School Notes

The Carrizozo Grizzlies open their 1947-48 basketball season Friday and Saturday nights. Hope High School invades Carrizozo Friday night for one ball game. There will be two intramural games with the first game starting at 6:30, the Wolves vs. Rattlers. The second game the Cubs vs. Wildcats. The senior game will start promptly at 8:00. The Grizzlies will be somewhat handicapped in that they have had only two weeks of practice. Hope high school does not play football and they have been working out longer than the Grizzlies. The Grizzlies promise to give the fans a good game to watch.

Saturday night Dexter will journey over to Carrizozo. We play 1st and second teams. There will also be two intramural games with the first game starting at 6:00, the Warriors vs. Wolves. At 6:30 the Rattlers vs. Cubs. 7:00 the Dexter second team will play the Carrizozo second team. 8:00 the two senior teams will play the main game.

A large crowd attended the presentation of the "delightful mystery-comedy," "Mystery in the Library," directed by Miss Daisy Dickenson and given by the Junior Class of the Carrizozo High School, Friday evening November 7.

The cast of characters were as follows: Ellsworth Larson, Editor of "The Bugle"; Alfonso Madrid, Claribeth Harris, Assistant Editor, Marjorie Means; Dick Martin, Sports Editor of "The Bugle"; Marvin Smoot; Jay Munson, the "TV" boy of the school; Lecky Hust; Shorby George, wisecracking pal of Jay's; Phil Smith; Dora Dean, Society Editor of "The Bugle"; Janet Shafer; Margaret Allison, Literary Editor of "The Bugle"; Joy Dawn Reil; Annie Goopy, the "would-be" detective; Ann Taylor; President, Harryson, President of Clarke College, C. A. Brantner; Benny Lyon, one of the Alpha Fraternity boys; Arlin Lindsey; Inspector Burke of the Police Department; Thomas Archuleta; Swenson, Dumb sock of the Police force; Phillip Austin; Electrician, Earl Shelton; Herman Henrich; Thomas Morales; and the two police women, Hope Snow and Betty Frazier.

Several piano selections were played by Yeda Lou Brantner before the curtain went up. Guitar Duets by J. D. Garrison and Charles Bunch were played during the intermission between acts, and a clever reading "Naughty Nell" was given by Martha Miller.

In addition to the baffling mystery which was the key note of the play, there was an exciting thread of romance running through the three acts.

Altogether, it was an evening of enjoyment, and well received by the audience.

Capitan Methodist Church

Rev. F. J. Johnston, Pastor

The great apostle once spoke of himself as Paul the "aged." I preached my first sermon in the summer of 1897. I mention this only because of what I am about to say. After all these years I have not one regret for having chosen to be a Christian or of having entered the Christian ministry. My only regrets are that I did not have more to give to the cause or that I did not always give all that I had. I was never compelled to make my life choices nor am I now compelled to make this testimony. These are my voluntary responses to a great invitation. The Bible is full of it. The Great Invitation will be my topic for next Sunday. R. S. V. P. "Would you believe and Jesus receive if he were to stand" where I expect to be standing next Sunday at 11 A. M. The spirit of our services is Christian, the atmosphere reverent and the setting beautiful. We are putting up a determined fight for a larger congregation. We plan to install another stove this week. Be good sports and stay with us. Don't be quitters. It's to your interests as well as ours to have a good service. I know that we will succeed. Please come.

This reporter is sorry to report that a little boy's dog was poisoned, and it makes one wonder why anyone would do such an unkind act. Surely if this little boy's dog was a nuisance or a bother to someone, that person or persons had gone to that little boy, or his parents, I'm sure they would have gladly done the right thing. But, instead, the dog was poisoned. Let us hope that a thing like this will not happen again, for as we all know, "A Dog is Man's Best Friend".

Another item of great interest was brought to the attention of this reporter. As many of us know, there are always some needy families in need of help. I truly believe that this County has always done much to support every worth while project. Why then, can't Lincoln County Support a Community Chest Program so that we can take care of needy families. This reporter would indeed like to hear from interested persons in regard to this, so kindly voice your opinions where they will be heard.

Accident Monday Takes The Life of R. A. Crenshaw

One of the worst tragedies which has occurred in Lincoln County for many months snuffed out the life Mr. R. A. (Bob) Crenshaw, Sr., late last Monday evening when the truck in which he was riding overturned as it rounded a curve 26 miles north of Carrizozo near Luna. Mr. Crenshaw of White Oaks, Tack Kennedy of Fort Sumner and Rex Lewis of Carrizozo were bringing a horse to White Oaks in a truck when the horse became frightened at an approaching train, shied, to one side just as the curve was reached, throwing the truck over, killing Mr. Crenshaw instantly and severely injuring the other occupants.

Mr. Crenshaw had been a ranchman at White Oaks for many years. He was a good business man, generous to a fault; a kind indulgent father, and a good husband and an obliging, thoughtful neighbor and friend. The high esteem in which he was held was shown by the crowd which packed the church and by the vast array of flowers which filled the chancel at the Methodist Church yesterday where services were conducted by the Rev. Howard Pitts, pastor of the Methodist church, assisted by the Rev. O. L. Oldham of Tinnie and the Rev. Frank Crenshaw of Melrose, a nephew.

A trio composed of Messrs. Shultz Mills and Brewster sang two appropriate selections, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and "God Will Take Care of You," piano accompaniment was played by Mrs. Ben S. Burns.

Robert Abner Crenshaw was born September 13, 1876 in Rutherford, Tennessee, and moved to Texas at the age of two years. As a child he became a member of the Methodist Church. He was married to Bertha Starkey on December 23, 1902, and moved to New Mexico early in 1903. He lived near Melrose until 1917, at which time he moved to his ranch near White Oaks.

He is survived by his wife, one son Robert, Jr., of White Oaks; four daughters, Mrs. Lucille Peterson, Carrizozo; Mrs. Louella Counts, Roswell; Mrs. Robbie Kinsinger, Santa Cruz, Calif.; Mrs. Opal Mills, Pampa, Texas; nine grandchildren two brothers Asa Crenshaw, Tucson, Arizona; Will Crenshaw, Melrose; four sisters Mrs. Mae Moore, Godley, Texas; Mrs. Rosa Page, Kellyville, Oklahoma; Mrs. Ola Waltrip, Fort Worth, Texas and Mrs. Nina Willoughby, Dallas, Texas and a host of friends.

Casket bearers were, Jack Cleg-horn, Henry Hoffman, Loice Skerrill, Jet Ruttin, Bryan Hightower and Rob Lealle.

International Uniform Sunday School Lesson

SCRIPTURE: I Peter; Daniel 1; DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 24

A Call to Right Living

Lesson for November 9, 1947

SUNDAY'S lesson is based on the First Epistle of Peter and the first chapter of Daniel. It is a temperance lesson. It is suggested that we read the 24th Psalm, in which we find this question, Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? And the answer, He that hath clean hands and a pure heart.

Dr. Newton

Psalm gives us a dramatic concept of what it means to face God in the right attitude of life.

How to Grow Strong

OUR doctors tell us how to grow strong, sound bodies. We are to eat the right food, sleep regularly, breathe deeply, etc., etc. Daniel did all of these things, and something more—Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's wine which he drank; therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself." Daniel 1:8.

Finally he agreed for them to refrain from meat and wine for ten days, and at the end of the ten days, behold, Daniel and his companions appeared fatter and fatter than those who had eaten immoderately.

Every Youth Must Choose AS DANIEL chose to grow strong through temperate habits of eating and drinking, so must every youth choose between right living and lustful living. We have laws against drunkenness, for example, but legislation alone cannot produce a generation of temperate young men and women. Each boy and each girl must choose for himself and herself between temperance and intemperance.

And this lesson sets out the ways by which such choices can be made and sustained. I find a helpful word in I Corinthians 10:31: "Whether, therefore, ye eat or drink or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God."

As we make the choice between drunkenness and sobriety, let us remember that we are choosing between God and Satan—between the example of honorable parents and the example of people who have desecrated every sanctity. This lesson is a call to right living.

Disciplined Lives

WHICH calls into mind a word that we have not always treated fairly. I am thinking of the word "discipline." Too often we have regarded this word as something very austere, when, as a matter of fact, it is one of the really fine words of our language. It means "one taught." It is the word which, with slight difference in spelling, gives us "disciple."

The immediate followers of Jesus were called disciples. They were young men, gathered up from the everyday pursuits of life. Most of them were fishermen—men who faced hardships every night as they confronted wind and waves. And yet these rough and tumble fishermen became "the taught" ones of Jesus. They yielded to his discipline. They were pupils in the school of Christ.

That is what this lesson is aiming at—to enlist many, many pupils in the school of Christ.

The Test of Time

MAKE this test in your community, whether you live in the city or in the country. Look at the lives of the men and women about you, and draw your own conclusions regarding the worth of temperate living. Study the lives of the drunkards against the lives of the men and women who have refrained from strong drink. Study the lives of the gamblers and see if they have really won.

I appeal to the verdict of history—the test of time. Not only in the case of Daniel, but in the lives of the men and women in every community in America is daily borne out the truth of Sunday's lesson—that God giveth us richly all things to enjoy, but we must use his gifts with disciplined minds.

Erosion Prevented By Sound Practice Growing Crops Help In Saving the Soil

By W. J. DRYDEN

The late spring floods and heavy rains made many farmers realize that losses from water erosion can be serious. Michigan State college specialists list four rules to reduce water erosion on farm land.

1. Never leave the ground bare longer than necessary. Vegetation is important over the winter.
2. As the slope of the land increases, use more crops of grass and small grains and fewer cultivated crops.
3. If medium sloping land is cultivated, practice strip cropping, cross slope seeding and tilling, and use sod waterways and terraces.
4. Keep the soil in as high a state of fertility as possible. Add lime where necessary, use commercial fertilizers and add humus through natural manures, green manures or crop residues.

Soil Building

The difference between soil building and soil mining is shown in the chart below. Soil building means increasing the soil's organic matter and plant food supply and maintaining high crop yields. It means feeding the soil and letting the soil feed the crops, rather than trying to feed each individual crop.

The comparative results shown here were obtained at the Ewing soil experiment field in Illinois. One plot has had no soil treatment since the field was established in 1910. The other plot has had large amounts of lime, phosphate and potash to get heavy stands of deep-rooted legumes. Corn stalks have been returned to this plot. The rotation on both plots has been corn, oats, clover and wheat.

Crop yields covering a four-year rotation tell the story. Corn production on the fertilized plot was four times greater than on the untreated field; oats nearly four times and wheat about eight times greater. Clover yield on the fertilized plot was 1.9 tons per acre; the untreated plot is too acid to grow legumes.

Despite the greater amounts of nitrogen and organic matter used in producing the higher yields, the fertilized plot still contains 4 1/2 tons more organic matter and 400 pounds more nitrogen than the untreated field.

Farm Hints That Pay In Better Products

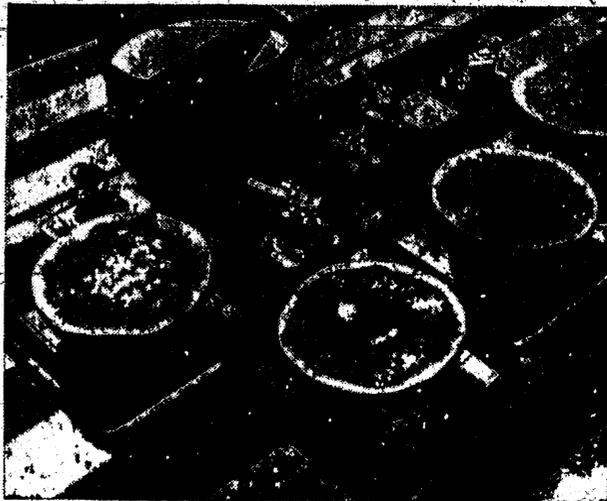

The Cornell results are in line with earlier tests of vitamins for calf scours in Michigan and Ohio. Even though the use of vitamins lacks encouragement, there is promise in another direction—the sulfa drugs. Sulfaguanidine has been found helpful. Sulfathiazole, one of the faster acting sulfas, which has been used against dysentery in humans, also has been used successfully in calf scours treatment. In tests, a combination of sulfathiazole with kaolin and pectin was more effective than either sulfathiazole or sulfaguanidine alone.

Don't use binder twine for tying fleeces. Use paper twine instead. When binder twine is used pieces of the fiber break off and get into the wool. These fail to take color when dyed. Who loses? The sheepman.

Scientists Develop New Slow Fertilizer

A new, slow-acting nitrogen fertilizer which feeds crops over a long growing period has been developed by USDA soil scientists. The new product, a series of combinations of urea and formaldehyde, is called "unaforn." Since both principal components are in short supply, commercial production will be small for a short time. Early reports from field and greenhouse have been very satisfactory.

Serve Fruit Desserts for Meal Contrasts

Fruit Desserts

Food studies show that people do not get as many fruits in winter as in summer, and frequently this is thought to be a result of their lack of availability, but a good percentage of fruits available in their fresh form are canned, and thus made available for use.

Then, too, there are a number of fruits more available in the cooler months than during summer—apples are in their prime, and so are pears. Look to the citrus fruits, also, if you want particularly luscious fruits that are scarce in summer. Make good use of the dried fruits like prunes and apricots for they have excellent vitamin and mineral values.

This is the season to make full use of the canned fruits you stored during the warmer months. Serve them chilled with simple cookies for an easy dessert or make them into one of the many delectable puddings such as the following:

Deep Dish Plum Dessert (Serves 6)

- 3 cups canned plums
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 tablespoons butter

Pit and chop the plums. Pour with 1/4 cup of their juice into a greased shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with the spices and dot with butter. Cover with crust made as follows:

- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 6 tablespoons shortening
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons milk

Sift dry ingredients; cut in shortening. Add milk to make a soft dough. Roll dough to 1/4 inch thickness and make a few short slashes in it. Place over the fruit in the baking dish. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of sugar. Bake for 45 minutes in a preheated oven (400° F.) Serve warm.

Princess Custard (Serves 6)

- 2 large bananas, sliced
- 1 1/2 teaspoons orange rind, grated
- 6 tablespoons orange juice
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 2 egg whites
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 cup sweet crumbs (cake, cookie, graham cracker or vanilla wafer crumbs)

Combine bananas, orange rind and juice. In a double boiler, combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add milk gradually and cook until it thickens. Slowly stir into egg yolks. Cook until thick, 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from fire and fold in fruit mixture. Chill. Gradually add sugar to stiffly beaten egg whites, fold into custard. Place in sherbet glasses and sprinkle with crumbs.

LENN SAYS:

Save Food Dollars
By Using Everything Edible

Celery tops may be dried in the oven, then crushed to a powder and kept in a jar. They add a pungent flavor to soups, stews, casseroles, dressings and salads.

To increase the volume of egg whites, add a tablespoon of water before beating. Do not add more water than that. Slightly longer beating is required when water is added.

It is further agreed, in order to avoid danger to life and property, that the above privilege is granted on condition that no police or fire alarm wires or fixtures of the Town shall be placed on poles carrying electric light or power wires, nor shall said police or fire alarm wires or fixtures be exposed, without the consent of the Company to the danger of contact with any conductor carrying a voltage greater than the normal telephone voltage.

It is useless for us to attempt to define the causes that led to the panic that has just swept over the entire country. For to do so would be only to advertise our lack of information of the money situation. Yet a panic has come, and all know it and the Goddess of Liberty, displayed on our coins, has hidden her head. We will not attempt to explain the intricacies of money and its erratic qualities because our ability to do so would lead us out of the sphere of country newspaperdom.

Superintendent of public instruction J. E. Clark has distributed among the public schools of New Mexico $21,223.50, derived from the rentals of territorial lands. The distribution was made in accordance with the number of children of school age in each county, the school census just taken showing 84,984 boys and girls of school age in the territory. The rate per scholar was 25 cents. Lincoln County has 1,981 scholars, which gives the schools of this county $495.

A visitor from Carrizozo this week said the number of deer brought into Carrizozo weekly runs into two figures, but what becomes of them after they reach there he was unable to say. From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Is The Press "Free"?

Whenever I read about the controlled press they have in certain foreign countries—where truth is suppressed—I feel mighty proud of our free American press.

Of course, that word "free" doesn't mean completely uncontrolled. The press has its own Association with its own code of ethics—and is quick to warn any individual who oversteps the bounds of decency or honesty.

It's the same in many other industries—like the folks who make and sell beer. They have their own standards—and protect them vigilantly. The Brewers call it a "Self Regulation" Program whereby taverns getting out of line are warned, and reported to the right authorities for discipline if needed.

From where I sit, freedom is a great thing—but a responsibility, too. And in shouldering that responsibility, and keeping their own houses in order, the Brewers are protecting your and my right to enjoy a moderate beverage like beer.

(This is the third of a series on the men most talked about as candidates for the Republican presidential nomination.)

WASHINGTON.—When the bakers were down in Washington sweating out a grain conservation program for their industry, my friend from Minnesota, Harry W. Zinsmaster, who is what the personal column calls a "frequent visitor" in the capital, gave a little luncheon for his colleagues and some press and radio men.

We had finished eating and were gathered around to listen to the bakers' troubles when suddenly the door opened and 220 pounds of blond, smiling, political potentiality burst upon us.

Our host shouted a happy "Hello, Harold!" then turned and announced: "Gentlemen, the next President of the United States."

I daresay most Minnesota Republicans will say "aye" to that. What the rest of the country says is awaited with interest by the candidate.

I suppose I have had 50 people ask me about Harold Stassen. "Why hasn't Stassen a chance?" they query.

Most observers seem to agree that if he has a chance, it's a pretty slim one to date.

The reason is always the same: The professional politicians don't want him.

Not because he's a political "unknown." He could hardly be called that. Sure he took the job of county chairman at the age of 21. He was elected governor of Minnesota three times, could have been senator from that state, had he wanted the job.

In his case, it's not so much that he's a newcomer as it is the way he came up. That way is characteristic of his whole campaign, and two words describe it: "Lone wolf."

The situation favored Stassen when he forced his way into the gubernatorial race in 1938. Minnesota was in a bad way. There was vandalism and corruption, and the Farmer-Labor party, which had held a stiff grip on the state, was disintegrating through its own weakness and graft. Stassen entered the race against the wishes of the Republican Old Guard, but he eventually forced them to help him to some degree. It was largely his own efforts, however, that elected him.

In other words, "he butted into the governorship," according to old guard critics. Others say he did it merely as a stop to the presidency, and that it was part of his overweening ambition—the same thing they say about Governor Dewey of New York. But the old guard fears Stassen's type of ambition more than Dewey's. They fear it because they feel that should Stassen become president, he might build up a strong personal following and thus get a stranglehold on the Republican party.

Conventional candidates don't commit themselves too heavily. His supporters claim that Stassen is a middle-of-the-roader, a little to the left. But it is not too much his liberality to which the politicians object. I doubt if any practical politician expects us to turn back the clock. But in his highly unorthodox campaigning, Stassen has violated two rules.

One, by announcing himself early in the present campaign. Today he is the only official candidate for the presidential nomination.

Two, he has made and he repeats sharp criticism of the Republican program.

As Roscoe Drummond of the Christian Science Monitor puts it, "If they pick him to ride the elephant, they'll have to get a new elephant." Certainly, Stassen has hinted this was necessary when he said the Republican program must be more constructive, more dynamic. He doesn't consult with anybody else when he announces how to make it so. That's part of the lone-wolf complex.

He comes up from the soil with a dirt-farmer father. He worked his way through college. He has a good military record as deputy chief of staff to Admiral Halsey. He is younger than Dewey (Stassen is 39), and taller than Taft—a sandy-haired, slow-spoken and deliberate six-footer.

NOT FOR SISSIES . . . There was plenty of raw action during the girls' field hockey game between Bryn Mawr and Drexel Institute of Technology. Like when Doris Targinio (left) of Drexel slugged a hard one in an attempt to score a goal and the Bryn Mawr goalie stopped it.

NEWS REVIEW

Congress Will Convene; No Russia: Chile, Brazil

TRUMAN CALLS

Congress to Meet

Congress, summoned by President Truman, will convene in special session at noon, November 17, to deal with:

1. "The alarming and continuing" high prices at home and,
2. The pressing need for rapid-fire emergency need abroad.

President Truman's summoning of congress a month and a half before it normally would have reconvened marked a definite climax in U. S. domestic events for 1947. Although doubt existed for a long time as to whether a special session would be called to meet the two problems which have been screaming with urgency all year, it was the only really logical step to take.

Mr. Truman took it decisively. He conferred with his cabinet, and he conferred with key congressional leaders of both parties. He did not ask their advice on a special session; he informed them simply that he was calling one.

"It is urgently necessary," he said, "for the congress to take legislative action designed to put an end to the continued rise in prices . . . and to meet the crisis in Western Europe!"

Concerning prices, the President would not ask for consumer controls, but for authority for allocation of certain materials. European relief, scheduled to be given priority over the price muddle in congressional action, was highlighted by the growing desperation in France and Italy.

DENIAL:

No Force

James F. Byrnes, said James F. Byrnes somewhat angrily, and was in a patient man. Moreover, he did not advocate in his recently published memoirs, "Frankly Speaking," that force should be used, if necessary, to drive the Russians out of Germany.

The former U. S. secretary of state made that rebuttal after widely printed reviews of his book had stated that he was urging the building of more and bigger atomic bombs and the use of force against the recalcitrant Red army.

He reiterated his belief that the U. S., Great Britain and France should proceed with a general German peace conference, regardless of the Soviet Union's attitude. If the Russians refused to sign the treaty, then the other nations should appeal to the security council of the U. N. to order the Russians out because, Byrnes said, "we will then be facing a situation likely to endanger the peace."

He Ate Nails—and Stuff

When surgeons operated on James S. Payne, inmate of Kansas state prison, to remove a nail from his throat, they discovered that the man was virtually a perambulating junk shop.

Three and a half pounds of metal, including two complete safety razors without blades, was the loot the doctors recovered from Payne's case-hardened stomach. The convict, serving an arson term, gave no reason for his metallic diet.

THE BREAKS

Chile, Brazil Kiss Russia Good-By

Acting almost simultaneously, two South American nations—Brazil and Chile—curtly announced severance of diplomatic relations with Russia because, as they both implied, they couldn't stand it any longer.

Brazil, which beat Chile to the sun by a few hours in breaking relations, had the less valid reason for its action, on the surface, at least. Stated reason for the move was given as the "extremely outrageous and even calumnious" articles in the Russian press attacking Pres. Enrico Gaspar Dutra and the Brazilian army.

Russia's Literary Gazette had called Dutra an incompetent soldier and a Fascist. It was the same magazine that had compared President Truman with Hitler, to which the U. S. strongly objected but took no further action.

Chile, however, had a more deep-seated grievance. Communist infiltration in the nation's southern coal zone, leading to recent labor difficulties there, undoubtedly spurred the decision to sever relations.

Chilean Pres. Gabriel Gonzalez Videla previously had accused the Communists of planning to cripple Chile's production of copper, nitrates and other strategic materials and hamper defense of the western hemisphere and the United States. He also had announced his intention to "end once and for all" what he called Communist dictatorship over Chile's mine workers.

And in a burst of thoroughness, Chile also ended diplomatic relationships with Czechoslovakia.

If no other end is accomplished, the action by Brazil and Chile at least may answer the question of whether Communist penetration into a nation actually can be halted by breaking diplomatic relations with Russia.

Vandenberg Won't Fight

Early this year, according to credible authority, a secret poll was taken by Republican senators as to their informal, off-the-record preference for a presidential candidate. Sen. Arthur Hendrick Vandenberg of Michigan won it.

In the same month, the senator made a statement in a national magazine in which he said he thought it was easier to run for president than not to run. He explained how difficult it was to deny that one is a candidate, once the story got started. He mentioned the question of the "draft" and expressed an opinion similar to that of Roy Roberts Vandenberg of the Kansas City Star in connection with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower—namely, that there had never been a real "draft" in his day. Vandenberg said that, of course, no man would refuse the nomination if it were handed to him as an accomplished fact.

He concluded his remarks with this statement: "I am not a candidate. I do not expect or wish to be a candidate; I shall seek no convention delegates or approve of others in this behalf. I think my place of service is filling out my tenure in the senate."

Few men's stature has increased as Vandenberg's has as a result of his participation in international affairs. I think it is fair to say that Vandenberg not only made non-partisan foreign policy possible, but that his efforts in carrying out the non-partisan principle made a real foreign policy itself possible.

A part of Vandenberg's influence in the field of foreign affairs is due to the fact that he had the confidence of a wan-vert. He was once frankly an isolationist. Today he has converted many others, and I believe that no single man has done more than he to break down the provincial attitudes, especially in the Midwest, which before World War II prevented America from taking leadership in world affairs—leadership which might have postponed, if not entirely prevented, the war.

I do not believe that he is actually eliminated from the nomination, but we can be certain he will not fight for the job. He had the high vote at the Republican convention of 1940 when the Wilkie blitz struck.

Vandenberg's support of bi-partisan policy doesn't mean that he gives a blank check to the administration. He favors the Marshall plan and aid to Greece and Turkey, but he refused to recognize that aid as the "Truman Doctrine," insisting it was not a doctrine at all.

FARM DISASTER LOOMS

Rain Is Needed To Save Wheat

Serious cuts in meat production and wheat selling for $5 a bushel may be in prospect if rains do not relieve the serious drought plaguing the country's vast wheat fields from Texas to the Canadian border, a survey discloses.

A dry summer and below normal rains this autumn have delayed wheat seeding, kept planted wheat from germinating properly and forced farmers to "dust in" their grain in a manner reminiscent of the dust bowl days of the 1930s, crop experts report.

In addition to the damage to the plantings of winter wheat, farmers have not been able to use their wheat grounds for grazing, and millions of animals usually fattened on wheat during the fall either will move to market at lighter weights or without the fattening benefits of the wheat fields.

The Texas Panhandle, whose thousands of acres normally provide both grain and cattle pasture, has little topsoil moisture and only a scant supply of subsoil moisture. Texas cattlemen estimated that the state would have only 20 to 25 per cent of the normal pastureage this winter.

Crop experts in Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska have reported a serious danger of heavy winter kill this year. The wheat needs a moist, well packed soil to survive. The dust in which the grain now is being planted is little protection from the freezing and thawing weather which will leave the young seedlings from the ground.

Moreover, grain dealers and cattlemen have predicted that wheat would soar to $8 a bushel unless the drought is relieved immediately. The price of wheat now is above $3, and a serious shortage next year, plus the heavy demand, will send it even higher, they said.

This year, livestock men say, there will be practically no pasturing, and many farmers are reported to be liquidating their herds rather than attempt to carry them without pasture on high-priced feeds.
