THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY LOUIE D. NEWTON, D. D.
SCRIPTURE: Jeremiah 38:1-29; 39:1-21.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Matthew 25:31-46.

Ebed-Melech, The Ethiopian
Lesson for August 8, 1948

ARE you ready for a real story? Then turn to Jeremiah 38, and read on to verse 18 in the 39th chapter. This interesting story reveals a hero, Ebed-melech, by name, which means "the king's slave." This may have been his official title rather than his personal name. Anyway, he is the hero of our story, and a very admirable hero, indeed.

Dr. Newton

He was a Negro, and Ethiopian eunuch, in charge of the king's chambers. Zebediah, as the story reveals, held Ebed-melech in high esteem. He was, obviously, a most honorable man. How he had come to know Jeremiah, and to esteem him so highly, is a subject for profitable contemplation. The devotional reading, Matthew 25:31-46, offers final opinion on the value of Ebed-melech's ministry to Jeremiah. The golden text, "As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men." Galatians 6:10.

Naming Month of May
How the month of May got its name is a subject of controversy among historians. According to the World Book encyclopedia, the most widely accepted story is that the month was named after "Mia," the Roman goddess of spring and growth. But some scholars claim May was a month sacred to the "Majores" or older men, just as June was sacred to the "Juniores," or younger men.

JEREMIAH'S FRIEND
E-BED-MELECH was Jeremiah's friend. When he saw what the princes had done to Jeremiah, he went to the king and begged him to allow him to draw Jeremiah out of the mire in the dark dungeon. He knew that Jeremiah would soon die in this awful place, and Ebed-melech risked his life in making the request to rescue Jeremiah. The wonder is that the princes had not ordered Ebed-melech slain. Evidently, they recognized the hand of God.

Like as this Negro servant in the long ago served God by rendering kindness to a man of another race, so may we today, serve God and civilization by good will and kindly service to all races.

FREEDOM THROUGH A SLAVE
THE story of Ebed-melech's kindness to Jeremiah lifts to ennobling example the act of a slave on behalf of freedom. The world's benefactors are those who understand freedom, and cast themselves in utter self-forgetfulness into the struggle for right against wrong.

What had Jeremiah done to receive such harsh treatment? He had delivered God's message to the people of Jerusalem, warning them that the city would be taken by the Chaldeans, and how they might escape destruction. Jeremiah was proclaiming freedom—not always a popular course. For this effort to help the people, he was thrown into the caddy dungeon. This servant of the king was the only man in Jerusalem who understood the purpose of Jeremiah.

A FRIEND INDEED
GRANTED permission from the king to rescue Jeremiah, Ebed-melech devised prompt methods of letting down old pieces of rope and rags, telling Jeremiah how to fasten them under his arms, and with the aid of thirty men drew him up from the mire, and brought him into the court of the prison. And then God spoke words of great reward to Jeremiah on behalf of Ebed-melech. "But I will deliver thee in that day, saith the Lord; and thou shalt not be given into the hand of the men of whom thou art afraid. For I will surely deliver thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall be for a prey unto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord."

WHO SIDES WITH GOD
E-BED-MELECH'S noble ministry to Jeremiah lifts up a banner for every true-follower of the Lord. Who sides with God must always win. That is the lesson of the lesson. We should never have known about this Negro, had he not cast his all on the side of God. "Who sides with God must always win. No cease to him it last!"

Social People
It seems clear to me that God designed us to live in society—just as He has given the bees the honey; and as our social system could not subsist without the sense of justice and injustice. He has given us the power to acquire that sense. Voltaire. Our Creator would never have made such lovely days, and have given us the deep hearts to enjoy them, above and beyond all thought, unless we were meant to be immortal.—Hawthorne. Christianity is not a theory or speculation, but a life and a living process.—Coleridge.

Crisp Vegetables Serve as Centerpiece

Summer Vegetables

ARE YOU MAKING the most of your garden? There are so many ways to serve vegetables, especially if you have your own garden, fresh variety on hand.

Of course, you can prepare them with enchanting sauces, or toss them crisp and icy into salads, but have you ever thought of using them in a centerpiece that can be eaten?

There's no disputing the fact that radish roses, celery curls, cucumber wheels and the like are very attractive. And that's the thought of many a smart homemaker who whips these fancy, easy-to-make vegetables into a centerpiece for meals.

Fancy gow-gaws that have been centerpiece standbys for too long a time should be retired, as strictly summer-style creations of fresh vegetables put in their place will give the family a combination eye and appetite teaser. Try these tricks:

Radish Roses

Select firm, rather long radishes with unwilted leaves. Wash thoroughly and cut tops, leaving about one inch of stem on each. With a thin sharp knife, cut thin slices lengthwise through the radish. Chill in ice water.

Cucumber Wheels

Peel cucumber; using a four-tined fork, score the cucumber lengthwise, then cut in thin slices. Chill in ice water to crisp.

Carrot Curls

Wash and scrape tender young carrots. Using an apple corer, corer off thin pieces lengthwise. Curl each piece around your finger and drop into ice water.

Carrot Straws

Wash, scrape tender young carrots and cut in eighths, then cut in narrow strips about three inches long. Cover with a damp cloth and chill in refrigerator.

Cauliflower Flowerets

Wash carefully by running under cold water; then separate raw cauliflower into flowerets; chill in salted ice water until crisp.

Scallions

Wash well, trim green stalks. Peel onion if skin is loose or shriveled and chill in ice water.

Celery Hearts

Wash celery carefully. Remove outer stalk and save for salads or use in cooking. Trim root and cut into an oval shape. Cut through in thirds or quarters. Crisp in ice water.

HERE ARE WAYS to prepare attractive platters of vegetables:

Platter I

Place cauliflower flowerets in one corner of platter, against this the carrot, curls, then radish roses. Around this one corner may be placed in sections, the following vegetables: Carrot strips, cucumber wheels and celery hearts.

Platter II

Place well chilled ripe olives and green stuffed olives in center of large platter and separate these with carrot strips and celery hearts. Divide rest of plate into four sections and in each one place the following: Tomato slices, cucumber wheels, scallions and radish roses.

COOKED VEGETABLES also may be used for pretty platters. Each vegetable should be cooked only until it is tender, and served at once. Here's a lovely platter which may be used as a main dish:

LYNN SAYS:

Keep Kitchen Cool During Hot Days

It's best to do the main part of the cooking early in the day before it becomes so warm. For example, roast meat or bake meat loaf in the morning and serve cold for evening meal.

An gratin potatoes may be cooked, the cheese melted in a hot sauce, then mixed with potatoes, and the whole dish heated for 15 minutes in the oven.

Cauliflower

Silvered Green Beans
Tomatoes stuffed with Corn

Wash cauliflower and let stand in salted water for one-half hour to remove any insects. Cook in salted water for 25 to 30 minutes. The tomatoes should be firm. Wash and scoop out insides leaving the shell. Fill this with seasoned kernel corn to which has been added some chopped green pepper. These should be baked with just a little water in the bottom of the pan. The green beans should be washed carefully and picked over for any hard ends, then sliced lengthwise. They will take 30 to 40 minutes to cook. The cauliflower should be placed in the center of the platter, then banked with green beans, and the tomatoes with the corn and green pepper are placed around the green beans. Serve with melted butter.

ANOTHER PRETTY SUMMER platter uses entirely different vegetables but is very colorful:

Cabbage with Sliced Carrots

Lima Beans Fried Parsnips

Parboil a large head of cabbage for 10 minutes. Remove all the inside leaves, so that only a few of the larger ones remain, leaving a huge cup. This is filled with carrots which have been sliced, or creamed if preferred, and cooked for 20 minutes. Sprinkle with parsley. Around this place parsnips which have been cooked for 15 minutes, then fried until golden brown and crisp in a buttered skillet. Lima beans are shelled and placed around that after cooking for 20 to 30 minutes in boiling, salted water.

Another platter uses a combination of colorful white, green, yellow and red vegetables:

Creamed Potatoes

Carrot Strips Beets with Peas

The potatoes are cooked after peeling, then cubed and creamed. If they are small leave them whole. The carrots are cleaned, cut in strips and cooked just until tender, about 20 minutes. The beets are cooked with skins, which are slipped off in cold water after cooking. Scoop a small hole in the beets and fill with peas. Place the potatoes in the center of the platter; carrots around those, and the beets and peas around the carrots.

IF YOU HAVE a sectioned vegetable dish, you may like to serve a variety of sauces with your vegetables. Here is a nice variety from which to choose to add more snap to vegetables:

Vinegar-Bacon Sauce

Simmer one-fourth cup minced onion in one-fourth cup bacon drippings until tender but not brown. Add one-fourth cup vinegar, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and one-eighth teaspoon sugar. Heat and pour over green beans, brussels sprouts, cabbage, kale or other greens.

Cheese Sauce

Place one-half pound of processed cheese in the top of a double boiler and add one-half cup of milk as soon as cheese melts. This is good with potatoes, cauliflower and broccoli.

Prepare dinner during the early morning hours so that it will be crisp and cold when served. Cut fruit or vegetables for salads, make dessert and store in refrigerator during the morning.

Many casserole dishes can be cooked more quickly if partially prepared on top of the range, thus saving oven time.

Use refrigerator desserts, made early in the day, which save time of the last minute and which are refreshing.

Prairie State Farmers Fear New Dust Bowl

DALLAS, TEX.—Out in the prairie states farmers have planted more than 300 million trees in 15 years. These are the states where settlers once complained there was nothing but a barbed wire fence to break mile-a-minute winds from the North Pole.

Now, says Louis P. Merrill, regional soil conservation director for Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma, the interest in tree windbreaks "is greater and keener in many localities than ever before."

Blinding dust storms in many of the plains states have emphasized the need for more trees.

The Abilene, Tex., Reporter-News says its area is undergoing the most prolonged drought in 30 years. The four-year rain deficiency since 1944 is almost as great as a normal year's fall of 25.17 inches.

Harry Holt, the Reporter-News' farm editor, says that other parts of the Southwest are even drier. Irrigation projects have failed. Farmers had a difficult time planting wheat in west Texas. The drought has forced livestock off some ranges until only half the normal number remain.

Farmers Dread Storms

Large sections have been swept by roaring, choking sandstorms. Farmers and city people alike dread them. They are an awesome phenomenon. When sandstorms become prolonged and severe, a "dust bowl" develops.

Some farmers hope the trees are insurance against this "dust bowl" threat. They remember the '30's when whole sections were made as barren as the Sahara. Some want trees for wind-breaks to protect growing crops even when there's no threat of sandstorms. Some just want to look at trees.

The popular conception of the "shelterbelt project" as a wall of trees from Mexico to Canada was a product of imagination born in "dust bowl" days, says Merrill. No one in authority ever thought of the project that way.

The "windbreak" plan—a term preferred by conservation authorities—as part of a coordinated soil-conservation program has spread to the Rio Grande valley in Texas, northeastern Arkansas and the Gulf coast prairie region of Texas and Louisiana.

Plan Includes California

The plan has reached even to California, where citrus-growers have established 2,000 miles of protective plantings for their orchards, and to Wisconsin, which has nearly 6,000 miles of such plantings.

No signs of a continuous shelterbelt have appeared across the nation. Tree planting has been a matter for individual farmers. In some cases, efforts have been made to place the program on a conservation district basis.

Generally the projects are a success, according to farmers. But, in some areas, notably that around Lubbock, Tex., the program has been abandoned. Dry weather, insects and diseases have done away with most of the trees.

Talks with farmers and conservation men show that the program, while practical, has put more money in the farmer's pocket, but wind-breaks certainly are no cure-all.

Says Merrill: "The planting of tree wind-breaks is one practice of many used for control of wind erosion in localities to which they are adapted."

Rose Bush Owner Frightens Thief With Homemade Alarm

PHILADELPHIA.—A rose is a rose and by any other name would smell as sweet.

But this is a story about a rose that not only smelled sweet but sounded pretty.

Walter Hoff awoke one day to find three of his large and expensive rose bushes missing.

When he regained his composure he chained wires to the roots of six remaining bushes and attached the wires to a basement switch. A tug of the bush would ring a bell.

For six nights Hoff slept undisturbed.

Then early one morning the rose bell rang.

Up jumped Hoff, up went his window and away ran the thief, spade in hand.

Cat Walks 420 Miles Only To Find Its Master Gene

LEOMINSTER, MASS.—Fluffy, a one-year-old Angora cat, arrived home after apparently walking 420 miles from Buffalo, N. Y., only to find her master gone.

Ben Hansberry sold his house here and set out by trailer with his family for Moses Lake, Wash.

Fluffy went sight-seeing during a one-night stopover in Buffalo. When she didn't return the next day, the Hansberrys went on their way.

The cat was weak when she reached here; her fine fur coat matted, her claws worn to the pad. Neighbors took her to an animal hospital, where she is reported making a good recovery. She will be down to the Hansberrys later.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: The linoleum in our kitchen has risen up in a certain spot. It is inlaid linoleum over a felt base over plywood. Do you think if we bored a small hole in the linoleum and poured some kind of cement in, it would hold? What kind of cement would you recommend for this job?

ANSWER: Try this method for flattening the bulge: Cut a slit in the bulge, following a line of the pattern so that it will not show. Then press linoleum cement under each side of the slit, working it well underneath with a spatula, or some similar tool. Wipe off surface smears promptly. If you cannot get linoleum cement, use roofing cement. Smears of roofing cement should be promptly wiped off with turpentine. Then place weights on top until the cement has dried hard.

QUESTION: My walls are covered with a very poor quality of wallboard, which bulges here and there. It is covered with paper; but now shows a few cracks, which developed after the furnace was started. What is the best thing to do with the walls? The expense is an item; I'll have to have someone do all the work.

ANSWER: For a good job it would be better to take off the board and replace it with one of better quality, properly put up according to the manufacturer's instructions; or else nail up new boards over the old ones. In the meantime, you might consider nailing down the bulges as well as you can, and then covering the joints with strips of decorative wood moulding, such as half-round.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Before you attempt to peel a raw tomato, massage it lightly with the dull edge of a knife. The peel will come loose much more easily.

Ordinary starch will often put a whitish cast on black and dark-colored clothes, unless you do something about it. Put a small amount of leftover coffee—the brew, not the grounds—into the starch.

When the stove begins to look dull, but still doesn't quite need new polish, you can brighten it up by rubbing it occasionally with waxed paper.

To prolong the life of a broom, dip it in hot soapy water or hot salt water about once a week; and always hang the broom up or stand it on its handle but never on its head.

Scissors are not considered a kitchen utensil, but are handy to keep in the kitchen to cut up lettuce and celery, trim fat from meat, and dice fruits and other vegetables.

If the wash water is hot, slip each glass slowly into it edgewise. Putting it in bottom first or top first may crack it.

Brown shoes can be dyed black temporarily if you just polish them twice with a good grade of black polish.

If you use rubber gloves when you scrub floors, put little strips of adhesive tape inside the fingers as protection against nails in the floor. Tiny holes in rubber gloves can often be mended with nail polish.

Soot can be prevented from coming through a window screen by covering the outside of the screen with cheesecloth. It'll catch the soot and can be removed for easy washing whenever necessary.

When stewed fruit begins to turn sour, reclaim it by adding a pinch of baking soda and boiling the fruit over again for a few minutes.

DEPARTMENT OF WELFARE AID SCHOOL LUNCH PROJECTS.

Various types of commodities, valued at approximately $431,000, were distributed during the last fiscal year, primarily to the State School Lunch Projects, by the Department of Public Welfare, Governor Thomas J. Mabry announced this week.

The School Lunch Projects are conducted by the State Department of Education.

The commodities, which include potatoes, dried eggs and various dried fruits, and fruit juices, were made available to the state by the Production and Marketing Administration of the Department of Agriculture, Governor Mabry said.

Eligible state institutions, the Governor stated, received some of the commodities. These institutions include the State Hospital, School for the Blind, School for the Deaf, Intensive Treatment Center, School for Mental Defective, at Los Lunas, State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Carrie Tingley Hospital and various orphanages.

BACKWARD GLANCES

40 YEARS AGO FROM 1908 CARRIZO NEWS

It is a well known fact that railroads give little notice of their future operations or announce a change of plans; hence it is only a rumor that reaches the people when changes are contemplated; and the public really gets wise only when the actual physical change takes place. We are up against just such a proposition now, and it is with reference to the rumored change of the El Paso & Southwestern R. R. shops from El Paso to Carrizozo. It has been persistently talked on the streets and assertions are made by men who ought to have a fair idea of conditions, and they indicate that there is some foundation for the rumor. The difficulty the company is said to be having at El Paso to secure good water is the cause assigned for a change in the location of the main shops; and an abundance of the best water in the world at Carrizozo is what will bring the shops here.

The Bar W ranch this week received a car of bulls from Kansas City. The Car was made up of herefords and shorthorns.

Hotel Temple has fitted up a pleasant office and installed a neat register.

THIRTY YEARS AGO FROM 1918 CARRIZO NEWS

Mr. Louis Adams went to Waco, Texas this week where he will assume a position in that city.

The Local Board has received the following notice dated Santa Fe, New Mex., August 13th, 1918: "All male persons who have attained their twenty-first birthday since June 5, 1918, and on or before the 24th day of August will register

SELECTIVE SERVICE REGISTRATION INFORMATION

The Selective Service Act of 1948 requires G. I. Joe to register for Selective Service beginning this month, Col. Russell C. Charlton, State Director of Selective Service, pointed out. However, if he has been service to the extent required by law, this will be the only duty required of him except perhaps the later filling in of a questionnaire. In the event of a national emergency he could be called upon to render further service. Our aim is to disturb the legally exempt veteran as little as possible.

The law provides that all men between the ages of 18 and 20 must register on the days specified, beginning with the registration of 25 year old men on August 30 and working down through the registration of 18 year olds on September 17 and 18.

About the only persons of proper age exempted from registration are members of the regular Army and Navy, etc., and reservists and National Guardsmen on regular full-time duty with the military service.

Reservists and Guardsmen of the proper age who merely attend weekly drills and summer encampments are not exempt from registration.

However, the veteran and the members of the organized reserve, National Guard, etc., should by all means furnish at the time of registration, full data, concerning themselves. The veteran registrant must furnish the date of his entry into military service, the date of his discharge, the name of his last organization and his military serial number.

If the veteran does this, he'll probably be exempt from further military service. The law exempts veterans who served 90 days during the period of armed hostilities of World War II or who served 12 months during the period September 16, 1940 to June 24, 1948.

Men who were members of organized reserve units of the National Guard prior to June 24, will be deferred from induction as long as they remain members in good standing of such units. But on registration day such men will have to furnish full data concerning their grade and unit, date of entry and serial number.

NO TWO ALIKE
By LOUIS MALLEN

WHAT puzzled Paul most was what made girls vulnerable and moon-eyed whenever his twin brother, Peter, was about. There was no denying it, girls usually fell for Peter's line. He was smooth, Paul had seen it happen too many times. Fear gripped his heart as he thought it was about to happen again—tonight—this time to "too nice a girl."

Pensively, Paul tugged at the chair under him and moved closer to the table in the El Zebra club. He passed his hand fondly and carressingly over the beaver jacket on the chair beside him. This was Ann—a part of Ann—the delicately Ann had said: "You don't mind, do you, Paul?" Of course he did! But he couldn't let Ann know, just then. "This is some brother you have." She smiled into Peter's face as they glided away.

Some brother, is right! Paul thought. Probably laying it on again. Ann seemed to enjoy it. Paul didn't! Ann was his girl!

Ann fitted into Paul's plans for that part of life he desired. A home. A charming wife. His heart melted every time he dared to think of it. He hadn't yet found the courage to tell her. Gracious, kind, beautiful Ann. But he had told her all about himself, his early boy-hood, he, the younger of twins, he had even told her about Peter. He wasn't afraid of Peter then, with two thousand miles between them. They'd probably be married before Peter would meet her.

Paul was afraid of Peter now. Breezy, garrulous Peter. Back home, Paul had always been referred to as the quiet one, when the twins were the subject of conversation.

The trouble with himself, Paul thought, was that he had always given up too easily to Peter, from childhood up. Peter always did get the best toys, the best bike, the best clothes, the best of everything. Ann was something Paul wanted more than anything else in his life. She represented the best of everything to him. Determination filled his lean, square-jawed face. He WAS the quiet one, up until tonight. Long live the new Paul!

It would not be easy, Paul reminded himself. Peter had years of experience along these lines. He regarded life about him with hard-earned indifference, and when Paul sought to reason with him, Peter's face would turn quite blank, his eyes evasive. He never argued, never changed. He'd find love, cultivate it to crop, taste of it, and leave it.

Now, with the thought of losing Ann racing through his nervous system, Paul vowed his scruples were to undergo a change.

Earlier in the evening Peter was in Paul's apartment talking on the phone. "Peter!" Paul said. "What are you doing in New York . . ."

Thank goodness this was the last dance. Paul feared the worst. He tried to put the fear from his mind.

perumed fragrance of the jacket pierced his troubled mind. Baffled and driven, he came to a decision. He resolved, after tonight, to ape and copy his twin brother's every move and loquacious banter. He'd do it and see how far that would get him—for a change.

Paul's eyes searched the dance floor for Peter and Ann. They had danced together for the fourth consecutive time. Thank goodness this was to be the last dance, they had agreed to leave upon its completion.

FOOLISH NOTIONS

With everything you have to worry about, including what you're going to do this Saturday night—how do you ever have time to dream up these amazing ideas?

TOOTH SAVER

Remember that article in a national magazine about the bad effects of opening your bobby pins with your teeth? Well, one of our Hi-Style scouts reports that she is now opening her bobby pins on a wire which she nailed tautly from one side of a wooden box to the other. She keeps her bobby pins in the box and opens them on the wire as she lifts them out. She says it's much easier to get a new piece of wire than it is to get a new set of teeth. She has something there!

ALL OVER THE MAP—Because so many of you collect pen pals just as you collect photos of Robert Mitchum and telephone calls—you'll be interested in an entirely new system of keeping your correspondence in order. Pin up a large map of the United States and stick pins in each city where you have a pen pal. Red topped pins means that your pen pal owes you a letter; black means vice-versa. It's a good reminder and it looks so official!

LIVELY DECORATIONS—Do you want a really different table centerpiece for your next party? Well, fill a bowl with a quart of water, drop in one teaspoon full of citric acid and one teaspoon full of baking soda. Now—drop in 18 moth balls and, within a few moments, the balls will start jumping up and down and will continue to perform for about an hour. When they show signs of tiring, just revive them with another dose of the acid. Let us know how it works.

ANKLE TURNS—A trick for your old ballet slippers is to sew ribbon loops at the backs to hold any ribbons or bracelets you might wear as anklets. For evening, try rhinestone or gold ribbons. We've already warned you that the ankle strap shoe is the smartest thing on two feet for summer, haven't we?

BEAUTY AND THE BIR—You wind the chains round and round your necks to fall in a big effect over your sweater and blouse. If you're wearing a dickey, just wear the Peter Pan collar over the chain.

FALLOW FIELDS
Grace Nell Crowell

THIS field is worn from yielding the good grain.
Fallow it lies, its furrows dark and still.
Beneath the blinding sun and bitter rain
It patiently awaits its master's will.
It draws new power as the year goes by
From winds that sweep across its furrowed way.
It pulls the sunlight from the bending sky,
And holds it there to use again some day.

Now, like any barren field, must lie
Fallow awhile. God make me wise to wait.
As old fields do through storms, nor question why
Strength comes so slowly, peace so very late.
Let me draw power from this time, and then,
Strengthened anew, rise up to serve again.

Storage of Surplus Fowl Is Profitable

Poultry Held in Locker For Sale at Price Peak

To assure that poultry of various classifications is properly held in locker plants or freezers, it is advisable that the fowl be wrapped in water-proof, moisture-proof paper.

Latest scientific methods call for enclosing the fowl in a strong mesh fabric, known as stockinet, which keeps the prepared locker paper tightly pressed around the chicken, thus eliminating all air pockets inside the wrapping and preventing the paper from becoming loose at any time.

Poultrymen and farmers with a surplus of poultry have found it profitable to place some of the birds, as well as game fowl, in storage for their own consumption as well as for sale to local markets when prices become higher.

Considerable demand has been found for ducks, geese and turkeys as well as for chickens.

During the past few years some poultry raisers have found an excellent market for smoked fowl and a most satisfactory market price.

Only quality fowls should be so stored and handled, and then only when proper wrapping material is utilized and proper storage facilities are available.

Modern Agronomists Debunk Copybook Line

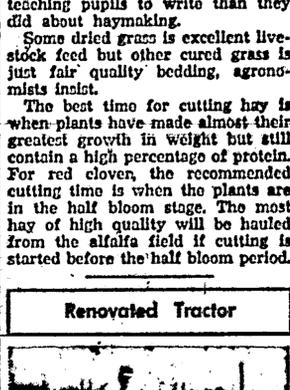

"Hay is dried grass." That line invariably appeared in copybooks handed out to pupils in old-time writing classes, but agronomists at Ohio State university claim the copybook publishers apparently knew considerably more about teaching pupils to write than they did about haymaking.

Some dried grass is excellent livestock feed but other cured grass is just fair quality bedding, agronomists insist.

The best time for cutting hay is when plants have made almost their greatest growth in weight but still contain a high percentage of protein. For red clover, the recommended cutting time is when the plants are in the half bloom stage. The most hay of high quality will be hauled from the alfalfa field if cutting is started before the half bloom period.

Renovated Tractor

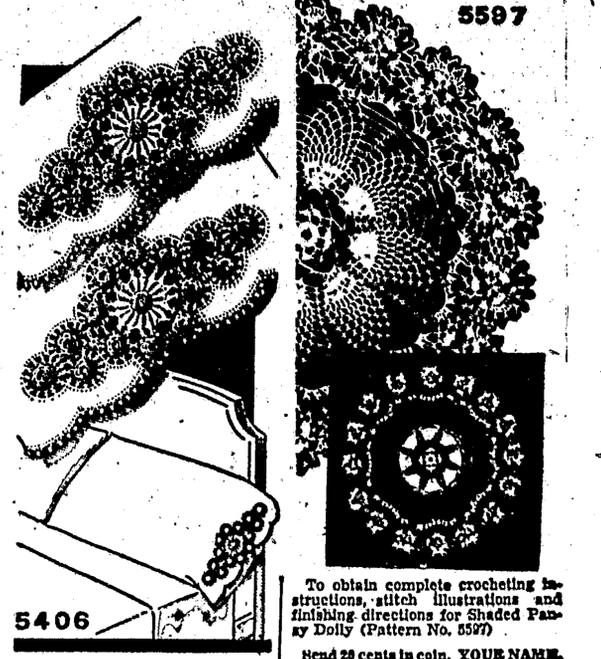

This steel shed tractor was in good operating condition, so the farmer decided to adapt it for rubber tires. The tires, tubes and rims cost $119. In addition to the new agricultural implements being purchased this year, many are being re-modernized.

Thinning of Vegetables Assures Best Growth

Most gardeners make the mistake of not thinning their vegetable rows sufficiently. They hate to pull up part of their plantings and thus allow all of the seedlings to be crowded. Thinning should be done when the soil is moist and the seedlings are one to two inches tall. If taller than two inches, don't pull them up; cut them off at ground level for best results.

Freeze in Garden Flavor In Moistureproof Cartons

To keep the most "garden goodness" in fruits and vegetables that are to be frozen, package them carefully. This point is stressed by Miss Frances O. Van Dyne, assistant professor of foods, University of Illinois college of agriculture.

These containers that can be sealed tightly and won't leak. Frozen foods are better when packaged in containers that are moisture-proof and vapor-proof, Miss Van Dyne explains. Otherwise the foods dry out and lose palatability.

Cartons come in a variety of types and shapes. Rectangular or square cartons may have inner linings or have a waxed plastic finish; some are made for tea with cellophane bags. Most of these are sealable with heat—by pressing together edges of covering material with an electric iron or a hand iron. The cartons are generally easy to handle and store. Waxed cups are convenient, but the seal on the set-in lid isn't moisture- or vapor-proof.

Before sealing a filled carton or bag, wipe inside edges with a clean cloth to remove moisture that would prevent a tight seal. Also press out all possible air from top of bag, then heat-seal tightly. Or you may like the pressure tapes for sealing; they have an adhesive substance on one side so that they can be stuck on edges of bags and cartons.
