John Carlson enjoyed a good Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Levene Snodgrass and family.

A good crowd liked the 'Xmas program at the school house. St Nick left a sack filled with candy nuts and fruit for every child.

The old-fashioned custom of holding open-house by George and Cap Straley at the home of Reba Bingham and Jackie Silvers made the day more pleasant for more than forty guests on Christmas day.

Pat Driscoll and Jerry Delaney were Straley guests through Christmas week.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Jones and girls were Carrizozo visitors Friday.

Levene Snodgrass left Sunday for Oscura, where he will be stationed awhile.

The Straleys enjoyed a turkey dinner and all the trimmings at the George Straley ranch home the 25th.

We are glad Jackie Silvers can stay at home, although she is having to take penicillin shots again.

TO HONOR MRS. M. E. HAGEE

On Sunday January 2nd Mrs. M. E. Hagee of Tularosa will celebrate her 88th birthday. In honor of this occasion her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hagee of Ruidoso have issued invitations to all her friends everywhere to attend open house in her honor Sunday, January 2nd from 2 o'clock to 4 o'clock p. m. at their home in Ruidoso.

Mrs. C. O. Brewster, who had been at the bedside of her father the past two weeks returned home Christmas day. Her father's condition was slightly improved, although he is still unable to go about his usual business affairs.

Firemens Ball Christmas Eve

About two hundred and fifty couples took part in the big Christmas Eve dance given by the Firemen. Good music, good floor, and general good nature were paramount factors in the general good time which everyone seemed to have. The Firemen were wonderful hosts and furnished fine music for the dance.

Possibly another reason for the large number of dancers and the packed sidelines of non-dancers was the new 1949 Ford which was to be given away at intermission. The firemen needed money for the many things they are doing for improvement of the department of and to help on their new building so in return, for every $1.00 donation, each person received a ticket which entitled them to a chance on the beautiful New Ford.

The members were especially careful to conduct the affair in an impartial manner.

Members of the Department could buy tickets, but they were not permitted to put them in the "hopper"—if that's what you call it—to be turned and stirred and mixed up before the drawing.

Judges were Messrs. Wm. Gallacher, Bill Nickels and Leandro Vega, who were selected at random from the crowd. Any little girl who would volunteer was chosen. Little Miss Joan (Cookie) Moore volunteered. Mr. Gallacher instructed her to put her hand on the tickets deeply and pick out what ever ticket she wanted. She selected her ticket, handed it to Mr. Gallacher who read it. Wonder of Wonders it was ticket No. 1228, the name: Nellie Lee Baker, Box 37 of Vaughn, New Mexico. The other judges and the fire chief checked the number. Then everyone celebrated lustily and the dance proceeded.

Christmas morning Fire Chief Harkey and Mr. Charles Hodgkin turned the New Beauty over to me. I signed for it and drove it to Vaughn, accompanied by my other daughter and her husband, Catherine and Robert Hemphill.

The Bakers had been notified by phone and by wire of their good luck so were expecting us. The usual Ohs! Ahs! and congratulations were the order of the day. The car was enthusiastically admired by everybody.

The local fire department has never fought notoriety. They go about their duties quietly—be it a new building, a new fire engine, a fund raising drive, or whatever they undertake, they believe in teamwork and loyal co-operation. They realize the importance of their job in protecting lives and property and the majority of citizens appreciate them and their work and everything they undertake is considered seriously and is done for the good of the Department. They are enterprising, civic minded energetic and progressive.

WARNING

Drivers license will expire midnight tonight, December 31st. Also brake and light stickers, last quarter, expire December 31st.

The Department of State Police wishes everyone a very happy and prosperous New Year.

Masons-Stars Hold Joint Installation

Following a banquet at the S. P. Hotel attended by a large group of Masons, Eastern Stars, and their friends on December 27, 1948 there was a public installation of Officers at the Masonic Temple.

An interesting program was given in the interlude between the two installations. The duet, "Through the Gates of Gold" by Hart was sung by Lorraine Casey and Marjory Clouse, accompanied by Marjory Burns. The musical reading "The Message of the Bells" was given by Betty Thornton accompanied by Marjory Burns; "The Great Rushing of Wings", a reading, was by Harriet Ratliff; and "London City" arranged for violin by Betty Kreiser, was played by Betty Nickels, accompanied by Mrs. Mattie Kelley.

Installing Officers for Corner Chapter No. 29 Order of the Eastern Star were Ula Mayer, Installing Officer; Maybell Shults, Installing Marshall; Anna Roberts, Installing Secretary and Margaret Hofman, Installing Chaplain. In an impressive and beautiful ceremony the following officers were installed for 1949: Worshy Matron, Janie Key; Worshy Patron, Vernon Petty; Associate Matron, Gwendolyn Petty; Associate Patron, Clyde Shults; Secretary, Jeanette Lamon; Treasurer, Elizabeth Sproles; Conductress, Lois Gould; Associate Conductress, Francis Shaw; Chaplain, Maybell Shults; Marshall, Betty Thornton; Organist, Marjory Burns; Aids, Frances Rhodes; Ruth Helen Hoffman; Esther, Betty Nickels; Martha Alice King; Electa, Ruth Bell; Warden, Margaret Rench; Sentinel, Pearl Bostian.

When Janie Key was conducted to the East, her daughter, Roberta, as a fitting tribute sang "Always" Vernon Petty was pleasantly surprised by hearing his daughter Verna Ruth, sing "I Love You Truly" when he was conducted to the East. Ethel Howard's expressive singing of hymns added much to the installation. Clara Lowe, presenting the outgoing Matron, Emma Degner, with her Past Matron's pin read a poem of appreciation. All those attending enjoyed the congratulatory remarks and social hour which followed the installation.

God's V-Day

Lesson for December 26, 1948

EVERYBODY loves a fight, they say. But the underdog does not love it, and nobody loves one that goes on and on and seems to have no end. The longest war in history is the war that mankind wages against everything that is out to destroy him. It is the war between man at his best and man at his worst, between the angel and the devil in man himself. We seem to be the underdogs--and how tired we grow of it!

Dr. Foreman

God's Fight

THE Bible shows us that this fight is not one in which we human beings are left to defend ourselves alone. We have an enemy, Satan; and we have an ally, God. Whenever a man lines up against anything that is wrong, hateful, deceitful, destructive, and on the side of what is creative, just, brotherly and true, he finds that this is not a private fight, it is not even the struggle of mankind alone. It is a cosmic conflict.

God's universe is not a neat garden in which only flowers grow; he has to work cutting down the weeds. His universe is not a realm at peace, with no need even for police; treason is abroad, rebellion breaks out here and there.

The Greeks used to think that the gods never went to any trouble, they ruled without effort. But the Christian Bible tells of a God who does have troubles, who meets opposition and fights against it.

Bright Books for Dark Times

TWO books in our Bible bring this out in a startling way: Daniel and Revelation. We have been thinking through three months now about various kinds of literature in the Bible. The kind represented by these two books is called "Apocalyptic." Scholars have discovered a number of similar books, but these two are incomparably the greatest and were the only two to be admitted to the Bible. One feature of all apocalyptic literature is that it always appears in dark times, and its first readers are people down at the bottom of the heap, people beyond all human hope.

Daniel, long before the time of Christ, and Revelations, two generations later than Christ, came as lights in a very dark world. The first of these books circulated when the Jews were hard pressed by Syrian persecutors, and when the other came out, the Christians were about to be crushed out of existence by cruel Roman emperors.

Observing what went on in those days, you might have thought the Jews, or the Christians as the case might be, had no prospects of surviving. But these books brought a brighter message: Have courage! God will not lose!

A Code in Pictures

DANIEL and Revelation are both hard to understand, and for the same reason. Their messages are framed not always in plain language but in symbols. Hidden meanings abound.

This had to be so; if one of these books fell (as sometimes they did) into the hands of the persecuting agents of the Syrian or Roman governments, it would not get the owner into trouble, for the agent would hardly be able to interpret the strange language.

All sorts of weird creatures and events move through these mysterious pages, and they often probably refer to persons or events known to the writers and the first readers: beasts with iron teeth and horns with eyes; a flaming throne set on a river of fire; golden vials filled with the wrath of God; a red dragon sweeping the stars down with its tail.

God's Victory

WE NEED not be distressed now, at not being able to unlock all the code in which these extraordinary books are written. We can read them for their sheer beauty and force of imagination, for one thing, and we cannot miss their main truth. The bright picture of the New Jerusalem in Rev. 21, 22 is one of the loveliest and most comforting passages in the entire Bible.

 *Recipe Given

Peppermint Stick Cake (Serves 10-12)
 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
 1/2 cup cold water
 2 cups milk, scalded
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/2 pound marshmallows, diced
 1/4 pound peppermint stick candy, coarsely broken
 2 cups heavy cream, whipped
 1/2 cup maraschino cherries, quartered

Angel Food Cake
 Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in hot milk. Add salt and chill until partially set. Fold marshmallows and candy into whipped cream. Beat gelatin mixture until light and fluffy. Add cherries and whipped cream mixture. Line bottom and sides of an angel cake pan or a spring form (oiled) with strips one-half inch thick and one inch wide of angel food cake, from which the crusts have been removed. Fill with gelatin mixture and chill until set.

FOR A SIMPLE supper on New Year's you may set the table for the number you are serving or serve buffet style, making waffles at the table. A simple fruit centerpiece will be appropriate, as the guests may want some after you have served the waffles.

Waffles (Makes 4-section waffles)
 2 cups sifted cake flour
 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 2 egg yolks, well beaten
 1 cup milk
 4 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening
 2 egg whites

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift again. Combine egg yolks and milk. Add to flour with butter then mix only until smooth. Beat egg whites until they hold up in moist peaks. Sift quickly but thoroughly into the batter. Bake in a hot waffle iron.

TO MAKE CREAMED chicken of turkey, use 2 cups of medium white sauce to two and one-half cups of shredded or diced chicken. If you want the mixture to have a richer color, add a little of the white sauce to one beaten egg yolk, mix thoroughly, then add the remainder of the sauce. Heat in the double boiler so the mixture will not burn.

Decorate the tree with old-fashioned gingerbread men which are frosted with confectioner's icing, trimmed with raisins and bright candies.

Serve your Christmas breakfast "buffet style" letting everyone wait on himself if you're going to be busy getting a large dinner for early afternoon.

Sponge cake topped with apricot glaze when cool, and then sprinkled generously with whole walnut meats makes a lovely cake for holiday entertaining.

A New Year's buffet supper can be done simply if you serve sliced turkey with assorted breads, and bowls of fresh cranberry relish, salted nuts, popcorn, and if you desire, a molded salad and dessert.

Welcome New Year With Luxury Spread Or Simple Buffets

IF YOU'RE planning a gay New Year's Eve party, then be prepared for the call for refreshments at about the stroke of midnight when the revelers start feeling hunger pangs.

However, if you're the hostess and want to enjoy your own party, plan foods that you can whip out to the table in a minimum of time. In other words, do the cooking to completion before the party begins.

A big crowd is best handled with a buffet supper, with all the preparation done ahead of time. If properly planned, you can get the food on the table in a quarter of an hour. A small party, can have a cozy waffle supper, and the menu can be very simple but still satisfying.

BAKE THE TURKEY, roast beef or ham during the day; or, use slices from the meat you've had for dinner. This may be served cold. If you don't have enough meat, have sliced assorted cheese on the platter. All the other items can be made beforehand.

Hawaiian Cranberry Relish (Makes 1 quart)
 4 cups fresh cranberries
 2 cups sugar
 1 cup canned pineapple
 Put cranberries and pineapple through food chopper. Add sugar and mix well. Chill before serving. This relish will keep well for several weeks if refrigerated.

Dark Nut Bread (Makes 1 loaf)
 2 eggs, well beaten
 1 cup sugar
 1/4 cup melted shortening
 1/2 cup light molasses
 1 cup sour milk
 1 1/2 cups white flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon soda
 1 1/2 cups wheat or graham flour
 1 cup seedless raisins
 1 1/2 cups broken nut meats

Beat eggs and sugar until thick. Add shortening and molasses. Add sour milk. Add white flour sifted with soda and salt, then wheat flour. Fold in raisins and nuts. Bake in wax paper-lined pan in a moderate oven (350-degree) for about an hour.

Molded Cider Salad (Serves 10)
 1 package orange-flavored gelatin
 1 cup boiling water
 1 cup cider
 1 1/2 cup sliced red apples
 1/2 cup seeded Tokay grapes, halved
 1/4 cup chopped nuts, if desired

Dissolve gelatin in hot water and cool. Add cider and allow to thicken. Fold in other ingredients. Pour into molds which have been rinsed in cold water or oiled and allow to chill until firm. Serve on lettuce.

The dessert for your gala New Year's buffet is a refrigerator cake which one and all will welcome for its light fluffiness and refreshing flavor. Make this ahead of time so it will have time to chill thoroughly and thus slice nicely.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Lingerie, Lounging Apparel Seem Prettier Than Ever

By Ertta Haley

AS ALL women are well aware, dresses during the last year have taken on pretty as well as more feminine airs. Now lingerie and lounging apparel, not to be left behind, are showing much of the same trend.

Nylon slips are not exactly new. They were available some time ago, but never were they so pretty as now. Nightgowns, too, made of nylon as well as other fabrics are almost as beautiful as the smartest evening gowns because they have so much detailing to make them exquisite.

As dresses go, so must the slips you wear underneath them. No longer can you feel comfortable in a slip that is several inches shorter than the dress you're wearing. Short or tall, you can find longer slips proportioned to your figure as well as to your outer apparel.

If the dress has a long, pencil-skirt, then you'll want a slip that clings gently to you and is not bulky under the dress.

When your skirt is full and billowing, your best choice may well be one of the lovely half slips whose own fullness will give the proper background for the wide flaring skirt.

Trimmings are daintier than ever. Much more trimming on the hem of the slip is evident than before. That which is used, too, is of wider and better quality than has been seen for some time.

If your choice is nylon or nylon jersey, you'll have lightweight lingerie, easy to wash out, quick to dry.

How to Remodel Old Slips
 Even though slips do not have hems like dresses, it's possible to do a minor remodeling job on them so they will give use, now that dresses are longer.

Wide hems of lace and net are very popular and you might investigate the possibility of getting the material by the yard for slips that need lengthening. If you can obtain the same type lace or net in a narrower width than that used for the hem, use this to trim the top of the slip. If the slip is in good repair, you can see the possibility ties of making an almost new slip out of it.

There are many edgings made which will help lengthen slips. Eyelet has been on the market for some time now, both in wide and narrow widths. Gather a wide width, or use several gathered rows

Be Smart!
 Petit point, that perfect example of the ultimate in exquisite handwork, is one of the truly beautiful revivals of the season. One of the favorites is the box type bag sketched, but the envelope style that grandmother treasured has all the romance of the past. Also new and possessing a pleasing youthfulness is the beading and a bead fringe on satin for evening. The soft drawstring style is a favorite.

Wardrobe Stretcher

This corduroy surprise in a coordinated costume is a practical addition to the school or business girl's wardrobe. The jacket, quilted in an all-over swirl pattern, is worn over a one-piece jumper to make this attractive suit. The rust-colored corduroy suit is combined with a new type beret-hat.

of the narrow width to make a flounce.

Some of the taffeta slips are easily lengthened with a single wide flounce of the same material. This may also be purchased ready-to-use.

If the straps on a slip are frayed, do these over when you're lengthening the slip. You may use lace or eyelet if you are trimming the hem of the slip in that, or you might buy the inexpensive straps for them in matching colors. These straps have the shortening feature in them and are just as adjustable as the straps in a new slip.

Tips Given on Sewing Slips at Home
 Many of us do not often think of making lingerie at home, but there's a lot of satisfaction in doing so because of the wealth of materials and trimmings now available. Patterns for lingerie, too, have come into their own recently, and it's possible to create dream-world underthings at home.

Just as in choosing a dress pattern, you must choose a slip, gown or robe pattern with care. Be certain that the one you're getting is of the proper size. Take measurements and compare yours with those of the pattern.

If you do not find that pattern measurements correspond directly with yours, remember that it's always easier to make a large pattern smaller than vice versa. It's simple to make small tucks around the bust of the larger pattern before cutting. The same holds true of the skirt, if that is where you have to take in measurements.

Unless you are using a sanforized fabric which has about 1 per cent shrinkage, you may wash the fabric before cutting and sewing it. If you do not shrink the fabric first, be sure to allow for shrinkage when making it.

Most lingerie fabrics have a tendency to ravel so the finished seams should be pinked or sewed with an overhand stitch to prevent fraying. The little effort this takes is well worth the time.

New Styles Are Seen in Lounging Apparel
 Most women will be fascinated with the lounging wear now coming into the market. The styles follow closely the innovations made in dress wear, but many of the classic styles with minor changes are still popular.

Teen-agers will particularly like the pajama and brunch coat sets, especially in calico. Either may be worn separately and the colors are such that they show little of the soil. Many of the brunch coats are quilted so there's the warmth feature that makes them so practical. Gleaming and dramatically lovely full length robes are still with us. Choose the sophisticated rayon jersey, zippered type for a practical, lovely robe around the house; or, select one of the quilted rayon types which come in wine, royal or lovely green. Some of these are lined in contrasting colors and also have the narrow piping which makes them especially attractive.

Soft as down, but durable, nylon gown and robe sets with beautiful flounces or lace trimmings will be popular with the season's new brides. Their easy washability as well as the lack of ironing are excellent features.

Brunch coats for homemakers are coming out in lovely styles and in good quality percales. These are excellent to wear while getting the family off to work and school, and are attractive enough to wear when you have to answer the door. Many have wide, swirling skirts like current dresses.

S. P. SETS NEW HIGH PEACETIME FREIGHT RECORD

The volume of freight service rendered by Southern Pacific in 1948 was the greatest of any year President A. T. Mercier announced in his year end review of the railroad's activities.

The Company rolled up a total of over 37 billion revenue net ton miles, the equivalent of transporting more than 4,000 tons of freight around the world at the equator every day of the year, it was revealed.

Southern Pacific's passenger business, through below the wartime peaks, held up well in 1948, and continued to run far ahead of pre-war traffic, the rail president said.

That the company was able to handle a record peacetime traffic with dispatch is due in great degree, it was pointed out, to large capital expenditures for plant improvement, including further dieselization of motive power.

With the acquisition of many new freight cars and the expeditious movement of trains, together with the help of shippers and receivers of freight in speeding the loading and unloading of shipments, freight car shortages during periods of peak loading requirements were less in 1948 than in 1947, and the outlook for car supply is brighter now than for some time. In reporting these highlights of Southern Pacific's operations in 1948, President Mercier stressed the need for rate increases to offset the higher wage and material costs and to permit the rail industry to go forward with improvement programs for the benefit of the shipping and traveling public. Continued spectacular population growth in the west and Southwest was noted by the rail president.

"I see with deepest affliction the rapid strides with which the Federal branch of our government is advancing toward the usurpation of all the rights reserved to the States and the consolidation in itself of all powers, foreign and domestic; and that too, by constructions which, if legitimate, leaves no limits to its power. When all government, domestic and foreign, in little as in great things, shall be drawn in Washington as the center of all power, it will render powerless the checks provided by one branch of government on another, and will become as venal and oppressive as the government from which we separated. What an augmentation of the field for jobbing, speculation, plundering, office-building and office hunting, would be produced by the assumption of all the State Powers into the General Government."

BACKWARD GLANCES

40 YEARS AGO FROM 1908 CARRIZOZO NEWS

The old year, with its joys and its sorrows, its sunshine and shadows, closed its eyes last night in eternal slumber, and today old Father Time bears an infant in his arms—1909, 1908 has been characterized by hard times, depression in business, financial unrest, industrial failures, resulting in idleness for thousands who labor for their daily bread and entailing untold suffering, especially in the larger cities, where the unemployed congregate. The old year has witnessed the death of our only ex-president Grover Cleveland—and the making of a new one—William Taft.

A number of young people were down from White Oaks on Christmas night, guest of the Carrizozo Pastime Club.

Wm. M. Fergusson came down from his home Saturday afternoon loaded his wagon with provisions and started next day for the Guy, Clifford Copper Co., properties, located at the foothills of the Oscuras. He was accompanied by Bowen Zumwalt who will assist in the assessment and development work on the company's property.

THIRTY YEARS AGO FROM 1918 CARRIZOZO NEWS

Claud Branum who had been in a Cantonment in Newport News returned this week.

A. J. Rolland and Margie visited Alamogordo Sunday. Mr. Rolland says the road was in fair condition which permitted him to make the round trip between cuns.

Among the returning soldiers were Slater Hughes from Camp

Pike and Lester Greer also from Camp Pike.

The Crystal theatre, which has occupied the hall in the Exchange Bank building the past four years moved this week to the Wetmore building formerly occupied by the Carrizozo theatre, and gave its first performance in the new quarters Christmas evening. Two machines have been installed which enables the operator to throw the pictures on the screen without interruption.

LAND BANK PAYS DIVIDENDS IN NEW MEX.

Dec. 28 (Special) — The Federal Land Bank of Wichita this month paid to its stockholders—the nation—farm loan associations in Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico - $468,537 in dividends, according to W. E. Fisher, president.

This represents two dividends, a regular and special dividend. The regular dividend was for six percent and the special was for five percent. Most of the regular dividend will be passed on to the more than 22,000 association members while the special dividend will be used by the associations in setting up a retirement program for their employees.

Fisher reports this dividend payment brings the total of dividends paid by the Wichita land bank to more than five million dollars.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!
WE WILL BE CLOSED
DECEMBER 30 and 31

Here's wishing you all a Happy New Year, and at the same time notifying one and all that we will be closed tight all day Dec. 30 and also Dec. 31.

It's inventory time. We have a special problem this year, due to the reorganization of our stock of parts, accessories and materials.

One day ought to be enough, but we'll have to take two days this year.

Meanwhile, if you are making any New Year resolutions, think this over:

We can save you a lot of money during 1949 if you will bring your car or truck here for regular service.

We've got lots of new equipment and tools; our boys work inside where it's clean, light and comfortable.

We're doing service work 25 per cent cheaper than it could be done before.

And, as we told you last week, every red cent of profit in this place is going right back into other things to make it a better place for you to come.

So, Happy New Year! And, if you're interested in better, faster, cheaper service for your car or truck, come on in.

NEW YEAR PARTY DECORATIONS MAY BRING TRAGEDY

New Year's Eve confetti whirls colorful costumes and mountains of paper decorations make for a gay welcome to 1949 but also present a serious threat of fire, according to figures of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Dried out trees, green wreaths, cotton snow, and other Christmas ornaments may still be up by the time New Year's parties bring their own dangers in the form of party favors, costumes and decorations. A carelessly thrown match at the party mellow, would wreak havoc.

The fire experts advise celebration with a pre-party thought to safety.

By the time New Year's arrives most Christmas trees in steam-heated apartments and homes have withered. Take them down before the big night, they suggest, maintaining that most people keep up their trees too long for safety.

Don't use flammable decorations. If you're planning a party, make certain there are enough exits around the house. And don't use lighted candles as decorations.

Each fighting man in the Navy consumes over a ton of food yearly; each ton requires 60 cubic feet of shipping space, about ten times the storage space of a standard home refrigerator.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

New Spy Ring Data Revives Probe; Tax Hike Bugaboo Frightens Some; Berlin Red Vote Tightens Issue

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

WITCH HUNT: Pumpkin, Too

Like a delayed Halloween episode, with macabre rather than humorous undertones, was the revival of the spy hunt in Washington. All the ingredients were there—the cornfield, the pumpkin, and the specter of Stalin hovering over the unsavory whole.

But there was nothing funny in the situation to the house un-American activities committee or to a federal grand jury seeking to rush indictments against suspected traitors and espionage agents.

THE PROBE committee declared it had "definite proof of one of the most extensive espionage rings in the history of the United States." Bolstering this assertion was discovery of microfilm documents, termed by the committee as "tremendous importance," which had been removed from the state department for transmission to Russian agents.

The microfilm was revealed by Whitaker Chambers, a senior editor of Time magazine, who admitted his possession and declared Alger Hiss, president of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace, had given it to him for transmission to Russia. Hiss promptly denied the charge.

PLACED ON the witness stand, Chambers said he had not had possession of the film during the years after 1937, until recently, and declined to name the persons in whose hands the film rested before being turned up in a pumpkin on Chambers' farm.

Meanwhile, Summer Welles, former undersecretary of state, studied the microfilm documents, evaluated their contents, but declined to divulge their importance.

Chambers, an admitted member of a Communist spy ring which operated here a decade ago, was slated for further witness stand appearances, as was Hiss, who maintains he was never a Russian agent.

HIGHER TAXES: Some Frightened

Some business men and industrialists, who feared a Truman victory might result in a new "soak-the-rich" tax program, shivered anew as they read a statement by one of the leading proponents of President Truman's twice-rejected plea to impose a modified form of the wartime excess profits tax.

THE SPEAKER was Wyoming's Senator O'Mahoney, Democrat, who cited the 1929 financial crash as an argument for boosting taxes on business profits.

The senator declared that "if corporate profits of 1929 had been adequately taxed, this government would have been in a much better fiscal position to meet the depression."

He pointed out that corporate earnings now are piling up at the same rate as in 1929, although the companies are bigger. So earnings are greater than ever before.

HOWEVER, industrialists, leaders of the big labor unions, accountants and economists have been requested to give their view on what, if anything, congress should do about profits, estimated at a record 20 billion dollars this year.

GOLDEN FLEECE: Page Jason

The "golden fleece," subject of one of mythology's most romantic, colorful stories, crashed the world press by proxy as a result of a row over custody of its namesake.

The fleeces, symbol of one of the world's most exclusive orders of nobility—not even the king of England is a knight—may be "knight-napped" by the city of Dijon.

THE GOLDEN fleece—of which small replicas were awarded the knights—was kept in Dijon, France, after the order was founded by Philip the Good, Duke of Burgundy, in 1429, for several generations until Mary of Burgundy took it with her to Austria when she married Maximilian the Fair.

The fleeces remained in Vienna until the French army recaptured the city during the last war and returned the fleeces to Dijon. Now, Austria is asking for it back. But the good Burgundians of Dijon have petitioned the city council to urge the French government to refuse the Austrian bid and to retain the fleeces in Dijon.

POOR RICHARD'S ALMANAC

Anniversary Highlights Book's Effect

Poor Richard's anniversary, January 17, 1949, highlights the influence of the almanac on American life. Poor Richard was the nom de plume of Benjamin Franklin, whose Poor Richard's Almanac began the popularity of this type of publication.

In hundreds of thousands of homes, rural households especially,

EMPLOYMENT OF MALE WORLD WAR II VETERANS SEPTEMBER 1948

Three years after the war most veterans, by and large, are firmly established in civilian employment, according to statistics compiled by the Research Council for Economic Security, Chicago. Eighty-nine of the estimated 14.9 million living veterans of World War II were employed as of last September. Of these, about 900,000 were on farms and another 900,000 in school. About 450,000 were unemployed, while an additional 300,000 were "resting" or unable to work.

DEAD END: Reds Block Way

The struggle for a Berlin peace dragged wearily on, extended by Russian establishment of a Communist "government" in the Reich capital.

Demanding elections be held on a "city-wide basis," the United States, Britain and France told the Soviet union that there could be no solution to the Berlin impasse until the Russians disown the newly-installed Berlin government. The terms were clearly expressed in a note accompanying a list of Soviet violations of the Berlin constitution that the three powers had submitted for guidance.

ALTHOUGH FORMALLY addressed to a United Nations committee, the note obviously was meant as a strongly worded warning to Moscow. It indicated that if what it termed the "illegal body" in the Soviet sector were not disbanded, the western powers would take a series of measures required by the fact, in their opinion, that the "legal, unified administration" of Berlin had ceased to exist.

The western powers placed no time limit for the Soviet union to make a decision on whether to continue collaboration. However, the tone of the note, as informed sources stressed, indicated that unless the normal administrative conditions were reestablished "pretty soon," a new policy would be adopted.

FROM BEGINNING to end the note gave what the western powers regard as detailed proof that the Soviets have pursued in Berlin a policy of systematic violation of all quadripartite agreements.

POTATOES: No More Doubt

There was no longer any doubt. Farmers, at last, had a full-blown portrait of the American housewife's ideal potato. The U. S. department of agriculture even suggested that farmers tack it up in the barn for quick reference.

The department found, after a survey among 3,900 housewives, that farmers and shippers would see to it that potatoes prepared for market are:

CLEAN, of medium size, marked by few "eyes," light in color, undamaged—and of such quality that they will cook up soft, mealy and evenly throughout, without falling apart.

Housewives like medium sized potatoes because they rate them easiest to peel and handle, and best for judging individual portions—the all-purpose potato, they say.

The survey showed more than a fourth of the householders disturbed by "mechanical and handling injuries" to potatoes. Said the department:

"IT IS PRETTY good evidence that too many potatoes are being dug and handled with improper machinery and tools, and that the potatoes are not properly culled before being sent to market."

Immediate question to arise: Will potato growers and shippers do anything about it?

ROBOT EAR: New Magic

Alexander Graham Bell would have approved. Science had moved to make his telephones even more serviceable. Tom Edison also would have nodded in approbation, for these same scientists had tied together two great contributions to living to make their convenience even more marked, more appreciated.

A NEW robot ear that hears the phone ring and turns on the light was shown to doctors at the American Medical association meeting in St. Louis.

The ear could be used when no one is at home to turn on the light outside the front door. When the householder got ready to go home, he could call his house and the ear would turn on the light. No one need answer the phone.

THE ROBOT is a box on which the telephone sets. When the phone rings, the noise of the bell vibrates a salt crystal in the box. The vibration makes electricity flow in the salt, and the current is amplified to turn on the light switch. The box and phone are set in the circuit with the light to be turned on. In this way, the ear could be used to light any lamp in the house, or outside.

The device comes from wartime submarine and surface ship detection by sound. Nothing but the vibration of a phone bell affects this ear.

Besides doctors, FBI men have been getting these ears because they are on call 24 hours a day. Undertakers are getting them because more people seem to die at night.

RAIN-MAKER: In the Bag

Perhaps it was in the bag, but Franklin Fenenga, an archeologist of California university wasn't saying. All he would say was that he did have the bag.

THE BAG was a complete rain-making outfit he had acquired from an Indian whose grandfather was a medicine man.

The bag and its potentialities came to light when Kern county, in the southern part of California's central valley, had its first rainfall in eight months not long ago. Fenenga was right there in the middle of the downpour. And, when he returned to Berkeley, the rain came down there in torrents.

NATURALLY, speculation arose concerning the properties of the rain-making bag, for, when the outfit, including the tail of a beaver, a bag of snapdragon seeds, a bag of eagle down, a fossil fish vertebra and various charm stones and pebbles, was brought out of storage, the rain started.

Fenenga had the bag with him when he entered Berkeley in a storm. It is now in possession of the university.

Polio Poster Girl

Linda Brown, 4, of San Antonio, Tex., has been selected the poster girl for the 1949 March of Dimes, January 14 to 31. Stricken with polio two and a half years ago, Linda was treated at the Robert B. Greene hospital in San Antonio with funds derived from the March of Dimes. She now walks without braces and has only a slight limp.

RANKIN: Outward Bound?

Rep. John E. Rankin (D., Miss.) one of the foremost house opponents of President Truman's civil rights program, faces a strong fight by northern Democrats in congress to force him off the house un-American activities committee.

UNDER THE seniority system, Rankin is slated to become chairman of the house veterans' affairs committee. The attempt to oust him from the un-American investigating group will be based on the general house rule that the chairman of a committee may hold only one committee post.

The northern Democrats will argue that if Rankin accepts the veterans' affairs committee chairmanship, he should be restricted to that.

BIKINI: Still Echoes

Bikini's atomic blast was still echoing.

President Truman denied a charge that the White House had suppressed a final report on the atomic tests off the atoll.

The President's statement, made at a news conference, was in answer to an assertion by a Mr. Bradley Dewey that the White House had clamped the lid on the Bikini findings.

CHAMPIONS . . . "Good seed, good soil with plenty of fertilizer and hard work" are the reasons Newton L. Hallerman and his 13-year-old son, Lair, give for being crowned King and Prince Corn at the recent International Livestock exposition in Chicago. It was the second father and son victory in show history.

Authorities urge equalized brakes, using tire chains, windshield wipers, defrosters, good lights and lower speeds to minimize the added winter seasonal hazards. The National Safety Council's six rules for safe winter driving are: (1) Get the "feel" of the road before you start out. (2) Adjust speed to road, weather and traffic. (3) Use tire chains on ice and snow. (4) Keep windshields and windows clear. (5) Pump your brakes on snow or ice. Don't lock wheels. (6) Follow at a safe distance. It takes three to 12 times more distance to stop on snow or ice.

Average Farm Family Sees Income Recede

Buying Power Higher Now Than Year Ago

What, if anything, is happening to the average U. S. farmer with regard to the money he gets for what he raises, and does he have anything to worry about?

Although there has been a moderate drop in income of farmers, the average family has more purchasing power today than it had a year ago, a reliable monthly survey of "real income" reveals. "Real income" is the relationship of revenue to living costs.

The national figures indicate that the average home has 2 per cent more buying power than last year. Wage-earners, salaried people and those with investment income are equally well off, while the farmer is now about 3 per cent below his status of a year ago.

It should be remembered, however, that such status a year ago was at a then all-time high.

Besides the recent drop in farm prices, the survey said, it is expected that there may be further tapering off during the next six months, but farm income will continue at a high level. In the same way, although surpluses are beginning to appear in the clothing industry, there are no signs yet that sharp price breaks are likely.

Overhauling the Land

Ten years' work in rebuilding the soil-depleted 300-acre Rio Grande college farm at Rio Grande, Ohio, were compressed into 12½ hours recently by 600 workers and hundreds of pieces of mechanized farm equipment. In this hilly Ohio valley country, chief problem was removal of excess water which had been carrying away top soil. Diversion ditches and sod water outlets were prepared. Two ponds were built. The course of a stream was altered. Years of cultivation had taken much of the life from the farm's soil, so the herds of workers also attacked the problem of soil rejuvenation. Great areas were tilled, limed, fertilized and seeded and overgrown pasture land was reclaimed and prepared for seeding. In the picture, a jeep, equipped with back and bog harrow, is engaged in mauling as part of the work done on the farm.

2,4-D Winter Spraying Destroys Stumps, Weeds

Successful winter spraying with an ester of 2,4-D is the newest twist to the ever-broadening field of chemical weed control.

At East Lansing, Mich., agronomists Keith Barrons and L. L. Coulter of the Dow Chemical company announced that stumps sprayed in near zero weather during the past three winters have responded to treatment in the same manner as stumps sprayed during the summer season. The chemical used was Esteron 44 which contains 44 per cent of the isopropyl ester of 2,4-D.

Weak Egg Shells Mean Hens Require Calcium

Feeding oyster shells to laying hens to furnish the calcium needed for making strong egg shells is suggested by Irving J. Mork, agent of the North Dakota Agricultural college extension service.

"Hens that lay steadily will, as time goes on, lay eggs with weak shells," he said. "Usually this is due to a lack of calcium in the ration. It can also be due to a lack of vitamin D, however."

THE FICTION CORNER

THE FIFTH OF AUGUST

By Helen Longworth

Anna had always been a devoted housewife and mother so it came as a shock to her that her family could be so indifferent to her needs at a time when she felt they should be generous and helpful.

ANNA FARRANT read the letter three times. It didn't seem believable. Nothing, she decided, had made her so happy since the day the war ended.

But it was like Anna Farrant to fold the letter neatly and go on about the business of getting dinner for Jim, Ruth and Lillian without even so much as taking time to call one of them on the phone to tell them the good news.

It was after dinner that she told them. It came all in a happy rush of words. "Belle Mandrel has asked me to visit her. Imagine!—clear across the country."

There was a long silence. It was Ruth, the librarian, who spoke first. Ruth was as proud of her knowledge of Important People as of books. Almost reverently she breathed, "Not the Belle Mandrel?"

Anna felt cross for an instant. Her memory of Belle Mandrel was the happy-go-lucky girl of their college days. Ruth was thinking of the Belle Mandrel who was an important adviser to the politicians and who last week visited the king of England.

"Fuss and feathers," said Anna lightly, "I'm not afraid of Belle Mandrel. In fact I think I'll—"

"Of course you'll go," Jim finished heartily. "The girls and I will manage. Do you good!" He gave her a beaming smile that after twenty-five years still gave Anna a thrill.

"Think of all you'll have to talk about, too," Lillian chimed in. It was like Lillian, the teacher to think of that! Anna knew that Lillian's fifth graders would be told the big news early tomorrow.

"When is the great day?" Jim asked.

"The fifth of August," Anna answered almost like a pronouncement. It had been earlier than she had hoped. They were the finest family ever to be in favor of her going on that long trip.

In the days that followed Anna was to retell her plans for the trip dozens of times. Everyone was interested to find that she was a friend of the great Belle Mandrel. There was a short write-up in the newspaper about Anna's trip.

Lillian worried over what she would do without a big supply of the satin slips her mother made for her. In her competent way Anna told her that she would make an extra supply before she left. Focusing over the satin, she knew she could have told Lillian to buy her slips at the store but Lillian had been babied too long, Anna told herself with a happy smile.

Very shortly Ruth, knowing she would be cook while her mother was away, fretted that she would be left with lots of canning. Anna assured her she would get it in before she left. The house, of course, must be spotless.

It was in one of the few breathing spells Anna allowed herself that she rummaged around in her clothes closet and decided that scarcely any of her clothes were suitable for the fifth of August. They were fine for small town church societies but Anna wanted to look nice when she started on the trip. The family would want her to look well too. She wondered if one of the girls—or Jim—would slip her a nice check and suggest she buy a new outfit. It was going to be fun!

There came the momentous day that Jim placed a very business-like envelope on her plate at dinner. Anna opened it, expecting the check for her clothes. Instead it was her train ticket and sleeping car reservation. Jim gave a hearty laugh, "Just wanted you to be sure you could go," he told her, well pleased with himself.

Anna opened her mouth to say she had known all along a ticket was required unless she walked, but how about some money? Then she decided to wait. The family would like to think it surprised her. At least it was comforting to know they were well able to provide for her.

From then on every place they went Jim had her take the long ticket from her purse and show it off. Anna's smile began to wear thin at the corners as the family forgot the check in their pride of her ticket.

Coming home from a movie around the first of July Anna made a big effort to have Jim see a new dress she had noticed in the Bon

It would happen that it was the very next day that both Lillian and Ruth "checked up" on her to see if the canning was done and the fussy slips all made.

"Everything's ready—but me!" Anna told them pointedly. "Oh, you'll make it," Lillian assured her, comfortably.

Anna wasn't sure that she wanted to. She wished for an excuse to stay at home. There were times when she admitted to a few doubts on whether she had the most thoughtful family, ever.

The day that Anna began hauling old suitcases from the attic Jim came home early. Anna was looking at the suitcases with disgust. They were relics.

"Kind of old, aren't they?" Jim asked her.

"They were old in 1900," Anna told him. She waited expectantly for Jim to say, "Here, take this, get yourself a couple of good bags." But Jim sat down to his newspaper. Neither did the girls make any comment when they saw the ancient suitcases.

Anna was desperate. From her jewel box she removed the brooch her mother had left her years previous and hurried to the jewelry store. Her thoughts were bitter. That she should be forced to pawn her treasured brooch to provide just ordinary clothing for her trip! She wondered if old maids really deserved pity after all.

The jeweler was an old friend and looked at her in wonderment

Lillian was opening a jewel case to display a pair of earrings. "To match your good brooch," she explained.

Tom store window. There were two but Anna much preferred the one with the white collar. Always she had pointed out her wants to Jim and he would say, "Go get it." But tonight Jim seemed too tired to even glance at the store window. Anna was quiet for a block, waiting for Jim to say, "O. K. Pick it up tomorrow."

INSTEAD Jim began talking about a week-end fishing trip planned for mid-August. Anna almost gave up hope.

On the fifth of July she spread out material on the kitchen table, and began pinning a pattern on it. She had always hated making dresses for herself and would not have attempted this time if her family had been—cooperative. In an hour Anna was crying softly to herself. The dress was going to be unsatisfactory, and besides what of a coat, hat, shoes and all those extra things?

Remembering the many times she had outlived them all to the last detail, Anna could have shook them, separately or together. She would not actually ask for money if she traveled in a burlap sack, she told herself.

when she asked to sell the brooch. He stalled around and finally offered her ten dollars. Silently Anna put the pin back in her purse. Her last hope was gone.

"It's something like the earrings Lillian bought here last week," the jeweler told her.

Anna never knew what she answered. So Lillian was decking herself out like a totem pole and meanwhile letting her mother go next to ragged on her trip! The fact that she had not shown the earrings at home proved that she was ashamed of her own greed.

It was evening, at last, the family sat relaxed and contented after one of Anna's usual good meals. Relaxed, all but Anna.

"I don't know how we will manage without you," Jim said from the davenport.

"And only a week until the fifth of August," Ruth chimed in.

Anna was silent. Her mind had been scurrying, trying to think of an excuse not to go. She wondered if she should plead a sudden sick spell. The family's thoughtlessness was sufficient cause for a sick spell.

Lillian went to the hall and came back with a loud thumping noise. There was a moment of silence and then the three shouted almost in unison, "Surprise!" Anna turned in her chair slowly.

Suitcases, the newest kind, were in Lillian's hands. "Open them," Lillian said gleefully. The two suitcases were carefully packed; full of new dresses, long housecoats, satin slips, filmy underwear. Anna even saw three pairs of new shoes wrapped in towels. She gasped and looked at the label of the top-most dress. It was too much to expect that the things would fit.

"Oh, they'll fit," Ruth told her proudly. "We certainly checked and rechecked." She unfolded one dress and Anna saw it was the companion dress to the one she had forced Jim to view. Trust Jim to remember the wrong one!

Anna was stunned. She tried to say, "You were wonderful," but the words stuck. Lillian was opening a jewel case to display a pair of earrings. To match your good brooch," she explained.

That brought a tear to Anna's eyes. They had tried to help. They had been thoughtful, in their way. The anxiety they had caused her they would never know.

Ruth was proudly showing her the fussy silk underwear that Anna didn't like. Jim was beaming all over the place.

Anna still couldn't find words. "We thought we would save you time," Ruth told her.

Lillian felt playful and teased. "Why you wouldn't even have thought of your clothes until August fifth!"

There is no mention of a Christian observance of December 25 as Christmas before the fifth century. There is, in fact, no record to indicate what date Jesus was born.

Great Royal Feasts Once Marked Yule

A modern Christmas dinner is a mere "snack" compared to the royal Yule banquets of Kings and Queens in history. For one of Edward III's Christmas feasts 2,000 oxen were prepared.

Real Santa Claus A Youthful Saint

The name of Santa Claus is merely slurring the Dutch San Nicholas, which is, of course, St. Nicholas. American children are probably the only ones who say it exactly that way.

Hang Stockings For Santa Claus

Why have stockings come to be a traditional receptacle for Christmas gifts? Although historians can give no authentic answer, they point out that children's stockings are usually hung by the chimney to keep warm or dry out, so it was natural that Santa Claus should pick them as the place in which to deposit gifts.
