Annual Basketball Tourney To Be Held At Capitan Dec. 19

Capitan Dexter and Hagerman will open the first annual Capitan Invitational basketball tournament at 2 p. m. Friday, December 19, it was announced following the pairings Monday night.

Mayor F. H. Hall pulled the names out of the hat in the presence of several Capitan residents and Coaches Phil Heick and Raymond Shaw of Carrizozo.

The rest of the pairings will find the NMMI Colts tangling with Ruidoso at 3:15 p. m. to complete the first session.

At night it will be Capitan against the tall and rugged Alamogordo five and Carrizozo and Carlsbad will tangle in the night's final to complete for the first round.

Play will start at 10:00 a. m. Saturday to determine the two finalists while the losers will drop into the consolation play during the afternoon session which begins at 2:00 in the afternoon.

Coaches have set up the Carlsbad five as the team to beat in pre-tourney predictions although the Capitan don't open their season until Friday night.

Hagerman, winner of six consecutive titles including a 27-15 conquest of Roswell, is also drawing plenty of support in this basketball village. Not to be overlooked is Dexter, loser by one point to the Hagerman club.

Little is known about Alamogordo as the district 4 club has confined its play to its own part of Otero county, but reports indicate that the Tigers will have one of the tallest teams in the state if Coach Bright wishes to put his height on the floor all at the same time. Games this week will give pointers a final chance to pick their favorites as Capitan goes to Hagerman Friday night. The locals have a one and one record and Hagerman is the heavy favorite as a result of their defeat of Roswell after the Coyotes had handed Capitan a 20-20 setback.

SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBERS ISSUED AT ROSWELL OFFICE

Increased employment during the holiday season brings many requests for account number cards to the Roswell social security office, Mr. Perry A. Webb, manager, said. "Seasonal and part-time workers in store and shops, and other commercial establishments need a social security card just like regular and full-time employees. Every worker should show his card to the employer when he goes to work", Mr. Webb pointed out.

"Employers are required to report quarterly to the Collector of Internal Revenue the correct sum of wages paid to each part-time and regular worker with his or her social security account number. Both the worker's name and social security number are needed to give the proper wage credit on the Social Security Administration's records. If this is not done, the worker may lose certain benefit rights.

"Account numbers are issued at our office in the City Hall Building. Applications may be obtained at any post office and mailed to our office," Mr. Webb said.

Christmas Tree Lights Care May Avoid Yuletide Tragedy

A Yuletide tragedy may be avoided by observing a few simple precautions when you are setting up your Christmas tree.

Today's electric-lighted Christmas tree is not nearly the fire hazard that its predecessor—the candle-lighted tree was—but there is still potentially grave danger unless certain precautions are observed, according to an article in the December issue of Good Housekeeping magazine.

"Inspect your tree-lighting sets before trimming the tree," the article urges. "If the insulation is worn or damaged, so that bare wires are exposed or may become exposed when the set is in service, or if the sockets are cracked or broken, discard the set. It is misplaced economy to gamble on repairs that may not be adequate.

"Check the condition of your extension cords, too, and see that they are long enough to reach easily from the convenience outlets to the lighting sets. Do not connect too many lighting sets to one outlet. Be guided by the instructions that may come with the sets. See that all the bulbs light.

"In buying tree-lighting sets, it is good insurance to choose only those that meet recognized safety requirements. To be sure of this, always look for a label on the set stating that it is listed by Underwriters' Laboratories.

"As a last precaution take down your tree soon after Christmas is past—the sooner the safer. Don't dispose of it where small boys will be tempted to make a bonfire. Give it to the rabbi's man or cut it up and burn it safely in your back-yard incinerator."

SCRIPTURE: III John.
DEVOTIONAL READING: I Corinthians 1:10-17.

Christian Fellowship

Lesson for December 7, 1947

SUNDAY'S lesson is based on the short third Epistle of John. You can read it in two minutes, but you will not exhaust its meaning in a lifetime. Link with III John the devotional reading found in First Corinthians 1:10-17, and you have a great and glorious picture of Christian fellowship. Note these words:

Dr. Newton

"Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same things, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment." I Corinthians 1:10.
And these words from III John, second verse: "Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth."
Here we have the basis for Christian fellowship.

Let Us Love One Another

WHAT is the first test of Christian fellowship? Read I John 4:7.

Love one for another is the first and last test of Christian fellowship. Of course, love one for another is dependent upon love toward God. We do not really love one another until we first love God. And we do not love God until we realize that he first loves us.

Why do we keep certain letters? Because they are from those who love us, and whom we love. Boys and girls can help to make this a better world if they will express their love one for another in letters.

Gracious Words

IN ECCLESIASTES 10:12, we read: "The words of a wise man's mouth are gracious."

Christmas will soon be here. There will be many Christmas cards and Christmas letters. Let us think carefully of some lonely boy or girl in our community who may not receive such a message unless you send it.

More than that, think of the lonely boy or girl in the hospital, in the orphan home, in the underprivileged tenement. Think what a letter from you to such a lonely neighbor would mean!

Doing Good

CHRISTIAN fellowship, in the last analysis, is doing good. "He that doeth good is of God," says John, and we know that it is true. Intermediate boys and girls can seize upon numerous methods of proving their Christian attitude as we come on toward the Christmas season. Discuss with your teacher next Sunday the idea of providing Christmas gifts for underprivileged boys and girls of your age. If not in your community, somewhere.

While in Europe last summer, I was impressed with the fact that there will be very little Christmas for the young people in many of these lands this year. War has left its frightening desolation. The people are without money and without homes and without clothing and without food.

May I suggest that you discuss plans by which you may send packages through CARE to some lonely, needy neighbor in Europe this Christmas, thus proving your sense of Christian fellowship.

Furthering the Gospel

AS WE grasp more fully the meaning of this lesson next Sunday, our hearts will gladly respond to the opportunities for furthering the Gospel of Jesus Christ, even as Galus and Demetrius impressed John.

In every community are crying needs for Christian ministry. Your newspapers will be telling of special opportunities for Christmas help. Your Community Fund chairman can give you names of worthy neighbors who need help.

"I thank God for your fellowship in furtherance of the Gospel from the first day until now," wrote Paul to the Philippian Christians.

How did they show this fellowship? In many, many practical ways, some of which Paul names. They sent food, books, clothing. More than that, they gave themselves in personal visitation to lonely friends. They cheered the faint. How happy we shall be if after the study of this lesson we go out to do with all our might what our hands find to do.

MASQUERADE

By CATHER AND WARREN HALL

JANET'S lips opened in a soundless exclamation. Dred! Swiftly, in one breath-taking instant, all her mingled memories of Dred Cummings merged and rushed to meet him as he came across the Waldorf lobby.

"Janet, light of my life!" Somehow she managed a casual smile. "Gracious," she said lightly, "it must be old-home week. How are you, Dred?"

"I swear," he said, "you're prettier than ever—if that's possible. But of course, dolls never age, do they—particularly Dresden dolls with spun-gold hair and the bluest china eyes in the world."

"Come, come, my dear," he was saying. "That's hardly fair. I wish you'd pose for me again. Just once. Do you know, since our divorce I've hardly been able to touch a brush to canvas."

"Except for that one-man exhibition at the Anderson Galleries," Janet said wryly, "and those murals at the fair and . . ."

"Oh, I suppose I've managed to struggle along," he agreed. "But how about you?" For the first time he noticed Geoff. "Why, Jan! You haven't . . . this isn't . . ."

Cummings studied the boy a moment. "You're a handsome little fellow, at that," he admitted grudgingly. "How old are you?"

"I mustn't keep you Dred. It's been nice seeing you again, almost like having a lock of your hair. . . . Her voice trailed off. She might have known, Geoffrey G. Huxley Sr., big, hearty and perennially ruffled, was striding toward them, an eager grin on his tanned face.

long I've been pretending—exactly that. Besides, if I were a little boy who had been motherless since the day he was born, I'm sure I'd like a mother for a birthday present almost as well as a fire engine. Perhaps, if you approve, we can give Geoff both."

Stassen at Best On Labor Issues

WHERE I STAND By Harold E. Stassen (Doubleday—205 p., $2) By Bill Schoentgen

More important, Stassen's lethargic estimate of foreign policy, his relegation of it to a secondary position, his failure even to touch upon the voluminous subject of foreign aid, all would seem to indicate a preference for a kind of tolerant, elastic nationalism.

But it is in the area of labor problems and labor legislation that the writer is most confident of his ground. In a single monolithic chapter he dissects and analyzes the varying status of the United States labor movement from 1920 to 1947, and nails down with a hammer of unimpeachable realism its inevitable relation to the prosperity and soundness of the entire economy.

Stassen offers his theories on labor in the form of the testimony which he presented before the Senate labor committee in February of this year, during the period when congress was preparing the legislation which ultimately resulted in the Taft-Hartley act.

Attacked, Imprisoned Because of Whiskers

Between 1830 and 1840 in Fitchburg, Mass., a Joseph Palmer was the target of the strangest persecution in American history, says Collier's. Because he wore a beard against the protestations of the townsfolk, he was snubbed by his friends, sneered at by the tradespeople, stoned repeatedly by small boys and finally attacked by four men who attempted to cut off his whiskers by force.

Palmer put up a stiff resistance and finally escaped unharmed, only to be arrested later for fighting. When brought to trial, he was found guilty, but as he refused to pay his fine was sentenced to prison for more than a year.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh Park Has Its Face Lifted! Ever since our park was landscaped, or had its "face lifted," as we used to say, there've been no "Keep off the Grass" signs, and no warnings against picking flowers, or scattering trash. Somehow we never seemed to need them. Folks are proud of the park. They'd be quick to speak to any one who marred it... and quicker to report them if they kept it up. It's what you might call a community sense of responsibility, and you find it in industry as well. The Brewing Industry, for instance, does its own checking of taverns selling beer—and warns offenders to clean up, or be reported to the proper authorities. They call it their "Self Regulation" Program, but again I'd call it a community sense of responsibility. In this case it's the community of folks who make and sell beer. They're proud of their service to those who enjoy a moderate beverage like beer, just as we're proud of our park. Joe Marsh Copyright, 1947, United States Brewers Foundation

Television Opens New Era in Politics

Millions Will See and Hear National Conventions in '48

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—Reporting official Washington entered a new era with the opening of congressional committee hearings on the aid-to-Europe program.

The caucus room of the senate was crowded; a dozen members of the senate foreign relations committee were seated at one side of a long table, facing the spectators. Chairman Vandenberg was in the middle; at a small table opposite him sat the witnesses, Secretary of State Marshall and Undersecretary of State Lovett. The newsmen (some 125 of them) packed several green baize-covered tables placed at right angles to the senators.

The room was a glare of light. Powerful bulbs had been substituted for the ordinary ones in the crystal chandeliers.

In addition, there were great kilig lights glaring down, and, before the hearings were over, more than one pair of sun-glasses appeared.

Secretary Marshall was tossing off the billions as he stated the amounts needed for long-range and short-range recovery, interim emergency relief and medium-range rehabilitation.

"Two billion, six hundred and fifty-seven millions . . . five hundred and ninety-seven millions . . . one hundred and fifty millions . . ."

Pencils scratched, senatorial pencils as well as reportorial.

"Then that would be one million," mused Vandenberg aloud, confused by the avalanche of digits. Everybody laughed. The mere thought of ONE million among all those others seemed absurd.

Now Senator Vandenberg is very meticulous about making statements concerning foreign policy. He never will agree to an ad libitum interview on the air, won't allow himself to be quoted, except from a prepared statement.

The day after the "one million" remark, one of my colleagues was kidding him.

"How did you like it, Senator," he asked, "When you mixed up millions and billions, and it not only went over the air, but also your adding and multiplying went out to some 150,000 television spectators?"

My friend expected the senator to hit the ceiling. But quite the contrary. He was so pleased when he realized the number of people television had brought into the caucus room to see and hear senators and witnesses discuss what Vandenberg considers such a vital matter that he forgot his old prejudices.

Television helped draw both the Republican and Democratic national political conventions to the city of Philadelphia. Television may have a very definite effect on the type of man and woman who will enter public life in the future, and it certainly will have its effect on reporting methods used in covering public events.

Roger Clipp, general manager of Station WFIL and WFIL-TV was selected to sell to political committees the television advantages of Philadelphia, which is on the coaxial cable—the highway that carries the images. It stretches from Washington up into New England and west to Schenectady.

Philadelphia's advantage, said Clipp, is its central location which allows it to draw upon the pool of skilled television personnel located in the East and makes it easily accessible for hard-to-get equipment. He estimated that financing the job will require $175,000 for both conventions.

In addition to the regular station coverage, television receivers and large screens will be placed in the basement of Convention hall and in adjoining Commercial museum. In this way, all the party members who cannot find room in Convention hall, plus about 25,000 spectators a day, can be accommodated close to the actual scene of activity.

According to Clipp, coaxial cable and established relay links will tie together at least 14 stations in the East. In addition there will be a special, experimental East-to-West network of stations to carry into the Middle West.

As he talked to politicians, Clipp tossed off a few impressive figures himself—more than 2 1/2 million people populate the area to be covered by television the conventions. That many people add up to some 307 electoral votes, he added.

This is in contrast to the situation in 1946 when the GOP convention in Philadelphia was covered by two video cameras whose pictures reached an audience of less than 10,000 viewers.

Of course, not everybody in every state where the coaxial cable stretches its length will be handy to a television set in June and July of '48, but we count four or five to a set ordinarily, and when a "big show" is on, the spectators jump to 30 per set.

More and more taverns, hotels and public places are installing television sets. In fact, out in Chicago, some people became concerned when they found that children who otherwise wouldn't enter a tavern went in to see the televised baseball and football games. So they started a campaign to purchase television sets which could be installed in schools, and Sunday school rooms. They charged a nickel or dime entrance fee until the set was paid for.

Changing Techniques Mark Development

They say the Washington correspondents, as a result of all this televising, are getting "kilig eyes." Someone suggested that perhaps reporters will be televised right out of existence. They won't. The telephone didn't drive out the telegraph. Although the teletype has pretty much replaced the telegraph operator (manual sender) somebody still has to write the messages.

You always will have to have a reporter to strain the news through; you can't deliver it completely in the raw. It takes a human brain, not a machine, to interpret it.

Already changes in the technique are developing. One, for instance, heard over the networks is unique in form, and television will improve it. Perhaps you have listened to the excellent summary of the United Nations in which you hear portions of the speeches of the delegates which were recorded when they were made and between them an announcer reading a prepared script and a commentator summarizing, explaining, interpreting. Now you will see, as well as hear, what goes on here, there and everywhere, just as you did at the televised hearings referred to earlier.

In order to do this job of summarizing and interpreting, a man must be as thoroughly familiar with the subject matter as any reporter who writes an important news story. He must have sufficient background and experience, enough general knowledge and specific information to select the proper recorded portions, to give them the weight they deserve and pick the salient points to be summarized.

He will be a reporter or commentator, writing his story with his lips, picking out the "quotes" by pouring the stored-up soundwaves from the wax record or the wire recorder out through the spout of the microphone onto the air.

The profession is the same. Only the technique changes.

President Truman imbibed some 1,200 calories on the first meatless Tuesday. But he'll probably need more on Thursdays. That's the day he meets with press and radio correspondents.

German Communists joined Nazis even before the Soviet alliance with Germany in the war. They may do the same now, and we'll have the old beef sandwich they used to talk about in Germany—brown outside and red inside.

People with high blood pressure usually suffer from "inhibited aggressive impulses," says Journal of Living. Which makes it easy to bet on what Stalin won't do.

ATOMS AND AGRICULTURE

Isotope To Help Farm Income

Not only did the atomic bomb explosions at Hiroshima and Nagasaki reveal the presence of a new and terrible war weapon, but they also may have ushered in an era of greater progress and prosperity for the American farmer.

Researchers at Oregon State college in Corvallis currently are conducting experiments which they believe may add millions of dollars worth of produce to the nation's yield in agricultural products.

Key to that expanded production is the radioactive isotope, a by-product of nuclear fission, which is being used in experiments that reach into every field of natural science.

But at Oregon State college and

French Premier Quits; Marshall Hits Russians

DIVIDED: All France

All Gaul is divided into three parts—Communist, Socialist and DeGaulist.

Unable to make an impression on the turbulent French scene, Premier Paul Ramadier resigned his office in the face of widespread Communist-inspired strikes and France's elder statesman Leon Blum was given a mandate to form a new Socialist government.

The situation in France had never been worse. It was touch and go, with the terrifying possibility of a civil war looming as a result of the present deep unrest.

Underlying cause of it all is France's prostrate economic condition and the prospect of a cold, hungry winter. Even if U. S. stopgap aid is rushed through immediately it will fall far short of being the oil needed to pour on the troubled waters. Superimposed on that situation were these political factors:

1. The Socialist government, trying to pursue a moderate course, was being squeezed between the stronger Communists to the left and Gen. Charles De Gaulle's Rally of the French People on the extreme right.
2. The Communists, true to the teachings of Marx, were trying to foment revolution by instigating the paralyzing strikes after their legal and political methods to overthrow the government had failed.
3. General De Gaulle, seeking the governmental reins for himself, has said he would deal with the Communists with a strong, authoritarian hand. De Gaulle is feared because he stands for totalitarianism.

The real struggle for France is being waged between the Communists and DeGaulle's followers. Moderate Socialism is simply caught in the middle.

FED UP: With Russia

To his Chicago audience, it sounded as though U. S. Secretary of State George Marshall was full up to here with Russia's obtuse and exasperating tactics in the field of international relations.

He made it clear that the state of active resentment of the Soviet Union, to which Americans have been goaded by the obstructionist actions of Russian leaders, can in no wise be interpreted as warmongering.

Thus, Marshall charged Russia with blocking European recovery and waging a deliberate anti-American propaganda campaign.

"It is time to call a halt to such inflammatory practices," he said. The U. S. refuses to "stand by and watch the disintegration of the international community to which we belong."

It was one of the most angry denunciations yet made against Russia by a high U. S. official, and there was a distinct possibility that it was a reasonably accurate reflection of the temper of the times. Marshall's Chicago address, added to all the other recent expressions of disgust (including President Tru-

FOURTH ESTATE Editors Polled

America's weekly newspaper editors, the still, small voices from the grass roots, would make Harold Stassen of Minnesota their personal choice as the Republican presidential candidate in 1948, according to a straw poll conducted by Publishers' Auxiliary, newspaper publication devoted to the weekly field of journalism.

At the same time, with laudable objectivity, the editors expressed their belief that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York would be the one to receive the GOP bid.

President Truman, as virtually the only conceivable Democratic candidate, was chosen by the editors for that party's nomination. They also conceded overwhelmingly that the Democratic delegation would give him the nod at the national convention next year.

Publishers' Auxiliary distributed 500 ballots to country weekly editors in 48 states and tabulated the results on the basis of 218 completed ballots, representing a 43.6 per cent return.

Although the straw poll contacted a representative section of small-town editorial opinion, its results cannot be held entirely conclusive because of the unknown quantities present at the time it was conducted. California's Gov. Earl Warren had not yet declared his candidacy for the Republican nomination, and the MacArthur sentiment was barely a ripple.

According to the election forecast section of the poll, 36.9 per cent of the editors believe President Truman will be re-elected; 21.9 per cent think Dewey will be the next chief of state; 12.4 per cent favor Eisenhower; 9.5 per cent have confidence in Taft, and 5.4 per cent believe Stassen will be elected.

Editors polled were predominantly Republican. A GOP candidate was named as personal choice by 66.7 per cent and a Democrat by 30 per cent.

man's) with Russian policy, indicated that perhaps a U. S. ultimatum dealing with Soviet obstructionism was not too far distant.

As a matter of fact, a strong possibility existed that Marshall might make just such a stand at the London conference of foreign ministers to discuss German and Austrian peace treaties. Awaiting the conference with utmost seriousness, the secretary of state told his Chicago listeners that:

"It is my purpose to concentrate solely on finding an acceptable basis of agreement to terminate the present tragic stalemate and to speed the advent of a new era of peace and hope for Europe and the world."

MADE IT . . . Among the recent arrivals in Washington to attend the special session of congress was Sen. Glen H. Taylor (Dem., Idaho) who came in on a horse after completing his cross-country ride from California. The poor man's Paul Revere pulled the stunt as an objection to U. S. foreign policy.

HE'S THE YOUNGEST . . . Dr. Samuel D. Marble, 31 years old, automatically became the youngest college president in the United States when he was inaugurated as president of Wilmington college, Wilmington, Ohio.

SIGHT FOR SORE EYES . . . New the people boomer Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for president in 1948 are trying to give the general that new look. Kay Comiskey of New York wears the sentiment on her sunglasses.

SYMPHONIC GIFT . . . Dr. Jury Arbajsky, young Russian composer and former student of Rachmaninoff, is reported to have dedicated a symphony to Princess Elizabeth of England as a wedding gift. But no one knows for sure.

IRONWOMAN . . . Frankie Groves 16, Blinnett, Tex., high school junior, played her first basketball game against the Green, Tex., team. The other 21 players were boys but Frankie was the only girl.

Jellies Make Charming Christmas Presents!

Fruit Favorites

Did you ever think of giving prize winning jellies or home preserved things for presents? They are one of the most pleasant gifts to receive as well as to give, and with their variety of colors you can make a sparkling array of them very appropriate for Holiday giving.

It's true that the jelly season is past and few fresh berries are available but then many home makers have put up juice to be made into jelly. For those of you who don't have those resources, try a canned or bottled juice like grape, and make use of the citrus fruits.

If you want to do something particularly nice, make a few batches of chutney and put them up in small jars. They'll be a welcome addition to anyone's meat course, now that supplies of that food are low and we are trying to use the economical cuts for budget purposes.

Grape Jelly

(From bottled juice)
3 cups sugar
2 cups bottled grape juice
1/4 8-ounce bottle liquid pectin

Measure sugar and juice into a large saucepan and mix. If you use an unsweetened juice, add 1/4 cup of sugar. Bring to a boil over high heat and add liquid pectin at once, stirring constantly. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 30 seconds. Remove from heat and skim. Pour into hot sterile jelly glasses and cover with paraffin at once. Makes about five 6-ounce glasses.

Grape and Mint Jelly

1/2 cup cold water
3 cups bottled grape juice
3/4 cup lemon juice
1 3-ounce package of powdered fruit pectin
4 cups granulated sugar
1/2 to 1 1/2 teaspoons peppermint extract

Combine water, grape and lemon juice in kettle. Stir in pectin. Heat to a full rolling boil, stirring constantly. Stir in sugar. Heat to a full rolling boil and boil 5 minutes. Remove from heat; skim. Add extract. Then pour into freshly sterilized glasses and pour hot paraffin at once. This makes about seven 6-ounce glasses.

Tartly Marmalade

(Makes eight 6-ounce glasses)
3 1/2 cups prepared fruit
5 cups sugar
1/2 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, use skins from 6 medium oranges and 2 medium lemons and cut in quarters. Lay quarters flat; shave off and discard about half of the white part. Put yellow rinds through food chopper twice. Add 2 1/2 cups water, juice of 2 lemons, 1/2 teaspoon soda and 1 cup sugar. (This 1 cup of sugar is in addition to the 5 cups mentioned above.) Bring to a boil and simmer, covered, for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, pour in the hot syrup and add a cup of water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil, over hottest flame. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Cover with paraffin at once.

Apricot Pineapple Jam

1 pound dried apricots
1 pint can crushed pineapple
1 1/2 cups pineapple juice and water
3 cups sugar

Soak apricots overnight; drain and cut into small pieces. Measure out pineapple juice and enough water to make 1 1/2 cups. Mix together apricots, pineapple and water; cook for 30 minutes over a low flame, stirring occasionally. Add sugar and cook until thickened, about 15 minutes. Ladle mixture into clean sterilized glasses and pour hot paraffin at once.

Ginger Pear Conserves

4 pounds pears
2 lemons
4 pounds sugar
1/4 pound candied ginger

Peel, core and chop pears fine. Grate the rind, and add the juice from the lemons. Boil with sugar until thickened, about 45 minutes. Add ginger which has been chopped fine and cook for 15 minutes longer. Pour into clean jars and seal.

Apple Chutney

(Makes 6 pints)
4 pounds onions, peeled and chopped
3 pounds green apples, peeled and chopped
4 1/2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed

1 pound seeded raisins
2 teaspoons ginger
2 teaspoons powdered cloves
3 teaspoons cinnamon
3 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons molasses
Dash of cayenne pepper

Combine all ingredients in a large kettle and simmer uncovered for about 2 hours, stirring occasionally or until mixture becomes thick and dark. Pour immediately into hot, sterilized preserve jars and seal immediately.

Pineapple Chutney

5 pounds cooking apples, peeled and chopped
6 cups crushed pineapple
4 1/2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed

2 pints cider vinegar
2 teaspoons salt
3 teaspoons ginger
2 teaspoons cardamom seed
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon powdered cloves

Combine all ingredients in a large kettle and simmer, uncovered, for about 1 1/2 hours, stirring occasionally until mixture becomes thick. Pour immediately into hot, sterilized preserve jars and seal immediately.

These Tips Will Help During the Holidays

To peel oranges or grapefruit and free the fruit entirely from the membranes or white pulp underneath the skin, first place the fruit in hot water for five minutes. You then will be able to peel every particle outside from the fruit pulp.

Very thin shredded cabbage is easy to make with a vegetable peeler. This type is best for cole slaw.

A VOICE FROM THE COUNTRY

U. S. Dollars Can't Halt Cataclysm Facing World

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles on current problems by Louis Bromfield, one of America's leading writers.)

By LOUIS BROMFIELD
Released by WNU Features.

There are times when some of the men in positions of power or influence in this country seem like pitiful, ant-like figures confronted by a vast wave about to overwhelm them which, like Ganute, they are commanding to stand still.

Their voices, loud out of all proportion to the roar of the oncoming wave because we all are standing near them, still seem puny and insignificant. What they are crying out to the wave approaching them is: "We will pay you to subside. We will give you billions of dollars and raw materials and manufactured commodities, if you will simply subside and behave yourself." They are trying to buy off what is a world cataclysm.

The world is far worse off than even the loudest calamity howlers of the state department have implied.

The two world wars, the vast increase of world population during the 19th century, the industrial revolution with its evil social results, the dire shortage of food in the world, the demoralization and chaos of most governments, the intrigues of Russia in a disintegrating world are not merely incidents of comparative historical insignificance to be repaired overnight by a few billion dollars.

Recalls Past History. Together (and they are inseparable) with many other intimations of disaster they form a great wave of history such as destroyed Carthage and brought about the fall of Rome. They represent a revolutionary change in world society as great as the disappearance of feudalism or the inauguration of the Industrial Age and the rise of the British Empire.

There is no way of dissipating the wave, confining it or ordering it to cease. The best we can do is to put out stout anchors against the storm, adjust ourselves and hope to survive as people do in a hurricane.

The wave is everywhere evident—in the Orient, the Near East, Russia and Europe. To fling ourselves against it, to think that we can buy off or even postpone its approach is simply a folly by which we weaken our own forces. Unfortunately, perhaps tragically, the responsibilities for our defense are largely in the hands of men who still are thinking in the idiom of an age which is already past and will not return.

Withstanding the Wave. It is possible that we, as a nation, may be able to stand as a rock in the path of that oncoming wave, surviving it as Rome survived the wave which swept her world as barbaric Carthage challenged her power and security. We shall not do so if we deliberately weaken ourselves in insignificant, piecemeal efforts to halt the wave.

I mean, by piecemeal efforts, four billions loaned to England and dissipated quickly, 20 billions poured into Europe to vanish perhaps without result overnight, or even billions and billions more. Waves of history, like earthquakes and hurricanes, are not to be bought off. They are simply not in the market.

The unrest, the perpetual strikes, the unwillingness of British coal miners to produce more, the despair of absurd and destructive Nihilist philosophies like Existentialism, the inertia and the despair of whole peoples, the prevalent philosophy of living from day to day, the evil tactics of Russia in exploiting all these elements and many more, are all a part of that wave of history.

Money will not cure the despair of a twice-defeated Germany. It will not get more work out of the British coal miners, who constantly seek more and more pay for less and less work in a desperate nation on the verge of bankruptcy. It will only permit the miner to relax a little more before the final catastrophe which may engulf us as well. It is significant that the able and more honest European leaders are showing some recognition of this fact.

Purge Is Necessary. To soar into the realms of philosophical history, there come times when a purge of men and nations seems necessary and inevitable, when man is forced to depend upon himself alone and to develop ingenuity, energy, leadership and indeed a whole new soul in order to save "Money will not get more work out of the British coal miners, who constantly seek more and more pay for less and less work in a desperate nation on the verge of bankruptcy."

himself and his country. A Europe which is unwilling to give up artificially pegged currencies, complicated customs barriers, a Britain which still seeks to re-establish cartels and 19th century closed-trade areas, has not yet reached the catharsis out of which new strength, new character, new hope is born.

Forced into socialism on the one hand by poverty and disaster, Britain still clutches with the other the decaying remnants of the 19th century imperialism which brought her in another age great power and wealth. That imperialism lies behind the advancing wave of history, gone forever.

The humanitarian responsibility for food lies almost wholly upon our shoulders and, so long as civilization exists and Christian morality has any weight, cannot be avoided. We cannot look for humanitarianism in the moral and ethical vacuum represented by Soviet Russia. The men in Moscow, in themselves a horrible manifestation of the wave, will use their wheat politically. They will even sell it at a high price, demanding in turn American dollars because their own pegged currency has no real value in the world.

Russia Overestimated. Despite its ruthlessness and realism, Soviet Russia is not a power comparable to this nation. As Walter Lippmann has pointed out, the satellites and the nations Russia has swallowed up are, in their present state, liabilities rather than sources of strength.

Essentially Russia is only a potential power which can fall into disintegration quickly in the face of another war. It is not impossible that the Balkans and central Europe can fall within a generation into the desolation of the Thirty Years war. That possibility, too, is a part of the "Wave of History."

We shall not stop the wave by pouring out billions and billions carelessly or perhaps generously or under any other circumstances. We can, however, perhaps keep intact a citadel about which world civilization can rebuild itself. We shall not do so by economically weakening ourselves. The quickest route to the destruction of democracy is that of economic depression. To weaken ourselves in a futile attempt to halt the wave of history is the surest way to death of democracy and, in the end, of western civilization.

Sympathetic Irish Replace Shamrock

OGDENSBURG, N. Y.—Loss of a shamrock is a crushing blow to all good Irishmen, Police Sergeant and Mrs. Timothy O'Leary insisted in coming to the rescue when someone stole a 50-year-old shamrock plant from Mrs. George Valley.

After reading a newspaper account of Mrs. Valley's plight, the O'Learys sent her some slips from their own shamrock plant, brought here from Ireland 92 years ago.

Country Store Proves Good Risk

LITTLETON, MASS.—Business is booming at the Littleton common store, a typical old country store founded 98 years ago, since it was taken over by a conservative Boston investment firm four months ago. After investing in the store with some spare "risk" dollars, Faget corporation of Boston "modernized" the establishment to the extent of installing new counters and an enlarged line of goods. To retain the old neighborhood store atmosphere, the modernization program involved non-glamorizing. No chrome steel fittings or neon lights mar the old-fashioned setting. Since then there has been a brisk turnover in licorice sticks, brooms, wheelbarrows and cording for corn husks. Dress shirts can be found on a counter alongside dungarees while modern bathroom cabinets are displayed alongside rakes and hoes.

40 YEARS AGO
1907 Capitan News

A couple of gentlemen, who lingered a few days in Carrizozo, were in Capitan this week. When asked what they thought of Carrizozo and its future, they said they were of the opinion that the prospects for it developing into a prosperous little city were good. Considerable building was going on and in contemplation. Unfavorable weather prevailed during their stay which interfered with their getting around as much as they wished. However, they noticed some substantial buildings there, and the character of buildings erected in a new town is first class indication, to visitors at least, as to whether the town is building on its merits or on the hot air principle. They learned, in contrast to the construction of substantial buildings, that the Town Company is putting up a few unrightly one-story adobe houses on the principal street, that must inevitably become the business center of the place, in full view from the depot platform and will be an eye-sore to the thousands of tourists who daily throng the platform; and to this extent, it would appear a short-sighted policy. It can have but one effect—retard the growth of the town, further than that, it will prove discouraging to those who have already invested there, as the surrounding property must naturally suffer a decline. For the good of Carrizozo and its people, it is to be sincerely hoped that this policy, or any other detrimental to the interest of the town, will be discontinued; for all sections of the county regard Carrizozo as the metropolis of the county, and, at this time, as there is room for only one, the people naturally take a pride in its growth and would like to see its people unitedly make it a prosperous and populous little city.
