Methodist Church

F. J. Johnston, Pastor

Noble living is an adventure. It may be thrilling. It must be constructive for God is constructive. On the basis of human freedom and our limited knowledge there is an element of change in all living. Jesus took a chance on humanity's response to his sacrifice. I am taking a chance in announcing the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper in my church for next Sunday. It will be celebrated both morning and evening. The elements will remain on the table in order that all those who can not attend in the morning may come to this sacrament at night. Time 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m.

All members of the church are supposed to be present. All believers of whatever Christian church are cordially invited. I am betting on a 75 per cent response from all those who should come. In this gamble am I an optimist or a pessimist? What is your bet?

I am doing my part, as I see it, to give Christ's gospel a chance to succeed. We'll try again to have the house comfortable. We will install another stove. And remember that 'there is a place that is warmer than this but it doesn't show up on the map.' In comparison no one has made a sacrifice in attending the sacrament. It's a high privilege. Please present yourselves.

Veterans News

Contact representatives throughout New Mexico report November as their busiest month thus far with 10,592 "contacts" made with veterans during the month. Of this total number, 6,889 were in the nature of personal interviews with veterans in the contact offices or itinerant stations. An additional 880 advisory conferences were held with veterans outside of VA offices while information was given over the telephone to 1,743 veteran callers. During the month, 1,645 application forms for various veterans benefits were prepared at the request of veterans.

Less than one month remains for veterans to reinstate their lapsed National Life Insurance policies by merely stating that they are in good health and paying two months premiums. After Feb. 1, according to present regulations, a physical examination will be required before policies will be reinstated. The two-month premium payment will suffice to reinstate any policy regardless of how long a time it has been allowed to lapse.

Advisement and guidance service is now being established in both VA hospitals in New Mexico to give purposeful activity to the various medical rehabilitation programs now carried out in the veteran. By means of trained advisors, VA will attempt to determine in which field or fields the individual veteran shows the most aptitudes and then co-ordinate his medical rehabilitation so that it will lead easily into vocational rehabilitation. In this manner the veteran will be preparing himself for the future even while he is still recovering his health and strength.

Through the co-operation and unselfish endeavors of the patriotic, fraternal, civic and religious groups in the vicinity of Albuquerque and Fort Bayard, patients in VA hospitals in New Mexico had a most successful Christmas program. These organizations not only supplied gifts and entertainment and played a large part in planning hospital activities but also wrapped and mailed gifts for the patients, provided transportation for those able to be taken on tours of Yuletide illumination and furnished carolers to add to the hospital festivities.

Truck Fire

Last Wednesday at approximately 1 p. m. A pick-up truck used in service work by Lincoln County Motors became overheated after the anti-freeze boiled from the radiator.

The fire alarm was sounded and the volunteer fire department was soon on the scene. Although there was no need for their services Fire Chief Fay Harley and his organization are to be commended for their prompt appearance during fires or other emergencies.

Recruiter Here

Last Friday Staff Sergeant Alfonso Romero of the U. S. Army Recruiting service arrived and set up his office in the Judges Chambers in the County Court house.

Egt. Romero has joined Edwin Zumwalt Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

I.O.O.F. and Rebekahs To Install Officers

There will be a joint installation tonight of Independent Order of Oddfellows Lodge No. 80 and Colera Rebekah Lodge No. 24 in the Oddfellow hall.

The Rebekah Lodge has charge of the ceremonies and have prepared for a large turnout of both Orders.

Wool Growers Convention

In an urgent personal message to every sheep grower in New Mexico, Floyd W. Lee, president of the New Mexico Wool Growers Association calls for attendance at the Association's 44th annual convention in Albuquerque, Feb. 4 and 5. In his letter to growers Lee calls attention to continued rising operating costs and threat of further extension of reciprocal trade treaties with foreign wool producing nations as problems which "strike at the very life of the sheep industry in America." He expresses the belief that united action by growers may bring from the Congress some measure of protection against the competition of "government subsidized foreign wools which make it impossible for the domestic wool to compete in our own home markets with foreign wools."

In connection with the convention the annual wool show will be held with about 200 fleeces entered in competition for ribbon and cash awards. The latter this year total about $1,000, the money derived from sale of blankets made from wools shown at the 1946 wool show.

Sixty of the fleeces consigned to the New Mexico show have been taken to Denver for entry in the National Western wool show, by Ivan Watson, New Mexico extension animal husbandman. For the past two years the New Mexico wools have taken the grand championship and many firsts in various classes at the national show.

Taxpayers Association News and Comments

By Rubert F. Asplund
18TH LEGISLATURE

The 18th Legislative session of the State of New Mexico will convene at noon on Tuesday, January 14 and remain in continuous session for sixty days, adjourning about the middle of March. The laws enacted at that session will become effective about the middle of June, unless emergency clauses are attached, which will make them immediately effective on approval by the Governor.

Bureau of Revenue Collection

A report of the Bureau of Revenue, prepared by former Commissioner R. L. Ormabee, covers the collections and costs of collections during the five year period, 1942 to 1946. The total collections for the year ended June 30, 1946 amounted to $23,652,796.41, the cost of collection being $664,681.20, or 2.81 per cent of the collections.

School Budgets

The total of all school budgets for public elementary and high schools, municipal and rural, including interest on and retirement of bonds, for the year 1946-47, is $17,444,884, as compared with $9,488,122 in the fiscal school year 1940-41.

Postponing Public Construction

By executive order the Federal Government has limited public construction, at least until the middle of 1947, to projects considered necessary to the safety, health and public welfare of the people. Postponing of all but the most urgent public improvement projects serves two purposes: (1) providing a backlog for ultimate expenditures of the taxpayers' money in a period when each dollar would buy a greater amount of labor and materials.

Highway revenue

For the year 1946 the total amount of gasoline tax collections was $7,012,787.16, and the total amount of motor vehicle license collections for the year was $2,084,698.26, according to a report of the New Mexico State Highway department.

Federal Expenditures

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1947, it is estimated that the total Federal expenditures will amount to 41.5 billion dollars. It is believed that for the year ending June 30, 1948, the budget may be reduced to 30 billion dollars, and, in the opinion of some experts, it is believed that Congress should be able to hold the Federal budget to 25 billion dollars. That there will be a reduction in individual income taxes seems to be assured.

Veterans' Exemptions

It is estimated that if the same exemptions are allowed veterans of World War II as were allowed veterans of World War I, the loss would occur in the revenues derived from property taxes and motor vehicle licenses.

Unemployment Compensation Fund

The Employment Security Commission reports that for the month of November, 1946 the total receipts were $259,402.98, and the benefit payments were $14,605.60. It is also reported that the balance in the Unemployment Compensation Fund on November 30 1946 was $12,723,347.78.

Los Angeles Union Stock Yards Company. January 6, 1947—A holiday at mid week tended to curtail the week's movement of livestock but despite that fact receipts were larger than the preceding week and closely approached the volume marked a year ago for similar period. In the cattle division price changes were not pronounced, on the whole, though there was some improvement in the case of cows which closed the week 25c to 50c higher. Other classes held largely to a steady schedule with demand of a healthy character and good daily clearances the rule. A few loads of best steers earned outlet at $22.75 to $23 with other sales largely within a spread of $19 to $22.50, a few plain kinds down to $17.50 and below. Desirable kinds of heifers sold at $18.50 to $20, with plainer descriptions down to $16 and under. The broad demand for cows carried top in this branch to a new record high, two loads of strictly good Northern type cows, averaging 1,200 lbs. commanding $18.75 with other good young cows selling quite freely at $16.50 to $17.75, while numerous well mixed dairy cows found outlet at $14 to $15. Canners and cutters bulked at $9.00 to $10.00. Good heavy bulls continued to sell at $16 to $17.50 and bulk of bologna styles at $12.50 to $15.50, a few common descriptions down to $11 and under. Calves held firm with a very brisk demand in evidence. Several loads of strong weight killing calves brought $20 and bulk of medium to good kinds crossed the scales at $18 to $19.50. An outstanding feature of the week's trade was the sale Thursday of a string of more than 500 Texas calves at $19.50. These averaged 301 lbs. Stocker and feeder demand was fairly active for a holiday season with prices on a steady to strong basis. Good fleshy feeders sold upward to $18 and $18.75. Feeding heifers ranged up to $15.50 and several loads of stock cows turned at $10.25 to $11.

Hogs continued to sell on a very irregular schedule. Following a $1 to $1.50 upturn Monday, prices broke 50c to $1 Tuesday and took another $1 to $1.50 dip Thursday, followed by a $1 to $1.50 rally Friday, when good to choice butchers were nominally quotable to around the $24 mark. Sheep and lambs were in limited supply all week with nominally steady prices for sheep. Good to choice lambs were quotable to $22.

Almanacs Long-Lived in U. S.; One in 250th Year
Among the oldest publications in the United States are the local almanacs the contents of which appeal chiefly to farmers, says Collier's.
For example, Gruber's Hagerstown Almanac is now in its 149th year, the Old Farmer's Almanac in its 154th, Daboll's New England Almanac in its 174th and Foulsham's 'Almanack' in its 250th year.

Sublime to Ridiculous
A slightly tipsy gentleman walked into the telegraph office, took a pencil, spent three or four minutes in deep thought, and wrote this message to a friend in St. Louis:
"Tra la, tra la, tra la, tra la."
He signed it, and presented it to the lady behind the counter.
After checking it, she said: "That will be 64 cents."
The gentleman paid her and she said: "You used only eight words."
"What would you suggest adding?" he finally asked.
"Well, how about just adding 'tra la,'" she said.
"No," he said firmly, "that would just make it sound silly."

This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Truly Surprising

So Easy. No Cooking. No Boiling.
You may not know it, but in your own kitchen, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—yet another probably used it—but for real results, it's hard to beat.
First, make a syrup by stirring 3 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey instead of sugar syrup.
Then get 3 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugstore. This is a special compound of proven ingredients in concentrated form, well known for quick action in throat and bronchial irritations.
Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and stir up with your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of splendid cough syrup, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils. Children love its pleasant taste. And the quick relief it's a wonder. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, opens the airways, makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Murder in Plain Sight

by GERALD BROWN
W.N.U. FEATURES

Duke McCale, a detective, is guarding the witness. He presents the Bigelow mansion. He knows that old Mrs. Adelaide Bigelow is afraid of something more serious than that. He meets the bride and groom-to-be, Veronica and Curt Vallancourt, and Veronica's mother, Sybil, and her brother and sister, Stephen and Victoria. There is a sinister undercurrent that McCale is quick to catch. He discusses the situation with Ann Marriot, his secretary and fiancée, while they are dining at a fashionable night club. They are impressed by the beauty and charm of the club's featured singer, Shari Lynn. Shari goes to a table and Jolas, a big, handsome man—Curt Vallancourt!

CHAPTER V

The flash of a million golden sparks went by their table. McCale looked out of the corner of his eyes and saw that a tall woman with hair the color of spun sugar was passing. He recognized her immediately. It was Karen Bigelow. She saw him, but gave no glance of recognition. Her eyes were fixed straight ahead in a cold, hard gaze at the table where Vallancourt sat with the torch singer. She deliberately walked toward them.

"That your Karen?" Ann whispered. "Uh-huh."

"Well, I do hope there'll be no trouble."

If there was, it was remarkably well-bred and closely held. Karen reached the table and spoke quickly to Vallancourt. He looked amazed, shaken. He turned to Shari Lynn once, blindly. But the Lynn girl only sat there, utterly relaxed, her mouth a sulky sneer. Karen took something from her bag and handed it to Shari. She looked once at Curt, a long, searching, smoldering look, and turned away. Vallancourt made a move to follow her, but Shari caught his hand, drawing him back. He almost stumbled in the alcove.

It was then that McCale, swiveling around to the startled Ann, had his second shock of the evening. Not five tables away, almost hidden in a corner, sat Stephen Bigelow. There was a row of empty glasses in front of him as though he had ordered them all at one time. Yet he did not seem to be drunk. His eyes were sunken in that face so prematurely cadaverous but they glittered with a gold, sardonic amusement that was frightening.

Ann Marriot gripped McCale's hand in an imploring gesture. "Let's get out of here."

"Maybe the fun is only just beginning," he said, rising with alacrity.

On the steps, a slight altercation was taking place. Karen Bigelow, swathed in ochre wool, was trying to restrain a slightly bedraggled, fussy dressed woman. McCale saw that it was Sylvia Bigelow, bulging out of a sheath of satin.

Karen was saying, "You mustn't go in, Mother Bigelow, you just can't. Let me take you home."

"Get out of my way!" the older woman said.

"I can't let you go in. Besides, he's not there, Sybil. He really isn't there."

"How do you know?" "I looked."

"You came here to see him?" "Yes, yes—but he isn't here. Come home with me, Sybil."

The grotesque Sybil hesitated a moment, her bright feverish eyes searching Karen's face. Then she pushed her forcefully aside with crushing arrogance.

The Trail Becomes A Little Plainier

"Let me by," she said, her voice rising hysterically.

There was a limousine at the curb. Karen walked to it, moving like a sleepwalker. She got into it without a backward glance. It rolled away into the dark.

"Well, well," McCale spoke as they settled back into their taxi. "I am more than ever convinced that there is a nigger in the Bigelow woodpile."

"I should say so," Ann smiled wearily. "As our good pal, Rocky, would say—everyone seems one leap ahead of a fit."

It was still quite early. Another night, they might have gone on to one or another of the nightclubs, but McCale was in no mood for it. He knew Ann's evening was probably spoiled, though she said nothing. He reached for her hand, expecting more of her incurable flippancy, but she, too, seemed sunk in a thoughtful depression. When they drew up before the apartment house where she lived, she kissed him lightly before they got out, made no remark when he told the driver to wait. As he fitted her key into the outside door, she spoke.

"Drink?" "No."

"What are you up to? Where are you going?"

"Places ladies don't grace with their presence."

"I'm willing to forget I'm a lady for tonight."

"She had a special plan for the occasion, the substrate, the obscure."

"We were to have a talk, he said. He bowed the head toward her. "Good."

He kissed her hard on the lips, noticing her complete calm indifference. She was angry.

"Thanks ever so."

"Oh, Lord," he groaned, "don't go giving me your impersonation of Bette Davis now. I'm going to the Print Club to see Jerry Tate."

"Oh, all right. Go ahead. I know what you're like when you smell blood, you hound." She searched his face quickly. "Does it look that bad, Duke? I seem to have been feeling it myself all evening, though I've tried to tell myself it was my proximity to you and one of your fabulous hunches."

He nodded slowly. "Yeah. Something tells me there is something very dirty afoot. It's only breaking out in little places here and there, but there's bound to be an explosion of some kind in the offing. I'm short on information, baby, and a little late on the scene. What I do, I've got to do quickly."

"Well, go ahead, but be sure when you pass the Old Howard to stay on the other side of the street."

She laughed, dismissing him with a return to her old facetiousness.

"You are a jealous wench," he chided her, closing the door on her retreating figure.

"Hello, Jerry," said McCale. "Having your good-night quart?"

He chuckled to himself as he got back into the cab, giving the address of the Print Club. The Old Howard, local landmark of burlesque, was a standing joke between them. During a former investigation, he had got himself mixed up, almost fatally, with a girl whose profession was appearing in various night-club extravaganzas. In the glow of infatuation he had nearly married her. They'd gone to New York, where he had intended to set up an agency for himself after the completion of his first case in Boston, but an offer of seven hundred dollars a week from the producer of a higher type of entertainment had estranged them. He just couldn't see himself as the husband of a woman who was being cute in front of an audience.

He was not falsely modest and, indeed, took a rather harsh, cynical attitude toward vice. However, that affair was permanently wrecked. His memorata had gone into her show, got her seven hundred per week, and McCale had given himself one big horse-laugh. He had retraced his steps to the Hub, starting his business there, relying altogether on the success of his one case to get him going.

A Newspaper Man Gives the Lowdown

He lit a cigarette and sat with his feet up on one of the adjustable seats of the taxi as it bumped along Cambridge street. He thought he had done rather well in the time he had spent in Boston, in spite of obstacles such as his decision not to take divorce cases, not to hold out on the police, not to get in the way of rival agencies. He had managed to keep his head above water and had acquired a reputation of honesty and discretion besides. His lip curled in self-derision as he laughed in the face of his own expansive ego.

"No sense being so damned complacent, boy." He was talking to himself like a Dutch uncle. "So far, you haven't got much fodder on the problem at hand."

He sighed unhappily as the cab drew up with a screech of brakes before a tall, gray office building. Between this and another older structure was a narrow alley, at the back of which could be seen a faintly lighted doorway. McCale made for this. From behind the stark walls on each side of him, he could hear the rattle and roar of machinery, for the presses of the biggest newspaper in town had their home there.

The Print Club, where pressmen and reporters gathered to drink and converse throughout the night, was on the third floor of the narrow edifice at the end of the alley. Duke opened the door and went up the winding iron stairs to the bare, undecorated rooms which were furnished with square wooden tables and chairs of the kitchen variety.

McCale went over to the bar and asked for Jerry Tate. The barman nodded in the direction of the third room, raising a quizzical eye at McCale's formal attire. McCale threw him a hard, deliberate scowl, and made for the door. Just inside it, a young, irascible, nervous-looking man sat alone at a table, playing solitaire. He did not look up as McCale sat down facing him.

"Hello, Jerry," said McCale. "Having your good-night quart?"

"Hi, sleuth," he said in a rasping voice. "Where have you been—all dressed up? Is there a convention you had to attend?"

"Out to dinner."

"Well, well. Times have changed."

"Isn't it the truth! But you see, I haven't forgotten the old days. I come straight from the lap of luxury to visit my old pals."

"I'm all agog." The dark fellow poured himself a finger of whisky and swallowed it in one gulp. "No kidding, Duke, I'm glad to see you. However, you've probably got an axe to grind. So give while I'm still sober."

"As usual I'm after information."

"So—"

"About a great big, husky, handsome young man named Vallancourt."

Jerry Tate gave a low whistle and fixed McCale with a baleful glance.

"So they've called in the OGPU?"

"Who?"

"The Bigelows. Who else? How much you soaking them?"

"Now, see here, Jerry, I haven't said—"

"You don't have to. I don't have to be a detective—not even a lousy reporter—to put two and two together. What I can't get over is why they've let it slide along to this late day. You're a bit on the tardy side, aren't you?"

"I'll say. The wedding is next week, so I'm running around in circles—but fast. What can you tell me about him?"

"Very little, I'm afraid. He hits the high spots, does a lot of gambling, plays around fast and loose. Spends lots of dough."

"Where does he get it?"

"Search me."

"Oh, come now."

"Well, rumor has it that it comes from the Bigelows mostly."

"I doubt that."

Tate shrugged. "Some other old gal, then."

"What about his antecedents?"

"Don't know. Springs from Chicago, I'm told."

"How did he get aboard the Mayflower—that is, how did he burrow his way into the bosom of the Bigelow family?"

"Well, now, let's see. First time I remember him around the Gay White Way, he had Victoria Bigelow in tow. Vicky seemed to have the upper hand there for a while. Then there were whispers—very soft—but whispers, my friend, that Mrs. Stephen Bigelow was interested—in a purely platonic way, we hope."

"The beautiful Karen."

Stephen Bigelow Is Discussed

"If you like that type—paragon me."

"Oh, well, if I had to be cast away on a desert island or if some rainy afternoon—or—"

"That's it—just or—to proceed. That little romance was short-lived. Don't ask me why."

"Maybe Steve got wind of it."

"Stephen Bigelow? That washed-up Romeo? One look from Karen or Mother Sybil would squelch him. I've seen them all together. It was like a peck at the motive behind Lysistrata."

"Oh, my Lord. If you're going to quote—"

"I'll spare you. Speaking of Mama though, she had her day in the sun, too. She was here and there giggling and going over him for quite some time. Nice set-up, eh?"

Young Tate surveyed the table top with wise old eyes. He shook his head. "He finally did get around to Veronica. Right through the family to the pot of gold."

"Kind of roundabout, you think?"

"Now, I don't know. It may be he thought he was being clever."

McCale rose to go. "You don't know of any tie-up between him and Shari Lynn, the singer that's doubling at the Abbey and Latin Quarter shows?"

"Nothing I can vouch for. They seem to be on pretty good terms. By the way, I do know that pressure was brought to bear somewhere along the line over a bit of gossip Watts printed in his column. Orders went through to squelch anything more of the sort that might come under the snooping eye."

"Which only shows that the great can buy protection."

"Oh, well. Come the revolution."

"Just well, thanks, old boy."

"For what?"

Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

DR. W. PEARSON

STALIN'S HEALTH

WASHINGTON.—Diplomatic dispatches from Moscow indicate definitely that Marshal Stalin's health has had another setback. He suffered a heart attack some time in November and now is resting in the Crimea.

This fact has been made the subject of an official report to the state department.

This last heart attack is the second suffered by the man who has ruled Russia so long. Last winter he also had to go to the Crimea to recuperate from an illness. Stalin is now 67 years old, but has crammed more diversified life and hardship into those years than any other world leader.

Stalin was imprisoned and exiled to Siberia eight times, and the years have taken their toll. He was not play-acting when he held up Churchill and Truman by staying in bed one day at Potsdam.

It is generally expected that Foreign Minister Molotov will succeed Stalin.

THE REAL-ESTATE LOBBY

Next major lobbying drive in Washington will be against rent controls, only control measure which survived President Truman's sweeping OPA decontrol order.

The President has decided to eliminate OPA completely, and has on his desk an executive order transferring rent control to the department of commerce.

The real-estate lobbyists know they can't get even a Republican congress to repeal rent control. So they've decided on a new tactic. The lobby is drawing up a bill which would transfer rent control from the federal government to the states.

This will be advanced as a "states' rights" and "economy" measure. The result, however, will be the same.

Twelve states now have no rent control, and in other states most control laws are elastic.

LAME DUCKS PLAY INDIANS

Twice in recent weeks, President Truman has been visited by congressmen who asked him to appoint friends on the new Indian claims commission. Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming urged the appointment of Louis O'Marr, attorney-general of Wyoming, while Representative Bill Stigler of Oklahoma brought along his candidate—Justice Earl Welch of the Oklahoma Supreme court, who is part Chickasaw himself.

The President made no commitment beyond saying he intends to announce the make-up of the new commission soon.

He did apologize to Stigler, however, for the delay in making the appointments.

What Truman did not explain was that he also had been urged to wait to see whether any worthy Democrats, defeated in the election, might want the job.

The names of lame-duck congressman Will Robinson of Utah, an excellent man, and Jed Johnson of Oklahoma, who lost out on a chance to be a custom court judge, now have been suggested.

The commission is one which will require a topflight staff, since it will have to pass judgment on all Indian claims which have not gone into the courts. There is absolutely no statutory limit on the age of the claims, which means that if an Indian tribe wants to claim that it has legal right to the entire territory of the State of Utah, the commission may have to hear the argument.

NEXT GOP CONVENTION

Although the Republican national convention is two years off, several cities already are pressing GOP moguls for the privilege of helping nominate the man they figure will be the next president of the U. S.

Rep. George Bender, Ohio congressman-at-large and head of the Cleveland Republican committee, appeared before the national committee to propose Cleveland as the convention site.

As soon as Bender proposed Cleveland for the convention site, Committeeman Werner Schroeder of Illinois asked, "Isn't it true that Ohio has a couple of candidates for the nomination? Don't you think it might be better to meet on neutral territory?"

"Is there a state that doesn't have a candidate?" asked Bender. "If you're going to rule out states with candidates, about the only place we could hold the 1948 GOP convention is Miami."

POSTMASTER JIM MEAD?

The White House is afraid that if Bob Hannegan resigns both as postmaster general and Democratic national chairman the Republican senate may refuse to confirm anyone who is to serve in both jobs.

One man the senate would confirm, however, is Sen. Jim Mead of New York, who lost out in his bid for governor of New York. The senate rarely questions the appointment of any senator or former senator to an official post. Moreover, Mead is considered a postal authority.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

If decorative candles become soiled wipe them gently with absorbent cotton dipped in alcohol.

A piece of medium sandpaper placed over the kitchen sink will come in handy more than once for cleaning pots and pans.

Instead of using tacks to fasten the edges of oilcloth under the table or shelves use adhesive tape. It looks neater and is easier to do.

Egg beaters should be washed immediately after using. Keep cogs out of water.

To clean bottles, jars, or cruet thoroughly, place egg shells and warm soapy water in them and shake well. Clean in no time!

If Stuffy Nose Spoils Sleep Tonight

A little V-a-tro-nol in each nostril quickly opens up nasal passages to relieve stuffy, irritating congestion. Makes breathing easier. Invites restful sleep. Works fast. Grand for relieving stuffy distress of head colds. Try it! Follow directions in the package.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—leads to a lax of posture and circulation—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become overtaxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up at night, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful acid body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere.

January Tax Calendar

January is an important month for taxpayers. The Taxpayers' Association of New Mexico has furnished the following information of interest to property owners, business and professional persons, and to practically everybody, because everybody pays taxes.

First, as to property taxes. All property owners are required to report their real estate and personal property between January 1st and March 1st, to the County Assessors, for 1947 taxation. Railroads, telephone, telegraph and pipeline companies, banks and mines, however are required to make their returns to the State Tax Commission before the first Monday in February. Property owners whose taxes are delinquent for 1946 and prior years must pay such delinquent taxes with interest before January 20th. If such payments are not made the property will be "sold for taxes".

Owners of automobiles are required to secure their automobile licenses before March 1st. Drivers' licenses are now due and may be secured from City Clerks.

The 15th day of January is important because the fourth quarterly installment of New Mexico income taxes is due on that date and all reports and taxes due from dealers in commodities and services, under the sales tax law. Oil and gas conservation and severance taxes are due on that date.

On the 20th of January reports and taxes are due from motor carriers, pipe lines and utilities. On January 25th reports under the use tax and gasoline tax laws are due and oil and gas production reports are due on January 30.

As to Federal taxes, returns must be made by brokers, dealers, etc., of stamps due on January 15 and returns of taxes on admissions must be made by January 31. Employees must fill out status certificates for income taxation before January 15. Blank certificates for this purpose will be furnished by employer for withholding taxes. Final payment may be made on 1946 income taxes on that date.

Land of Vikings

Norway is one of the delightful little countries of Europe. About the size of two of our average states, her population is only three million—half that of New York City. A parliament is elected by direct vote of the people every four years, and it constitutes the real authority of the nation. They have a King, who reigns but does not rule. Next to the King, the speaker of the parliament is the highest official in the country. The fairhaired Norwegians are a strong, sturdy people, whose chief quality is individualism. Communism invaded Norway at the end of World War I. A "Labor" party was created by the Communists, but eventually most of its members went over to the "Socialist Democrats," now the leading party controlling more than half the 150 seats in parliament. The extent to which Marxian philosophies have been made into harmful practices is evident when one examines the present state of Norwegian industry. It is apparent that the early Communist influence did not just disappear in an assimilation into the leading labor party, but remains like a hungry dog, strayed from Russia, and is now eyeing the prosperous merchant fleet of Norway.

Equalization

The greatest private industry Norway has ever developed in her merchant marine that sails the seven seas, all out of proportion to the size of the country. This shipping industry has been the chief source of revenue for balancing the national budget and for obtaining essential foreign credit. It remains the backbone of Norwegian finance. Present policies of the Socialist government, in an attempt to equalize everything for everybody, are seriously threatening this important industry. This is the pattern: It took 4,000,000 government dollars to subsidize the distribution of milk last year, therefore to meet the cost of this subsidy a 4,000,000 dollar tax was placed on the shipping industry because it had experienced a good year and appeared able to pay.

Killing the Goose

A reliable Norwegian informant told this story. The merchant marine lost many ships during the war, and although they were insured by Lloyd's of London it was impossible to transfer the money to Norway while the country was in the grip of the Germans. Accordingly, the funds were held as credit in London.

The present Socialist government now looks anxiously over the books of the shipping companies. If they conclude that a lost ship had quite paid for itself, they tax the company 65% of the face of the insurance policy. This extremely high tax on the shipping industry, plus virtual confiscation of insurance premiums on lost ships, threatens to reduce the industry to the detriment of the entire nation.

This is a fine example of killing the goose to get more eggs immediately, but the production of golden eggs in the future is definitely threatened. I cannot help feeling that the course of this sort of thing in Norway was the stray dog influence of Communism. I found it the distinct opinion of those who have done most to create the wealth of Norway that the greatest present threat to progress now is monopoly and regimentation.

One of the fine old American customs is to begin a new year with a lot of resolutions. Some we keep. Others we make with the intention of breaking them to the delight of ourselves and friends. You're being a good American to resolve to do something or other from this day on until eternity. You're being a better, wiser American to make a solemn resolution to strengthen the future security of yourself and family. Resolve to put some of your income regularly into U. S. QUALITY IN A MEMORIAL

Quality is not something that can be argued into a monument promised into it. To begin, the material must have it. In the finish and the lettering, it must be placed there. The finest sales talk will not act as a substitute. Rock of Ages means quality, and the Rock of Ages seal is your absolute assurance of the finest material and the supreme quality of craftsmanship.

Uncle Sam Says

You have heard people say, "why save at a time when prices are going up?" We cannot all be economists; and it is perhaps just as well, for they seem to differ a great deal among themselves about the future. But we all know this: A man who saved a dollar 10 years ago is better off today than the man who didn't; and other things being equal, the man who saves a dollar today will be better off in 1937 than the man who doesn't.

United States Savings Bonds offer you the opportunity to save at a profit. Thus every $3 you lay away now will come back to you in 1937 with an extra dollar in interest. You don't have to be an economist to know a good thing when you see it.

3,941 World War II Veterans attending Six New Mexico Colleges

The college campus has become the new battleground for 3,941 World War II veterans attending six New Mexico institutions of higher learning.

Use Nylon Thread For Nylon Fabrics

The newest thread to make its way into the housewife's sewing basket is nylon thread, says Mrs. Pearl Gehl, clothing specialist of the New Mexico Extension Service.

"Sew nylon fabrics with nylon thread," Mrs. Gehl advises. "It is exceptionally strong and elastic. It can be used on rayon material that has any elasticity such as crepe weaves, bias but seams or any seams that will be strained."

The clothing specialist reminds that there is a thread for every purpose. She says general household stitching will require thread of an average size from 60 to 70.

Steel Remains Most Pressing Need

Pontiac Motor Division during 1947 will strive to meet the continuing barriers to full production with the same flexible, foresight which enabled it to produce 137,640 cars during the 1946 model run.

It is the belief of General Manager Harry J. Klingler that during the first six months of 1947 it will be difficult for the industry to show a decided upturn in production. However, he feels there is an opportunity to increase output of motor cars—controlling factors being the same that have hampered production in recent months.

Hot and cold rolled and strip steel remains the most pressing need with Pontiac. The supply situation in regards to other steel types used in car production and other items such as coke and pig iron also have important bearing on '47 production.

The cast iron situation may at a later date be the controlling factor in the supply of 1947 models, Mr. Klingler believes.
