Outlook Vol. 89—No. 3

Democrats Held Banquet and Rally Here October 1st

State candidates present last Friday night for the Democratic rally were Governor Mabry; Hon. John E. Miles, candidate for congress; Joe Montoya, candidate for Lieutenant governor; Charles Rose candidate for superintendent of public instruction; Dan Sedillo and Ingram B. Pickett for corporation commissioner all of whom are up for re-election except Mr. Miles and Mr. Pickett. Without exception these men are entitled to the offices they seek.

Fine records in the offices they have held; programs for the benefit of Lincoln county citizens have been all-inclusive and of great value. Road programs, school lunches and a long list of civic improvements which promote the general welfare are evidences of their sincerity.

Mr. Miles has been the popular, efficient and trustworthy land commissioner until his decision to enter the race for congress.

Mr. "7-Foot" Pickett as he calls himself is so well known all over the state that it isn't necessary to say anything beyond the fact that he is eminently qualified from business experience and public service. All other candidates present have good records and plenty of experience.

Just prior to the rally a banquet was held at the Southern Pacific hotel for Governor Mabry and party. The big dining room was filled; a great many more would have been present if they had been notified in time.

In spite of the big block party hospital benefit and in spite of the fact that people had to go down to the school auditorium to hear Governor Mabry and party, a fair sized crowd was on hand.

While Governor Mabry spoke very briefly, all present were enthusiastic and definitely approved his highway, welfare and educational programs.

Locally we felt regretful that the carnival had been arranged for that night, and considered it park on excellent place for a rally, but some of our committee members thought it preferable to hold the rally at the place designated in advertising.

The State speakers were all agreeable, they went to the park first and spoke a few words in behalf of our hospital; also helped in a financial way.

Nearly all our county candidates were at the rally also Murray Morgan of Otero county. Our county chairman Mr. Carl Ness of Fort Stanton and his helpers had done a beautiful job of decorating the auditorium. Mr. Ness is the most enterprising chairman we have ever had. He works faithfully and almost continuously. We might add that the chairman's job is more difficult than most people realize; the job carries a lot of responsibility, tireless grueling effort and sometimes lack of proper appreciation and deserved credit.

CORONA NEWS

(By Mrs. A. E. Mulkey)

Your Community Chest

Your Community Chest will again come to you with an appeal for funds. A statement of all monies received and spent is at all times posted on the bulletin board in the Post Office. Look it over.

Four Corona school children are now with the County Nurse to be fitted with glasses and tested for Tuberculosis. Without your Community Chest this service would have been unavailable, and the health of your child, might have been endangered, for they drink from the same fountain and handle the same books.

Children with defective vision require extra time and help from the teacher, and the group as a whole is correspondingly deprived of help and training that is justly theirs.

Your Community Chest has also cared for all National and Area calls for welfare funds, so you have been solicited only one time.

You cannot rise without lifting your neighbor, and if he sinks he drags you down a little bit. We are inter-dependent.

The most effective and least painful method of caring for community ills is your Community Chest. Do not wait to be solicited, just voluntarily leave your contribution with any member of the committee. Committee members are: Boy Scouts, A. J. Atkinson; Girl Scouts, Pello Dishman; Woman's Club, Dell Mae Roberts; American Legion, Jim Wherry; American Legion Auxiliary, Eula Mays; Extension Club, Mary Hancock; Varney Community, Gladys Keefe.

The regular fall meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary of District 6 was held in Ruidoso Sept. 20. The luncheon was a "dutch treat" at Nob Hill. Meeting was called to order by Mrs. Myrtle Shamberger, President of Robert J. Hagee Unit 75. After the official opening the meeting was turned over to the District President, Mrs. Eula Mays of Corona, who outlined the plans for all Auxiliaries of the State. Child welfare is one of the foremost interest of this organization. The following units gave reports, Alamogordo, with ten delegates, Capitan with four delegates, Carrizozo with nine delegates, Corona with four delegates, and Ruidoso with twelve delegates. Alamogordo invited the district to meet with them April 20, 1949.

Mrs. W. H. Dearhold, of Roswell Department chairman of membership was introduced. Mrs. McBride and daughter of Roswell were guests.

NOTICE

An amendment to ordinance No. 20 was submitted to the Trustees of Village of Carrizozo, by the Fire Department and passed at their regular meeting Tuesday October 5th, as you will notice elsewhere in this paper. The purpose of this amendment is for the protection of the people as well as helping the efficiency of the Fire Department with the new high pressure fire truck, any person could get hurt easily, if by accident the hose stream was turned on them or if the nozzle was to get out of control of the Firemen. Therefore we have appointed a Fire Marshal to have charge of traffic, together with other law enforcement officers during fire alarms to help enforce this ordinance which is for your own protection.

As this is fire prevention week we would like to call your attention to make a special effort to inspect your premises as to fire hazards, including trash, weeds, faulty fuses, old oil mop or oily rags, or any other hazard which might cause fire. Let's all work together and try to prevent fire rather than to extinguish it after started.

We wish to thank all who cooperated with us in the past, and will appreciate your cooperation in the future as our organization is strictly volunteer for the protection of lives and property damage caused by fire.

—Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Dept.

Mrs. Warren Ratliff was a Las Cruces visitor Wednesday of this week.

The "Block" party held October 1st was an enthusiastic affair and co-operation for a successful benefit for the Hospital fund was unanimous; over $478.00 was raised during the evening.

The party started at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and continued throughout the evening with everyone joining in the fun.

The new fire engine was prominently displayed with members of the fire department on hand to sell rides. Children and grownups alike enjoyed the trips with siren wailing. The Fire Department netted $76.00.

Girl Scouts sold popcorn. The corn was obtained from the machine at the Lyric theatre. Sales totaled $10.00.

Ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary had a pie and cake stand also jams, home canned fruits. The proceeds amounted to $35.00.

Members of the Student Council had an ice-cream stand earlier in the day, proceeds of which were $5.00. Children stood in waiting lines to ride the caddle horses, a concession operated by members of the Rebekah lodge. This popular diversion netted $40.00.

The street dance was sponsored by the local V. F. W. Members of Roy Morgan's band, Ray Wheelers orchestra and Elmer Hut's orchestra all donated their services. The popular western tunes were greatly appreciated by the dancers and by the large crowd of on-lookers. Proceeds of the dance were $42.25.

The ladies of the Catholic organizations did well with their Spanish food, turning in $54.75.

Mrs. J. S. Escenas made some artificial flowers and sold them in the crowd. She donated the $2.10 realized from the sale of her flowers.

Mrs. J. P. Turner has donated the land; each individual or organization who donates a certain amount is entitled to a plaque as a memorial.

All committees and all organizations thank everyone who so generously helped to make this party a success.

All the nearby communities are helping generously too with donations and anyway possible. This is not for Carrizozo alone but for every individual in Lincoln county.

We are still working and every small amount helps toward building a larger one. Again—we say—Thank you every one.

All-Time Best Seller
Lesson for October 3, 1945

IF ALL the Bibles sold in one year by one manufacturer, the American Bible Society, were piled on top of one another, flat—not endwise—that pile of Bibles and testaments would be 28 miles high. In 1947 that firm put out the astonishing total of 3,310,433 Bibles, testaments or portions. During the first 125 years of the society's existence, 305,579,217 copies of Scripture were printed and sold by them; this would make one shelf 870 miles long.
The Bible is the best selling book in the world. No other book is in its class.
Not to know the Bible is not to know the most widely read book in the world. The American Bible Society publishes it in only 167 languages, but parts of it have been translated into as many as 1,000 languages and dialects.

Many Authors
SUCH popularity must be deserved. There are many reasons why the Bible continues to be, year after year, the all-time best seller. But one of the reasons is its impressive variety. It is not one book, it is a library of books. Whatever your mood, whatever your need, there is a page in the Bible, somewhere, for you.
A Christian will try seriously to appreciate the whole Bible and not merely one or two parts of it. Yet there is such variety in it that invariably some persons are attracted by one feature of it while another feature makes stronger appeal to others.
Our studies these next three months will be in "The Literature of the Bible" and each week we shall be noticing a different feature. This week we give a thought to the tremendous variety of the Bible, along with its underlying unity.

Many Types
LOOKING through the Bible you find all varieties of literary types; you find poetry and prose; stories, essays, sermons, biographies, dramas; rhapsodies, love songs, funeral dirges and battle hymns.
Here are pages as prosaic as a telephone book and here are pages more exciting than any fiction. Here are simple, straightforward ideas that a child can understand as soon as he understands the words and here are mysteries so profound that the world's mightiest and holdest minds shrink back in awe.
The Bible is not like a piece of music played on one single instrument, like a tune on a piccolo; it is more like an immense symphony—the more often we listen to it, the more we hear in it.

Many Times
NO ONE knows exactly how long it took for the Bible to be written. Let us suppose that the earliest parts came from the pen (or stylus) of Moses, and the latest part from about 100 years after Christ (John and the Revelation). If Moses flourished around 1200 B. C., that would mean that the Bible was completed 13 centuries after it was begun.
In 13 centuries much can happen, and much did. There is hardly any circumstance or crisis, there is scarcely any time, however humdrum or thrilling, which does not have its match in the Bible. Its writers were inspired men; they knew God. But they also knew the times in which they lived, and thus can speak to ours.
One Theme
FOR all the vast variety of the Bible, there is in it a deep and lofty unity. It is bound together by its mighty purpose, which throbbes in the heart's blood of every man who wrote a line of it. That purpose is to make God real to man, and to bring man to God. The writers of the Bible may have had their lighter moments, but they did not write these pages then.
They wrote under the irresistible impulse, born of the Holy Spirit, to make plain to other men what God had revealed to them.
So as you come to the Bible, remember its purpose is not to make you admire or revere it as a book; its great purpose is to be transparent, a window through which you shall see God.

- 1 7-ounce can baked tuna fish
- 2 cups fresh bread crumbs

Melt butter in saucepan, add mushrooms, cover and cook five minutes over low heat, stirring occasionally. Remove mushrooms. Add flour and seasonings to butter left in pan and blend. Gradually add milk. Stir and cook over low heat until thickened. Beat egg yolks slightly, add some hot sauce and blend; return to remaining sauce and cook two minutes longer. Fold in grated cheese. Remove from heat. Add drained, flaked tuna and mix thoroughly. Cool. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold in fish mixture. Pour into six large, buttered custard cups or individual casseroles. Bake in a moderate slow (325 degree) oven, 45 minutes or until firm. Serve with lemon. For baking in a large casserole, allow one and one-quarter hours baking time.

Salmon-Rice Leaf (Serves 6)

- 1 1-pound can red salmon, drained
- 2 cups hot cooked rice, blanched
- 2 tablespoons butter
- Juice of 1/2 lemon
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1/2 cup sliced stuffed green olives

Flake the salmon, add the rice which has been thoroughly drained and to which the butter has been added. Add lemon juice, olives and seasonings to taste. Fold in beaten eggs. Turn into a buttered pan into the bottom of which a buttered piece of paper has been fitted. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 45 to 50 minutes or until loaf has cooked through completely. Unmold and garnish with lemon slices and parsley.

LYNN SAYS: Meat Stretching Tricks Are Always Popular

When you make a meat pie with lots of smooth, brown gravy and vegetables, topped with light tender biscuits, the family won't realize you're stretching the meat because the dish is so delicious.

Chopped chicken and turkey or ham mixed with canned cream of mushroom soup makes a nice dish when they top a platter of cooked and fried noodles. Flavor this with a bit of onion.

Imagination Is Key to Simple But Effective Table Settings

By Etta Haley

"OH, HOW I wish I were artistic and could do interesting things with my table settings," is a frequent cry heard when women gather. It happens especially when someone has put forth some thought in her table setting.

Well, you can all relax, that is, all of you who don't think you have artistic ability. If you know anything about color, and add to that your common sense, you can do something out of the ordinary.

Have you a red and white checked cloth? This is very seasonal currently and can be used for a baked bean and cider supper. Use some charming pottery plates for the dinner, brown mugs and a centerpiece of glowing red Indian corn arranged with dark green leaves in a polished wood salad bowl. Is there anything simpler?

What about using a gourd or a hollowed out squash for the centerpiece, with bitterweat or leaves or any array of fall fruit spilling out of it? This is very effective when the tablecloth is a mustard shade of yellow, a dark chateau green or a glowing tangerine color.

You don't have a cloth in any of those colors? Fix one out of a worn sheet, some flour or sugar sacks, dyed to one of the shades just mentioned. If the sheet needs stiffening, run it through a light starch after the last rinse so it will be crisp and new-looking.

It takes but a little imagination, as you can readily see, to make effective table settings.

Informal Settings

Are Easily Made

For breakfast, lunch and family dinner or supper you can use all manner of simple fabrics to create the background for a meal. In fact the materials for many of these may be in the scrap bag right at this moment.

Old pillow cases and sheets are excellent if they have enough material in them worth saving. Cut these into the proper sizes either for cloth or mats, with napkins to match if you like. Finish off the edges simply by hemming, then dye them in shades you will want.

Old tablecloths which are worn and frayed can be cut down for mats, the size for which is 11 by 17 inches. Luncheon napkins are 17 inches square, dinner napkins are 19 inches square and tea or bridge napkin is usually 11 1/2 inches square.

Good colors to use are red, purple, blue, green, made by using a jade green shade in the dye, or a patio

Be Smart!

Beltlines are the lifelines of fashion. Plan yours to add a smart note to costumes, particularly gold or silver or some of the ultra smart dark ones in all colors. Plan them, too, as accessories for your new outfits as belts are headed for as important a place in the limelight as ever. The popularity of belted designs continues, the scrolls and antique figures as important as ever. Very new is the fashion display of more than one buckle, often arranged in a series around the entire waistline.

Seasonal Setting

For a party after a football game, serve a hearty supper in the warm glow of an open fire. Set out a lengthened table in the spirit of the occasion with a forthright red and white checked, with pottery dishes and mugs for cider or hot coffee. The color scheme is further carried out in a centerpiece of red Indian corn, polished green leaves and a wooden salad bowl. Fall fruit can be used in place of the corn.

fuschia, made by using four parts wine with one-half part of purple.

A delicate violet is made from three parts purple with two parts orchid dye. Dusty pink is made from three parts peach dye with two parts pink dye. Bittersweet uses three parts orange with one-half part scarlet. Instant dyes are used in all of the above suggestions.

Another easy finish is fringing. You can easily do this in the evening for a set of mats and napkins.

If You Want Linen, Use Toweling

An easy way to make mats and napkins for table use is with Irish linen toweling. This trick frequently is used by women when they want the crisp, nicely washable finish of linen economically.

Both mats and napkins can be made from the toweling, and you'll find that being able to buy the material by the yard, has the added advantage of giving longer lengths when you want to make runners.

Plaid and crossbarred linen toweling are good choices for casual and informal tablecloths or mat and napkin sets. If you are making these mainly to brighten up the kitchen or dining surroundings, you might even consider buying enough toweling to add simple drapes for the windows.

Stripes in linen toweling are also good choices to use for curtain and place mat ensembles. Their gay colors make them a pleasant background for any of the popular styles of casual dinnerware.

For the more formal luncheons and dinners, you might like to choose a grill-like scroll print done in white on both pastel and bright colored backgrounds.

Scroll prints will be nice with better dinner. The lovely powder blue shade, for example, would be very effective with dinnerware which has touches of yellow in it. Use yellow chrysanthemums as the flower.

Other Fabrics Give Many Possibilities

Coarse textured rayons, dyed if they are not a suitable shade, will make excellent tablecloth and mat sets. If you dye them in one of the gala Mexican shades, they can be used with fiesta ware, with a centerpiece arrangement of grapes. Many scorched or worn tablecloths can be used as source material.

If damask has lost its crisp finish and high luster, it can make handsome settings for more formal dining. Dye it a deep rich green; peach, pastel pink or soft yellow. Color heightens the pattern of the damask. A centerpiece of polished fruits and glossy leaves in a square white pottery dish will be effective.

For informal entertaining there's nothing lovelier than braided mats which can be made from pieces out of the scrap bag. Dye these to work out attractive colors.

The monotone or solid colored mat is best for plain dishes, but occasionally it's possible to work out attractive mats with white and a color. These mats should be made slightly larger than 11 by 17, the size for regular placemats. Use mugs with mats to make a thoroughly attractive setting, and a matching pottery bowl filled with gourds as the centerpiece.

Plain white mats made out of almost any material can be brightened by use of wide, colorful borders or various edgings, such as lace, braid, rick-rack or decorative borders. Buy borders already made, or use cast-off pieces of materials, either in their original shades or dyed, whichever offers the most effective treatment.

Nearly all of the farmers who operate the more than 150,000 farms in Kansas grow one or more crops for export and benefit directly from foreign trade, according to a United States State Department report.

The report cites Cuba's importance as a purchaser of this country's farm and other products and comments that under the stimulus of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements program, Cuba's imports of wheat flour from the United States increased from $2,935,000 in 1933 to $5,383,000 in 1938, or about 82 per cent.

Cars for Everybody

Most people thought Henry Ford's ideas about putting wheels under every American were just a lot of junk. They just couldn't see how anything like that could be done. Some of Ford's early partners failed to grasp the idea, for they thought of automobiles as belonging to the rich. Ford's idea was too "harem-brained" for them. They couldn't understand how anybody could possibly make a living selling cars to "poor" people.

But Henry Ford had the grain of an idea and the courage to see it through. America was a nation that encouraged such things. With an original investment of $23,000, he put the nation literally on wheels. Mass production was brought into its own, and costs came down. Ford wanted to make only a small profit on each car, and this sold millions of them. Competitors had to offer good values, too.

Jobs and Payrolls

Tin Lizzie and her imitators called for roads. Dozens of new industries came into being, in the building of roads. Our highways would circle the globe 41 times. Lizzie and the others had a thirst for gasoline. America's petroleum industry grew enormously. Filling stations had to quench that thirst. All these things made jobs. America became an industrial power, with this Ford-inspired motive power all the while, adding to her efficiency and activity.

This new mass production created great industrial empires; mines for coal and iron, rubber plantations, timberlands and saw mills, hydro-electric works, chemicals, glass, textiles. The result was more and more jobs, bigger and bigger payrolls, more and more goods and products that people wanted. Then, with our cars we became a touring nation. All our states became neighbors. We came to know the face of America, the beautiful.

Plowed-Back Earnings

Out of that $23,000 and his idea, Ford developed a great industrial empire, with factories and assembly plants and branch offices. Yet, aside from the factories and the equipment that he owned, Henry Ford probably never owned more than 2 per cent of the wealth that he created. He was called a billionaire, but he counted his resources in buildings and machinery, not in money.

Ford was free to plow back his earnings into an industrial empire that created jobs and produced wealth, mostly for other people. There were no personal income taxes to penalize individual effort. In fact, corporation taxes did not begin until Ford's industry was five years old, and then the tax was only 1 per cent. It did not exceed 13 per cent any year until 1933. Today, taxes are a multi-million dollar item on many a company's books.

Any More Henry Fords?

Demands from the tax collector have made impossible a contribution like Ford's from any individual American in this generation. Present tax laws, and mushrooming growth of a revenue-taking government, make it almost certain that there will not be another Henry Ford, or anyone like him. Are we thus penalizing the future of America? Who knows what need may arise for the genius of a Ford, in years to come?

Our nation must never lose its inventive genius. This genius can best thrive in a climate of complete economic freedom. The spirit of industrial venture that Ford typified must be kept alive, for the good of America. Ford's contribution brought a "plow-back" blessing to all of us. We should not make it impossible, through heavy taxation burdens, for any future Henry Fords to develop in America.

Uncle Sam Says

Why not stop on your own personal security self-starter to make 1948 the best year in your life? When you sign up to buy United States Savings Bonds through automatic payroll savings right where you work, or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank, you're adding money that grows to your income. These dollars you put aside, before they have the chance to spend wings and fly away, are sure to come in handy later on - to buy a home for your family, an education for your children, or years of leisure for yourself. And, best of all, you'll be getting back more than you put in - 10% at maturity for every $15 invested today. U.S. Treasury Department.

DOESN'T IT?

Some people will hesitate before answering yes - a trick, they think. Others hesitate before adding to their necessary expenses the cost of adequate insurance in sound companies. They may wait too long.

CATTLE ASSOCIATION URGES SOUND HIGHWAY PLANNING

Long-range highway planning was urged today by the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association in order "to assure the most utilization of New Mexico's highway tax revenues."

"Highways should not be built except in accordance with a well-drafted blueprint which is a program for highway progress," the group said in a statement on state road problems.

"A realistic and sound plan must give proper weight to the cost phase of any highway program. Often, cost considerations have been submerged, and primary emphasis has been placed on the engineering or physical aspect."

"Actually, the same procedure should be applied to highway construction as to home building. A man planning to build a new home first determines how much he is willing and able to spend, and then builds within this cost limitation."

G. W. Evans, Magdalena, Association president also asserted that "since the motor vehicle owner is not the only one who derives benefit from improved roads and streets, it is important that the cost of the different classes of roads and streets be distributed among all groups of taxpayers in proportion to the benefits each group enjoys."

It was pointed out that this organization is one of the several member groups comprising the New Mexico Highway Users Conference, which recently adopted a plan for progressive highway development.

Sound planning for the future is declared by the organization to be "essential to avoid haphazard and unbusinesslike highway development," and in order to guarantee motor taxpayers the maximum return for their tax payments.

Why Are Public Banking Hours Short?

Much of a bank's work must be done before the doors are opened each day and after they have been shut. For instance, here are some of the jobs done: opening the vault, supplying tellers with cash, distributing mail, proving cash, making up the balance sheet, sending out-of-town checks for collection, to mention a few. In short, public banking hours are as long as may be necessary to serve the community efficiently.

Indian Troops Invade Hyderabad, Endanger Country's Shaky Peace; Russia Confuses Crisis in Berlin

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western News; Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

INVASION: Hyderabad

Events in India were a far cry from the days when Mohandas Gandhi's philosophy of passive diplomacy prevailed among the affairs of that sub-continent.

Indian troops, strongly supported by armored units, had invaded the princely state of Hyderabad (see map) whose Moslem ruler—called the Nizam—had refused to join with the other Indian dominions even though Hyderabad's population is predominantly Hindu.

THAT WAS THE whole story. The Nizam and his small, compact Moslem court would not agree to follow the other Indian princely states in acceding to the Dominion of India which was established last year.

The Nizam, often called the richest man in the world, and the only surviving heir of the great Mogul empire, wanted to rule an independent Hyderabad.

Whether he could have succeeded in doing that, even if the dominion government had not opened hostilities against him, is questionable. Hyderabad is completely landlocked and has no access to the sea except by courtesy of the states surrounding it. All of its imports and exports, therefore, must pass through India.

WHILE HYDERABAD might profess its independence as a state, chances are that the economic and political conditions of actual independence never could be achieved.

Can India's invasion of Hyderabad be justified? Not too easily, if at all. It was not a matter of sending a police force into the state to quell internal disorders. It was, apparently, a deliberate act of aggression and as such should go before the U. N. security council for judgment.

From a practical standpoint there was not only no need for the invasion but there is an actual danger ful solution was getting buried deeper and deeper.

That all this confusion was being fostered deliberately by the Soviets was quite evident. Their purpose for so doing was more obscure.

THE RUSSIANS want full control of Berlin, taking that as their immediate objective. Ultimately they want to force American occupation troops completely out of Germany, after which Russia could take over the great German industrial potential, including the inestimably valuable Ruhr section.

However, there might be still another reason for this display of Soviet diplomatic aggression which was planned almost a year ago to erupt this fall.

The Russians might be trying to harass the western nations to the point where the entire Berlin issue will be dumped in the lap of the United Nations. Once the crisis comes under U. N. jurisdiction the Russians might plan to use the inevitable squabble as a pretext for resigning from the world organization and taking their satellite states with them.

THE EAST-WEST split into two opposing power spheres then would be complete. Moreover, the U. N. itself probably would be reduced to total impotency in guiding international affairs.

And the question of whether the Soviet Union is entertaining motives like these might be answered by the end of the year. For the western nations were determined that if they didn't get some satisfaction from Moscow soon they would arraign Russia before the United Nations this fall.

COTTON: Lift Dat Bala

With the largest cotton crop since 1937 being harvested this year, Uncle Sam is making ready to stage a comeback in the cotton buying business.

Of the 15,210,000 bales to come off the land, the cotton trade estimates that about a third will go into storage under federal loan.

TWENTY-ONE MILLION people in the United States depend on cotton for their livelihood, and the fate of the cotton crop, therefore, is not only a personal but a national concern.

The federal government is coming into the picture because cotton prices are coming down. They have reached 31.04 cents a pound, which is pretty close to the support floor of 30.74 cents.

Here's what happens: WHEN THE COTTON grower hauls his crop to the warehouse he gets a receipt for it, and then he either sells the cotton at the market price or accepts the government's standing offer to lend him money on it.

If he chooses to accept the loan, he is paid 30.74 cents a pound on the average—the exact price depending on the kind and quality of the cotton.

Then he is free, for one year, to sell the cotton for more money, provided the price goes up. If he doesn't sell it within a year the government becomes owner of the crop.

PROBABLE EFFECT of this operation will be to keep a lot of cotton off the market this year, thus preventing the price from dropping through the support floor. Also, it will result in the government's ending the year with several million bales of cotton on its hands.

BIG FOUR: Or Little 14?

The U. S. government's spectacular suit against the "big four" meat packing companies—Swift, Armour, Cudahy and Wilson—promised to be one of the biggest anti-trust actions since President Theodore Roosevelt said something about carrying a big stick.

Filed by the justice department in federal court in Chicago, the suit asks that the four companies be broken up into 14 separate firms. Specifically, the U. S. wants Swift and Armour to be carved into five separate companies each and Wilson and Cudahy each to be split into two firms.

TOM CLARK, attorney general, said in a statement: "The four defendants named in the complaint are charged with suppressing competition in the sale of meat and meat products." The Sherman anti-trust law is being invoked in the action.

Clark described the suit as "another in a series of cases instituted by the department of justice in furtherance of its program to free the production and sale of food and food products from monopolistic restraints."

THE PACKERS had another story to tell, however, with "playing politics," as one of their key phrases.

Said John Holmes, president of Swift and company: "It is significant that the charges appear at the beginning of this fall's political campaign. Apparently an attempt is being made to shift responsibility for inflationary price trends."

"No one can control either livestock prices or meat prices," Holmes fumed.

INFRA-RED: Frost Killer

The day—or night—of the old-fashioned smudge pot as the main buffer between plants and killing frost may be nearing an end.

Science has taken over to come up with a new kind of frost killer, development of which was sponsored by the American Iron and Steel Institute.

THE CONTRAPTION, known as the Plymouth infra-red lamp, is in a fair way to affect materially the nation's agricultural system, the institute thinks.

Reporting on the new device, the institute pointed out that while farmers will find the lamp invaluable in saving crops during the first touches of frost, the growing season actually may be extended as techniques for its use are developed.

Dr. Arthur W. Farrell of Michigan State college, one of the men responsible for development of the infra-red machine, cited an example: "On September 2, 1946, to take one example, Michigan had a two-hour killing frost. The next frost did not occur until October 1, a month later. Had tomato and melon growers been able to protect their crops for about two hours on the morning of September 2, they would have had four more weeks of very favorable growing weather. As it was, they lost everything."

"THE FROST dispeller, made up of sheet steel and a little ingenuity, will put an end to some of nature's nonsense."

The lamp is composed of a circular piece of stainless steel, shaped in cone-shaped steps, with an oil burner within the framework. When the burner is put into action, the steel heats until it becomes cherry-red. At this point, infra-red rays are thrown off, spreading over the area to be warmed, even entering the ground in their intensity.

INDIA MIGHT well have refrained from pushing the issue for a year or two, pending a peaceful settlement.

The potential danger lies in two phases of the situation:

1. THE HYDERABAD war might prove to be the factor that will precipitate violent conflict between Hindu and Moslem Pakistan, whose more-or-less peaceful relations now are strained and uneasy.

2. IT IS A BLOW to the British Commonwealth, to which both India and Pakistan still belong. With the Russians acting the way they are, any disturbance of the delicate balance of power that still prevails in the East could bring still another catastrophe down upon the world.

RUSSIANS: Fantastic

Not even the most starry-eyed Pollyanna could deny that the U. S.-Soviet fracas over Berlin was downright fantastic and getting more so every day.

The whole thing simply had stopped making sense, even to many of the diplomats who were embroiled in the situation.

WHAT CHANCE was there for any logical kind of peace when, even while western diplomats were in Moscow attempting to work out a formula with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, the Russians in Berlin were inciting riots, kidnapping western sector policemen and firing on American planes engaged in the airlift?

One complication was being piled on top of another, with the ensuing result that any possibility of a peace-

NO SONG IS LOST

By C. S. MONTAYNE

MARIO went through a cool, cloistered half light of the living room in Edna's Amarillo Canyon bungalow and sat down before her baby grand piano in the work-room where the shade of the trees outside lay in thick, green dusk. He swept aside a heap of Edna's penciled manuscript, smiling a little superciliously, for her composing efforts invariably amused him, and let his thin, nervous fingers roam the keys.

Usually melody soothed away any inner disturbance. But this afternoon, his talk with Hammond at the studio lingered unpleasantly. He found himself playing the elusive, fragmentary tune that had been in his mind for some days. He had thought it might be pointed up, eyes were mysteriously enigmatic, her full lips parted. At that moment Mario decided again that she was lovely—lovely enough to excite romance, to thrill and inspire him.

He wondered, abstractly, while he lighted a cigarette, why he wasn't in love with her. Perhaps it was that strange superiority he felt—the constant knowledge that he had come to Hollywood from the concert stage, that the music he wrote was good, so much better than the banal, tinkling tunes Edna laboriously ground out. It was true she had earned a great deal of money and fame of a sort from the full length cartoon comedy she had set to music. But he reminded himself, men like Hammond weren't contracting for her to write arias eyes on the open doors, listening. She was playing the same tune he had toyed with when she had come in. But this time the melody had a meaning, a significance. It built itself in a melodic tone picture that gripped him and held him fascinated. The middle part that had hung suspended, escaping him completely, was now a bridge that carried the burden of the theme surely across to its exquisite climax.

"Something like that?"

Edna came back through the cloying gloom. Mario stood, his young face earnest and intent, his hands trembling.

"Yes, something like that."

"Go in and write it down before you forget it." She spoke casually.

"Pencil and score sheets on top of the piano. Help yourself."

"But—"

"She pushed him away, gently, decidedly. "Hurry, before it goes."

Brennan, who was doing the lyrics, put words to the melody the next morning in Mario's hotel room. At noon Hammond heard the song, approved, and took Mario out to lunch.

"Funny how a little urging can get you artistic guys underway," he grunted. "Frankly, I don't like highbrow musicians. I'd rather work with the Tin Pan Alley variety—people like Edna Sheridan, Tommy Doran. But that's a good tune. Sounds like a natural."

It was after five when Mario's taxi took him to Amarillo Canyon. The Great Dane barked ominously when he opened the iron gate, but the dog was chained and Mario went on to the letter-box and key Edna left for him. There was a note saying she'd be back in an hour, on the living room table, an open manuscript on the piano rack. Mario saw its title, "No Song Is Lost," when he switched on the shaded light and sat down to play.

But he reminded himself, men like Hammond weren't contracting for her to write arias and spot hit numbers for the type of picture, and the operatic star, on which he had been at work.

hammered into a production number that could be played straight or used to satisfy the jittery inhibitions of the swing-minded. Hammond had set a deadline for the thing he wanted. He had been very decided when he told Mario the song, words and music, must be in by the next afternoon.

Mario was embroidering the theme, trying to give it substance and body, when he heard Edna's car outside. Her Great Dane barked joyfully, the iron gate banged shut, her heels clicked rhythmically on the polished floor.

"I thought I heard you playing. Been here long?" Her slim hand slipped into his. "I looked for you at the studio. Hammond said you left at one."

Her hair seemed to glimmer in the light and shadow; her long, oval and spot hit numbers for the type of picture, and the operatic star, on which he had been at work.

They dined on the terrace. The moon swung up across the canyon and the stars came out, one by one. Mario, lounging in the candlelight, told her his troubles.

"Tomorrow afternoon... am I an automaton to have a crank turned... and music come out? That song I was playing—" He gestured with his thin, artistic hands. "It is what Hammond wants, I know that, but—"

"It fades into nothing," Edna interpolated softly.

He nodded, deep in thought, hardly conscious she had gotten up and gone into the bungalow. He lifted his brooding gaze when he heard the ripple of the piano. He jerked his head sharply left, his

WISE GUISE

You guessed it, this is about those characters with crew cuts at one end and argyle socks (the ones you knit for them) on the other—boys, that is. Everybody knows that their latest fashion favorite is the collarless cardigan sports jacket, a la Sinatra, but only our hi style socks could round up their latest fads—and only you would be interested in them.

Boys and Girls—Frankie Laine isn't the only one who can sing. "Just Because My Hair Is Curly," now that a new wave has swept over the high school boys—a Permanent Wave, we mean. Seems out in the Middle West, they're letting the front of their hair grow long and then curling it with those home permanent sets. Well, a forelock comes in handy when you go to honor your partner in square dancing.

News in Neatwear—The latest fad with his T shirts is a cotton bandanna kerchief, worn around the neck and slipped through a ring in front—preferably a friendship ring with a sentimental inscription. Looks as if he's been influenced by your silk scarfs.

Cloze Shave—Although we don't like to believe it, one of our Oklahoma scouts declares that the latest fad among the local Big Wheels is to shave their heads completely. Serves us right for complaining about their Crew Cuts. How hideous can they get, is what we'd like to know? Maybe we'd better not try to find out; there are times when "It Pays to Be Ignorant."

Hees for Jees—Miniature argyle socks are the latest good-luck trophies to hang in their jalousies. Of course, they're made by their favorite Needle Nudgers. And, boys who have big collections of hand-knit argyles, are now wearing different patterns and colors together, instead of matching pairs. Such a dazzling display!

Added Attraction—As if Spike Jones recordings didn't shatter the air waves enough, some disc jockeys have discovered that they can add their own sound effects to records with hilarious—and noisy—results. Wait 'til you hear what they do with the "Bells of San Juanita!" In comparison, "My Old Flame" is a lullaby!

Minor Detail. From now on when we chance to meet, I'll turn my head and cross the street.

The things he said, I can't forget. I'll cut him dead—with no regret. I can't forgive our bitter brawl. His insults are beyond recall—The only point on which there's a doubt Is what our quarrel was about.

Little Pigs Stunted By Worm Infestation Tests Show Marked Retarding of Growth

Seldom are farmers inclined to argue with scientists, livestock specialists and others who keep warning that internal parasites are harmful to swine. Occasionally, however, a farmer will pose the question: "How much injury is caused by worm infestation?"

The answer to that question is provided in tests conducted by the bureau of animal industry to determine how much the growth of pigs is retarded by roundworms (ascarids).

Growth of this pig will be determined largely by number of worms present.

In carrying out the experiment, the bureau used eight litter-mate pigs eight weeks old, feeding four of them infective roundworm eggs. The other four, which served as controls, received no worm eggs.

After four months all eight pigs were weighed, killed and examined for roundworms. None were found in the control pigs, but the other four harbored 103, 39, 20 and 12, respectively.

Growth of the four pigs that had roundworms at autopsy was less rapid than the four controls. The pig with 103 worms weighed 8.7 pounds less than at the time it was fed the worm eggs; its control litter-mate gained 98 pounds.

The pig with 39 roundworms gained only 48 per cent as much as its control; the one with 20 roundworms, only 55 per cent as much as its control. The growth of the pig with only 12 roundworms was not retarded very much; it weighed nearly as much as its control mate.

Research to Intensify Winter in Meat Tests

Freezing is one of the oldest ways of preserving meat. It is also one of the newest, the U. S. department of agriculture points out.

In old-time freezing there was not much that could be done about the process. It was a winter method depending on continued cold. A mid-winter or early-spring thaw might spoil a meat supply intended to last for additional weeks or months. This was true whether the meat was wild game brought in by hunters or was from domestic animals.

Modern freezing is still so new that there is a good deal to be learned about it.

This is the purpose of an expansion of studies of meat freezing and curing made possible under the research and marketing act. A first step will be to survey freezing and curing methods now in use. Samples of meats typical of these methods of preservation will be assembled and compared for quality and nutritive value. Next, the experimenters will try first to duplicate, then improve the methods which the survey and comparison work indicate are most effective.

The bureau of animal industry will have equipment that can improve on even the most severe winter weather. It will be able to freeze meat at 100 degrees below zero if that proves desirable.

Quality Cream Boosts Returns to Dairymen

Production of high quality cream will pay dividends to the dairymen. A few suggestions for assuring top production: Protect separator from rust; rinse with chlorine solution before using; wash with powder immediately after each separation; cool cream immediately; separate milk immediately after straining; cool cream rapidly and thoroughly before mixing with older cream; keep containers covered from the time the milk is strained into cans until it reaches the receiving vat; strain milk in milk room or milk house, not in the barn; cover cans tightly and place in cooler with cold circulating water.

Several Sheep Ailments Are Caused by Worms

Several ailments of sheep, including "nodular disease," "stomach worm disease" and "black scours," are caused by worms. Main attack by successful sheep men, therefore, is directed against development or reproduction of the offending worms. While most of the eggs and young worms of these parasites are destroyed in winter, sheep must be treated to prevent entry of worms into the intestinal tract.

AROUND THE HOUSE

The traveler can safeguard her luggage from damage caused by spilling or leaking cosmetics by sealing bottles and boxes shut with a strip of Scotch tape.

Rugs can't take it. If floor boards are poor, never put rugs directly over them. Use a rug pad or put several newspapers between the floor and the rug.

When making jellies and preserves, keep a small saucer on the side of the stove to hold the spoon after stirring the mixture. If rested on the stove the slup frequently bakes to the stove and this hardened mass is difficult to remove.

Convenient storage place for playthings for the convalescent child is a fabric shoe bag which can be hung beside the bed. Crayons, pencils, scissors and paper fit easily into the shoe pockets.

Put a sponge in a bowl of left-over starch and let it absorb the starch. Then when you have a petticoat ruffle that needs a bit of starch, dampen the sponge and squeeze the sponge into water for sufficient starch.

If one key in an otherwise well-behaved piano suddenly refuses to play, don't send for the repairman. First, look inside the instrument to see if, as so often happens, some small object has fallen on the strings.

College Degree Still Helps

Higher starting pay coupled with an unprecedented demand for college graduates by business and industry, disavow any popular belief that the market value of the college degree has been on the downgrade, reports John P. Kirwood, director of personnel and placement at Rutgers university.

Kirwood believes that this great demand for college-trained personnel will continue for at least three years—and probably longer—despite the increasing size of each new graduating class.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

This is fire prevention week and fire department gave a demonstration of their new apparatus last Wednesday evening about 8:30. When the siren wailed hundreds of cars drove to the city hall park at unheard of speed in time to witness the ease with which even an oil fire may be extinguished. The fire department is enterprising, thoroughly energetic and progressive. They have built commodious quarters adjoining the city hall, a club room which they intend to furnish; are selling tickets at $1.00 each to help realize their ambitions. So when some of their members or friends ask you to buy a ticket, do so and help a good cause.

The fire department is publishing ordinance No. 28 in this week's paper. Be sure to read it.
