VETERANS' NEWS

Carl R. Gray Jr., in his first official act as administrator of veteran affairs, named Dr. Paul R. Hawley as his special assistant.

Dr. Hawley resigned recently as head of the VA department of medicine and surgery under Gen. Omar N. Bradley, who left VA to become Army chief of staff. Gray said he would not name a successor to Dr. Hawley at present and that the program set up by Dr. Hawley would be continued by his staff.

"Dr. Hawley has the confidence of the medical profession," Gray said. "He has the complete understanding of the veterans' needs. I am grateful that he has arranged his affairs so that he is available to assist me in carrying out the fine program which he has been directing."

The new administrator said he plans to study the VA insurance system. Based on that study, he promised to establish an insurance system which will give the best service to veterans. He explained that he saw nothing different about VA insurance business except the volume.

"I accept this job with an open mind," Gray stated. "I come to it with no preconceived notions. I expect to make mistakes. When mistakes are made, they will be acknowledged candidly and corrected promptly. When improvement is possible, I shall be prompt in taking necessary action, and prompt in informing the public of the reason for such action."

Hospital attendants are needed at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Fort Logan, Colo. Beginning salary is $1,822 per year, plus overtime pay for all overtime in excess of 40 hours per week. SCRIPTURE: Isaiah 40:28-31; Matthew 6:9; John 14:8-14; Acts 17:22-31; DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 33.

What We Know of God.

Lesson for January 11, 1948

THE Scripture for Sunday's lesson is (Isaiah 40:28-31; Matthew 6:9; John 14:8-14, and Acts 17:22-31, with Psalm 33 as the devotional reading.

Dr. Newton

"Hast thou not known? Hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the 'Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? There is no searching of his understanding. He giveth power to the faint, and to them that have no might he increaseth strength. They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

That is the passage from Isaiah. What a promise! In this hour when men are bending beneath the burden of a war-weary world, how it gives lift to one's soul to contemplate the words of this great and blessed promise.

God Our Maker
"HE GIVES to all men life, and breath and everything," Acts 17:25. One of our daily prayers should be to thank God that he has let us open our eyes to the beauty of another dawn. We must not take it for granted. It is the goodness and mercy of God that permits us to open our eyes, to breathe, to have food, to think. He gives us life and breath and everything.

And He is Our Father
NOT only is God the Creator and Sustainer of the physical universe; but he is also our Father. He knows us each by name. He cares for the sparrows, simply because they are sparrows. He cares for us because we are his children, made in his image, capable of fellowship with him. The end of man, as the Catechism clearly teaches, is to enjoy God and glorify him forever.

Show Us the Father.
READ again John 14:8-14, and join with Philip in the prayer, "Show us the Father." Jesus answered Philip, saying, "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father." We come to know God as Father through Jesus Christ, and only through Jesus Christ.

Jesus goes on to say to Philip, "If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it." The greatest need of our day and generation is a fresh understanding of God—his nature and his will. We can know him through Jesus Christ. And we come to know him through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Enoch walked with God. Abraham was the friend of God. David was a man after God's own heart. And Jesus came to perfectly reveal the Father. The determining factor in knowing God as Father is our willingness to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Belief in God Today
THE Bible is a Book for today—any day, every day. It reveals the purpose of creation, both of the universe and man himself. It reveals the loving concern of God for every soul. It portrays his forbearance and his mercy and his exceeding kindness, even to sinful men and women who reject his love.

Best of all, the Bible tells us the sweetest story ever told—the story of how God gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

Religion, the Christian religion, is the most practical proposition in the world. Every man is constantly in reach of God; if only he will believe on the Lord Jesus Christ. God is yonder in the loneliest watchtower of the storm-tossed ship at sea. He is everywhere, waiting to own and bless any and all who will come to him through Jesus Christ.

'Biff' Tells a Love Story
 By Gene Brockhaven

PICKING his way slowly through the massed humanity crowding toward the exits, Matt Walsh, sports writer, pondered the sensational ending of the ring battle he had just witnessed. He was blase about quick knockouts—he had seen many of them and undoubtedly would see many more. But he still thrilled to the brilliant—if boxing skill could be called that—and masterful job turned in by Spot Mathers.

Well, here was a new champion and Walsh felt he should know more about the boy. Something of his personal life.
 It was after midnight when he reached the hotel at which the new champion and his entourage were stopping. At the door of the Mathers' suite he was halted by a blast of noise—the victory celebration. The big living room was a bedlam. Walsh glanced about the room but saw no sign of Mathers. He sought out the boy's manager, Pete Miley, busy in the role of lavish host.

"Mathers? Just went down the hall to room 1117," Miley answered his question. "Go on down and see him."
 Walsh did. The door was slightly ajar. He tapped lightly, waited, then tapped again. When there was no response he opened the door and peered in. He stepped back, closing the door softly. Mmm-m, that tableau was something unexpected and unusual on victory night in the fight racket. Young Mathers, his arm around a dark-haired girl—a sleeping baby tucked in carefully between pillows at the head of the bed. This was no time to break in for an interview, so Walsh returned to the other room. He managed there to corral Biff Jones, old-timer in the ring business and Mathers' trainer.

"Biff," said Walsh, "how about some dope on the new champion? And what about that gal and baby down the hall? Let's go some place where we can talk."
 "Okay. This party's slowing down anyways."
 They went down to the hotel grill and found a table in the corner of the room.
 "Now, tell me about Mathers. What kind of a guy is he?"
 "Sure, I can tell you lots about that kid and about his wife and baby, too. I like 'em, all three of 'em, and I'd like to tell their story. But I gotta tell it my way." Biff blinked at Walsh.

"All right—tell it."
 "Well, it begins some two years ago," Biff began. "Me and Pete Miley is sittin' in Pete's office gabbing about nothin' much when in walks a cocky, good lookin' kid. He's got a letter for Pete from some guy down south. He walks up to Pete, ignorin' me, and says: 'You Pete Miley? This is for you.' Pete takes the letter, reads it and looks up at the kid and soon he hands him a snit.

"So, you're a fighter, eh?" Pete says.
 "'Yeah, and good one,' says the kid."
 "Come on, Biff, get on with it," interrupted Walsh impatiently.
 "'As I was sayin'," Biff continued, "the kid says, 'I gotta get a fight right away. We gotta eat.'"
 "Pete says, 'We, who's we?'"
 "'Me and Sally,' the kid says, and goes on talkin' about him and his wife comin' up to New York to pick up some of the big fightin' sugar they been readin' about. They come up in a old jalopy, the kid says, and now the dough's run out. Pete says to the kid what's his full name and the kid says, without battin' an eye, 'Spottingham T. Mathers,' and looks at the both of us like darin' us to laugh. Pete kinda grins but he aint laughin' out loud. I could see Pete's takin' a likin' to the kid and soon he hands him a snit.

 "Pete tells the kid to go out and buy him and Sally a big steak and to come around tomorrow with his fightin' togs and he'll see what the kid's got. I go to the gym with them next day and Pete sticks the kid in there with a old warhorse named Battala. The kid, considerin' he aint been eatin' so good, does okay and Pete holds him.

"We get our first peek at Sally when Pete moves her and the kid over to Pete's hotel. Pete tells the kid to go to the gym a few days and for me to work with him.
 "Well, as I says, we get our first peek at Sally, and boy, she's somethin'! She aint got ony looks but she's got somethin' else I don't know what. Anyways, I go for Sally big—don't get me wrong, mister, my courin' days is long gone—she's a nice kid. Well, them two kids, eatin' regular again with Pete payin', bloom like a coupla hot house flowers put out in the sun. Soon Pete spots the kid in a four-round prelim at St. Nicks and the kid comes through with a quick kayo. O'course he knocks over a bum, but we like the way he does it. 'It aint long before the kid's moved up to semi-finals and then final spots, because, as I says, he's good. Him and Sally is livin' on their own now because Pete's been pullin' down some good pots for him and I know personal that Pete aint takin' any cut, leastwise not much. He likes them kids, specially Sally, like everybody does. But let me tell you, this Sally aint no eye-waver. She's stuck on Spot and don't make no bones about it. But that Spot, now, he's got a bit of a povin' eye, and like I told you, he's a cocky punk and he aint against steppin' once in a while, now the dough's comin' in. But I guess when a kid's 21 he gets to thinkin' he's really somethin' special.

 "Well, them once-in-a-while-steppin's begin to get quite frequent and many's the night I find myself keepin' Sally company on lonely nights when that milk-sop is sown a few oats. I feel sorry for Sally, and I tell her it's just like a case of the

 One of the oldest and most unusual laws in this country has been on the books of Massachusetts since 1636. It was passed after the Bay Colony had banished Roger Williams for his religious views and he and a few of his followers had founded the first settlement in Rhode Island. Still unrepealed, the statute imposes the death penalty on any Rhode Islander caught in Massachusetts.

Uncle Sam Says What did the Secretary of the State of Wyoming say to the Banking Commissioner when they met in Cheyenne in 1937? "I'd like to find a plan to assure a comfortable retirement for myself and my family," said the Secretary of State. "Why don't you do what I am doing, buy Savings Bonds regularly out of income?" his friend replied. Today they have begun the second 10 years of their retirement plan. The then Secretary of State is now Governor Lester O. Hunt, and the former Banking Commissioner is the present director of Savings Bonds sales. You, too, can emulate their example. If you invest $18.75 each month in a Series E Savings Bond of $25 maturity value over a period of 20 years and hold ALL the bonds to maturity you will receive an average yearly income of $700 for the ten years following.

NEW MEXICO GAINS 2.94% POPULATION IN A ONE YEAR PERIOD (1946 - 1947) After an exhaustive population study of the State, the University of New Mexico Bureau of Business Research has arrived at quite reliable estimates with a gain of 119,482 residents in the seven years (1940-1947) for an increase of 22.47 per cent and 18,600 gain in the period of one year (1946 to 1947) for an increase of 2.94%, announced Ralph L. Edgel, Bureau director.

The study, says Edgel, places the State's total population at the end of 1947 at 661,880 and 632,700 in 1946 as compared with the 1940 Government Census figures of 531,818. Of the 31 counties in New Mexico only 15 showed an increase in both periods, said Edgel. Harding, Mora, Sierra and Torrance Counties are the only ones to show a decrease in the same two periods. Two Counties, De Baca and Guadalupe, are the only ones to show no change in residents from 1946 to 1947. Tabulation figures on Lincoln County shows 1947 population as 9,300; 1946 as 8,700; 1940 as 8,357; per centage of change 1946 to 1947 plus 6.90 1947 and 1940 plus 8.68.

Yes, it's all new, with the latest Buick engine features you read about—like precision cylinder boring, Oil-Miser rings, Stratoflow cooling and so on.

How much does it cost? Not nearly what you'd expect—often less than a comprehensive overhaul. And it's a mighty good investment because it makes your car worth so much more when it comes time to turn it in.

Even if your Buick dates back as far as 1937, you can have a hoodful of factory-fresh Fireball power—a sleek new power plant that's the same as the engines going into the latest Buick cars.

You can get a new engine like this because engine production is not held back by the shortage of sheet steel which limits complete-car production.

Nice proposition, isn't it? Surely worth talking over. Won't you come in and let us give you all the details?

Everything about it is brand-new. A new carburetor and air cleaner help make every drop of fuel give up all its power. A new distributor, complete with vacuum and centrifugal advance, puts new snap in your get-away and new pep in all driving. A whole new wiring harness prevents electrical loss. And tucked in the flywheel housing is a new smoothie of a clutch that'll make driving more fun than ever.

Take time to save time

Have you ever mapped—with pins and thread, or with pencil on paper—the daily "chore route" of your farm or ranch? Have you figured how much back-tracking you do, how many unnecessary extra steps you walk in a day? Have you taken time to save time, and steps, and labor?

A number of agricultural colleges and experiment stations have made practical work studies on farms and ranches, with some astounding results. For example, one dairy farmer (who thought himself pretty efficient) adopted improved machine milking techniques, rearranged his barn to save steps and time in feeding and watering. He saved himself two miles of walking per day, cut his daily chore time by two hours and five minutes. That's 730 miles of walking and 760 hours of work in a year. In making the changes, he spent less than $50.

Indiana tells of farmers who, by planning their work, are raising hogs with one quarter their former hours of labor. . . There's a report of men making hay in 90 man-minutes per ton; while others using similar equipment—but older, harder ways of working—spend twice that time. . . There are scores of other examples.

Perhaps you cannot make such great savings in your operations. Maybe you can make more. It's certainly worth looking into, for even little savings are important. Five steps saved a day makes a mile in a year. Five minutes a day gives you three extra days a year.

There's no master plan to fit every farm and ranch, because no two are exactly the same. You have to work out your own plan of improvement. But the time it takes may well be the most profitable time you've ever spent.

A four-step scheme is suggested. First, consider each job or chore separately. Break it down into its parts. Check each part with a watch or tape measure and see if steps or time can be saved. Second, compare your work methods with those of your neighbors. Third, examine and check the details of your work methods. Fourth, develop and apply the new method. In a nutshell, "Plan your work and work your plan."

Time studies and job analysis have helped Swift & Company increase efficiency and make important savings. That's why we so confidently suggest similar studies in your operations. One excellent bulletin on the subject is Number 307, published by Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana. It's interesting reading and well worth writing for. Your county agent or state agricultural college can tell of other bulletins on the same subject.

OUR CITY COUSIN

City Cousin cannot see Why "you" is spelled E-W-E. Neither can we!

Farmer's Choice—When I was in high school, I spent a summer vacation on my grandfather's farm in Indiana. From my city-bred standpoint, he seemed a particularly dull and unworldly life. Rising before dawn and working till after dark, with little or no opportunity for urban pleasures, he was an object of pity to my adolescent eyes. Why didn't he sell his farm and move to town? How did he ever get into this rut in the first place? "Grandpa," I asked one evening at milking time, "Why did you become a farmer, anyway?" He paused a moment, leaned back on his stool and looked slowly around the barn—at the livestock, at the huge haystack in the east corner, at the farm tools, at the horse barn that supported the roof. What did I expect to reassure him, and I shan't forget his answer: "Just lucky, I guess."

Controlling Roundworm in Sheep

by Walter Armer, University of Arizona

The control of roundworm on sheep ranches has been successfully tested by Dr. W. J. Piator, University of Arizona Animal Pathologist. It consists of feeding a mixture of 1 part phenothiazine with 9 parts of ordinary granular salt. Roundworm, a serious plague, especially to sheep grazed on irrigated pastures, can be checked by phenothiazine and salt. Of course, it is not a cure-all. Badly infected sheep may still have to be drenched. But feeding the mixture throughout the pasture period will prevent the worm population from reaching the dangerous level in the majority of cases.

Phenothiazine, alone, is but one of a number of drugs known to aid in controlling roundworm in livestock. But during World War II, animal husbandmen discovered its effectiveness was greatly heightened when used with salt and fed throughout the pasture season.

Experiments begun in 1943 with sheep grazing on irrigated pastures in Arizona proved the remarkable value of the new mixture. It resulted in cutting down loss of sheep and in marketing lambs in better condition. Today a high percentage of sheep on Arizona farm lands receive the 1-9 phenothiazine and salt mixture.

This new treatment is economical as well as effective. It practically eliminates the necessity of drenching each animal individually to control roundworms—a costly and possibly dangerous practice.

Track Down the Facts

A great family "man" is Fiber Zibethicus, better known to American farmers as the muskrat. He raises his many offspring in marshes, and about streams, lakes and ponds. Muskrat tracks are easily recognized by the drag of his knife-like tail, which shows up well in soft mud.

The muskrat-trapper works hard to make a living out of muskrat skins, and generally his efforts are rewarded. But there is one fact about his business that he tracked down long ago. He knows the price he can get for muskrat skins depends on the popular demand for finished pelts.

In the business of processing livestock into meat for people's use, we at Swift & Company have to keep track of the demand for meat everywhere in the nation. We must know, too, the weights and grades of cuts preferred by housewives. Experience has taught us that the price the producers receive for their livestock is governed by what the meat packers can get for the meat and by-products.

The American Way

In the livestock-meat industry, as in all American business, profit provides the basic incentive for work, enterprise and action. Profit makes the mare go for livestock producers, meat packers and retailers. The little profit by one section creates an imbalance in the industry. If one part of the livestock-meat industry suffers continued loss, all of us are hurt in the long run.

However, a margin of profit fair to one section of the livestock-meat industry might be quite unfair to another. For instance, we at Swift & Company know perfectly well that both livestock producers and retailers require a higher margin of profit, because of their relatively small volume. On the other hand, nationwide meat packers must build up a tremendous volume of sales to make up for a very small margin of profit per unit—a margin that has been consistently lower than that earned by any other manufacturing industry in America.

Over a period of years, Swift & Company has earned, on the average, less than two cents on each dollar of sales (a fraction of a cent per pound of product handled). Over the same period, the average amount returned to producers for agricultural raw materials, including livestock, wool and hides, has been 75 cents out of each dollar we received. This is not a profit. Out of this 75 cents, producers must pay the cost of production.

Whether livestock prices are high or low or whether meat is high-priced or inexpensive—Swift & Company can earn a reasonable profit only by adding together many tiny savings on a large volume of business.

First of a projected series of courses in speech re-education, the reading "problems" course will be presented Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, with class time set from 4 to 5:30 p. m., to enable teachers and other working persons to participate. Miss Lois Law, instructor in speech, who has done considerable work with reading problems, will conduct the course.

TUBELESS TIRES RECEIVED IN ALBUQUERQUE

A demonstrator's set of tubeless tires, latest development of the rubber industry, has been received recently at the Byggl-Cornelius Company, 1500 North Second St., Albuquerque, distributors of B. F. Goodrich products.

Latest innovation in the production of modern tires, the Seal-O-matic tire requires no tube, and is mounted directly to the wheel rim, by means of three leak-proof beads already on the tire itself. The valve stem is fastened to the rim, and operation of the tire, re-filling with air, and other procedures are identical with tubed-tire maintenance.

The new tubeless tire is filled with a self-sealing fluid which makes the tire virtually puncture-proof and blowout proof. Wearing qualities have been found equal to those of tubed tires, with many of the dangers of tube-tire operation eliminated.

Today's Forgotten Man Quit Advertising Yesterday

The theory that a cold room can be made "warm" without adding heat was put to test recently with surprising results. Originally the room shown here gave an impression of coldness due to its northern exposure and the "coolness" of its blue and white wallpaper.

Taking advantage of color "temperature" — the psychological effect different colors have on the human nervous system — a coat of rose Kem-Tone was applied directly over the wallpaper. Since rose is a "warm" color, related to the warm rays of the sun, it succeeded in taking the chill off the room and will help make it appear several degrees warmer this winter.

Don't Forget Salads in Winter Meals
(See recipes below.)

Cold Weather Salads

Just because you don't have a garden full of green things outside your window is no reason for you to neglect salads in cool weather meals. Actually there's an abundance of material on the market for refreshing and delightful salads. We like to recommend salads because they add texture and contrast to the meal, but most important of all, because many fresh and uncooked foods may be combined into them. And why is it so important to have fresh things? Because the vitamin and mineral riches are not cooked out of them, and we need them more than ever in winter.

You can add bits of meat and cheese to vegetable salads and serve them with a piping hot cup of soup, and your lunch, for example, will be complete and well balanced.

Luncheon Salad.
(Serves 6 to 8)
1 cup green beans, cooked or canned
1 cup carrot strips, cooked
1 cup celery strips
1/4 cup french dressing
2 hard-cooked eggs
1 head of lettuce
1 cup ham, cut in strips
Marinate green beans, carrots and celery for one hour. Slice hard-cooked eggs on bed of lettuce with vegetables. Sprinkle with slivers of ham and serve.

Sauerkraut and Beet Salad.
(Serves 6 to 8)
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
2 cups sauerkraut, chopped
1 cup beets, cooked and cubed
Soak gelatin in cold water. Drain sauerkraut and save juice. Add enough water to make 1 1/2 cups. Heat and add to dissolved gelatin. Add sauerkraut and beets. Pour into molds rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm and unmold on salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise.

Mixed Vegetable Salad.
(Serves 6 to 8)
1 cup cooked peas
1 cup cauliflower, cooked
1 cup green beans, cooked
1/2 cup french dressing
5 to 8 lettuce cups
1 1/2 teaspoons anchovies
Marinate vegetables in french dressing. Toss in anchovies and mix lightly. Fill lettuce cups and garnish with radishes and spinach leaves, if desired.

Here are other vegetable salad combinations you'll find handy for quick reference these days:
Shredded carrots, chopped celery, sliced apples and preserved ginger.
Grated carrots, sliced celery, cooked lima beans and a dash of onion juice.
Cabbage, celery and green stuffed olives.
Green beans, cooked, with sliced hard-cooked eggs and strips of pineapple.
Lima beans, cooked and marinated, serve with tomato slices.

Shredded cabbage, apples and raisins.
The fruit salad parade for winter is just as exciting and colorful as that of vegetables. Start off with...

LYNN SAYS:

Have Vitamin Values With These Tips
When cooking vegetables, cook quickly, cover tightly, use little water and then serve immediately.
Never let cheese get too moist during storage or it will become moldy. Never cook it too rapidly or it will become stringy.
Refrigerate and cover foods in which you have milk to prevent souring, vitamin loss and the odors absorbing from other foods.

binding shrimp with apples for a nice luncheon dish:

Shrimp-Apple Salad.
(Serves 6)
2 hard-cooked eggs
1 can shrimp, sliced
2 tart apples, sliced
1 green pepper, sliced
3 stuffed olives, sliced
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Crisp lettuce
Paprika

Combine shrimp, eggs, apple, green pepper and olives with lemon juice and mayonnaise. Serve in crisp lettuce cups, garnished with a dash of paprika.

Cranberry-Fruit Salad.
(Serves 4 or 5)
1 tablespoon gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
1 1/2 cups hot cranberry jelly, strained
2 bananas, sliced
2 oranges, sliced
1/4 cup walnuts, chopped
Lettuce
Salad dressing or mayonnaise
Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve in strained cranberry juice. Cool and place in refrigerator. When slightly thickened, fold in bananas and oranges. Pour into molds. Chill until firm, then unmold on lettuce and serve with dressing.

Here are two elegant salads for entertaining at your next afternoon social. The frozen ones may be made ahead of time to save last minute work. Serve them with sandwiches or cookies and a beverage, and you have delightful refreshments simply made.

Frozen Fruit Delight.
(Serves 6 to 8)
2 ounces cream cheese
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup pineapple juice
1/2 cup crushed pineapple
2 medium bananas, sliced
1/2 cup walnuts, chopped
1/2 cup maraschino cherries, chopped
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Blend together cream, salt, mayonnaise and lemon juice. Add the pineapple, bananas and walnuts. Fold in cherries and whipped cream. Pour into refrigerator tray and freeze until firm. Serve on bed of greens.

Brazilian Salad.
(Serves 4)
1/2 cup red grapes, seeded and halved
1/2 cup sliced pineapple
1/2 cup apple slices
1/2 cup celery, sliced
1/2 cup white cherries, seeded
2 tablespoons Brazil nuts, chopped
Lemon juice
Mayonnaise
Mix all ingredients and toss with lemon juice, then mayonnaise. Serve on lettuce.

Fats should be heated carefully, avoiding smoking. Smoked fats lose food value as well as tending to become rancid more readily.
Milk should be purchased according to each day's needs. Store it immediately, never letting it stand in the sun, as this will destroy the vitamins.
Buy flour, bread and cereals that have been enriched. This means that some of the vitamins and minerals lost in the milling or refining have been restored.

SMALL TOWNS, U. S. A.

Rural America Is on Threshold Of Many Revolutionary Changes

By EARLE HITCH
Released by WNU Features

(Editor's Note: First in a series of articles on the vital problems and opportunities of small town and rural America.)

Almost like clicking a switch, rural America has been snapped into a new age. It is the era of big-scale, scientific agricultural production. Farming is undergoing revolutionary changes. As a consequence there is a shifting and shuffling in rural occupations. The new farming demands fewer workers. But it wants more mechanical skills, more capital and more business brains.

Industry is decentralizing. Branches of big plants are getting away from the congestion of cities. More small shops and mills are springing up in rural environments. This, too, is changing the character of rural employment. As machines displace labor in farming, new rural occupations will have to be created. Otherwise local population losses are inevitable.

Hence the people who live in the country today need, and will have, a new kind of community. The new community must be more than a place for trade. It must be the civic center of the whole country round about, as much devoted to matters of health, recreation and social good, as to matters of business.

New Outlook Demanded. To keep pace with these changing conditions, the small towns will have to get new shapes and new outlooks. They will have to adapt to the needs of their particular surroundings. They need re-designing to make their activities suited to the new rural life that is developing.

The country itself is becoming "cliffed." That is, country people are as style conscious and as socially alert as city people. They have new expectations of their towns. Thus the towns must reconsider their reasons for being. The towns that recognize this will find ways for more community usefulness. Those that act boldly and with imagination are going to be heard from.

These are the conclusions of those who are watching the trends over rural America. That is why the years just ahead promise to be an era of activity in rural community planning.

For the small towns which bestir themselves a bright and larger future is in prospect. Now, for the first time since the automobile and the smooth highway switched trade to the city, the rural communities have a chance to "come back." They need not be content with obsolescence. What they need is to come alive, to shake themselves and take hope.

That's the opinion of leaders in the rural life movement, among whom are Eugene Smathers, who has developed a model plan at Big Lick, Tenn.; Dr. Baker Brownell, who directed the Montana rural study for Rockefeller foundation; O. E. Baker, social scientist of University of Maryland, and Monsignor L. G. Ligutti, secretary of National Catholic Rural Life conference.

Pioneer in Program. Important pioneering has been done in rural community reorganization. The lead in actually demonstrating what can be done has been taken by the Catholic and Protestant churches, which have established missions for social work in several rural communities, and by the American Friends Service committee, which has community projects in Pennsylvania and South Carolina. Surveys and studies have been made by Rockefeller foundation, by various farm bureau federations, the farmers' union, the national grange, some of the agricultural colleges and the U. S. department of agriculture.

Taken together, these surveys and inquiries show what is needed and practical ways to go about filling the needs.

Navy to Close Historic Arms Dump

IONA ISLAND, N. Y. — After 47 years as a prime link in the chain of American sea defense, Iona island, nestled in the scenic land of Rip van Winkle, goes on the shelf. The navy has offered its ammunition dump on the island for rent, preferably for conversion to manufacturing, laboratory or institutional use.
The island's 123 acres do not permit further expansion and modern safety requirements in the handling of high explosives are difficult to maintain here, the navy explained in announcing the rental proposal.
The most stirring chapters in the little island's history were written during the two world wars, when the ammunition dump provided shells and other weapon fodder for navy vessels, merchant ships, overseas bases and shore stations.

At the heart of every Christian church are the small groups who meet for Bible study and prayer. Such a Bible Study Group meets each Sunday at 5:30 at Trinity. This Sunday, Mrs. Alice King leads the discussion of Romans 4.

A smaller group of young people met Wednesday night to discuss "The Stewardship of Human Resources". It began with the comment, "Sounds Dull". It closed, for some at least, with a new approach to life's purpose.

The Youth Fellowship will install officers at the church Sunday, after the "March of Dimes Party" (at the Woman's Club, 7 p. m.) The new officers will meet together earlier Sunday afternoon.

Seven persons have said they wanted to subscribe to the Christian Advocate, ($5.00 for 52 issues). Lets have 20 subscriptions to send in next Tuesday.

Sunday, the choir will sing, "Sweeter All the Way". The sermon "A Christian Approach to Communism".

Today's thought: "Bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you."

Capitan Methodist Church

Rev. F. J. Johnston, Pastor

Jesus once asked an inquiring lawyer, "How readest thou?" An Ethiopian eunuch found peace and hope by reading the Old Testament. While the great Apostle in counselling the young Timothy exhorted that he "give attention to reading." John Wesley, an out-standing man of his day and the founder of the Methodist church always carried a few good books and read almost incessantly. Neglect of good reading is taking its toll on American life, in the home, the church and the community. In some churches and communities very little is being done about the development of cultural and spiritual reading.

I once heard of an Irishman who was asked by the judge what he had read recently; answer, "I have red hairs on my neck, your Honor." "How readest thou?" will be my topic next Sunday. It is a question of more than casual consideration. Everybody welcomed.

A Speech Was Made

A letter came to my desk a few weeks ago containing one paragraph that astonished me. It read: "At the church conference held in this southern district a speech was made against the profit motive." That any American group, particularly a religious group, should raise its voice against the profit motive struck me as amazing.

To get rid of the profit motive, you would have to find some substitute for economics in modern civilization. You would have to eliminate all trading and marketing, buying and selling. You would have to get rid of money and other mediums of exchange. You would have to cease bartering and swapping. In fact, you would have to reduce your modern civilization to self-sufficiency of the individual.

Only Two Ways
A modern and complicated civilization like our own could not do without trade, exchange, manufacturing, raw materials and production. You just have to ask more than it cost you. That is what profit means. And without the profit motive, trade and commerce would die.

There are only two ways that an economy may operate. In America individuals own farms, stores, factories, and run them for the chief purpose of making enough profit to live on. The other way is for government to own everything, operating all production merely for the purpose of feeding the people and supplying what it thinks are their needs.

Compare the Two!
The profit motive is the very foundation of our American way of life. It is the constitutional way in our country. It has produced more enthusiasm, fier cooperation, and a greater abundance of clothing, food, housing, and transportation than the masses of the people have ever known in any other country.

The other kind of economy, owned and operated by the government, attempts to do away with the profit motive. Actually, it does away with incentives, individual initiative, and efficiency. This kind of economy soon settles down to a "what's-the-use" status, offering only the barest necessities to its people. Russia is a good example of this. Russia has attempted to substitute other enthusiasms for those of owning property and making profit, but she has found that whenever she wanted increased industrial output she had to limit some of the incentives that are so common in America.

Advances America?
The very concepts of freedom of the individual spring from the Bible. Therein you will find the foundation for the freedom and liberties that America has built upon. I am unable to explain why church leaders are willing to attack the profit motive. To do so indicates tremendous misunderstanding of the American way of life, of our constitutional government, and the freedom of the individual.
