HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO MEET NOVEMBER 7TH

The Lincoln County History group will hold the second of its series of meetings in behalf of state and local history on Sunday afternoon, November 7, in the school auditorium, between 2 and 4. The discussion will center around writing history, especially in the case of New Mexico events and personages.

Miss Erna Fergusson will be one of the speakers, and will discuss the matter of historical writing from her point of view as found in her recently published Murder and Mystery in New Mexico. This distinguished author will be available to sign copies of this book. Another speaker is to be Major Charles F. Ward now in charge of the courses in American history at the New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell. He is to stress the importance of popular appeal if historical writing is to reach the people. The object of these meetings is to promote greater interest in writing and reading local history throughout Southeast New Mexico, and thus carry on the work started under the auspices of the late George Curry during his incumbency of the position of state historian with headquarters in the old courthouse building. Fitting it is that this historic old village should become a center for encouragement of research in local history.

R. E. Pickett Warden Meets Accidental Death

Clever, popular, kind hearted R. E. Pickett Warden of Carrizozo came to a sudden and untimely death last Friday afternoon on Highway 54 enroute to Carrizozo from Claunch where he had been on business. Mr. Warden was riding alone in his Plymouth. A nail in the tire which went flat is supposed to have caused the car to turn over. Mr. Warden was driving rapidly at the time and the car was completely demolished. Expressions of sorrow and regret were heard on every side as soon as the news reached town.

Funeral services were held last Monday, November 1st at the Carrizozo Methodist church, with the Rev. Mr. Sherman of Magdalena giving the funeral address.

Mrs. Ben S. Burns played softly while the cortege entered the church.

Miss Veda Lou Branum sang "After" accompanied by Miss Helen Sloan at the piano.

Rev. Sherman offered prayer followed by a solo, "The End of a Perfect Day" sung by Miss Veda Lou Branum, with Miss Helen Sloan playing piano accompaniment. Few eyes were dry at finish of the lovely song.

Mr. Warden was born in Wardenville, West Virginia September 18, 1884. He came to New Mexico to live when he was 21, and had resided here ever since and during his 43 years of residence had been a ranchman. In 1912 he was united in marriage to Mrs. Maud Cooper Hightower. Three children were born to the union; two daughters Mary Pickett, and Maude, now Mrs. R. L. Ballou; and son, R. E. Pickett Warden, Jr., all of whom survive. In addition to the above named he is survived by two grand children; and by two sisters, Mrs. Pauline Wortz, and Mrs. Alma Lancaster of West Virginia; four brothers, Bill, Stanley and Pem of Wardenville, W. Va. and Clyde of Lexington, Mo. Messrs. Clyde and Bill Warden were present at the funeral. He is also survived by several nieces and nephews. His friends were numbered by his acquaintances and all are inexpressibly grieved.

Out of town attendants, whom we saw were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maxwell and son Warden (who was a nephew); T. A. Spencer, Jr. Captain; Attorney and Mrs. John E. Hall, Albuquerque; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ballou and son El Paso; Mrs. Riley McPherson and daughter Mrs. Gilbert Dow, Roswell; Messrs. Clyde and Bill Warden.

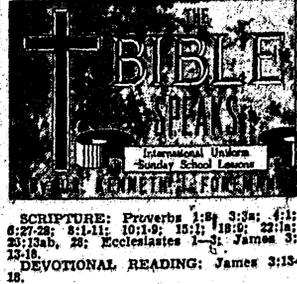

Active pall bearers were Messrs. J. B. Howell, Brack Sloan, J. W. Calahan, Elmer Eaker, Clifton Zumwalt and E. Bello.

Honorary pallbearers were Messrs. Claude Branum, Earl Simmons, Charlie Harter, Roy Shafer, Albert Snow, Albert Roberts, T. A. Spencer, Jr., John E. Hall, Ray Lemon, Will Ed Harris, Marshall Atkinson, A. J. Rolland and Bryce Duggar.

Flower women were Mrs. Roy E. Shafer, Mrs. William Gallacher, Mrs. Albert Snow, Mrs. Marjorie Jolly, Mrs. Ray Lemon and Mrs. Meyer Barnett.

The Wardens are an old and distinguished family of West Virginia. They still reside on a grant of land at Wardenville which was given to the family one hundred and eighty-five years ago for loyal service to their country. It can truthfully be said of Mr. Warden that he lived up to the high example set by his family. He was loyal, liberal and devoted to his friends. Every child in town was his faithful friend. He had a ready smile and cheerful word for everybody.

A long line of friends went to White Oaks to attend interment exercises at Cedarvale cemetery, conducted by the Rev. Sherman. The masses of beautiful flowers were a fitting tribute to one whose entire life had been spent scattering rays of sunshine and thoughtful service to those friends and neighbors with whom he came in contact.

True Wisdom
Lesson for October 31, 1948

WHAT is the most important thing in the world? What is worth more than anything else? Some would say Money; some Power; some Goodness; some Truth. Another answer is given by the writers of a group of books, two of which are included in our Bible. "Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom," they say.

The books of Dr. Foreman Proverbs and Ecclesiastes in our Protestant Bible, and the books of Ecclesiastes and the Wisdom of Solomon in the Apocrypha, all have this viewpoint and are therefore called the Wisdom Literature.

Other writers in the Bible divide the human race into the Good and the Wicked, or the Believers and the Unbelievers; but these writers see mankind as the Wise and the Foolish. The books they wrote (especially Proverbs) were intended particularly for those who are so far neither foolish nor wise—that is to say, the young.

Knowledge Is Not Wisdom
WISDOM (as these writers use the word) is not the same thing as knowledge. A person may know a great many things and still be a fool. Or he may not even know how to read and write, and yet be wise. Some modern writers have said: Knowledge is knowing what to do; skill is knowing how to do it; and virtue is doing it. Wisdom is all of these put together.

But the special feature of the "Wisdom Writers" is this: True wisdom begins with the fear of God. "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom . . . the knowledge of God is understanding." In other words, wisdom without religion, without faith, is foolish after all.

We can see how in our times the story of the Nazis has shown this once more to be true. The German Reich of 1933-1939 had the best of the science of the world; they had scholarship and wealth and "know-how" in many fields; but they rejected God and defied his church—and so a nation was destroyed.

We too may profit by their example. We of the western nations have wealth and technical skills beyond any other peoples, we have the atom bomb—but have we the wisdom without which all these things are but as torches in the hands of madmen?

University on Ant-Hill
KNOWLEDGE may be expensive. It costs a great deal of money to know what it takes to be an engineer or a surgeon. Wisdom, strange to say, is less expensive. It is fact on such a low shelf that most people pass it by.

Consider where the "Wisdom Writers" tell us we may learn wisdom. One place is experience. "Experience keeps an expensive school, but fools will learn in no other—and hardly from that," says a more modern proverb.

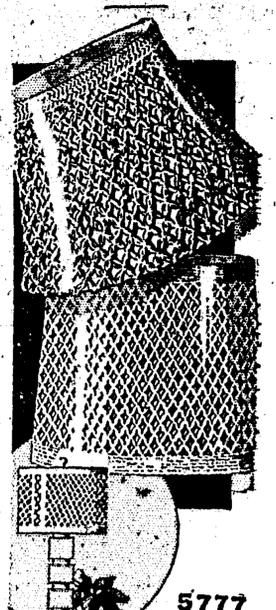

Many of the proverbs in our Bible are simply distilled drops of experience. "A soft answer turneth away wrath, but grievous words stir up anger," for example. Do you need an angel from the sky to tell you that?

Another source of wisdom is just Nature herself. "Go to the ant, thou sluggard (lazy fellow); consider her ways and be wise." A lazy man is a fool; but how shall he learn to be wise? Not by reading books—just by watching the ants.

Inspired Common Sense
A FORMER governor of Virginia used to say that during his term of office he received more practical help from reading Proverbs than from any of the books on political science in his library. For the science, or the art, of government is simply one specialized form of that most important art, getting along with people. And the Wisdom Literature shows us how it is done.

Some people think that inspiration is always mysterious, and that the Holy Spirit would not stoop to inspire what we could learn in any ordinary way. But the Christian church, when it declares Proverbs (for example) inspired, expresses her belief that there is such a thing as Inspired Common Sense.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

Plan to Bake Once a Week
(See Recipes Below)

Simplify Baking
WHILE OUR MOTHERS and grandmothers had more to do than those of us who are homemakers, they somehow managed to find an afternoon a week in which to fill the house with fragrant and delicious odors from the oven with weekly baking.

To me, this was one of the most delightful times in the whole week because then I, too, could get my hands into pie crust or sweet roll dough. It was great sport!

But, naturally, this was not the only blessing that came from weekly baking. We usually had delicious homemade bread as well as rolls or coffee cake for breakfast. To save time, the dinner for that evening was usually a baked one, a fragrant meat loaf or taste-tempting casserole with a delicious baked pudding for dessert. Then, too, the cookies jar was filled for the best part of the week, and that meant cookies for the lunch boxes and more delicious tidbits when we came home from school!

Are your families missing these treats? Then organize the household schedule at once so that you can bake once a week, and fill the larder with such delicious things as can only come from home baking.

But how can you make all these things in one day? Here's how: mix cookie dough and store in refrigerator; make ice box dough for sweet rolls, and store this, too. Bread dough can be mixed in the morning; or, if you are making quick breads, these can be mixed in a few minutes right after lunch.

You can plan the baking for any day of the week. We usually do it Friday or Saturday afternoon, so there will be a cake or pie in the house for Sunday, and, of course, bread, rolls and cookies for the whole week.

IT MAY SOUND ambitious to attempt all this in one day, but it really isn't once you get into the swing of it. Do all you can the evening before, and keep on hand such things as piecrust and biscuit mix. Refrigerator cookies, too, take no time at all to bake, and they're easily mixed ahead of time.

Refrigerator Rolls.
(Makes 12-16)

- 1 cup milk
- 3 tablespoons shortening
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 yeast cake
- 1 egg
- 2 1/4 to 3 cups flour

Scald milk and in it dissolve shortening, sugar and salt. When mixture is warm add yeast cake, crumbled, and the egg. Add flour gradually and mix thoroughly by beating. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Place a piece of waxed paper over the bowl and hold securely with a rubber band. Store in refrigerator until ready to use.

This refrigerator dough may be used for cloverleaf rolls, cinnamon braid, fruit filled rings or pecan rolls.

Coal oil or kerosene will remove stains and dirt from enameled bathroom fixtures without scratching the surface or lessening the gloss of the surface.

Whole Wheat Bread
(Makes 3 loaves)

- 1 quart hot water
- 1 tablespoon shortening
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 2 tablespoons molasses
- 1 teaspoon caraway seeds, if desired
- 1 yeast cake
- 6 cups all-purpose flour
- 4 cups whole wheat flour

Add shortening to hot water. When lukewarm, add all remaining ingredients. Stir for three minutes, or until thoroughly mixed, then set in a warm place to rise for two hours. Knead again until dough forms a ball, then let rise again, about one and one-half hours. Turn onto board; form into three loaves and place in greased bread pans. Let rise until doubled in bulk, about one hour. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 10 minutes, reduce heat to 300 degrees and bake for 45 minutes.

Nut Wafers

- 1/4 cup lard
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 1/4 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup nuts, chopped

Cream butter, lard and sugar; add eggs. Sift dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Fold in nuts and vanilla. Shape into roll, wrap in waxed paper and store in refrigerator until needed. Bake in a 400-degree oven for seven to 12 minutes.

Banana Spice Cake

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 cup mashed banana
- 1/2 cup milk

Cream shortening until fluffy, add sugar a little at a time, creaming after each addition. Stir in vanilla extract; add eggs and beat well. Sift all dry ingredients and add to shortening mixture alternately with mashed banana and milk. Pour batter into a well greased, heat-resistant square glass cake dish, eight-inch size. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 45 to 50 minutes. Remove from oven and let cool before spreading with the following icing:

- 3 tablespoons shortening
- 1 1/4 cups confectioners' sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Cream shortening; add confectioners' sugar and lemon juice, beating until fluffy. Add lemon rind if desired. Spread on cool cake. Released by WNU Features.

Leather pieces around the home-like furniture, bookends, albums and waste baskets can be cleaned with a mild soap and luke-warm water shampoo.

Soak pastry cloths in cold water before washing. Brush away flour mixtures with a brush before washing in hot water or the matter will cake and stick.

Keep your pot holders immaculate if you want to avoid sticky fingers by working in the kitchen. Wash and rinse the holders out as you do the towels, after a meal.

Woman Bequeaths Millions to Small Coal Mining Town

PITTSBURGH, PA.—A little coal mining town 30 miles from Pittsburgh inherited millions of dollars left it by a wealthy Philadelphia woman.

Mrs. Mary Fuller Frazier, who inherited several million dollars in 1918, left all but $210,000 of her estate to the village of Perryopolis. Her will was filed for probate.

The amount of the estate was not made known. She inherited $1,350,102 in personal property and a large share of seven million dollars in real estate 30 years ago from her uncle, Alfred M. Fuller of Perryopolis.

After making 18 specific grants totaling $110,000 and setting up a $100,000 trust fund to provide a watchman and constant upkeep for the family mausoleum in Perryopolis, Mrs. Frazier left all the rest for public improvement to the tiny community of 1,300 persons.

Mrs. Frazier explained in her will that Perryopolis was the place where "I was born and lived, and where my father and mother lived and my grandfather and grandmother lived."

One-half of the bequest is to be used outright for "public improvements," while the remainder will be held in trust for the purpose of maintaining the improvements.

Michael Karolick, grocer, theater operator and fire department chief in Perryopolis, said the money would be used to have the streets paved, public school repaired, a library built and the Perry township high school equipped with a stadium.

Home Owner Discovers Alcohol in Water Taps

RARITAN TOWNSHIP, N. J.—John McSorley thought there was something queer about the water in his housing development home. A test showed 12 to 33 per cent alcohol.

The explanation, supplied by the water department: The builders put alcohol in the pipes to prevent freezing during construction and apparently some had not been drained when the pipes were drained. Apparent lack of a check valve allows the alcohol to back into the water supply line when the water pressure is low.

Absent-Minded Professor Forgets Back-Seat Driver

CHARLOTTESVILLE, IND.—W. J. Cunningham, 72, Cambridge, Mass., a retired professor in the Harvard graduate school of business, and his wife, Ethel, 64, were driving home from a 6,000-mile vacation trip to the West coast. He stopped the car at Greenfield, Ind., to look at a road map. Mrs. Cunningham got out to mail a postcard.

Forty-five minutes and 30 miles later, Cunningham was driving along U. S. 40 when he noticed his wife wasn't in the car.

Cunningham started back to find her. En route, he stopped at Knightstown, Ind., and called a state policeman. Cunningham parked his car and joined Trooper Fred Forst. Meanwhile, Sheriff Jack Rubush saw a well-dressed woman walking on the road with a crowbar in her hand.

"Are you in trouble?" he asked. "No," the woman replied. "But I'll tell you a funny story about an absent-minded professor." Rubush drove Mrs. Cunningham to Charlottesville and there they met Forst and Cunningham.

Farmwife Complains Because Driller Strikes Oil on Land

FRISTOE, MO.—When a well driller told Mrs. Lou Brooks Thomas, 73, that he had struck oil on her farm, she objected.

"All I want is good drinking water," she said, "and you can't get that from an oil well."

Bill Barnes, the driller, related that he hit a pocket of oil while re-drilling a water well on Mrs. Thomas' farm, near this west-central Missouri town.

Mrs. Thomas ordered the well sealed with concrete and another one drilled nearby. In drilling the second well, Barnes reported finding a similar rock formation and a slight coating of oil on the water at 102 feet. Mrs. Thomas told him not to go any deeper. She said she was afraid he might strike oil again.

Bald Law Student Defeats Coeds for Queen Title

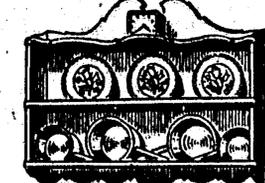

UNIVERSITY, MISS.—A slightly bald law student, Frederick T. Carney, defeated three coeds in a queen election at the University of Mississippi.

Billed as "the candidate with the fringe on top," Carney led the field with 610 write-in votes.

In a campaign speech he said: "Gen. William T. Sherman said, 'If I'm nominated, I'll not run; if I'm elected I'll not serve.' If I'm elected I will serve."

But the student executive council ruled Carney out because he had not submitted his candidacy before the deadline. They ordered a run-off between a couple of the girls.

Choose General College Course for Job Success

Choosing the right college major is not so important to success in a job as understanding people and how to get along with them. That is the story told by 70 successful college graduates.

So far as employer preferences for liberal arts or vocational students go, employers want education first, then specialization—not specialization at the expense of education.

Camels are SO MILD that a 30-Day test revealed NO THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking Camels!

Yes, in this test, hundreds of men and women all across the country smoked Camels—and only Camels—an average of one to two packages a day—for 30 consecutive days. Each week their throats were examined by noted throat specialists—a total of 2470 examinations—and these doctors found not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels.

A comparison of total tax rates for 73 incorporated cities, towns and villages in New Mexico show that in 26 municipalities there is a decrease in the total tax rate, while in 47 there is a small increase. Where the total rate is in excess of 20 mills, such excess is due to taxes levied for interest on and retirement of general obligation bonds. Thirteen municipalities having 40 mills or more on each dollar assessed valuation for 1948 are Alamo, Aztec, Belen, Columbus, Elida, Hobbs, Jal, Las Cruces, Maxwell, Mesquero, Portales, Raton and Roy. Ten municipalities levy from 35 to 39 mills. These are Albuquerque, Cimarron, Dexter, Farmington, Gallup, Las Vegas Town, Melrose, Mountainair, Tucuman and wagon mound. Eleven municipalities have from 30 to 34 mills—Bernardo, Clayton, Carlsbad, Des Moines, Hatch, Hot Springs, Las Vegas City, Los Lunas, Howell, Springer and Tularosa. Sixteen municipalities have 25 to 29 mills—Clovis, Cloudcroft, Cosque, Espanola, Eunice, Fort Sumner, Greentree, Hagerman, Lordsburg, Magdalena, Ruidoso, Santa Fe, Silver City, Socorro, Texico and Virden. Twenty-three municipalities have less than 25 mills—Artesia, Bayard, Carrizozo,

Truman Proposes Moscow Mission, Rocks Foundation of U. S. Policy; Russ Ask Big Four Parley Renewal

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE) When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Bi-partisan unity in the U. S. was grievously wounded by the knife-edged Berlin crisis when, on the one hand, President Truman called a private conference with Under Secretary of State Robert Lovett and Secretary of State George Marshall to mull over the situation . . .

. . . and, on the other hand, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey summoned his foreign affairs advisor, John Foster Dulles, from Paris to find out for himself what was going on in Europe.

DIPLOMACY: Trip Canceled

To President Truman, for engineering the abortive deal to send Chief Justice Fred Vinson to Moscow for personal talks with Kremlin leaders on the atomic bomb, went the credit for producing the most heretically proportioned diplomatic faux pas of the year.

It happened very swiftly and very simply. Mr. Truman deciding suddenly to try his own hand at enlightening out the tangled foreign mess, started making preparations to send Vinson to Russia.

THEN the state department heard about it. Robert Lovett, under-secretary of state, profoundly shocked, notified George Marshall who came winging frantically across the Atlantic from Paris to stop the President from committing what he considered a blunder of immense gravity.

The Vinson trip was called off, of course, and President Truman backed hastily away from the whole business after issuing an abashed note of explanation.

BUT THE memories lingered on. Mr. Truman, in the minds of those who knew or thought they knew about the international situation, had gone completely beyond the pale with this momentary, headstrong effort.

His campaign opponent, Gov. Thomas Dewey, at first wavered between righteous anger at what he obviously considered a deliberate flouting of the established bi-partisan foreign policy and elation that the Democratic candidate had made such a grievous tactical error.

And although the Dewey camp was astute enough to realize that its cause would benefit more if it magnanimously ignored the affair than if it leaped in for the slaughter, it nevertheless redounds to the New York governor's credit that he did not take advantage of this internationally dangerous situation for his personal gain.

Significance

Why was President Truman so widely and thoroughly castigated for making what he undoubtedly looked upon as a sincere, constructive attempt to clear up the Russians' "misunderstanding" of the problem of atomic control?

Because his intention of sending Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow represented a serious divergence from the basic characteristic of U. S. foreign policy—toughness with Russia.

MR. TRUMAN'S proposal amounted to a softening up of the laboriously built "get tough" attitude of the U. S. toward Moscow. It was tantamount to saying in a pleading voice, "Let's get together once more and try to talk this thing out."

Current history has proved that the kind of personal diplomacy the President sought to institute in the Vinson trip has been completely unavailing in dealing with Russia since the war. Moreover, insofar as personal diplomacy always tends to bypass the United Nations, it usually has an ill effect on international relations in general.

IN THE final analysis, a personal visit to the Kremlin by Vinson probably would have upset the entire, carefully fabricated structure of the policy upon which the U. S. is depending to defeat Russia's aims in Europe.

ANYTHING NEW? What, No War?

Answers to the question "Does Russia want war?" are a drug on the market, in informed and uninformed circles alike, but now and then someone comes up with a reply that is a little more imaginative than most.

ONE OF this kind has been furnished by an experienced professional diplomat—necessarily anonymous lest his identity become known to the Russians—who is attending the U. N. meetings in Paris. He said:

"There will be no war soon. The reason is that Stalin, the head of the peace party, has just had Andrei Zhdanov, the head of the war party, murdered."

(Zhdanov, who died several weeks ago, was one of the ranking members of the politburo where he was almost on a par with Molotov in power and influence. He had been talked of as a possible successor to Stalin. His demise was mourned with parades, pageantry and ostentation by Stalin, the boys in the Kremlin and the Russian people.)

"HE (ZHDANOV) urged immediate war. He argued that if Russia was defeated militarily she would win politically, since the resulting horror and chaos would cause a new, irresistible wave of communism."

"As long as Zhdanov was successful, Stalin gave him his head. When he failed in Yugoslavia, Stalin told him to lay off. Zhdanov defied the Soviet generalissimo. So Stalin got his head."

"This means that Stalin's waiting tactics have prevailed. There will be no war soon."

BIG FOUR: Come Again

While the U. S. state department was exerting all its influence to prevent a return to direct negotiations with Russia at this time, the Soviets were hammering away at the opposite course of action by demanding that Big Four discussions of the Berlin issue be resumed.

THE TWO viewpoints, starkly emphasized by the reception Mr. Truman's futile mission-to-Moscow idea received in the U. S., revealed with extreme clarity the broad gap now separating the East and West.

Russia's demand wasn't new. It was a repetition of Moscow's now well-established tactics in East-West relations. What the Soviets wanted was simply that the Berlin question be removed from the agenda of the U. N. security council and that discussions among the Big Four be resumed where they were severed last August in Moscow.

Andrei V. Vishinsky, deputy Soviet foreign minister, handed a note to that effect to Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, acting president of the security council, who separately informed the U. S., British and French delegations.

IT WAS all wasted effort as far as the western powers were concerned. Neither the U. S., Britain, nor France wanted to get within shouting distance of direct negotiations with the Russians at this point.

One western spokesman commented simply, "The Russian reply is unhelpful." The Soviets, again, were making no concession to peace.

CHURCHILL: Grim Accents

At the British Conservative party's annual convention in Llandudno, Wales, Winston Churchill, never a man to deal in flimsy optimism when the going was tough, talked in grim accents about the world's peril.

HE WAS the old pre-war, no-appeasement Churchill as he warned against letting any French breach appear in the line of western resistance to Soviet drives.

To the United States he said, in effect: Keep those atomic bombs. Destruction of the U. S. atomic arsenal now would be tantamount to suicide.

"If it were not for the stocks of atomic bombs now in the trusteeship of the United States there would be no means of stopping the subjugation of western Europe by Communist machinations backed by Russian armies and enforced by political parties."

"BOLSHEVIK Russia is already heavily armed and her forces in Europe far exceed those of all the western countries put together. At the present time the only sure foundation of peace—and the prevention of actual war—rests upon strength."

He urged the West to "bring matters to a head and make a final settlement" before Russia produces a usable bomb.

Such a settlement, according to the view of the wartime British prime minister, could be arrived at only after the Russians had released their grip on satellite states, released the German and Japanese prisoners they "now hold as slaves," ceased to "oppress, torment and exploit" those parts of Austria and Germany they hold and called a halt to disruptive operations elsewhere in the world.

BUT CHURCHILL would not be a party to issuing any "false hopes of a friendly settlement with Soviet Russia." Actually, he said, the Berlin blockade may precipitate a war at any time.

ALIENS: On the Job

The U. S. is hiring scores of aliens, many of them in countries behind the iron curtain, to staff its 27-million-dollar international information program.

Leland J. Barrows, deputy director of the state department's office of information and education, told the senate appropriations committee that the department planned to add 278 aliens and 60 Americans to overseas duty by the end of the 1948 fiscal year.

WHAT WILL they do? Barrows said that the aliens—14 of whom will be added to the American embassy in Moscow—would be used primarily as translators, clerks, messengers and in other work associated with the U. S. foreign information program.

Testimony before the committee showed that the state department gained the committee's reluctant approval of its foreign-hiring plan, despite the objections of Chairman Styles Bridges (R., N.H.) who contended that it would provide a fertile field for Communist infiltration into government functions.

GEORGE V. ALLEN, assistant secretary of state, countered that there were certain jobs that had to be performed overseas that could best be done by aliens.

He said aliens could be employed much cheaper for certain tasks where they can be watched fairly easily, even though Americans may suspect their loyalty.

This departure from the norm in the business of hiring federal employees was a new wrinkle in the government that very probably will be attracting considerable public attention within the next few months.

Reverse Russian

Constantine Beldyreff is a man who wants to take the classic Communist concept of the necessity of revolution and apply it to Russia itself. Claiming to represent a world-wide Russian anti-Communist organization dedicated to the overthrow of the Stalin regime, Beldyreff believes that the great mass of Russia's 167 million people are ready for revolt.

SUB RADAR: Sentry Duty

A submarine with radar "eyes," a new unit in the nation's defense system, was scheduled to start operating in November to detect any hostile planes attempting a sneak approach across such remote reaches as the polar seas.

The navy announced that the submarine Tigrone, taken from the reserve fleet and converted into the first radar picket submarine, was to be commissioned November 1.

This picture shows the dedication of the first of these synagogues near Tel Aviv just before Jewish high holy day ceremonies began. The sacred Torah is shown as it is escorted to its new destination by armed soldiers who participated in the ceremonies.

DAILY DOUBLE . . . This pair of unrelated "twins" is the reason that some of the good people of Van Dyke, Mich., go about muttering in confusion. They are Marie Kohler (left) and Charlene Kagecki, both six years old, and they're as alike as two peas in the proverbial pod. Strange as it may seem, Marie and Charlene are not related to each other except in the application of physical characteristics.

NEW QUARTERBACK . . . Lieut. Felix "Doc" Blanchard, the army all-American football, has a new quarterback calling signals. The pretty new hope is Mrs. Blanchard, the former Miss Jody King of San Antonio, Tex. The pair said their "I do's" at the home of the bride's parents. Best man was Lieut. W. J. Sharpe, Blanchard's West Point roommate. Doc received his air corps wings recently, too.

FLIRTING WITH A JET . . . Lieut. A. L. Hall of the navy's medical corps service is shown standing in front of the intake of a jet aircraft during a test to determine just how close a person can come to it without being sucked into the intake. He wears a heavy belt to which is attached a safety line. The lieutenant found that you can give the deadly sucker an even break to within three feet of the intake.

WEATHER AHEAD

By JOHN H. HOSE

The counter man reminded Harv of someone he knew—a brilliant man whose life had been destroyed by a selfish, beautiful woman.

THE plane settled down on the bumpy field, and jolted to a halt. The explanation for the unscheduled stopover was simply the cryptic statement, "Weather ahead!" The stewardess had no information about the length of the layover, so we walked across the field toward the town. Harvey Allen and I were bound for the coast on a brief business trip, seeking a new contract for one of our major network productions.

We walked along the main—and only—street of the little town until we came to a small restaurant. It was dark and cool inside after the heat and glare of the mid-afternoon New Mexico sun. Settling in one of the tiny booths which lined the wall, we ordered some lunch. Except for the counter man and a tired looking waitress, the place was empty. I noticed Harv staring intently at the man behind the counter. I glanced up, but the fellow was a stranger to me.

"Know him?" I asked. Harv had a genius for knowing people everywhere . . . and remembering them.

"He reminds me of someone," he answered. The girl came with our lunch, and we ate quietly for a few moments. Harvey continued, then, asking,

"Did you ever know Mark Stevens?"

I jipped at my iced tea before replying.

"Nope; he was before my time. But, of course, I've heard about him. Who hasn't? Isn't he the chap

As we strolled back to the airport, I asked the question that had been in my mind ever since Harvey started that story.

some Hollywood glamour gal took over the huddle?"

Mark nodded. "Elsa Armstrong. The face and figure that launched a thousand hopes! Elsa the beautiful. Elsa the magnificent." He lifted his tea glass in toast.

"Hail, Elsa! Destroyer of men-of-Mark Stevens in particular. Would you like to hear what really happened, Stu?"

I lighted a cigar as I replied in the affirmative. Harvey settled back in the booth as he recounted the story of Mark Stevens.

"Twenty years ago, this business of ours was just a puppy. And the master of that puppy was Mark Stevens. His was the brain that built the advertising business. You really owe that $150 suit you're wearing to him, Stu. Mark Stevens lifted us out of the mire and into the moola. We all owe him plenty."

"Mark built his organization by buying talent where he found it, and he had a genius for finding it. I remember I was doing advance work for Williams' Brothers Carnival when I met him. We got together in San Antonio one night, and the next day I was working for him. Just like that."

"I started small—writing copy on some accounts that weren't too important. And all the time I was watching the master, learning all the little nuances and twists, getting set for the day he saw fit to move me up a notch. It wasn't long in coming either. The firm was marching, and I was right in step."

"After about a year, Mark opened a branch office in Chicago. I went there as copy chief. From that move, both the business and I mushroomed. Dallas, Seattle, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco. Five years after that meeting in San Antonio, I was head of the San Francisco office. We had branched out all over the country, but this San Francisco outfit was second in importance only to the home office in New York."

"When radio and advertising had a happy marriage, the Mark Stevens Associates really hit the top. We opened a Hollywood office and began handling only the largest accounts. I came down from San Francisco to head the new office, and Mark made almost monthly trips to the coast to give his personal attention to some of the really important clients.

"It was on one of those trips that he met Elsa Armstrong. Did you ever see a bouganvillea in bloom, Stu? Or a hibiscus? That's what she was like. A lovely, fragile beauty, and that's an inadequate description. But she was smart, too. Smart . . . and tough when it came to getting places." Harvey twirled the iced tea glass, climbing the ice cubes against its hard surface as he reminisced. Then he continued,

"She wasn't an actress; even in those days talent was an important item, but Elsa's only talent consisted in looking so beautiful it hurt. Strangely enough, she didn't want to be a star. Elsa was hunting something entirely different. She wanted money and position. Mark had both, and Elsa took him like Grant took Richmond. The first thing I knew, I was back in New York and Mark had taken charge on the coast. Or rather, Mark was on the coast and Elsa had taken charge."

"I lost track of events then, until one day the auditor came to me with the remark that Mr. Stevens' personal account was in terrible shape. Together we went over it. I decided that the auditor's original evaluation was strictly an understatement. The bills Mark had okayed seemed to indicate that he alone was trying to support half of California's furriers and jewelers. A few days later I began to hear complaints from different accounts that their affairs on the coast were not being handled properly. I decided to fly out and see what went on."

"Mark met me at the airport. He was . . . ah, well . . . definitely not in the best of condition. He was unshaven and imbezzled. The meeting was most embarrassing for me, and I piled Mark into a cab and directed the driver to Mark's home in Beverly Hills. He passed out on the way, and when we got there, I had one rugged time getting him upstairs and into bed, even with the sympathetic and capable help of the cabbie. This done, I returned to Hollywood and the office."

"There, I began to ask questions. The answers weren't pretty. Mark hadn't been in the place in weeks. But his bills had. His and Elsa's, that is. Oh, she had a personal account, too. It figured on the books as his, which explained why we in the East didn't know about it. I decided to see Elsa."

"She wasn't available at home, so I started to make the rounds in pursuit, finally catching up with her at 'The Players.' She wasn't alone. I sent word to her table that I would like to see her, and in a few minutes she joined me."

"I told you she was beautiful, Stu. When she sat down beside me, I almost forgot what I had wanted to talk to her about. She was loaded with diamond dog-dads, and in each one I could see Mark's money reflected. That snapped me out of the trance and into the purpose of our tele-a-tete."

"I told you she was tough, too, Brother! She was hard as nails. No, she'd not seen Mark in a month. Why? After all, a girl has to look out for her future. And Mark had been troublesome. Stuffy about her friends. I asked if the guy she was with belonged in that category. She merely shrugged. I got the idea. I rather pointedly asked her how come, if she and Mark were, through, her bills continued to come into the office. Another shrug; Mark owed her something for the way he'd acted, she felt.

"My personal opinion was that he'd acted pretty generously toward her. Too generous, from the shape both he and the firm were in, I said so. And I nearly choked when she agreed with me. Yes, she was very candid about the whole thing. Very candid, indeed. I almost gagged. I gave her a brief idea of what I thought of her, adding that we weren't paying any more bills. Without further ceremony, I left."

"When I got back to Beverly Hills, Mark was awake, sober, and sick as a dog. I told him I'd seen the books . . . and Elsa. I told him a lot of other things, too. Boss or no boss, I got the whole works off my chest. But it wasn't Mark Stevens I was talking to. It was the beaten, wasted shell of a man I once knew and respected. He took it all without a word. When I finished, he just sat there, nodding his head foolishly. I walked out in disgust. I never saw Mark Stevens again."

"The rest of the story you've heard, Stu. How he walked out on everything and just disappeared. The company was taken over by the associates; but his genius was gone, and a few months later we folded."

Harv snapped open his cigarette case, lighted the smoke casually, indicating that was the end of the story. Finally, I broke the silence to ask,

"And what became of Elsa?"

"Elsa? Oh, she dropped out of sight shortly afterwards. A scandal washed her up in Hollywood."

APPARENTLY Harvey was no longer interested in the story or its principal actors. He just sat there watching the counter man, and I was mulling over the details of the story, thinking about how easy it was for a guy to go haywire. Just then, one of the airline employees looked in, saw us and announced that the flight would start in twenty minutes. We rose to leave. While I paid the waitress, Harv walked over to the counterman and said quietly,

"Good luck, friend."

He smiled. "No, that wasn't Mark. Didn't even look like him."

"Then why," I asked, "did you happen to recall the story of Stevens? And why did you wish him luck?"

"Because, if things haven't changed, there's weather ahead for him," he replied softly. "You see, the waitress in there was Elsa."

"She wasn't available at home, so I started to make the rounds in pursuit, finally catching up with her at 'The Players.' She wasn't alone. I sent word to her table that I would like to see her, and in a few minutes she joined me."

Community Nests for Poultry House Advised Installation Decreases Number of Dirty Eggs

Taking cognizance of the premium prices paid for clean eggs on the market, poultrymen with large laying flocks are giving increased attention to installation of community nests.

Dirty eggs brought 15 cents less a dozen than clean eggs when sold through Ohio cooperative eggs auctions in June. D. D. Moyer, specialist in poultry husbandry at Ohio State university, points out, adding that the owner of a large laying flock either has to take a cut in price, spend almost as much time cleaning eggs as in all other care of the laying flock or change the poultry house equipment to reduce the number of dirty eggs gathered.

Installation of community nests in place of the small box type will decrease the number of dirty eggs by 50 per cent, Moyer claims. They are easier to clean and can be kept free from parasites more easily than the ordinary little cubicles. Original construction cost also is considerably less than that of an equal amount of nesting space of the old type inasmuch as less labor and material are required.

The community nest recommended by the Ohio station is 8 feet long, 2 feet wide, 14 inches high in front and 30 inches high in back. The space is divided in the center so there are 2 4-foot compartments in the nest, providing facilities for 80 to 100 laying hens. The front half of the nest cover is hinged so it can be lifted for gathering eggs. The bottom of the nest can be hinged so it will swing down to dump the nest litter. Hens enter the front of the nest in the center of each compartment.

Materials required for construction include: 9 pieces of 1-inch by 8-inch by 8-inch for lid, front bottom ends and partition; 5 pieces of 1-inch by 10-inch by 8-inch for lid and back; 1 piece of 1-inch by 6-inch by 8-inch for lower front board; 4 pieces of 1-inch by 8-inch by 8-inch for cleats, nest perch and entrance lids; 1 piece of 1-inch by 2-inch by 8-inch for cleats for the ends and partition; 1 piece of 1-inch by 4-inch by 10-inch for bottom supports, with the piece beveled at the ends if hinged; 3 pairs of 8-inch strap hinges, and 3 8-inch hooks and screw eyes if the bottom is hinged.

WANTED: One Home

If a flock of Leghorn hens were to go househunting, they would look for just about the same comforts at their human prototypes.

Sufficient space, good ventilation uniform temperatures, a sturdy foundation and floors are a few of the recommendations for housing the birds, according to suggestions in a revised extension bulletin of "Poultry Housing" issued by the University of Minnesota.

Like all construction, building a poultry house is an expensive proposition. As it is difficult to correct mistakes after the building is up, flock owners are advised to consider their problem and needs carefully before starting construction.

Plans for Farm Wiring Should Envision Future

Plan for future as well as present needs when wiring a farm, rural electrification specialists advise farm families. Wiring is a permanent improvement, so there should be an adequate system in the home as well as in other farm buildings. All buildings should have a proper size load center or protective device; enough sets of wires or circuits and a sufficient number of outlets.

I Shall Be Glad

Grace Noll Crowell

If I can put new hope within the heart
Of one who has lost hope,
If I can help a brother up
Some difficult long slope
That seems too steep for tired feet to go,
If I can help him climb
Into the light upon the hill's far crest,
I shall begrudge no time
Or strength that I can spend, for well I know
How great may be his need,
If I can help through any darkened hour,
I shall be glad indeed.

For I recall how often I have been
Distressed, distraught, dismayed,
And hands have reached to help, and voices called
That kept me steadfast.
If I can share this help that I have had,
God knows I shall be glad.

SAVE A LIFE

Do you have a war souvenir of explosive such as grenades or ammunition in your possession? These souvenirs have taken a bloody toll of innocent victims in national homes. The fight against this menace is being stepped up by the National War Trophy Committee with its authorized representatives from the Army, Navy, Air Force, Treasury Department, and National Rifle Association.

Many a victim has been killed with these souvenirs and many more may become victims of these needless killers. Children, with their natural curiosity for the unknown have in many instances been killed or seriously wounded and maybe crippled for life.

Gangsters and the underworld in the United States have in many instances armed themselves with war souvenir weapons. Their procedure is to find the owner of one of these guns and offer such an exorbitant price for it that he will sell simply because the price is so high. When other guns and weapons cannot be obtained due to the registration laws, this is the means that the bandit or would be bandit employs.

It is estimated that some 4,000 deaths will be the result of the misuse and careless handling of these souvenirs. Many lives have been lost in the past due to the mismanagement and misplacing of these lethal weapons.

For the sake of safety you too deactivate. There is no charge for this act you may save a life. A life is something that cannot be replaced. For more information on this contact the War Trophy Committee in your area.
