FIREMEN'S BALL XMAS EVE

The Firemen will entertain Christmas Eve in Carrizozo Community Hall with the biggest and best dance of the season. They want the biggest crowd in history present and are planning the best and finest dance since the organization years ago. Don't forget the date Christmas Eve, 1948.

Fire Chief Fay Harkney hopes to have not only local people present, but outsiders as well.

LOOKING AHEAD

Doing Things Together

"The American success is the story of large numbers of people doing something together. When an enterprise prospers, everybody connected with it prospers, and the success legend must be divided among them." The statement was made by Mr. Crawford Greenewalt, president of the Du Pont Company, who believes that America's unique position was achieved "not because we have more coal or more gold or more land, but because we have more incentive, more venture, more determination." Now, when the rest of us get out and talk that way, I believe that we will begin to see the greatness of America.

No More Accident
If management thinking at Du Pont is any key to the attitudes generally held in industry, I think we may all be encouraged to expect greater and greater things as America goes ahead year after year. Indeed, "the greatest good to the greatest number of people" is a description that just fits America. But it is no accident. It includes the ways we cooperate, capital with labor and labor with capital—until actually there are no differences.

Better Than Average
When you consider that persons willing to deny themselves put up their savings to the tune of $13,500 for each worker at Du Pont, you see how the stockholders cooperated. That makes a good solid investment behind the average Du Pont worker. It's higher than average. Proper and wise use of tools and human energy enabled this average worker to collect $10,000 for his part of production. That's higher than average.

Out of this $10,000 had to come costs of producing the goods. About 42 per cent, or $4,140, went for raw materials, power, and other necessary expense. This average worker himself was paid $3,330. The government tax bill was $1,030. There was still aside $730 to replace and modernize tools that wore out. All these costs came to $9,500, which taken from $10,000 leaves a profit of $1,100. On an investment of $13,500 that's about 8 per cent. That's not bad either.

What Makes America?
However, stockholders were asked to leave $280 of this profit in the business, making $13,780 for this average worker to use the following year. Stockholders were then paid $300 in dividends, or about a 6 per cent return on their money. This is the way that Du Pont's annual report reads, in terms of each worker. It represents wonderful coordination of the worker-management team. When you duplicate this many times, with big and little business, you've got what makes America.

The measure of America, then, is how well all of us cooperate. We've done a wonderful job in the past, despite misunderstandings here and there. This system, that permits us to use all our talents and all our resources, is sometimes called "free competitive enterprise." But it is also a wonderful adventure in cooperation. More than any other land today, more than can be found of any nation in history—we have succeeded in bringing "the greatest good to the greatest number of people."

TRAFFIC BOOM TO PUT MORE TRUCKS ON STATE ROADS

A nation-wide boom in motor carrier shipment is putting more trucks on New Mexico's highway's than at any time since invention of the gasoline engine.

With truckloading reported up 10 per cent or more over 1947, and promising to go even higher, the number of truck operating within the state's boundaries is expected to total 45,675 units in early 1949, according to an analysis by SKF Industries, Inc.

"This state total reflects the increasing dependence of the nation's commerce upon trucks" said Richard H. Demott, vice president of the ball and roller bearing firm who estimates that 1949 will find at least 7,250,000 trucks in service throughout the U. S. With the expansion of the motor truck's role in commerce, he added, has come a trend toward providing more "solid comfort" for the drivers.

Comfort is in fact, an outstanding feature of many of the trucks now rolling off assembly line, he explained, with special "cushioning" of both driver and loads against jolts, jerks and destructive vibrations that occur at high operating speeds.

One of a host of innovations designed to make the workaday routine of New Mexico's approximately 27,000 truck drivers more comfortable. These include seats mounted on hydraulic shock absorbers and equipped with foam rubber cushions that are adjustable into as many as five positions; roomier and air-conditioned cabs; larger windshields and windows for greater visibility; and better positioning of instruments and driving controls. Some of the ultra-modern two man trucks even have built in beds behind the drivers seat, radio and hot plates for making coffee.

INDIANS TO RACE TO SUN CARNIVAL

El Paso, Tex.—Dr. Robert Zingg anthropologist who is an authority on primitive Indian tribes in Mexico, left Saturday for Lamas Arlines on the first leg of a long junket into the Sierra Madre Mountains on behalf of the Southwestern Sun Carnival.

The Sun Carnival has retained Dr. Zingg to arrange a race to El Paso between the Tarahumara Indians. The Indians are famous for their long distance running and have been known to run as far as 300 miles without stopping.

Dr. Zingg hopes he will be able to arrange the race so that the winner will arrive in time for the start of the five-day carnival here on Dec. 29. It is possible, he said, that the race may prove to be the longest in history.

Dr. Zingg on arrival at Chihuahua City will go by train high into the Sierra Madre to the town of Cofeel. From there he will go by pack mule into the isolated mountainous terrain where the Indians make their homeland.

The Indians are the only remaining cave-dwellers in the western hemisphere. Their aptitude for running makes it possible for them in hunting to run a deer to death. Dr. Zingg spent a year with the Indians in 1930 on a grant from the University of Chicago.

QUESTION: Our water supply has so much iron in it that the wash looks yellow, especially sheets, pillow slips, towels, etc. The water doesn't seem hard, and it is easy to make good suds. Is there any help for the trouble?

ANSWER: Yes, but at a price. You need an iron removal unit in the water supply. For information on this unit, inquire of the Architects Samples exhibit, 101 Park Avenue, New York 17, (a non-commercial organization.)

QUESTION: How can I remove rust stains from rubber tile?

ANSWER: You may be able to make them less noticeable by rubbing with very fine steel wool moistened with a little water.

A cheerful Christmas note is the news that your Christmas budget can be made to perform wonders with little time and effort. Just write down the names of friends who smoke; then visit a neighborhood dealer. He'll be well stocked with gay cartons of mild, flavorful Camel cigarettes and pound tins of mild, mellow Prince Albert Smoking Tobacco—the National Joy Smoke. Both gifts come ready-dressed in colorful Christmas containers. You can even dispense with the usual fussing with cards, due to the novel space provided for personalized season's greetings on the wrappings of both items. Your budget will like these modest gifts. And your friends are certain to welcome holiday-sent Camels and Prince Albert! (Adv.)

Letters in the Bible

Lesson for December 12, 1948

A LETTER in the mail! Those are exciting words. It was so when the Babylonians chipped open their dried clay envelopes, it is so when we rip the end off our paper envelopes. It was so when the marooned and homesick Timothy broke the seal on the papyrus notes that his old friend and teacher Paul sent him. Most letters reach the Dr. Foreman wastebasket, and we know that some of Paul's did. But fortunately his friends thought enough of about a dozen of his letters to save them and copy them, and file them with some others and pass them around. And so we got more than a third of our New Testament, and perhaps a good deal more than a third of our theology.

Yesterday in Television

THESE letters that have come down to us from so long ago are not only keenly interesting, they are immensely valuable. An honest informal letter is like an open window. We see into the writer's mind and life, we see the life of his times. Any historian feels lucky when he lights on a packet of old letters. Here is yesterday in television.

The letters of the New Testament, especially Paul's, are not propaganda literature. Paul was not writing for publication or for posterity. He would be bothered by a problem; he would think and pray about it, and then he would sit down and write about it.

However trivial the problem might seem, such as a local church quarrel, Paul never wrote trivially about it. He would pour out his mind on papyrus, usually dictating his letters to a secretary and sometimes so fast that the secretary obviously had a hard time keeping up. If you want to know how an Apostle's mind worked, here it is. If you want to know how an inspired religious genius, one of the great of all time, planned and grieved and hoped and rejoiced, read these letters. Further, these letters tell us for us the early Christian church. This is not a view of the church on parade, this is a glimpse of the church as it was "on the hoof," struggling, quarreling, ignorant, scarce one step removed from raw heathenism, and yet with the root of Christian faith in its heart, the seed of the great church that has grown up through the centuries.

Friend to Friend

THE letters in the New Testament are of various kinds. The letter to the Philippians from Paul was written, from prison, to some of his best friends. Recently they had sent him not only money but a man named Epaphroditus to stay with Paul and help him, Paul being in constant bad health. But Epaphroditus himself had fallen ill, and when he grew better he was still homesick.

Paul, generous as always, decided to send his sick friend home to convalesce, and by his hand sent the letter which the Philippian church loved, saved and copied, so that it eventually made its way into the New Testament collection. There is some high theology in the letter; but there is also some warm human friendliness, and some of the best advice Paul ever gave. It is in this letter we discover Paul's secret of happiness. I have learned (he wrote) in whatsoever state I am, therein to be content. (See chapter 4.)

When you read those paragraphs, simply glowing with happiness, remember they were written by a sick man, in jail, facing a serious charge on his forthcoming trial. Paul had actually discovered a joy which is trouble-proof.

Father to Son
PAUL knew he would not live forever on this planet and could not live everywhere. So he spent much effort training helpers and successors. Some of these disappointed him sorely; but he was never disappointed in Timothy.

His letters to Timothy are personal, but they are more than that. They are advice from an older minister to a younger one, from a veteran missionary to a fresh recruit.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

Plan Your Christmas Goodies Now (See Recipes Below.)

Holiday Sweets

CHRISTMAS is the time when the larder is constantly raided and homemakers have to plan more than enough to take care of snack ideas the family comes up with at a moment's notice. Christmas is a time when goodies are in demand. Have several jars or tins of cookies ready if you want to keep the sweet tooth satisfied. With the gala recipes I'm giving you today, everyone is certain to be satisfied!

It isn't enough just to have several kinds of delectable cookies on hand. You'll need candies, too, and probably some festive popcorn balls to place on the tree.

THE FIRST of the recipes in this parade of holiday sweets is a chewy type that keeps well and is extra good eating. Make one recipe or two, but I guarantee that even that won't be enough as soon as the word gets around how really good Party Chews are:

Party Chews
(Makes 40 1 1/2-inch squares)
3/4 cup butter or substitute
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 cup sifted flour
2 eggs
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup shredded coconut
1 cup oven-popped rice cereal
1 cup chopped nut meats

Blend butter and sugar thoroughly. Add flour and mix. Press mixture on bottom of a shallow baking pan (9 x 13 inches). Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven about 15 minutes or until a delicate brown. Beat eggs well. Add sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture is light and fluffy. Add flavoring, salt and coconut. Blend in rice cereal and nut meats. Mix well and spread on baked crust. Bake in a moderate oven about 25 minutes. Remove from oven and cut into squares while warm.

Pecan Molasses Brownies
1/2 cup flour (1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons)
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup pecan meats
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1/2 cup pure dark molasses
1 egg

Sift flour, measure and sift twice with salt. Lightly mix in broken pecan meats, reserving a few whole ones for decoration. Cream butter and sugar thoroughly. Blend in molasses and well-beaten egg. Add dry ingredients and mix well. Place dough into a square pan (eight-inch) and arrange pecans on top of dough. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 20 minutes. Cut into small squares.

Pecan Cakes
(Makes 24 2-inch squares)
1 cup butter
1 cup sugar

Mushroom soup is a good braising liquid to use for veal steaks. When the steaks are tender, thicken the liquid and serve as gravy.
Have you ever tried cooking short ribs with tomato pulp, green pepper and a bit of garlic? The flavor's worth it!
If you have any small baskets left, these are excellent containers for popcorn balls, cookies or jelly and preserves.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

Baked Ham and Sweet Potatoes
Waldorf Salad Hot Rolls
Succotash Beverage
Pineapple Chiffon Pie

1 egg, separated
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
4 cups pecans, chopped

Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg yolk, then flour sifted with cinnamon; blend in pecans. Spread thin on a buttered flat tin. Beat egg white stiff and spread on top. Bake in a hot (375-degree) oven for eight to ten minutes, then cut in squares while still warm.

Maple Creams
1 cup maple sugar
1 cup light brown sugar
1/4 cup water
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
Walnut meats

Cook the sugars and water to the soft ball stage (245-degree); add almond extract. Cool to lukewarm, then beat until creamy but firm. Knead until smooth, form into small balls and press a walnut meat into each ball.

Chocolate Taffy
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup corn syrup
3/4 cup water
1 cup molasses
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
4 ounces chocolate, melted
1 tablespoon vanilla

Combine first six ingredients. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Cook to (230-degree) the soft-crack stage. Pour into a buttered pan and then pour chocolate over candy and its edges cool. Fold in the center. Add vanilla and use folding until cool enough to pull. Pull until cold and cut into pieces.

HERE IS a cookie which is very much like the praline for which the South is so famous.

Brazil Nut Patties
(Makes 36 patties 1 1/2-inches in diameter)
2 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 1/4 cups coarsely chopped Brazil nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Place two cups sugar and the milk in a saucepan. Have over low heat and stir until sugar is dissolved. While sugar syrup is cooking place remainder of sugar in a heavy saucepan and stir constantly over low heat until a light brown syrup is formed. Add to sugar syrup slowly and cook to 236 degrees or when a soft ball is formed when some of the syrup is dropped in cold water.

Remove from heat; add butter and beat until mixture thickens and begins to lose its gloss; add Brazil nuts and vanilla. Drop from tablespoon on heavy waxed paper. If candy gets too firm, add a tablespoon of water and place over heat, mixing until candy melts, then continue dropping from spoon.

If you have beverage glass trays, paint these red, green or white to freshen them. Place jelly glasses on these. Wrap the whole thing in cellophane and tie with gay ribbons.
Any white box can be decorated with stickers and stars to make a fine container for any food present.
Trays of fruit are beautiful to receive. Use assorted fruit, grapes, nuts, glasses of preserves or jelly, a few small packages of cookies and make your own gift.

Electric and Mechanical Toys
Electric toys should never be handled with wet hands. If a youngster has been playing in the rain or snow, he should put on dry clothing before playing with electric toys. A heavy mitten worn by a child when using a play electric iron or stove will help prevent hand burns. All electric toys should be of approved design and construction such as those bearing the label of the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. All electric toys should be maintained in a safe condition. At the first sign of a defect, the necessary repairs should be made or the toy discarded.

"We clung to life with our finger tips!"

Four of us were proceeding up Mobile Bay in a 26-foot cruiser when—crash!—our boat struck a submerged log! A hole gaped in the hull! We realized the boat would sink quickly!

We swung the craft around so that it foundered in fairly shallow water. There was a 40-mile an hour wind. Only the top of the cabin was above water.

We began signalling with a flashlight as darkness covered the bay. At last, a tanker got our distress signal and radioed a near-by Coast Guard station.

After we had clung to the cabin top for three hours, a Coast Guard boat arrived. We can thank our flashlight—and its long-lasting Eveready batteries—for our rescue!

Believe me I'll never use anything but Eveready batteries in my flashlight. They saved my life once and I know that you can't save them for long life and dependability.

For brighter light and longer life in your flashlight, insist on "Eveready" flashlight batteries—America's largest-selling brand!

OUR PUBLIC BUSINESS
New Mexico Tax Bulletin

State Taxes Collected

For the fiscal year ended June 30 1948, collections by state agencies under 24 specified taxes and licenses, amounted, to $41,570,879 (including employment security taxes of $3,208, 572). The amount may be compared with $35,243,204 collected in the year ended June 30, 1947. Approximately 40 per cent of these collections are returned to local units.

School Consolidation in Idaho

As a result of an educational survey in the state of Idaho by the George Peabody College Division of Field Surveys and Services, ten of the forty-four counties have reorganized their school districts into single county units, and ten other counties have made consolidation with a view to eventually reorganizing into single county districts.

School Budget Increase

For the current school year, ending June 30, 1949, the total of the budgets for all public elementary and high schools in the State is $25,720,085, including $22,192,778 in maintenance funds, $2,176,074 in direct charge funds, $245,003 for interest and $1,105,145 for retirement of bonds. For the year ended June 30, 1948 the total was $9,300, 000, including $7,559,656 for maintenance, $1,022,136 for direct charge $228,304 for interest, and $569,910 for retirement of bonds.

Property Reappraisal

According to Chief Tax Commissioner Harold Sellers, the $200,000 appropriation made for reappraising property in Bernalillo County cannot be completed until further funds are available. The contract agreement with Dee Donnell and Associates for the Bernalillo County project was $154,734, but only $63,000 was available, so that the additional amount needed will be approximately $90,000. Only 7 or 8 counties have been appraised under the $200,000 made available by the 1947 Legislature.

CAPITAN INVITATIONAL BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Capitan will hold an invitational basketball tournament beginning to lay with seven teams invited to furnishing the visitors rooms free of charge. Residents of Capitan are of charge in order that they may have a pleasant stay during the tourney.

More than $4,000,000,000 has been spent on veterans education and training programs under the G - I Bill and Public Law 16 since the start of the programs. More than half of this sum was spent during 1947.

Verdict's clear - it's the Buy of the Year

It's the Buick SUPER! With Dynaflo Drive!
With new room—a new outlook—and features—by-the-fistful that make it the season's top buy!

RIGHT away you know it's a Buick—and another style ten-strike.

And even from the outside you can sense something of its new roominess, something of the wonderfully wide view-of-the-world you get from full-curved windshield, narrow corner posts and stepped-up glass area.

But that just makes a start on the good news.

For the silken magic of sensationally successful Dynaflo Drive! is available at your option on all models of this '49 SUPER.

Every wheel rides on Buick's special soft coil springs. Every

OR DOES IT ALL—with Dynaflo Drive! You just set a lever, step on the gas and steer. The power plant itself, not shifting gears, delivers the power you need—for starting, accelerating, climbing, cruising, every driving condition.

tire is an oversize cushion mounted on a wider-than-usual rim. And every Dynaflo model has an extra plus in self-adjusting valve lifters that keep valves seating themselves just right.

Indeed, each detail—wide swinging doors, gracefully streamlined taillights, contoured rear bumper, Hi-Poised engine, fine rich finish—marks this as the year's standout car.

And the price tag? Matched against the field, it is almost a command to get your order in.

Check it and see. Your Buick dealer will be happy to oblige—and talk business whether or not you have a car to trade.

ROOM—WITH A VIEW! Seats are broad in this new Buick. And soft, so that there's extra room overhead. And windshields are a full 36 1/2 inches across, glass area is 4-door Seaters topped up 22 1/2!

BUICK alone has all these features
Silk-smooth DYNAFLOW DRIVE • FULL-VIEW VISION
SWING-EASY DOORS • "LIVING SPACE" INTERIORS with Deep-Cradle cushions
QUADREFLEX COIL SPRINGING • DUREX BEARINGS, main and connecting rods
Cruiser-Line VENTIPORTS (Super and Roadmaster) • Low-pressure tires on SAFETY-RIDE RIMS
FIREBALL STRAIGHT-THROU POWER on HI-POISED ENGINE MOUNTINGS
Ten model models featuring BODY BY FISHER.

Editorials- Dec. 16, 1938.

Columbia may be the Gem of the ocean, but Carrizozo is the Gem of the great Southwest.

Carrizozo is aglow with more Christmas lights than it has ever been our pleasure to see in this little Starlit Star of the Southwest. We have up to date schools, public and Catholic with a full corps of teachers. We have churches where all denominations may worship; four hotels; banking facilities; three hardware stores, ten groceries eleven service stations, two lumber dealers, two drug stores, two pool halls, two insurance firms one abstract company; lodges clubs. We are located in a famous mining district; we are surrounded by fine cattle sheep and goat ranches; we have one of the best country clubs in the state a live club of local business men. We are near the Lincoln National Forest, we have a fine healthful climate. We're the "Garden Sp. of the World".

Mrs. C. Carl and son Charles were El Paso visitors Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Goodson and Mrs. Bill Nickels were here Tuesday from Ancho shopping.

Mr. Dutton is in charge of laying new sidewalks by the City Park. New pavement, new business buildings and new enterprises give the town an appearance of progress.

VETERANS' NEWS

Failure to file monthly progress reports required by law has resulted in the suspension of subsistence allowances for many veterans training on the job in Colorado, Utah, Wyoming and New Mexico, the V A said.

VA reported that failure to comply with training regulations had interrupted subsistence payment on November 10 for an estimated 10 per cent of 9,000 veterans training on the job under the G-I Bill.

Students in educational institutions or on-farm training and disabled veterans training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act are not affected.

Regulations provide that progress reports must be prepared by each trainee and submitted to the trainer or employer, for certification and approval. The trainer in turn must transmit the report to the VA regional office in his state. The report must be received by the VA within 10 days after the end of the month. Failure to receive it results in suspension of subsistence payments. The account is held in suspension for 60 days and training is then discontinued if no report is has been received.

Clarifying regulations governing the guarantee and insurance of veterans' loans under the G-I Bill effective Dec. 15 were announced.

The changes pertain primarily to the relationship between VA and lenders who make G-I loans to veterans. They do not directly affect veteran borrowers whose loans are guaranteed or insured by VA.

The amendments are designed to clarify this relationship, particularly with respect to paying or compromising claims in connection with the government's guarantee of the loan.

Copies of the new regulations

HOOVER COMMISSION REPORT TO BE MADE AVAILABLE TO PUBLIC

The reports of the Hoover Commission on the organization of the executive branch of the government will be made available to the public in printed form; the Government Printing office announced. Advance subscriptions of $10.00 are now being accepted by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing office, Washington 25, D. C. The total number of publications has not been definitely determined, but forty to fifty documents are tentatively planned and will be issued at regular intervals early in 1949.

Because of the widespread interest in the reports of the Hoover Commission, the Superintendent of Documents established the advance subscription plan so that interested persons may receive publications as soon as released. This arrangement will also eliminate the need for placing orders for individual reports, and subscribers for the entire set will also have priority in case the demand exceeds the supply of any publication.

The documents will include the reports and recommendations of Hoover Commission and also the "task force" studies. Tentative subjects to be covered are: Executive services, fiscal budgeting and accounting, national security organization, foreign affairs, post office medical services, and Indian affairs.

Other reports will cover National resources, public works, revolving funds, federal project financing agriculture, veterans, lending agencies and federal state relations.

and explanatory bulletins concerning them, are available at any VA Regional Office.

WOOL GROWERS CAMPAIGN TO PREVENT MISUSE OF TERM 'MOHAIR'

Application to the Federal Trade Commission will be made by Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, The National Wool Growers Association and The American Wool Council. The determination to initiate the campaign was decided upon after speeches by Nathaniel Duval of the Massachusetts Mohair Plush Company of Boston, and F. Eugene Ackerman, Textile Consultant and Executive Director of the American Wool Council. Mr. Duval explained the extent of the misuse of the term "Mohair" in upholstery fabrics containing only small percentages of the fiber. He urged the name "Mohair" be protected not only in the interest of Mohair Growers and Manufacturers selling Mohair, but also in the interest of the public, which, he said was being sold upholstery which gives inferior use and service. Mr. Ackerman emphasized the necessity for fiber identification in all fabrics as an essential for honest merchandising.

The resolution as adopted follows: Resolved: That the Mohair Raising Industry of the nation is being seriously threatened and that the consuming public is being deceived through the sale of inferior upholstery and other fabrics falsely declared to be Mohair, which actually contain only minor percentages of Mohair.

TWO STATE LAWYERS ARE NAMED TO BOARD OF BAR EXAMINERS

Two New Mexico attorneys were named to newly-created positions on the state board of bar examiners.

The action came to a joint meeting of members of the state supreme court, the board of bar commissioners and the bar examiners.

The groups voted to increase membership on the board of bar examiners from three to five to handle an increasing number of applications from prospective attorneys.

Appointed to the board were Frank Andrews of Santa Fe and W. C. Whately of Las Cruces.

They will serve with Byron Johnson of Albuquerque, chairman, L. C. White of Santa Fe and Hiram Dow of Roswell.

The group also voted to increase application fees for persons seeking admission to the state bar.

They boosted from $25 to $35 the fee for those just out of law school or who have not previously practiced law; from $50 to $75 the fee for those who have practiced in other states but who are not qualified for admission on certificate or motion; and from $100 to $125 the fee for those qualified for admission on motion.

Fight or Die

Why has America more national income than any other six nations you can name? Why do more American youth have a chance to go to high school and college than go in all the rest of the world put together? Why do American workers have the highest wages in all the world? Here are some of the reasons: we have the right to own property, to operate our own businesses and compete with each other, to invest capital in industrial tools.

Moreover, we Americans can work at the job we like, wherever we like, with equal justice for all. If we keep these liberties, preserve constitutional government, and maintain freedom of individual opportunity, it will be possible for us to double our wages and standards of living, as we did during the last generation. If we turn to government management and thus kill our incentives, we can expect wages and living standards to go down 50 per cent below the present level.

Stakes Are High

Step by step America is being pushed in that direction. A few more steps, and we may find ourselves under such pressure that we cannot avoid socialism, and the communism that follows it. Our people must understand these facts. More important, we must be active in preserving the fundamentals of our American way of life.

The price is still "eternal vigilance." Are we willing to fight valiantly by every means: platform, radio, press, screen, and conversation — to preserve America's freedoms? If so, we can keep our freedoms. Otherwise, they will pass away, as from Greece and Rome. It takes a valiant heart. Those who win are those who fight.

LOOKING AHEAD

President—Harding College

It Pays to Fight

Everybody loves a fighter. For that reason, the popularity of Harry S. Truman is running pretty high at this time. All the pollsters, all the misled, have had their say: President Truman was the man who wouldn't be licked! Mr. Truman was apparently the only candidate who really took the opinion polls to heart. While the general public was being lulled to sleep by everybody's opinion as to the outcome of the election, Candidate Truman got in there and fought.

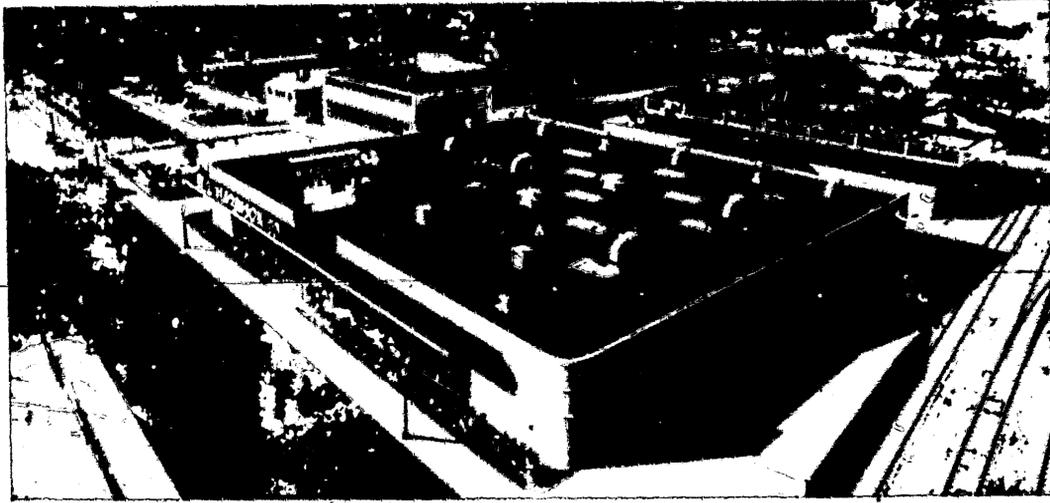

An American Ideal

Preferences for candidates in the voting on November 2 were not the same as reported by the poll takers before election. What happened? My guess is this: a larger percentage of those who favored a fighting man went out to vote than was the case with those favoring the non-fighter, who thought he would be elected anyhow. In other words, the opinion polls were interpreted by each candidate—by Mr. Truman in a way that helped elect Mr. Truman and by Mr. Dewey in a way that defeated Mr. Dewey.

The important thing is that the fighting man won. This is an old American principle: The man who works the hardest, who never-says-die, is favored in the struggle for success. Our nation has been built by heroes, sung and unsung, who lived by that rule. May I submit that in these critical times, it will not be possible for America to keep her traditional place as the most favored of lands, unless Americans are willing to take up the fight.

What can I do about the high cost of living?

Three things will help: Spend wisely, keep out of debt, and save regularly. Until the supply of scarce goods increases, by only what you need now, borrow only if you must, add to your bank account every pay day and buy more U. S. Savings Bonds. Enlist in the nation-wide fight against high prices.

INDIANS TO RACE TO SUN CARNIVAL

El Paso, Tex.— Dr. Robert Zingg, anthropologist who is an authority on primitive Indian tribes in Mexico, left Saturday by Lamas Airlines on the first leg of a long junket into the Sierra Madre Mountains on behalf of the Southwestern Sun Carnival.

The Sun Carnival has retained Dr. Zingg to arrange a race to El Paso between the Tarahumara Indians. The Indians are famous for their long distance running and have been known to run as far as 360 miles without stopping.

Dr. Zingg hopes he will be able to arrange the race so that the winner will arrive in time for the start of the five-day carnival here on Dec. 28. It is possible, he said, that the race may prove to be the longest in history.

Dr. Zingg on arrival at Chihuahua City will go by train high into the Sierra Madres to the town of Creel. From there he will go by pack mule into the isolated mountainous terrain where the Indians make their homeland.

The Indians are the only remaining cave-dwellers in the western hemisphere. Their aptitude for running makes it possible for them in hunting to run a deer to death. Dr. Zingg spent a year with the Indians in 1930 on a grant from the University of Chicago.

RULES OF ETIQUETTE OK, BUT RULES OF ROAD GOOD BET

The American public has high regard for the rules of etiquette in the drawing room, but another code of conduct enjoys less esteem—the rules of the road.

That is the conclusion of the National safety Council after a check of the nation's traffic accident statistics, which show that in almost every accident one or more drivers were violating some traffic law.

A speed violation was a contributing factor in one out of every three fatal accidents. Drivers under the influence of alcohol were reported in 8 per cent of all fatal accidents. Other improper driving contributed to one-half the fatal mishaps according to the Council.

Education Planned

The frequency of traffic law violations has led the Council to sponsor a "Know Your Traffic Laws" educational effort in February as part of the continuing national accident prevention campaign. Hundreds of local groups are co-operating.

Persons who would be embarrassed using the wrong fork frequently fail to get in the proper lane for a turn. Aman who always removes his hat in the presence of ladies very likely will ignore the simple courtesy of hand signals when driving.

"Rules of the road are far more important than the rules of etiquette," the Council says. "They not only make for gracious living, they make for living period!"

The Council says the most frequent law violation is failure to yield the right-of-way. Here are some points to remember:

1. A car already entering an intersection has the right-of-way.

Uncle Sam Says

Many of my nieces and nephews are going to wake up this day after Christmas and realize they are broke. Many thousands of others will awaken to find they are well on the way to financial security. And the difference will be found in the regular, automatic purchases of U. S. Savings Bonds. And the nice part of this is that it can happen to you. If you're not saving money as you'd like to, and you know you ought, get on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. You'll have $4 for every $3 you invest, in only ten years. If self-employed, your bank will enroll you for the Bond-a-Month Plan. Sign now and part of your pay check is put into safe, sure, profitable U. S. Savings Bonds before you get a chance to spend it.

KITCHEN KOMMENT

A new aid to the housewife is a cotton cover using a mop fringe for its bottom. The cover fits over the bottom of a broom to form a dusting mop for walls and ceilings. The bag-like cover can be snapped into place very easily, or removed for washing.

If cotton terry towels become snagged, slip the snag at the surface; never pull the thread. Protect towels from sharp points or surfaces such as splintery clothsprings and rough towel racks to give longer life.

Cuffs from worn-out shirts make perky shoulder pads in cotton housedresses when they are quilted on a sewing machine.

A South Carolina housewife says rust on kitchen slicers, food choppers, and knives can be prevented by brushing with salad oil.

To remove finger marks around a doorway, use a cotton cloth dipped in kerosene and then wipe with another cloth squeezed out in hot water.

It's a fine deal to be a pal of your son. But not many fathers are successful at it. The arrangement seldom suits sonny.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

President Hints Controls on Way As Cost of Living Drops Slightly; Western Mutual Aid Pact Prepared

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

DILEMMA: Sharp-Horned

Perched uncomfortably astride a dilemma having the sharpest horns ever to plague a sinner, President Truman ponders ways and means of getting off. The situation is as clearly defined as it is bothersome. IN SHORT, the president must work the seemingly impossible miracle of knocking prices down while keeping wages and farm prices up. Mr. Truman is indubitably committed to the former, and it was a great majority of opinion that he could do just that which helped account for his victory. That he will also do the latter is a campaign pledge he must exert every effort to keep.

No less a personage than Henry Ford II has sharpened one of the horns. The industrialist touched off the "fourth round" of wage increases, with consequent high-prices maintenance, when he announced a wage hike for all his workers. Then, Mr. Ford delivered himself of the observation that wages generally must go up and that prices must do likewise.

THE PATTERN is clear. Industry raises wages and the cost of its products goes up. Wages must increase if these products are to be purchased. Labor comes in to ask for more money in order to buy these products. And so the circle continues.

Meanwhile, it is obvious that Americans expect the President and congress to do something about getting the cost of living within reasonable bounds—and to do it quick. On the other hand, labor, which backed Mr. Truman at the polls, and farmers, who generally supported him, are expecting action as swift on legislation favorable to them.

As administration leaders sought a course of action to satisfy all groups, congress said little for public consumption. Methods of price control, if any have been conceived, have not been discussed.

ONE THING, however, is clear. The situation poses the major test of how effective in solving the problem will be the cooperation of congress and the President.

From Capitol Hill came persistent whispering that Mr. Truman's thumping victory did not necessarily arm him with the equivalent of a magic wand which he might wave over congress to bring about legislation in any form he may desire.

Solution?

Then there was a break on the inflation front. Americans who had come to accept the inevitability of the high cost of living raised their eyes with surprise over the development—although it amounted to only the merest chink in the price barricade.

TWO THINGS happened almost simultaneously:

President Truman ordered administration agencies to work out a "definite" anti-inflation program to be presented to the Democratic congress in January, and the bureau of labor statistics reported a dip of one-half of 1 per cent in its cost-of-living index for October.

The significance of Mr. Truman's proposal for anti-inflation legislation was established; it was something to look forward to. But how much real importance should be attached to the almost infinitesimal break in the price line would remain to be seen.

FOR ONE thing, the price dip—unless it grew to miraculous proportions—would not cancel out any anti-inflation measures, such as "standby" price control and rationing, which might be imposed.

Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's council of economic advisors, opined that a lowering of prices, wailing out the need for drastic controls, would be "swell." But he didn't predict it would happen.

Another top fiscal official said he believed inflationary forces still had the upper hand. And Chester Bowles, one-time OPA boss, stated that congress "unquestionably" would act against inflation.

The precise nature of the program President Truman will lay before congress in January was not yet known—probably not yet determined. Its general outline probably will be made public when he delivers his "State of the Union" message in January.

But there was little doubt that a return to more or less stringent economic controls was in the cards for 1949.

Atlantis Debunked

If you take the word of Dr. Maurice Ewing of Columbia University, everyone who's been waiting around for the fabled "lost continent" of Atlantis to show up may now relax. Dr. Ewing says he has mapped, photographed, probed, sounded and visited the ocean floor since 1930, and there just isn't any evidence of the mysterious continent. Atlantis was believed to have sunk in a great prehistoric cataclysm.

Global Christmas

People of the nations of the earth are going to see Christmas from an American viewpoint this year through the medium of typical American Christmas greeting cards being sent by the state department to U. S. embassies and consulates throughout the world. Here Miss Frances Kane, state department employee, sits below an enlarged photograph of the cards.

GOOD LUCK, MRS. KASENKINA . . . TREATY: Mutual Aid

The cold freeze being turned on Russia by the western nations plummeted several more degrees when Great Britain, France and the three Benelux nations, after long negotiations, agreed on a 17-point mutual assistance pact.

THAT the U. S. is involved in the agreement goes almost without saying, for without American sanction and at least an implied willingness to help out militarily in the event of aggression no western Atlantic treaty would be worth a "whereas" or even a "hereinafter."

Primary proposal in the plan calls for a pledge of mutual armed assistance by the U. S., Canada and the five western European nations in case one or more of them should be attacked.

SECONDLY, it provides that the pact be left open to membership of certain other nations. It calls, also, for the setting up of military and political boards—immediately after the pact's signature and ratification—to make the treaty operate.

Containing 17 points in all, the program of "agreed opinions" has been presented to the U. S. and Canada for consideration. There was no immediate reaction from the two governments on the matter, but it seemed logical to presume that the idea for such a treaty had received their prior blessings.

Although the pact in its present form refrains from designating a fixed period of years for its life, it does recommend "a long duration." Actually, the five European governments have been thinking in terms of a 50-year period, but the decision on that is being left to the last stage of negotiations.

RUSSIA as a nation—peaceful or belligerent—is scrupulously ignored in the document. Nowhere is any mention made of the Soviet Union.

Nevertheless, the treaty itself offers grim proof of the fact that the western democratic nations have seen fit to construct the nucleus of a great regional defensive alliance against Russia and the spread of communism.

PEACEABLE: Party Line

The official "line" of the Communist party has gone off on a new tangent in a tactic described as a "peace offensive" by U. S. intelligence authorities who reported the switch.

WORD IS that the Kremlin has ordered peace propaganda and demonstrations of various kinds as the official party line for all Communist parties, organs and front organizations. The intelligence boys claimed that this ostensible about-face would become apparent in the near future.

Soviet rulers are supposed to be setting the stage for a world-wide "peace" maneuver as part of their cold war strategy to embarrass the United States and its western allies in the clash over the Berlin situation.

How much will this spurious peace offensive mean? Literally nothing, as far as any genuine desire or effort for peace is concerned. The Russians haven't undergone a change of heart; their aims are the same as always.

KEEP DIGGING: No Tax Cut

All hope for an income tax cut in January may as well be ruled out now. This is on the authority of Sen. Walter F. George (D., Ga.) who is returning to chairmanship of the senate finance committee. He has said that increased aid to Europe and additional funds for national defense would bar any reductions. He estimated that ERP would get an additional one or two billion dollars.

WRIGHT PLANE RETURNS . . . The famous Wright brothers plane "Kitty Hawk" is shown as it arrived at ceremonies at the Freer art gallery in Washington. The ceremonies were attendant to the plane's being brought to its final resting place in the Smithsonian institute following its long return journey from Great Britain to the United States.

SAUERKRAUT BOWL . . . An exotic transplant in American football, "Sauerkraut" collectors in the "Sauerkraut Bowl" clash at Frankfurt, Germany. The Rhineland "Rockets" and the "Red Raiders" of the 14th anniversary are shown laughing in the Frankfurt stadium November 14, with a Raider ball-carrier getting dumped. German youth is rapidly taking to this new sport, taught them by occupation forces.

THE FICTION CORNER WALTER BUTTON'S IDEA

Walter loved his wife but wished she did not neglect herself or give herself so wholly to the art for which he knew she had no talent.

WALTER BUTTON put the last spoonful of plum pudding into his mouth and swallowed slowly. Under the edge of his plate he tucked a generous tip and pushed his chair back from the table.

On the way home he reflected about the meal he had just finished. Emma, his wife, wouldn't approve of such extravagance. But it had been worth it.

Business had kept him in town several hours past his usual quitting time. He had phoned Emma to say that he would be late and would grab a bite to eat on the way home.

He turned his car into the drive that led to his small, unpretentious home. As he locked the garage he noticed a bright light upstairs in the bedroom. Walter shrugged his shoulders disgustedly.

Walter entered the house and went upstairs. It would be best to let her know immediately that he was home.

Emma's harsh, unpleasant voice greeted him before he was in the room. "Haven't got anything for you to eat?" She was busily dabbling away at a canvas, her hair rumpled and her face smudged.

"That's all right, Emma," replied Walter. "I stopped in at the Regal restaurant after work."

"What! The Regal restaurant!" cried Emma. "Walter Button, you know good and well we can't afford such fancy places!"

"It was a very good meal, Emma," answered Walter, his voice meek and low.

"I don't doubt it one little bit," his wife said with as much sarcasm in her tone as possible. "For the kind of prices they charge the food should be fit for a king."

"Rainbow!" Emma shrieked. "That just shows how much you know about art!" Walter shifted his feet uneasily.

"Well, what is it, if it's not a rainbow?" he cautiously inquired. "It's an abstract painting," said Emma, "though of course you wouldn't understand that. It represents a slice of bacon frying in a pan."

Walter looked at the picture again and muttered something under his breath. "What did you say?" asked Emma, suspiciously.

"I just said I think I'll go downstairs and read awhile," said Walter. His wife sniffed contemptuously. "Those silly detective stories!"

Walter gave no indication that he heard her last statement. He went downstairs and picked out a magazine from the supply on his desk. With a sigh of contentment he settled down in his comfortable, if old, Morris chair. This is the kind of recreation a person should have, he told himself. It was long past midnight when he finally layed down his reading and went to bed.

The great idea came to Walter at breakfast the next morning. He had come down ravenously hungry. Gloomily, Walter looked at his plate. The bacon was only half done. The eggs, however, were fried so hard that they were crisp. The toast, too, was burned and the orange juice had been poured into an unwashed glass that had contained milk the night before.

"There must be some way to get Emma to improve her cooking," he pondered. "And I wish she'd watch her looks more." Emma often lounged around the house with her hair unkempt and her face soiled from household chores. She was also getting stout. He vividly remembered the few occasions when he had dared to criticize Emma's ways of doing things.

Suddenly he knew what he would do. It would take quite a bit of trouble and effort on his part but it would be worth it if it worked. He managed to choke down the breakfast, and in a matter of minutes he was in his car, and on his way to the office.

Walter had found through long experience that the best time for him to think was when he was driving along by himself. Long before he reached a parking place his plan had taken form. He would have a talk with Emma. A long, heart-to-heart talk. He would be tactful, but firm. He'd tell her that she must improve her cooking and her appearance—or else. (Just what "else" meant, Walter didn't quite know himself.) But—and here's where the brilliance of his plan was evident—first he must prepare for the talk with Emma. In the past, Emma had always countered with a long list of his faults whenever he mentioned one of hers. As a result, Walter got nowhere with his line of attack. "This time," he promised himself, "it's going to be different."

"I'll keep a list of all the poor meals she cooks. And I'll mark down each time she forgets to do her hair or wash her face. Then I'll have some concrete evidence to show her when I get ready. But

"Y" for a brisk workout or swim. Color came back to his cheeks and there was a new spring in his step.

In the evenings he cut down the time he spent in reading detective stories. He made it a point to ask Emma if there was anything around the house that needed repairing. If there was, he fixed it quickly and efficiently. Before he retired for the night he laid out his clothing for the next day, selecting his apparel with unusual care. At the office he worked conscientiously and took pains to turn out more than was expected. His boss soon took notice of this and hinted that Walter could soon look forward to a "nice little raise."

One Sunday morning Walter woke up with the satisfying realization that he had, indeed, transformed himself into a "new man." He arose and dressed rapidly but with care. He displayed pardonable pride as he looked at himself in the mirror. Today would be the day. He'd have that talk with Emma. She'd have nothing to say. No excuses. She wouldn't be able to find a thing wrong with him in return. He busied himself in the living room while Emma prepared breakfast. While he tidied his desk and bookcase, he thought of what he would say. When his wife called "Breakfast, Walter," he felt that his speech was all prepared. He politely pulled out her chair at the table. Then he sat down himself. I'll wait, he thought, until we're almost through with the meal.

It took Walter only a few mouthfuls to realize that this was quite a breakfast. Golden-brown waffles, light and fluffy with plenty of maple syrup. The chilled orange juice was served in a sparkling clean glass. Delicious sausage patties were also on his plate. And that toast! Done to a delicate brown. What sort of magic was this?

He glanced at Emma, then back at the tastefully prepared food and back to Emma again. Her hair was gracefully arranged. Her face was immaculately clean and just the right amount of make-up brought out the natural beauty that Walter had almost forgotten was there. She was wearing a neat house dress and she appeared, decidedly slimmer.

He finished breakfast in silence. He was wide eyed with amazement. Forgotten was his speech, his "heart-to-heart" talk.

After only one cup of coffee, he went hastily upstairs to the bedroom. He must have time to think. What had caused this change in Emma? It must have been gradual.

He sat on the edge of the bed and stared at the walls. Something was missing. For an instant he couldn't figure it out. Then he knew. The paintings. They were gone. And there was no trace of the brushes or the easel. Not even a paint can. He couldn't stand it any longer. Down the stairs he raced. Emma was in the kitchen, washing dishes. "Emma," he said. "I must talk with you."

She looked up and smiled. "What is it, Walter?" He gulped and blurted out, "I've got a confession to make, Emma." And he told her. The whole story. When he was done, his wife was silent for a long minute. Then she spoke.

"Walter, dear, when you started to make yourself over a few weeks ago, I began to take stock of myself. And I decided that there were many things that should be changed for the better. It hasn't been easy but I've enjoyed every minute of it, especially when I realized you weren't noticing because you were so intent on yourself."

Walter groped for a chair and sat down heavily. He was still in a pleasant state of bewilderment. "Oh, Walter," said Emma, "one thing more. I've given up my hobby of oil painting. I'd like to do some reading. Could you recommend a good detective story for me?"

She looked up and smiled. "What is it, Walter?"

before I start on this list, I'm going to concentrate on improving myself so she won't have any comeback." He was talking aloud to himself in the solitude of his car.

The hours dragged by at the office at a pace which seemed much slower than usual. Walter could hardly wait to get home and put his scheme into operation. At lunch time he hurried out and bought himself the new necktie that he had admired in a window display. All afternoon his mind spun with excitement. He'd show Emma!

THE next two weeks were busy ones for Walter. In fact, he was so busy that he almost forgot Emma's cooking and her appearance. Each morning he arose a full hour earlier than had been his custom so that he would have time to shave more carefully, comb his hair with great exactness and shine his shoes until they gleamed. During the day he practiced good posture, walking and sitting with his chest out, stomach in and back straight. Each day after work he would stop in at the

Salesman Vacuum-Cleans Herd of 46 Dairy Cows

A vacuum cleaner manufacturing firm reports that one of its products increased the output of a dairy herd. The 46 bovines were infested with lice. Using a cleaner with a furniture brush attachment, a company salesman cleaned the entire herd and burned the leavings. Milk production increased about 25 per cent.

Uncle Sam Says

Every well-managed home maintains a financial reserve as security against future needs and emergencies. You may feel secure behind your own little bulwark—your job, your earnings, your savings. But you also want a safe and sure way to protect all these and that is through the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds. The practice of putting away financial reserves into safe and profitable savings bonds should be a permanent and definite part of your savings program. Enroll now for the Payroll Savings Plan for buying Bonds where you work, or, if self-employed, for the Bond-a-Month Plan at your bank.
