When the new Fire Station was built, office space for the City clerk was greatly increased, and ample room is now provided for a more efficient arrangement.

STOREY-NAZELROD

On July 25, 1948 at 9:30 P. M., the First Christian Church of Roseburg Oregon was the scene of a very lovely wedding, when Miss Gladys Storey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Storey of Roseburg, became the bride of Robert R. Nazelrod, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Nazelrod of Cumberland, Maryland.

The very impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Kenneth Knox. Before the wedding Miss Sue Hahn accompanied by her sister, Miss Betty sang "Because".

The bride was very beautiful in a plain gardenia afternoon dress of apple green and carried a white Bible topped with Rueban lilies.

Miss Peggy McCoy, the brides only attendant, wore a black and white sharkskin dress with a corsage of pink roses. Mr. Richard Stark acted as best man.

The bride is originally from Carrizozo, New Mexico and moved with her parents, to Roseburg in 1930. She attended Roseburg Senior High School and now is employed by R. F. Denton, Public Accountant.

The groom lived in Cumberland, Maryland before going into the army in 1946. He came to Roseburg immediately after his discharge and is employed by the Associated Western Lumber company as Foreman.

The couple are at home to their friends at 112 Brockway Street, Roseburg, Oregon.

V. F. W. Iron Lung Used In First County Polio Case

It was announced this week by Mrs. J. P. Turner, Chairman of Lincoln County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis that Lincoln County has been most fortunate to date during the epidemic season of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis). Only one case has been reported, that of Robert Vandergriff, son of W. R. Vandergriff of Ruidoso. This case was taken care of at Carrie Tingley Hospital with the able assistance of the iron lung recently purchased and placed in Lincoln County by Norton-Pepper Post of the V. F. W. at Capitan. The Post personnel very kindly let the lung be moved to Carrie Tingley Hospital for use during the present outbreak of Polio. It will soon be returned to its home in Fort Stanton. The patient, Robert Vandergriff, has recovered sufficiently to return home for a few weeks before returning to the hospital for more treatment.

The movement of the lung and the cost of care of the patient is assumed by the Lincoln County Chapter of the N. F. I. P. We have been very fortunate in this County to date in obtaining enough funds from the annual March of Dimes Campaign to pay all expenses of polio cases, educational programs and other incidentals. However, this case and the additional treatment required by Nancy Hart of Ruidoso, a victim of the disease some time ago, has depleted our fund, so we are borrowing from the National Organization. We hope the 1949 March of Dimes will put us back on our own again.

The sincere thanks of the National organization, the Local Chapter, and the patient go to the Norton-Pepper Post V. F. W. for the use of their Iron Lung.

There will be the usual card of events and the Kid's Calf Riding, both days of the show. A parade is scheduled to form at 1:00 p. m. on Saturday and go to the grounds. The usual big cowboy dance will be held on Saturday night.

At its regular monthly meeting, August 20, 1948, the Employment Security Commission announced a drastic reduction of force which will affect its administrative staff in Albuquerque as well as the personnel in the twenty-five local employment offices throughout the State. The reduction of force is a result of the cut in appropriations by the 80th Congress for administration of the Employment Security program.

Commenting on the reduction of force, Benjamin D. Luchini, Chairman-Executive Director of the Commission, said that approximately 80 employees would be included in the cut necessary to reduce the payroll. Of these, fifteen were resignations and forty-five terminations. In addition, local offices in Belen, Socorro, Santa Rosa and Reserve will be closed. Previously, offices at Clayton, Roy and Springer were closed. Bi-weekly itinerant service will be used to bring employment service facilities to these and other communities in the State, Luchini said.

Religion: Hand-Sewn Lesson for August 22, 1948

THE NEIGHBORS didn't know what Tabitha's ideas were. She never went down in history as a great thinker. What church she attended, whether she ever took part in a prayer-meeting, what her spiritual life was like, the neighbors did not say. But they cried when she was dead. She was a good woman, they knew. When Simon Peter came that way they did not tell him about Tabitha's prayers or her peace of conscience. No doubt she had these. But what the neighbors brought in to show how good their friend had been, was—coats and garments. All made by hand, her hands; made for her poorer neighbors, widows. In those days widows were not protected by life insurance, social security or annuity plans. They could not go out and earn big money in factories. To be a widow, as a rule, meant to be in need of help. Too many of them starved. So Tabitha spent her time making clothes for the widows of her city.

Fall of Good Works THE BIBLE says she was "full of good works." It does not say she was full of faith or full of love. Just full of good works. We can be pretty sure the faith and love, the religion, was there, but it was the good works that people noticed. Religion in Tabitha's house was translated into the language of coats and skirts. Religion always has to be translated into something we can understand. Religion uses words, of course; looks full of them. We cannot get along without them. They stand for something. But where the Christian religion is concerned, we cannot stop with words.

Would They Want You Back? THERE MUST have been a number of deceased Christians in Joppa, but the only one who seems to have been worth a miracle to bring back to life was this woman, Tabitha, or Dorcas. Her life was over, yet it was a life worth living again. How many people would be worth bringing back to life again? How many funerals would the neighbors want done in reverse? Not many, maybe, but if the neighbors voted at each funeral, as they did at Tabitha's, on the question, "Do we want this person back again?" they would usually vote for people like Tabitha, whose religion was all hand-sewn.

What is Service? SERVICE IS a word much used in Christian circles. We even have the world around us using the word. Department stores, government agencies, radio manufacturers, filling stations, all offer service. The trouble is that much of this is something for which you have to pay. And much so-called service is simply mending something that was not done right in the first place. Tabitha's service was of a different kind. It was genuine doing for people who couldn't do much for themselves and who certainly could not do anything in return. Even among Christians, when we think of service we set our sights sometimes too high. We think of Telemachus, who stopped the brutal sport of gladiators murdering one another on Roman holidays. We think of great missionaries or settlement workers, or Christian statesmen like Gladstone or Kuyper. All honor to such men and women; they inspire us all. Yet they discourage us, too. For these great Christians are "special" people; they had outstanding talent, some of them even genius. They had opportunities given only to a few, opportunities that do not come in every one's lifetime.

Religion in the Hands WE SHOULD REMEMBER this Tabitha, or Dorcas. All she had was her hands and some pieces of cloth. Her only opportunity was a poor city filled with poor people. Her only talent was one most women have: Plain sewing. Yet the Tabithas, the Dorcases, make the backbone of Christianity. They are the salt of the church, the salt of the world. In your own town, in your own community, if the Christian religion is loved and respected, it is not because of the famous preachers; it is because of the humble doers, the people whose Christian religion goes to their hands.

Elevator Will Serve Many Uses on Farm.

Conveyors Eliminate 'Back-Breaking' Chores

Elevators are becoming as common on farms as they are in city department stores. They are, however, of a different kind—and not used for the same purposes. Unless, of course, city stores have started conveying farm produce from the sidewalk into ninth or tenth story "mows."

Farmers began to think seriously about elevators and conveyors during the last war, and they've been doing something about them ever since. Many built their own equipment. Others bought commercial models. The source matters little—it's what they can do that counts most.

All-purpose elevators, either portable or stationary, are capable of elevating to desired heights baled, chopped, or loose hay, ear corn, root crops, shelled corn, ground grain and forage. Chopped hay is being elevated in the accompanying illustration.

They do these "back-breaking" chores easily, and all day long without complaining. However, before you build or buy an elevator be sure you know for what it is to be used. That knowledge will determine the size and type best suited for your needs.

Costs of operation vary somewhat, but, in general, farmers can figure on it taking from 1/10 to five kilowatt hours of power to elevate 1,000 bushels of grain with an elevator, run by a five horsepower motor. On this basis, approximately 500 bushels of grain can be elevated for less than five cents worth of electricity.

Small Farm Units Are Big Implement Buyers

Two-thirds of the one and one-half billion dollars being spent for agricultural implements this year is being expended for small one-family farms, according to a recent survey of the Anti-Friction Bearing Manufacturers' association.

For the first time the small farm operator, who owns 5 per cent of the country's total farm acreage, will be the biggest customer for automatic labor-saving implements.

The low ebb of farm labor as well as the increase in farm savings has been responsible for the mechanization of the smaller farms.

One outstanding result is that by 1950, it is estimated that four million farms will produce 33 per cent more than the total production of six million farms before the war.

Plastic Lily Pond

Kerosene or plastic lily ponds make it possible for the farmer as well as the city dweller to have a lily pond without the expense of building a stone or concrete basin. The plastic pond may be emptied, folded up and brought indoors and stored during the winter months. The pond also may be used as a wading pool for children or as a duck pond.

Weevil Damage in Grain Traced to Unclean Bins

Prevention of weevil damage to the new crop is possible if the granary is cleaned and sprayed with DDT. Nearly all cases of "weevily" grain can be traced to unclean bins, according to Purdue university entomologists. Any infestation which occurs likely will come from insects which remain from year to year in the grain and can be prevented by proper cleaning.

Texan Claims He Is Jesse James; Pal Greet Him

OAKLAND, CALIF.—Al Jennings, 65, the oldtime Oklahoma train robber, was brought face to face with a Texan who says he's Jesse James—and exclaimed, "It's him!"

Jennings took one long look at J. Frank Dalton, or James. His voice choked and his eyes filled with tears.

"It's him," said Jennings. "That's the face. My word of honor.

"Boys, there ain't a bit of doubt on earth. This here is Jesse James!"

San Leandro civic officials brought Dalton here by plane to feature him in their rodeo. They invited Jennings, too. Jennings, who took to the lecture circuit after his imprisonment a generation ago, makes his home in Southern California.

Dalton's story resurrecting the old outlaw—supposedly long a-moldering in a Missouri grave—first was made public when Dalton announced that he was the famous desperado.

Secret Question

Jennings said before the meeting he could prove whether the old man was Jesse James by a single question dealing with a "shootin' match" of long ago on a ranch in West Texas.

The only persons who knew about that match, he said, were himself, one other man—and Jesse James.

As the two met, the eyes of both filled with tears.

"Do you know me, Jesse?" asked Jennings.

The other nodded his head vigorously. His voice broke as he said: "You bet. You won a shootin' match on the old C Dot E ranch."

Jennings grabbed him by the hand.

Killed By Gang Member

History says Jesse was killed at St. Joseph, Mo., in April, 1882, by Bob Ford, a member of his gang.

Dalton says that's all nonsense, that the man Ford killed was "a Pinkerton fellow named Charlie Bigelow." After the shooting, he decided to disappear.

Jennings said he was frankly skeptical about the old man "until I asked old Jesse some questions nobody but him and me could've known."

The two had a rambunctious reunion, as their conversation paraded the ghosts of long gone bandits of the Southwest.

"We're agoin' right over the same old trails," said Al. "Boys, there ain't no doubt about this. This is old Jesse sure."

Expedition Uncovers Relics Of Early Man in California

LITTLE LAKE, CALIF.—Campsite remains of California's Dawn Man have been discovered two miles north of Little lake in Inyo county. The human bones and arrowheads found at this "closest approach to a city" may date as far back as 15,000 years.

This uncovering of prime historical importance has excited archeologists of an expedition from the Southwest museum. Their director, Curator Mark R. Harrington, says that for the first time "Pinto Culture" relics have been found in a positive, original location, undisturbed by the elements for more than 3,000 years.

The camp is on the lava-walled banks of a long vanished river that once ran south from glacier-fed Owens lake. A waterfall was then nearby, and a commodious lava cave was used for shelter, centuries before later-age Piute Indians came along and etched their own drawings on the dark cavern walls.

"They must have had a good life," Harrington said, "for when the glacier began melting, during either of the pluvial eras, this was lush, green, wooded country."

Victims of Texas City Blast See U. S. for Ninety Million

HOUSTON, TEX.—Uncle Sam was blamed in the Texas City explosion to the tune of more than 90 million dollars in lawsuits.

Eight suits totaling $95,200,446, including a $9 million dollar claim by the Monsanto Chemical company, were received here by the federal district clerk for transfer to Galveston, where trial of the cases is scheduled.

Monsanto's suit alleged the government "had knowledge of the potential hazards" of the ammonium nitrate, but that it was packed and shipped from government plants while "innocently labeled fertilizer."

The claims seek damages for deaths, personal injuries, property damage, reimbursement for insurance payments, recovery of profits lost by plant destruction and damage and loss of services of technically trained personnel killed in the disaster.

Texas City officials listed 312 persons killed or missing in the disaster. An estimated 3,000 were injured.

Similar suits already on file at Galveston exceed 35 million dollars while an additional $1,500,000 is involved in suits filed in Fort Worth, Oklahoma City and St. Louis.

Attorneys predicted the final figure may exceed the 100 million dollar mark.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

Cook in Cool Morning To Avoid Sweltering Over Stove at Dinner

ARE YOU the homemaker who's sweltering over a hot stove preparing the evening meal, somewhat on the grumpy side, short with the family and generally discontented? Or are you the cool and neat homemaker who simply opens her refrigerator door and swishes food on the table with neat flourish?

If you aren't the latter, then do something about it now. Plan several menus for each week that have most of the food prepared early in the morning so they may be served chilled for dinner.

Some women always will object to this plan because, they say, the food is so light that husbands are not fully satisfied. The dishes I'm giving you today are on the hearty side even, though they are served cold.

It's a good idea to serve some hot food with a cool meal, but this food may take the form of things that really cook within a short time. Good hot foods to serve are vegetables, soups, biscuits or fruit or berry cobbles or other puddings.

Egg and cheese loaf is an ideal supper dish because it has a high protein content. It can be made on the cool morning of a hot day and served for supper because of its welcome coolness.

IF YOU LIKE good solid meat on the table, as most men do, it can be served cold with just as much relish as a sizzling roast. Why not try one of these?

Swiss Salad.
(Serves 4)

- 2 cups cubed cold lamb or pork roast
- 1 cup cooked peas
- 1/2 cup walnut meats, broken
- 2 hard-cooked eggs
- 6 stuffed olives
- Lettuce
- French dressing
- Mayonnaise
- Paprika

Marinate meat and peas in French dressing and chill. Add nuts and arrange on lettuce leaves. Sprinkle with paprika and dot with mayonnaise. Cut eggs into slices and remove yolks. Arrange the white rings around the salad. Cut olives into rings and place one inside each egg white. Sprinkle egg yolks through a sieve and press over salad.

Beef-Cheese Plate.
(Serves 6)

- 6 slices cold roast beef or corned beef
  - 6 slices Swiss cheese
  - 6 deviled eggs
  - 6 tomatoes
  - 1 cup cole slaw
  - Green and ripe olives
  - Potato chips
- Place tomatoes stuffed with cole slaw in center of platter. Bank with green and ripe olives. Alternate slices of cold meat with cheese and place around platter. Garnish with potato chips.

Egg and Cheese Salad Leaf.
(Serves 6 to 8)

- 2 tablespoons gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1 1/2 cups real mayonnaise
- 2 hard-boiled eggs
- 4 cups grated Cheddar cheese
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 4 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Radish roses
- Carrot curls

LYNN SAYS:
Universal Food Tricks Tempt Appetites

When you make a chocolate cake, add a sprinkling of cocoa to the batter and then frost the cake with lemon-flavored powdered sugar icing. This gives an old favorite good variety.

If you're making a molded chicken salad, line the mold first with overlapping slices of cooked tongue if you want a pretty-as-a-picture platter.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- Chilled Tomato Juice
  - *Salmon Supper Salad
  - Toasted Rolls
  - Cherry Cobbler
  - Beverage
- *Recipe Given

Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Cool and add real mayonnaise; mix well. Dice hard-cooked eggs, reserving a few slices for garnish. Add chopped eggs with cheese, celery, salt, green pepper, pimiento and lemon juice to mayonnaise mixture; mix well. Pack firmly into a loaf pan which has been rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm or chill overnight. Unmold on serving plate and garnish with radish roses, carrot curls and watercress. Decorate top with green pepper rings and egg slices.

*Salmon Supper Salad.
(Serves 8)

- 1 head iceberg lettuce
- 3 green onions, sliced
- 2 cups canned peas
- 2 tomatoes, cut in wedges
- 1 tall can salmon
- 3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- 1/2 cup French dressing
- 1/4 cup real mayonnaise
- 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 3 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 1 clove garlic

Cut lettuce into cubes and place in salad bowl or platter. Sprinkle with sliced onion and canned peas. Arrange tomato sections on lettuce. Place large pieces of salmon in center and surround with slices of egg. Blend French dressing and real mayonnaise, add green pepper, pimiento and garlic. Just before serving, remove garlic. Serve with salad.

COOK THE MEAT in a cool day, then make an apple for it and you'll have an excellent dinner, fit for company:

Pot Roast in Apple.
(Serves 12)

- 4 to 5 pound roast of beef
- 1 large chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, grated
- 2 tablespoons butter
- Salt, pepper and paprika
- 2 1/2 pints boiling water
- 2 bay leaves
- 1/2 cup tomato pulp
- 1 tablespoon flour

Brown onion and garlic in butter; add well seasoned meat and sear quickly on all sides. Add boiling water and bay leaves. Cover and simmer for two and one-half hours.

If you're one of those people who likes salmon in its natural state, serve it in slices chunks with these delightful accompaniments such as lettuce wedges, sliced eggs, canned peas and tomatoes. This makes a pretty and welcome cool platter for Sunday night supper or lunch.

Add tomato and more water if necessary; continue cooking meat until tender. Thicken gravy with flour mixed with a tablespoon of cold water.

Apple.

- 2 tablespoons gelatin
  - 1/2 cup cold water
  - 2 beef cubes
  - 1 cup boiling water
  - 3 cups strained pot roast gravy
- Soak gelatin in cold water; dissolve with the beef cubes in boiling water and add to pot roast gravy. Fill a mold with a layer of apple and place in refrigerator to congeal. Put the cooked meat in the center and place small cooked carrots and onions around it. Cover with remaining gelatin mixture. Place in refrigerator to set.

Plums and pears make a good combination for a fruit cobbler or a molded salad. You also can add cherries if you like.

Did you ever try rice with mushrooms sauteed in butter? Try molding the mixture in a ring and serving green peas in the center if you want a dish that has a flavor thrill in it.

Ever try coconut custard pudding with thick, rich caramel sauce? It's just the cooling dessert you need with a rich meat.

AROUND THE HOUSE

When the corner edges of a linoleum floor covering comes loose, cement it down and keep a heavy weight on it for 15 or 20 hours.

Dropping a few dried prunes into the jar in which you keep brown sugar is a good idea. The prunes keep the sugar from turning hard.

Try making disk towels out of worn-out bed sheets. Run an embroidered hem around the edges of the pieces of sheet.

With chromium-plated copper pans, there's no need to beware of bare spots. You will have to keep after them diligently with steel wool and scouring powder every time the vessel is used, though, because the bare spots will stain easily.

Onions are probably the most dangerous vegetable to slice thin because they have a way of slipping out of the knife's way and leaving your fingers there to take the rap. Avoid this by setting the onion on a flat metal grater while you slice it. The grater won't allow the onion to slip out from under at the crucial moment.

Put a few drops of oil of wintergreen in the back corner of your refrigerator to absorb food odors.

Cut up an old Turkish towel and bind it with tape to make a drain-board mat to protect your dishes.

Scientific tests have shown that four times a year is an adequate number of times to turn an inner-spring mattress.

Baking soda will clean the glass door on the oven when it starts to get black.

Mineral oil makes a good lubricant for egg beaters and will not ruin food if it drops into it.

Rub your breadbox gently with emery cloth if it gets rusty. Use a coat of lard to keep it clean.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by ROGER C. WHITMAN

QUESTION: Please tell me how to remove old paint from "white lined oak" finish on a dining set.

ANSWER: Soften the old paint with paint remover, then take it off with a hand scraper and steel wool. Carefully avoid scratching or gouging the wood. Follow by cleaning off every trace of remover with benzine or turpentine. If the color of the wood is what you wish, you can refinish with quick-drying varnish or in some other way.

QUESTION: We have to put a new floor down in our basement. Which is better, plank or concrete?

ANSWER: Do not use boards because they will rot in time. Have a good waterproof, concrete floor laid by a mason contractor.

WHY?
WHY TAKE HARSH MEDICINES?
100% Healthful Lemon in Water

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing on arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination. No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutritional! Lemon in water is good for you!

Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health—and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C; supply valuable amounts of B<sub>1</sub> and P. They alkalinize; aid digestion.

Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang—clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative—simply helps your system regulate itself. Try it 10 days. USE CALIFORNIA SUNNIST LEMONS

LIFE WITH JEAN

By HELEN LANGWORTHY

DORIS WALTERS ran a clean, white sheet of paper into her typewriter. Very determinedly she began, "Susy Cow was out in the meadow eating the green grass when—"

That was it "when"—what? In her mind's eye she tried to total all the stories she had written about Susy Cow, Timothy Piggie and Horatious Horse. The stories would reach to the moon, of that she was sure. But they did keep a roof over the heads of she and her daughter, Jean.

Doris went to the window for inspiration. The same dull yard, the same dull neighborhood of the town of East Branch was there. She wished desperately that she might write something altogether different but according to the publishers the youngest generation had not had their fill of Susy, Timothy and Horatious. They wanted more. Sometime, she reflected, she would burst out and write something but those too-familiar epics, publishers or no.

Doris smiled then, for from the window she saw 17-year-old Jean standing on the corner with Petey. They were talking with intense interest. Doris went to the kitchen and fixed a thick sandwich in readiness for Jean. She reflected that for one so dreamy looking, so ethereal, Jean had no loss of appetite.

She practically marched to the typewriter then, determined that Susy Cow would be doing something before Jean breezed in.

As it happened, an idea hit Doris, an idea so overwhelming that she sat and whistled like Jean. Could she? She would! She was whizzing away at her typewriter when Jean came in.

"Hello, Mov," Jean called loudly. "I'm starved!"

"There's a sandwich," Doris answered shortly and went on typing.

Jean munched the sandwich and asked, "Got an idea for dear, dear Horatious at last?"

"Yes, brand new," Doris answered absently, clicking away.

Jean was in the mood for conversation and also she might have noticed that her mother had a far-away look she had to tell her the school gossip.

"Alice had a new dress on; called it a rag, but she was careful to let the label show. Petey liked me in bangs, but Chuck says it puts me in the kiddie car class—Mov, you're not listening!"

"You'd be surprised what a good listener I am," Doris answered, but Jean turned on the radio full blast then and Doris resumed typing.

Days passed. Jean talked this day of Petey, that day of Chuck and forever worried whether she looked kiddie car young or hideously old, even twenty!

"Can't you forget the seven-year-olds and concentrate on the 17-year-olds?" she asked plaintively after finding Doris typing for many days.

"This story is—different. Maybe I ought to tell you—," Doris began.

But Jean clapped her hands over her ears and ran from the room.

"Spare me the details. I've positively heard my last Horatious yarn." She grinned wickedly. "Just let me help with the check."

There was a reward for Doris' tired fingers the day the publishers wired her that the synopsis had been altogether satisfactory and to rush the completed manuscript. They sent an advance that left Doris dizzy.

"I'm made, Jean," she crowed. "It's easy street for us from now on."

Jean picked up the check, unbelievably. "Did Timothy and Horatious do this? Oh, I love 'em to pieces. What will we buy first, Mov?"

That evening there was no typing for Doris and Jean mentally spent thousands, maybe millions. "We ought to move to New York," Doris told Jean. "I'm sick of this town. An apartment—with someone else to shovel snow all winter and weed all summer!"

"It will be just too-too wonderful," Jean relaxed in dreams of their future. One minute she appeared as still as the Sleeping

Beauty, the next she was tearing to the phone. "Gotta tell Petey," she called.

"Wait! Something could go wrong—," Doris cautioned.

But Jean was already saying, "Guess what? Horatious came thru in a big way!"

"Can't you forget the seven-year-olds and concentrate on the 17-year-olds?" she asked plaintively after finding Doris typing.

Beauty, the next she was tearing to the phone. "Gotta tell Petey," she called.

"Wait! Something could go wrong—," Doris cautioned.

But Jean was already saying, "Guess what? Horatious came thru in a big way!"

FROM then on things were even more hectic than they usually were around Jean. The crowd dropped in often, thrilling with Jean over the move or mourning that they'd perish if she dared leave.

It seemed to Doris in those frantic weeks that life was a round of typing and cleaning up the kitchen after the raids of Jean's gang. The publishers were getting impatient and already sending a few sample ideas of their promotion plans for the book.

The day it was finished Doris felt vaguely uneasy and went for a long walk. On the path by the river she told herself she wouldn't dare sit down or after all those nights of work she would do a Rip Van Winkle.

Back home Jean came in with her usual, "Mov, I'm starved!" Munching an apple she sat down at her mother's desk and picked up the top page of the new story. She was curious about the excitement her mother had uncocked for the seven-year-old gang.

The title appalled her. It was "Life With Jean." She began reading; she skipped pages. It was all there. Her story. It began with her first date with Petey. They were 12. At a kids' party Jean had thought Petey "hers" but afterwards he had gotten on his bike, waved casually and rode away leaving Jean to walk home alone.

Jean gasped. Skipping a few pages, she read: "—she was washing her face—washing—practically scrubbing. When asked why, Jean answered calmly, 'Petey kissed me.

It wasn't as much fun as in the books."

A few pages further Jean read of the time she had caught the front of her dress on a porch railing at a dance and had torn a strip completely off without noticing. On the dance floor she became aware that two inches of her slip showed. But several dances later three other girls had "suffered" similar accidents. Next day 10 girls tried the new style.

Jean sniffed and flipped more pages. There was the account of the time the new life guard began duty. He was wonderfully handsome and Jean had an inspiration to require a rescue. He had paddled all 15 years of her and then shown her the picture of his wife and small boy. Even Jean's wail, "Why are such good looks wasted on married men," was there.

She read of the time Chuck had come to East Branch. His convertible had won Jean over at first. Petey and Chuck eventually settled it "man to man." Jean thrilled hearing of Petey's bloody nose and Chuck's dislocated jaw. "I'm infamous. I'm notorious. I've been fought for," she had crowed.

Jean was crying stormily as her mother came in. "How could you!" she demanded.

Doris' heart sank. "But, honey, it was so cute. After all, New York, new clothes—," she coaxed.

"I'd perish if Petey read this drivel," Jean told her tiddly.

"Horsefeathers!" Doris straightened the jumbled pages. "Think what it means—," If East Branch smiles a little now, it will be forgotten a year from now."

"I'm not living in a year from now," Jean cried furiously. "It's now!" She blew her nose loudly.

She tugged at her mother's arm. "Say you'll cancel it, Mov. I'd run away, honest." Her voice trembled. "Petey means more to me than old New York."

Doris gave her daughter a very searching look. She took a quivering breath and managed a faint, "You win."

Jean danced, she turned on the radio. "Come on, Mov, let's put the old thing in the furnace." She was all smiles now.

Doris had sat down weakly at her desk. But her voice was stern. "No! Label it yourself, 'Open in 1958.'"

"I'll be frightfully old then," Jean complained. "I'll be aged—37!"

"But it will make such beautiful reading for your own 'teensters,'" Doris commented acidly. She ran a clean sheet of white paper into her typewriter and began, "Susy Cow was out in the meadow—"

Specialist Predicts Toes Will Disappear

WASHINGTON.—A foot specialist predicted that 10,000 years from now nobody will suffer from ingrown toenails.

The reason is simple: By A. D. 11,948 people will have practically no toes. Hence, no toenails.

Dr. William J. Stickel, executive secretary of the National Association of Chiropodists, said:

"Feet, as we know them today, are on their way out."

At the end of 10,000 years, he says, the little toe will be completely gone. The other toes will be so retarded that the foot will look more like a hoof.

Shoes—and what some comic has laughingly called progress—are to blame.

As long as man used his toes to clamber up a tree, as long as he walked barefoot through the mud and let it squiggle up between his toes, there was some point in being a toe. And toes were happy.

And then, shoes. Toes were caged. Discontented, they allowed nails to grow in and bunions to grow out.

Go to any beach and try to get to the foot of the problem.

For every 1,000 lovely faces, or figures, or nicely shaped ears, it's difficult to locate one pair of decent feet.

Dr. Stickel aired his views in connection with National Foot Health week.

"I have studied the problem carefully," he said, "and have decided there is nothing rational the chiropodist can do to arrest evolution."

Motorist, 91, Stands on Head to Prove He's Healthy

SALT LAKE CITY.—A 91-year-old motorist here thinks he's in better health than most younger drivers. He has one convincing argument.

Mads M. Christensen stands on his head to silence skeptics.

The enthusiastic motorist drives a 1923 model car. "I'll be grabbed if I would want to go back to the old horse-and-buggy days," he smiles. He bought the car 23 years ago.

Christensen credits his health to eating only two meals a day, growing a beard and not smoking or drinking. He thinks men would be healthier if they wouldn't shave.

Thirteen-Year-Old Mystery Still Puzzles Sheriffs

EL PASO, TEX. — Somewhere in the eroded butte country of eastern New Mexico there are the bones of four people—two men and two women who disappeared 13 years ago while on a trip to the West coast.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lorus of East St. Louis, Ill., and their traveling companions, Mr. and Mrs. George Hebere of DeQuoin, Ill., spent the night of May 21, 1935, in Vaughn, N. M. They apparently reached Albuquerque, N. M., where postcards bearing their handwriting were mailed the next day.

There the trail ended. The Lorus' 1931 model automobile gave authorities their only clue. A nervous young man with a prominent apple abandoned the car in Dallas after passing through El Paso. He left a trail of Lorus' travelers' checks before he disappeared in Dallas.

Texas and New Mexico sheriffs in this sparsely populated country along the Mexican border never have doubted that the party was murdered. Murder, however, can't be proved until the body is found and there has never been a trace of the Illinois couples.

Radio Device Helps Baby Sitter Care for Children

SHANKS VALLEY, N. Y.—A radio baby sitter for student veterans living here has been put into operation by Maj. J. L. Wood of Seattle.

It enables one baby sitter to take care of a number of children in their own homes on such occasions as community dances.

Maj. Wood is living here with his wife and two children while studying at Teachers' college. Before he entered the army he was in commercial radio.

His procedure is to place a microphone near the crib of each baby to be watched and connect it to an amplifier in his own home.

Each amplifier is labeled with the name of the baby being watched. In each home he also places an alarm clock near the baby so that if its ticking ceases the baby sitter will know that the radio-device is no longer working.

The microphone is so sensitive that it will even transmit the sound of the child's breathing.

Thief Apologizes, Returns Loot; Identity Kept Secret

TACOMA, WASH.—Police were puzzled about whether or not to continue search for a bandit who held up and robbed an ice cream store of $60 here, then, hours later, changed his mind and returned the money.

Mrs. Edyth Eaton, victim of the robbery, told officers the robber called her up and apologized for taking the money. She said she then urged him to return it saying she would not reveal his identity to police. He returned the money and she kept her promise.

Things Are Tough in Peru While the U. S. price index rose 8.9 per cent last year, living costs in Peru soared as high as the Andes—increasing 46.1 per cent. Between August, 1939, and December, 1947, living costs rose 69 per cent in the U. S. compared to 207 per cent in Peru, according to the Municipal Finance officers association. Among 11 nations for which comparable statistics are available, Canadian living costs have increased the least since before the war. Though the Canadian price index rose 14.9 per cent in 1947, it is only 45 per cent above the 1939 level of that country.

TALL WHITE TAPERS

TRUTH and beauty glow from this old Book Like tall white tapers set to light the way! O hearts distressed and banished, if we look There is a light for every darkened day Here in the living truth, before our eyes, To cheer and comfort, and to make us wise.

These are the words of others who have known Great tribulation, whose bright faith was lit Out in the dark, and there with God alone They found His love—the power and strength of it; They found His everlasting arms and laid Their burdens in them, and were waifed!

So we should come, in this bewildering, To take the hand that, somehow, we have lost, Like children groping through the dark, and seek With things for which we paid too high a cost. Coasting the old Book over, there we find The light to which we long have been so blind.
