Joe Kiker Announces For County Sheriff

Joe Kiker, owner of the Holsum Baking Company agency in Ruidoso announced this week that he will be a candidate for Sheriff of Lincoln County subject to the Republican Primary June 8.

Kiker has been in business in Ruidoso for the past two years, having come here from Roswell. He lives here with Mrs. Kiker and their two children at their home near the Ruidoso River. In making his announcement, Kiker said:

"I will make my campaign strictly on a platform of experience, honesty and capability. I have had more than seven years experience in law enforcement in the Southwest, including New Mexico. This experience has been gained in both industrial areas and in State Police work. Lincoln County needs a young man with experience in its sheriff's office—one who is a veteran and who is a friend of veterans. If elected, I will perform the duties of County Sheriff to the best of my ability and in an impartial manner."

Kiker is a director in the Ruidoso Lions Club and active in the work of that organization as well as in Chamber of Commerce activities.

Mrs. W. N. Rutherford who had undergone an appendectomy in an Albuquerque hospital last week, returned to her home here Monday.

Mrs. Otto Lowe was a visitor here Friday from Capitan.

Mrs. Elva S. Wilson Announces For Office School Superintendent

We have been authorized to announce the candidacy of Mrs. Elva S. Wilson of Ancho as a candidate for County Superintendent of Schools, subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held in June.

Mrs. Wilson is well qualified for this office, with a background of 24 years of teaching experience, 21 years of which were in Lincoln County. She is also an active member of the New Mexico Educational Association, the South Central District Association and of the Lincoln County Teachers Association.

Mrs. Wilson is efficient in the performance of duties; takes an interest in club work, and civic enterprises; has a gift of seeing what is needed for the improvement of schools, and will be a skillful and gracious promoter of such improvements.

She earnestly asks your support in the coming election.

Services Held For Judge A. H. Hudspeth

Last Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, a short memorial service was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rolland for the late Judge Andrew H. Hudspeth. It was a quiet service with the four Justices of the Supreme Court with whom he had served being present and a few of the old-time friends with whom he had been associated for the past fifty-one years.

Judge Sadler of Santa Fe gave an impressive eulogy after which the Reverend Howard Pitts prayed. After dismissal his nephew Owen Simpson and a few friends drove to the airport where his nephew and Pilot Roy Shafer, ascending in a plane flew to White Oaks where the small casket was opened and the ashes scattered there.

The Los Angeles Crematory had charge of services at Los Angeles. Besides the Judges present other out of town attendants at the service here were Oliver Seth, son of Judge J. O. Seth of Santa Fe, Attorneys John E. Hall and Martin Threot of Albuquerque, Attorney George Shipley of Alamogordo, District Attorney, William E. Saeglings of Lee Cruces and Assistant District Attorney Chavez, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Titworth of Capitan, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Spencer of Three Rivers, Mr. and Mrs. Tom James of the O Bar O ranch and D. L. Jackson of White Oaks.

About Hospitals

On another page of this paper will be found the announcement of the much talked of Bond Election to be voted on shortly—and the names of judges and clerks for the precincts.

This is a weighty problem to be voted upon, and while it will, to some extent raise our taxes it is urged that the voters vote "yes" for both hospitals—one at Ruidoso and one at Carrizozo.

Next week we hope to have a more complete report, or at least an outline of the benefits to be expected from two splendid institutions of this kind in the county.

Several friends of Mrs. J. G. Moore honored her with a party and shower at the Womens Club building from 3 until 5 p. m. yesterday. It was a lovely party and many pretty and useful gifts were received by the honoree.

Mr. J. H. Hoffman, Sr. has been ill of pneumonia at the home of her son, Henry for several days. Her younger son, Arthur Hoffman of Arizona arrived this week to be at her bedside.

FORD NEWS

(By Cliff Zumwalt, Vice-President Lincoln County Motors, Inc.)

It now appears definite that we are going to have some new Ford Tractors in the near future. We are trying to get notice by mail to all of the ranchers and farmers who had applied to the old Ford dealership, but find that our list is somewhat out of date. If you want to be in line for delivery of one of these new machines and you have not had a letter from us, please us or drop us a card. We'll forward details immediately.

Incidentally, we have a stock of Ford tractor implements on hand, ready for spot delivery. Planters, cultivators, blades, and the like are still hard to get most places. If you have a particular piece of equipment in mind, and need it right away, tell us about it. Perhaps we can get it from another dealer by giving him a piece of our stock if we haven't exactly what you want.

Letters have been forwarded to all Ford passenger car and truck buyers on our list. Replies are coming in by every mail. Each applicant being given a chance to accept or reject the model that is available.

Incidentally, we find that it is being assumed that every early delivery of a new Ford truck or car can be "bought" or "arranged" by payment of a premium or bonus. That is not true. We will not listen to any proposition of this kind; neither will we "load" a vehicle with extra accessories beyond those which the buyer specifically orders.

We condemn the practice of premiums, extras, and all other "gyps". We submit that the dealer who takes advantage of the public during this period of scarce new cars will lose in the long run.

If you are looking for a good used car to buy, it might not be a bad idea to leave your name and address with us. As we get delivery on our new and larger quota of new Fords, we expect to be able to offer a few special bargains in used cars that we take in on trade.

It is reported that used car prices are on the down trend in big cities. You can bet it won't be long now until automobile dealers—ourselves included—will be back in the business of "selling" new cars rather than just "delivering" them. It's been years, you know, since it took any work or effort to sell new cars or even good used cars.

That's why we've set out on a program to be the best dealers in this county. That's why we're plowing back big profits in this company into new shop equipment, bigger and better-balanced inventory of parts. That's why we're breaking our necks to get a new plant set-up. When hard competition returns, we'll be right here in position to render swell service at prices that will make our competitors worry and our customers and friends smile.

More, next week.

DEVOTIONAL READING: Philippians 4:4-9

Christian Character
Lesson for March 14, 1948

WHO is the most valuable person in your community? In many communities it has come to be the custom to select the Man of the Year or the Woman of the Year, the idea usually being to name the person, through a process of sampling of public opinion, who has rendered the outstanding service of the year.

Sunday's lesson is a dramatic scene out of the long ago, picturing a community's tribute to a truly great man, the apostle Paul. Read Acts 20:17-38, and you will have the story.

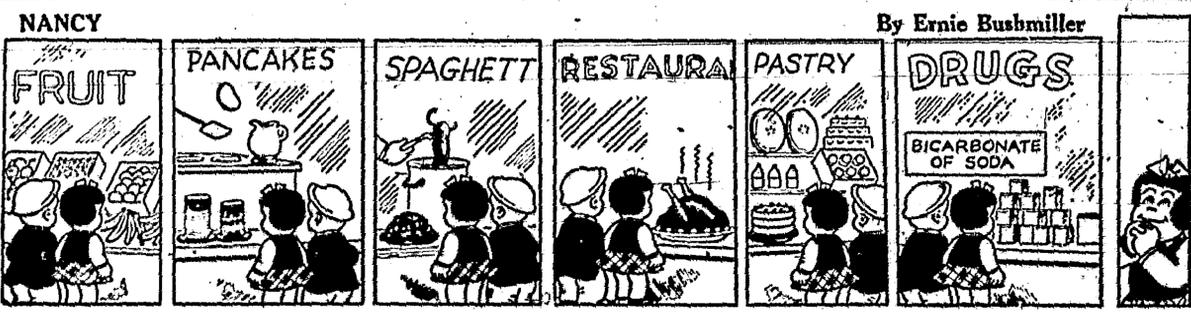

LOVED AND HONORED THE first impression I get from this story is the fact that these people of Ephesus loved Paul. They loved him enough to lay aside their work and hasten to the nearby seaport of Miletus to see him for the first time, and to bow down in his presence and honor him. Why did they thus love Paul? Because he had told them about God. You need not read again the record of Paul's ministry in that important city of Ephesus to be reminded of how greatly he had served them in the name of Jesus. Loved and honored! What a tribute to the worth of Christian character! Wouldn't you appreciate the tribute which they paid Paul as the goal out yonder to which you strive? Boys and girls of today may thus be honored tomorrow, if they will live for Jesus as Paul did.

THE POWER OF RIGHT LIVING PAUL not only told the Ephesians how to live, but illustrated day by day in his own life what he preached to them. The most eloquent sermons are not spoken, but lived. "What you are speaking so loudly I can't hear what you say." The boy and man who plays the game straight are putting into practice what the teacher and preacher preaches on Sunday. The power of right living will win its way today, just as it did in the long ago when Paul witnessed for Jesus in Ephesus. It was not easy to live for Christ in Ephesus, nor is it easy to live for him in Chicago or Los Angeles or Boston or Miami, but it is the old way to ultimately impress the world of the reality of Christianity.

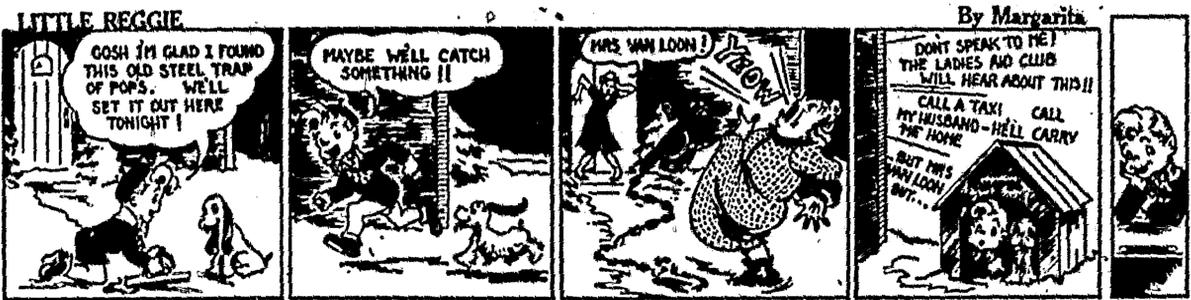

PAUL'S CONSUMING PASSION WE ARE what we are becoming, and never was this axiom of life more powerfully illustrated than in the case of Paul. "I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus," Philippians 3:14. And in Ephesians 5:6-21, Paul reviews the qualities of conduct which produce worthwhile character, admonishing all Christians to strive for these qualities. "I live, yet not I, Christ liveth in me," is another of Paul's watchwords, and still again, "I can do all things through Christ, who strengtheneth me." It was the consuming passion of his life to embody the teachings of Christ in his words and in his works. It is conceivable that the people at Ephesus had come to see Christ in the life of Paul, and that his daily ministry in their midst convinced them that God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself.

WHAT AM I WORTH? THE question then emerges, "What am I worth to my community? When I come to the end of the journey, will the people who know the best honor and love me for what I have done?" I can see the people at Ephesus bowing on the deck at Miletus, kissing this weary old servant of the Lord. It is a beautiful scene. This tribute meant more to Paul than all the gold of Ephesus would have meant. It was compensation of abiding worth to him. And what is vastly more important, it was glory to God which must have craved the praise of the angels about the great White Throne.

On God's Word John Wycliffe, in the introduction to his translation of the Bible into English in 1380, wrote as follows: "When the teachings of the Bible are generally accepted and acted on, then shall we have a government of, for, and by the people." Four hundred years later the American republic was established—the first great democracy—and it was successful because the Constitution and the Bill of Rights were founded on God's Word.

RAS'BRIES
By SETH BABITS

AMONG the million-odd things Spence wanted to do was visit Topley's. He'd been a yen for Topley's back there, in the desert wastes. He craved it, a cat would catnap or a homesick Eskimo, an iceberg.

And now, as he hurried his chunky form up the narrow street, the blue neoh above Topley's window blazed welcome in letters two feet high.

Spence alid into a seat. He breathed, "Razzberry soda, please. Topley special."

He closed his eyes and envisioned a monument of pink and white.

A girl's voice, clear and soft, reached him.

"Raz-bry soda," she informed. "Without ras-bries."

He raised his head. Her eyes were warm and gray. An amused smile bowed her lips.

"Without—" he faltered.

Her manner, humored his confusion. But Spence didn't see that. It struck him she was part of the soda. That the dream also took her in.

He watched her scoop out a gob of ice-cream, drop it into a tall glass, squirt in a crimson syrup and heard the harsh gurgle of carbonated water. The glass was placed before him.

He placed his lips to the straw and pulled. Coldness luxuriously flowed over his tongue, daubed his palate, trickled down his throat and touched off revelations of deliciousness he'd almost forgotten. It evoked imagery, Lying face upward in a shallow mountain lake . . . elastic stars shimmering on waters above . . . night winds whispering in giant pines . . . drifting . . . drifting in a rowboat . . . and a girl beside him . . . gray-eyed and pretty . . . a girl like . . . and he looked up. He felt the impact of her presence.

She said, "You enjoyed that?"

Enjoyed! He'd known the pricelessness of a cold glass of water. He grinned.

"Hit the spot like a letter from home."

Spence expected a smile, but she merely picked up his empty glass and erased the moist ring beneath with an efficient stroke of a damp cloth. He felt he'd missed the target, but wide. He rose awkwardly and plunged a hand into his pocket. His coin vibrated on the counter. A frustrated ring.

The cash register crr-unged dismissal. Spence half-wheeled to go. In turning, his eye caught the tab. NO SALE! The girl's hand swept to her blouse pocket. The clink of metal told him his coin had joined others.

It was none of his concern, yet the act had been so brazen. He heard himself saying, "Don't they treat you right, here?"

Spence couldn't make out her expression. "They do," she answered succinctly.

"I saw you pocket that money."

"So what?" her coolness irritated him.

"If the owner caught you—"

"There's nothing he could do about it," she began to straighten a row of glasses before her. The gesture tokened disinterest in his opinions. More, it infuriated him.

"I wouldn't have believed it," he managed.

Instantly he was sorry for her. He noticed that dark lashes rested on her cheeks. He realized also his heart was thumping and there was a quaver in his voice that he couldn't control.

"Why don't you ask for a raise?"

"I can't—"

"Then quit. Get another job."

A tall man loomed in the doorway. He was thick shouldered, and muscles like Idaho potatoes bulged his arms, laden at the moment with two big paper bags.

Spence glanced at the girl. Beneath her coolness, he thought he detected an undercurrent of excitement.

She said courteously, "Did you get everything?"

The man shrugged his shoulders and laid the bags on the counter. "Yeah," he grunted. "Exceptin' powdered sugar." His tone was gruff. He tore the bag down the center.

Spence stared. There, tucked in between two packages lay a jar of blouse pocket. "I've got two new quarters," she offered.

"Swell," he glowed with delight. He placed a fifty cent piece on the counter. "I just need about six more," he said as she rang up the money, "and I'll have enough for the kid's birthday. Thanks a lot, Miss Topley."

Spence was up. He was past the threshold and into the street. A detaining hand touched his shoulder. He brushed it off.

"Pu-leez," and a slim figure twisted around and blocked his passage.

"What's the big idea," he demanded.

"I couldn't help it. Once you got rasberries. Atop the pile glistened another of cherries, bright, red, full, exciting and prophetic of delight.

Vaguely, he could hear the man counting. Meaningless numbers. He'd have to have a Topley special first, then take care of the girl. Spence regarded her expression. Injury dominated her fair face and a pensive smile hovered about her lips. It rebuked him.

With sinking heart and forward thrust of lean jaw, Spence gulped and announced:

"Sir, I want to talk to you."

"What's botherin' you, son?"

Spence cleared his throat. "You look like a regular guy," he began. "Now, supposin' you had a conscientious employe. You'd want to keep her, huh?"

"You said it," the man nodded vigorously.

"Now if you had a person like that and you felt she was competent to take care of the store," Spence took a deep breath and plunged, "would you give her a raise if she was to ask you. Would you?"

"Guess so," the man acknowledged.

"How much?"

"Well, the man's thick shouldered. "Maybe ten," he said at last.

"You heard him," Spence turned triumphantly toward the girl. "I'm a witness."

She nodded. Her eyes were glowing.

"If you'll excuse me, son," the man was saying, "I'm kind of busy. I got a lot of deliveries to make." He handed a paper to the girl.

"Here's the bill," he remarked.

"Thanks. I'll file it. Oh, yes," Spence saw her reach into her started—I couldn't stop you. How about having a super special—with me?"

Spence visioned maraschino cherries floating on a rose pond above submerged raspberries. He also discovered lights in her eyes, flashes of radiant promise. He placed her arm in his. The action seemed most natural. "I'm glad you've reformed," he grinned. They went back into the store.

So You Think You Have Moods

A young navy lieutenant, not too long out of the service, told me over the luncheon table the other day that he became very much discouraged over himself. I pointed out he hadn't any reason to be. He has a good job. He's doing it well.

"That's just the trouble," he said. "I'm not doing it well. I know I'm not. One day I feel sure that I have everything a man needs to be successful and happy. Then the next day I'm clear down in the dumps. It's my moods. Isn't there anything a person can do about moods?"

I told him, as I am presently going to tell you, that of course there is something anyone can do about his moods. I told him furthermore something he never heard of before, that having moods is perfectly normal, perfectly natural, and a good rather than a bad thing.

We know a good deal more about moods now than we did a few years ago, for now we know that at certain times we are going to be happy, regardless of how things break for us, while at others we are going to feel depressed, also regardless of how things break.

Largely responsible for this information is Dr. Rexford Herahey of the University of Pennsylvania, one of the first scientists to study our emotional curves.

By his researches Dr. Herahey proved that we all have our ups and downs and these occur with regularity. We are elated, cheerful, pleasant, unpleasant, peevish, grouchy. That is one cycle. Then we become elated, cheerful, pleasant, and so forth, again. Our lives are a series of cycles—emotional cycles.

These cycles, moreover, appear with almost exact regularity. With some persons they appear every month; with others every two or three months. Highly emotional people go through their emotional cycles often in less than two-weeks' time, then start all over again; they are always in a dither. But long or short, each of us has his emotional curve.

Maybe you are wondering what you can do to control this curve. You can't control it, but you can disguise it, so that regardless of how you really feel, you put your best foot forward where the rest of the world is concerned.

And how do you do that? It's simple. Just remember that we take our emotions from our actions, not our actions from our emotions. In other words, to feel cheerful, just act cheerful. The next time you reach the low point of your emotional curve, try that. Act cheerful, talk cheerful, and you will be cheerful.

Six Daring Aerialists In Incredible Escape

In a motorbus accident in Japan in 1934, the seven passengers, all men, saved their lives in one of the most incredible escapes on record, says Collier's. While rounding a mountain road, the bus skidded, went over a cliff and crashed several hundred feet below, killing the driver.

Halfway down the mountain, however, the vehicle had bumped into a lone tree which checked its fall for an instant. During these few seconds, the men made a mass flying leap from the windows of the bus to the branches of the tree. Their amazing agility and timing were accounted for by the fact that they were aerialists, performing together in a trapeze act of a circus.

AROUND THE HOUSE

A watched kettle never boils—especially if you leave a spoon in the pan. The spoon conducts heat away from the liquid and retards boiling.

Glue a small piece of cloth measuring tape to the inside of the wooden frame of your knitting bag. You'll find this handy when sewing or knitting.

When finishing unlined coats, or garments made of sheer fabrics, press the seams open. Then by turning the edges back on themselves, stitch along the turned edge. Do not stitch through the right side of the garment, however. Dainty even running stitches make a neat job.

If delicate net curtains are placed in a cheesecloth bag, they may be laundered safely in the washing machine. Such articles as nylon hose and lingerie may also be washed this way.

Loose hinges are a common cause of sagging doors, and often the mere tightening of the screws will correct the trouble in a jiffy. However, if there is some warping of the wood, a planing job probably will be necessary.

Itching or Dry Eczema
Why scratch and suffer helplessly? Find happy relief as so many others do—use soothing, medicated RESINOL, the popular ointment of many uses.

Acid foods such as tomatoes, lemons and vinegar are apt to leave a stain on porcelain enamel of range or refrigerator. So be careful in handling these foods in the kitchen.

Do not immerse the electrical parts of an appliance in water, particularly the motor, heating element, thermostat, or switch.

The vitamin value of lettuce drops markedly when this vegetable is kept in the refrigerator too long. The rate of loss corresponds to the amount of wilting.

To retain the fluffiness of chenille or candlewick bedspreads hang them double and wrong side out when drying. In this manner the tufting rubs together and is kept fluffy.

A Church Spire at Sunset
Grace Noll Crowell

ABOVE the city street a church's spire is climbing its bright ladder to the sky. The spire's slates glow red, its tip in fire. A single burning finger there, and high above that peak a flying white dove swings. A scarlet light upon its lifted wings.

These are God's emblems, and they call to men

Above the darkening shadows of the street, Echoing to them, bidding them hope again, Bidding them stay a moment their swift feet, Calling to them to lift their eyes, and there, Seeing that pointing finger, breathe a prayer, And the white bird flying heavenward bids them cease

The clamor of their hearts and find His peace.

To a homemaker, there is nothing as wonderful as a well planned kitchen. This kitchen is remarkable for its efficiency, convenience, and step-saving arrangement. To make it a cook's delight it has all the proper accoutrements for preparing nourishing, well-balanced meals, and aside from its functional and utilitarian services it includes a home-like atmosphere in its color scheme. The walls are warm yellow, the floor and table top covering are flecked, grey and black. The interesting window shade that covers the three-in-one window is grey with painted design of a gay white cage and yellow bird. The curtains are yellow with a grey and green trim. The cabinets, sink and stove are sparkling kitchen-white.

Another Four Year College

Plans are being considered for establishing full four year college courses at the New Mexico Military Institute by 1950. At the present time this institution has been offering junior college work covering the first two years of college, and also the last two years of high school work. However, a four year course in military training will continue as part of the school curriculum. General Hugh M. Milton II former President of New Mexico College of A & M A has been made President of the Institute. The addition of this four year college will increase the number of such institutions offering such courses supported by the State to seven, the other six being the University of New Mexico, the School of Mines, the College of A & M A, State Teacher's College, Highlands University, and the Eastern New Mexico College.

Cost and Efficiency in Education

"High per pupil expenditure may not mean a high quality of education, but rather excessive costs due to an inefficient educational system. Low expenditures, on the other hand, may not signify an inferior quality of education, but instead a most effective use of teaching personnel and compliance with accepted standards of efficient school administration. Between these extremes lie all the variables which affect the cost of education, and which should be borne in mind in the interpretation of the figures." Connecticut Public Expenditure Survey, Inc.

National Income

Studies just completed by Notre Dame University show that over a 30 year period 88 per cent of the total national income was paid to persons receiving less than $5,000 per year; 8 per cent was paid to those in the $5,000 to $25,000 bracket, and only 4 per cent went to those receiving more than $25,000 annually. The average taxpayer is taxed for nearly one-third of his income, but those with higher income are taxed a higher per cent.

Oil Production in New Mexico

At a recent meeting of Miners' & Prospectors' Association in Carlsbad, Glenn Staley of Hobbs, umpire for the Oil production Board, told the miners that New Mexico's 5031 producing oil wells give the State seventh rank among the oil-producing states, the 105,240 acres of proven oil acres territory in the State having produced 7732,512,463 of oil since 1924. The industry now employs, according to Mr. Staley, 10,000 persons, with an annual payroll of $28,000,000.

During the last 33 years, government reports show the United States has given and loaned approximately $100 billion to people and governments of foreign nations. Santa Fe Almanac.

BLUE CROSS PLAN

RE-APPROVED IN STATE

Richard M. Jones, director of the Blue Cross Commission established and supervised by the Trustees of the American Hospital Association announced that Hospital and Surgical Service, Inc. has been re-approved as the only Blue Cross plan operating in the state of New Mexico.

Uncle Sam Says

The kid in upper 4 captured your heart during wartime. In spirit you traveled with him toward his uncertain future on the battlefield. The kid upstairs today is yours. The "kid" may be a freckled boy, or a curly haired little girl—your son or daughter who will need your help through savings to find a place in everyday life. The Payroll Savings Plan for buying United States Savings Bonds where you work is the only automatic, safe, creditable way for you to buy bonds by the installment payment method. In this way you can build the nest egg which can make the difference between wishing and having the funds for education and a secure future for your children. If you are self-employed, buy bonds automatically through the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank.

Your Money Matters

About City Government

Let's check the record of the present Village Government. To start with the Village of Carrizozo now owns between 1/4 and 1/2 million dollars in public utilities with parks, etc., and operates to the best advantage of the people. We must have a mayor and council who have made a success of their own business.

Let's consider 12 or 13 points in regard to the operation of the Village of Carrizozo, commencing in 1944 when the present Council took over the management of the Village.

No. 1. The Water Department was losing 25% of the water that was being paid for and this was the first thing corrected and a saving had been made in order that $8,000.00 balance bond issue has been paid off in full and a balance on hand of about $3,000.00 to be used for extension and improvement of the water system.

No. 2. The Gas Department was turned over to a Mr. Howell, and the Village was in bad financially and have had to issue new bonds to take up the old ones and this is the second thing the Council did in turning this back to the Village from private hands, as it was operated for the individual's benefit and not for the town's. Since the storage tank was increased from 4000 gallons to 18,000 gallons, the Village has never run out of gas; however, the bad weather did reduce the pressure during the storm, but this too, has been corrected, with the aid of the Mayor and Mr. Elliott.

No. 3. Lights, water, and gas, streets and parks was put under one manager for more economical operation. This has proven to be one man's full time job and no ordinary person is qualified to take this position.

No. 4. After several letters were written back and forth to Washington, the Women's Club Building was sold to the Woman's Club and the money from this fund had to be placed in a fund to be used as a City Building which is now being reconstructed and remodeled for a City Hall, making the Village Office and Council Chambers in size enough to take care of the utilities requirements.

No. 5. The frozen food locker and ice plant was installed, and together with the light and power plant, are operating at a profit of about 14% when 8% is considered good operating profit. This was accomplished by issuing some additional revenue bonds and at the same time additional power was installed. This was done to make Carrizozo a better center for the immediate trade territory the Village is serving.

No. 6. When this Administration took over, we had the lights off very often because we did not have enough power to do the job, and with the locker plant, enough bonds were issued to buy an additional engine as said before, which produces about 50% more kilowatts per gallon than the two original engines and we have had no long blackouts since this new engine has been installed.

No. 7. A triangular park has been added to the Village property which was purchased from C. A. Snow at a small cost and remains the Village property for park purpose, only. This cannot be sold or used for any other purpose, as the deed reads that it returns to the original owner if it is used for anything else.

No. 8. At least three trips have been made to Santa Fe by the Council and other citizens in an effort to get the State aid for oiling of about four miles of additional streets. The gasoline tax is paying the Village's part of this improvement. This has been worked on for about two years, and we still owe the Water Department about $3,000.

No. 9. Owing to the improved conditions of the Water Department, it was possible to give everyone free water for the month of December, 1947. This is the first dividend paid to the people of Carrizozo owing to the fact that they own their own water system, and this system is getting in better shape all the time.

No. 10. Another badly needed improvement is the installation of a better street lighting system on Alamo Avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets with plans of adding another block as soon as financial conditions would allow. Most of this material is already on hand and General Electric has promised the balance in about four weeks. Work will progress on this as soon as the weather will permit.

No. 11. For forty years the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company has been using the streets and alleys of Carrizozo free and in that time the Village has paid the Telephone Company about $4000.00 for local telephone service without a Village franchise. Now in November, 1947, the Council has given the Telephone Company a franchise for 25 years and in return the Mountain States Telephone Company will give free telephone service for the time of the franchise up to and including five telephones which will amount to about four or five thousand dollars. This has been done by the present Council as nothing along this line had been done before.

No. 12. Through the efforts of the Council and the Fire Department arrangements have been made through the Government State Finance Board and the Insurance Commission at Santa Fe to use $8,000.00 of Fire Department Funds in the erection of a Fire Department Building which includes double the space for fire apparatus, a club room for the Fire Department and a dance hall and rest room accommodations which is all finished except the dance hall and rest rooms, but the $8,000.00 has already been spent on the present building and lots. As soon as monies are available, this building will be completed.

No. 13. The conditions of the plots of the Village of Carrizozo is so antiquated that it is impossible to find anything on a plot of the Village, and the Council has authorized Mr. Dawson to put all the town limits on one plot including all the additions that are within the Village limits and these are in the making now and will have to be platted and may be reduced in size so that anyone who wants to can purchase one. On these plots in the Village Office, are to be placed the water system, the electric system, the gas system and the sewer system, so the people who will take over the operations in years to come will have something to go by for there is nothing on record now to help the Village Manager in his work of caring for the different utilities.

"Party Split" More Fun than a Fire

Schism of Dixie Democrats Could Wreck Party Hopes

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator

A political year may be pretty hard on business, international affairs and persons who expect congress or the President to take some highly important but controversial action which might scare away votes—but, if you can stand on the sidelines dodging the brickbats which each side hurls at the other, a political year is lots of fun.

One thing that is as interesting to the casual observer as workmen excavating a cellar, a sandlot baseball game, a fire or a dog-fight, are the quadrennial "party splits" which threaten (several months before the conventions) to rend the big parties in twain. They usually end the same way—both splinters singing Sweet Adeline, and cursing the other party in perfect harmony.

On the surface the recent row between the southern Democrats and the White House looks like one of those affairs. There is no doubt that the southerners are good and mad. And by all their standards they have every right to be. So there is no telling what might happen! But the fact remains that the Negro voters in the north can vote either Republican or Democratic, just as they please. In fact, the colored population really has more freedom than the rest of the electorate because it has no tradition of following a strict pattern.

A Democrat, however, is he lives in the South and if he is to remain a Democrat, has to vote with the Democratic party, even if he does it with anger in his heart and tears in his eyes. Since the administration banks on this, we see even a president from the southern state of Missouri, defying the wishes of his friends below the Mason-Dixon.

I am not questioning any of the supporters of civil rights and the Constitution from the President down, but there does remain the fact of the Negro vote, and there remains likewise many a warm personal and political friendship which has to be subjected to a painful ordeal. The "split" is exciting to watch whether with Sweet Adeline or not.

And if you look across the aisle, you'll see some more splinters.

Listens to this: . . . If Republican leaders in congress want to win the political confidence of both Republican and Independent voters, they must stop trying to sell the program of the National Association of Manufacturers as good Republican doctrine . . .

That wasn't Henry Wallace speaking, Nor Democratic national headquarters.

That was Republican Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon. Morse assails "the conservative leadership" of his own party as vigorously as he scores reaction in the Democratic party.

I already have discussed Wallace and his third party "split." There are those who think it of so little importance that it can be ignored. Some now are predicting that before the election, Wallace will be granted some concession, some advantage, and will come out for Truman for president. I wouldn't go that far, but I have heard the prediction in more than one quarter.

Republicans are supposed to welcome Wallace to the race, and to count on him to cut down the Democratic vote to something almost insignificant.

Let me quote Senator Morse on that subject, as his words appeared in an article in the February issue of the Progressive magazine. Morse says that Wallace mustn't be taken too seriously, but that he mustn't be ignored either. He adds:

"Let my Republican party never forget that there are not enough Republicans to elect a Republican president, nor enough Democrats to elect a Democrat as president. Fortunately there are not enough fellow-travellers to elect Wallace."

"Splits" can't be ignored, it is true. They are important because there is always the possibility that the splitters might find another Teddy Roosevelt to lead them. That can't happen often, though, and meanwhile splits are fun to watch.

NEWS REVIEW Reds Assume Control Of Czech Government

There were six days of crisis in Czechoslovakia and then it was all over—the Communists were in complete control of that nation of 13 million population.

The iron curtain came down with a muffled clang as President Eduard Benes accepted the resignation of 14 of his cabinet ministers after he had refused for a week to do so.

Into power strode Communist Premier Klement Gottwald who had led his party upward from a minority status in Czechoslovakia until now its members dominated every phase of the nation's life and were prepared to swing it directly into the orbit of other Soviet satellites.

Wielding the club to keep the Czechs in line was Gottwald's good right hand, Vaclav Nosek, minister of the interior, who controls all Czechoslovakian police forces. In that powerful position in a Communist-dominated state Nosek was analogous to the mailed glove on the dictator's fist.

For what it was worth—and that was very little—aging President Benes had managed to keep at least a superficial appearance of representative government by insisting that the government be composed of members of other parties of the national front which reinstated the Czechoslovak republic in 1945 when the Germans were being driven out. But it was a hollow, tasteless victory—meaningless in any practical application.

The new government consists of 12 Communists (three were seven before), four Social Democrats, two Czech National Socialists, two Catholic Peoples party members, one Slovak Democrat and two non-party men, Jan Masaryk as foreign minister and Gen. Ludwig Svoboda as minister of defense.

Bewildered Czechs finally knew their cherished republic had come to a grim end when loud speakers in Prague blared this announcement into the night:

"Reaction has been beaten. Go back to work and let us complete our tasks on the two year plan."

In Czechoslovakia's ironic chronology the surging wall of the Red tide engulfed their country just 10 years after the western Allies had sold the nation to Hitler at Munich in a tragically selfish and futile effort to avoid war and save their own skins at the price of just one small Central European state.

Reaction

With the Balkans all tied up with a red ribbon the world began to wonder which small nation the Communist tide would engulf next.

Some thought Finland might be the top name on the list, others wondered whether Austria, France and Italy might not be clamped soon in the Communist vise.

There was general agreement on one fact, at least: That the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia had forged perhaps the most vital link in the Russian chain intended to shackle the Marshall plan.

In Finland and Italy, as in Czechoslovakia, elections were coming up soon and the Communists were out for victory. Finland, like Czechoslovakia, is ruled by a coalition government which has acknowledged that the country must remain friendly with Russia.

COLD CHICKEN: No Fuel Oil

Campaigning politicians this year may have to eliminate "a chicken in every pot" from their lists of promises because there might not be enough chickens to go around.

Reports from the poultry belt in the Midwest say that the severity of the fuel oil shortage is cutting into the 1948 baby chick hatch to threaten poultry and egg production this year.

Thousands of farmers canceled chick orders for early March delivery because they couldn't get oil for their brooder stoves. Iowa and the Northwest were suffering most from the situation, but it also was bad in Illinois and Indiana. The kerosene shortage has been severe enough to cause hardship in most of the poultry producing area.

Some poultrymen were deferring chick deliveries until later dates, hoping that warmer weather would ease the tight oil supply.

Officials of one large hybrid chick hatchery in Iowa claimed they needed six tank cars of fuel oil to get their 1948 production under way.

One of the most vociferous complaints generally being made among farmers was that city consumers were using up all the fuel oil.

FEARFUL: Hoof and Mouth

Cattle, hog and sheep growers of the U. S. continue to live in the shadow of a fear that the hoof and mouth disease which has been decimating livestock in Mexico for many months will spread across the border and affect U. S. herds.

At a recent session in Chicago a joint committee of the cattle, hog and sheep raisers forwarded a plea to Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson to renew efforts to eradicate the disease.

Among other things, the stockmen requested that these actions be taken:

- 1. Renegotiate with high Mexican officials on plans for resuming the interrupted slaughter and burial program.
- 2. Immediate construction of a fence along the present quarantine line about 250 miles south of the U. S. border.
- 3. Build new beef canning plants in the "clean" states of northern Mexico and continue to run those now operating.

'Inside Info' Exaggerated

There has been remarkable interest recently in charges that Washington officials used "inside information" obtained because of their connection with the government to play the markets. The other day one highly-placed gentleman came to me in quite a stew.

"Have you heard the rumor that I was being charged with playing the market on information I got from the White House?" he asked. "No," I replied. "Who is doing the charging?"

"That's what I want to find out," he spluttered.

"Well," I answered, surprised at his wrath, "you certainly don't feel insulted by it, do you? Anybody can be charged with anything in an election year."

"I certainly am insulted," he came back, "not because my name is being impugned, but it is an insult to my intelligence to imply that anyone who has been around Washington as long as I have would be such an ass!"

When I first came to Washington as a reporter, I remember there was a minor scandal on "leaks" that had been used for profit. The chief offender, however, was a publicity man, not an official, and from the standpoint of business it proved a fine thing for him. As soon as the charges that he had obtained confidential information and had passed it on to his client were made public he had a dozen offers from other big firms to get on their payroll. He did, but it wasn't long before he left Washington. He didn't get any more confidences.

A lesser factor in the affair was a newspaper reporter. It was discovered that he was on the payroll of a brokerage firm to whom he phoned anything he thought might be of interest after he had written his story for his paper whose last edition had an early afternoon deadline. It was shown that the brokers paid him all of $25 a month. In the investigation it also was shown that while he knew what was news for a newspaper, the reporter had only the foggiest idea of what would interest a broker as he probably never owned a share of stock in his life. He was duly fired from the paper, and suspended from the Press club, but nobody was too sore.

They knew, as my friend indicated, it was stupidity rather than lack of virtue which was his chief sin.

My own first lesson on the subject of Washington journalistic ethics was administered very tenderly by an Old Timer, my boss. My assignment was helping to cover the British embassy early in World War I, before America had become embroiled.

One night, my boss, who knew everybody in Washington, took me along to introduce me to the British commercial attache—I'm not sure that was what he was called—in those days, but it describes his job. He talked with us quite a while, much more freely than he would have conversed with me alone, for I was a stranger to him.

In the course of the conversation, he mentioned that tomorrow, or next day, Great Britain would announce what amounted to an embargo on American wool (Britain wanted to switch her buying to Australia). The attache explained the background of the move in detail.

When we were out on the street, my boss pulled out his watch and remarked to me: "Now, if we were crooked, we would still have time before the markets close to make a lot of money selling short, wouldn't we?"

He didn't have to explain further. AFTER the British had made their announcement, I was able to write a good "follow," interpreting the move. That's all any newsmen gets out of "confidential" information, and all that 99.44 per cent of us ever expect.

The same thing applies to government employees. Those who act otherwise soon depart.

Consumer Resistance Does It

Those same forces which recently knocked down prices of food and other commodities in a spectacular outburst have been quietly at work all during the past year.

Rising supply in a number of lines of goods has caught up with demand, and in some cases it has bumped into demand and money supplies on their way down, according to an analysis by the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

Poultry, eggs, potatoes, oranges, canned fruit juices, certain canned fruits and vegetables, preserves and jellies all have had little private recessions of their own during the past year. By the end of 1947 the prices of most of these items either had leveled off or were actually below the levels of a year previous, the study says.

In manufactured goods, the supply of small radios recently has overflowed the level of demand, with prices skidding in many cities. Large radios are very close to current demand, as are washing machines, stoves and deep-freeze units.

As long as consumers demand goods despite rising prices, the study pointed out, the manufacturer will pay higher and still higher costs for materials and labor, rather than have his production shut down and his flow of goods to the consumer cut off. Retail stores buy his finished products despite higher manufacturing costs because they know their customers want the goods.

But when enough consumers indicate they will not pay increased prices, then manufacturers and stores stiffen their own resistance to higher prices of materials, wage boosts and the resulting price mark-ups for the finished goods because it is evident that such further increases will prevent the products from being sold.

When demand falls off and meats rising supply, the result is a halt in the price rise and often a sharp downturn. Sometimes consumers, merchants and manufacturers all decide that prices are going to keep on declining and therefore cut their buying still more all along the line.

Downward price spirals usually start in that way, the study observed.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

Pass the Savory Chicken Pie. (See recipes below.)

Chicken Favorites

When you want to put variety in the menu, or combine interesting flavors or stretch the meat nicely, the thing to do is to serve chicken. You'll find chicken prices doing a favor to your budgets these days, and what's even nicer, chicken can be combined with so many foods that give you nice substantial meals so ideal for cooler weather.

Why not try chicken with dumplings for an old-fashioned savory favorite? Or, a tender crusty pie with pieces of chicken and vegetables in nice rich gravy.

You'll find the bits of leftover chicken go nicely into tortas, chow mein or tetrazzini chicken. All these will keep menu interest at a high pitch and help supply valuable protein, minerals and vitamins to the diet.

- Chicken Pie. (Serves 6)
- 1 chicken for stewing
 - 1 onion
 - 4 carrots
 - 3 or 4 celery leaves
 - 3 or 4 sprigs parsley
 - 1/4 cup sliced, cooked mushrooms
 - 1 1/2 cups peas, cooked
 - 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
 - 2 boiled potatoes, cut into quarters
 - 2 egg yolks
 - 1/2 cup chicken stock
 - 2 cups flour
 - 3 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 6 tablespoons shortening

Cut up chicken and stew in enough salted water to cover, with the onion, carrots, celery leaves and parsley. When tender, remove skin from pieces of chicken and place in a baking dish with cut-up carrots, peas, mushrooms, pimiento and potato. Strain and thicken the gravy, using all the stock. Cover ingredients in the casserole with it. Sift flour with baking powder and salt, and cut in the shortening. Combine egg yolks with the stock and add to dry ingredients. Mix lightly with a fork. Knead gently for a few seconds, then roll out to fit top of casserole. Cut vents in crust. Wet edges of casserole and attach crust to it. Brush top with milk. Bake in a hot (400 degree) oven 30 to 35 minutes.

- *Chicken Chow Mein (Serves 6)
- 1 cup diced celery
 - 1 small onion, sliced
 - 1 medium green pepper, sliced
 - 2 cups chicken stock
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 2 teaspoons soy sauce
 - 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
 - 2 cups shredded, cooked chicken
 - 1/2 cup water
 - 3 tablespoons cornstarch
 - Steamed white rice
 - 1 No. 2 1/2 can Chinese Noodles
- Combine celery, onion and green pepper with stock in sauce pan. Cook until the mixture steams, then simmer for 20 minutes. Add salt, soy sauce, mushrooms and chicken. Combine water with cornstarch; add to mixture, stirring until thickened. Serve on mounds of rice, sprinkled with Chinese noodles.

Are You Smart About Leftovers?

Yesterday's roast makes a welcome casserole, quick stew or hash stuffed into green peppers.

Don't let your bacon drippings get rancid. Refrigerate them and use in place of butter for seasoning vegetables.

Sweet cake and cookie crumbs may be used for dessert if combined into a soufflé or mixed with ice cream.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- Diced Pineapple in Grapefruit Juice
 - *Chicken Chow Mein
 - Salad of Assorted Vegetables
 - Hard Rolls
 - Butter
 - Lemon Sherbet
 - Cookies
 - Beverage
- *Recipe given.

- Chicken Tetrazzini. (Serves 6)
- 4 tablespoons fat
 - 4 tablespoons flour
 - 3/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon white pepper
 - 1/2 teaspoon celery salt
 - 2 cups milk
 - 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
 - 1 tablespoon fat
 - 2 cups cooked, diced chicken
 - 1 cup cooked spaghetti, cut into 1/2-inch pieces
 - 1 cup grated cheese
 - 2 tablespoons melted butter
 - 3/4 cup crumbs

Prepare white sauce from first six ingredients. Remove from heat. Sauté mushrooms in one tablespoon of fat. Add with chicken and spaghetti to white sauce. Pour into a greased casserole and sprinkle top with cheese, melted butter and crumbs. Bake in a hot oven for 25 minutes.

- Chicken Stew with Dumplings. (Serves 6)
- 2 to 4 pound stewing hen
 - 2 cups boiling water
 - 2 teaspoons salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 2 cups sliced carrots
 - 1 cup peas
 - 1/2 cup flour
 - 1 cup water
 - 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- Place disjointed chicken into saucepan with water, salt and pepper. Cover and cook slowly until tender, from 2 1/2 to 3 hours. Remove chicken and skim fat from stock. Add carrots and peas and cook for 10 minutes. Mix flour with water to a smooth paste and stir into broth. Cook until clear and thickened. Add chicken, parsley and dumplings.

- Dumplings.
- 1 cup flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1 tablespoon chicken fat, melted
 - 1 egg, beaten
 - 1/4 cup milk
- Sift together dry ingredients, then combine with melted fat, egg and milk. Drop by spoonfuls on top of chicken. Cover closely. Cook for 15 minutes without lifting the cover.

- Chicken Turnovers. (Serves 6)
- Pastry
- 3 cups chopped, cooked chicken
 - 1 1/2 cups gravy
 - 1 1/2 tablespoons chopped parsley
 - 3 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives
 - 1 teaspoon salt
- Make pastry from three cups flour, one cup lard and 1/4 teaspoon salt with enough water to hold together. Combine remaining ingredients to a smooth paste. Roll pastry into six 6-inch squares and place 1/2 cup filling on each square. Turn up corners and pinch pastry together. Bake on cookie sheet in hot (425 degree) oven 30 minutes.

If you don't have quite enough meat to make hamburgers, you can extend what you have with mashed potato, thus making potato burgers.

Judge left over from canned fruit can be saved and thickened with cornstarch to make a clear sauce for desserts.

Left over bacon or frankfurters can be used with hard-cooked eggs, chopped, and mixed with mayonnaise for sandwich spread.

Leftover sausage is excellent for flavoring vegetables or soups.

ROMANCE OF THE BELLS . . . Cast in Spain in the eighth century, an ancient bell with a romantic history has summoned McKendree college students to classes for nearly a century. The bell reposes in the dark belfry of the tower of the historic college chapel (above), which was built soon after the turn of the 19th century.

IN THESE UNITED STATES

Students Heed Aged Bell's Call to Class for Century

WNU Features.
LEBANON, ILL. — Oldest chapel bell in the United States is not the famed Liberty Bell in Philadelphia or an aged bell from long-settled St. Augustine, Fla., but an ancient bell which has rung classes in and out of McKendree college here for nearly a century.

This fact is authenticated by historical data, meager in spots, but fact nevertheless. The bell has a recorded history that dates back for centuries before founding of the Lebanon institution.

The bell, which is located in the clock tower of the historic chapel building on the campus at McKendree, a Methodist institution, has been used almost hourly to summon students to class ever since the college was a mere strippling of 20 years.

But its sonorous voice was heard centuries before Columbus braved the Atlantic to discover America. The vibrant toll of the bell first was heard in Spain, where historians say it was cast in the eighth-century. Later it was recast in Spain and brought to Florida sometime in the 16th century.

There are many unfilled gaps in the story of the bell's turbulent history. From Florida it found its way to the Southwest during the historical era when the West was the last frontier of the country. In the 1850s a roving band of Santa Fe traders found the old bell, dated as to its arrival in America, in a deserted Indian mission in New Mexico.

For some reason the heavy instrument was brought to St. Louis, then the gateway city to the new country. Historians disagree as to whether or not the bell was recast or repaired in St. Louis. Anyway, the name, "Saint Louis," is visible on the bell, as well as other symbols and inscriptions as corroded as to be almost undecipherable.

Following its arrival in St. Louis, the bell was taken to Centralia, Ill., in 1858, to be exhibited at the Illinois state fair. Here it was purchased for McKendree college by a Mr. Cobleigh, at that time president of the budding institution.

The bell was taken to Lebanon and hoisted into the bell tower of the new chapel then under construction. Since then, it has reposed in the dark belfry of the tower above the building, where the outside world little realizes the romance of its long history.

Just how the bell served during its first century in America is unknown. McKendree college, founded in 1828, is conceded to be one of the oldest colleges in the Mississippi basin, and one of the buildings, known as "Old Main," is said to be the oldest assembly hall west of the Alleghenies.

Very few people have seen the bell at its resting place high in the clock tower of McKendree's chapel, for to reach it, a person must climb a series of ladders that lead upward to the darkened tower.

Aged Evangeline Oak Receives Special Aid

ST. MARTINVILLE, LA. — In an attempt to stimulate the aged tree, special tree food has been placed in the ground at the roots of historic Evangeline Oak, which stands on the banks of Bayou Teche near the old Attakapas trading post.

About 100 pounds of a special preparation were embedded near the roots to overcome slight deterioration of the tree noted recently.

Broncho Busters Thrill Youngsters Of Old River Town

CASSVILLE, WIS. — This is one town where the youngsters don't have to go to the Saturday afternoon movie to see their cowboy heroes.

Some of the best broncho busters, trick ropers and bulldoggers in the country live right here in this Mississippi river village of 656 population. To the delight of the town's youngsters, they wear their big hats, fancy jackets, loud shirts and high-heeled cowboy boots around town whenever they are home from rodeos in New York, Chicago, Denver, Pendleton, Salinas and other cities.

The hard ridin' hombres who give the village a touch of the rough and ready west are four members of the Buschbom family. They are Bill Buschbom Sr., 41, and his two sons, Jack, 29, and Bill Jr., 23, and Bill's brother, Ted, 34.

At present the Buschboms have more than 100 horses, some trained and some wild, and an assortment of bulls, steers and calves on their ranch near here.

As usual, Cassville youngsters anxiously are awaiting the advent of spring. Then the Buschboms will spend a few weeks practicing bareback riding, roping and bulldogging steers in the field near the big barn before hitting the sawdust circuit.

During those two weeks, Cassville mothers are going to have a hard time getting their pistol-packin' cowboy sons home in time for meals.

Jack Buschbom ranks as one of the top three or four bareback riders in the country, winning about $5,000 in prize money in that competition last year. Bill Jr. is one of the top ranking trick ropers. The father, a former bronco rider and bulldogger, now confines his activities almost exclusively to putting his 8 to 12 trained horses through their paces in his "liberty act" at major shows. Occasionally, however, the lure of his old calling impels him back into the ring for bulldogging contests and last year he won first place in a Moberly, S. D., show. Uncle Ted also is a bulldogger.

Home Ec Students Practice on Husbands

STEVENS POINT, WIS. — For the first time, the practice cottage conducted for seniors in home economics at Central State Teachers college has male occupants. The three men, however, are not studying home economics but are husbands of three seniors in the course.

Spending part of a semester as occupants of the practice cottage is a requirement for home economics seniors. The idea, of course, is to put into practice what was preached in the home ec classrooms.

The three degree seekers, Lillian Korzilius, Elizabeth Paulson and Gloria Schultz, tried out their lessons on real, live husbands when Miss Bessie May Allen, department director, permitted the three couples to live in the house.

Two of the husbands, Edward Korzilius and John Paulson, also are students in the college while the third, Louis Schultz, is employed in Stevens Point.

For Joyful Cough Relief, Try This Home Mixture

This splendid recipe is used by millions every year, because it makes such a dependable, effective medicine for coughs due to cold. It is so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any drugist, get 1/4 ounce of Finax, a special compound of proven ingredients in concentrated form, well-known for its soothing effect on throat and bronchial irritations.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Put the Finax into a pint bottle and fill up with your syrup. This gives you a full pint of cough medicine, very effective and quick-acting, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of coughs, giving quick relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Finax Saves You Money!

'Columbus Clocks' Found To Be but Fair Souvenirs

At the Chicago World's fair (Columbian exposition) in 1893, thousands of souvenir clocks were sold bearing a portrait of Columbus and the date 1492, says Collier's. Years later upon the death of the original purchasers, a large number of these souvenirs came into the possession of descendants and others, many of whom, believing they owned "a clock brought over by Columbus," sought an estimate of its value from clock authorities and antique dealers, only to be disillusioned.

NEWS that makes folks sleep all night!

Thousands sleep undisturbed because of the news that their being awakened at night might be from either malaria or the danger of a fever. Let's hope that's a condition they don't want to face. Double Your Money Back! This is a new and powerful medicine for malaria, fever, and other ailments. It's the only one that's guaranteed to work. Double Your Money Back! Full satisfaction or DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK.

ORCHARDISTS ORGANIZE TO COMBAT INSECTS

Meetings of all orchardists in the irrigated valleys were called by the County Extension Agent, March 11 and 12, for the purpose of organizing the orchardists to work in a cooperative manner in combating red spider and brown mite. The meetings were held at Stetson and Hondo at which time the most recent control measures of orchard insects were discussed by Mr. Edwin J. O'Neal, Extension Entomologist. The discussion was supplemented by films strips. A report was given of the experimental work that has been done by the New Mexico A. & M. College and other agricultural experiment stations in regard to new insecticides. Orchardists were given the formula for controlling the brown mite and red spider and furnished with the addresses of firms handling insecticides. A questionnaire was then filled out by those present for the purpose of organizing the orchardists so that they could pool their orders and save money on insecticides. Information was also obtained as to the amounts of spray material that would be needed and as to those who own sprayers and those who would need to make arrangements for having their orchards sprayed. One hundred orchardists attended the meeting. One hundred per cent of those attending agreed to follow a uniform spray schedule in order to get the brown mite and red spider under control. Orchardists who were unable to attend the meeting should contact the County Agent if they are interested in cooperating in the organized insect campaign.

AT YOUR DEALERS

Because of the shortage of sugar and tires during the war we were forced to suspend delivery of Coca-Cola to Carrizozo. Now we are again making regular deliveries and you can get all of the Coca-Cola you want... at the same old price... the same price to our friends in Carrizozo as to our next door neighbors in El Paso.
