. Showmen oughta be ashamed!

Using Cotton Bags for Garments Reduces Fabric Cost to Trifle

By Etta Haley

THESE days there's a price tag on everything, so when we do come across something free we really stand up and cheer. What is free, you ask? Flour bags, for instance.

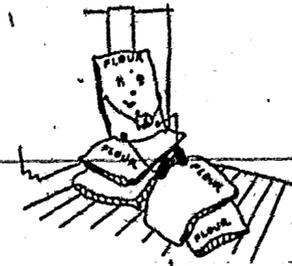

Those of you who buy flour or feed in large quantities know that the material in the bags is well worth sewing effort, and they can be made into some of the most attractive garments you've ever seen. I've seen many attractive prints in such bags that make lovely blouses or table linen. And that doesn't even begin to scratch the surface of their possibilities.

Don't scorn the white bags either, not with all the attractive colors that are available in dyes. Two or three of the white bags can be dyed at the same time, and there's at least three or three and a quarter yards of material there for an attractive school dress for the teen-aged daughter.

Most women recognize the value of flour, feed, sugar and salt bags, but too often their eyes are closed to their possibilities for anything except towels. However, experience proves that we can use bag fabrics for not only those things already mentioned but also skirts, draperies, coveralls, lingerie, pillows, etc. Just ask some bright 4-H girl how many things she can name that can be made from cotton bags, and she'll amaze you.

Cotton Bags Make Year-Round Dresses

You don't have to confine wearing apparel out of cotton bags for just the warmer months. After all, cottons are a year-round fabric. Before you begin a dress project, for example, collect enough of the bags so you can cut out an attractive pattern. Then rip these apart and dye them carefully to a shape that will fit you perfectly.

Collect several cotton bags...

Dry the material and press very carefully. It's no fun trying to trace and sew something that looks worn and wrinkled, so prepare the material to look like freshly cut bolt goods.

Some of the choices which you can sew beautifully from cotton bag fabric are these: A tailored but casual dress with long or three-quarter length sleeves with contrasting colored stitching as the main trimming; a full-skirted dress with touches of dainty eyelet or lingerie trimming in the sleeves and at the edge of the skirt; a tailored dress made of two different colors that blend well together. This may be print and plain material combined, or two solid colors combined.

Lay out the pieces of your pattern on the material before you do any cutting whatsoever. The fabric guide of the pattern will not be of too much help, inasmuch as you are using material which will not fit regular yard lengths. Do not cut until you have fitted everything together and then pinned the pattern to the fabric. Pinking shears are ideal for finishing the edges of this cotton material.

To make pretty dresses.

After the material is cut, sewing is done just as you would on any other dress, no matter what the fabric. Just because you are using cotton bags, however, don't get careless with the sewing. Give it all the care you would if you were making a dress out of ten dollar a yard

Fashion Flashes

Extravagant gold embroidery shows off well on rich black suits, and you'll see the same motif on hats, both black, brown and other colors.

The suits that are soft in silhouette and detail are the most important suit news of the year. They outclass the fussy ones in appearance and wear many times better.

Drum Bonnet

A drum bonnet, designed by Sally-Victor, is made of smoky white felt with a band of gold braid across the front of the crown to accent the milk scarf that forms a snug wrap around the shoulders.

material, and the results will be well worth the effort.

How to Prepare Cotton Bag Goods

Get the whole family to help you in collecting the bags and make sure you have enough of them before you start on your bag-project. As soon as you get a bag, rip it apart and remove the labels. The different type labels respond to different methods of removal. On some bags, they can be removed by soaking in warm soapsuds overnight. Preliminary scrubbing, soaking and boiling will take out others.

Exposure to direct sunlight is a good method of bleaching the bags in many cases.

When labels do not respond to the above outlined treatments, soak the bags overnight in kerosene or turpentine, then wash in soap and water. If any color remains, treat them with a commercial bleach. Always remember which treatment works best with certain kinds of bags and file the information for future reference.

If you are unable to remove all trace of the label, finish the job by dyeing one of the darker colors that will cover up the last traces. Dark brown, navy blue, dark gray, green or black are deep enough for this. Black is the only one which will completely cover a black ink label.

If you want to use bag material for lingerie, use the light-weight material and dye in lovely pastel shades such as pale pink, yellow or blue. Heavier bags may be used for coveralls, work smocks, skirts and slacks. In-between weights of material are good for draperies and curtains, pillows and table linens.

Trimming of all kinds adds a dressed-up, finished appearance to any garment, especially if cotton bag material is used. Select it with as much care as you do the colors of your dress.

Ironing Problems

The way your dress looks after laundering depends a great deal upon the ironing technique you employ. Here is the approved order: Iron sleeves first, then the blouse. Then turn to the skirt and iron the hem up and down, never across the width of the hem. Iron collar and trimmings last.

Pleats: Iron the hem and the skirt on the wrong side first. Put the pleats in on the right side with a pressing cloth over the fabric to prevent shine. If there are a lot of pleats, pin or baste them in place, then press. Always iron with the grain of the material.

Shoulders: Use a sleeve board or tailor's cushion to make them neat and smooth. Adjust the cap of the sleeve over the tailor's cushion and press the shoulder as far down as the iron will take it. Avoid poking iron into the seams.

Zippers: Close zipper before ironing, then place a thick towel under the zipper, a pressing cloth over it. This prevents an ugly, shiny ridge.

TREASURE OF THE SEA

BY George E. Tibbitts WNUU, Raleigh

THE STORY TOLD EARLIER The crew of a small sailing vessel in the Caribbean pick up Dick Terrell, a pilot on a raft. He realizes that he is among men little better than pirates.

CHAPTER X

The Caribs were checked again by a volley of stones, and withdrew after that to a safe distance, while Burley and Tucu held a consultation.

Dick struggled to his feet, a little bewildered and uncertain what course to pursue. There were six white men, now that Pettigrew had been killed, and a dozen Caribs attacking them, an even disposition of forces, perhaps if they had been equally equipped for battle—for one white man could ordinarily handle two Caribs—but armed with pistols their enemies lacked the black men had the advantage.

"Captain Bedford may have pistols or rifles that Tucu overlooked," Dick reasoned. "With two or three we could rout the Caribs."

Animated by this thought, he turned and began scrambling down the rocks, scarring his hands and knees and nearly losing his balance once or twice through careless haste.

Rose recoiled and turned deathly white, but Captain Bedford's face set in hard lines without a trace of fear in it. "Then we must get ready for them," he said grimly. "Did they see ye?"

"No, but I saw them." The old skipper nodded. "Can ye shoot?"

"Yes, if I had anything to shoot with. Tucu disarmed me, and took every weapon off the schooner."

"Did he?" The skipper's face was wreathed in a crafty smile. "I reckon now," he added a moment later, "he overlooked some of 'em."

"We could clean 'em up alone, but maybe it would be better to get down to the sailors, an' let 'em have some sort of fun. Reckon they'd enjoy it," grinned the captain.

"Yes," nodded Dick, "we must have nearly enough guns for all. We must hurry."

They started up the companion, but when they climbed over the side of the schooner to get ashore Rose suddenly protested.

"Aren't you going to help me ashore, Dick?"

"No," he replied gravely, "you must stay on the Betty. We'll come back to you."

She sniffed and tossed her head in the air. "If Father's going I'm going too," she answered.

Dick started to protest further, but Captain Bedford nudged him. "No use arguin'," he whispered. "I've spoilt her. She always has her way."

With a smile she acknowledged this "doubtful compliment," and climbed down to the mass of wreckage.

When they reached the summit of the cliff, the situation below was not changed. The Caribs were still at a safe distance, shooting occasionally at the breastwork behind which the white men were crouched. Their bullets went wide of the mark, which induced Captain Bedford to remark, "Ye can't never teach a Carib to shoot straight. Tain't born in 'em. Reckon we'll show 'em how to do it."

Dick had been scanning the rocks below with a careful estimate of the danger ahead. The shipwrecked men had reached the upper part of the beach, and it was possible to get within a hundred feet of them without exposing their bodies by following closely a ridge of outcropping boulders. When he indicated this to Captain Bedford, the old skipper nodded, and waited for him to lead.

Once more Dick urged Rose to remain behind, but she stubbornly shook her head and prepared to follow. The Caribs had their attention directed upon the breastwork of their enemies, and, not expecting danger from above, they never once raised their eyes to the summit of the cliff. This more than any skill on their part enabled the three to creep stealthily down the ridge until close to the hiding place of the sailors. Crouching there for a moment they considered the next move. Between them and the breastwork was an open stretch of flat sand. To cross this they had to expose their bodies to the cross fire of the Caribs.

"I'll go first," Dick whispered. "No, wait a minute," replied the skipper. "Likely's not them sailors will take ye for a flankin' party an' land a ton of stones on yer head. We got to let 'em know we're friends."

"How can we do it without alarmin' the Caribs?"

"Reckon we can't. But it's got to be done."

Suddenly, without warning of his intentions, the skipper raised his voice without deposing his head: "Aho, there, shipmates! Look

There was a puff of smoke and a sharp report.

aloft! Keep them stuns for the enemy, an' don't shy any of 'em aft! We're comin' to help ye."

The surprise and consternation of the sailors at the voice behind them was not greater than that of the Caribs. Dick saw Captain Tucu and Black Burley jump to their feet and scan the rocks with eager eyes.

"I reckon now ye can go," Captain Bedford whispered. "Ye're spryer'n me, an' can't do it quick'er."

"Give me all except two of the pistols," replied Dick. "You and Rose keep one apiece. Don't expose yourself. Keep Rose here with you."

"Reckon I ain't promisin' to keep her here," grinned the skipper, "but I'll try it."

The Automatics Turn the Tide

Dick nodded, and then vaulted the low ridge of rocks, and, crouching low, made a break across the open space. His sudden appearance was the signal for a volley of shots from the Caribs, but in anticipation of this he dodged and ducked so erratically that the bullets buried themselves in the sand at a safe distance on either side.

The sailors, forewarned, made no hostile demonstration, but watched him with gaping mouths and wide-open eyes. When he finally landed plump in their midst, they stretched forth arms to receive him. Recovering his breath, Dick said: "Now give them hell! Shoot to kill!"

The sight of the guns he began passing around brought grins of delight to the haggard faces.

"I haven't enough for all," Dick added. "So be careful. Who among you are the best shots?"

"I've killed a man at a hundred feet," replied a burly seaman, taking a gun, "an' my mate's nearly as good. Give him one."

The other two were handed to men who declared they were good shots, and were anxious to try their skill on the Caribs. Dick took charge and directed the shooting.

"They're cowards, and will run the moment we shoot," he said. "They don't know we're armed. So make the best of our chance. Single out our men, and shoot together."

He counted two and then raised a hand as a signal. Four vicious bullets sped toward their marks, and before they were well on their way others were following them. The automatics barked so continuously that half the Caribs were down before the others could tuck for shelter.

The sailors wanted to break cover and charge, but Dick restrained them. "No, they'll get some of you.

Keep covered until we get Tucu and Burley. The rest will surrender."

"Who's Tucu—their leader?" asked one of the seamen.

"Yes, he's the captain of the lugger, and Black Burley's the mate."

"Know 'em?"

"Sure, I've sailed with them."

The sailors eyed him curiously. In the lull that followed, one asked: "Wasn't ye on the City of Bahia?"

Dick nodded. "Thought I remembered yer face. Got away, did ye?"

Further conversation was interrupted by the unexpected barking of a gun far on their right. For a moment they thought a flanking party had crept up behind them; but almost simultaneously with the crash of the report there came a cry from the enemy. They saw a gigantic black man leap in the air and tumble face downward.

"Black-Burley!" exclaimed Dick. "Who shot him?" asked one of the sailors, uneasily glancing in the direction of the shot.

"Captain Bedford," smiled Dick. "He's trying to flank them."

The rest of the Caribs, with Tucu leading, had leaped from cover, and were making a run for their last refuge.

"After them!" yelled Dick, springing over the breastwork. "Don't let Tucu escape."

Dick led the assaulting party, but Tucu had a big start. It looked for a time as if he would escape, and Dick hesitated between keeping up the race and stopping to shoot. Perhaps in either case he would have lost if Tucu's vengeful nature hadn't temporarily handicapped him.

Hen Pettigrew lay directly in his path, where he had been left by the Caribs for dead; but Hen had as many lives as a cat, and despite the fact that he carried three bullets in his body he was a long way from being dead. He sat up and began struggling feebly to get on his feet. He was not aware of Tucu's presence until the latter stopped suddenly in his steps.

The sight of one of his enemies escaping when he could kill him was too much of a strain on Tucu's nature. He decided to linger long enough to put Hen out of the game. With a malevolent glint in his eyes, he leered at the half-dazed man, and said:

"I reckon ye don't need to get up."

He could have shot him on the run, but he wanted to make sure this time. He brought his gun close to Hen's head, thrusting it viciously between his eyes so he could stare his fate directly in the face. It was a brutal, bloodthirsty act, and for a moment Hen recoiled.

"Damn ye, take that!" grunted the half-breed.

Dick Saves the Life Of His Nemesis

There was an explosion, so close that the powder blackened Hen's face, but the bullet buried itself in the sand as Tucu's right hand dropped to his side, with the forearm broken close to the wrist.

Dick had taken advantage of his hesitation and shot at the hand holding the gun to Hen's face, pausing to aim carefully and deliberately to make sure he did not miss.

With a shriek and curse, the half-breed grasped his wounded wrist in his free hand, and seeing that escape was impossible he turned upon Dick like an enraged animal. All the venom of his nature flared up in his eyes.

Dick could have shot easily, but he hesitated. The man was wounded and unarmed, his gun having fallen to the ground. He could not shoot Tucu even when he had him at his mercy.

"It's all up, Tucu," he said, smiling as he advanced. "I won't kill you if you'll surrender. You can't get away."

"Ye won't shoot me if I surrender?" whined the half-breed. "Ye won't let 'em kill me?"

"No, we'll give you a fair trial, but you don't deserve it."

Tucu's shifty eyes seemed to lose their fire, and Dick noticed that the limp arm was bleeding freely. "I'll help you," he added, kicking the man's gun away to a safe distance. "That arm must be broken."

Although in the act of kicking Tucu's gun away, he showed that he didn't trust the outlaw, Dick was careless in another respect. He thrust his own gun in his pocket. The half-breed noticed the action and almost immediately his whole attitude changed. A murderous gleam flashed in his eyes.

With his left hand he jerked an ugly knife from his belt and made a lunge at Dick. The attack was so sudden and unexpected that there was no time for counter action. Dick had barely time to catch the uplifted arm and save himself from almost instant death.

With a growl of rage that his ruse had failed, the half-breed struggled to release his arm for another blow; but Dick swung himself upon the outlaw, grasping the arm with one hand and the knife with the other.

Although wounded, and one arm helpless, Tucu, who was a giant in strength, fought ferociously, succeeding finally in hurling his enemy from him through sheer muscular superiority.

Cattle Growers to Meet at Clovis

Albuquerque, Nov. 12. State legislation effecting the livestock industry of New Mexico will highlight business at the Third Quarterly Executive Board meeting of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association at Clovis on December 5 and 6, according to George A. Godfrey, Animas, president. It is expected that more than four hundred leaders of the industry from all parts of the state will attend this meeting.

The state association will probably adopt a legislative policy and program to follow during the 18th session of the New Mexico Legislature which convenes at Santa Fe early in January, Godfrey said.

Speakers who have been invited to appear on the meeting program include C. E. Weymouth, Amarillo, Texas, President of the Texas, and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association and A. L. Ward, Dallas, Texas, director of the National Cottonseed Products Association.

Millard Edison, prominent Lovington cattleman and vice-president of the association will serve as chairman of the general resolutions committee during the meeting, Godfrey continued.

Other business which will be considered at this meeting will include the protection of the livestock industry of the west against all possible threats of Hoof-and-Mouth Disease which might emanate from south of the border; livestock tax matters; the protein feed situation and plans for the 33rd Annual Convention of the organization at Albuquerque in March.

NOTICE OF PENDENCY OF ACTION
THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO to John Raymond Jansen, impleaded with the following named defendants against whom substituted service is hereby sought to be obtained: John Raymond Jansen; John W. Brooks and Bonnie Brooks, his wife; the following named defendants by name, if living, if deceased, their unknown heirs, John C. De Laney, also known as John C. Delaney and as John C. Spiegelsberg; The Unknown Heirs of the following named deceased person: Tina Feldman; All Unknown successors in interest to Second National Bank of New Mexico, a defunct corporation; and to all unknown claimants of interest in the premises described in the complaint of the plaintiff hereinafter named, adverse to said plaintiff. You are notified that there is pending in the District Court of Lincoln County, New Mexico, a certain civil cause No. 5502 in which J. A. McRae is plaintiff and you are defendants. The general object of said action is to quiet said plaintiff's title to the property described in the complaint in said cause, to-wit: Lots 846 and 847 and the half of Lot 845 adjoining said Lot 846 (being the north half of said Lot 845) all in Skyland, Lincoln County, New Mexico. You are further notified that unless you enter your appearance in said cause on or before the 15th day of January, A. D. 1947, judgment will be rendered in said cause against you by default. Attorneys for plaintiff are Shipley and Shipley, of Alamogordo, New Mexico.

WITNESS my hand and the seal of said Court this 10th day of November, A. D. 1946, at Carrizozo, Lincoln County, New Mexico.

S. E. GREISEN
Clerk of District Court of Lincoln County, New Mexico

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh.

How to Handle a Fortune

Some months ago I reported in the Clarion how Mel Bate's uncle died up north, and left him with a tidy fortune.

Naturally, our town was curious to see how Mel would spend it: Traveling around the world... getting a new house or car... wearing fancy clothes... or dining on cold pheasant and champagne...?

We can now report, Mel hasn't changed a bit! Drop in on him any night, and you'll find him in his shirt sleeves by the fire, chatting with the Misses, sharing a mellow glass of beer with friends.

From where I sit, Mel has learned the art of handling money—as well as handling people. You don't let cash-in-the-bank push you around any more than you let people push you around. If you like the simple, homey life; companionship and quiet ways; a glass of beer and friendly talk—that's worth a fortune, after all.

Don't Put a Price Tag on Your Health
Sometimes people who wouldn't think of mending their own shoes or of doing other personal service attempt something vastly more difficult. Health is too precious to be price tagged. Go to a competent physician first, then bring your prescription to
