Officials are to be well paid. Also that officials dress in proper official uniform. Each official after working a game in a town makes a report on that school's dressing rooms, conduct of fans, and general attitude of said school. In return the coach makes a report on the official and grades him on his appearance. Those attending the meeting from Carrizozo were coaches, Heick and Shaw.

The Seniors decorated the building very beautifully. Punch and cookies were served about ten o'clock. All had a good time.

The Senior Class wish to express their thanks to Mr. Joe Morgan for the use of his loud speaker set; to Tommy Zumwalt for using his record player and to others for helping them in any way.

Creative Power of Faith

Lesson for October 19, 1947

THIS lesson takes us to the Westminster Abbey of the Bible—Hebrews, eleventh through the thirteenth chapters—to meditate for a season upon the valiant souls in the long ago who obtained a good report as they stood at the passage of destiny and sounded the trumpets of triumph, even the trumpets of faith.

these three chapters. Your attention will be riveted to the word, faith. "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. For by it the elders obtained a good report. Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of 'things which do appear.'" Hebrews 11:1-3.

A Journey to a New Land I WANT the boys and girls to look at the passage which describes how Abraham, "when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went."

How could Abraham leave his pleasant situation in Ur? Through faith in God, and that alone. A memory verse is here suggested: "I will trust, and will not be afraid," Isaiah 12:2. Abraham might well have been afraid of unknown enemies, of disease, of poverty. Mea do become afraid of these things, unless their faith is in God. But Abraham believed in God—had faith in God. And he went forth, holding the hand of God.

There is creative power in such a faith. Abraham discovered that every step he took was accompanied by God. He built altars. He talked with God, and God talked with him. Such will be the experience of every boy and girl who stakes his or her all upon implicit faith in God.

What Faith Can Do INTERMEDIATES are considering what they will do with their lives. It is the vitally important period when they are wisely considering a life career. This lesson would seem to clearly indicate that God has a purpose and plan for each life. He will reveal that guidance to those who trust him for guidance. Faith in God at this point is absolutely essential if we are to live victoriously.

Read again the eleventh chapter of Hebrews and see how these heroes of faith in the long ago cast themselves wholly into the will of God for their lives. We can have no doubt about their ultimate success.

Parents and teachers are here reminded of their solemn responsibility in pointing intermediate boys and girls to the truth of Sunday's lesson. Life is too valuable, too fleeting, to be frittered away in purposeless drifting. Faith is the bright shaft of God's presence and power to guide young people into his will. It is the unfailing light to direct their steps daily. It is the creative power to sustain them each step of the way.

This Power at Work TAKE any one of the characters portrayed in these three chapters of Hebrews and see how faith in God produced men and women who changed the course of history. Young people are interested in biography. I would commend to you the lives of the great men and women of modern times, who lived in the creative power of faith in God.

John Wesley, for example. There was a man whose life, when strangely warmed by the spirit of God, lifted England from the depths of secularism and set her feet once more on the highway of worthy achievement.

Martha Berry is another splendid example. Miss Berry devoted her life to God's will and purpose to open doors of opportunity to the underprivileged boys and girls of the southern mountain areas. Today, at Mt. Berry, stands a school with the largest campus in the world—a school which reveals what one life can accomplish when that life is built by the creative power of faith in the Living God.

"Take my life and let it be, Consecrated, Lord, to Thee."

Vary the Salad With the Meal
(See recipes below.)

Salad Parade

Salads lead the health parade because in them you eat so many fruits and vegetables before they get a chance to lose their vitamins and minerals. All through the ages people have turned to salads because they craved things fresh from garden and orchard. Besides, certain foods are more attractive and appealing served in their raw state, or in salad form.

Salads may accompany the main course, and then they are served on a side plate, but alongside the main course. If you want to entertain in a special way, the answer is a salad platter or salad bowl. Use fruit or vegetable as your taste dictates. Don't forget the party or dessert salads which are in a class by themselves. These are full of fruit and even whipped cream, the fairy princesses of the salad world. Serve them for special occasions as a topping to a meal or as a party dish.

Freeze Banana Salad.
(Serves 10 to 12)
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 3-ounce packages of cream cheese
2 tablespoons crushed pineapple
1/2 cup maraschino cherries, cut in quarters
1/2 cup walnut meats, chopped
1 cup cream, whipped
2 ripe bananas
Crisp greens

Add lemon juice and salt to mayonnaise and stir in cheese. Add pineapple, cherries and nuts; fold in cream. Add bananas, cut in cubes. Turn into tray and place in automatic refrigerator. Freeze until firm, then serve sliced on crisp greens.

Here's a pretty salad that may be served either as a special salad or as an accompaniment:

Ginger Ale Pear Salad.
(Serves 6 to 8)
2 envelopes plain, unflavored gelatin
1 No. 2 1/2 size can of pears
1/4 cup maraschino cherry juice
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 1/2 cups ginger ale
Few drops red coloring
5 maraschino cherries
Soften gelatin in 1/2 cup of the cold pear juice drained from can. Bring to a boil 1/2 cup pear syrup and stir in softened gelatin until dissolved. Add maraschino cherry juice, sugar, lemon juice and ginger ale. If a darker color is desired, add a few drops of red coloring. Rinse a shallow pan in cold water; arrange pear halves, cut side up in bottom. Top each with a cherry. Pour gelatin mixture over pears carefully so as not to dislodge pears. Chill until firm. To serve, cut gelatin into squares with a sharp knife and place on lettuce. Serve with desired dressing.

When you're serving a heavy dinner, there's nothing better than a crisp salad just bursting with vegetables. For example, a chef's salad is about the best choice, or perhaps a Cole slaw. A true chef's salad is composed mainly of some of the salad greens such as escarole, romaine, lettuce, raw spinach, endive, watercress, dandelion greens or celery cabbage. They may be arranged bouquet style or shredded and tossed lightly with an oil and vinegar dressing (sometimes a french dressing) just before serving time.

One or more of the following may be added for variety if you want to tease the palate: Sliced radishes, chopped green pepper, diced cucumbers, cut celery, sliced stuffed olives, tomato sections, sliced pickle, sliced hard-cooked eggs, rolled anchovies, minced onion rings, garlic salt, celery salt, celery seed, or a light sprinkle of thyme, curry powder or chili powder. Here are some tempting variations for a cole slaw type of salad:
Plain Cole Slaw: 4 cups finely shredded cabbage, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 1 cup cooked salad dressing. Optional additions: 1 tablespoon either dill seed or caraway seed or mustard seed.
Carrot Slaw: 2 cups grated or shaved carrots, 2 cups cabbage, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 cup boiled salad dressing.
Slaw Deluxe: 3 cups shredded cabbage, 1 cup diced banana, 1/2 cup chopped peanuts, 2 tablespoons catsup and 1 cup boiled salad dressing.
Pineapple Slaw: 2 cups shredded cabbage, 1 cup cut, drained pineapple, 1/4 cup boiled salad dressing, 1 tablespoon celery seed and dash of paprika.
Spanish Slaw: 1 1/2 cups cut cabbage, 1 cup diced tomatoes, 1 cup diced cucumbers, 1/4 cup chopped green pepper and 1/4 cup of boiled salad dressing.
Two molded salads that may be served as an accompaniment are a pretty addition to the table:
Molded Grape Salad.
(Serves 6)
1 1/2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 cup orange juice
1 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup sugar
1 cup seeded or seedless grapes
1/2 cup nuts
Lettuce
Soak gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes. Bring juices to a boil, add sugar and gelatin. Cool, and when thick, fold in grapes and nuts. Pour into individual molds and chill until firm. Serve in nests of lettuce.

Halloween's the Time for a Party; Plan Your Games for Happy Evening

Lively Games Make Your Party A Success

HALLOWEEN is the night when the witches ride and little children ring doorbells. It's a wonderful time for party-giving and the games you plan should suit the occasion.

Call your scavenger hunt a witch hunt with dancing paper skeletons and crossed cats among the items to be found. Give a pumpkin to the winners. Dress your fortune teller up as a witch and watch your guests flock around.

Law on Stolen Aircraft

The U. S. government had no law that specifically applied to persons involved in interstate flights of stolen aircraft until September 24, 1945, when the National Motor Vehicle Theft act was amended to cover such cases.

Russia's First Railroads Carried 'Church Cars'

For several decades after Russia's first railroad began to operate between St. Petersburg and Moscow in 1851, the trains running on Sunday and holy days carried, for religious services, one or two "church cars" whose special equipment included stained-glass windows and sacred paintings.

Watercress is especially good with mayonnaise to which a bit of catsup has been added. Sliced radishes and chopped green pepper are also good additions.
Asparagus tips on a big slice of tomato seem tastier when served with a blue cheese dressing. Break up the cheese in french or oil dressing and add enough lemon juice for tartness.

Serve sliced tomatoes on a bed of lettuce with a dressing to which a few caraway seeds have been added.
You might also like a half avocado dressed with lemon juice served with cubes of fresh onion to which just a suggestion of onion has been added.
Strips of peeled avocado marinated in lemon juice may be effectively combined with sections of grapefruit or orange, strips of pineapple and grated blue cheese and nuts.

NEW MEXICO RECEIVES GREETINGS
FROM FIRST TREE FARM STATE

Washington's Governor Mon Wallgren and Governor Mabry

Congratulations to the State of New Mexico and Governor Thomas J. Mabry on this state's inauguration of a Tree Farm Program, have been received at Santa Fe from Governor Mon Wallgren of Washington State where the nation-wide tree growing program was started. The letter cites the rapid and encouraging growth of the movement in which New Mexico became the 17th actively participating state, and terms it the "foundation for a greater movement of forest conservation in which forest industries, farmers and other woodland owners will cooperate." According to the letter, "Tree Farming has now spanned the continent from Washington to Florida, with 15 million acres of woodlands now operated under the good forest management advocated by the movement. Wallgren urged the support of all New Mexicans to "preach the gospel that trees are a crop that forever can add to the prosperity and well being of our people." Tree farming came to New Mexico with the certification by the Western Pine Association, regional sponsors of the program, of the 80,000 acre Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimarron. Under Camp Director Bullock, ranch manager Bill Haek and foreman Ira Stevens, the outlines of a basic forestry training program are being shaped to fit into the camp activities of the scouts. A forest protection program is also being mapped. The American Forest Products Industries, Inc., of Washington, D. C., which promotes the Tree Farm Program nationally, expects to announce the inclusion of several additional states before January, 1948. Pictured above are Governor Wallgren signing the letter and Governor Mabry.

Latest government survey reveals that there are now 2,074,939 persons on Uncle Sam's payroll.

Livestock Hearing Postponed by Congressional Sub Committee

George A. Godfrey

Hearings on livestock grazing policies of the U. S. Forest Service by the House of Representatives Sub Committee on Public Lands, headed by Congressman Frank Brien, (R. Wyo.) have been postponed in Arizona and New Mexico according to information received by George A. Godfrey, Animas, President of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association.

"Because the Secretary of Agriculture requested an early report from the Congressional Committee and Congress may be called into session any time during the next sixty days, the group has already presented its recommendations to Secretary Anderson," Godfrey said. "The Committee has conducted hearings in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, California and Nevada. Representative A. M. Fernandez is a member of the Committee.

"The Committee report is excellent," Godfrey said. "It not only contains a fair statement of fact on problems confronting livestock growers using Forest Lands, but includes several recommendations which will lead to better utilization of the land and more constructive and economic land conservation practices."

The report recommended that the Forest Service give greater cooperation to grazing permittees in the improvement of ranges, including water development, fencing, reseed, rodent and weed control and soil and water conservation practices.

It is urged that further cuts in grazing permits be halted for a three year "test" period to accurately determine economic and sound grazing capacity on the range.

The Committee urged the establishment of a system of impartial appeal boards designated to represent all interested forest users "as well as grazing permittees."

The report asked that the Forest Service make effective a policy under which permittees, in matters affecting their preferences and permits shall upon request be entitled to a record hearing at which they may be represented by counsel. The Committee found instances where permittees were denied representation by attorney in presenting cases for appeal.

Another recommendation urged that in all cases involving a reduction in permitted number consideration shall be given to the economic conditions affecting the permittees of livestock operation and to the practical effect of proposed reductions upon the local community and its structure and that experienced and practical stockmen and community leaders be given due consideration.

Expressing hope that Secretary of Agriculture Anderson will give favorable consideration to the committee report, Godfrey said, "it would be helpful not only to our national food production economy but would be constructive in establishing a sound resource conservation program for the Forest Service."

ELLIOTT S. BARKER URGES HUNTERS TO OBSERVE GAME LAWS THIS SEASON

"Let's all do our utmost to help make November 10th to 21st big game hunting season a clean, safe and sportsman-like hunt," was the earliest appeal to all hunters made by Elliott S. Barker, State Game Warden.

The warden called attention to the fact that last hunting season when six men were killed and six others wounded, was the roughest and most lawless season New Mexico has ever had. Not only were six men killed and six wounded, but literally hundreds of does and fawns were killed and left, livestock were shot, and much private property needlessly destroyed or damaged.

"If we are to perpetuate hunting as a sport and maintain a supply of game to hunt," said the warden, "all hunters must do their part to keep hunting activities on a high level of sportsmanship, avoid illegal game, avoid 'accidents' (so called) and respect the land owner's interest and private as well as public property. The lawless, careless and greedy irresponsible hunters that characterized the big game season last year is a challenge to all good sportsmen, for unfortunately, the whole hunting fraternity is blamed for the acts of the minority groups. The warden said that the Game

Department is trying desperately to correct any shortcomings of the department personnel which might have been remotely responsible for any of the lawlessness that prevailed last year. He declared that there will be more and better patrolmen in the field this year to give information, pass out a word of caution and to apprehend game law violators.

"But he does not feel that that is enough, and insists that each true sportsman has a very definite responsibility in seeing that the lawless element does not get by with the trigger."

murder again this year, or ever again for that matter. When the lawless and reckless hunters are made to realize that they are being watched and will be turned in, they will soon abandon their obnoxious ways. It will be to their own interest to have a really clean hunt" said Warden Barker, "and that is for every hunter to respect all property rights and to be sure and doubly sure it's legal game before he pulls the trigger."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"Take Pen in Hand"

This column has been running for so long that its readers, in towns like ours all over the country, are beginning to "take pen in hand" and write us what they think.

Some of them take me over the coals for what I say—like the column I ran on planting alfalfa. Others write, "I liked your column yesterday, but..." All of them have different points of view.

From where I sit, that's the way it should be. Everybody's entitled to an opinion—and it's those very differences, and friendly criticism, that make for tolerance and better understanding—whether it's ideas on planting alfalfa or choosing between beer and cider.

The more folks air their differences right out in public, with a neighborly respect for the other person's liberties and point of view, the closer we are to the American principle of individual freedom—whether it's in a choice of crops or beverages.

We've Come a Long Way from the Longhorns

Longhorns by the millions ranging the western grasslands from the Gulf Coast to Montana... building empires... making history and legend on the great cattle trails! That was sixty and more years ago. Then the railroads came, much of the range was fenced and the fate of the longhorn was sealed. Short-horn, Angus and Hereford bulls came in from the east. Gradually, the longhorns were bred out of existence, until today only a few isolated "museum" herds are left.

This is one story of continuing livestock progress, of better animals developed to meet changing conditions and needs. Who knows but that in another fifty years today's "best" may look as old fashioned as longhorns do now.

With hogs, one amazing change is in the increased speed and efficiency of producing pork. Three years once was needed to raise a hog to market weight. Today, pigs often weigh 200 to 250 pounds at six months or less. Straight line and cross-bred breeding experiments seek even more efficient hogs to make weight in the same short time, but produce more meat.

In lambs, development is directed toward "dual-purpose" breeds. Certain breeds have been best for wool but not best for meat. Others produced the most but were lacking in wool. Researchers have made progress on breeds of lambs to produce both meat and good wool economically.

A first step in the improvement of any animals or any herd is to use proper sire on dams of known productive ability. The sire alone is not enough. To know production records and ancestry is vital. Bull grading programs offer greater certainty in choosing a sire. Weighing young animals at weaning time and marking them is important, especially in the selection of gilts. A "touch system" of sheep grading is proving helpful in culling large bands in little time.

On any matter pertaining to livestock breeds or breeding, Swift & Company has no favorites. We serve the interests of producers of all breeds, in all parts of the country. We urge you to watch carefully your farm publications, and the bulletins of your state agricultural station, and the accomplishments of successful breeders for latest news about the kinds of livestock which you raise.

Will It Pay Me to Specialize?

by M. T. Buchanan
State College of Washington

"Should I specialize in some crop or enterprise, or should I diversify my operations?" Many farmers and ranchers have to find the answer to this question. For instance, in the state of Washington there are 63 distinct types of farming in this one state alone. And they should consider that the types of products which come from farms in different areas of the United States are not accidental. They are caused by the interaction of physical and economic factors. The operation of these two forces has been hastened by mechanization, development of better crop varieties, breeds and disease-resistant strains.

Specialization, of course, leads to increased efficiency in the use of labor, equipment, capital and buildings. Marketing is an easier task and more time is available for maintenance of equipment and for planning new and better methods. A great deal of the increase in production of agricultural products has resulted from specialization. Farms have increased in size. Proportionately, the amount of labor needed has decreased, allowing more labor for use in other ways.

Specialize or diversify? There's plenty of "real life" evidence to help you in reaching a decision. Go visiting. See how your neighbor does it. It's your problem and even if you decide to make no changes from your present plan, you'll get a lot of ideas on how you can do your work better.

Track Down the Facts

These are the tracks of the coyote. They look like dog tracks, but there are differences which the expert tracker can see. In the livestock business, too, sometimes things are not as they seem to be. For example, some people say we waste our grain by feeding it to animals. Instead, they think we should eat the grain ourselves. They do not realize that the millions of head of cattle and lambs that are marketed every year are little more than grass turned into meat. It is true that many of these animals are fed a certain amount of grain and other concentrates to turn them into finished meat animals. However, if it were not for cattle and lambs, 779,000,000 acres of land in the United States would produce little, if any, food for humans. To put it another way, about 81% of the total land of our nation consists of grazing land which cannot be used for producing other foods and feed.

Walking      Running

Packers do not make livestock prices

In their day, the hardy, self-sufficient longhorns were the best breed for the open, unfenced ranges. In a land without transportation they actually took themselves to market. But the tough longhorns couldn't match newer breeds in beef production. Calves from Hereford, Shorthorn and Angus bulls and from thirty longhorn dams grew faster. They produced more and better meat from less feed. Blockier and of heavier frame, they yielded more of the more popular meat cuts. They were better money makers for farmers and ranchers. Such results encouraged selection of better foundation stock.

Each improvement in meat production has been met by increased demand for popular cuts on America's dinner tables. Livestock producers and meat packers have worked hand-in-hand to encourage greater demand for meat. But Swift & Company plays no favorites among breeds of beef producing animals. We do not make markets... we find them. In our buying of livestock we transmit to producers the knowledge of the kinds of meat that are preferred in various sections of the country.

The price producers receive for their livestock is governed by what the packer can get for the meat and by-products.

About five miles below Lincoln the governor and his party were encountered, and from there back to town it was a triumphal procession. Along the route he was cheered from every farm house, and when reaching the outskirts of the town, Mrs. Juanita Baca, an aged lady and old friend of the governor, stopped the procession, hugged the governor and presented him with a beautiful bouquet after which the line of march was again taken up.

World Council Will Stand Or Fall on Public Opinion

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON.—Here are some more notes from a reporter's notebook (of course, reporters don't really carry notebooks—they write on whatever is handy—this is a menu) at the United Nations.

Some of the people who are reading this column attended sessions of the United Nations. I think I recognized some of you. It was hard to get in because so many nations felt this session was so important that they brought much larger staffs than ever before. These "extra" workers couldn't sit in the seats reserved for delegates, nor the news people's, so they were given seats ordinarily handed out to the public.

For those of you who stayed home and listened to the radio or read the reports in the paper—well, what impression did you get?

Your impression is highly important, as I'll try to point out later.

There was, and is this, danger, which Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, pointed out in a speech which stirred all the delegates who heard it (and you, too, I imagine, if you were listening) when he summarized it afterward over the ABC network.

Lie said: "The peoples of the world, and many governments as well, are shocked, frightened and discouraged to find that those same nations which created the United Nations so openly disagree." He called for a rebirth of the "San Francisco spirit," the spirit which we all felt in those hopeful days when the United Nations was born.

A colleague of mine, a most restrained and thoughtful commentator (Pauline Fredorick, with considerable experience here and abroad) told me something which is worth repeating. She was interviewing Eleanor Roosevelt at a luncheon at Hyde Park. Whatever you may think of Mrs. Roosevelt's domestic politics you must know in what high regard she is held as a member of the American delegation to the United Nations.

My colleague asked her if her heart weren't heavy over the world situation today. I haven't her exact words here, but Mrs. Roosevelt replied in the negative. She said we had expected too much too soon from the United Nations. And then she went on to point out what so many of the delegates have said, namely, that faulty and ineffective as the United Nations may be, it is far better than nothing. How many times have I heard that from even the most cynical of the reporters and observers here!

As the New York Times remarked in a recent editorial, "It cannot be stressed too often that the struggle brought to a head in this session of the general assembly is not against the Soviet Union but FOR the United Nations." The most striking thing, the editorial added, is "the determination of the United Nations (that means the member nations) to survive."

One strange phenomenon which appears to persons not too well acquainted with the ways of such gatherings is the friendly and entirely normal manner in which the delegates to the United Nations who attach each other on the rostrum, consort in the corridors and lounges provided in the new buildings which now temporarily house the executive council and the general assembly, respectively. That's nothing new to people who have covered congress.

Dispensing of News Is Vital to U. N.

The longer I serve, covering these meetings, the more I realize that the most important of all the groups, not excluding the delegates themselves, are those which serve to dispense the news and information concerning the United Nations.

It would be impossible, of course, for enough people to visit the sessions to affect public opinion greatly. But many of the people who do come go back with a message which stirs great interest in the organization in their communities. Proof of this interest was contained in the report of the secretary general, Lie, when he said that information had been sent out and other steps taken in cooperation with a thousand meetings in the past year.

But more important than anything else are the actual reports of press and radio direct from one or the other of the two headquarters, as a result of the many interviews with members of the permanent secretariat.

Here is what they've done with radio alone:

During the general assembly, the radio division of the department of public information will broadcast for 12 hours a day, while visiting radio commentators, using facilities loaned by the United Nations, will cover the debates for listeners in 16 countries.

The French, Spanish, Chinese and Russian sections of the radio division also are preparing to broadcast adaptations of one of the U. N. programs which will be offered in transcription to stations unable to relay the original broadcast.

The two services most widely relayed, because of the high quality of reception, are those in Spanish (to Latin America) and in Chinese. The programs all carry the latest news on work of the assembly and other United Nations bodies, interviews with delegates, background speeches, recorded excerpts from speeches in debate and short features.

As the bickering and obstructionism increased at the current session and it became clear that confidence in the United Nations was being undermined, the importance of the work of the agencies distributing information concerning the topics discussed by the general assembly, became more and more evident. The reason was this: It became clear that under the present structure of the United Nations, where a unanimous agreement on the part of the major powers before major steps could be taken, is required, the only force behind the whole idea is the force of public opinion.

As this is being written, the question of the report of a committee on tele-communications is being discussed. The plans envisioned by the men on the United Nations who realize the importance of strengthening the opinion-forming force of the organization, are not too grandiose to be practical but they do involve expenses which make their completion uncertain. Nations of the world are all feeling the pinch of poverty and there is a strong move to cut expenses.

A part of the tele-communications plan was a radio network which would dispense objective world news for all the world. To show you how well the message efforts along these lines already have succeeded, I was told by the radio liaison division that even the Russian reporters who, as you know, work for newspapers which are under a strict censorship, which permit no news which doesn't suit their needs, have begun to ask for items issued by the United Nations because they are so fair, so objective that no one could accuse them of containing propaganda for any one nation.

The men on the staff of the United Nations are not all perfect. There are a number of weak sisters. But on the whole, it is surprising to see how the majority of them has been able to develop a world-wide viewpoint, an attitude whose whole policy is based on world understanding and the perpetuation of peace.

TRYGVE LIE

that under the present structure of the United Nations, where a unanimous agreement on the part of the major powers before major steps could be taken, is required, the only force behind the whole idea is the force of public opinion.

As this is being written, the question of the report of a committee on tele-communications is being discussed. The plans envisioned by the men on the United Nations who realize the importance of strengthening the opinion-forming force of the organization, are not too grandiose to be practical but they do involve expenses which make their completion uncertain. Nations of the world are all feeling the pinch of poverty and there is a strong move to cut expenses.

A part of the tele-communications plan was a radio network which would dispense objective world news for all the world. To show you how well the message efforts along these lines already have succeeded, I was told by the radio liaison division that even the Russian reporters who, as you know, work for newspapers which are under a strict censorship, which permit no news which doesn't suit their needs, have begun to ask for items issued by the United Nations because they are so fair, so objective that no one could accuse them of containing propaganda for any one nation.

The men on the staff of the United Nations are not all perfect. There are a number of weak sisters. But on the whole, it is surprising to see how the majority of them has been able to develop a world-wide viewpoint, an attitude whose whole policy is based on world understanding and the perpetuation of peace.

SAME AS IN 500 A. D.

Pacific Journey Made on Raft

Dr. Thor Heyerdahl, 34-year-old Norwegian ethnologist and zoologist, had a theory that the first Polynesians were blue-eyed blondes who floated over to their Pacific islands from South America on rafts in about the year 500 A. D.

What he did about proving that theory now is history. He and a party of six men built themselves a primitive raft of bamboo and balsa wood, climbed aboard and set themselves adrift at Callao, Peru.

Exactly 101 days later the scientific group drifted ashore on their raft, the Kon-Tiki, at Karora reef in the Tuamotu archipelago, center of their target. They had used no

PAST AND PRESENT PRESIDENTS . . . Unusual indeed is a picture of the President of the United States chatting with a predecessor in his office. The occasion here was the naming by President Truman of former President Hoover to the chairmanship of a 12-man commission to study plans for reorganizing the federal government.

NEWS REVIEW

Urge Food Conservation; New Battle Shakes U.N.

DIETETICS: Waste Less

Lips that sincerely frame the words "food conservation" will not touch such sturdy edibles as meat, poultry and eggs quite so often hereafter.

Charles Luckman, head of President Truman's citizens food committee, opened the widely heralded "waste less" campaign by calling on the American people to cut their consumption of those three items, thereby effecting a conservation of grain for Europe.

At the same time, it was disclosed that stop-gap aid for Europe this winter may run as much as 800 million dollars—220 million more than Mr. Truman had estimated earlier.

The appeal for Americans to cut down on the amount of foods requiring grain feeding was couched in a five-point program which, if followed, will eliminate the traditional race for the last chop on the platter—it won't be there.

Those five dietetic commandments were: 1) Buy cheaper meat cuts; 2) Don't serve too much; 3) Don't overcook meat; 4) Use leftovers; 5) Save wheat in all other possible ways.

In the future was the possibility that a voluntary program of meatless days and a reduction in the size of bread loaves would be put into effect.

NEW FIGHT: Recalls Yalta

In the U. N. another scarehead of possible failure and collapse of that organization arose as the U. S. and Russia plunged into a new skirmish.

The issue: Which nation shall succeed pro-Russian Poland on the security council. Poland has represented eastern Europe and the Slav bloc for two years. Russia wants the Ukraine, which, although an integral part of the Soviet Union, have a separate U. N. delegation. U. S. contention is that the Ukraine is not a sovereign nation, therefore does not rate a separate status.

In the background of the affair was the Stalin-Roosevelt Yalta agreement which gave the Soviet Union three votes in the United Nations. Russia proper, the Ukraine and White Russia, each has one.

How the U.S.S.R. came to get three votes probably happened something like this: Both the Ukraine and White Russia, intensely nationalistic, did not like to lose their identities by being merged with greater Russia. The Communist politburo, therefore, as a sop to their nationalism, granted the two territories a sort of nominal independence.

At Yalta, then, Stalin told Roosevelt that he wanted the Ukraine and White Russia to be represented in the U. N. for "internal reasons." F. D. R., being an old politician and sympathetic with "internal" difficulties, agreed.

Thus, the stage was set for one of the most serious battles yet to develop within the United Nations.

Income Disparities

"Real income" of wage and salary earners continues to drop, while farmers' income still is rising, it has been revealed by a monthly Investors Syndicate survey of purchasing power. "Real income" is the relationship of revenue to living costs. Wage and salary earners now have only about 86 cents of buying power for each dollar a year ago, while farmers have about $1.09.

At the same time, the biggest cause of the wage earners' problem is the sharp rise in the price of food. The average family now pays more than $1.31 for the same amount of food that a dollar bought a year ago. It also pays $1.06 for each dollar on rent, $1.18 to the 1946 dollar for clothing and $1.23 for miscellaneous expenses.

"This continued divergence between farm and city buying power," the survey pointed out, "indicates that a serious imbalance may threaten the stability of our economy. A close balance is essential."

RECOGNITION: Playing Safe

Not as a gesture of approval, but rather as a means of keeping informed of internal developments did the United States grant full diplomatic recognition to the Communist-dominated government of Bulgaria.

Robert A. Lovett, U. S. acting secretary of state, said that the action meant neither that this country approved nor condoned "certain recent actions of the Bulgarian government."

Although he did not say so, Lovett obviously referred to Bulgaria's execution of Nikola Petkov, leader of the opposition to the Communists.

Previously, recognition of the Bulgarian government was withheld on the grounds that the pro-Soviet regime had been elected unfairly, but now the U. S. felt that it was more important to have an embassy in the country to protect American interests there.

LITTLE HOPE: Less Coal

There is little or no hope springing in the collective breast of official Washington that the coal shortage this winter can be averted.

Current estimates place coal production as running several million tons a month behind exports and domestic consumption, principally because of the coal car shortage. This has resulted in winter stockpiles depreciating instead of growing, as they normally would.

It was hoped at first that some relief would come when winter weather or stops or curtails road-building and construction, thus permitting diversion of sand and gravel cars to the coal fields. However, a railroad spokesman said the diversion of such cars would do nothing but offset a normal 10 per cent drop in railroad efficiency in winter.

Few Barred for Throwing Ball Games

Since major-league baseball was organized in 1876, no more than 15 of the 7,000 players connected with it have been permanently barred for throwing or attempting to throw a game or for concealing knowledge of such a plot. Among them were four members of the Louisville team in 1877, seven members of the Chicago White Sox in 1919 and two members of the New York Giants in 1926.

the City Hall Friday evening, Oct. 17th. In the absence of the president Mrs. Roy Morgan, the meeting was opened in due form by Vice-President Mrs. F. H. Hall, Jr. Upon the announcement of the death of Miss Elizabeth Garrett, the Club paid tribute to her, by singing "O Felt New Mexico". The Club regrets her passing. The regular order of business was set aside in order to hear Mr. Bill Speight, State Highway Patrolman from Alamogordo, who gave the members a very interesting talk on "Safety", in observance of National Safety Week. The Clubs only regret was that more people didn't hear his talk. Mrs. D. O. Murphy was chairman of the program, and she is responsible for securing Mr. Speight, through the State Highway Patrol, to come here and give the members such an interesting talk. The business session was resumed and delegates elected for the 4th district meeting which will be held in Tularosa, on November 8th. After adjournment, refreshments were served by hostesses, Mrs. T. Utterback, and Mrs. T. Werner.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Cashlon and son, formerly of Fort Stanton, and more recently of Fort Bayard, arrived in Capitan a week ago. Mr. Cashlon went on to Los Alamos where he is transferred, and Mrs. Cashlon and son are visiting with Mrs. Edward Roche, sister, and Mrs. Dale, mother, before leaving for Albuquerque, where they will make their home for a while.

Methodist Church

Rev. Howard S. Pitts, Pastor
A new Sunday evening program is now underway which is designed to benefit as many high school students as would like to come. At 7:30 on Sundays the young people gather at the Woman's Club Building for an evening of good times. Table games are provided for early birds (7:00 to 7:30). A planned party (something different each week) continues until 8:20, or so. Then, refreshments are served, and the evening fellowship closes at 9:00 after a period of inspiration.

Frances Degner works with the young people who lead the closing worship. And a different adult leads the recreation each week. This Sunday a "Halloween Party." It promises to be horrible, gruesome fun.

A Pot-Luck Supper, given last Sunday under the leadership of Mrs. Clara Snow, has brought many requests for more such evenings at least one every two months. In addition to a large number of church members present, ten public school teachers attended as honored guests.

Bibles were presented to the Intermediate Class (taught by Hope Snow) last Sunday, and Mr. Shultz promised an award to the first Intermediate to read the New Testament through. Next Sunday Bibles will be presented to the Junior Class (taught by Mrs. Jane Shafer). The Upper Room, Adult Bible group, will discuss Mark 12, this Sunday at 6:00 at the parsonage. Mrs. L. Z. Manire is the leader. Plans are underway for improved heating and classroom facilities at the church. A Thanksgiving Offering will be raised to help the needy of Carrizozo as well as the hungry overseas. The choir still has room for a few more rehearsals are Tuesdays at 7:30. Our teachers are still meeting on Mondays for a study course on the Church School.

Sunday's sermon, the second in a series on the Lord's Prayer, is entitled, "Who Are in Heaven". The choir will sing, "Send Out Thy Light".

If you are a parent, and sincerely concerned that your child will grow in character, enroll him in the Church School this Sunday at 9:00.

Mrs. P. M. Shaver left Monday for a visit with her daughters Mrs. E. W. Williams at Tucuman, and Mrs. Wye at Amarillo. During her absence Mrs. E. R. Brown of Coyote will visit here with Dr. Shaver.

Word was received here this week of an eye injury sustained by Mack Shaver at Fort Smith, Ark., when a nail head slipped off, at a plant where he is the Superintendent. His vision will be unimpaired according to the report.
