V. F. W. Installation Of Officers Held Friday Night

Members of Bivins Zumwalt Post No. 8448 Veterans of Foreign Wars met last Friday night at the American Legion Hall, with a number of visitors present. Past Department Commander Salem Curtis, of Roswell installed the following officers for the ensuing term: Emmet Starkey, Commander; Clyde Atwood, Senior Vice Commander; Vernon Petty, Junior Vice Commander; Fred H. After the installation ceremony District Commander James M. H. Cullender addressed the organization, followed by Rayford Burnett, Past Commander of Norton-Pepper Post 7688 of Capitan, with helpful suggestions to the local post. He expressed his thanks to the locals who have helped with that organization's drive for an Iron Lung for Lincoln County that is to be kept at the Fort Stanton Hospital, and the funds drive will be continued until Lincoln County has the Lung. Wesley Young the Commander of the Capitan Post who keynoted his address with "advertize the organization", was next on the program.

Last Territorial Governor of New Mexico, George Curry, a member of Veterans Foreign Wars for the past 35 years was the final speaker on the program. Gov. Curry has recently been appointed New Mexico Department Historian.

The Auxiliary unit was well represented and with the assistance of the Capitan Post Auxiliary the organization became a working unit.

A social hour followed at which refreshments were served. Visitors present included, Salem Curtis, James M. H. Cullender, Macy Holt and Norton Kessel, Roswell, George Curry, Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Burnett, Mrs. Pierce and son Steve, Norton Kemp, Wesley Young and Mrs. Bill Morris all of Capitan.

Fort Stanton Stamp Club

The trading session and social evening held in the Community House on Wednesday, July 9th was a huge success and more evenings are planned.

A stamp questionnaire was a "stumper" for quite a few of the members, prizes were stamps.

Refreshments were provided by Mrs. Dorothy H. Whitlock, aide in the Occupational Therapy Department and Mr. Sven Nylund, Librarian of the Club.

A meeting to arrange and plan other activities is to be held shortly. It is hoped that others may join the Club and also that visitors will come to the little get-togethers from time to time.

Hondo Happenings

By Leo A. Joiner

Your reporter did not find time for news last week and has had several complaints from the people of Hondo. I promise that every effort will be made to get the news in hereafter if someone will drop in and give me something that happened. I get bored writing about myself.

Mr. James Booky and Fernando Garcia of the Hondo Trading Post accompanied by Mrs. Garcia and Albert Montes were business visitors in Roswell Thursday.

Miss Margaret Schreengost is spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schreengost.

James Ramey, Bill Schreengost and Leo Joiner were Carrizozo visitors on Tuesday.

Ray Taylor, the well driller, and his helpers, Charlie Hernandez and Leo Joiner made a business trip to Ruidoso on Friday. Enroute they stopped in at the Perry ranch, and for helping load a new sprayer that Mr. Perry had recently purchased received some good apples that really made some excellent pies. Mr. Perry is general Superintendent of the firm of Perry and Sons, water wells. Papa usually has to go to the fishing when the boys lose the string of tools. He knows the well business, and has only been at it for the past 40 years. We hope to stop in at Harold Coe's orchard soon, in hopes that he will be as generous as Mr. Perry.

The peaches are now beginning to ripen in the valleys, and may be found at the The Titworth Company Hondo Valley Orchards John Bell, Bert Pflingsten and Martin Torrez farms.

John Thomas of the Rancho Alegre is cutting hay again, and we like to see him begin cutting for it always rains the first day. A good rain fell from San Patricio to Picacho hill Thursday.

Leonard Hall of the Port of Courtesy and Information, Station at Jal spent a day of his leave at the Leo Joiner home.

In fact, our entire Sunday School and Church congregation will meet at Trinity at 9:00 a. m., where transportation will be provided. Mrs. C. A. Snow who has charge of arrangements, assures us there will be plenty of room for everyone, whether you decide to stay all day or just the morning.

We had an awfully encouraging Quarterly Conference meeting last Wednesday. Reports were very gratifying. Dr. I. L. Morgan District Superintendent, congratulated the group for their tireless work. And the pastor takes this opportunity to thank you one and all for the salary raise.

Milk Products Fill Many Poultry Needs

Health and Production Improved by Their Use

Dried milk products—dried skim milk, dried buttermilk and dried cheese whey—are important ingredients in practically all commercial mixed poultry mash, and are important to farmers seeking added quality in their poultry rations. Many supplements included in poultry feeds are added to provide one specific nutrient. But milk products provide many nutrients and perform several important jobs in a poultry mash.

All three popular milk product supplements long have been recognized as rich natural sources of riboflavin. This vitamin has been found necessary to health and growth in chicks and is helpful in maintaining high egg production and increased hatchability.

These milk products also are high in lactose or milk sugar. This is important in poultry feeds because milk sugar favors development of a "friendly bacteria" in the intestines and this helps provide good intestinal health.

Proteins found in milk products have a high biological or growth promoting value. They provide balance to the proteins in cereal feeds. The combination of lactose and high quality protein in these products helps assure more complete assimilation and utilization of other nutrients in mixed feeds.

And of course dried skim milk, dried buttermilk or dried cheese whey contain sizable quantities of calcium and phosphorus and the other minerals of milk.

Herds and Flocks For Greater Profit

Biggest single labor saver for poultrymen is water piped to all buildings and to the range. Use automatic floats at drinking fountains to control water flow. Sketch shows an automatic waterer made of an oil drum mounted on skids, suitable for use on range.

Livestock sanitary commission design.

Pigs can be castrated any time after they are a week old. They do not suffer as much of a setback when young as they do at 50 pounds or heavier.

Clay Pipes Change

Newcastle Disease of Poultry Is Spreading

The fight against Newcastle disease of poultry has been carried into 40 states. Producers of broilers have been hard hit. Large-scale vaccination trials are in progress but results will not be determined for some time. Until preventive methods can be determined, sanitation and daily killing and disposal of all sick birds offer the best and perhaps only solution to the problem at present.

Seeing God in Our Present World

LESSON TEXT FOR JULY 13—Job 38:7, 16-18, 22, 28, 31, 41.

MEMORY SELECTION—The hearing ear, and the seeing eye; the Lord hath made even both of them.—Proverbs 20:12.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Of The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

"THE earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein" (Ps. 24:1). The man who knows the Lord recognizes that the material and the spiritual world are both God's, and that there is in the final analysis no dividing line between the secular and the sacred.

To keep our thinking straight about the story of Job, we quote an excellent summary by Dr. B. L. Olmstead: "Our lesson today stresses the works of God as seen in nature. The longer lesson of a few chapters (Job 38-41) consists of the whole of the Lord's answer to Job out of a whirlwind after the dialogue with the three friends is completed, and after a youthful bystander, Elihu, had undertaken to give Job an answer (chs. 32-37).

"While Elihu was speaking, a storm came up and Elihu used it to portray the greatness, mystery and unsearchableness of God (ch. 37). Elihu uttered many truths, but he did not rid himself of the error that Job was suffering for his sins. When he had finished, the voice of God was heard out of the storm.

We find in the selected Scriptures of our printed lesson—

I. The God of Creation (vv. 1-7).

Job's friend Elihu had made a rather good speech, but he had missed the real point of Job's testings. So the Lord rebukes him as one who darkens counsel "by words without knowledge."

How aptly that expresses much that is going on in our day. Brilliant men, leaders in science, economics and government, but without the true knowledge which comes from a simple faith in God, are now filling this already confused world with millions of words.

Yes, words, words, words, that really darken the truth about God and his plan for the world. They flow from the radio, the press, the pulpit, from everywhere, and only add to the confusion.

God now brings Job to his feet (v. 3). He is to stand up like a man and answer God. Where was he when God laid the foundations of the world? If he is so wise, perhaps he knows how God suspended the world in space? Perchance he would like to get out his little measuring line and try to put the plans of the Almighty through the little channel of his human brain!

These are questions that the professed leaders of our day need to answer, and they need also to come (if by any chance they could humble themselves) to the place that Job did (40:4): "I will lay my hand upon my mouth."

Job is also reminded that the God of creation is also

II. The God of Life (vv. 16-18).

THE God who put the springs in the bottom of the sea, and who has measured the breadth of the earth, is also the God who controls life and death.

Men have tried down through the ages to search out the secret of life, and at times they have talked as though they had discovered it. Then one discovers that they have just wrapped up their inability to fathom it in some new scientific words, and we still have not taken that matter in our own hands.

That may well be a real blessing, for only the infinite God has the wisdom to determine the limits of man's days, and the manner of his entry into the gates of death. How good it is to leave such matters in his mighty but tender hands!

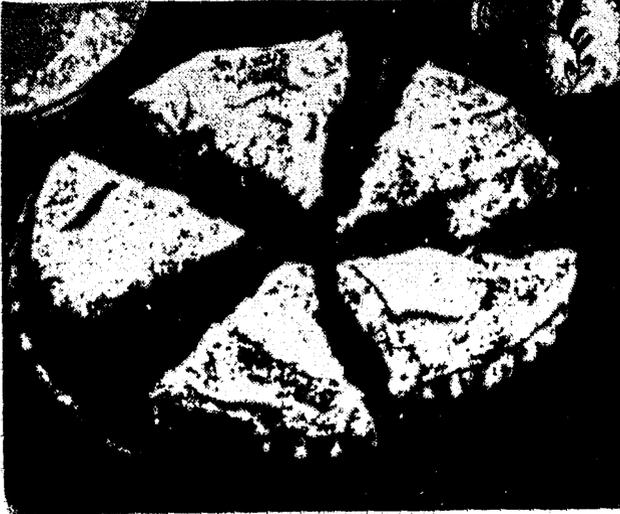

That leads us to our next point. He is

III. The God of Order (vv. 22, 28, 31, 41).

HE MAKES the millions of snowflakes in thousands of intricate patterns—no two alike, but all in marvelous geometric patterns. Can Job understand that—in fact, can you and I understand how he does it?

Who feeds the birds? Who keeps the stars moving in such order that man can calculate their movements down to the very minute? What about the rain, the hail, the lightning? Look at the animals and their marvelous adaptability to their surroundings.

The man who thinks all these things are the results of chance, or who talks about "the laws of nature," only reveals the utter smallness of his own mind, and his complete lack of comprehension of the Almighty God. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Church Suppers

Although church and club activity dwindles to a minimum during these warmer months, there are still events on both calendars which require participation—and with food.

For events such as these the requirements are simple but quite important. We want a dish that is easy to make and to carry; then, too, we want something that will appeal to a number of people. We also like to bring a dish that goes pretty well with anything else that may be served.

First, there are a number of main dishes from which to choose. Any of these will put you up with the top ranking cooks of the community.

Chicken Chow-Meet.

- (Serves 6)
- 2 cups cooked chicken
- 2 tablespoons fat or oil
- 2 cups thinly sliced celery
- 1 1/2 cups sliced peeled onions
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups chicken broth
- 2 cups canned mixed Chinese vegetables
- 1/2 cup canned mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 3 tablespoons soy sauce
- Scallions
- 1 can fried noodles

Brown chicken slightly in fat; add celery, onions and pepper. Add chicken broth and cook, covered, until vegetables are tender. Add drained Chinese vegetables and mushrooms and heat to the boiling point. Mix cornstarch with soy sauce and add to hot mixture, stirring constantly. Let simmer 2 minutes or until slightly thickened. Arrange on deep platter or vegetable dish with scallions and serve with fried noodles.

Frozen Salmon Loaf.

- (Serves 6)
- 2 cups cold cooked rice
- 1 1/2 cups salmon, drained and flaked
- 1 cup cooked peas
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise

Combine the ingredients lightly and freeze in a loaf or ring mold until firm enough to slice. Unmold on crisp greens and serve with lemon wedges.

Dutch Hot Slaw.

- (Serves 4)
- 8 cups shredded green cabbage
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup light cream

Cook cabbage until just barely tender. Drain, place in serving dish or casserole and keep hot. Meantime, melt butter in double boiler, then add eggs, vinegar, salt, sugar, paprika and water. Cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Remove from heat, add cream and beat until fluffy. Pour over hot cabbage.

LYNN SAYS:

Effective Cleaning Methods Suggested

Remove brown stains from teacups by rubbing with dampened cloth to which has been added some baking soda. Wash off in warm water and dry. This prevents the shine from coming off the china. Dishes are more sterile if you wash them in soapy suds, rinse in very hot water by pouring it over them, and let them dry on the drain-board.

- 1/2 cup water or tomato juice

Heat the fat in a skillet. Then add onions, celery and beef, and cook, uncovered, for 10 minutes. Add remaining ingredients and heat thoroughly.

You'll want to make good use of garden vegetables; and nothing would be more welcome at church or pot-luck supper than some of your freshest vegetables, seasoned beautifully and cooked to perfection.

- 2 1/2 cups hot, cooked spinach
- 4 strips bacon
- 2 tablespoons vinegar

Meringue: 4 egg whites, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup sugar, 8-inch baked pie shell. Blend first five ingredients. Cook over simmering water, stirring constantly until thickened, about 15 minutes. Remove from heat. Prepare meringue by beating egg whites until stiff, then adding salt and sugar gradually. Beat until glossy and firm. Fold yolk mixture into meringue. Pour into baked pie shell. Bake in a moderate (325-degree) oven until delicately browned, about 20 minutes. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Soaking pots, pans and casseroles on which food has burned or dried makes them much easier to wash. If the condition is serious, boil some soap suds in the pan slowly for a few minutes to loosen the food. Avoid excessive use of soap and soaking when cleaning heavy dark cast iron skillets. Restore finish by coating with fat. Pipe cleaners are ideal for cleaning many parts of the range that are inaccessible otherwise. Keep them handy.

Balzac's profound knowledge of human nature caused the great novelist to fancy himself an expert at reading character in handwriting.

One day an old woman brought him a little boy's copybook and said, "Master, what do you think of this child's possibilities?"

Balzac studied the scrawly, untidy handwriting. "Your child?" he asked. "No."

"Some other relative?" he ventured. "None at all," the woman replied. "Well," Balzac finally pontificated, "This child is slovenly and profoundly stupid. I fear he will never amount to anything."

"But, master," the woman cried, "that copybook was your very own when you were a little boy in school!"

The profound judge of human nature retired in confusion.

THE crocheter's first love—the pineapple design, makes these charming doilies suitable for so many uses. Easy to crochet.

Sprinkle cornmeal on your rug, let it remain for a short time and then sweep. This picks up dirt and particles imbedded in the nap.

In remodeling your kitchen it is a good idea to redesign it as a precautionary measure against fire. To do this be sure curtains, doors and wooden cabinets are not too close to the range.

An electric motor mounted on a stand or bench often is quite noisy, so much so that the vibrations can be felt in nearby rooms. The cure is a sound-deadening cushion of rubber or felt. Four or five rubber washers placed under the base will do the job.

If you'd like to preserve eggs at home by the flash heat method, proceed as follows: Dip the eggs into boiling water for five seconds, let them cool in the air, then store them carefully in cartons in a cool moist place.

If you carry stamps in your purse, fold them and slip waxed paper dividers between the gummed surface folds. Divided this way, stamps will never stick together.

Make your own belts. Make them in various colors to match your frocks. Put a layer of stiffening between two layers of ribbon. Sew through ribbon selvages with tiny machine stitching.

You can save many steps by using a tray to carry dishes from the dining room to the kitchen.

Foisons like lys, insect sprays and disinfectants should be kept on high shelves, out of children's reach.

Worn-out electric cords are highly dangerous. If it cannot be repaired, throw it away and get a new one at once.

Why Throw Minutes Away
 The other day, we heard about an interesting experiment a checking account depositor had made. He had fourteen bills to pay. So he paid each one in person with cash, and kept track of how long it took. He walked to the stores. At some places he had to wait in line; at others he had to wait for change. When he had completed his rounds, he walked home. It had taken him over two hours to do the job. The following month he had sixteen bills to pay. This time he sat at his desk, wrote a check for each one, addressed envelopes and mailed them at the nearest post box. It took him 34 minutes— exactly one-fourth of the time it took him to pay with cash.
 And that is only one of many reasons why a checking account at our bank can be useful to you.

Half Million Chevrolets Produced In 1947

Chevrolet became the first manufacturer in the industry to announce production of half a million vehicles in the calendar year 1947, according to a statement made here by Nicholas Dreystadt, general manager of this largest General Motors division.

Production of its 500,000 unit July 7 contrasts with 1946, when Chevrolet because of a prolonged strike and material shortages had not attained so high a mark until mid-November. The figure includes 360,947 passenger cars and 140,688 trucks.

The current Chevrolet record established in virtually six months despite a new car change-over period and limited truck production due to the model change-over that preceded announcement of the division's new "advance-design" truck line for 1947, was made with only negligible output from its newly opened Flint (Mich.) assembly plant.

CED Scans Reasons for Failures

Impartial Groups Attempt Study of Business Flaws

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—The favorite game in Washington today is a new version of "button, button, who's got the button."

Sen. Robert Taft, as chairman of congress' joint committee on the economic report, had a questionnaire sent out to a long list of business men. The gist of the report seemed to be that there was going to be a business recession, but it was going to be in the other fellow's business.

Frequently it is too much faith in the other fellow's failings and too little regard for one's own that causes business failures. This is especially true of small businesses. Locating some of these "failures" and preventing them was the job recently undertaken and reported on by the Committee for Economic Development, a non-government, non-partisan group which makes studies of this nature.

Baukhage

Just as this organization was completing its work, another somewhat similar group was setting a task for itself in the hope of straightening out some of the other kinks in the business world. This was the National Planning association, which is out to discover how the many firms which steadfastly yearn in and year-out maintain good relations with their employees do the trick. Both propositions are highly interesting.

CED Furnishes Fair Reports

The Committee for Economic Development has for its chairman Paul Hoffman who, in private life, is president of Studebaker corporation. Directing its research and policy division is Raymond Rubicam, the well-known advertising man.

This organization is highly respected. It has a staff of top-notchers doing the research, and its members lean over backwards to be non-partisan. In fact, at a news conference called here to discuss the report's findings, one reporter became pretty red because he couldn't get Hoffman to comment on the tax situation, one of the hot-spot political issues of the moment.

There are two reasons why CED's latest report (on small business) is financing, taxes and competitive opportunity. There are very definite ways in which the business man might be helped in solving these problems, particularly the problem of management. The CED report mentions these: Through advice and counsel from his suppliers; through guidance available from the large trade associations; by means of programs instituted by his own community; through special services which could be provided by established counselling and market research agencies within the means of the small enterprise; more extended research supported by business men and foundations; special courses in universities, colleges and secondary schools, and expansion of the present services offered free by the department of commerce. These are graphically illustrated in the diagram.

Meeting Needs Of Business

But the greatest problem is how to place before the highly-individualistic, hard-to-get-at small business man the facts, both as to his needs and how to satisfy them. That is up to the individuals in each community who will take enough interest to read the report (available without charge from the Committee for Economic Development, 285 Madison avenue, New York City) and bring it to the attention of the local business men's clubs, chambers of commerce and similar groups.

The other proposition which is in the making, and which likewise has a purely objective aim, is being carried on by the National Planning association, which is also a non-political, non-profit organization. The NPA states as its purpose: "Planning by Americans in agriculture, business, labor and government." Its study, which will probably take a year, is entitled "The Causes of Industrial Peace under Collective Bargaining."

The project is under direction of two special committees composed

NEWS REVIEW

Labor Act Is Effective; Weather Hits Corn Crop

Verging on mental and political exhaustion after a bitter, two-day fight, weary senators voted 68 to 25 to override President Truman's veto of the Taft-Hartley labor bill.

The action, sustaining a wallowing 331 to 83 house vote to pass the bill over the veto, came on the heels of a final presidential plea to Sen. Alben Barkley (Dem., Ky.) to muster all possible forces in the senate "to prevent this bill from becoming law."

Opponents of the measure needed 32 votes to uphold the veto, and they waged a desperate, last-ditch battle to attain their objective. Final result, however, was a smashing defeat for Mr. Truman at the hands of the Republican-controlled congress.

Highlights of a tooth-and-tongue opposition fight to delay the senate vote as long as possible in order to gain support was an all-night ses-age crops and possibly buckwheat if seed is available.

On upland farms, ponds and lakes overflowing their boundaries also will cut seriously into corn yields. All in all, a bumper corn crop is considered extremely unlikely, even with a favorable growing season up to October.

Some authorities have begun to believe that the government's grain export program should be re-examined in view of conditions existing on the nation's farms at present.

IKE RESIGNS: Goes Academic

General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower has resigned as army chief of staff to accept the presidency of Columbia university in New York, effective early next year.

His decision to step out as top man in the nation's military hierarchy to take the academic post was announced in a statement by Maj. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, chief of the war department's public relations division. The statement said that Eisenhower accepted the Columbia presidency with the approval of the President and the secretary of war. His resignation will become effective at such time as his superiors may release him from active duty in the army.

The man who mapped the strategy which brought victory to Allied forces in Europe in World War II will retain his rank as a five-star general for life and continue to receive a compensation of about $15,000 a year.

Initial speculation on a successor to General Eisenhower as chief of staff centered on Gen. Omar N. Bradley, now Veterans' administration chief, who commanded the army ground forces in Europe during the war. Other high-ranking generals under consideration for the position were Gen. Jacob L. Devers, army ground forces chief, and Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, chief of army public information.

As president of Columbia, Eisenhower will be the successor to Nicholas Murray Butler who retired in 1945 and is now Columbia's president emeritus. The general has also been elected a member of the university's board of trustees.

FLOODED OUT: No Bumper Crop

Experts who recently predicted a three billion bushel corn crop this year were hastily revising their estimates in the light of continuing torrential rains and widespread floods which have transformed much of the Midwest into a soggy mass of mud.

Damage has been particularly heavy in Iowa, extending from one end of the state to the other. Flooding of river bottom lands is only part of the loss.

Thousands of acres of crops have been washed out, and the loss is considered irreparable. It is too late to replant with anything except for-

ASSISTANT SECRETARY . . . Charles Saltzman, vice-president of the New York stock exchange, has been named by President Truman as assistant secretary of state in charge of occupied areas affairs. He succeeds John J. Hill-dring.

ANOTHER WAR VETERAN . . . An old campaigner from the Spanish-American war, now a resident of the Old Soldiers' home, William M. Ebbel is to be crowned and crowned at grand party.

DOAN'S PILLS

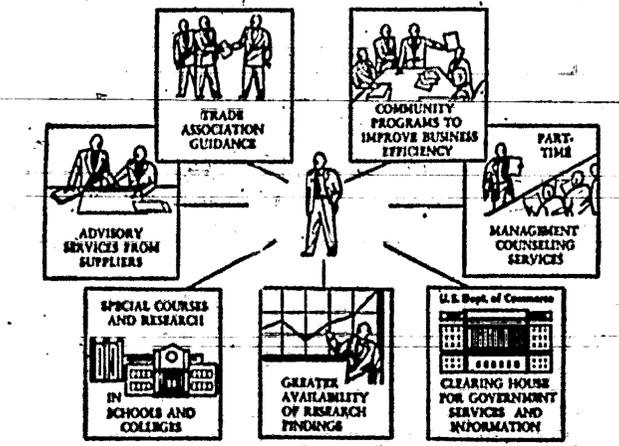

Chart illustrates how comprehensive CED program will aid in solving problems of small businesses.

significant. One: Like all CED reports, it represents the cooperative efforts of top men in the highly practical field of business and top men in the field of science—political economy; a cooperative effort whose sole purpose is to make America a better place in which to live. There are no axes to grind.

The second reason the report is important to all of us is that today more than ever, in a world of competing ideologies, the perpetuation of our democracy, our system, depends upon the fostering of small business.

Although small business needs assistance, that assistance is difficult to proffer, because small business isn't an "it"—it is three and a half million small business men, all highly individualistic; all as independent and hard to influence as a monkey at the top of a coconut palm. And these dainty, sink-or-swim, cock-of-the-walkers make up 98 per cent of the firms operating in this country today.

As the CED report puts it: "Small business is more viable and more durable than might be deduced from the size and cry heard for many years as to the disadvantages under which it labors. Nonetheless, small businesses are confronted with special problems and difficulties that are very real. It is vital to all business and to all citizens that conditions unfavorable to small business be removed wherever possible." The report ends that the problems of the small business man fall into four categories: management, of both NPA members and non-members. One is a sponsorship committee composed of 40 business and labor leaders. The other is the research committee made up of 26 experts in the field.

The idea was explained to a group of us by Clinton Golden, who will direct the research.

Golden explained that what his committee was after was a different approach to the question of labor-management relations.

RAPID GROWTH

Industry Expands in Far West

NEW YORK.—The Far West section of the United States has grown greatly in recent years in population, income, industrial stature and international importance, according to a study in the Index, a quarterly publication of the New York Trust company, just published.

"World War II," the study says, telescoped into a few years an industrial expansion in the Far West which might have taken several decades to accomplish even at the relatively fast rate of development some parts of the area had been enjoying.

The war, it is pointed out, brought new factories and facilities to the region, accelerated development of its raw materials, expanded its power supply and increased its population, thereby adding both to its market potential and its labor supply. With its vast store of natural resources and its rapidly increasing population, the Far West looks forward to a continuing post-war industrial growth through development of new products and new markets.

The seven states included in the study are Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Utah and Washington.

"The Far West," according to the article, "made the largest relative gains in population and income of all the areas of the United States during World War II, and has grown faster than the nation as a whole since 1939, increasing its population by 31 per cent as compared with a 7 per cent increase for the entire United States. Factory jobs in the Far West in the same period rose 68 per cent as compared with 46 per cent for the nation. In food production, the increase in the Far West amounted to 25 per cent as compared with 23 per cent for the United States as a whole.

"Continued expansion of industry appears to be of primary importance to the progress of the Far West," the article concludes. "Its abundant natural resources, its climate, its forest riches, its excellent harbors and its scenic beauties have been the chief contributing factors to its rapid growth in the past. To accommodate and support a population increase in the future comparable to that enjoyed so far in this century and particularly in the World War II period, would seem to require the broader economy which its sustained industrial growth is furnishing."

The FICTION Corner

REWRITE MAN

By HILDA PHELPS HAMMOND

MARTY HENDRICKS tapped his pencil on the desk and glanced nervously at the wall clock. Only twenty minutes more before the dead line for the afternoon Star and not a story worth a rap had come in over the telephone! Not that Marty Hendricks usually worried about what kind of story came in over the wire. He had always had magic in his fingers—magic that let him take the driest bit of news from police stations or fire houses and re-write it into a regular Arabian Nights tale. But today things had been different. Today Marty Hendricks had overheard a conversation between the city editor and the Chief and his whole world had crumbled.

He remembered there was a bicycle and a boy at his house, too.

"Say," the Chief had said as Marty paused a moment outside his half-open door to sharpen a pencil. "What's wrong with Marty? He used to be the best re-write man in the whole South. Could take a story over the wire and turn it into a piece that made a sob sister out of every woman. But he's gone to pieces—hasn't written a good story for months."

"I've noticed that myself," the city editor answered as Marty's heart thumped. "Guess he's gone stale. Twenty-five years at a re-write desk will do that to a man."

"Well, he'll have to spruce up or give up the job," the Chief growled. "There's a young man asking for that job and they say he's a dandy. If Marty doesn't perk up we'd better put him back on some light work and get that young fellow on."

The conversation had trailed off, but Marty had not listened to any more of it. His hands were trembling as he found his way back to his desk and there was a lump in his throat that he couldn't swallow no matter how hard he tried. He, Marty Hendricks, the best re-write man that the Star had ever had, about to be ditched.

He sat down at his desk and tried to think what it would mean to Sarah Ann if he lost this job. Sarah Ann was a good wife—a mighty good one. She could make a dollar go further than any other wife he knew, but even Sarah Ann had a hard time getting all the things the kids needed out of his salary. And if that was cut, no telling how they'd be able to manage. Six kids—they ate up a lot, six kids did! And now that Marty Junior was heading for college they had to put a little aside every month. Yes, six kids were an awful lot—TOO MANY," he thought as he glanced down at the snapshot pressed under the glass top of his desk. There they were—Sarah Ann and the six of them.

He turned his eyes away from the snapshot and glanced at the wall clock. If a story would only come just one story that would let him show the Chief what he could do! Ah—there was the telephone now! He picked up the receiver and cleared his throat. "Hello," he said. "Yes— . . . An accident at St. Charles Avenue and Adams? . . . Yes, I've got it. What's that? Boy ten years old . . . no hope . . . a bicycle and a car . . . yes . . . whose boy? Don't know yet? . . . I see . . ."

He put down the receiver and pulled his typewriter towards him. His fingers reached for the keys . . . Ten minutes to the dead line now . . . he'd have to hurry. He'd have to make it a good story . . . this might be the last story he'd ever re-write if he didn't make it good!

HIS eyes strayed again to the snapshot beneath the glass. Ten years old . . . why, that was just the age of little Andy! Perhaps the boy looked like Andy . . . perhaps he had blue eyes and red cheeks and a nose that turned up. His fingers began to play upon the keys of the typewriter—lightly as though someone else were writing. Funny, he thought, that the words should slip off the keys so fast now . . . he didn't even have to think. The story was writing itself . . . writing itself this way:

"He might have been mine. That's what every man and woman in New Orleans should think when they read about the ten-year-old boy who will never ride a bicycle again. It happened at St. Charles Avenue and Adams Street in the City of New Orleans, but it happens every day in every city of America. It was only a second-hand bike—but the boy must have thought it as handsome as any bicycle that ever came out of a department store. His father probably didn't want him to have it and his mother probably didn't want him to have it either. But mothers and fathers have soft hearts and so this mother and father couldn't bear to say 'no' to him, although their heads must have told them that they were fools to send a child of ten into that line of traffic.

"The bicycle was painted red and the handlebars were still silvery when they found the pieces. But the wheels of the bicycle were as crumpled and twisted as the body of the small boy. The police haven't reported yet who was to blame for the accident but WE know. It was the fault of all of us—the fault of modern civilization which allows cars and trucks and little lads on bicycles to ride together on the same streets. He might have been your kid—and he might have been mine. What are we going to do about it?"

Marty stopped a moment and re-read the last line. It was a funny line to end a story with, he thought—a wrong line, perhaps. The Chief might not like it. He started to change it, but he couldn't. First of all, because he couldn't think of anything else to say and then, too, because he was in a great hurry all at once. He snatched the paper from the typewriter and fairly ran to the city editor's desk.

The city editor's eyes traveled over the page. "Pretty good," he announced when he had finished reading it. "A little too much editorial flavor to it, but you've perked up Marty . . . why, where's he gone?"

For Marty Hendricks HAD gone. He had made the elevator in nothing flat and he was already shooting down in the lift. He wasn't wondering how the city editor liked the story—and he wasn't caring whether the Chief liked it or not. He was remembering that there was a second-hand bicycle at his house—a bicycle that was painted red and had silvery handle bars.

Jobs weren't important, Marty Hendricks thought as he ran along the street and hailed a passing street car. Not a bit important compared to a boy with blue eyes and rosy cheeks and a turned up nose. He could get another job—but he couldn't get another kid like Andy. Not anywhere in the whole world! And six kids weren't too many! "No, Sir," said Marty Hendricks to himself as he swung on to the car step. "Six kids are JUST EXACTLY RIGHT!"

How to Make New Friends We had just moved into a new house in a new neighborhood in a new town; a little Western city without any of the advantages of a more erudite community. The second day we were there she came bearing gifts, a glass of jelly she had made from wild chokecherries the autumn before.

She was just a little country woman. She had always lived there. She hadn't ever been more than fifty miles from home, had never seen a railroad train or an airplane, had been only once to the movies.

But I never met one of more cosmopolitan personality, of broader vision or of more supreme happiness. You couldn't be with her for more than an hour without catching the spirit of her infectious laugh, of her rare and rollicking good humor or some of the spirit of her amazing charm.

Yet she was a woman who had lived all her life without "advantages."

One evening as we sat on the porch I questioned her closely about her philosophy of life and the genesis of her personality. And I believe that what she told me will go with me as a source of inspiration and help as long as I live. I also believe it may likewise help you.

All her life she has merely made it a point to make a new friend of every new person who moves into the community. It was the reflection of her friendship toward others that made her eyes shine, her conversation sparkle with good fellowship and the humor that endeared her to everyone within a radius of a hundred miles. She drew you like a magnet. Her charm was irresistible.

And all she had done was to make a new friend!

I suppose in her life that some persons had taken advantage of her friendship; I suppose she had been cheated and robbed as I have, as you have. Maybe you and I have become a little bit embittered because of it. Not she. She found the new friends she won outweighed the loss of those who were faithless to her trust.

If you will assume that everyone is your friend, and try to make new social contacts every day, it will do some mysterious and very good things to your personality. It will make your personality warm and friendly, and will draw persons to you from every walk of life. Far better than any academic rules of psychology is the simple rule of the mountain woman which I learned as duck fall and the rabbits came out to play: "If you want friends, you have to show folks you are a friend. I guess that is all there is to it."

GUARDIANS OF PAST

Hallowed Sites Preserved In National Park System

National Park service has become one of the great trustees of American history and tradition. In the system of national parks today are more than 80 sites hallowed by the events that have transpired there or by deeds which have been memorialized in marble and stone. Almost every phase of America's past finds expression in one or more of these sacred areas, where National Park service is endeavoring to present American history in a simple, straightforward manner in order that it may be readily understood and correctly interpreted by every visitor.

At most of the more important sites a program of educational service to the public has been established with competent historians in charge. Guides will be found in many of the areas as well as museums with interpretative and study collections. At other areas guide service has been supplemented or supplanted by self-explanatory maps, literature, outdoor signs and trailside exhibits.

Historic sites in the national park system fall roughly into six different groups or periods—Colonial, Revolutionary, Era of the Early Republic, War Between the States, Winning of the West and the recent Age of Industrial Expansion.

THE COLONIAL period is represented by the Castillo de San Marcos and Fort Matanzas national monuments at St. Augustine, Fla., Fort Raleigh national historic site in North Carolina, Colonial national historic park in Virginia, Fort Frederica national monument in Georgia, George Washington birthplace national monument in Virginia and Fort Mifflin national battlefield site in Pennsylvania.

The Castillo de San Marcos, moated and bastioned, was begun in the 17th century to defend the oldest settlement made by Europeans on land now included within the United States. From the battlements of this fort today one may look across Matanzas inlet and out to sea. With a bit of imagination one may see there the proud galleons homeward bound to Spain with the treasures of Peru, or the Golden Hind, which brought Sir Francis Drake in 1585 to plunder the Spanish town, or the ships of General Oglethorpe, who in 1740 laid siege to St. Augustine.

On Roanoke Island to the north, on what is now the coast of North Carolina, is the site of Sir Walter Raleigh's "lost colony." Here, each summer, is presented in pageantry the drama of the ill-fated first attempt of the English to plant a colony on the North American continent.

Still further north on Jamestown Island in Virginia is the site of the first permanent English settlement. Fort Frederica national monument on St. Simon's Island, Georgia, represents the English struggle with the Spanish for dominion of the South Atlantic coast.

On the banks of the Potomac river in Virginia is George Washington's birthplace national monument, and in Pennsylvania, near Farmington, a reconstructed pioneer fortification marks the site of Fort Necessity and the scene of the opening battle of the French and India war.

THE GREAT Revolutionary war battlefields of Saratoga in New York and Yorktown in Virginia are included in the national park system as well as the site of Washington's winter encampments at Morristown, N. J.

Other important Revolutionary battlefield sites in the national park system are: White Plains in New York, Guilford courthouse and Moore's creek in North Carolina, Kings Mountain and Cowpens in South Carolina.

LISTED AMONG the more interesting and significant sites which belong to the first 75 years of the republic are Fort McHenry national monument and historic shrine at Baltimore, Md., birthplace of the "Star Spangled Banner," the Lee mansion national memorial at Arlington, Va., which was the home of Gen. Robert E. Lee and is typical of the plantation days of the old South.

Of interest also is the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln near Hodgenville, Ky. Here at Abraham Lincoln national historic park is a magnificent memorial building is preserved what is thought to be the log cabin in which Lincoln was born.

NEARLY ALL of the great battlefields of the War Between the States are now under jurisdiction of National Park service. By visiting them in chronological succession one may acquire a thorough understanding of the events of this vast internal struggle. The better known battles of this war of which the sites are included in the national park system are: The first and second battles of Manassas in northern Virginia, Antietam in Maryland, Gettysburg in Pennsylvania, Shiloh in Tennessee, Vicksburg in Mississippi, Chickamauga and the Atlanta campaign in Georgia, Chattanooga in Tennessee, and Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Spotsylvania, Richmond, Petersburg and Appomattox in Virginia.

There are also the frontier military posts of Fort Laramie in Wyoming and Pipe Springs in Arizona, the site of the Whitman massacre in Washington and the site of Custer's last stand in Montana. In the West also, in the Black Hills of South Dakota, is the amazing memorial carved in the granite of Mount Rushmore to the memory of the four presidents, Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt.

REPRESENTING MORE recent times are the Statue of Liberty national monument in New York harbor, the memorial at Kill Devil hill, North Carolina, marking the site of the first airplane flight by the Wright brothers, the Vanderbilt mansion and the home of Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y. Representing the world of tomorrow is the proposed national monument to mark the site of the first atom bomb explosion in New Mexico.

The most recently acquired national historic site is the Adams mansion at Quincy, Mass. This mansion, a part of which dates back to 1739, has been the home of two presidents and many statesmen and writers, and its history flows continuously through the whole American scene from earliest days of the republic to the present. A complete list of national historic sites may be obtained by writing the Director, National Park Service, Department of the Interior, Washington 25, D. C.

Doctor Hypnotizes Wild Zoo Animals by Voice

Demonstration of man's ability to hypnotize wild animals was given by a Hungarian physician at the Budapest zoo in 1937.

Chiefly by the tone of his voice, he put into a hypnotic state a dozen of the zoo's most feared animals, including a surly lion, a bad-tempered swan and a bear that had mauled his keeper on several occasions.

Accident Rate in Parks Soars

WASHINGTON.—Stressing the necessity for better observance by the public of safety regulations, Newton B. Drury, National Park service director, reported that the accident rate among visitors to the national park system jumped 28 per cent during the first six months of the present year.

Fatal accidents in all of the 109 areas of the national park system during 1946 totaled 29. Drury revealed, adding that the figure represents a rate of 0.121 per 100,000 visitors.

Contrary to popular belief, falls from heights in the rugged country characteristic of most of the national parks accounted for only 14 per cent of the 1946 fatalities. Drowning was responsible for 68 per cent of the fatal mishaps, and in many instances the victims were swimming alone.

BACKWARD GLANCES

40 YEARS AGO
From 1907 Capitan News
We were shown a telegram dated July 18 San Francisco which read "Leave here tomorrow for New Mexico." Curry

It is sincerely hoped that Gov. Curry will provide himself with a good Manila broom when he assumes his new duties. He will find many territorial offices that badly need sweeping out.

It is stated upon good authority that the railroad intends, when it has completed its pipe line to Carrizozo, to furnish the people of the town with water at a reasonable rate. It was thought at one time that the company would have no water to spare for domestic purposes, but they now seem to think they will have a sufficient supply, and that they can furnish the entire town with water. This certainly will sound good to the people of Carrizozo.

The matched race for a quarter of a mile, run at Lincoln last Saturday was won by Sheriff Owen's sorrel mare by about a length from Tom Shultz's grey horse. The same animals have been matched to run at Picacho, Friday July 26, for a $100 - $50 a side. A forfeit of $30 has been put up. At Picacho, on the same date, a purse of $20 has been hung up for a sweepstake race, and a number of horses, it is thought, will be entered for this purse.

Hon. A. H. Hudspeth was over from White Oaks the early part of this week.

20 YEARS AGO
1927 - Lincoln County News
Otila and Sarita Vega were here Sunday from Capitan visiting their father Marshal Vega. The Branum party returned Monday from a trip that included a visit to Carlsbad Caverns. Miss Nellie Shaver came in Wednesday from El Paso where she had been taking the summer course in Junior College, following her years work in the same institution.

The city dads held their regular meeting Monday night, with all members present. No business was transacted except the payment of current bills, including a payment on the street grader acquired last year, amounting in all to $1,272.25.

The Girl Scouts met at the home of Glenneth English July the 13th. Three girls were qualified as tenderfoot scouts, Charlotte Emerson, Elwina Bryan, Lois Stadtman.

10 YEARS AGO
1937 - Lincoln County News
Mr. and Mrs. Joe West have moved their dairy from the Lemon property to the George Jeffreys ranch.

Johnnie, Billie and Patsy Dolan returned last Saturday from a trip to Carlsbad Caverns, they were accompanied by their father Mr. Pat Dolan of Tucumcari.

Dr. Clyde Snow and family of Ralls, Texas are visiting relatives here. They will divide their time between Carrizozo and Ruidoso.

Mr. Wayne Richard who recently underwent an operation in an El Paso hospital was discharged this week.

Mrs. Griffith of Corsicans, Tex is here visiting her sons, Messrs. Herman and Willie Kelt.
