Carrizozo Business Men's Club Meet

Wednesday evening at the Southern Pacific Hotel the Carrizozo Business Men's Club held a regular meeting with President L. A. Whitaker presiding.

Mr. J. G. Moore was elected to membership.

Mr. Carl Ness of Fort Stanton was on hand and demonstrated a highway sign that the Captain Chamber of Commerce is interested in and are working toward the erecting of the sign.

A report was given on the Alamogordo meeting of Highway 54 Association by Messrs. Roy Shafer and F. A. English.

Mr. Omer Spurlock presented the entertainment portion of the program with a demonstration of a slide projector used with visual aid work in teaching.

PERU SEEKS GI STUDENTS

The school of Inter-American Affairs, University of New Mexico, has just been advised by the American Embassy in Lima, Peru that many Peruvian universities are encouraging veterans to study there. San Marcos University in Lima has made arrangement to grant an equivalent to the American A. B. after one year's study there by U. S. students who hold an A. B. in this country. Credits can also be accumulated towards the Master Degree and for the Ph. D. for those who remain two years.

According to Eugene Delgado-Arias, Public Affairs Officer at the Embassy, $75.00 per month will cover everything in Lima. In the provincial universities, apartments can be had for $20.00 (U. S.) per month, other prices correspondingly low, and the G. I. student can live "in great comfort" on $65.00 (U. S.) monthly.

"Peru is the largest archaeological center in the Americas, not even barring Mexico, and unlike Mexico it has not been overrun by the prying and superficial tourist," says Mr. Delgado.

Special summer school programs are being set up by the universities, while the regular academic year runs from April 1 through December 24. It is felt that the G. I. allowances will go further in Peru than in any other place, and the Embassy at Lima as well as the Peruvian Tourist Corporation are all anxious to assist fully any prospective American students desirous of going to Peru. Further information a catalog from the University of San Marcos, and information on travel costs can be obtained at the School of Inter-American Affairs.

Attorney John E. Hall of Albuquerque was here this week to attend the opening session of District Court.

Baron J. V. Aurienima

In the death of Baron J. V. Aurienima last week the Salvation Army lost a loyal worker, supporter and friend. For twenty five years he had been coming here at regular intervals as financial representative and solicitor for that great and helpful organization. He was friendly and always took a little time out for the social side of life. After a hard drive over the county he and members of his committee would relax and entertain a crowd of friends at the country Club with one of his delightful spaghetti dinners.

He was frequently called "Happy Jim" and the "Baron".

He sang at the schools all over the county and at all public gatherings. Locally everyone was his friend.

He was a god-son of King Victor Emanuel II of Italy. He came to the United States when young; was in the first World War. After the war was over and he returned to the United States he became associated with the Salvation Army and probably was one of their most successful collectors.

He was ill in a hospital from February 11th until death claimed him. He is survived by three brothers and one sister, Mrs. Beck of Detroit Mich. Brothers are: Francis of New York; Ernest, Providence, Rhode Island; Frank, Holbrook, Arizona.

Funeral and interment were in Albuquerque Thursday of last week.

VETERAN NEWS

Medical records of more than 100,000 ill and disabled World War II veterans will be used to aid researchers in their efforts to discover the causes and cures of little-known diseases and unusual injuries, according to Dr. Paul B. Magnuson, chief medical director of the Veterans Administration.

Object of the program is to analyze the medical records of such veterans. Through study of the history of their ailments and of medical treatment given, an attempt will be made to arrive at sound medical conclusions and recommendations for the care of others who might incur these same disabilities. This work is being accomplished in cooperation with the committee on Veterans Medical Problems of the National Research Council, National Academy of Sciences. Some studies will be conducted in V A hospitals by V A physicians or by accredited representatives of the National Research Council. Others will be carried on in medical schools of outstanding universities.

V A doctors and artificial limb manufacturers from eight western states have completed a series of training courses in Denver in the fitting and manufacture of a new suction type leg. The suction-socket leg, which eliminates straps, stump socks and liners, must be fitted under close medical supervision, and VA is instructing both its own doctors and limb manufacturers. Only firms which take the course will be approved by the V A to manufacture the leg.

VA is holding $3,500,000 in National Service Life Insurance premiums and attempting to credit them to the proper accounts. This situation developed because many veterans have sent in premiums without sufficient identification. Harold W. Breining, VA insurance chief, advises veterans to observe these rules:

1. In mailing premiums, use the return address envelope sent out by VA. Only about 60 per cent of the policyholders now do this.
2. Be sure to fill out the change-or-address section every time you move.
3. Make doubly certain that the name and address of the insured is included, along with the policy number if possible. This is particularly important with postal notes.
4. Mail premiums promptly when they are due, to the proper VA office, so that if something is wrong it can be corrected before the grace period expires and the insurance policy goes out of force.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Petty were Hot Springs visitors last week attending to business matters.

CORONA NEWS

By Mrs. A. E. Mulkey

The following people from out of town were here last week to attend the funeral of Mr. Frank DuBois Sr.: Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Hillger, Mr. and Mrs. George Petrol, Jack Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Emmon Brown, E. L. Moulton, and Mrs. Charles Eagleton of Albuquerque. Also Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Huntsinger, and Mrs. Alice Sulzemeier of Vaughn.

Mrs. Frank DuBois, Jr., and baby son are expected to arrive here this week from New Iberia, La.

Mr. Kenneth Knight and Mr. Fenner Jones took the Corona boys to Roswell for the Basketball Tournament last week end. Corona team was the winner over Encino, but lost to Tatum. The following boys who played on the team were: Roger Shaw, Jerry Stiggins, Mannen Cements, Tommy Tafoye, Jack Parker, Leon Erramouspl, Billy Elhart, and Pete Porter. Others attending the game from Corona were Louie Erramouspl, Tom Bond, Marrion Yancey, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stiggins and son Avon, Yvonne Clark, Nanette Melton, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weathersbee.

Mr. Lonnie Atkinson received word Tuesday of the death of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jesse Atkinson of Casper, Wyoming. He was unable to go there for the funeral services.

Mrs. Alex Jenkins has been very ill at her home this week. Grandma Chaney has also been on the sick list this week.

Mrs. Helen Kay Atkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Atkinson, has had a case of pneumonia the past week, but is reported improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rich and Mrs. Theresa Penix of Albuquerque were here during the week end visiting relatives and friends.

The Art Exhibit by New Mexico Artists was well attended Sunday afternoon. About 80 people were present for the tea and exhibit. A picture "Golden Rain" by the guest Artist, Mr. Stanley G. Breiner, was purchased for the school by public subscription.

Mayor Cleve Brown and councilman Walter Pfeiffer were in Santa Fe the first of the week on business for the village.

The following people from out of town attended the Art Exhibit and Tea Sunday afternoon: Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Huntsinger of Vaughn, Ala Jones from Claunch, Mrs. Rieinger, Mrs. B. Wilson, Mr. Bryan Hightower, John Hightower, Patzy Woods, and Senator L. P. Hall all of Ancho.

There were a large number of people out Sunday to attend the special services at the Assembly of God Church. Rev. and Mrs. James L. Wells of Claunch and Rev. Chaney of Gran Quivera and a number of others also of Claunch and Gran Quivera were here for the services.

Rev. Markham, Presbyterian minister, from Claunch will hold services the first and third Thursdays of each month at the Legion Hut. Everybody cordially invited.

Mrs. P. Bachanan is visiting her brother-in-law and family at Hondo this week.

FIRE MONDAY AT NU-WAY CLEANERS

Last Monday afternoon's fire was an overheated boiler at the Nu-Way cleaning and pressing establishment.

The fire was discovered soon after it started and was brought under control before any damage was caused.

Volunteer Firemen had the fire fighting equipment on hand in record time.

Mrs. O. L. Oldham and Mrs. Mason of Tinnie were business visitors in town Tuesday.

Frank A. DuBois

Frank A. DuBois, youngest of the five children of Frank A. and Sarah R. DuBois, was born March 21, 1885 at Selby, Ohio, and passed away at his home at midnight, Tuesday, February 24, 1948, at the age of sixty-two years, eleven months, and three days.

He moved, when a child to Kansas where he attended the public schools at Longton and Baker University at Baldwin. Mr. DuBois came to Corona in 1902 and has been here most of the time since.

He was married in 1904 to Mary C. McKay, and to this union, two children were born. Survivors include Mrs. DuBois, one son, Frank Jr., of Albuquerque, one daughter, Geraldine Perkins of Corona; three grandchildren, Sherrill and Raed Perkins, and Frank A. DuBois III, other relatives and a host of friends. Services were held Friday at the Baptist Church, and interment was in the Corona cemetery. Hanlon Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. DuBois had been a leading citizen of Corona many years. He was interested in civic enterprise, educational affairs or anything pertaining to the progress of his home town and county. He will be greatly missed by his family and friends.

LULA D. BOONE

Friends of Mrs. Lula D. Boone, formerly of Capitan, but more recently of Phoenix, Arizona were very much grieved this week to learn of her death which occurred at the home of her daughter the first of the week.

Mrs. Boone was successful operator of the Buena Vista hotel in Capitan for many years, but due to ill health she retired and moved to her daughters home in Phoenix about two years ago.

She was always friendly, courteous, and highly respected for her many good qualities of mind and heart.

Mr. G. A. Titworth of Capitan received the message concerning her death.

Funeral services were held in Phoenix.

MATT GILMORE

Mr. Matt Gilmore, 63, resident of Tularosa, died at his home here last Saturday. Mr. Gilmore was well known in Carrizozo having visited his sister, Mrs. Paul Mayer here frequently.

He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Anson Gilmore and had spent all of his life in Lincoln and Otero counties. For the past ten years he had been associated with the Sacramento Motor Company of Alamogordo.

Besides his widow he is survived by three sons, Matt Jr., Tularosa; Robert, El Paso; Derrell, Albuquerque; one daughter, Eloise of Tularosa; three sisters, Mmes. Tully, Mayer, and Davis and one brother. Funeral services were at the Tularosa Methodist church, Sunday with Rev. John L. Lawson officiating in the presence of a large concourse of friends.

Floral offerings were many and beautiful.

WILLIAM PETERS

William Peters, age 52, Lincoln County, N. Mex., resident died in the Veterans Hospital, Albuquerque Tuesday. Mr. Peters was a veteran of World War I. He is survived by a son, Sonny Lewis of Alamogordo, two sisters, Mrs. Burl Sears of Carlsbad; and Mrs. Dennis Cooper of Lincoln. Funeral services will be held in the Kaster and Maxon Chapel at 2 p. m. Wednesday with the Rev. W. G. Bailey officiating. Burial will be in the family plot in Evergreen Cemetery—El Paso Times, February 25th.

Mr. Peters was a son of the late Mr. E. G. Peters and was reared in Carrizozo. He was a graduate of the Carrizozo High School.

From 1932 until 1936 he was in business with his father at Capitan.

MASS MEETING CALLED FOR MONDAY NIGHT

All citizens of Carrizozo, interested in their city government are invited to attend a mass meeting in the court room of the County Court House, Monday evening March 8th at 7:00.

The purpose of the meeting is to select a city ticket for the April 6th municipal election.

RED CROSS FUND RAISING CAMPAIGN TO START

Mr. Roy E. Shafer, local chairman of the American Red Cross fund raising campaign has announced this week that our quota has been set at $420. this year.

The support and cooperation of the entire community will be necessary if the goal is reached.

CARRIZOZO P. T. A. TO MEET MONDAY MARCH 8, 1948

The Parent-Teacher Association of Carrizozo will meet in the Study Hall of the Carrizozo High School Building Monday evening March 8th, at 7:30.

Everyone cordially invited to attend.

The Methodist Church

Rev. Howard S. Pitts, Pastor

Sunday's sermon will be entitled: "What Do Methodists Believe?" If you wonder about the methods of Methodism, this sermon is for you. Mrs. Bill Nickels will play the violin. And the choir, directed by Mr. Brewster, will sing, "Lord of Every Land and Nation". (By the way, the choir is preparing some very beautiful numbers for Easter Sunday morning.)

An important meeting of the Official Board of the church has been called for this Sunday afternoon at 5:00. Among the matters to be discussed are: the Sunday School the Easter membership class, the building program, the new lawn, matters of finance, and the Community Council. It is most important that all members be present. And, say a prayer for your church before you come.

All senior high school students are invited to attend the Youth Fellowship on Sunday evenings. Interest has been growing lately both in the youth sermons (at the church at 7:30) and in the fellowship hour (at the Woman's Club at 8:00). The committee in charge for Sunday night includes John Ed Stephens, Don Shultz, and Charles Hodgkin. Joy Dawn Reil is President.

The Children's Church Membership Class will meet Saturday at Alma Eaker's at 10 o'clock for all eleven and twelve year olds. After the showing of a set of film strips, the pastor will lead the discussion on, "A Christian and His World".

If you have a child whom you would like to be baptized with the other infants and children on Palm Sunday, please give the pastor a chance to talk with you about the matter. Or, if you are eleven years old or over, he would be happy to talk with you about the meaning of church membership. Baptism is an initiation into the Christian life, at (Continued on Page 8)

Spider Must Be Cautious To Stay Free of Its Net

A spider doesn't stick to its web for several reasons. First, the spider crawls only on the strands of the web which are not sticky. Second, it never lets its body touch the web. Third, the spider secretes a liquid which oils up the claws and prevents them from sticking to the silk. Despite all this, however, accidents will happen—sometimes a spider does get caught in its own web.

BLUEBIRDS singing a song! All beautifully framed in a flower-border! Just wait till you see the lovely spread this design will make!

HOUSEHOLD TIPS

When washing windows during the winter put a small quantity of ammonia or vinegar into the water. This helps to keep the water from freezing on the glass.

When laundering lace collars, sew the collars on white muslin. This will help keep them in shape.

Protect your rubbers from oil and soil. Oil causes blistering, and soil will cause rubber articles to chip and crack and lose their resilient strength. Clean well after using.

Fix a towel rack on the back of baby's high chair, on which you can keep such handy items as a damp wash cloth, a bib and a towel.

Keep acid foods, such as tomatoes, lemons and vinegar off the porcelain enamel of a range or refrigerator. They cause stains that won't come off.

Keep on hand: Percolator tops, electric fuses, an assortment of corks, waxed paper, paper napkins, a box of tacks, an extra can-opener, extra light bulbs, a ball of twine, bicycle tape.

Clever Crooks Carry On Counterfeiting in Prison

In 1939 in Philadelphia, a clever pair of crooks, Arthur Taylor and Baldwin Bradell, were convicted of counterfeiting U. S. $100 bills and then sent to Moyamensing prison to await sentence, says Collier's. Within several months, the men had counterfeited and gotten in circulation 32 excellent $20 notes, having made them at night in their cell with a few smuggled-in materials and tools which did not include a camera but did include a printing press no larger than a cigar box. Upon confessing later, the convicts re-enacted their feat before a group of experts who had sworn it was impossible without a camera and an eight-ton press in a sizable workshop.

World Mission of Church

Lesson for February 29, 1948

JOHN WESLEY said, "The world is my parish." Many another Christian has entertained this great concept, and that is precisely what Jesus wants us to understand concerning the sweep and scope of his Kingdom.

Sunday's lesson brings us to consider three great passages — Acts 10:1-15; Romans 10:14-15; Ephesians 3:1-12. Read these carefully, and you will feel the winds of God lifting up the flaps of the tent of your small habitation until you will catch glimpses of the far horizon.

CHURCH AROUND THE WORLD
 GO YE into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation," said Jesus, Mark 16:15. There is no backyard definition of the mission of the church in these great words of Jesus. Just as Paul was summoned to cross over into Europe with the Gospel, so are we commanded to make Christ known to all lands. He loves everybody.

"Jesus loves the little children, All the children of the world; Yellow, brown, or black, or white, They are precious in his sight, Jesus loves the little children of the world."

REACHING THE WORLD
 JUST as Paul went from one land to another, so may every Christian boy and girl do. Each church can reach out hands of blessing to all the world.

How? Through our gifts. Our gifts for missions, joined with the gifts of all the other members of our local church, joined with the gifts of many other churches, go out in multiplied blessing through the missionaries to make Christ known around the world.

How? Through our prayers. As we pray for the redemption of the world, we fortify the missionaries — teachers, deacons, preachers — in all the parts of the world.

How? Through our sympathetic understanding of the conditions under which people live in other lands. Just now we are giving clothes and food to help the stricken peoples of the war-ravaged lands. These gifts of material things bear their message of our Christian concern for all who suffer. Thus we are extending the reach of our individual lives and the reach of our churches to the ends of the earth.

PUBLISHING SALVATION
 HOW beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth glad tidings, that publisheth peace — that publisheth salvation," Isaiah 52:7.

The world mission of the church is here pictured in the exquisite language of the ancient prophet, with which words we may link the declaration of the great apostle, "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved," Romans 10:13.

Establishing salvation is the chief task of the church of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the objects of this universal message are the souls of all men. There is universal need, and here is the adequate and available answer.

See how this conception of the world mission of the church brings into focus the one hope for civilization. The only voice that carries across the barriers of this troubled world is the voice of salvation through Jesus Christ. Let that word be sounded in any spot on this earth, and some waiting heart will be lifted up.

THE UNSEARCHABLE RICHES
 AND what are we to say about the message we have to publish? Paul puts it well in Ephesians 3:1-12, when he declares:

"Unto me, who am less than the least of all the saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ."

In another place we read about the "unspeakable gift of God," II Corinthians 9:15. The message, then, is one of unsearchable riches, an unspeakable gift.

In this message is healing for the peoples of the earth. If the true mission of the church is understood and valued in all of the ways by which the Gospel may today be given to the world, we shall see the fulfillment of the dreams of the prophets, and the angels about the Throne of God will shout for joy.

As Paul changed his course in the long ago, heeding the Macedonian call, so may we today find ourselves turning about in our response to the Holy Spirit's leading; but let us not be afraid so long as we are sincerely seeking to publish glad tidings to all men.

Farm Topics

Heavy Crops Drain Soil of Plant Food

Mineral Supply Needed To Restore Fertility

Heavy wartime croppings drained twice as much nitrogen from Illinois soils as was put back by fertilizer applications of legume crops, declares O. L. Whalin, University of Illinois. What was true in Illinois was true of farm soils in numerous other Midwestern states.

Approximately 3,300,000 tons of nitrogen were removed from the soil in harvested crops in the 1942-46 period, Whalin points out. But only about 1,600,000 tons of nitrogen were returned to the land. This replacement included nitrogen in fertilizer applications, plus 60 per cent of the nitrogen in legumes harvested and in sweet clover turned under.

The supply of other mineral elements was seriously depleted. Whalin estimates that only about half of the phosphorus taken from the soil was replaced. Less than one-thirtieth as much potash was added through commercial fertilizers as was removed by harvested crops.

"This heavy drain on the soil's mineral supply," says Whalin, "has reached the point where crop yields on many soils definitely depend on the amount of minerals applied. Manure, inoculated legumes, phosphate and potash are required, will maintain and even increase yields on most soils."

Carrying out such a program, he adds, calls for use of lime on much of the land in order to grow legumes. Lime should be applied on the basis of soil tests. It should be used from six months to a year before legumes are seeded, in order to sweeten the soil.

Risk West Virginia mountain lime plant. Lime is sold to the farmers to increase production on crop and pasture land.

Deep-Rooted Legumes

Deep-rooted legumes work in two major ways to improve till, rebuild soil structure and increase the supply of mineralized organic matter.

1. Well-fed legumes such as sweet clover or alfalfa push their taproots deep into the soil. These roots open up tightly packed earth below the plow furrows. Neither water nor air can penetrate such compacted soil. Crop roots cannot do their job of carrying nutrients to the plant growth "factory" above ground. But when deep-rooted legumes are grown frequently in the rotation, till and soil structure are improved. The land becomes loose and easy to work. Channels for air and water and passageways for the roots of following crops are made.

2. Deep-rooted legumes are efficient feeders on the soil's available phosphorus and potash. They can forage for these plant foods when other crops will fail. The legumes gather these nutrients into their taproots. When plowed under, these roots put all-important mineralized organic matter down where it should be, readily available for the roots of other crops following in the rotation.

Soil Fumigant Stops Work of Nematodes

In its war on soil pests, scientific research has forged a fatal new weapon against nematodes, the eel-like worms whose burrowing activities cause nearly two million acres of farmland in the South to lay idle every year. This weapon is a soil fumigant known as D-D, whose chief component is dichloropropane and its use allows repeated plantings year after year of many crops which now are rotated.

Have Baked Ham for a Social Supper. (See recipes below.)

Feeding Fifty

If your club or church is planning a community social dinner for a get-together or for the purpose of making money, you'll appreciate these tested recipes. The recipes are bound to be tempting to most people, which is an important consideration for dinners of this type.

You'll need to do careful planning for both purchasing and preparing, or perhaps you can have a committee work out the donations so there will be more of a return on the dinner. Have your group choose an able leader to insure a successful dinner. She should be thoroughly familiar with all the procedures of the menu, and should be able to divide and assign the work properly, as well as to iron out all sorts of details that come up.

Tableware should be checked in advance so there will be enough to go around. The same goes for kitchen equipment.

Men as well as women will like the menu for this community supper as it is appetizing and well balanced.

- Egg Jelly Butter
- Pineapple Chiffon Cheese Cake

In addition to the items listed on the menu, you'll want to provide coffee, tea and milk as beverages. Here are the recipes for this dinner. They are carefully planned to serve 50 people.

Baked Ham (Serves 50)

- 15 pound smoked ham
- 2 cups brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1/2 cup cloves

Place ham (wrapped in heavy waxed paper or inside wrapper), fat side up in an uncovered roasting pan. Bake in a slow (325 degree) oven about 5 1/2 hours. About an hour before the ham is done, remove from oven, lift off remaining skin and score fat surface. Mix brown sugar and mustard, add enough vinegar to make a paste. Spread paste over fat surface and stud with cloves. Return to oven and bake in a slow (325 degree) oven for about 45 minutes to glaze the surface.

Here are some other glazes which may be used. The amounts are sufficient to cover the surface of one ham:

ORANGE GLAZE: Mix one cup brown sugar, juice and grated rind of one orange and spread over fat surface. Garnish with orange slices when serving.

HONEY OR MOLASSES GLAZE: Use one cup honey or molasses and spread over ham; stud with cloves. Finish baking.

PECAN GLAZE: Use one cup brown sugar and one cup juice from spiced peaches, crabapples, ginger pears or pickled peaches. Garnish with the spiced fruit.

For the vegetable, green beans, you may use two No. 10 cans, sea-

LYNN SAYS: Food Tips Add Interest to Menu

When you serve whitefish or halibut, you'll find that cranberry sauce or jelly adds just the right note of tartness as well as color to the fish. Rice or noodle ring makes a nice platter when filled with leftover ham or chicken creamed with peas and pimientos.

soned with one cup butter, salt and pepper. Heat thoroughly but be certain not to overcook.

Candied Sweet Potatoes (Serves 50)

- 2 No. 10 cans or 8 No. 2 1/2 cans sweet potatoes
- 1 pound brown sugar
- 2 quarts bread crumbs
- 1 cup melted butter

Place sweet potatoes in a baking pan. Combine remaining ingredients and place over sweet potatoes. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven until heated through.

Cole Slaw (Serves 50)

- 1 pint mayonnaise
- 1 pint sour cream
- 1 cup vinegar
- 1 teaspoon mustard
- 1 teaspoon celery seed
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 7 quarts (8 pounds) cabbage, shredded fine

Blend the mayonnaise, sour cream and seasonings. Mix lightly with the cabbage.

Apple-Cranberry Sauce-Relish (Serves 50)

- 3 oranges
- 8 No. 2 cans apple sauce
- 3 1-pound cans cranberry sauce

Grind oranges and combine with apple sauce. Chill for several hours. Cut up cranberry sauce in cubes. Just before serving mix cranberry cubes with the apple sauce.

Pineapple Chiffon Cheese Cake (Serves 50)

- 2 cups sugar
- 2 pints syrup from pineapple and water
- 12 egg yolks
- 2 ounces (1/2 cup) plain gelatin
- 3 No. 2 1/2 cans crushed pineapple
- 4 pounds (2 quarts) sliced cottage cheese
- 1/4 cup grated lemon rind
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 12 egg whites
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 quart heavy cream for whipping
- 2 quarts Graham cracker crumbs or twieback

Combine two cups sugar and two cups syrup with slightly beaten egg yolks. Cook over hot water until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly. Soften gelatin in remaining syrup for five minutes. Add to hot mixture and stir until dissolved. Chill until the mixture starts to congeal; add pineapple, cottage cheese, lemon rind and juice. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, salt and whipped cream. Combine crumbs with remaining sugar and butter. Line a pan with this mixture, saving about a third for the top. Pour in cheese mixture and top with remaining crumb mixture. Chill for several hours until firm.

A nice easy dessert consists of tapioca mixed with crushed pineapple, served with soft boiled custard.

Serve fish on a bed of watercress if you want it to look truly effective. The greens, of course, should be eaten. If the family doesn't take kindly to liver, parboil it, chop and mix with egg, bread crumbs, chili sauce and seasonings. Make into patties and wrap in bacon. Bake in tomato sauce.

SEWING CIRCLE PATTERNS

Scalloped Accent on Daytime Girl's School or Party Dress

8152 12-42 Daytime Dress

DAINTY scallops make a very pretty finish for this wearable daytime dress. Diagonal lines are the season's pet style—and see how neatly the narrow belt circles your waist.

Pattern No. 8152 comes in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Size 14, 3 1/2 yards of 36 or 38-inch.

Yoked Princess Frock

AN exciting round yoked dress that's nice for school—lovely enough for parties, too. Slim princess panels are so simple to sew, the keyhole neckline is as cute as can be. Trim with lace or ruffling.

Pattern No. 8264 is for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8, 2 1/4 yards of 36-inch.

Smiles

When a woman refuses to tell her weight, she probably weighs a hundred and plenty.

Seriously "And so I told her that I loved her and we'd be married in summer."

"July?" "No, I meant it."

Needs Her "Is my sweetheart ever clever. She has brains enough for two."

"Then she's just the girl for you to marry."

In the Hat "How come you tipped your hat to that delicious doll? Do you know her?"

"No, but this is Charlie's hat and he knows her."

BACKWARD GLANCES

FORTY YEARS AGO FROM
1898 CAPTAIN NEWS

PAT F. GARRETT SLAIN

A telegram was received by S. T. Gray here Saturday evening which read: "Pat Garrett was killed this morning near Las Cruces by Wayne Brazel".

Pat Garrett was one of the best known characters of the southwest, and came into prominence almost thirty years ago. At that time he came west and settled in Lincoln County. Soon after his arrival he was chosen sheriff of this county, a position which required a man with a steady nerve, a quick and sure aim and unquestioned courage to properly hold down. These Pat Garrett possessed in a marked degree, yet he was devoid of the pride that ruled many men with like experiences, and was never known to boast of his prowess. As a matter of fact, he did not belong to the class of "tough" men in the southwest, of which so much has been written; but was distinctly a civil, peaceable and courteous gentleman. Never seeking nor causing trouble except in the discharge of his official duties.

He was a terror to evil doers, and has a record of accomplishment as a peace officer that is unequalled, and at the same time left his hands unstained with innocent blood.

It was during his term as sheriff of Lincoln County that it became his duty to suppress a gang of outlaws, headed by "Billie the Kid", the latter one of the most desperate characters that ever infested any country.

Many encounters occurred between the contending forces, both sides losing men; yet Garrett persistently and vigorously kept up the fight until he had dispersed, killed or captured the gang, the "Kid" himself being the last to be captured. The "Kid" was tried and condemned to death. There was no fall in Lincoln in those days, and the "Kid" was chained in what is now the court room of the county, and closely guarded. About fifteen days before the date fixed for execution, Garrett had occasion to go to another portion of the county, and left his prisoner in charge of two deputies, Bell and Olinger, with specific instructions to be vigilant. It was during this absence of Garrett's that the "Kid" slipped the shackles from his hands and when Bell brought a meal to him, grabbed Bell's pistol and Bell began running, the "Kid" following, firing. Bell fell dead at the foot of the back stairs to the court house.

The "Kid" then proceeded to arm himself from a stack of guns in another portion of the building, and was ready for all comers. Olinger the other deputy, was temporarily absent, but hearing the firing hastened toward the court house. Reaching the east side of the building, he heard a shout from an upper window the words being, "Hello, Bob!" and looking up, he received the contents of both barrels of a shotgun full in the face, dying in his tracks. The "Kid" then went out on the front porch, ordered a by-stander to bring him a horse which was done, after which he rode quietly out of town, unmolested.

Garrett returned to Lincoln and found two dead deputies, his prisoner gone and more desperate work ahead of him. Learning that the "Kid" was hiding out at old Fort Sumner, he laid plans to recapture or kill the outlaw. In company with John W. Poe and Tip McKinney, Garrett went to Pete Maxwell's ranch, near Fort Sumner. Stationing his two deputies around the Maxwell house, after nightfall, Garrett entered the building, and awaited the coming of the "Kid" who was expected that night. True to the belief, the "Kid" made his appearance, and safely passed the outside sentries, and found himself face to face with the man he most dreaded, although he probably did not recognize Garrett in the darkness. At all events, the "Kid" seeing two men, asked Maxwell who his companion was. Receiving no reply, the "Kid" began backing toward the door, at the same time drawing his pistol. Garrett waited for no further ceremony, but fired with unerring aim, the bullet reaching the "Kid's" heart, and as he fell he discharged his weapon, the bullet entering the wall of the building. Thus ended the career of "Billie the Kid" on the night of June 13, 1881, and thus did law and order triumph.

Standing still, it has the eager look of a pointer scenting game, so swift and flowing are its lines.

Sweeping by, it stands out unflinchingly from the highway crowd, unmistakably a Buick and unquestionably the year's trimmest fashion plate.

But have you traveled in one of these tidy new beauties?

Have you seen for yourself how smooth and silent is its flow of power, how hushed and quiet is its ride?

This comes from many things.

From Fireball power now Hi-Poised for throbless smoothness. From a Vibra-Shielded ride that is your ever-present protection against road-noise, body-drum and vibration build-up.

And it comes, in addition, from a brand-new development we call Sound-Sorber top lining.

It's a thick pad of feathery insulation much like that you use in your own home, and it goes into every closed model in our 1948 SUPER and ROADMASTER series.

This new lining cloaks your Buick in new and delightful silence akin to that of your own living room - silence that encourages normal-tone conversation, makes soft radio music clear and enjoyable throughout the whole car.

So you ride in quiet as well as beauty when you travel in this style star.

You find it a great-hearted lovely that is soft of voice and gentle of manner - a delight to the traveling ear, the guiding hand and the passing eye.

Don't just see it at your Buick dealer's - look into it with greatest care. The deeper you look the surer you'll be to see the wisdom of getting a firm order in now!

You shall have music - wherever you ride

Front seat or back, you listen to your radio at soft and undisturbed volume in this new Buick. You talk without shouting, know freedom from rumbles and din. Always cool of quiet comfort, the Buick SUPER and ROADMASTER step out still further with Sound-Sorber top lining - a Buick exclusive.

BACKWARD GLANCES

FORTY YEARS AGO FROM
1908 CAPTAIN NEWS

FAT F. GARRETT SLAIN

A telegram was received by S. T. Gray here Saturday evening which read: "Fat Garrett was killed this morning near Las Cruces by Wayne Brazel".

Pat Garrett was one of the best known characters of the southwest, and came into prominence almost thirty years ago. At that time he came west and settled in Lincoln county. Soon after his arrival he was chosen sheriff of this county, a position which required a man with a steady nerve, a quick and sure aim and unquestioned courage to properly hold down. These Pat Garrett possessed in a marked degree, yet he was devoid of the pride that ruled many men with like experiences, and was never known to boast of his prowess. As a matter of fact, he did not belong to the class of "bad" men in the southwest, of which so much has been written; but was distinctly a civil, peaceable and courteous gentleman. Never seeking nor causing trouble except in the discharge of his official duties.

He was a terror to evil doers, and has a record of accomplishment as a peace officer that is unequalled, and at the same time left his hands unspined with innocent blood.

It was during his term as sheriff of Lincoln county that it became his duty to suppress a gang of outlaws, headed by "Billie the Kid", the latter one of the most desperate characters that ever infested any country.

Many encounters occurred between the contending forces, both sides losing men; yet Garrett persistently and vigorously kept up the fight until he had dispersed, killed or captured the gang, the "Kid" himself being the last to be captured. The "Kid" was tried and condemned to death. There was no jail in Lincoln in those days, and the "Kid" was chained in what is now the court room of the county, and closely guarded. About fifteen days before the date fixed for execution, Garrett had occasion to go to another portion of the county, and left his prisoner in charge of two deputies, Bell and Olinger, with specific instructions to be vigilant. It was during this absence of Garrett's that the "Kid" slipped the shackles from his hands and when Bell brought a meal to him, grabbed Bell's pistol and Bell began running, the "Kid" following, firing, Bell fell dead at the foot of the back stairs to the court house.

The "Kid" then proceeded to arm himself from a stack of guns in another portion of the building, and was ready for all comers. Olinger the other deputy, was temporarily absent, but hearing the firing hastened toward the court house. Reaching the east side of the building, he heard a shout from an upper window the words being, "Hello Bob!" and looking up, he received the contents of both barrels of a shotgun full in the face, dying in his tracks. The "Kid" then went out on the front porch, ordered a by-stander to bring him a horse which was done, after which he rode quietly out of town, unmolested.

Garrett returned to Lincoln and found two dead deputies, his prisoner gone and more desperate work ahead of him. Learning that the "Kid" was hiding out at old Fort Sumner, he laid plans to recapture or kill the outlaw. In company with John W. Poe and Tip McKinney, Garrett went to Pete Maxwell's ranch, near Fort Sumner. Stationing his two deputies around the Maxwell house, after nightfall, Garrett entered the building, and awaited the coming of the "Kid" who was expected that night. True to the belief, the "Kid" made his appearance, and safely passed the outside sentries, and found himself face to face with the man he most dreaded, although he probably did not recognize Garrett in the darkness. At all events, the "Kid" seeing two men, asked Maxwell who his companion was. Receiving no reply, the "Kid" began backing toward the door, at the same time drawing his pistol. Garrett waited for no further ceremony, but fired with unerring aim, the bullet reaching the "Kid's" heart, and as he fell he discharged his weapon, the bullet entering the wall of the building. Thus ended the career of "Billie the Kid" on the night of June 13, 1881, and thus did law and order triumph.

BACKWARD GLANCES

FORTY YEARS AGO FROM
1908 CAPITAN NEWS

PAT F. GARRETT SLAIN

A telegram was received by S. T. Gray here Saturday evening which read: "Pat Garrett was killed this morning near Las Cruces by Wayne Brazel".

Pat Garrett was one of the best known characters of the southwest, and came into prominence almost thirty years ago. At that time he came west and settled in Lincoln county. Soon after his arrival he was chosen sheriff of this county, a position which required a man with a steady nerve, a quick and sure aim and unquestioned courage to properly hold down. These Pat Garrett possessed in a marked degree, yet he was devoid of the pride that ruled many men with like experiences, and was never known to boast of his prowess. As a matter of fact, he did not belong to the class of "bad" men in the southwest, of which so much has been written; but was distinctly a civil, peaceable and courteous gentleman. Never seeking nor causing trouble except in the discharge of his official duties.

He was a terror to evil doers, and has a record of accomplishment as a peace officer that is unequalled, and at the same time left his hands unstained with innocent blood.

It was during his term as sheriff of Lincoln county that it became his duty to suppress a gang of outlaws, headed by "Billie the Kid", the latter one of the most desperate characters that ever infested any country.

Many encounters occurred between the contending forces, both sides losing men; yet Garrett persistently and vigorously kept up the fight until he had dispersed, killed or captured the gang, the "Kid" himself being the last to be captured. The "Kid" was tried and condemned to death. There was no jail in Lincoln in those days, and the "Kid" was chained in what is now the court room of the county, and closely guarded. About fifteen days before the date fixed for execution, Garrett had occasion to go to another portion of the county, and left his prisoner in charge of two deputies, Bell and Olinger, with specific instructions to be vigilant. It was during this absence of Garrett's that the "Kid" slipped the shackles from his hands and when Bell brought a meal to him, grabbed Bell's pistol and Bell began running, the "Kid" following, firing. Bell fell dead at the foot of the back stairs to the court house.

The "Kid" then proceeded to arm himself from a stack of guns in another portion of the building, and was ready for all comers. Olinger the other deputy, was temporarily absent, but hearing the firing hastened toward the court house. Reaching the east side of the building, he heard a shout from an upper window the words being, "Hello Bob!" and looking up, he received the contents of both barrels of a shotgun full in the face, dazing in his tracks. The "Kid" then went out on the front porch, ordered a by-stander to bring him a horse which was done, after which he rode quietly out of town, unmolested.

Garrett returned to Lincoln and found two dead deputies, his prisoner gone and more desperate work ahead of him. Learning that the "Kid" was hiding out at old Fort Sumner, he laid plans to recapture or kill the outlaw. In company with John W. Poe and Tip McKinney, Garrett went to Pete Maxwell's ranch, near Fort Sumner. Stationing his two deputies around the Maxwell house, after nightfall, Garrett entered the building, and awaited the coming of the "Kid" who was expected that night. True to the belief, the "Kid" made his appearance, and safely passed the outside sentries, and found himself face to face with the man he most dreaded, although he probably did not recognize Garrett in the darkness. At all events, the "Kid" seeing two men, asked Maxwell who his companion was. Receiving no reply, the "Kid" began backing toward the door, at the same time drawing his pistol. Garrett waited for no further ceremony, but fired with unerring aim, the bullet reaching the "Kid's" heart, and as he fell he discharged his weapon, the bullet entering the wall of the building. Thus ended the career of "Billie the Kid" on the night of June 13, 1901, and thus did law and order triumph.

Easy on the eyes - and ears

Standing still, it has the eager look of a pointer, scenting game, so swift and flowing are its lines.

Sweeping by, it stands out unflinchingly from the highway crowd, unmistakably a Buick and unquestionably the year's trimmest fashion plate.

But have you traveled in one of these tidy new beauties?

Have you seen for yourself how smooth and silent is its flow of power, how hushed and quiet is its ride?

This comes from many things.

From Fireball power now Hi-Poised for throbbless smoothness. From a Vibra-Shielded ride that is your ever-present protection against road-noise, body-drum and vibration build-up.

And it comes, in addition, from a brand-new development we call Sound-Sorber top lining.

It's a thick pad of feathery insulation much like that you use in your own home, and it goes into every closed model in our 1948 SUPER and ROADMASTER series.

This new lining cloaks your Buick in new and delightful silence akin to that of your own living room - silence that encourages normal-tone conversation, makes soft radio music clear and enjoyable throughout the whole car.

So you ride in quiet as well as beauty when you travel in this style star.

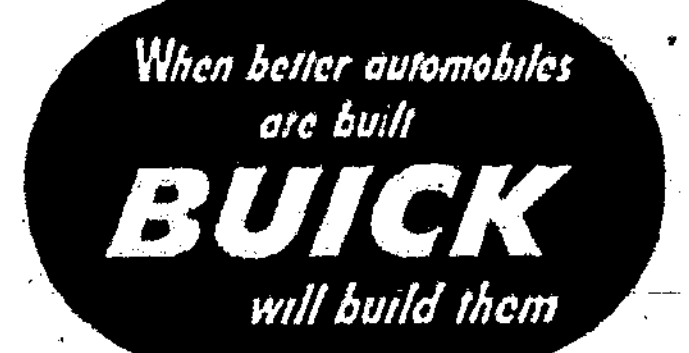

You find it a great-hearted lovely, that is soft of voice and gentle of manner - a delight to the traveling car, the guiding hand and the passing eye.

Don't just see it at your Buick dealer's - look into it with greatest care. The deeper you look the surer you'll be to see the wisdom of getting a firm order in now!

You shall have music - wherever you ride

Front seat or back, you listen to your radio at soft and undistorted volume in this new Buick. You talk without shouting. Know freedom from rumbles and din. Always cars of quiet comfort, the Buick SUPER and ROADMASTER step out still further with Sound-Sorber top lining - a Buick exclusive.

Martin Is Likely GOP Dark Horse

Contest Between Taft, Dewey Decisive in Republican Race

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

As this is written, the crystal ball gazers say that the 5' 8" black-moustached governor of the Empire State is going to be the next President of the United States. Some people will question this, and three, six or more months from now, even my private crystal-gazers may revise their predictions.

But the Dewey following is confident, even in the face of the latest Roper poll, which shows that Harold Stassen is the only Republican (now that Eisenhower is out) who could win four out of the six major geographical regions of the country from Mr. Truman! The poll says Stassen leads everywhere but in the solid South.

Suppose the solid South should split from the Democratic party, as they indicated they might in order to rebuke the President for his so-called "anti-southern" civil rights message which recommended anti-lynch, anti-poll-tax, fair practices legislation, which is labeled "pro-Negro" by many southern critics? Well, suppose that, and as of the date of this poll (February 5), Stassen has it.

Still the old-timers stick to their prediction of Dewey, which they make with tears in their eyes, instead of smoke from the smoke-filled room where decisions are supposed to be made. I wish that you people could have attended that over-crowded luncheon at the National Press club when Gen. Dwight Eisenhower spoke and introduced his successor, Gen. Omar Bradley, as chief of staff.

It was a good talk, and you probably read the report of it. You also probably have read the report of the question and answer period which General Eisenhower permitted, and which was one of the best news conferences—that's what it turned out to be—that I ever have attended. Members who couldn't get in were standing up, coughing ears, 12 to 15 deep outside the entrances to the dining room.

Naturally come questions dealt with the Eisenhower withdrawal statement issued late in January. The night after the Eisenhower withdrawal, which most Republicans and Democrats considered as final, I happened to be with two die-hard, right-wing Republicans, who wouldn't even admit they were as happy as they were. They kept saying, why couldn't he have said that much earlier if he meant it, and anyhow he has left a loophole so he can run, if not now, in 1952.

I couldn't see that. I know a lot of Republicans thought Eisenhower's letter was an absolutely honest statement, dictated by the reasoning of an honest man; untrained in politics, it is true, but speaking from his heart.

There isn't space to repeat Eisenhower's long statement in which he said, among other things: "I am not available for and could not accept nomination for high political office. . . . My decision . . . is definite and positive."

"The necessary and wise subordination of the military to civil power will be best sustained . . . when lifelong professional soldiers . . . abstain from seeking high political office. . . . I would regard it as an unalloyed tragedy for our country if ever should come the day when military commanders might be selected with an eye to their future potentialities in the political field."

General Sherman said: "I will not run if nominated and will not serve if elected." But what motivated Sherman . . . and Eisenhower?

The sincere belief expressed in Eisenhower's statement that a man of purely military training wasn't equipped for the job? (That statement, as you know, was thrown back at Eisenhower as a sideswipe at Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who has emphatically NOT said that he didn't choose to run.)

own family and is kept alive with close personal contacts in the armed services. I simply say this to the voter:

You may have a tremendous respect for a man's military record, but that doesn't mean you'd call him in if your child had appendicitis. Politic is just as much of a profession as medicine or the law.

"We need a trained leader in this particular kind of leading. Maybe we will get one. Maybe we won't."

Speaker Joe Martin Universally Popular
Stassen has certain qualities of leadership with which he seems to have impressed the people interviewed by the Roper pollers. But unless Stassen could "sweep the primaries" — I'm frankly quoting my chief crystal-gazer — he hasn't a chance at this writing. There doesn't seem to be a chance of his sweeping the primaries, and anyhow there aren't many states which have adopted this device, which it was thought could beat the "smoke-filled room."

Now, the man who is going to be nominated is the man who wins in the Taft-Dewey contest (always, as of NOW). That doesn't mean it will be Taft or Dewey. But it does mean that it will be the man who, although he hasn't enough votes on this prelin, can pick up enough independent votes in later contests to see him through. At the present writing, it looks as if there were enough of those "changeable" votes to nominate Dewey.

If it's neither Dewey nor Stassen, the wise guys in Washington say it will be none other than Speaker Joe Martin, who never insulted anybody and has more friends in and out of Washington than a winner in a crap game when everyone else is broke. Without ever pulling any rough stuff, Joe Martin has put more people under willing obligation to him than any man I know in congress.

For example — when the Taft-Hartley fight was at its hottest, a certain Republican congressman came to Joe and said: "I'm sorry, Joe, I've got to bolt. My constituency doesn't want this bill." Joe didn't argue. He simply said: "Don't worry. I understand your situation perfectly. We'll get the votes anyhow. Forget it."

Some years ago, a magazine took a secret poll of the Washington correspondents to determine the most "useful" man in congress. He was to be judged by his "integrity, intelligence, industry and influence." Joe got the highest vote of anyone in either house or senate.

Not long ago there was one of those big parties here, periodically thrown by various visiting firemen. It was a regular stampee, but some way I managed to back Joe Martin into a corner with my two Washington-wise assistants. Joe is a bachelor, and these two women are not lacking in either brains or pulchritude. They'd both met the speaker before, more or less professionally, anyhow rather formally. This wasn't formal. Neither of them is a born-and-bred Republican. Like me, and all other Washingtonians, they are voteless and more or less neutral between the parties. Both of them fell for Joe Martin hard. And it wasn't because it is Leap Year and Joe is a bachelor. They are both happily married (the only kind of assistants my wife and I hire).

At any rate, Joe Martin is a good dark horse to watch.

MARGARINE STRATEGY . . . Rep. Edward A. Mitchell (Rep., Ind.) acted as host at a capitol luncheon for congressmen and members of women's leagues who favor repeal of the present taxes on oleomargarine. Donning a chef's bulging cap, Mitchell demonstrated the process housewives must go through to color their margarine at home.

NEWS REVIEW

Peril Seen for Tax Cut; Soil Control Row Due

Following the first blush of joy over the spirit of deflation which seemed to have been evoked by the commodity market price slump, U. S. citizens began to realize that complications might set in.

Most significant hidden gimmick behind the market skid appeared to be the development that the price decline might, in the words of Sen. Scott Lucas (Dem., Ill.), "eliminate all possibility" of income tax reductions this year.

And that apparently was the cautious but considered opinion of the entire tax-writing senate finance committee, of which Lucas is a member.

Sen. Owen Brewster (Rep., Me.), also a finance committee member, expressed a concurring view, pointing out that any appreciable general price decline "certainly would have to be taken into consideration" by Republicans in their tax-cutting plans.

Another member of the group, Sen. Harry Byrd (Dem., Va.) said that if a decline of market prices develops into a business recession, it probably would have "a considerable effect" on tax reduction.

"I certainly am not going to vote for any bill that would put the treasury in a deficit position," said Byrd. While the senators' statements reflected a good deal of pussyfooting and at least a temporary surge of indecision with regard to tax reduction in the light of the market slump, it was obvious that they were thoroughly concerned with this turn of events.

Theory which set their tax-cutting plans awry is that a continued slump of commodity market prices would bring down the national income and tax receipts, thus rendering any major tax reduction perilous.

SOIL CONTROL:

State or Federal?
One of the springtime battles now shaping up in congress will concern the issue of whether the national farm-erosion program should be federally or state controlled.

Fireworks are scheduled to begin in March when the house agriculture committee opens hearings on a bill sponsored by Rep. Harry D. Cooley (Dem., N. C.) which would turn over the soil conservation program, operated since 1935, to state land grant colleges.

Along with the transfer of authority would go about 10,500 department agents who administer the program in about 2,000 districts. That will provide a point of strong controversy, as will the measure's provision for federal grants to help states foot their soil-saving bills.

Pushing the switch from federal to state control most strongly is the national farm bureau, one of the most powerful lobbies in Washington, on the grounds that the soil conservation program would accomplish more under state authority.

The federal program has not been as effective as it should be so far, the farm bureau contends. But opponents of the transfer counter with the argument that the states lack

AID BURDEN:

Taft's Plank
Sen. Robert Taft, Ohio's G.O.P. aspirant to the White House, started off another campaign jog around the West by offering a thoroughly Republican message calculated to appeal to a large portion of the western voters.

The United States cannot allow its foreign aid program to jeopardize freedom at home, he said in Chicago, his first stopping place.

"We should not be actuated by purely altruistic desire to improve the condition of a lot of other people who have failed for centuries to do the job themselves."

"We want peace and prosperity throughout the world to eliminate a threat to our own freedom, but it is certainly not worth while to adopt a foreign policy so burdensome on our own people that it will destroy at home the very freedom we are trying to protect."

There was expressed a major plank in Taft's campaign platform: Careful control of the foreign aid program in the pre-eminent light of how it may effect this nation's domestic economy.

Also, it was consistent with his activities in congress where he has been making that theory felt with regard to approval of the Marshall plan.

U. N. PLUM:

To Europe
Decision on where the United Nations will hold its 1948 assembly meeting will mean that some European city will get a healthy, 50-million-dollar plum tossed in its lap.

Because the choice of a site for the coming meeting probably will involve that much money there is a considerable ferment of anxiety in the cities of Paris, Brussels, Geneva or the Hague, principal contenders for the honor.

Trygve Lie, U. N. secretary-general, just back from a tour of European cities, has made a factual report without actually recommending any one spot. He did, however, narrow the field down to those four cities.

The 57 member nations of the general assembly decided at last fall's session to hold the 1948 parley in Europe, possibly to get away from the scene of their erstwhile father futile efforts.

experience to handle the project satisfactorily. Currently operating under an annual budget of 39 million dollars, federal soil conservation service has 10,500 persons working with farmers, helping prepare conservation plans which the farmers may accept or reject.

So far it has prepared conservation plans for 476,123 farms covering 131,635,000 of the country's one billion acres of farm land.

SCIENCE STILL TRYING

Plague Struck 600 Years Ago

It was, 600 years ago, in 1348, that the Black Death swept ravenously through Europe, killing about 25,000,000 persons, to take its place as one of the greatest calamities of all time.

Historians estimated that by the end of the century the Black Death—bubonic plague—had killed one-fourth of Europe's entire population. In China another 13,000,000 died in an outbreak of the disease at about the same time.

Even to this day the seeds of bubonic plague are scattered throughout the world. Since 1898 it is estimated that more than 12,000,000 persons have died of it in India. Authorities don't know where or when the plague first began, but some say that epidemic disease mentioned in the Bible can be considered "true plague" and traced through history to 1330 B. C. It is believed to have started in lower Egypt, and in a few centuries "spread to the ends of the inhabitable world."

The black rat of Asia, which carries bubonic plague, probably was introduced into Europe by returning crusaders in the 13th century. They would have multiplied sufficiently to be noticed in Europe within a century, and history books say they appeared at that time.

It wasn't until around 1900 that it was definitely established that the black rat harbors the disease. The rat is bitten by a flea; the flea then bites a man and transmits the plague to him. In one form the disease even may be communicated between humans.

According to the U. S. health service, plague among rodents exists in many places in the world today, including a great part of this country. Outbreaks have occurred among human beings on the west coast, and rodent plague has been reported as far inland as Kansas. However, officials do not fear any outbreak of the Black Death in the United States.

Medical scientists recently have discovered that the sulfa drugs are valuable in treatment and believe that the new drug, streptomycin, may prove so also. New and more powerful flea and rat killers, including DDT and the poison R-100, are proving extremely effective.

AGE OF INNOCENCE . . . Even if four-year-old Carol Ann Coulson of Miami had never seen a Florida orange she still would be plenty cute. Her own state thought so, too, because she won the "Little Miss Florida" contest.

NEW BILLS FOR OLD . . . Rep. Frank L. Sandstrom (Rep., N. J.) has submitted a bill calling for issuance of a new series of U. S. paper currency and cancellation and destruction of all existing paper bills.

UP TO MARGARET . . . Frank G. Handy, son of G. C. Handy, publisher of the Ypsilanti, Mich., Press, was reported to be object of the affections of Margaret Truman, daughter of 36th President, Mildred Handy: "If there is any announcement it will have to come from Margaret."

THE FICTION CORNER

THE RUG
By VIRGINIA SULLIVAN TOMLINSON

I KNEW the Farraday family before it happened. I knew them first when I was nine and Ellen Farraday was eight and in my class at school.

There were two other Farraday children: Skippy, the baby, who was five, and Dora, seventeen, just entering business school. Dora was engaged to marry Danny Wright, who ran the service station in town. Mr. Farraday was branch manager of our local bank. "Such a nice, quiet man," people said. "If only that wife of his were not such a fool."

I didn't think Mrs. Farraday was a fool. I liked her. The sprawling old Farraday house, with its sagging porch, was always in need of repair, the shabby living-room would be cluttered and dishes unwashed, but Mrs. Farraday was never too busy to plan games for rainy afternoons or picnics in summer in their rickety old car. She was little and quick and dark, with rather kittenish ways; always thinking up something new and "exciting"—like the dress she designed for Dora that won the prize in the Easter parade.

There was nothing I loved more than going over to the Farraday house whenever I had the chance. Saturday mornings they always had pancakes; Sundays they had sausages and Boston baked beans and applesauce in a blue glass dish. And they had laughter. A great deal of laughter—except when Aunt Abbey came to call.

Aunt Abbey was Mr. Farraday's aunt, a very rich, very unpleasant old lady who lived in an imposing granite house at the end of town. It was no secret that she disapproved bitterly of the entire Farraday family. Why she visited them nobody knew, unless it was because, of all her relatives, they refused to be impressed by her money or upset by her caustic tongue. They merely accepted her, all but Mrs. Farraday, who seemed to like having Aunt Abbey around. Curiously enough, it was of Mrs. Farraday herself that Aunt Abbey most bitterly disapproved.

"My nephew's wife isn't fooling me," she'd say. "Always pretending to be so gay. What's she got to be happy about, I'd like to know? If my nephew had married a sensible woman, he'd have amounted to something by now."

"I declare," my mother said, "it gives me the creeps, the way that old lady looks at Mrs. Farraday. I believe she really hates her."

"She hates them all," my father said, "because they've got what she never had. The Farradays have contentment. All Aunt Abbey has is money, and when she's gone they'll have that, too."

Only they didn't. Because when Aunt Abbey died the year Ellen Farraday was nine, she left them no money at all. Her entire estate went to charity, with one exception: She left Mrs. Farraday a rug. It was an Oriental rug, exceptionally large and lovely; golden in color, satiny to the touch, starred with dusty pink flowers.

"It's a shame," people said, "when those children need money so. But of course they can sell the rug. It's valuable and Orientals are in vogue." Then a dealer offered Mrs. Farraday $25,000 for her rug.

The town rejoiced for the Farradays. This meant college for the children and money to fix up the old house. But, to the amazement of everyone, Mrs. Farraday stubbornly refused to sell. She had always admired that rug, she said. She'd been as surprised as anyone when Aunt Abbey had left it to her. She had always thought Aunt Abbey disliked her; all those unkind remarks she used to make. But now she was grateful for the rug and meant to keep it.

Since the narrow living room at the Farradays was too small for the rug, Mr. Farraday was persuaded to sell the home and rent a house with larger rooms. Their old stuff looked pretty shabby against the rug, so with the money from the sale of the home they bought new furniture. And after awhile, because of the friends they acquired in the new surroundings, the Farradays bought a new car, too.

I saw less of Ellen now, except at school. Gradually my visits to the Elks' picnic that year. Everyone took Skippy's little body out of the water that night. My mother sat with Mrs. Farraday when they brought him home. Dora Farraday didn't come home at all. She sent a telegram. It arrived just as they were bringing Skippy's body into the house. Dora had left Skippy alone by the lake to elope to New York with her new beau.

Ellen continued at school; she had always been very quiet. And after awhile, Mrs. Farraday went about the town again, holding her head very high, smiling her fixed, gay smile. Only Mr. Farraday seemed changed. He aged visibly that year. Nobody was surprised when the cold he caught just before Christmas turned into pneumonia. The doctors said that he just hadn't the will to live.

Dora came home when her father died. Mrs. Farraday sent her the money. Dora's husband had left her and Dora had been working in New York, clerking in a store. People thought that "perhaps she'd stay home now, since her mother needed her, but nobody really expected she would. Danny Wright was married now, to one of Dora's former classmates, a plain little girl with adoring eyes. They came to Mr. Farraday's funeral, sitting closely together in the church. The week after the funeral Dora went back to her job in New York, and the day after she left Mrs. Farraday came to see my father about selling her rug to pay her bills.

She'd taken Skippy to the picnic, hadn't she? She should not have gone off with that beau of hers, leaving the child alone by the lake.

My father did his best; but this was a depression year—and nobody had money now for Oriental rugs. The five thousand dollars he finally got from a dealer barely paid for Mr. Farraday's funeral and for Mrs. Farraday's debts. Mrs. Farraday got a job at the hotel. Her salary included room and board, so that Ellen could live with her, too.

It was storming hard the day they moved down there. We left them alone and drove home through the snow-covered town, passing the old Farraday house on the way. Nobody lived in it now. Tears crowded behind my lids as we drove slowly by.

"They were happy in that house," my father said. "A great pity they ever moved out of it. If Aunt Abbey knew what she was doing when she made that will, then she must be laughing now in her grave."

"That's it!" she exclaimed. "She did know what she was doing. And I'm surprised that I never thought of it before."

"What do you mean?" My father stared at her. Her voice had sounded strange.

"She knew exactly what she was doing!" my mother said. "And wherever she is—she probably is laughing Aunt Abbey knew that Mrs. Farraday would never be able to resist living up to that rug!"

Cities Grant Pay Increases To Help Meet Rising Costs

Scores of cities are granting pay raises to municipal employees to help them meet increased living costs. In Cleveland the mayor agreed to grant pay raises to municipal employees which will cost the city $2,160,000 this year. Fire and police personnel received a $240-a-year increase, plus six new holidays to be added to annual furloughs.

White collar employees of Cleveland will get a $180 annual raise if they make less than $3,000 a year. Their increase will be 8.5 per cent if they make more than $3,000 annually.

Pittsburgh councilmen earmarked $1,500,000 for municipal pay raises. Biggest pay boosts went to employees receiving $2,000 a year or less.

Chicago's record city budget for 1948 includes pay increases of 8.5 per cent for municipal employees earning less than $5,000 a year, plus raises averaging $300 a year for higher paid employees.

In Omaha, all city employees have been given a flat $15 per month wage boost. The increase will affect approximately 1,260 workers.

New York City boosted the salaries of 42 top city officials. The action added $48,000 to this year's payroll.

START FROM SCRAPS

Boys Comb Rubbish Heaps For Boat Contest Materials

It's a treasure hunt in the rubbish heap for boys all over the United States. They are seeking old tin cans, mother's castoff garters, scraps of wood, paper clips, rubber bands and even leftover paint, all of which will be used for building entries in the first nationwide Skipper's Cup model speedboat contest.

To build a swift and sturdy craft for less than $1 is the immediate objective of many of the quarter million youngsters who are members of or affiliated with Boys' Clubs of America. This organization and Eveready Battery company are co-sponsors of the nationwide contest.

If the "skipper" qualifies locally, his next aim is to survive regional eliminations so he can race his speedboat in the Reflecting Pool at Washington April 10 and 11 for final honors.

The national contest is dated to coincide with annual observance of Boys' Club Week.

The contest is limited to boys under 10, all of whom are supplied with working drawings of model types. The model boat was designed by Douglas Rolfe, who also will serve as one of the judges of the national finals. Instructions covering length, weight and detail govern all series. Hulls must be completed and water speed tests certified to national headquarters on or before March 13.

Builders of the best boats locally will receive awards of tiny, two-ounce electric motors and a supply of flashlight batteries. Winners in the seven Boys' Club regions of the U. S. will receive regional Skipper's Cups.

In the national finals in Washington the seven boys who score top time trials, regardless of region, will compete before U. S. and foreign celebrities under the shadow of the Lincoln Memorial.

Judges will include Guy Lombardo, band leader and speedboat champion; Bill Stern and other well-known sports figures. Former President Hoover is serving as honorary chairman of the national committee.

Local craftsmanship contests will precede speed trials. Judging, which will be on a basis of point competition, will cover basic design, originality, workmanship, finish and overall appearance.

Woman Lighthouse Keeper Quits Post As Feet Are 'Tired'

TURKEY POINT, MD.—Because her feet are tired and she wants to "just rest," Mrs. Fannie Salter, the last woman lighthouse keeper on Chesapeake bay, has given up her job.

Believed to be the only qualified lightkeeper of her sex in the nation, Mrs. Salter retired from a job she has held for 23 years. She took charge of the Turkey Point tower on February 11, 1925, under appointment by Calvin Coolidge. She succeeded her husband, who had been the keeper for three years before his death.

On sick leave since last September, the woman light tender explains that "climbing the tower has given me fallen arches."

Although she has no definite plans for the future, Mrs. Salter, who is in her 60s, insists that she will remain near the water. Her immediate plans are to "just rest and catch up on long-delayed visits with relatives."

He Gets Stung Daily—But It's His Living

BALTIMORE.—Harold J. Franklin gets stung several times a day—but he makes his living by doing it. Franklin's job entails thrusting his arm into a cage filled with 3,000 mosquitoes. After a minute he withdraws his arm and counts the bites. If they total about 60, well and good. If not, he repeats the process in another cage until he can get the required number of bites.

When he finds a hungry community of mosquitoes, he covers his arm with insecticide and thrusts it in again, giving the insects another opportunity for a vicious bite on his arm. Once again he must laboriously count the number of bites. Franklin is a laboratory technician for a local chemical company. The process is a test of the power of mosquito repellents which the company is developing.

War Vets Respond To Call for Blood

ATLANTA, GA.—For 24 veterans of battlefields extending from Luzon to St. Lo, the call for blood was enough.

Many of them gratefully remembered that their own lives had been saved by blood plasma during the war, and here was Lawson veterans' hospital appealing for blood donors.

All 24, with Purple Hearts shining on their jackets, lined up at the hospital to give blood.

Proud Son Sees Widowed Mother In Cap and Gown

ITHACA, N. Y.—When the library tower chimes at Cornell university pealed forth their congratulations to mid-year graduates, Jonathan Hartwell Harwood III, aged 4, near burst with pride.

Among the young women in academic robes was his mother, Virginia Oake Harwood. Few fellows have the privilege of seeing their mothers graduate from college.

Jonny doesn't know it, but he was the chief reason why his mother finished her course in the college of home economics. Jonny's father fought in the invasion of Normandy, June 6, 1944; and he never came back.

Jonny's dad graduated from Cornell, too—in 1942. And his mother, whose parents live in Lockport, N. Y., left school in her sophomore year to marry him. They didn't have much time together—just a couple of summers while dad was training at Fort Bragg. Then he was sent to England to train as a Ranger—and was made a captain. Then came D-Day. . . .

"People thought I was crazy when I decided to take my two-and-one-half-year-old son to Ithaca with me in the fall of 1945 and continue college," Mrs. Harwood admits. "Maybe I was a little crazy. But I had to have something to do—something to occupy my time and my mind. I could be a better mother to Jonny. I felt, if I graduated from college and was prepared to earn my living."

The pension and insurance money made it possible for them to rent a small Ithaca apartment and live in modest comfort. And Jonny went to Cornell, too. Jonny attended the college's nursery school. He also will be graduated this year—from nursery school to kindergarten.

Sale of Leasing Space To Restore Old Plaza

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Appealing to the weaker side of man, Albuquerque Historical society offered leasing privileges in the plaza in return for donations in a drive for funds to restore the old town plaza. Results were good, officials of the society report.

The scale ran: For $3.55, one square foot of leasing space; for $10, plain and fancy leasing anywhere; for $17.10, leasing privileges with trills; for $25, your child's footprint in concrete, and for $50, your own footprint.

Spring Freshet
Grace Noll Crowell

I LIKE the look of snow when it is melting
And sending its clear rivulets toward the sea;
I like the sweep of dry grasses bending
Beneath those bright feet, suddenly set free.
I have seen small green leaves under water
That snow had hidden through the winter hours,
Fresher and greener and sweeter than the leafing
That springs to life after the April showers:
A little clever leaf washed clean by waiting,
Eager for life again at the first of spring!
I reach my fingers into the icy water
To touch that tender, tremulous, wiseful thing.
Knowing a kinship with it, deep and abiding,
I, too, have waited until the winter passed,
And I lift my hand after a strange contentment
To the bright air again, the sun at last!

METHODIST CHURCH

Home and at church school. Membership involves the mature person's acceptance of certain definite responsibilities. Baptism of small children is not the same as church membership. But those who are old enough to take the church membership vows must previously have been baptized.

A closing thought: "Christianity is not a way of doing certain things, but a certain way of doing all things."

The American Red Cross has set a national goal of $75,000,000 for 1948.

CARD OF THANKS

We are sincerely grateful to our friends for their help and sympathy during the illness and death of our beloved mother.

AT YOUR DEALERS

Because of the shortage of sugar and tires during the war we were forced to suspend delivery of Coca-Cola to Carrizozo. Now we are again making regular deliveries and you can get all of the Coca-Cola you want... at the same old price... the same price to our friends in Carrizozo as to our next door neighbors in El Paso.
