LINCOLN COUNTY RESIDENTS INVESTED $2,971 IN SERIES E BONDS IN SEPTEMBER

New Mexicans invested more than a million dollars in U. S. Savings Bonds during September, according to a Treasury report received by E. E. Greisen, Chairman of the Lincoln County Savings Bonds Committee.

"Residents of Lincoln County saved and invested $2,971 in Series E Bonds in September," Mr. Greisen announced. "This is $160 less than was invested in August and $4,297 less than the same month last year."

"Series F and G investments in county in September total $33,500," continued Mr. Greisen.

"Investments of savings in Series E Bonds still is proving popular with people of this state as with all Americans," said Mr. Greisen. "Even small amounts saved regularly and systematically and invested in U. S. Savings Bonds soon produce a surprisingly large sum. For example, by buying one Bond a month at $18.75 issue price, one will have after ten years $2,500 less $1.00, and more if the Bonds are held to maturity," concluded Mr. Greisen.

LINCOLN COUNTY SHEEP EXHIBITED AT EASTERN NEW MEXICO FAIR

LICENSE PLATE COLLECTORS TO CHARGE 35¢ NOTARY FEE

At the Governor's direction I am hereby notifying all automobile license plate collectors in all counties of the State that they are not to collect but 35 cents as notary fee for servicing the purchase of license plates notwithstanding the last Legislature authorizing a fee of 50 cents for each such notary acknowledgment.

The Governor feels that the smaller charge will be ample to give adequate service to the public. He likewise, directs me to announce that from now on there will be no supplemental help afforded at the expense of the State, as has been done in Bernalillo County. That all help needed by the collectors must be paid for them personally and exclusively out of the 35 cents notary charge which he makes.

LOVELACE FOUNDATION FOR MEDICAL EDUCATION AND RESEARCH

The establishment of a $1,000,000 philanthropic foundation for the advancement of medical science was announced by Dr. William Randolph Lovelace, for many years head of the Lovelace Clinic, following the first meeting of the board of trustees with its chairman, Floyd B. Odium, who is president of the Atlas Corp., New York.

The new organization will be known as the Lovelace Foundation for Medical Education and Research. It will have assets valued at one million dollars consisting of the entire property of the Lovelace Clinic, a group of practicing physicians well-known in the Southwest. The Foundation will be operated at the outset from the earnings of the doctors in excess of operating expenses. This unusual method of turning income derived from the sick to the benefit of humanity follows the precedent set by the Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minnesota, and a few similar medical groups which have established such foundations.

Creation of the Foundation marks the end of private ownership of the Lovelace Clinic, founded 25 years ago by Dr. William Randolph Lovelace, a surgeon, with his brother-in-law, Dr. Edgar T. Lassetter, a general practitioner. They and their nephew, Dr. W. Randolph Lovelace II, also a surgeon, have given the title, equipment, clinical records, library an good will of the Clinic to the Foundation by irrevocable agreement.

The Clinic will function henceforth as a voluntary association of salaried physicians under a board of governors, and will own no property. The largest in New Mexico and one of the biggest in the Southwest, the Clinic has a staff of 22 doctors representing the major specialties in medicine and surgery. Its patient total more than 20,000 a year.

The Lovelace Foundation will not engage in the practice of medicine. This is the function of its sponsor, the Lovelace Clinic, allied hospitals and medical services and the medical profession in general.

The younger Dr. Lovelace, who was formerly on the surgical staff of the Mayo Clinic, is a faculty member of the Colorado medical school. One of the world's outstanding authorities on aviation medicine and during the war director of aero medical research at Wright Field, Ohio, Dr. Lovelace is now transcontinental and international medical director of Trans World Airline, and a member of General Carl Spaatz's Scientific Advisory Board of the Army Air Force. An aero medical research program is planned for the Foundation.

DDT Is Not Always Harmful to Animals

Absorption or Licking Toxicity Overplayed

When DDT fly sprays first became available for farm buildings and livestock, there was considerable talk about sprayed animals being poisoned from absorption through the skin, or from licking one another, or licking the walls of buildings to which DDT had been applied.

Evidence, however, indicates the danger of toxicity to animals has been overplayed. For instance, in Missouri last summer, a cow drank half a tubful of DDT barn spray while the farmer was tinkering with his sprayer and getting ready to spray his barn. The cow suffered no bad effects.

At West Virginia university last year the dairy department threw caution to the wind and put 22 pounds of 50 per cent DDT powder in 100 gallons of water — then sprayed cows with it. That figures out about 18 per cent for DDT. Most recommendations to date have been under 1 per cent for DDT water sprays on animals. "There were absolutely no harmful results" the head of the dairy department reported. The DDT controlled flies, too. The spray was put on in May, and there were no flies on the cows until the middle of August.

Dehorning Instruments Spread Common Disease

A cattle disease known as anaplasmosis has gained a serious foothold in the United States and is more prevalent than most folks realize.

It is a febrile, infectious, protozoan disease that may be chronic or acute. It attacks older animals mostly. Average mortality ranges from 30 to 50 per cent of animals affected. Clinical symptoms are similar to tick fever.

Treatment is still in the experimental stage. The disease probably is spread by insect bites. Many cases coming to the attention of bureau of animal industry investigators have followed mechanical dehorning when too little or no attention had been given to disinfecting instruments.

If calves have horn buttons removed when young, by means of chemical dehorning fluid, the danger of spreading the disease by dehorning tools is eliminated.

This Land of Ours Must Now Be Saved

One of the greatest costs of the war, to America, was the depletion of her soil. Demands for increased production, forcing of land without returning necessary food, shortage of fertilizer and the lack of labor to properly plant soil protecting crops has resulted in erosion and barren soil in hundreds of thousands of acres of land.

Dried Sweet Potatoes Prove Excellent Food

Sweet potatoes prepared for feed by slicing and sun drying were compared with cracked No. 3 yellow corn in a series of digestion and nitrogen balance trials with steers and lambs by Oklahoma experiment station. On the basis of total digestible nutrient content the dried sweet potatoes had 93.3 per cent the value of No. 3 corn. Nitrogen retention by steers and lambs was practically the same.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Economical Cuts Of Meat Are Tasty If Prepared Right

Leftover meats are easily creamed and served in patty shells on a platter generously heaped with vegetables—an economy note for your budget.

Budget-wise homemakers are taking a second look at their budgets this season, and most of them are keeping one eye on their purse strings, while the other eye is glued to prices. One item that is getting extra consideration is meat.

There's hardly such a thing as a "budget cut of meat anymore, but naturally there are some that are less expensive than others. Breast of lamb is among those as well as some of the beef cuts including tongue; if you like pork, you'll have to be satisfied with a suggestion of the flavor. A roast is good economy if it is beef or lamb because you can count on two or three meals as well as sliced meat for sandwiches. If you plan on one roast per week—carefully cooked so as to avoid expensive shrinkage—then it's easy to use the economy items I've already mentioned to fill up the other days nicely.

Liver-Rice Cakes

- (Makes 16 cakes)
- 1 pound sliced pork liver
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/2 small onion
- 1 1/2 cups cooked rice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 egg
- 1 1/2 tablespoons milk
- 1/4 cup milk

Fry the liver in the 1/2 cup of shortening until nicely browned and let cool. Put the liver and onion through the food chopper. Add the rice, salt, pepper, egg, milk and mix well. Shape into small cakes and brown in 1/4 cup of shortening until brown on both sides.

Barbecued Lamb Breast

- (Serves 4)
- 2 pounds breast of lamb
- 1 medium onion
- 1/2 cup chili sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon red pepper
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 cup water

Cut lamb into 5 pieces. Season with salt and pepper. Place in a hot skillet with the fatty sides of the meat on the bottom so they will brown easily. Mix chili sauce, red pepper, vinegar and water and pour over lamb. Slice onion and place over meat. Cover. Simmer for 1 1/2 hours, then remove lid and cook for about 20 minutes or until most of the barbecue sauce is absorbed.

A pot roast is very nice to have as the roast of the week, and then it's easy to use as sliced meat for supper, or ground and used for meat pies, stuffing for peppers, pinwheels with biscuit dough, etc. If you make it creole style, it will have plenty of flavor for other uses.

Creole Pot Roast

- 1 pounds chuck of beef
- 1/4 cup salad oil
- Juice of 1 lemon
- 2 bay leaves
- 1 onion, minced
- 2 teaspoons allspice
- 5 teaspoons salt
- Pepper
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 2 cups tomatoes

LYNN SAYS: Add 'Beasty' Touches To Vegetables

Curly your raw carrots by slicing them with a potato peeler and curling them around the finger. Slip off the curls and place them close together in a dish of very icy water. Let stand for one half an hour and the curls will stay.

When you broil ham for dinner, place corn or green beans in the dripping pan and let the vegetables catch the delicious juices.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- *Cream Swiss Steak
- Browned Potatoes
- Lyonnaise Carrots
- Pineapple Cole Slaw
- Bran Muffins
- Floating Island Beverage

*Recipe given.

Mix oil, lemon juice and seasonings; rub well into meat. Dredge meat with flour and brown slowly in fat. Add the tomatoes. Cover closely and cook in a slow oven for about 4 hours or until meat is fork tender.

Swiss steak is cheaper than some cuts of meat, and the leftovers may be used as the meat from pot roast.

*Cream Swiss Steak

- 1 1/2 pounds round or arm steak
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 cup flour
- 2 tablespoons lard
- 1/2 cup sliced onion
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup sour cream

Have steak cut 1 1/2 to 2 inches thick. Season with salt and pepper and pound flour well into steak. Brown steak on both sides, in lard or drippings. Add remaining ingredients. Cover closely and simmer for about 3 hours, or until tender.

Rice-Beef Balls

- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
- 3/4 cup uncooked rice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 1 can tomato soup
- 1/2 can water
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper

Mix meat, rice and seasonings. Shape into small balls and drop them into tomato soup to which the water, onion and green pepper have been added. Cook very slowly for 40 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce poured over them.

A few slices of leftover meat are easily used in an attractive salad served in shells to make a substantial luncheon dish. Add eggs, cottage cheese and vegetables if you are somewhat shy of meat itself.

Here are two real economy dishes which you'll like for the cooler weather:

Braised Ox-tails

- (Serves 4)
 - 2 ox-tails
 - 3 sprigs parsley, chopped

For cooked carrots, fleck them with chopped chives or parsley by adding the latter to the melted fat you use for seasoning.

Season chopped, freshly cooked spinach with crumbled bacon and a dash of nutmeg. Top with hard-cooked egg white and yolk, separated and put through a sieve.

Scalloped or stewed tomatoes take on added color and flavor if you add a dash of herbs to them and also a suggestion of finely minced onion and chopped green pepper.

Mystery of the Missing Farms

Yep, the number of farms in America is shrinking (by a quarter-million in the last five years). What's happened to the missing farms? The land has been taken in by other farms, increasing the average size by twenty acres!

Does this growth mean farming's no longer a family enterprise? Just the opposite! More families own farms today than ever—only with labor-saving equipment they can handle more land, more work.

That's as it should be. The family farm is a fortress of democracy—where our free, American life, is secure. Where every member cooperates and shares the work—living together in temperance and tolerance—temperance that prefers a moderate beverage like beer, and tolerance for a taste that may be different from one's own.

From where I sit, our Family Farms (and they're 90% of all farms) are something that this country can be proud of!

Governor Mabry Attempts To Interest Movie Producers In New Mexico Scenery

Santa Fe. — Efforts of Governor Thomas J. Mabry to encourage greater use of New Mexico's scenic and historic areas by motion picture producers were carried forward this week through the appointment by the Governor of Ted Jones of New Mexico and California as the state's representative with the Hollywood Studios.

This appointment is another bid by the Governor for additional business for the state. It follows several trips which Governor Mabry made to Hollywood in the interests of this growing industry, and is in keeping with a resolution passed by the last session of the legislature urging greater use of the state's scenic areas for moving picture purposes.

The selection of Mr. Jones, who will serve without pay, was made after the Governor had conferred with several interested citizens throughout the state. The Governor was influenced in his selection by the fact that Jones has had twenty-seven years experience in the theatre business, sixteen years of which were spent in New Mexico, because of his close contact with motion picture producers and his thorough knowledge of the state's many scenic, historic and recreational areas.

Mr. Jones moved to Los Angeles early this year where he heads two companies of his own, but spends several months a year in New Mexico looking after his many personal interests here.

Mr. Jones' experience in selling the studios on using New Mexico backgrounds for motion picture purposes dates back several years. Through his efforts, and those of his associates he has been responsible for several pictures being filmed in New Mexico. He will work in co-operation with state departments, chambers of commerce and interested organizations and individuals. To help in his work, he has invited all organizations and the general public to help him obtain attractive 8 x 10 photographs of the state's scenic areas. Mr. Jones maintains offices at 432 North LaBrea, Los Angeles, 36, California. His New Mexico address is: P. O. Box 786, 1001 West Second Street-Roswell. He is in no way at present connected with any motion picture producer.

Governor Mabry expressed pleasure over Mr. Jones' acceptance of this appointment and stated his belief that it will bear fruitful results.

Raise A Puppy, Then Baby, Couples Told

Raising of a puppy is the finest sort of preparation for the rearing of a baby, workers of the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City, believe.

They point to the finding of Lawrence K. Frank, a recognized authority on child care who himself has raised six cubs and many puppies, and who states that an understanding of the fact that babies are "human-puppies" can be of enormous help to parents in dealing with the problems and vicissitudes of raising a family.

Both puppies and babies, when new-born, are dependent, helpless and demanding, he points out. They require frequent feedings and much sleep, and crave petting and affection. When hungry, hurt or uncomfortable they whimper or cry. Like the puppy, the baby will acquire politeness, emotional balance and self-discipline or will become a petulant and discordant individual depending on the manner in which he has been treated while small, he states.

Alamogordo Bombing Range Is Opened to Ranchers for Grazing

Livestock Growers will be permitted to again use grazing lands in the huge four-million acre Alamogordo Bombing Range in southern New Mexico according to information received by the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association, George A. Godfrey, Animas, President said. The War Department is now negotiating co-use agreements with ranchers involved, and as soon as individual agreements have been completed the Bureau of Land Management is prepared to issue grazing permits to former users, Godfrey continued.

Following eighteen months of negotiations with the War Department and the Department of Interior, it finally appears as though ranchers in the area will be given some relief, Godfrey said. "The vast area was created in 1942 when the War Department condemned nearly four million acres of grazing lands in Otero, Socorro, Lincoln and Dona Ana counties to be used as a practice bombing area and rocket proving ground.

"When this land was acquired by the Department, little time or consideration was given to ranchers who used the area and who for generations had grazed cattle, sheep and goats for a livelihood. The area had been used by more than 100 ranchers and had a carrying capacity of more than 28,500 head of cattle the year around", Godfrey said. "The bombing range under former War Department regulations has not been used for grazing for four years and its use comes now as a great source of relief to drought-stricken ranchers in the southern part of the state."

The Division of Grazing of the Bureau of Land Management is preparing to issue co-use agreements and supervise grazing practices as soon as the War Department authorizes individual agreements with ranchers in the area.

Rev. F. J. Johnston, Pastor
Sunday School at 10 a. m., Worship Service at 11 a. m., Youth Fellowship at 8:30 p. m. All are cordially invited.

All those who are really born again should be glad to come to God's house at least once a week to meet with and greet other members of God's family. If any person does not find it in their heart to love other Christians there may be grave doubts about their having passed from death unto life. 1 John 3: 14. The central figure of the church is Christ and the essential basis of the church is love. If we are to have Christian fellowship before the throne in heaven we had better get a little more used to it down here. What are you contributing to the Fellowship Church in these parts, dear reader? We invite you to worship with us if not lined up elsewhere. Please Come.

War Department officials have been and are now surveying the area to determine actual destruction to ranch improvements caused by military practices.

This agreement on part of the Department of the Interior and the War Department with ranchers will serve to greatly facilitate production of meat in New Mexico and it will save a vast amount of grain and feed which would have been fed to livestock which will now be able to use the range", Godfrey said.

HERE IS A 4-UNIT DIESEL FREIGHT LOCOMOTIVE NOW OPERATED BY 2 MEN (1 ENGINEER AND 1 FIREMAN)

2 BRAKEMEN AND 1 CONDUCTOR COMPLETE THE CREW OF THIS TRAIN [One brakeman usually rides in the locomotive in freight service]

—BUT THE UNION LEADERS WANT 15 EXTRA "SITTERS" ON THIS TRAIN . . . 3 ENGINEERS, 3 FIREMEN, 6 BRAKEMEN AND 3 CONDUCTORS . . . TO GO ALONG FOR THE RIDE AT FULL PAY!

It's to your interest to know about this proposed feather-bedding!

For sheer feather-bedding, this mock work proposal takes the cake. But it is only one of 44 "rules" demands filed by the leaders of the operating unions. If all these demands were granted, they would cost the railroads an added BILLION DOLLARS A YEAR.

Increased Wages, Too

On top of these "rules" changes, the leaders of the operating unions have filed an additional demand for a wage increase of over 50 per cent. If granted, this would be an added cost to the railroads of $400,000,000 a year.

$468,000,000 To Non-Operating Employees

In addition to this, an Arbitration Board has just granted a wage increase of 15 1/2 cents an hour to the million employees represented by the 17 non-operating unions. This will cost the railroads $468,000,000 a year.

Where Will The Money Come From?

Where will all the money come from to pay these increases? They total several times as much as the railroads made in 1946 or will make in 1947.

In July, the railroads filed an application for increased freight rates to close the gap which then existed between wage and material costs, and railroad revenues. Since then it has been necessary, because of further increases in wages and material costs, to supplement that petition and to ask for an additional freight rate increase. No other course is open.

Railroads Do Not Run For Employees Alone

Railroads are operated for the benefit of not one, but several groups—shippers, passengers, employees, stockholders, and the general public. The interest of all must be served—and that cannot be done unless the railroads can operate efficiently and economically, and unless they are allowed to earn sufficient revenue to provide the kind of transportation service this country MUST HAVE.

1937 Captain News

President Theodore Roosevelt sixteen governors and about 20,000 people were kept waiting at the levee from 3:30 until 4:15 o'clock in the afternoon while the governor of New Mexico was exchanging greetings with an old friend.

After the party left Jefferson, Governor Curry stopped at the Planters for a valise. There he and an old friend became reminiscent and the governor forgot about the boat. When he finally reached the levee he was lost in the crowd and had difficulty finding the right boat. In the mean time a search was being made for him by the secret service men, and the governors were anxiously walking the deck of the steamer Mississippi.

It seemed a hoodoo was pursuing the governor of New Mexico in St. Louis. On his arrival there he lost his trunk, containing his evening dress suit, and he was compelled to buy an entire new outfit.

Its real name is the Burroughs adding and listing machine, and will put down figures in columns of type like a type-writer, and then add them up faster than six expert book-keepers, and moreover, the makers guarantee that it cannot make a mistake or forget to "carry."

INFORMATION BOOKLETS NOW AVAILABLE

Some forty booklets on establishing and operating various types of small businesses are available at a nominal charge at the U. S. Department of Commerce Field Offices located in El Paso and Albuquerque, Thomas U. Purcell, District manager announced.

These books formerly available only to servicemen and women through the Armed Forces Institute, offer basic information and counsel. They were prepared to answer the evident need of sound and useful information in order to further the chances of success of those going into business for themselves.

"The manuals contain no magic formula for success," Mr. Purcell states "but do suggest practical standards by which the interested reader can measure his qualifications and prospects as well as gain some understanding of the operating problems involved."

"These booklets are also of value to the proprietor of an established small business for checking his own operating and management procedures and for possible new ideas," Mr. Purcell said.

A list of the series' titles is now available at the offices of the Department, located in Room 12 Chamber of Commerce Building, El Paso and at 203 West Gold Avenue in Albuquerque.

General Assembly Gets Under Way

U. N. Delegates Convene At Town Hall of the World

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—At the opening of the current session of the United Nations general assembly I made the usual rounds greeting friends from far corners of the earth whom these meetings bring together. Two converged upon me and one of them began to discourse on the fact that we three were becoming conference veterans.

He started to say "... let's see how many is it, there was the first Quebec, then the second Quebec. ..." But the other man interrupted him and remarked gently: "Oh, no, it goes further back than that. This is my forty-fourth. Remember there was a League of Nations, too?"

The younger man stopped. Of course, his gray haired colleague was right. "And you still believe," the younger man asked earnestly, "that some day they'll work?"

"Certainly," was the reply. And it was made with such simple sincerity that we "youngsters" felt a little reproved.

The next day I walked to a railway station across the beautiful Flushing Meadows in the twilight, the scent of new-mown grass all about us, with one of those prodigies, an "instant translator." She was one of the females of the species who are quite as efficient as the males. But it was not her feminine charm which attracted me, if such were to be discovered.

Baukhage

I tried to ask her a little about her work, my first question being: "Isn't it interesting?"

"Interesting? Oh, for a while," she answered, "but one would like to get around a little more. I have been here since spring. I'd like to get back to the Orient and—other places."

I mentioned that we had had simultaneous translations at Nuremberg. "Oh, I was there," she said, "and always cold. One could never get warm, anywhere." I agreed. "And," she added, "I went there direct from India."

I tried to get some observation from her on the idea behind these conferences and their effort to bring about world understanding and world peace. "Do you think that they are worthwhile?" I asked. (We're always asking that, hopefully if a little wistfully.)

"Oh, yes," she replied quickly, "they are much better than none at all, much. But I feel that the men here do not really wish to make sacrifices to have peace. The men in their own governments do not wish them to make enough concessions to rob the officials in the different governments of their own power. And so the beautiful words they use are only rationalization. They express idealistic thoughts, but when it comes to acting to implement them, they do not wish to go that far. They already have satisfied that feeling they know they should have, to do the right thing. Then they do not have to do it. Just as all of us rationalize our own misconduct."

That gave me a pause.

It also gave me some hope for this session for I believe that the powers of the assembly will be strengthened so that they can enforce what the people want. The fine words and idealistic plans will have more force if the permanent committee of the assembly on peace and security, which Secretary of State Marshall proposed, is created. It will be in session all the time. Its votes, unhampered by the overuse of the stalling veto, will be heard continuously; not merely when the assembly itself is in session.

Words Contain Great Significance

Words still are making trouble, as they always have. It isn't what we say so much as what people think we mean. For instance, there was a long discussion of the word "impinge," on the second day of the assembly meeting. This was just the English meaning, discussed among English-speaking reporters. Secretary Marshall had said this new permanent committee of the assembly would not "impinge" on the security council. The great argument about the committee has been that it was intended to by-pass the security council itself, and thus duck the veto.

If the English-speaking reporters weren't quite sure how far you go, or don't go, when you "impinge," it's no wonder there was confusion when it was translated into half a dozen other languages.

It was the translation of one word which nearly caused a revolution in Korea and made the work of the American commission there infinitely more difficult. It also has affected the whole course of action by the assembly on Korea. It was the word "trusteeship."

There is no word which properly translates "democracy" in Russian. When using the term, the Russians merely give the English word its Russian form. But what a gulf between their meaning and ours. Liberty of the individual is not implied at all in the Russian concept.

Indeed, many people have said there is no real desire for liberty on the part of the modern Russian generation. And yet they constantly describe their country and their satellites as "democracies."

There was a good deal of electioneering before and during the close battle over the election for the presidency of the assembly. At first the American delegation had intended to vote for Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil. He is an old and staunch friend of the United States. But he felt that Brazil had had enough honors at the recent conference in Rio, that he had served one term before and that it would be best not to run. He said he didn't want the job. So our delegates pledged for Evatt of Australia, who was exceedingly anxious to be elected. But the Latin-Americans would have none of it. They demanded Aranha run. The contest narrowed to him and Evatt. This put Russia on the spot. Latin-America wants to liberalize the veto, Evatt would tear it to pieces. And the veto is the Russian pet. But the United States was for Evatt so Russia voted for Aranha and he won.

The Russian delegation went into a huddle on the floor. The Russian stogees had to be told just how to vote. And who should be the man who ran around, taking orders—or shall we say suggestions—from the Russian delegation to the various groups, Albania, Poland and the others under the Russian thumb?

It was Sargo M. Koudilavtsev, a member of the staff of advisors to the Russian delegation. That name didn't mean much to me, but I was reminded by Paul Ward of the Baltimore Sun, who always has a sharp eye out for such matters, that this active gentleman was the man named as the "architect" of the Russian spy system, in the report on the plot to obtain official secrets from the Canadian government.

Two women are exceedingly popular at the assembly meetings and their popularity seems to grow. One is Mrs. Pandit Nehru, wife of the Indian leader, and one is Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. They are both active and intelligent. Mrs. Pandit (last names come first in India, as in many other countries) has been named ambassador to Russia by her new government.

I couldn't help thinking, considering the recent emancipation of women in India that Mrs. Pandit was more like Mrs. Roosevelt, than Mrs. Roosevelt herself, when you consider the unconventionalality of both judged by the standards of their respective older generations.

Farm Co-ops Do Huge Trade

If volume of trade is any indication, America's farm cooperatives are establishing themselves ever more firmly as a significant force in the realm of agriculture.

In the 1944-45 marketing year, farm cooperatives, with more than five million individual farmers participating, did a record six billion dollar business, according to an estimate by the farm credit administration of the Department of Agriculture.

The FCA report came at a time when a house small business subcommittee was investigating any possible advantages the co-ops might have over other business because of the fact that they are tax-exempt

Conserve Food: Truman; U.N. Adopts Agenda

FOOD PLANS:

Conservation

It wasn't hard for President Truman to figure out: Europe is in desperate need of food from the U. S., but the U. S. will leave itself wide open for even greater price spiraling if it boosts its exports much higher.

The answer, he told a special press conference, is food conservation by all Americans. It is not a matter of eating any less, he said, but of wasting less.

In line with that, he announced the setting up of a citizens food committee to develop a food conservation program in the nation. Charles Luckman of Cambridge, Mass., president of Lever Brothers, was named president.

Regarding Europe, Mr. Truman said the food and fuel situation there is too critical to allow time for detailed study. Thus, apparently in an emergency frame of mind, the President called together congressional leaders, to discuss possible steps that could be taken immediately to aid the starving continent.

If possible, he said, he would not call a special session of congress if stop-gap aid for Europe could be pushed through without resorting to that step.

Americans could start preparing for a heavy barrage of food conservation propaganda.

TOUGH AGENDA:

No Dodging

United Nations general assembly proved at least one thing in the first week of its current session—it isn't going to dodge any issues.

After fitful preliminary sessions in which they heard the U. S. and Russia flay each other verbally and U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie called for an end to feuding, the delegates voted doggedly to take on the entire list of tough, almost insoluble problems standing as a barrier to world accord.

Among the items admitted to the agenda were the partition of Palestine, peace in the Balkans, independence of Korea and Marshall's proposal to reorganize U. N. machinery to hold a tighter rein on the turbulent peace.

Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky's resolution calling on member nations to take criminal action against warmongering propagandists was wholeheartedly admitted to debate, probably because it will provide a chance to nullify the concept of freedom of the press.

ABSOLVED:

Hirohito

Even while five high-ranking Japanese army and navy officers were being hanged by the neck in payment for their crimes of cannibalism, torture and murder of U. S. prisoners, Emperor Hirohito was being publicly absolved of any responsibility for the Pacific war by the chief U. S. war crimes prosecutor.

Joseph E. Keenan told the international war crimes tribunal that "The prosecution believes the people in the dock are really responsible for this war. If there had been anyone else, they would be in the dock too."

HEADLINERS

IN CAMDEN, N. J. . . . Joseph Valentino, hauled into court for laboring March McGhee, 22, on the jaw, explained apologetically to the judge that he thought Miss McGhee was his wife, got 10 days.

IN HOUSTON . . . Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, former deputy commanding general of U. S. air forces, retired, readjusted himself to civilian life by taking a job as vice-president of Hughes Tool company.

IN HAMILTON, ONT. . . . Mrs. Marshall Lounsbury, no art authority, bought an oil painting at an auction for "a song," later discovered it was "Palm Sunday Morning" by 19th century master Calliano, valued at $20,000.

IN FITTSBURGH . . . City Councilman E. J. Leonard, longtime advocate of sidewalk repair, cited the danger of increased spills as a result of a combination of the new long skirts, high heels and broken pavements, frightened the city council into passing a ruling that all walks be repaired immediately.

ELEANOR:

An Old Note

"Dear Sumner — This Elser case seems a hard nut to crack. What do you suggest? Sincerely, E. R."

That, Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state, told the house committee on un-American activities, was a note he received from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in 1939 when the then first lady was interested in obtaining an open hearing on the passport application of one Hanns Elser, Austrian refugee from Hitler.

The note, an almost forgotten memento of the prewar era, was hailed resoundingly in newspapers across the land because Hanns Elser was world accord.

Mrs. Roosevelt Hanns Elser

accused of being a Communist. He is the brother of Gerhart Elser, No. 1 agent of the Kremlin in the U. S.

Elser and his wife finally were issued visas in Mexico City to cover their entrance into this country. He has taken out naturalization papers and is a song writer in Hollywood.

In 1936, Elser told the committee, he had applied for membership in the German Communist party, but had dropped out. A department of labor report made in 1933 said of him: "The evidence establishes preponderantly that Hanns Elser is a Communist."

Mrs. Roosevelt's attitude toward the affair was lackadaisical. The note to Welles on behalf of Elser was strictly routine, she said, adding that she neither knew Elser nor remembered the note.

THE FICTION CORNER

HARD GUYS BY MILTON BRACKER

THE dead man's foot protruded from the blanket like a discarded boot. A pair of water reated on the sidewalk; they had tried to do something for him, without being able to. Just an ordinary sidewalk, a speeding car, a rat-tat-tat and that was all. Another not-so-big shot was through.

Five minutes after the cops came, a squeaky sedan jolted to a stop at the opposite curb. Half-a-dozen men piled out.

"Reporters," someone in the crowd decided. The newcomers took in the scene in a matter-of-fact way, then swarmed about the lieutenant and the homicide squad man and piled them with questions.

The others were smoking and one rotund fellow laughed raucously at something the homicide squad man said. Soon a few broke away and headed for the drugstore across the street with the blue and white telephone emblem outside.

Within twenty minutes all of them squeezed back into the car. "S'long, Mac, see y'in church," the man at the wheel yelled to the lieutenant as the gears meshed.

"Hard guys," the man in the crowd muttered, as the machine turned the corner. "You said it," his companion agreed, dryly.

An hour later, Joe Melsner of the City News Federation, "Old Man" of the borough's police reporters, left the smoky-walled pressroom on the ground floor of the Supreme Court Building to buy an afternoon paper.

Johnny Hennessy, of the Globe, the kid of the shack, sat in a corner figuring out his expense account. Jim Reide, of the Post-Flash, Nason, of the Mail, Cohen, of the Reflector and Leno, of the Home Press, with a few of the usual pressroom hangers-on, were at the inevitable rummy game.

Opposite, Delany, of the Star, legs stretched majestically across his desk and feet high in the air, sat back reading a fat book with a scarlet cover and yellow edges. Levito, who was with an up-country paper, fidgeted in a phone booth, waiting to "clean up" the shooting story.

A voice thundered in the corridor. The others looked up; they always did when Melsner spoke. He was pointing to something huddled at the doorway.

"Now what d'ya call this?" the Old Man grunted, stooping over. He picked up the cringing something and deposited it gingerly on his desk, a massive roll-top affair with "Private: Keep Out!" on it in forbidding letters.

The pressroom was crowded one sultry afternoon, crowded with sweaty men in shirtsleeves. At the card table, next to Reide, was Al Brown, a thick-necked hardware clerk who spent his idle hours with what he called the "newshounds."

"Hennessy caught the clerk with a hard left to the jaw."

"We'll call him Ginger," Hennessy suggested. "Lookit the fire in his eyes, will you?" Ginger yapped appreciatively, provocatively. That finished the card game.

Brown reeled, regained his footing, swung, and missed. Nason and Delany started to intervene, but Melsner, who had taken everything in quietly, stopped them with a move of his hand.

Thoroughly aroused, Brown lunged at his lighter rival, who danced aside just fast enough. As the clerk plowed by, the reporter grabbed him by the scruff of the neck, swung him around, and sent him sprawling away with another punch that cracked against his jaw.

Brown shook his head, spat, then went for Hennessy again. The result was still another crack; he could feel his eye swell as if it had been pumped around it.

Again Nason and Delany leaped forward to interfere, but the Old Man, an intense gleam in his eyes, restrained them.

It looked bad for the reporter. Brown pressed his advantage, bore down with his full weight. One of the newspaperman's shoulders was down, the other twisted convulsively as the panting fellow on top sought to wrench it into the dirt of the floor-boards.

Across the floor like a two-headed fiend. They crashed into Melsner's desk, upsetting a bottle of purple ink, which spilled over both of them. Then they tore apart, and each staggered to his feet, a livid mess.

Brown wiped his brow, smearing it grotesquely with sweat, ink, and blood. He lunged again, but for the last time. Hennessy, his whole frame taut for one blow, poised like a matador and as the clerk rushed in, brought his left fist forward and up like a lead mallet. It caught the hardware clerk on the point of the chin, and he went down for good.

From the corner, a faint bark signaled Ginger's approval, and jolted the wide-eyed onlookers to their senses.

Ten minutes later, a few blocks down, Brown was telling his boss how he'd been "mobbed" in a card game brawl with a "half-dozen" reporters.

"I told you to keep away from those fellows," he was told. "They're hard guys."

In the pressroom, Reide held a blue bowl and Delany held Ginger. The others were clustered around, beaming. The puppy's bruised side was bandaged clean around his fat little middle, and tied with a funny bow on top, like a Christmas parcel.

"Will ya look at the runt go for that milk, will ya?" Melsner grinned at Hennessy.

Ginger, temporarily deserted, sniffed in and out of the chair legs, feeling for Reide, who always petted him. The dog rubbed against Brown's trousers by mistake.

"Why, the ——" the startled clerk swore. He reached down, picked up the pup clumsily, and tossed him carelessly to the floor about a yard away.

Nobody reeked. Hennessy looked up queerly from his typewriter. Ginger, not having sensed the rebuttal, returned to the table. Again he brushed Brown's trousers. As if having anticipated the annoyance, the clerk kicked vigorously. There was a sharp squeal, then Ginger, lying up to his name, bit.

Every eye in the place turned to the battered little body on the floor. But in a split second, every eye was glued on the centre of the room,

BIBLE

SCRIPTURE: Hebrews 3:1-8; 4:1-4. DEVOTIONAL READING: Philippians 2:1-11.

Apostle of Better Things

Lesson for October 12, 1947

THIS lesson opens, Hebrews 3:1-8, with the explanation that Jesus Christ is the minister of better things in that he is the apostle and high priest of our profession, perfectly faithful to him that appointed him.

Called to God an high priest after the order of Melchisedec, Christ, the author of eternal salvation, dealt no longer with symbols, but offered himself as the perfect lamb to take away our sins.

And for this cause he is the mediator of the new covenant (testament), that by means of death, for the redemptions of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance." Hebrews 9:15.

Jesus and the Bible

JESUS is introduced in Matthew 4:1-4, as he quotes the Old Testament to Satan in the wilderness temptation. Having been reared by a God-fearing mother, Jesus was familiar with the Bible as a child.

What is the best thing any parent can do for his or her child? I would answer without hesitation: Teach them to hide God's words in their hearts in the impressionable years of youth. A Bible verse learned in youth will serve through all life's testing situations.

"I will not forget Thy Word," Psalms 119:16.

He Helps Us Use the Bible

THE better ministry of Jesus is reflected in the fact that, "We have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God. . . . For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need." Hebrews 4:14-16.

Study the example of Jesus in his answers to Satan in the wilderness temptation, and He will teach us when and what to say to Satan. We are not dependent upon our wisdom and words. Our great high priest will supply wisdom and words to match any situation that Satan ever presents.

I think of a story of a junior boy, recently accused of stealing. The boy was the victim of a wicked man who sought to turn circumstantial evidence upon him to cover his own sin.

"Sir, I have not sinned. Who convicted me of this charge?" "The man dropped his head, and said: 'Your honor, I ask for the privilege of withdrawing the charge.'"

His Laws in Our Hearts

"I WILL put my laws on their hearts, and upon their minds also will I write them," Hebrews 10:16. Jesus declares, "I do always the things that please him," and he enables us, by his grace, to do the father's will by his indwelling in our hearts. Thus, his will becomes the law of our lives, through the grace of Jesus Christ.

It is impossible for us to keep the law perfectly, but Christ, the better Christ, becomes our righteousness, and then his law is kept by his grace. In the olden times, men claimed to keep the letter of the law, without the spirit, as in the case of Moses. Now, through the offering of Christ, we are enabled to satisfy the spirit of the law.

The Sufficient Christ

THIS lesson should enhearten every trusting child of God, since it makes clear that, "He is able to save unto the uttermost them that draw near unto God through him," Hebrews 7:25.

He is not only able, but yearns to save unto the uttermost. He will save everyone. God has done everything he can do to save every sentient soul on this earth. Those who go to hell do so because they decide to go to hell. It is not the pleasure of God that all should perish, but that all should repent and be saved.

Uncle Sam Says

Small business firms can take a wise tip from many of their customers who have built a reserve account of Savings Bonds through the Federal Savings Plan for buying Savings Bonds. The Head-A-Month Plan at local banks where the corner drugist, the grocer and the butcher maintain checking accounts is equally effective in providing a growing reserve for a business. For example, suppose you own a business which nets $1,000 a month. By investing $200 a month in Savings Bonds through your bank's Head-A-Month Plan you would have a $2,400 reserve in one year's time. U.S. Treasury Department
