The State Insurance Bureau of Santa Fe has authorized the expenditure of $9,000.00 for a new fire department building to be erected on three lots adjoining the present station and sity hall. Building will start immediately upon approval of application made to the Housing Expeditor in Albuquerque.

Lots were purchased from Mrs. Humphrey of El Paso, and plans are drawn up for the erection of a 52x66 concretes block building designed to house two trucks and with recreation rooms in the rear. The building will be of the same architecture as the present station.

Upon completion of the new station the old building will be remodeled for use as City Hall with enlarged offices for the City Clerk.

Soviet Trains Foreigners To Wreck Own Countries

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON .-- It was one of those strange, foggy nights that sometimes descend over the eastern part of America-not like a London smoky log, nor the clean white stuff that rolls in like giant breakers so artistically against Yerba Buena in San Francisco bay. nor yet like the mists of the ricefields, nor the clammy North Atlantic "weather" that drips over crow's-nest and quarterdeck, turning ship and sky into cold, wet drizzling steel.

The point is that I was stranded in York, Pa., (mentioned recently Junius Wood anywhere, on an atoll in the Pacific, tapping his pipe into the crater of Mount Vesuvius, fording a fjord in a borrowed car, lost in Grand Central or sipping vodka in the Kremlin. So it wasn't strange to find him in York, Pa.

As I write these lines, I have just left Mr. Wood (at the National Press club this time). He informed me that some of the former "students about whom he writes in the article quoted below testified recently bea congressional committee. Rep. Karl Mundt of South Dakota read Wood's article into the Congressional Record, thus making it a "public document."

Background I know was gathered by Wood while he was reporting from Russia and I was bending over a copy desk in the old Chicago Daily Nows office whither Junius directed his daily dispatches:

"Attention, ambitious young men and women," says Wood. "A well-extabilished and liberalally endowed university offers you free courses in factory salelage, bemb making, kidnaping, train wrecking, bank robbery, fomenting armed mutiny—and ether techniques of violence and treason. POSTAL RATES: May Go Up

A measure embodying the first general revision of postal rates since 1879 which would add about 110 million dollars a year to post office revenues has been introduced in the house of representatives.

The bill provides for a 30 per cent increase in parcel post rates and would revise the air mail rate from five to six cents an ounce. In addition, the new plan would add about 10 per cent a year to present | with production making a comescales for second-class mailing of newspapers and periodicals sent outside the county in which they are Not a depression but a price "readjustment" is in store for the United States, the federal reserve board has predicted. .

Reserve board economists explained that heartening news by pointing out that a downtrend in prices is "necessary, healthy and inevitable." The inconsistencies in the national economy, which have arisen out of the fact that our economy-is-part-rigged and part-free, will have to be eliminated.

-GIANT'S DEATH:

End of an Era?

The battleship Oklahoma, first of the so-called "super-dreadnaughts," might well be recorded in history as an accurate symbol of the era during which it ploughed the seas for the U.S. navy—heroic but futile.

Based at Berehaven, Ireland, during World War I, she saw no action; and on December 7, 1941, five Japanese torpedoes sent the sturdy old ship lunging to the bottom of Pearl Harbor before her crew could man the guns.

Raised to the surface and then abandoned as not worth salvaging, the Oklahoma was consigned to the scrap heap and taken in tow for the last long voyage across the Pacific. Suddenly, 540 miles northeast of Pearl Harbor, the tragic battleship listed heavily, as if tired of war and its aftermath, and slipped into the sea, three miles deep at that point,

SITTING AT THE WINDOW

By RUBE GOLDBERG

A CE HAWKINS and Sam Mo-Quade were discussing Grace Leland. Are and Sam were the two roving philosophers of Milidale. The beautiful Autumn sunsets and the changing colors of the poplars entirely escaped their unimaginative attention. They asked nothing more of life than the privilege of peering lazily through doors and windows and making carnal deductions about what was going on inside. That's how they happened to see Grace Leland.

"Gosh, that's Grace, all right! She looks faded," observed Ace, "What's she doin' back here, anyway?" asked Sam. "That's what I'd like to know. She don't see nobody but the butcher boy and Chic Myers, the postman." "The way she used to traipse around I thought she'd grab herself a millionaire or something."

"I calc'late she wasn't the sort to settle down. Fact is, I heard somewhere she's been leadin' a pretty fast life these last fifteen

"Let's mosey over to Chet's and get a cup of hot soup. Get's kinda cold waitin' around for somethin' to happen."

Grace had come back to Milidale after an absence of eighteen years and had rented a room in a small white house next to the drug store. Her friend, Thomas Slater, would soon return from Europe and then she would not have to hide any more. Meanwhile, it was very quiet in Milidale.

As she sat at the window she thought of her son's brown wavy hair, the slight tilt of his nose and his six feet of muscle and sinew. She was desperately anxious to make up for the fact that a headline - making divorce case had smashed the Leland home and left sensitive young David deeply hurt and fatherless. Her love for him was not a sufficient answer to the questions of his classmates who wanted to know about the big, black headlines and his folks. She must give-him all the wordly things the other boys had-and more, too. Sweaters, pictures for his room, an electric phonograph and tails. She sent him an overstuffed chair. And cakes and a set of evening studs. I was all simple and exciting until David said he wanted a car.

There was only one person to whom Grace Leland could go for three thousand dollars: Thomas Slater had been her friend since the days when no massage was required to smooth out the pully little bags under her eyes. She called up Thomas Slater's office and was told he had gone to Europe.

Grace looked at her thin wrist where once dangled a wide diamond bracelet. If only she had that bracelet now. She went around to the display window on Broadway and again looked at the long, sleek, light-blue sedan with the collapsible tan top. She saw David at the wheel. She saw him driving places where he could meet the fathers of his friends and feel the bracing contact of a masculine arm around his shoulder. Why Not Have More Things Three persons called on me last week, all with the same problem. Two were women, the third a man. What all wanted to know is how they could get more out of life.

Neither of the women could play or sing. Neither could swim. The older woman couldn't dance. The man confessed he was a human "dud"-as he put it.

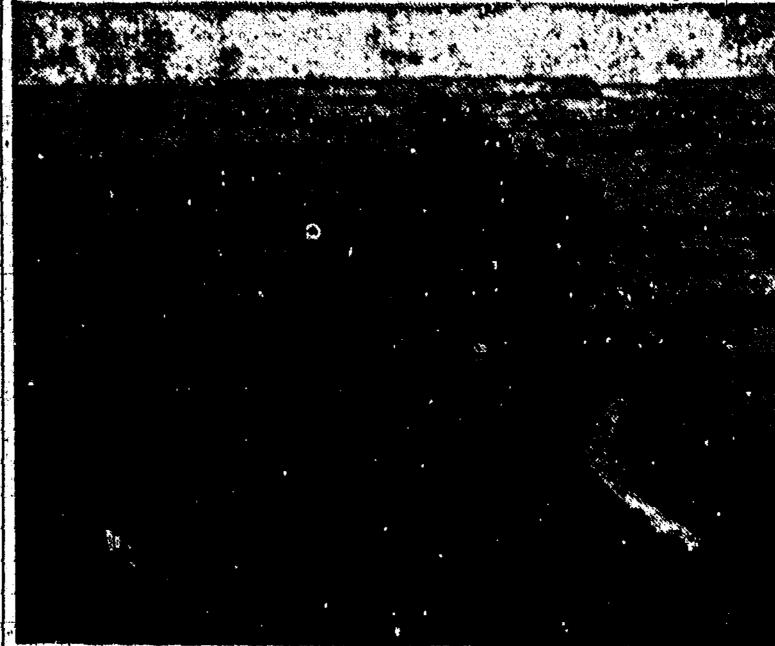

To each I told the same storythe story of Alexander Graham Bell. the man who developed the telephone. Mr. Bell called one day on his friend Joseph Henry, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. His purpose was to lament the fact that he was being held back in his work by a lack of knowledge of electricity.

With two words Mr. Henry disposed of that lament and put Alexander Graham Bell on the road to his great renown and riches, for he AGAIN IN SHARP contrast, Zion canyon is like a vast cathedral. The dome of heaven seems to rest on lis sheer stone walls. Considered by many people the most satisfying of all national parks, Zion, by the splendor of its scene, invariably commands silence from all who enter. Approaching by Mount Carmel highway, the first view is from the wall of the canyon through windows in the highway tunnel. From the south the visitor enters along the course of Virgin river passing between the huge rock masses called the East and the West Temples.

THESE THREE national parks ore readily accessible by paved places 18 miles wide. Mighty moun- | highways, but the roads on the north side of Grand canyon are closed by snow from October 15 to May 15, Accommodations of all types, including hotels, lodges, cabin camps and cafeterias, are found on the south rim of Grand canyon. Lodges and cabin camps also are available at the north rim and in both Zion and Bryce. Free campsites for motorists bringing their own equipment are maintained in all of the parks by National Park service.

Excellent paved highways within the parks make it possible for all travelers, without physical exertion. to see many of the principal wonders of each park. For hardler persons, there are miles of foot trails, and the adventurously inclined may explore more distantly on horseback. It is possible to cross on foot, by mule or horse from the south rim to the north rim of Grand canyon, but this trip and all trips down into the canyon should be taken only by persons in excellent physical condition.

In each park, ranger-naturalists give frequent talks, and in the evenings they conduct entertaining programs around the campfires.

A veteran dropped in at our bank the other day and said, "I need advice. I'd like to talk with you about a problem that's been on my mind".

We told him he bad come to the right place. He talked about half a dozen things. We listened. And because banking is our business, we could answer his questions that had a financial side: his rights under the G. I. bill; the value of a plot of ground he wanted to buy; and the local opportunities for a business he was thinking of starting.

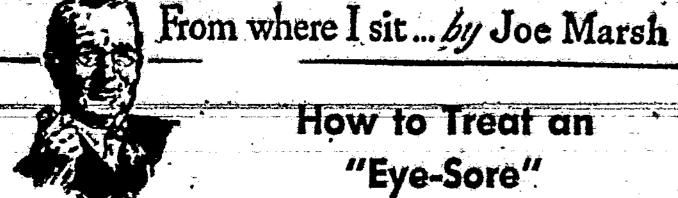

When he left, he smiled and thanked us. "Dan't thank us," we told him. "We're bere not only to lend money, but also to belp in every way we can."

How to Treat an

"Eye-Sore"

For over a year that vacant house on Elm Street has been an "eyesore" to the community. Lawn overgrown with weeds; trees and shrubbery untrimmed; house unpainted and run-down.

Finally we called on the owner. and read the riot act. If he didn't want to rent the house that was his business—but it was their busis ness that he keep it looking decent, or they'd have it condemned as a public nuisance, That got results! . . . like the Brewers get results with their program of Self-Regulation. When a tavern keeper lets his place get run-down . . or fails to obey the letter of the law, a representative of the Brewers calls on him and tries to persuade him to mend his ways. If that doesn't work (and it usually does) the Brewers co-operate with local authorities to seethat the tavera "gets in line."

From where I sit, self-regulation in any industry is not only the American way-But the most effective way of getting action !

Proper Fly Control Eliminates Disease Proper Equipment and

Application Important Many diseases and cases of contamination are traceable to flies, Spraying with DDT and other new chemicals presents the first truly effective means of controlling flies. DDT is amazingly effective for several weeks. Flies landing on treated surfaces die in a few minutes from a condition similar to delirium tremens. The main steps to a good fly control program are: First: Clean up the breeding places where flies lay their eggs. Second: Spray DDT on all surfaces where flies gather. For this work a sprayer developing some pressure is needed. A garden type compressed air or larger sprayer will do the job efficiently. Around the home, spray the doors, windows, the back porch, out buildings, el cetera. On the farm, the ceilings and walls of barns, poultry houses and hog houses should be sprayed. Two or three sprayings a year will provide excellent control.

DDT is positive but slow in its action. Dairymen still are using hand sprayers for a quick knockdown of visiting flies at milking time, The hand sprayers also are convenient for spraying again those areas exposed to rain, where DDT may be washed off.

The types of sprayers for fly control include: (1) hand atomizers: (2) hand pump action - knapsack, preachers and denominational leadwheelbarrow, and bucket pump ers get back to the reading and sprayers; (3) compressed air-usual- | teaching of God's Word. With many cities, counties and districts demanding pasteurization of milk, to be sold, the small units will prove of value to owners of a small number of cows who desire to retail their excess milk supply. The only certain way to avoid disease from milk is to heat it sufficiently to kill all disease-producing bacteria—this can only be done properly by pasteurization. Boiling will kill bacteria.

Too often rain comes before the hay can be field cured or placed in the barn. Barn-drying is a system designed to overcome the weather hazard in making hay. New York station specialists point out that it is possible to produce high quality hay with barn dryers when they are used wisely. Unless drying can be accomplished in 7 to 10 days, moldy hay or a product of low feedme value may result.

MAKING REFORMS SUCCEED

LESSON TEXT-II Kings 22:10, 11; 23:1-5. MEMORY SELECTION-Give me under standing, and I shall keep thy law,-Psalm

God can bring blessing out of the most unpromising of circumstances. Yes, and men can make chaos out of God's greatest gifts.

The good Josiah became king at eight years of age, and was surrounded by godly counselors who helped him become an outstanding ruler for God. When he was sixteen he had a real religious experience (II Chron. 34:3), and at twenty he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem of idols and wickedness.

I. A Book Found and Read (22:10,

The Word of God had been neglected for about sixty years. How sad! Yes and how sad that in our homes the Bible is so often neglected—on a book shelf, or in a trunk, or gathering dust on a living room -table.--A--lost--bible,--and--t people living in sin! How much we need to push aside the rubbish in our lives and bring out our "lost"

Observe that they not only found the book, but they read it. That was true of the ones who found it as well as of those to whom they passed_it on. What a good thought we have there: read the Bible, yes, but be sure to get someone else reading it too.

In Josiah's day it was thus first !, received

1. By the King.

The ruler or rulers of the people need to return to God's Word in our day. It is all too often neglected in the council chambers of the nations.

Josiah was moved by what he read to real repentance. He realized that the judgment of God must come. Inquiry at Jerusalem brought word from Huldah the prophetess that it would come, but not in Josiah's day.

The king was not content to keep this word to himself, and insisted that it be read

2. By the religious leaders.

The priests and the prophets who were doubly guilty in neglecting it were now brought face to face with God's revelation. Who will say that the great need in America is not just this, that its views. lectures in economics and politics, discussions of one worldis the fare of many of our preachers. No wonder that they and their people are spiritually starved.

Josiah knew what was needed and the Word was now read_

3. By the people.

Applying that to our day, it is true that the Bible is our best seller, that it is available to every home, ducted by state ex- and that most decent households have not one but many Bibles. But and research or are they being read? The answer is ganizations it a ve obviously no. Let's correct that dreadful situation. Read your Bible!

II. A Book Believed and Prac-Heed (23:3-5, 21). Josiah saw that it was not enough to read and rejoice over the Word of God. Something must be done about it, and he did it. 1. The king made a covenant with Standing in a prominent place before his people, he humbly and solemnly renewed his consecration the Lord, and promised to abide by his Word with all his heart and soul (v. 3). Such a leader could not but inspire his people to do the

2. The priests cast out the idols (vv. 4, 5).

The king required this of them. and they proceeded thus to cleanse the places of worship and prepare the way for a true devotion to God.

Here again we say that when religious leaders get back to their first devotion to God and put away the empty philosophies of this world, we shall see a revival.

What did the people do? Josiah saw that they needed some positive expression of their faith. It was not enough to tear down the idols; they must re-establish the true worship of God. So we find that

3. The people kept the Passover. This was the great feast of the Jews which spoke of redemption from bondage. It pointed forward to Christ the Redeemer from sin. He is our Passover (I Cor. 5:7).

In these dark and bewildering days people are looking to Christian leaders to prepare a feast of remembrance of the death of Christ and of his glorious redemption. Let the people gather round him and, cleansed by his precious blood, keep the feast with joy and purity of heart [I Cor. 5:8).

Summer Weddings Will Be Incentive For Many Parties

For a simple bridal shower refreshment, a punch bowl with floating orange slices and slivered strawberries makes a pretty pic-

Bridal days are once more with us, and there's hardly any circle of friends where at least one wedding does not take place. A good friend of the bride usually gives the honored girl a shower, and it is with such pleasant doings that we are concerned.

Whether it's a lingerie, kitchen or personal shower, the theme of the ments should be daintiness. If you can carry out the well and good, flowers, and your table is bound to be pretty.

Pastel color combinations in table settings and refreshments are highly favored as they carry out the theme of the occasion. Food, however, need not be elaborate, because the girls probably will be too excited to cat much. Do, however, make everything delectable, and you will be well rewarded for your efforts.

A SIMPLE afternoon or evening party might consist of a light delectable cake and punch as follows:

Whipped Cream Angel Food. 1 cup whipping cream,

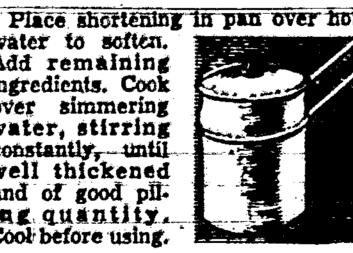

3 egg whites 16 cup water-1 teaspoon vanilla

2 cups flour 11/2 cups sugar 3 teaspoons baking powder 14 teaspoon salt

Whip cream until stiff; beat whites until stiff and combine carefully. Add water, vanilla and dry ingredients, which have been sifted together at least three times. Bake in layers at 350 degrees about 30 minutes or until done. Use the following filling:

ANOTHER EASY but satisfying answer to the refreshment problem is a salad served with homemade hot-from-the-oven muffins that take just a few minutes to bake. But first, consider the salad, made with easy-to-use canned shrimp:
