Edmund G. Shannon Announces For District Judge, Third District

Edmund G. Shannon

Dear Mr. Editor: I accept your invitation to declare my principles in my candidacy for District Judge. At a time like now when Communism is striking at the foundation of our civilization the people should know where their candidates stand.

I believe in God, in His Commandments, in the forces of good and evil. I believe that all who will to do good and work to that end belong to His church by whatever name it may be known.

I believe that organized crime, that is crime for profit, drains the resources of a community, that it caps the souls of young men and women, who, seeking harmless excitement, are deluded into contamination with crime and its ruinous consequences.

A judge is not in position to round up such criminals. That is the duty of the district attorney. But a judge cannot excuse his neglect of duty by dumping responsibility onto the district attorney.

I realize that no man is honest enough, or learned enough, or wise enough, to be judge. But fortunately there are lawyers to help his ignorance, and age sometimes helps his wisdom.

I practiced law in Jackson, Mississippi, eight years, came to New Mexico for the health of my family, opened a law office in the Masonic Temple April, 1927, wondering if I would last one year, and am still in the same place, have served as president of the school board, have been a member of the Branigan library board since its inception, and city attorney for ten years.

Nehemiah Rebuilds Jerusalem
Lesson for May 2, 1945

BORN and reared in Peralá, Nehemiah appears in the opening scene of his prophecy as cup bearer to King Artaxerxes in the royal palace at Shushan. He was a favorite at court, due, no doubt, to his personality and training, plus a keen desire to serve his people. He obtained a royal order from Artaxerxes, granting him passage to Jerusalem. It was a long and dangerous journey, but Nehemiah traveled not only with letters from the king, but assurance in his heart that he was on the Lord's mission. He was given authority to seek help from other nations. Just how much help he received from other nations is not definitely certified, but we do know that he achieved the high purpose which God had put in his heart. He governed the city wisely for a dozen years, and wrought many notable reforms. Read the first seven chapters of Nehemiah for the complete story. Read also Psalms 122:1-9.

WHEN FRIENDS WORK TOGETHER

UPON arrival in Jerusalem, Nehemiah made a tour of the city by night. He was shocked and amazed at the ruins. He called upon the people to come and help rebuild the walls. And they were impressed with the earnestness and sincerity and courage of his call. "So built we the wall; and all the wall was joined together unto the half thereof; for the people had a mind to work." Nehemiah 4:6.

There is work for everyone who is of a willing mind. There is work in the home. Boys and girls who pitch in and share in the everyday work of the home make glad the hearts of their parents, and at the same time they are learning how to care for their own homes when they grow up.

STRENGTH AND ENCOURAGEMENT

NEHEMIAH set the people together in families, with tools for work and weapons for defense against the enemy. And in this union of numbers there was both strength and courage. We need today to learn anew this lesson of working together. So often we witness evidence of people pulling against one another. We see it in the home and in the school and in the wider areas of life—in politics and in the clash between capital and labor.

THOSE WHO OPPOSED NEHEMIAH

OUR lesson describes not only the courage and wisdom of Nehemiah in getting the Jews to work and work together, but it tells us about those who opposed the rebuilding of Jerusalem. Sanballat was the governor of Samaria, and when he heard that Nehemiah was rebuilding Jerusalem, he put in to defeat him by many schemes of sabotage. He began with ridicule. "What do these feeble Jews?" he scoffingly asked. Ridicule is always one of the weapons of those who would tear down and destroy. Young people will do well to guard themselves against the snare of cynicism. It is a dangerous thing. Sanballat and his cohorts, Tobiah, and certain Arabians and Ammonites and Ashdodites, conspired to hinder Nehemiah in many devious attacks; but the people worked and fought, in the name of the Lord.

WHAT MAKES A REAL LEADER?

THIS is the question which will inevitably arise as we study this lesson. How could one man inspire people to undertake the impossible? First, Nehemiah relied implicitly upon God's help. Second, he threw himself into the task, fearlessly and intelligently. Third, he possessed the quality of inspiring faith and hope in others. These are the qualities that make a real leader, anywhere, any time.

How we do need such leaders to day! And the Bible speaks to us, in the story of Nehemiah, reminding us how real leaders are produced. Read the 122nd Psalm. Here is the secret of it all—"They shall prosper that love thee." Every difficulty confronting the home, the community, the nation, the world, can be met and mastered, provided we tackle it in the name of the Lord, relying upon his wisdom, his strength, his power.

Tom Topics Three Diseases Take High Toll of Turkeys Heaviest Loss Occurs During Growing Period

Nearly a third of all turkeys hatched are lost during the growing period. This statement is based on findings of Utah Agricultural college survey.

Of considerable importance to a control program is the fact that the three diseases known to be the greatest killers of turkeys—paratyphoid infection, pullorum disease and infectious sinusitis, which may be transmitted through the egg from parent to the offspring—cause 61 per cent of the brooder loss.

If a grower starts with a healthy, vigorous poult, the job of keeping the bird healthy is relatively simple. Thus the first problem for a pro-

Colleges Men Reject Jobs As Models for Art Classes

WASHINGTON.—Despite its record enrollment, the University of Maryland has hung out a help wanted sign among the students at College Park.

Girls are clamoring for the jobs, but there are no vacancies for them.

All Joe College has to do to earn about 50 or 60 cents an hour is sit still. But there have been few takers. Art Director Maurice R. Seigler gave a clue to the shortage.

He wants the men to model for his art classes.

Maine Farmer and Wife Refuse to Accept Charity

BOSTON.—A Maine farmer and his wife, trying to live on $15 until their very ill son recovers at a hospital, refused to accept help.

Residents of Boston deluged them with offers of food, clothing, money and transportation. But Lawrence Leeman, 31, and his 30-year-old wife, Marilyn, of Dover-Foxcroft, Me., responded with a firm "no thanks."

"Didn't know city people could be so nice and neighborly," said Leeman, whose year-old son Victor, is being operated on for malignant tumor at Children's hospital.

"Guess these people heard about us spending our money to bring the boy here for treatment. Mighty nice of them, but we still have $15 left and all we want is for the boy to get well. Guess we can hitch-hike home well enough."

"Our switchboard has been tied up all day," a hospital official said.

"Rich people, poor people and just every-day-people have been calling up offering help. Two families who were dispossessed from their homes in Dorchester called to say they'd like to help."

But Leeman, a slow-talking Yankee, insisted he wanted no help.

"Not to us," he said. "We're hard-working people. We handle our farming by ourselves and we don't believe in asking other folks to share our burdens."

Mrs. Leeman nodded agreement.

"Thank you kindly," she told the hospital officials, "but we don't believe in being beholden to folks. It's just our way of doing things up in Maine. No offense meant."

Early Spraying Advised For Black Cherry Aphid

Sprays applied before the buds break, say insect specialists, are more consistent in controlling the black cherry aphid than sprays made after the buds are open.

Feeding of the black cherry aphid, if present in large numbers, affects the size and flavor of the fruit. Also, a secretion known as "honeydew" produces a sticky and unattractive appearance of the fruit, especially if it is to be sold as fresh fruit. Development of a sooty fungus in the honeydew may contribute further to the unsightly appearance of the cherries. Sweet cherries are more commonly infested than sour cherries.

Neglected Farm Forest Termed Valuable Asset

The farm woodland is paying off. That long neglected group of trees that stands on the back "ferry" and which once was eyed with a resentful attitude because it occupied land that could far better be devoted to grazing, now becomes a definite and valuable asset.

It is one that can be quickly converted into cash. To the owner has come the realization that the farm will produce something more than grain, root crops, pasture or dairy products. Trees also are a crop, and a paying crop, even on the poorer types of soil where intensive agriculture is an impossibility.

Modern Stock Barn

War-born quansets have been adapted to many farm uses. Above photo shows how a Brighton, Mich., farmer utilizes a quanset. Note the improved window arrangements.

Prompt Action Required To Relieve Cattle Bloat

Removal of the gases from the rumen is the primary object in treatment of bloat in cattle. If bloating has just started, the animal should be forcibly exercised and the distended abdomen massaged or kneaded with the clenched fist to bring about belching of the gases from the stomach. A wooden gag can be placed in, and across, the mouth of the bloated animal.

Fewer Veterans in College Make Room for Others

CHICAGO.—It's going to be much easier for non-vets to get into college.

Alonzo F. Myers, president of the National Conference on Higher Education, said at a press conference here that colleges throughout the country report a dropping off in the number of vets applying for admission.

As a result, he said, there will be more room for other applicants in most colleges.

But despite the reduction in vet applicants, Myers emphasized, colleges still can accommodate only a fraction of those applying for admission. And from present indications, he said, the number of those seeking to enter college will expand in the coming years.

Myers, who is chairman of the department of higher education at New York university, said he was hopeful that colleges would offer a greater variety of courses.

"I can see nothing wrong," he declared, "in a college offering a course in auto fender and body reconditioning, as one college out west has done."

"This business of rationing education is crazy," he added. "There ought to be adequate provisions to give everyone who wants education that amount and that kind which his potentialities warrant."

It's Easy to Make Strawberry Shortcake (See recipes below)

Strawberry Time

For those of you who like strawberry-berries, the season is too short! But we aim to do our best by them this season, so let's have them several times each week as long as we can.

Perfect strawberries are just plain good served as nature. And if you like them sweeter, dip each in a mound of powdered sugar, before tasting its deliciousness. Some like them for breakfast with a sprinkling of sugar and a quaint pitcher of thick country cream.

Strawberries in shortcake make a dream of a desert. Some prefer old fashioned biscuit type of shortcake, split and covered with sweetened crushed berries and cream. Others prefer a more cake-like type of accompaniment to the berries.

BACKWARD GLANCES

FORTY YEARS AGO FROM 1908 CAPITAN NEWS

Mrs. W. M. Reily met with a very painful accident while on her way to Carrizozo on Monday's train. At Indian Divide, while switching, the engine gave the coach a severe jolt and Mrs. Reily was thrown against a seat with such force that her spine was injured and she was otherwise hurt. She was brought home yesterday, and is resting as well as could be expected.

A wind storm that probably attained a velocity of sixty miles an hour, passed over this county Monday. It was ushered in Sunday afternoon by a rain, hail and sleet storm, and followed by a frost that is believed to have nipped, in some places at least, the fruit that escaped the freeze of the previous week. A report from Angus states that on the morning of May 5th the trees in the Bonito Park fruit farm were festooned with an inch of snow and the mercury registered 35 degrees. The Capitans were covered with a mantle of the beautiful snow. The ground is full of moisture, and the farmers say that a late spring means large crops. So the case might be worse.

The affairs of this school district have been handled very economically the last three years. Three years ago the district had a floating indebtedness of $400, which has been paid, schools have been conducted and there is a balance to the credit of this district of over $300.

THIRTY YEARS AGO FROM 1918 CARRIZOZO NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Brack Sloan are spending several weeks with friends in El Paso.

$131,250—That's what Lincoln county subscribed on the Third Liberty Loan, in response to a call for $103,700. Fort Stanton came in strong at the close and has been awarded an honor flag by Chairman A. G. Rolland. Others securing the honor flag were Capitán, Corona, White Oaks and Carrizozo. The local railroad boys did nobly. Trainmaster Fairbanks was especially active in the campaign.

TWENTY YEARS AGO FROM 1928 LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS

Mrs. A. B. Zumwalt and her daughter Mrs. Gilbert Peters, returned Saturday afternoon from Los Angeles. They had been on a two week visit to different members of the family.

TEN YEARS AGO FROM 1938 LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS

Mr. J. M. Frame was honored at a surprise party last Saturday, the occasion being Mr. Frame's retirement from the railroad after 48 years of railroading. The family will spend the summer at their cabin "Done Workin'" on the Riohoso.

The fire department was called out to West's Dairy last Saturday afternoon to fight a fire in some outbuildings which had gained such rapid headway that it threatened to destroy the house. Fast work by chief Beck's boys saved the buildings.

You are always welcome at the Church where everybody is somebody, and nobody is a stranger. The Church is enjoying a steady increase in its membership, there have been fourteen additions in the past three months and we are looking forward to seeing more growth in the near future. Baptismal service at the close of the night service Sunday.

Some improvements are being made on the buildings, a modern nursery is one of the improvements we hope to have finished soon. Some outdoor sports are being planned for the youth this summer. A revival meeting will begin on May 16th with Rev. Clarence Wainwright of Fieldton, Texas doing the preaching. We hope everyone will be led to attend this meeting and work for the glory of God.

Recently the Church had the pleasure of having the Rainbow Girls and the Rebekahs to attend the service. Welcome back Rainbow and Rebekahs.

VOLUNTARY ENLISTMENTS IN ARMY NOT CURTAILED

The Department of the Army and Department of the Air Force announced today that they will continue the policy of voluntary enlistment as their main objective in securing manpower needed for current requirements. Selective Service, if passed by Congress, will be used to supply the difference between the authorized strength and number of volunteers. The Departments state that there will be no curtailment of effort in connection with the voluntary enlistment program, as it is desired in so far as possible, to fill all requirements on a voluntary basis during peace time.

Look who gets squeezed!

Union leaders representing less than one-tenth of railroad employees reject recommendations of President's Emergency Board—refuse to negotiate except on their own terms—threaten to paralyze nation by strike!

THE LEADERS of three railroad unions, representing less than one-tenth of all railroad employees, have called a railroad strike that would paralyze the nation.

These leaders refuse to accept a 15% cents an hour wage increase retroactive to November 1, 1947. This increase was recommended by an impartial Emergency Board appointed by President Truman.

This increase of 15% cents already has been accepted by the 19 other railroad unions. But the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Switchmen's Union of North America won't accept what more than 95% of all railroad employees have accepted. They have called a strike to get more!

Unions refuse rules discussion. Certain rule changes demanded by these union leaders—which would increase wages still further—were recommended by the Board. But the union leaders want more—they demand that the railroad put into effect ALL the changes they asked for, including those the Board felt should be denied.

On top of this, they insist that certain rule changes proposed by the railroad be withdrawn—in spite of the fact that the Board recommended them! These union leaders have refused to negotiate except upon these arbitrary terms.

Greater wage increase not justified. Engineers and firemen are among the highest paid of all employees in America, as figures in the box show. This strike threat doesn't justify giving a greater increase than other railroad workers received.

Emergency Boards are a means provided by the Railway Labor Act in the public interest to avoid strikes. The President's Board after hearing evidence for 33 days, made recommendations based on all the facts in the case. The railroads have accepted these recommendations.

Who's to blame?

Although they deplored so large an extra cost burden, the railroads accepted the report of the Board because they felt it was in the public interest to uphold the spirit and intent of the Railway Labor Act.

In contrast, this small group of railroad union leaders are attempting to flout the intent and spirit of the Railway Labor Act, and dictate their own terms.

They have dictated a paralyzing railroad strike.

You will be the victim!

How long will the American public stand for the undemocratic, arbitrary, and abusive use of the right to strike and the disregard of the obligation to provide transportation? How long can the American people permit a few dictatorial union leaders to defy the processes provided for peaceful settlement of disputes?

Force seldom produces settlements that are either fair or lasting. Moreover, a point is often reached when personal interests must be held subordinate to the greater public welfare. That is why the railroads have accepted the Emergency Board recommendations. That is also why the leaders of these three unions should reconsider their decision to call a paralyzing strike.

Compare these wages with what you make!

Here is a comparison of average annual earnings of engineers and firemen for 1936 (pre-war) and 1947. Also shown what 1947 earnings would have been if the 15% cents per hour increase, offered by the railroads and rejected by the union leaders, had been in effect throughout the entire year 1947. WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Revolt Interrupts Bogota Parley; Miners Get Pension, End Walkout; GOP Aspirants in Primaries Fight

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

REVOLT: Bogota

It was a peaceful early afternoon in Bogota, Colombia, and the inter-American conference was droning along in customary style in the capitol building on the Plaza Bolivar.

Then, with the firing of four assassin's bullets into the body of Jorge Eliecer Gaitan, popular leader of Colombia's Liberal party, one of the worst revolts Latin American has seen exploded into violence.

During the first afternoon Bogota descended into a state of complete anarchy. Mobs prowled the streets, burning and looting. Scores were killed. The residence of President Ospina Perez was attacked and windows were broken before army troops drove away the crowd.

Above the confused clamor of the throng could be heard shouts of "Down with the government, down with the Conservatives."

Three days later, as the riots simmered to a halt, 300 persons were dead, many others injured. Downtown Bogota was a welter of destruction. Colombia had broken relations with Soviet Russia, and the inter-American conference had almost cracked up, with delegates uncertain as to whether they could continue.

On the face of it, the revolt was a sudden eruption of violent sentiment of Liberal party followers against the Conservative government in power. Immediate result was the formation of a new coalition cabinet, equally composed of Liberals and Conservatives.

Big question was how much Communists had to do with the Bogota riots.

U.S. Secretary of State George Marshall, who with other Americans in Bogota got through the riots unscathed, claimed the revolt was Communist.

"The occurrence goes beyond Colombia. It is of the same definite patterns as the occurrences which provoked strikes in France and Italy."

And the Colombian government, in severing relations with Russia, declared that a "Communist insurrection" had touched off the mob fury.

Finally, it was announced from Bogota that the inter-American conference would resume "so that Communism could not triumph over Colombia and the rest of the nations of the hemisphere."

SETTLEMENT: Coal Strike

John L. Lewis wasn't exactly in the position of a man who had asked friends out to dinner and then found he couldn't pay the check, but he was verging on some such situation.

Half a million soft coal miners started to struggle back to work after a 23-day strike when Lewis informed them that the fight for $100-a-month pensions had been won, but Lewis himself had to appear before Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough to answer a contempt of court charge.

Lewis was cited for contempt by Goldsborough, his 1947 nemesis, on the grounds that he ignored an April 3 court order to call off the strike.

Apart from the contempt of court citation, settlement of the coal strike was distinguished mainly by a slightly marvelous amalgam of political action and expedient compromise.

Beginning of the end came when Speaker of the House Joseph Martin (Rep., Mass.) moved into the dispute by persuading Lewis and Ezra Van Horn, a mine operator, to meet with him in his office. Martin then suggested that Sen. Styles Bridges (Rep., N.H.) be named the third member of the board which administers the miners' welfare and retirement fund. (Lewis and Van Horn are the other two members.)

At a subsequent meeting of the three, Bridges proposed a plan that would give $100-a-month pensions to 62-year-old miners with 30 years of service who retired after May 30, 1946, the date on which the miners' welfare fund was set up. Bridges' plan was accepted and the strike called off.

Actually, Lewis, in approving the New Hampshire senator's proposal, had descended several notches from his original demands.

Politically, the most fascinating aspect of the affair was how Joe Martin managed to take the play away from the administration in arranging for a settlement.

EDUCATION:

Nearly half of the 5,345,000 World War II veterans who entered special education and training programs under the G.I. bill of rights have abandoned their courses, Veterans' administration says.

More than 400,000 completed their work, however—388,000 of them under the G.I. bill and the rest under the rehabilitation program for disabled veterans. Many of those that quit plan to return later, it was indicated.

On Wisconsin

In his South St. Paul home Stassen grizzled with the comfortable cheer of a cat who had just swiped all the cream in Wisconsin as he sat with his wife and received reports stating that he had run off with 19 of the 27 delegates in that state's primary election.

PRIMARIES: Wisconsin

Wisconsin's presidential primary election to choose delegates to the Republican national convention in Philadelphia on June 21 was regarded, as usual, as a straw in the wind; but this year the political breeze was a shifting one.

For Harold Stassen, ex-governor of Minnesota, a hard, thorough campaign waged by himself and his volunteer supporters up and down the state paid off nobly when Wisconsin voters granted him a total of 19 of the state's 27 delegates to the GOP convention.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur took the remaining eight to run a poor second, despite a flamboyant publicity drive carried out by his backers (notably the Hearst newspapers) which was built around the theory that he is "the only man equipped to deal with Russia."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York drew a complete blank in Wisconsin, where he had been the Republican favorite in 1940 and again in 1944.

As a result of the Wisconsin election, Stassen was catapulted into public consciousness as a leading contender for the Republican nomination. It was certain that his top-heavy victory there would be reflected in the other primaries to follow, and that he had gained considerable stature in the Midwest.

It was difficult to tell which of the two losers—Dewey or MacArthur—had been hit harder by his defeat. Dewey, who received no delegates, might seem to be in a position similar to that of Wendell Willkie in 1944 when he withdrew from the GOP race after losing ignominiously in the Wisconsin primary. But the New York governor previously had beaten Stassen in the New Hampshire primary, and, also, he had the full slate of New York delegates pledged to him.

It was on MacArthur, who had claimed Wisconsin as his home state, that the axe of public disfavor appeared to have fallen with greatest force.

More To Come

From Wisconsin the election year wind swung to the plains of Nebraska where seven leading contenders in the Republican presidential race fought it out in a free-for-all match, with Stassen again emerging as the big winner.

After Nebraska the battlefield shifted to Pennsylvania and Massachusetts on April 27. A total of 108 delegates to the GOP convention was at stake.

On May 4 Harold Stassen was to carry the fight to Sen. Howard Taft's home arena, the state of Ohio. It was no secret that Taft was worried over which way his fellow Ohioans might go, and a good showing by Stassen would hamper materially Taft's White House ambitions.

In his second pitched battle with Governor Dewey (New Hampshire was the first) Stassen was slated to invade Oregon for that state's GOP primary on May 31. While results of the Oregon primary were not expected to be conclusive, they would serve to provide a first sampling of West coast opinion.

Final state presidential primary on the Republican side occurs in California on June 1.

Gasoline from Coal

Gasoline made from coal, even when it comes into general use, probably will cost more than petroleum gasoline, but at least motorists won't have to worry about shortages, a research scientist, Dr. R. W. Krebs of Baton Rouge, La., has predicted. He estimated that coal gasoline will cost from 10 to 15 cents more a gallon than gasoline currently in use, but he added that the supply will be enough to last 1,000 years.

TREATY:

Finns-Russ

Russia had what it wanted from Finland—a buffer state to the northwest.

The two nations signed a 10-year treaty of mutual assistance which binds Finland to fight within its own borders in the event either country is attacked.

Finland and Russia, stated the pact, would battle side by side to repel aggression by Germany "or another state allied with" Germany. The treaty circumspectly failed to mention any other state by name.

Despite the fact that Finland's delegation virtually had been commanded to appear at Moscow to sign a treaty with Russia, Premier Josef Stalin beamed expansively after the agreement had been concluded, hailing it as a "treaty between equals." And he said:

"I would like to see us pass from a long period of mutual distrust during which we twice fought against each other, to a new period in our relations—to a period of mutual trust."

Actually, the Finns got a better deal from Russia than they might have hoped for. Their nation had not been forced into a tight, arbitrary military accord with the Soviets, nor had Finland lost its sovereignty although it was brought firmly into the bloc of states along Russia's exposed western flank.

ATOM BOMB:

No Secret

Secretary of Defense James Forrestal put a name and a definitive edge, after a fashion, to all the restless postwar fears Americans have been experiencing.

He did it by announcing to the house armed services committee that Russia knows how to make the atomic bomb. More specifically, the Russians possess the knowledge of how to put the bomb together, but so far do not have the industrial capacity to capitalize on that knowledge.

Russia does not yet have an atom bomb, but the days of U. S. monopoly of A-bomb production are numbered, Forrestal said. He told the congressional committee that he got his information from Dr. Vannevar Bush, chairman of the U.S. research and development board.

During the course of his testimony regarding a two-year draft of men 19 through 25, the defense secretary answered queries with:

"I said they do not have the atom bomb, I did not say they do not have the secret of the atom bomb."

"I am informed by Dr. Bush that the scientific knowledge and technical procedure involved in the manufacture of the atom bomb are known to Russia."

Thus, U.S.-Russian relations on the atomic level had developed to the point where there was only one unknown quantity: How soon would the Soviets acquire the industrial capacity to produce atom bombs?

Secretary Forrestal admitted he didn't know.

Italian Style

U.S. Ambassador to Italy James Clement Duggan (right) peers benevolently at an Italian worker in Taranto as he tastes grains that were among the feedstuffs delivered aboard the 100th relief ship to bring food to Italy.

CONTROLS:

Cold Shoulder

The jeering specter of price, wage and ration controls was invoked again by President Truman's council of economic advisers which called for nationwide "discipline" to prevent inflation under the impact of the new defense program.

In its report covering the first three months of 1948 the council denounced the tax cut law as "inflationary" and recommended new taxes if the planned defense spending is not offset by reduced government costs in other areas.

Republican-dominated congress received rather happily the council's call for reduced government spending, but maintained a glassy silence on the subject of selective price, wage and ration controls.

Congressmen indicated that they want to study possible inflationary effects of the preparedness program and foreign aid spending under the Marshall plan before they give any serious consideration to resurrecting economic controls.

Although the council admitted that foreign spending coupled with a big defense outlay "will not swamp our economy nor require us to pass from free enterprise to regimentation," it added that "some rather systematic and vigorous discipline must be exercised."

UNVEILING OF F.D.R. STATUE IN LONDON...Some of the distinguished guests stand in front of the 10-foot statue of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt after the unveiling ceremony in London's Grosvenor square. British people subscribed more than $150,000 to honor the wartime President of the United States. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Prime Minister Clement Attlee and King George and the royal family were present for the occasion.

SULPHUR DUSTING BY AIR...This Bell 47-D utility helicopter is dusting a citrus grove near Houston, Tex., with sulphur. Until recently, dusting with sulphur had been considered highly dangerous. Now, however, aircraft of this model are permitted to do so, thus paving the way for expansion of helicopter dusting to Southwest states where sulphur is widely used to fight insects and disease.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL...Philadelphia, Pa., instituted a clean-up, paint-up, fix-up campaign come spring this year, and the first thing anybody saw there were crowds of people outside scrubbing the streets and sidewalks. Fired by the vision of a clean and shining city (maybe in anticipation of the forthcoming Republican and Democratic national conventions there) Quaker City residents shouldered brooms and buckets and went to work on the Philadelphia beauty treatment.

WHATSOEVER HAPPENED TO CHOP SUKI?...Introduced at Lake Success, N.Y., by the traditional American girl of bread soaked in the saturated point in neat gravy, Florence and Roger Legatons, British buns, took with some suspicion upon her ladylike use of a fork. The children's parents are United Nations personnel.

Protection from Diphtheria
Approximately two-thirds of all cases of diphtheria occur among school children, according to the Illinois department of public health. For this reason parents are urged to have their school-age children immunized against this disease. For best protection the immunization should be given when the child is six or eight months old, with an added "booster shot" when he enters school. Confining a child to the school room where he comes into close contact with other children increases the hazard of contagious diseases, especially those like diphtheria that affect the lungs. Unless school children are protected against diphtheria, they also may carry it home to their younger brothers and sisters.

Young Evangelist Preaches, Sings and Plays Accordion

LOS ANGELES.—Little Marjoe Gortner, three and one-half-year-old "preacher" is the talk of Los Angeles evangelist circles.

The curly-haired son of the Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Gortner, both Long Beach evangelists, made his pulpit debut at a local downtown meeting and since has given several sermons, followers say.

His average sermon lasts about 10 minutes. He also sings and accompanies himself on the accordion.

Marjoe's best sermon, say his backers, is "The Last Rounding," in which he comes on stage, dressed in a cowboy suit, and concludes with a short message on the general theme.

Present Capitol Building
The original U. S. capitol was constructed on plans drawn by Dr. William Thornton, and with interruptions was completed in 1827. The present senate and house wings were built after designs by Thomas U. Walter between 1851 and 1860, and necessitated a new dome, which was completed in 1866.

Worth Her Weight
An average-size hen that produces 200 standard-size eggs a year lays almost five times her body weight in eggs.

The FICTION Corner

A RIDE IN THE DARK

By LOUISE BERGSTROM

The headlights of the blue coupe flashed on in the driveway. Joyce, who had been watching from an upstairs window, reached hurriedly for the coat lying on her bed. As she slipped into it, she made a last quick survey of the room to see that she had not forgotten anything. By the door her neatly packed suitcase stood ready, and even now the room had that deserted, impersonal atmosphere a room acquires when its occupant goes away.

Her heightened emotions threw an unnatural clarity over the familiar scene. Little things she had not noticed for weeks sprang suddenly into focus. A silly little horn hanging on the dresser was a reminder of a dance Terry had taken her to while they were still in college. He had kissed her that night for the first time. The photograph stuck in the edge of the mirror: Terry with a horrible grimace pretending to clutch her throat as she knelt in supplication in the sand. That had been taken the day the gang drove out to Three Tree Point for a picnic.

"How young we were!" she thought wistfully. "How terribly, carelessly young! And we'll never be young like that again!"

She shivered and drew her coat closer around her shoulders. For tonight was the end of her girlhood, the end of the careless, silly years. After tonight nothing would ever be quite the same again. Better, perhaps. Oh, yes—far, far better! But not the same, ever again.

She caught her breath in a sudden panic, and for one horrible, despairing moment she thought, "I don't want to go through with it! I'm afraid!"

Then with a laughing sigh at her absurdity, she shook the mood from her and hurried out of the room without looking back.

Safely in the car with her suitcase tucked under her feet, she relaxed comfortably against the shoulder of the young man behind the steering wheel.

"Look, Terry, there's a new moon tonight. Is that a good omen, do you suppose?"

"I hope so, darling." He looked tenderly down at the delicate oval of her face, childish mop of brown curls and the small hands folded carefully in her lap.

"Oh, Joyce," he exclaimed abruptly, "don't you think we should have told your mother after all? Are you sure that you want to do it this way?"

"Hush, Terry." She patted his knee. "Let's not go into that again. It's too late, anyway. You know Mother, she thinks I'm still a baby! She wanted us to wait at least another year."

"She might be right at that," Terry replied uncertainly. "Maybe you are too young."

"Nonsense!" She shook her curls emphatically. "A girl knows when she's ready. Wasn't it lucky Mother decided to go to California when she did? Everything worked out beautifully. Now she needn't know a thing about it until it's all over."

"Darling," his voice grew pensive. "Why do you suppose it is that middle-aged people can't seem to remember what it's like to be young and in love? Don't they remember the beauty and the relentless urgency? Don't they know that there has to come a time when you've got to have it all and even everything is not enough?" Her voice faltered, and in the silence between them the words were like dark wings beating.

Terry reached down and took her hand in a hard grip.

"Joyce, dearest!" he whispered. They were silent then, and the moon-bathed landscape sped past as his foot pressed hard on the gas pedal. It was early spring, and the cool night air blowing in through the car window had the restless, exciting smell of new growth.

At last they were out of the country, coming into the suburbs of a town, where street lights dimmed the moon and houses stood in dark huddled rows.

Terry slowed the car, then suddenly pulled up to the curb and turned to the girl beside him. His arms went around her and his head bent down to hers.

"I love you, Joyce," he said against her soft hair. "Are you afraid of tonight?"

She thought fleetingly of the moment in her room when she said goodbye to her girlhood, but that moment was passed, swept away by the tide of new emotions.

"As long as you love me, Terry," she replied simply, "I'm not afraid of tonight or afterwards." It was quite true; she felt strong now, and confident, ready for anything the future might hold.

He kissed her gently and the car moved forward again, slowly now as though the future had become too precious for any risk. A brightly lighted building loomed before them, and Terry stopped again at the foot of a flight of stone steps. He picked up her suitcase and stepped out of the car, then turned to take her arm.

Joyce looked up eagerly at the words cut over the entrance to the building.

"LAKEWOOD MATERNITY HOSPITAL."

She smiled at her husband gravely, reassuringly, and together they started up the steps toward the welcoming lights.

"How young we were!" she thought wistfully. "How terribly, carelessly young! And we'll never be young like that again."

LET'S TALK ABOUT YOU

BY CHARLES B. ROTH

The Secret of Good Habits

Because you have been warned so many times against breaking habits, you may have jumped to the conclusion that all habits are bad. But they aren't. I think the number of good habits is greater than the number of bad habits.

You may be astonished when I tell you that being more effective and successful in your life is largely a matter of habit. What I mean is that clever and successful people have formed helpful habits of thinking and doing, while neurotic and unsuccessful people have the wrong kind of habits. That is the chief difference between them.

Look at a habit in this way and you will see what I mean. What is habit except doing—or thinking—the same thing often enough until doing or thinking it becomes automatic, and you do every customary act in the same way. Such action is called "habitual action." When you think the same thoughts often enough until they have become thoughts that come and go without your bidding, really without your control, you are doing habitual or habituated thinking.

Now, the secret of winning the right kind of personality and placing it in life is simply to determine a pattern of thoughts that you want to have, and then to think those thoughts and keep on thinking them long enough until thinking them becomes a habit.

Let's say that at the present time you are willy-nilly about everything you do. You can't make up your mind. You waver. You postpone. You can't make decisions.

Those things are a sign of faulty thought habits.

Decide that for one week you will act decisively, even if wrongly, in little things. During that week act, live, carry yourself like a person of resolute habits.

Maybe one week's experiment isn't going to be long enough to overthrow the faulty thought habits of a lifetime, but it will help. It will be long enough to put you on the road to right thinking and to right habits.

Dig deeply enough into the way the person you admire the most lives, and you probably will find that he is controlled by a series of habit—right habits. The sum total of those habits is what gives him his personality, his attractiveness. The sum total of good habits in your life will do just as much for you.

New Army Technique Aids Plane Survivors

GOOSE BAY, LABRADOR. — A new technique for rescuing survivors of plane crashes in the frozen Labrador wastelands by pin-pointing dog-sled teams by parachute has been developed by the air transport command.

The newly developed operation "dog-sled" will save precious hours for plane crash survivors exposed to the bitter cold and possibly suffering from injuries received when their craft plunged earthward.

Conceived by Sgt. George E. Abbott, Norfolk, Va., the unusual rescue operation is especially valuable because some areas of the woody terrain in Labrador are so dense that helicopters cannot land.

Huskies, sleds and para-doctors jump from C-47's via the silk chute route and gather together at a focal point where the dog teams are assembled. Then the unit proceeds to the scene of the crash where it administers first aid, evacuates the seriously wounded and provides food.

The entire procedure lasts only a few minutes, contrasting sharply with the hours and days that it has taken overland rescue teams to reach some crash scenes in the past.

Twins Are Identical, Even to Toothaches

Six-year-old Janice and Jeanette Washburn of Mattapoisett, Mass., are identical twins—painfully identical.

When they reported to the school dentist, Dr. George M. Teasdale, with toothaches in corresponding molars, Dr. Teasdale insisted he never before had heard of such a coincidence.

To their mother, however, it was an old story. The twins lost the same corresponding first baby teeth on the same day. Similar circumstances also surrounded the loss of their second teeth.

British Flood U.S. Car Market With New Autos

NEW YORK.—The British are invading America again—this time with automobiles.

At least nine British manufacturers offer immediate delivery on cars selling from $1,500 to $150,000. In addition, a half-dozen French and Italian makes are offered in small numbers.

Never before have the British come into the American market with such high hopes of gaining coveted dollars. Never before have they had such an opportunity to go home with a comparatively fat pocketbook.

The latest bidder is Sir William Rootes with the Hillman Minx. Rootes introduced his 40 horsepower car to America in the ballroom of a swank hotel facing Central park. Sir William said dealers from 39 states had made inquiries. His car sells for between $1,800 and $2,000.

Bull Dealer Organization The Austin Motor Company with a 40 horsepower car selling for as low as $1,500, entered the American field and built up an organization of 90 dealers.

The British affiliate of the American Ford Motor Company also is entering the United States with a low horsepower, low mileage car selling at about the same price as its American cousin.

In addition to these three popular priced cars, the British are exporting the Rolls Royce, Bentley, M. G., Standard, Jaquard and Dalmler. Some of these are the familiar handmade, gold plated jobs with solid gold prices.

American motorists are attracted to British automobiles for the same reason American GI's were attracted to British girls during the war. There isn't anything a British car hasn't got that an American car doesn't have. But the British car has it here.

Hope to Gather Dollars

Before the long waiting lists for American makes get back to normal, British manufacturers hope to woo away many millions of dollars. Britain needs the dollars with special urgency now on the eve of the beginning of the Marshall plan aid.

Austin says it is shipping 1,000 cars a month to American dealers. Henry Ford II said British Ford would ship 6,000 cars to the United States.

The acceleration of shipment is dramatic. The United States department of commerce reported England exported 330 automobiles during all of 1947 to the United States. In one month this year, total expanded to 4,250.

New-Born Babies Make Adults Look Like Pampered Sissies

CHICAGO.—New-born babies are tiny but tough, and in many ways, make adults stack up like sissies.

Dr. Clement Andrew Smith, assistant professor of pediatrics at Harvard Medical school, listed these among baby's strong points:

Babies have been known to go five, ten and even as long as fourteen minutes without breathing immediately after birth.

The body temperatures of babies exposed to chilling or covered by too many blankets have ranged from less than 90 to 102 degrees.

These changes in internal temperature will not do the baby any particular good, but on the other hand neither do they signify as much harm as they might in an adult, he said.

Babies apparently have more water in their bodies at birth than after. For this reason it is sometimes considered wise not to feed them for two to five days after birth. This is especially true of premature infants.

Baby also has disadvantages, too, the first being his small size. A baby has proportionately a much larger surface area than an adult. This causes a heavy loss of body heat. To make up for this an infant must breathe faster and his heart beats faster.

Doctors Report Radioactive Arsenic Used for Cancer

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—The first use of radioactive arsenic for cancer was reported to the American Association for Cancer Research.

This arsenic is made in an atomic energy furnace at the Argonne laboratory near Chicago. It is used on human leukemias and Hodgkins disease, both incurable forms of cancer.

The report was made by Drs. William Neal, Leon O. Jacobson, Austin M. Bruess, Howard Ducoff, Robert Straube and Thomas Kelley of the Argonne and the University of Chicago department of medicine.

Arsenic is one of the oldest remedies for both diseases. It never cured. Nor was it known why the arsenic was beneficial.

The new form, known as Arsenic 76, emitting strong radioactive rays, is used for two purposes. One is to try to learn why arsenic is beneficial. The other is to find out whether this new form may be more useful for people with the diseases.

Famous St. Bernards Seek Rescue Work

Modern means of travel have rendered the famous St. Bernard Hospice in Switzerland almost unnecessary. It is to be closed after nearly 1,000 years of service. The monks and dogs will live in the Rhone Valley from now on.

Its head, Prior Lucien Galloud has explained that the hospice is not to be abandoned completely. Four dogs will stay for rescue work. Some time ago several dogs were sent to Tibet to establish in the mountains a branch of the Great St. Bernard Hospice. The kennels for the famous dogs are located at Martigny.
