Zechariah Pleads For Righteousness
Lesson for April 25, 1948

ZECARIAH almost certainly was born and reared in or near Babylon, and was trained for the priesthood and ordained of the Lord as a prophet. His father, Berechiah, was the son of Iddo, the prophet. Though much younger than Haggai, about whom we studied last Sunday, Zechariah began his ministry only two months later than Haggai—a ministry which was to summon the people to righteousness as a condition essential in the rebuilding of the temple and in cleansing themselves of idolatry, if they were to throw off the yoke of their foes. The student will need to read the entire Book of Zechariah to have the background for this lesson. Also Psalm 24:1-6.

Dr. Newton

LIVING TOGETHER IN GOD'S WAY
"TURN ye unto me, saith the Lord of hosts, and I will turn unto you," Zechariah 1:3. People cannot live together in peace and harmony until first they are on speaking terms with God. The insidious onslaught of secularism was weakening the Jews at the very moment when they needed to be strong and united for the task of rebuilding the temple and restoring their life in Jerusalem. Read further into the prophecy of Zechariah and note the admonitions of the Lord for kindness one toward another—kindness and understanding and sincerity, which are the indispensable qualities of community life.

WHAT MAKES A PEOPLE GREAT?
ZECARIAH reminds the people that the downfall of their fathers had been due to their forgetfulness of God. He calls them now to repentance of their own sins, that they become truly a great people. "Fear not, but let your hands be strong," Zechariah 4:13. "What makes a nation great and strong? Not brick, nor stone, nor wood, Not justice, love and brotherhood." Boys and girls will do well to look again at what this old prophet was saying. We long to see the United States a truly great nation. Then let us be strong in the Lord.

GOD HAS A STANDARD
READ chapter seven, verses 8-14, and 8:16-17, for some of the standards which God sets up for his people. "Execute true judgment, and show kindness and compassion every man to his brother. Oppress not the widow, the orphan, the foreigner, or the poor, and never plot evil in your hearts against one another." Zechariah is here epitomizing the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount. All of which is to remind us today that we do not need new standards. We simply need to conform to God's eternal standards.

GOD IS TO BE SOUGHT UNTO
THE first eight chapters of Zechariah have to do with the essential qualities of life if the people are to rebuild the temple. The last six chapters deal with the general standards of life which we must accept and strive to attain if we are to be well-pleasing unto him. I like the phrase of the fathers, "God is to be sought unto." And how are we to come into the presence of the Lord? "He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully," Psalms 24:4. It was not enough to rebuild the temple. God wanted his people to become living stones of integrity and fidelity in the city of God. This we shall attain only as we seek first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness—constantly seek this daily walk with the Lord, in the light of his word. "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

By the Bible
If we abide by the principles taught in the Bible, our country will go on prospering and to prosper; but if we and our posterity neglect its instructions and authority, no man can tell how sudden a catastrophe may overwhelm us and bury all our glory in profound obscurity.—Daniel Webster.

Gems of Thought

The real problem of your leisure is to keep other people from using it.—Anon.
Habit is either the best of servants, or the worst of masters.—Nathaniel Emmons.

Easily Built Garage with Extra Storage Space

If you know the difference between a hammer and a saw, you shouldn't have any difficulty with this 13 ft. x 20 ft. garage. Even if you don't want to do all the building yourself, the pattern method of construction provides all the information needed to buy your own materials and to act as your own contractor.

With the purchase list of materials you can shop around for the 2x4s and other lumber as easily as shopping for groceries. Along on a well-detailed set of two complete working drawings, you can do all or part of the work yourself. As the floor plan indicates, there is ample space for even the largest car. Best of all this garage provides a separate storage space for garden tools. Entry to this room is from the outside. Here the lawn mower, rakes, roller and other garden tools, as well as a bicycle or two, can be stored without cluttering up the garage. How to Fall in Love in one easy lesson

TAKE a clear day—a Dynaflo* Buick—and a mind open to new experiences. Turn the key in the lock—press down the gas treadle—and set this mighty Fireball straight-eight purring. Now: Flick the selector lever till the pointer indicates "D"—that's for driving. Feed a little gas—and see what happens.

That's all. Your engine won't stall. You don't shift. Just sit there till the coast is clear. Then step on it. Step hard and you're off like a rabbit. Step lightly, and you ease smoothly away. What's happening? you want to know. What's doing the shifting? Some mechanical hand under the floor boards? Not in this car, sir. Oil does it all—spinning oil. Oil whirling to give you starting surge—power build-up—efficient cruising—engine braking effect on hills. Oil that does everything the usual low, second and high gears do—without any gearshifting on your part—and without the slightest break in your stride except when you want it.

Say no more! I'm sold! Where do I sign up? There's only one place. Only Buick has Dynaflo Drive, and no other American car has anything like it. With or without a car to trade, better see your Buick dealer first minute you can.

What's Different About DYNAFLO DRIVE??

To an efficient new pump (left below), belt enginers have added a free turbine (right) and an ingenious new supercharger (top right) which produces a torque-boosting action in starting and accelerating. The result is the first device on any American passenger car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and a simple control gives you manual selection of power ranges and direction.

BUICK alone has all these features

- * DYNAFLO DRIVE (patented) * TAPE-THRU STYLING (patented) * VIBRA-SHIELDING RIDE * FLEX-FIT ON RINGS * H-POMBO FIREBALL POWER * ROAD-RITE BALANCE * ROAD TORQUE-TUNE * QUADRUPEX COIL SPRINGING * SOUND-SORBER TOP LINING (patented) * DUOMATIC WIPER ADVANCE * SAFETY-RIDE RIMS * TEN SMART MODELS * BODY BY POWER

No, Our Town's Not "Slow" When they put up the new "Slow" and "Stop" signs along Main Street, local drivers were "warned" at their first violation—and given a ticket on the second. That first warning was generally enough. Because folks in our town are law-abiding citizens, eager to comply with any sensible regulation. (Only violator was an out-of-towner, who claimed he thought that "Slow Down Here" was a description of the town itself!) Yes, with sensible folks, a warning's generally enough—as the brewers have found with their "Self Regulation" program. Under it, any tavern selling beer, and failing to meet high standards of good conduct and lawful practice, is warned. If that warning isn't heeded, proper authorities are notified. From where I sit, "Self Regulation" is the reason 99% of taverns selling beer are law-abiding places (and the reason why the wayward one per cent won't last long!) Joe Marsh

BACKWARD GLANCES

Forty Years Ago From 1928 Capitan News
 The Carrizozo Outlook got out a special edition last week, devoted to Carrizozo and the Carrizozo Valley. The edition was a very creditable affair and should result in some good things to the people of that section who so liberally contributed to its production.

A great cry has gone up to have wood pulp and paper placed on the free list, and republican papers are particularly insistent on action of this nature by congress. Now, there is no objection on our part to this program; for we would like to get our paper cheaper; but, as a matter of fact, why should dealers and consumers of paper have an advantage over consumers of other products? If a tariff makes paper higher, and republicans confess it does, then it necessarily follows that every other article that carries a tariff, and most all foodstuffs, - wearing apparel and tools with which we earn our daily bread - also be too high. People could exist without newspapers - of course it would be only an existence - but food is necessary to sustain life, and the tools for the production of food are equally necessary; and without clothing there would be no competition between nature and art. Everybody eats, and, in this country everybody wears clothes. Why this special relief measure and retain a burdensome tax on the tools of the artisan, the implements, of husbandry, the vessels in which our food is cooked, the clothes we wear and the coffins in which we are finally laid away?

U. S. Carries Fight to Communists As Congress Approves Foreign Aid; Income Tax Cut Becomes a Reality

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

FOREIGN AID: In Motion

With President Truman's signature on the $5,098,000,000 foreign aid bill, the massive, potent forces of western capitalism moved into action against Russian communism for the beginning of a titanic, long range, clash of strength.

To observers in the U. S. this interplay of forces had all the ingredients of an epic poem—the power of good striving mightily to overcome the power of evil, with the fate of a large segment of mankind depending on outcome of the struggle.

There was an epic quality, too, in the manner in which congress, seemingly impelled by a strong sense of urgency, raced the bill through for final action. The house approved it with a vote of 318 to 75 after less than 15 minutes of explanation, and the senate followed up swiftly with a voice vote.

Two days after passage of the measure President Truman meshed the gears of the global aid program by ordering the reconstruction finance corporation to advance 1.16 billion dollars at once. That action released U. S. dollars, reconstruction supplies and in some cases arms to 15 European nations, as well as Turkey, western Germany, Trieste and China.

The overall $5,098,000,000 aid package includes $3 billion dollars for the European recovery program, 275 million dollars for military assistance to Greece and Turkey, 403 million for China and 2 million dollars for Trieste. All of it is aimed at areas where communists are sharpening their sword of aggression.

An ill-starred movement in the house to include aid to Franco Spain in the bill was defeated before it had time to do much damage to U. S. prestige and moral stature abroad.

As the aid started to move, the situation abroad stacked up something like this:

Russia's seizure of Czechoslovakia, its new pact with Finland and pressure on Scandinavian nations, the Soviets' arbitrary action in Berlin all pointed to the fact that Moscow was trying to bring about a showdown in Europe before the European recovery plan began to work effectively.

On the other hand, the rapid passage of the foreign aid measure, the proposal to return Trieste to Italy and the stiffening of American will in Berlin seemed to indicate that the U. S., while not forcing a showdown, was, nevertheless, willing to have it as soon as possible.

Few persons familiar with the situation thought that a showdown with Russia necessarily meant war. But it did involve acceptance of a risk of war. U. S. leaders were willing to take that risk on the theory that the likelihood of a shooting war is less now than it might be in the foreseeable future.

REDUCTION: Tax Measure

President Truman's veto of the income tax reduction bill was crushingly overridden by both houses of congress—311 to 86 in the house, 77 to 10 in the senate—and U. S. citizens sat back to gloat over the first major tax-cutting measure passed in nearly 20 years.

In his now characteristic "I'd rather be right than be president" role, Mr. Truman had stubbornly affixed his veto to the bill, protesting that it mainly would benefit persons with incomes of $5,000 or more, encourage further inflation and sap the nation's strength at a time of international "danger."

Examination of the new tax structure indicated that the President was right in his first contention, at least—that the law would be of greater benefit to persons with high incomes than to those in lower brackets. Reason for that is that 12.6 per cent of $5,000 is considerably less than 5 per cent of a million. (Cuts in tax rates as provided by the new law range from 12.6 per cent in the lowest brackets to 5 per cent in the top level.)

Most interesting aspect of the tax cut development was the question of what motivated Mr. Truman to veto the bill. He was aware that enough members of both houses were supporting tax reduction in this election year to override his veto; hence, that his veto would be a gesture of futility that would place him on record as opposing the popular will.

Mr. Truman must have been aware, also, of the strong possibility

Who's Mad?

Nobody seemed to be mad at anybody when Gov. William M. Tuck of Virginia and President Truman met at convocation exercises at William and Mary college, Williamsburg, Va., to receive honorary degrees of doctor of laws. Mr. Truman exchanged a cordial handshake with Governor Tuck, vociferous leader of the southern states' rebellion on the President's civil rights program.

that next year congress, safely through the elections, will boost federal income by reimposing some version of the wartime excess profits tax.

In view of these unpretty but inescapable realities, the President's veto of the tax bill simply did not fit the preconceived pattern of political action in an election year. Rather, it looked more like the deliberate driving of another nail in his political coffin.

In his veto message, Mr. Truman contended that increased defense and foreign aid measures "might make it necessary for congress to raise taxes next year."

"In the case of the income tax," he said, "nearly 40 per cent of the reduction would go to individuals with net incomes in excess of $5,000, who constitute less than 5 per cent of all taxpayers."

Also, the President continued, while national income is high every effort should be made to reduce the size of the 253-billion-dollar public debt.

He was, beyond doubt, sincere in his objections, but they fell on deaf ears in congress.

APOLOGIA: From Russia

Even as Russia officially expressed regret over the "unfortunate" British-Soviet plane crash over Berlin which cost 15 lives, plain people all over the world began to see more clearly how, although no nation is seeking war now, a war could start accidentally.

A pilot of a Russian fighter plane had buzzed a British plane, carrying 14 passengers, as it was landing in Berlin. The transport crashed in the Russian zone where the wreckage lay for 12 hours before the bodies were permitted to be moved.

Tension in Berlin eased somewhat when British officials accepted the Russian apology and canceled plans to assign fighter plane escorts to all air transports coming into Berlin.

The official British account of the crash-quoted eyewitnesses as saying that the Russian fighter pilot was "frollicking" when he hit the big plane.

While the fighter pilot undoubtedly had not been ordered to harass the British plane, it was equally apparent that he and his cohorts had not been forbidden to do so.

Aside from the number of lives lost, the disturbing part of the incident is that it was, in a manner of speaking, an aggressive action, an overt act of deliberate provocation. And it is just such incidents as that that world leaders fear might one day touch off the conflagration.

THE GREAT MAN MARCHES IN EFFIGY... John L. He was there only in effigy as a member of the Hamsville delegation. John Mitchell, incidentally, was the I.M.W. president who first won the eight-hour day for miners.

ROYALTY BEGINS AT HOME... King George VI and his Queen Elizabeth appear to exude domestic contentment as they enjoy coffee in their Buckingham Palace apartments while England prepares to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. King George, then Duke of York, married Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon on April 26, 1923. They, as everyone knows, have two daughters, Princess Elizabeth, heiress-apparent to the throne, and Princess Margaret Rose.

RETURN OF A CARRIER... Hicest thing about pictures of warships is that they invariably have interesting scenic backgrounds. Here, the lower New York skyline serves as a backdrop for the aircraft carrier Leyte as she passes the Brooklyn bridge. The Leyte was docked at Brooklyn navy yard for overhauling after returning from a tour of duty in the Mediterranean.

THROWING NO STONES... This is a transparent example of how attractive living in a farm home can be. The Fink Meier farm home of Miss Miller near Goshen, Ind., has five large picture windows, including this one in the utility room which overlooks the farm yard. Glass is of tea-pane construction enclosing dehydrated air space for insulation, eliminating drafts and frosting of window in winter.

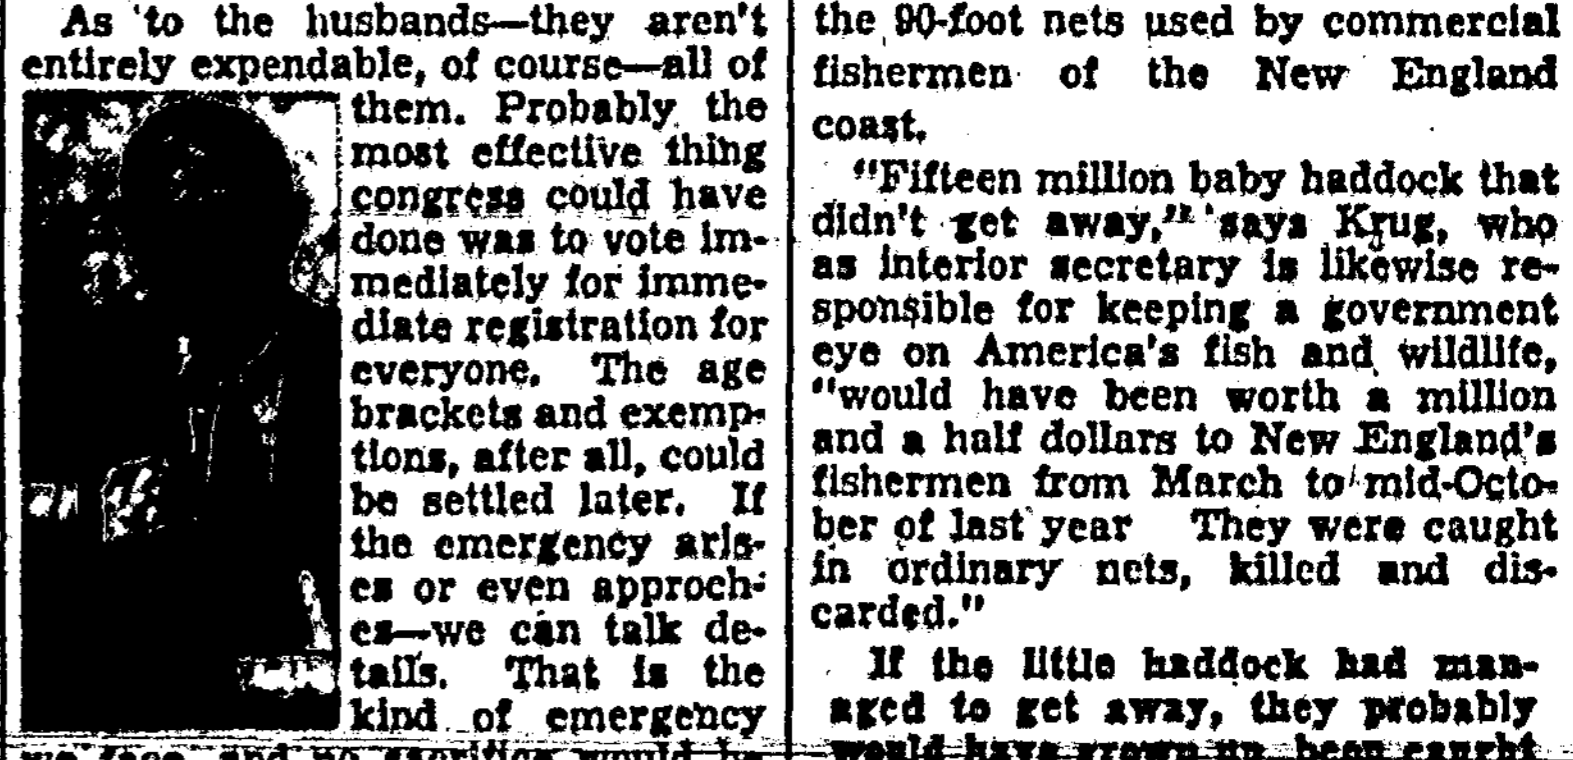

Washington Digest U. S. Has Best Opportunity To Enforce Peace in World

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator

Once again we face the high cost of savagery—or preventing it—depending on how you put it. Billions more to run the government and the world, and to cover a stepped-up defense program. Talk of a 10 per cent increase in the budget for next year seems logical. As one cynic remarked, in the next war perhaps we ought to try to get on the losing side, and let the victors support us for a change.

Discussion of the details and cost of a selective service and universal military training program has been going on for some time. Sentiment against drafting husbands and G.I.'s seems to be crystallizing.

It would seem that G.I.'s might be fairly good material in an emergency without having to learn the general orders over again, and without having to reacquire precision in bringing the right hand smartly to the cap brim or lying down within a reasonable period before the arrival of a machine gun bullet.

Value of the Little Fish... The little ones didn't get away! That is what Secretary of the Interior Julius A. Krug is explaining as he spreads the mesh of one of the 90-foot nets used by commercial fishermen of the New England coast.

"Fifteen million baby haddock that didn't get away," says Krug, who as interior secretary is likewise responsible for keeping a government eye on America's fish and wildlife, "would have been worth a million and a half dollars to New England's fishermen from March to mid-October of last year. They were caught in ordinary nets, killed and discarded."

If the little haddock had managed to get away, they probably would have grown up, been caught this year and sold by the same fishermen for a million and a half dollars."

This was one of the things I learned aboard the Albatross III, only floating laboratory possessed by the United States, which goes into service this spring. She started out we face, and no sacrifice would be too great to prevent it. Right now proof of our willingness to act is most important.

Contrary to the general assumption that all we need is a few push-button experts and professors of nuclear science, any war that might come from now on would require a more extensive mobilization of civilian as well as soldier than anything which has preceded it.

Meantime, there is a better chance to establish a solid and stable peace than there ever has been. The United States has a better opportunity to enforce peace than any nation ever had. We could, with comparatively small sacrifice, start a preparedness program to prevent the "imbalance" of power against us, as they say in diplomatic language.

In other words we could, without danger of actual conflict, since there is no power NOW (not tomorrow or next year, but NOW) strong enough to threaten us, establish a Pax Americana. And with the will to peace that exists in the world today, we could use that situation, not as the Pax Romana or the Pax Britannica was used—to create enemies—but to build an effective Pax Universa.

America, in its strength could well afford to yield sovereignty to an international force. A period of tranquillity, enforced if necessary, is what the world needs; time to reflect. Rome and Britain did bring a long peace of sorts; we can establish a longer one—some long enough, perhaps, to build a permanent one.

The principle is simple—as a colleague of mine is fond of saying—"nobody tries to pick a fight with Joe Lewis."

Early statements were made to the effect that it would cost an additional 430 millions over what already has been budgeted for universal military training. We now spend 650 million dollars a year on cosmetics. And the total time used in applying them, according to my private statisticians, divided into manhours of military training, leaves a generous surplus for home-work.

I do not mean to treat lightly the world situation and the idea of a Pax Americana is not an empty one.

It is, in fact, the only kind of a peace we can be sure of until we have time to stabilize world conditions, until there is a fairer division of the bread, and the security in which to earn it and eat it; a cessation of the fear, suffering and anxiety which make men trade their heritage of freedom for the empty promise of protection at any price.

I sympathize with the people who oppose militarism in any form; but I do not accept as a valid syllogism: Militarism is bad; military training in America is militarism; therefore, military training in America is bad. Military training in Germany is bad. The classic example was the result of militarism, not its cause. Military training in America is no more related to German militarism than a hot dog is brother to a Dachshund.

MODERN MOTORCADE Cars on Road Hit Historic Figure

Number of passenger cars on the road in the U. S. today is at an all-time high, according to an article in the April edition of "Business Comment," bulletin of Northern Trust company.

This is true despite the fact that no passenger cars were manufactured for private use during the war, that an estimated average of 1.3 million passenger cars were scrapped or put into storage yearly during the same period, and that postwar production has not yet exceeded the best prewar years, the bulletin stated.

Latest available figures indicate a total of 37.8 million passenger cars registered in the U. S. on July 1, 1947, the article reported.
