The number of New Mexico scholarship winners in various contests and donors were: two in Food Preparation—Serrval; one in Dairy Production—Kraft Foods Co.; one in Farm Safety—General Motors; and one Soil Conservation—Firestone.

The three other members won as a national award, a trip to the Chicago 4-H Club Congress, provided by Mrs. Charles Walgreen, donor for the Home Grounds Beautification Program.

In addition one member won national honors in the 4-H Garden Program, in which the award was a $100.00 U. S. Savings Bond provided by Allis Chalmers.

Services at Nogal Sunday

I will not be at Nogal Sunday morning as I have accepted the invitation of the Methodist pastor, Rev. Howard S. Pitts to preach for him in his absence. I will be at Nogal Sunday night for the Bible study. The subject will be on Grace, with the emphasis on how it works to save the lost sinner, and keep the saved sinner.

My message Sunday morning at the Methodist church will be evangelistic. I will speak on the subject; "God's Invitation to the Lost." The Scripture will be Luke 14:16, 24; and the text Rev. 22:17. The parable of "The Great Supper" has a wonderful lesson. I will try to interpret it for you, God leading.

Capitan News

By Mrs. Theophile Laramie

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Albro, of Auburn, New York, announce the arrival of a son Thomas Joel being named after his grandfather Joe Wigley of Capitan. Mrs. Albro will be remembered as Billie Jo Wigley, graduate of the 1944 class Capitan.

The First Baptist Church of Capitan gave a winter roast and ice cream social Saturday night August 2nd with about 35 in attendance and everyone seemed to have an enjoyable evening.

Tittsworth, accompanied by Hollis Cummins, drove them as far as El Paso, from where they will continue by bus to Silver City. Mrs. Boone is going to visit her son and family, while Mrs. Craig will visit a daughter and family. After a short visit they will go on to Phoenix, Ariz. where they will make their homes.

Word has been received here in Capitan from Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Knudsen, who report that they both have teaching positions at Middleton, California. They are moving there from Los Angeles on August 15th and have secured a home there. How fortunate for them, and again we folks here in Capitan wish them success.

A "Blessed Event" shower was given Wednesday afternoon, August 6th, in honor of Mrs. Laura A. Roche, at the home of Mrs. Milton Hymanzon, with Mrs. Cole Walker as Co-hostess. Mrs. Roche received many lovely and useful gifts for her little "Bundle from Heaven."

The American Legion, James A. Hipp, Post No. 57, held their regular meeting at the City Hall, Wednesday evening August 6th. The Post has obtained their 1947 Membership Cards and are planning a big membership campaign. Further information on their membership drive will follow from time to time. After adjournment, the Legionnaires joined the Ladies of the Auxiliary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Glatfelder for refreshments of coffee and cake.

The American Legion Auxiliary James A. Hipp, Unit 57, met at the home of Mrs. D. J. Glatfelder, Wednesday evening, August 6th. The meeting was opened in due form by the President, Mrs. Warren Gaston. The Secretary-Treasurer reported that the money derived from the Benefit Party, besides what had previously been set aside for the Unit Colors, lacked $2.00 of payment for the Colors. This was met from 'Coin Cards' already turned into the Unit. The money from the rest of the 'Coin Cards' as they are turned into the Unit, will help in furnishing and equipping the Auxiliary's room of the Legion Home. The Unit gave a contribution to the Legion for their Home, and also to the Iron Lung. Membership is the major program of the Auxiliary at this time, and dues are payable by October, for 1948. After adjournment, refreshments of coffee and cake were served to both Auxiliaries and Legionnaires, by hostesses Mrs. D. J. Glatfelder and Mrs. W. Gaston.

Girl Scouts Return From Camping Trip

Fourteen Girl Scouts and their leaders returned last Thursday from a four day camping trip held on the Bonito at the Harkey cabin.

Each day, two girls were appointed to assist adult leaders, Mrs. Vernon Petty, and Mrs. J. G. Moore in the preparation and serving food, each Scout washed her own dishes.

Among the activities enjoyed by the girls were horse back riding and hiking. At night they gathered around the campfire where groups presented impromptu entertainment.

An unexpected turn of events enabled the campers to practice some of the first aid taught them, when a lad, from the adjoining Nazarene camp, suffered injuries when he fell from a tree. His playmate called to the Scouts for help. The girls improvised a stretcher and carried the boy to camp where he was taken to the Ft. Stanton Hospital by Mrs. Vernon Petty.

The group are enthusiastic campers and are looking forward to camping trips next year.

Adult leaders in charge of the group were Mesdames, J. G. Moore, Vernon Petty, Joe G. West, Jr., and Bobby Shafer.

Girl Scouts attending camp were: Joan Elkins, Marian Lincoln, Caroline Cathy, Dorothy Withers, Marian Jones, Wanda Garrison, Vera Ruth Petty, Betty and Dorothy Moore, Roberta Key, Maxine Reynolds, Emily Johnson, Jan Hurley and Ann Gallacher.

Rev. F. J. Johnston, pastor

Our new Church building is approaching that state of completion where we will be able to use it. Sunday August 24th has been set for our Coming-In-Day. We hope to be better conditioned there than in the City Hall as well as save a little rent. Thanks from our congregation to the town board for their every courtesy.

Please plan to come and worship with us in our new building August 24th. Brother Lloyd Hood will be back to preach the first sermon in this church. There will be an all day program with basket lunch at noon. Services in the morning, afternoon and evening. Watch for further notice.

Hope you will plan to come to this church-house warming. Our prayer is that Christ may be united to his bride in these services.

My topic for next Sunday, will be: "Gods Love In Four Dimensions. Breadth, length depth, and height." We hope that the room or any other circumstance will not limit the sublimity of your vision in this service. Come next Sunday and get yourself ready to worship in a place that will be more distinctively God's own house. Thanks a lot.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Purity of Heart and Life

LESSON TEXT FOR AUGUST 10—Proverbs 2:1-5, 10-17; 4:14-17; 5:1-4; 31:10-12; James 1:13-15.

MEMORY SELECTION—Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life.—Proverbs 4:23.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

By WILLIAM CULBERTSON, D. D., Of The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

IT IS well for us to face squarely such a topic as the one assigned. It is particularly necessary to review the biblical standards with regard to holiness of life, since the day in which we live is one of lowered conceptions.

You will probably remember the story of the celebrated artist who was renowned because of his ability to put on canvas colors of accurate hue and great beauty. His secret was that he kept a number of valuable gems of all colors. He would turn frequently from his painting to study the color of these gems.

We need to spend time with the precious gems of the Word of God that we may clearly understand how he would have us live.

I. True Wisdom Involves the Fear of Jehovah (Prov. 2:1-5).

IN THE opening chapters of Proverbs, Wisdom is personified. Anyone who believes in Jesus Christ cannot help understanding something of his relationship to wisdom. In him "are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge" (Col. 2:3). To those of us who trust him, he has been made into us wisdom (I Cor. 1:30).

In this passage in Proverbs the point is that if we observe his commandments, if we incline our ears unto wisdom, if we apply our hearts to understanding, if we long for discernment, as earnestly as we would seek for silver and hidden treasures, we shall understand the fear of the Lord and find the knowledge of God.

God will meet every individual who really wants to know him. Said our Lord, "If any man will do to his will, he shall know..." (John 7:17).

II. True Wisdom Involves Holiness of Life (Prov. 2:10-17; 4:1-4).

TO truly know God is, of course, to be spared the headache which results from being deceived by sin and Satan. When wisdom enters the heart, the result is discretion and understanding (Prov. 2:10, 11). Thus God delivers us from the way of evil and from men that speak evil things (v. 12).

Attention should be given to the description of these evil men in verses 12-15; they speak perverse things; they forsake the paths of uprightness; they walk in the ways of darkness; they rejoice to do evil; they delight in the perverseness of evil; their paths are crooked and wayward.

Deliverance from the strange woman is likewise vouchsafed, as we have true wisdom. The description of these women is informative—flattering, forgetful of both friends and God; their lips drop honey, their mouths are smoother than oil. Notice the conclusion of the matter: In the end they are bitter as wormwood, sharp as a two-edged sword, their feet go down to death, and their steps take hold on Sheol.

How much we need God's wisdom in this world. It is easy to be deceived.

III. True Wisdom Means Peace at the End (Prov. 4:18-27).

TO walk with God, to walk in wisdom, is indeed as the dawning light, shining more and more unto the perfect day. If there were no other reward for living for God (and there are many, many others); the benediction at eventide would be enough to cause us to think seriously before we fount the ways of God.

IV. A Representative of True Wisdom (Prov. 31:10-12).

THIS passage describes the wise woman. She is indeed to be extolled. The worthy woman, the woman who loves God, the woman who is therefore wise, is in price far above rubies.

V. Sin's History (James 1:13-15).

THE wise man, the man who will be pure in heart and life, ought to understand something of the history of sin in his individual life. Temptation here refers undoubtedly to a solicitation to evil. God does make trial of men (Gen. 22:1), but he does not dangle before them that which is evil in itself.

The history of personal evil is, that because of our lust we are enticed. Thus when lust has conceived (that is to say, we have succumbed to the enticement), sin is born, and sin, when it is finished—but it is never finished; it goes on and on; no power on earth can arrest it—bringeth forth death.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

Begin Money Making Plans for Your Club Early in the Season

This luscious combination of pumpkin and pastry with a prune and whipped cream topping makes a good combination that has plenty of sales appeal.

Perhaps many of you who are officers of clubs already have planned your programs for the whole year. Undoubtedly they include a number of fund raising schemes which are designed to take care of worthy causes.

One of the most successful campaigns of many groups includes sales of goods baked by members. In this, of course, cakes, cookies, etc. are donated by the women and purchased by the club members, so all profit is clear.

Now that sugar, fats and flour are back again on a prewar basis in supply, at least, it's possible to plan a bakery goods sale of this type.

In case there's a problem about what to include, I've lined up several sure-fire recipes which can serve as the nucleus of the sale. Pass them out to those who don't know just "what to make."

Prune Spice Cake. (Using oblong pan)

- 2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 1 teaspoon allspice
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1 cup cooked prunes, seeded and chopped
- 1 cup sour cream

Sift dry ingredients together twice. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and beat until light and fluffy. Fold in eggs and prunes. Add dry ingredients alternately with sour cream and beat well after each addition. Bake in a greased oblong pan in a moderate oven for 45 minutes. Let cool and frost with:

- Mocha Frosting.
- 4 cups sifted powdered sugar
- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter or substitute
- 1/2 cup strong coffee
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla

Sift dry ingredients together and cream with butter. Add coffee and vanilla to make of a smoothly spreading consistency.

Graham Cracker Torte.

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 eggs, separated
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Grated rind of an orange
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 pound graham crackers, rolled
- 1 cup milk
- 1/2 cup shredded coconut

Cream butter and sugar. Add well beaten yolks, vanilla and orange rind. Add sifted dry ingredients and cracker crumbs alternately with the milk.

Fold in coconut and stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake in two layers in a moderate (375 degree) oven for 30 minutes. Let cool, then place custard filling between layers and frost with orange icing.

Custard Filling.

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 egg yolks

LYNN SAYS: Help Yourself and Solve Your Kitchen Problems

If potatoes don't seem as white as they should be when you are mashing them, beat a small amount of baking powder into them.

Use a hot blade for slicing fresh bread, a wet blade for cutting fresh cake, and a very thin, sharp blade for slicing cookie dough.

Keep the inside of your coffee pot clean by boiling a solution of soda and water in it at least once a week. This removes stains.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- Veal Roast with Sour Cream Gravy
- Buttered Noodles
- Fried Tomatoes
- Green Beans with Mushrooms
- Cinnamon Rolls
- *Graham Cracker Torte
- Beverage
- *Recipe given.

- 1 cup scalded milk
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- Mix dry ingredients, add egg yolks, slightly beaten. Pour in milk gradually. Cook in double boiler until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Cool and fold in flavor.
- Orange Icing.
- 2 cups powdered sugar
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 4 tablespoons milk or orange juice

- 1 1/2 teaspoons orange flavoring
- Grated rind of an orange
- Cream sugar and butter, add remaining ingredients.
- Peanut Butter Cookies. (Makes 3 dozen)
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup peanut butter
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 1/4 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon soda

Cream peanut butter with shortening. Add remaining ingredients in order given. Shape chilled dough into small balls and place on a baking sheet. Flatten with a fork dipped in flour, making a cross design on the cookie. Bake in a quick, moderate (375-degree) oven for 10 to 12 minutes. Let cool slightly before removing from tin.

- Prune Pumpkin Fudding Pie.
- 2 1/2 cups cooked or canned pumpkin
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup light molasses
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 3 teaspoons ginger
- 3 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon allspice

Have as much variety as possible when you plan such money-raising activities as a sale of baked goods. A plan of some kind made up ahead of time will eliminate too much duplication.

- Pastry
- 1 1/2 cups cooked prunes
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup light corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons plain gelatin
- 2 tablespoons cold water
- 1 cup whipping cream

Combine pumpkin, milk and un-beaten eggs; beat until well blended. Combine sugar, molasses, salt and spices; mix well and stir into pumpkin mixture. Pour into pastry-lined pan and bake in a very hot (450-degree) oven; reduce heat to moderate and continue baking 45 to 50 minutes or until custard is set. Cool.

Measure prunes, remove pits and cut prunes into small pieces. Combine with sugar, syrup, spice and salt and heat to boiling. Remove from heat, add gelatin moistened in cold water and stir to dissolve. Cool. Whip cream and fold into prune mixture. Spread over baked pumpkin pastry. Chill.

Place paper or paper toweling on table when paring vegetables and fruits, breaking eggs and measuring so that you can just fold it up and have a clean working surface when finished.

Keep seasoned flour in a bag always ready for seasoning chops, vegetables, chicken, etc. Greased muffin cups are ideal when baking tomatoes, apples, green peppers and stuffed onions. These cups may be set in a large pan or cookie sheet to make them easy to move in oven.

SEWING CIRCLE PATTERNS

Button Front for Matrons Little Girl's Two-Piece Dress

Matronly Frock
BEAUTIFULLY easy to wear—and such a joy to care for in the flattering button front frock. This one, created for the matron, has a soft, face-framing sweet-heart neckline, nicely shaped sleeves and a perky bow tie.

Pattern No. 1660 comes in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36, 4 1/2 yards of 36 or 38-inch.

Trimmed in Ruffles
LITTLE girls love this exciting two-piece style—it gives them such a grown-up feeling! Tiny ruffling trims the neck and puffed sleeves, and note the cute flared peplum. Try a flower sprigged fabric and gay novelty buttons.

Pattern No. 8042 is for size 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8 years. Size 2, 2 yards of 35 or 36-inch; 1 1/2 yards machine made ruffing.

Household Hints

To clean soiled wallpaper quickly, dip a clean cloth into dry powdered borax and rub it all over the soiled parts.

Spilt awnings often can be neatly patched with a piece of matching canvas and the rubber cement commonly used to repair inner tubes.

If a sewing machine is left idle for a considerable time, oil it occasionally to prevent the old oil in the machine from drying and becoming gummy.

If your feet are tired, you will look tired. Soak your feet and baby them.

To protect your hands from steel wool, cut a small rubber ball in half and stuff the half with steel wool.

Quality is not something that can be argued into a monument or promised into it. To begin, the material must have it. In the finish and the lettering, it must be placed there. You're Welcome

A veteran dropped in at our bank the other day and said "I need advice. I'd like to talk with you about a problem that's been on my mind".

We told him he had come to the right place. He talked about half a dozen things. We listened. And because banking is our business, we could answer his questions that had a financial side: his rights under the G. I. bill; the value of a piece of ground he wanted to buy; and the local opportunities for a business he was thinking of starting.

When he left, he smiled and thanked us. "Don't thank us," we told him. "We're here—not only to lend money, but also to help in every way we can."

He and his fellow veterans are always welcome here. If we can do something for you, come on in.

1948 Campaign Maneuvers Started

Top Republicans Are Angling For Presidential Candidacy

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—More than two weeks before congress adjourned, the last bit of fight went out of it and it looked very much as though it would glide rapidly but smoothly to an unperturbed finish.

Then the Missouri scandal raised its ugly head. Sen. James P. Kem (Rep., Mo.), insisted that he was going to present his resolution, S. Res. 150, to investigate the justice department's handling of the alleged Kansas City vote frauds in 1940. This, despite the fact that the judiciary committee of the senate already had decided against such a probe.

To the Republicans this was by no means an unpleasant dish to have on the fire for they intend to make it one of the pieces de resistance of the campaign. But they didn't want to start it cooking before adjournment for they realized that while too many cooks can't spoil this broth, it might make everybody late for dinner — dinner back home.

The Democrats, of course, were set to fight it and some of the Republicans, rather than prolong the battle, wanted to forget it for the present.

It couldn't be entirely neglected for, despite violent digging on the part of the Republican and Democratic national committees, no really luscious campaign issue has been unearthed.

The Pendergast issue will be used but it cannot be depended upon as a major weapon in the battle of 1948.

At present the Republicans, although they are optimistic enough concerning the final victory, realize that it cannot be achieved without some heavy artillery capable of smashing the Democratic defensive, the strongest feature of which to date is the poll—the poll that showed in July that Harry Truman still had a 54 per cent popular majority.

That is why a lot of politicians on Capitol Hill are saying: "We'll win with Dewey," not just, "We'll win." You'd be surprised to see how many good Democrats turn sadly away, without replying to the Republican boast.

There is one group, of course, which is insisting stubbornly: "We'll win with Taft." They may admit if you put them in a corner that they can't "win with Taft now," because of the positive evidence reflected in the Truman poll and the negative evidence revealed in the Taft poll. But, they say, "Taft hasn't started to campaign. When he does he'll change all that."

How about Warren of California, toward whom those who like neither Taft's conservatism nor Stassen's liberalism nor Dewey's deweyism are looking hopefully? Well, there is one story that Warren couldn't possibly swing the No. 1 place and that he doesn't want the No. 2 job—that what he does want is the attorney generalship.

At this writing nobody is afraid of the formation of a third party by the left-wingers who would follow Wallace in the hope of building him up for 1952 or merely to spite everybody else.

As to a "revenge" labor vote for the Taft-Hartley act, Taft's friends are going to insist that he was the man who saved it from being a really vicious anti-labor weapon. Shortly after the veto was overridden, he indicated that the clauses which muzzle the labor press and prevent them from expressing their political views should be amputated.

In fact, some people who are much farther to the left than Taft, in both parties, insist that this bill is going to lose its terrors with time, that familiarity will bring, not contempt, but the realization that it may be "used" by both management and labor to their advantage just as the railway labor act, much belabored in its early days, eventually became a useful all-around gadget.

Meanwhile, the White House contingent has not been heard humming Taft's "Goodbye."

Serving the Public

What does the word "advertise" mean to you? Does it mean "to warn, to give notice to, to inform, to notify, to make known to"?

Or does it mean some sort of high-powered skull-duggery involving skyscrapers, Hollywood blondes, billboards and singing commercials?

The first definition was written by Webster (not the senator, the gentleman who wrote a dictionary). The other concepts are the result of a rash of lampoonery of advertising which, while some of it may contain a grain of truth, looks to me like biting the hand that is not feeding you.

The big, bad novel about advertising as its blooming worst was called "The Hucksters," a best seller highly salted with erotica which has been turned into a movie. There is no accounting for tastes, and I won't object if you see the picture and like it: All I ask: "Don't accept the advertising sequences as the literal truth.

There is much about advertising I could loudly decry (and often do) at the risk of biting the hand I mentioned a paragraph or so back. But there are "hucksters" who are undertaking projects of a very decent sort of which you may not be aware. Maybe in these past few months you've asked yourself: Why doesn't somebody DO something about a lot of things.

Something about the people killed or injured in automobile accidents every year.

Something about housing. The war ended two years ago. Yet the land of the free still isn't providing homes for the brave. Shame on all of us!

Something about the shortage of medical services. Patients are neglected, hospital wards closed because the nation desperately needs nurses. Training them is a long-range, national job.

Something about world trade. Our economic future depends on unhampered world trade. Yet pressure groups make our world trade a football for selfish interests.

Something about the nation's health. Between the ages of 15 and 24, tuberculosis is our greatest killer. At any given time, 500,000 people have it. But they don't know it. Alarming? You bet it is.

Something about our kids. Your children are getting a rough deal in school. Too few teachers. Too antiquated equipment, old textbooks or none at all. Make you mad? It should.

What has all this to do with advertising? Just this: The above words were copied from an advertisement, a full-page advertisement in a recent New York Times, and perhaps other papers by this time.

It isn't an ordinary ad. It is not directed primarily to the people without homes, without nurses, it is directed to the persons and organizations who can help bring these facts home to the general public—to you. It is an ad written by and about the Advertising Council, concerning an operation of which almost everybody is conscious but about which few people know the details.

It is an operation based on giving away what the givers ordinarily sell—advertising space, advertising ideas, advertising copy. It answers the question: "Why doesn't somebody DO something?" The reply is—It's given in works as well as words—"Somebody IS."

The council grinds nobody's axe except yours, the public's, seeks no profits, asks no expense account, has only one objective: To make America a still better place than it already is.

The Advertising Council was born a week after Pearl Harbor when Donald Nelson, about to take over chairmanship of the war production board, called in a group of advertising executives and discussed with them what the average citizen could do to help victory—and incidentally, what would make him do it.

Now you are reading and hearing the results of the council's peacetime efforts—they are embodied in the various forms of advertising of many firms, as spots on the radio, many other places. The council is providing suggestions, ideas, radio fact sheets and other material to members of business firms, unions, civic groups and other citizens who can put that tremendous power, advertising, to work personalizing big national problems.

Peak Foreign Income Reported

WASHINGTON.—Compensating in an infinitesimal degree for the vast sums of United States money which have flowed abroad during the post-war era for relief of devastated countries, earnings on American investments in foreign countries reached a new peak of 530 million dollars last year, it is revealed in a department of commerce survey.

The return, highest in history, surpassed by 18 per cent the best year of the 1930s and was well above the preceding peak of 474 million dollars earned in 1936. For 1936, top year of the '30s, the figure was 440 million dollars. The higher return was largely attributed to an increase of direct investments abroad.

Aid to Poland Cancelled; Reds Delay Jap Treaty

POLAND AID: Canceled

Following a report by a U. S. survey mission that Poland has enough food to meet her minimum requirements at least for this year, the state department canceled Poland's share of the 350 million dollar American relief program.

In its announcement, the state department said that special items, such as medical supplies and supplementary foodstuffs for particular groups, could be supplied Poland through private relief agencies and other organizations.

The announcement added: "In view of the above and of the fact that funds available are sufficient to meet only the most urgent relief needs, it has been decided not to undertake a relief program for Poland."

Next on the list, according to indications, might be Hungary, where better crop prospects are in sight.

The state department said that the decision to cut off relief to Poland was based entirely on the relative needs of European countries. No official comment was made on the fact that Poland is well within the Soviet sphere of influence and that Hungary is definitely Communist-dominated.

NEW SPLIT:

Peace Treaty

Russia's rejection of the United States proposal for drafting a Japanese peace treaty is showing up as another breach in the already badly weakened structure of American-Soviet unity.

In addition, it may delay indefinitely work on a peace treaty for Japan which, the United States contends, is an absolute necessity if the conquered nation is to get back on its economic feet.

American proposals for beginning the task of writing a treaty on August 16 were turned down by Moscow on the grounds that the U. S. was attempting to act unilaterally and without having made any previous agreements with Great Britain, China or Russia.

Major question now facing the United States and other nations interested in making progress on a Far East peace settlement is whether to go ahead with the writing of the Japanese peace treaty without Russia.

GUN TOTER:

Coincidence

For a few minutes Washington police thought they might have a would-be assassin on their hands when they picked up a man carrying a gun inside the capitol just after President Truman had made a visit to the senate chamber.

But Clifton R. H. Spree, 39, of Augusta, Ga., arrested on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, appeared more confused than anyone else about the affair. He seemed to think that he had a grudge against

"the big shots in Washington," but apparently held no animosity toward the President.

Later, he was sent to a Washington hospital for observation.

The coincidental appearance of President Truman in the senate chamber was the result of a dare which he took while having lunch with some of his former colleagues from the senate. He spoke for five minutes from the seat he held as the senator from Missouri, dwelling largely on the "auld lang syne" theme.

READING PUBLIC:

49 Per Cent Heard

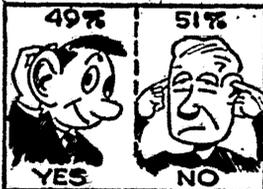

It is probably a safe surmise that Secretary of State George Marshall was shocked clear down to the bottom of his briefcase when a Gallup poll revealed that only about 49 per cent of America's voting population had heard or read of his celebrated plan for repairing and rebuilding Europe's shattered economy.

On the other hand, he could take some consolation from the fact 57 per cent of those who were aware of the Marshall plan also approved of it.

(The plan, in simple terms, was a suggestion to the European nations that they get together to work out their economic salvation on a cooperative, self-help basis. Playing a major role in financing the recovery would be American money—obtained through taxation of both the 49 per cent who had heard of the plan and the 51 per cent who hadn't.)

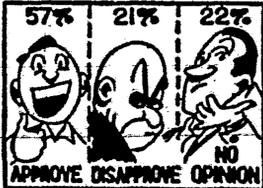

Here is the first question which Gallup pollsters asked:

"Have you heard or read about the Marshall plan for helping Europe get back on its feet?"

Those who had heard of the plan were asked:

"What is your opinion of the plan?"

As a footnote, the poll disclosed that while public opinion was generally in favor of Marshall's proposal, support would decline sharply if taxes had to be raised in order to put it through.

THE FICTION CORNER

KEEPERS FINDER

By CHARLES PALMER

The chauffeur pulled the long black car over to the side of the busy road, and the elderly gentleman in the tonneau leaned forward to open the door for the two hitchhikers.

The slim, nervous one sat on one side of the elderly gentleman; the large, sleepy one on the other.

The elderly gentleman's hands were folded benignly in his lap. His friendly, rather vague eyes peered at first one, then the other. He broke the silence. "My name is Vandermeer, gentlemen. And you?"

The slim, nervous one sat up sharply. "Any relation to the Vandermeer bank family?"

"Yes," said the elderly gentleman, stroking his gray goatee. "I have that honor, if you call it one."

"Then," said the slim one, "this is your lucky day, ain't it, George?"

The big one took his hungry gaze from the passing orange trees long enough to grunt agreement, and turned back to contemplating the luscious fruit.

The slim one fixed the elderly gentleman with a gimlet eye, and hooked a taut finger confidently in his lapel.

"Have you ever neglected the birthday of a loved one, and spent sleepless nights of regret?" he probed intensely.

"Have you ever slipped up on remembering an anniversary and gone to the doghouse as a result—or failed to congratulate a friend on a promotion and gotten the fishy eye the next time you met? Have you?"

"Well, yes," apologized the elderly gentleman, "I have. I am a trifle forgetful at times," adding defensively, "but then, most people are."

"Ah," pressed the slim one, giving the lapel an impressive shake, "my point exactly. Most people are, like you, forgetful, and they suffer for it. They suffer because they know the slight or omission was not intended and realize too, that the neglected one is certain to wrongly interpret it. Maybe a long friendship will be strained, or a wife or daughter hurt."

"But, suppose you were to suddenly find yourself in a position where those slight and omissions never happened any more! Wouldn't you be delighted—especially if it meant no effort on your part, no strain, no time; in fact, nothing beyond the payment of a very small fee?"

The elderly gentleman nodded. "I imagine most people would be as delighted as I."

"My point again!" cried the slim one. "Now, George and I are at this moment on our way to Los Angeles to initiate just such a service. We plan to call it The Tell-You-When Co., Inc."

"All you have to do is give us the names of the people whose anniversaries you want to remember; with the dates if you have them; otherwise we will look them up for you."

"Give us too, the names of people whose promotions, marriages, births, deaths and so on you want to mark with a gift or note; and our clipping service will watch the papers and other sources of information. When an item pops up on the calendar we keep in your name, we notify you—and for a small additional fee we will even write an appropriate note, or purchase and forward a gift. Now, tell me: Does that fill a long-felt need?"

The elderly gentleman's eyes were bright with interest. "Amazing, young man! Exactly what I need. Put me down as your first subscriber."

"You see!" said the slim one. "You snapped at it. So will others. Which brings us to the heart of the matter, doesn't it, George?"

George turned from the oranges long enough to grunt a second agreement, and turned back to his contemplation. An orange would go very, very good just now. The slim one grasped the elderly gentleman's lapel again.

"Mr. Vandermeer, I called this your lucky day. It is, you being a Vandermeer, have money which you are probably willing to treble on a proposition that can't miss. George and I have such a proposition, but no money. Now, why can't we get together on this thing?"

"Humm," remarked the elderly gentleman. "How much capital do you estimate your venture will require?"

The slim one inspected him with covert calculation. "Well, there's advertising—office rent, telephones and help—livings for George and me—all only until the golden flood begins to roll in. Say; oh say, five thousand dollars. That should be sufficient to launch the business."

The elderly gentleman drew a checkbook from his pocket, and unlimbered his fountain pen. The beady eyes glistened. The elderly gentleman turned to the back of a check and began to figure. The slim one exhaled sharply, opened his mouth to speak, but thought better of it.

In a few moments, the elderly gentleman stopped figuring, and looked out the car window, stroking his goatee reflectively. He shook his head slowly.

"No," he said. "I believe your calculations to be in error. You will need at least ten thousand dollars to get your proposition under way."

The blood slowly flowed back into the slim one's cheeks. Mr. Vander-

"Okay," he said, "I bit." Then he kissed the check regretfully and tore it up.

meer turned his checkbook over and poked his pen.

"I am a man of quick decisions," he told the slim one. "I am convinced of the worth of your idea, and of your ability to carry it through. Your name?"

The slim one supplied it, and the elderly gentleman wrote out the check, tore it from the book, and handed it to him.

"And now, I see we are almost home. If you young men will come in with me, we can draw up some informal papers to cover the matter, and then I will have my driver take you on to the city to start your company."

The car swung from the highway and stopped smoothly. A uniformed attendant hobbled from the gate house to unlock the ponderous iron grilles which effectively barred the driveway.

Suddenly the slim one bent forward. His eyes rested on a small bronze plate set in the stone pillar. "Sunnyside Home for the Mentally Diseased," he read slowly, choking as the words sunk in. He turned toward George, "nicking a rather hopeless glance in his direction. George turned away sadly—to again appraise the oranges. The slim one's eyes dropped to the flourishing signature on the check he still held in his hands. "Napoleon Vandermeer," he quoted.

His lips tightened murderously for a moment, then he grinned sheepishly.

"Okay, Napoleon," he said. "I bit. Your name ain't Vandermeer, but just to even it up, George and me ain't starting any Tell-You-When Service, either! Because somebody else beat us to it a year ago, see, and all we wanted your dough for was to skip the country before the dicks caught up to us." He kissed the check regretfully, then tore it into little pieces and tossed them in the air, watching them flutter down.

"Come on, George," he said, "oranges for breakfast."

"The elderly gentleman watched them trudge down the road, and stroked his goatee contemplatively as the car rolled up the drive. It stopped in front of a brick building with barred windows, and he stood beside the car for a moment.

"Harvey," he said to the waiting driver, "wait here for me. I'll be only a moment."

The chauffeur touched his cap respectfully.

"Yes, Doctor Vandermeer," he said.

Early Day Paintings

In the days when paint recipes were kept in the family cook book, our colonial ancestors knew about making paint out of skimmed milk, which is basically the same idea as the modern casein paint of today which has a milk base. Colonial dames mixed skimmed milk with salt, boiled rice, coffee and egg-white when they wanted a batch of paint for freshening up their houses. And a painted house was a matter of social prestige. It was considered presumptuous for a tradesman to paint his dwelling. Gradually, though, as the idea of equality penetrated, the butcher and the baker and the candlestick maker decided they had as much right to paint their houses as the doctor, lawyer and ship owner.

Minnesota Fete Recalls Historic Indian Uprising

WNU Features.

NEW ULM, MINN.—Eighty-five years ago this month the Sioux Indians under command of Chief Little Crow struck out in a last desperate attempt to drive the white man from their rapidly shrinking empire in the Midwest states. Center of the attack, which occurred at a period when America was engaged in bitter civil war between the states, was New Ulm, early German settlement in Minnesota. The Indians struck with sudden, savage fury in what history has recorded as the New Ulm Massacre. Although the Indians' cause was hopeless from the outset, it cost the lives of more than 700 men, women and children of Southwestern Minnesota.

The Indians were, in the end, badly defeated and driven from the state into Dakota territory. Many were captured and more than 300 were sentenced to hang. Intervention of President Lincoln spared the lives of the great majority of these, but 38 eventually died in the greatest mass hanging America ever has recorded.

There are different versions of the incident that touched off the trouble, conceded to have been one of the most serious of all American Indian uprisings. Accepted by many is the story that it was provoked by the craving of a renegade Indian, named One Who Kills Ghosts, for a mess of eggs for breakfast.

The story has it that one of his companions ordered One Who Kills Ghosts to put down the eggs to avoid starting trouble. One Who Kills Ghosts thereupon accused the other of being a coward and afraid of the white man.

That, allegedly, set off the spark. In the quarrel that followed, the young bucks decided to prove their valor and went to a nearby settler's home and shot up members of the family. Indians throughout the Minnesota river valley immediately began mustering for war and the very next day whites at the lower agency were attacked. The Indians spread out over the country on both sides of the river, decappling every settlement by torch, tomahawk and terror.

Terrified settlers hurried their families to New Ulm on the Indians massed for attack. Milford, a rural settlement seven miles west of New Ulm was attacked and many of its inhabitants killed on August 10. The following day a force of warriors hit at New Ulm, killing several persons and burning a number of buildings. The defense held, however, and after some spirited fighting, the savages withdrew.

During the battle reinforcements arrived from St. Peter, Mankato, Le Sueur and other neighboring settlements, bringing the defense forces to around 600. Maj. Charles E. Flandrau, a former Indian agent, was placed in command and defenses of the town were strengthened.

Path of Destruction. Four days later, on August 23, the Indians attacked New Ulm in greater number. Fighting continued until noon of the following day, when the attackers withdrew. Of the New Ulm defenders, 34 had been killed, 60 wounded. Nearly 200 buildings had been destroyed.

During the same time the Indians also laid siege to Fort Ridgely, a United States military post established in 1853, 10 miles up the river from New Ulm. During the nine-day siege, two formidable assaults were made and repulsed. The Indians then retreated into the Dakotas, taking with them many captives.

Whatever it was that started the uprising, historians are agreed that it wasn't a mere sudden whim. The Indians were well prepared when they launched their attack. Their leaders knew well what they were doing when they chose Fort Ridgely and the settlement of New Ulm as their main objectives.

It is felt that the underlying cause goes back to 1851, before the state of Minnesota was founded, when treaties were negotiated with the upper and lower branches of the Sioux nation for the transfer of most of their vast lands in southern Minnesota and in Iowa to the government in return for specified payments. The Indians were to make their homes on a reservation consisting of a 10-mile strip on both sides of the Minnesota river, near Fort Ridgely.

The treaty was unpopular with many of the Indians, for they had exchanged a big empire for a narrow strip of not very suitable land, and payments were not as large as they had expected. Other factors, too, contributed to the hostile feeling which was becoming more pronounced at a time when able-bodied men were being sent out of the state to fight in the Civil war.

Identifying them. Proof that their mental capabilities also are identical was contained in a report showing their final grades for the past two years were the same in every subject.

Both were nominated for the DAR American history merit award. After several conferences, the DAR decided a choice between the two was unnecessary. Medals were given to both girls.

AMARILLO, TEX.—Sturdy Texas plainmen again may have to resort to the law of the six-gun in order to protect their property. But this time the war will be against wheat thieves, not cattle rustlers. Bandits are making steady forays on huge piles of wheat, dumped on the ground at harvesting time as a result of shortage of shipping facilities. Wheat rustlers, it is reported, are especially active on the south plains. Floyd county farmers have reported large losses from their estimated million bushels of grain left in huge piles on the ground.

Fancy Names Abound In South, State Finds MONTGOMERY, ALA.—First of September has a brother named First of August, it is revealed in a list of fancy names compiled from records of the Alabama department of industrial relations. Pearly Gates, another unusual monicker, may be indicative of a fond mother's future hopes for her new-born baby. Then, too, there's actually a person with the name Ima Hogg.

Among others included in the list are Dixie Cola, Square Bell, Main Line Harris, General Davis, President Dickinson, Apt Greene, Effort Hicks, Stoneywall Jackson and Early Jones.

Identical Twins Pose Problem PITTSBURGH, PA.—Identical twins who are as alike mentally as physically posed an unusual problem for Mrs. Edith Sleath, history instructor at Latimer junior high school, when the two were nominated for the same merit award. Frances and Nancy Borich are the twins involved. Their physical characteristics are so identical that friends frequently have difficulty

Phenothiazine Will Kill Nodular Worms

Common Insect of Hogs Present on Most Farms

You've heard so much about swine roundworms that you may think they are the only internal parasites that cause hog losses. If so, you're wrong. You're overlooking the nodular worm.

The USDA says the nodular worm is perhaps the most common worm parasite of swine, and that in some states, practically all hogs raised under ordinary conditions may be infected.

Research workers in animal parasitology are beginning to suspect that nodular worm injury to hogs is far greater than was heretofore believed. Nodular worm infections cause considerable losses to the meat industry because the intestines studded with nodules, resulting from nodular worm injury, are weak and tear easily, and this destroys their value for use as casings. These losses, of course, are passed along to the hog raiser in the form of lower prices.

Hogs entertain four species of nodular worms. The nodular worm gets to be only about a half inch long, hence is not as readily seen as the roundworm, which gets to be as thick as a lead pencil and more than a foot long. Hog raisers seeing roundworms may blame them for trouble caused by the smaller, harder-to-see nodular worms.

Phenothiazine is the only effective remedy for removing nodular worms. It destroys more than 90 per cent of them. Phenothiazine is easily given in feed—in fact, that is the safest way for a hog raiser to administer it.

Cattle Horn-Fly Trap

Considerable success has been attained in Australia using a horn-fly trap constructed in a gateway or lane through which the cattle must pass once or twice a day. The passageway through the trap is 33 inches wide and 100 feet long.

The glass in the roof is coated on the inside with DDT and protected from the cattle by coarse screen

Anaplasmosis Gains Foothold on Range

Anaplasmosis is a febrile, infectious disease, transmitted from sick or carrier cattle or by ticks, horseflies and other biting insects. Young animals are seldom affected.

The treatment is still in the experimental stage and is largely a veterinary problem. Animals afflicted with the malady should be kept in the shade, given plenty of clean water, a little green feed, and protected against flies. Intravenous injection of mercurochrome has been used with success as well as a modified sodium-cacodylate treatment.

Remedy for Black Rot Disease Among Grapes

Use of bordeaux mixture 4-100 plus one pound of rosin fish oil soap per 100 gallons of spray mixture is recommended for those vineyards where black rot and downy mildew have been serious. This spray is applied just before bloom, just after bloom and two weeks after bloom. If rainfall is above normal, it may be necessary to make a fourth application two weeks after the third treatment.
