Polio Chairman Mails Coin Cards; All Asked to Give

The desperate need for a record 1949 March of Dimes campaign has been stressed by all campaign chairmen.

Chairman for Lincoln County is Mrs. J. P. Turner who urges that every one give something to this cause.

The care for polio victims during the past few years has become more complicated and much more expensive.

Before the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was organized in 1938 polio patients were treated by a general physician and nurse. But research has discovered the complexity of this crippling disease. Instead of one doctor and a nurse the victim is aided by as many as 8 scientific experts, now. The Pediatrician, Orthopedist, Doctor of physical medicine, nurse, physical therapist and a psychological consultant all join in and the scientific knowhow has been gained at great cost.

It is a great help for the local chapters to be able to share this expense by the generous contributions of their friends.

The following local chairmen have been named: Ruidoso, Mrs. L. Bloodworth, Mrs. Surgines, Mrs. Eujen; Capitan, Mrs. Fletcher Hall, Jr.; Corona, Mrs. Geraldine Perkins; Ancho, Mrs. Jackie Silvers.

BONDS PURCHASED BY LINCOLN COUNTY RESIDENTS IN CALENDAR YEAR 1948

S. E. Greisen, County Chairman, U. S. Savings Bonds Committee, announces that residents of this county invested $97,011 in Series E Bonds during the calendar year 1948. "If held to maturity, these Bonds will increase in value to $130,148 which will add to the comforts of old age, pay for education of children, buy new homes or businesses, and make possible extended travel. And all the while, the holders will have added financial security, with a fund readily convertible to cash for use in emergencies", said Mr. Greisen.

Residents and organizations of this county invested 8,140 in Series F Bonds last year, and $43,800 in Series G Bonds. Holders of G Bonds will receive a check semi-annually for interest at the annual rate of 2 1/2 per cent.

"Compared to relatively high incomes received by people in this county, the amount saved and invested in Savings Bonds is not large", continued Mr. Greisen. "In succeeding years, the people who will profit most from present high incomes will be those thrifty ones who saved part of their present cheap dollars for spending later when they will buy more," concluded Mr. Greisen.

Edwin G. Hobbs, State Director of the Savings Bonds Division, reports that in 1947 residents of this county placed $100,118 in U. S. Savings Bonds of all three series, and $70,095 in Series E. In 1946, the total was $111,039, of which $102,669 was in Series E, which included some late sales of the Victory Loan Drive. In the state during 1948, $9,222,500 was invested in Series E Bonds, $872,000 in Series F, and $3,359,700 in Series G, making a total of $13,454,200.

Mrs. Albert Snow was a Roswell visitor Tuesday.

Every organization in the county has helped and each individual has done his bit to bring the hospital building funds to a successful close.

His Growing Years

Lesson for January 16, 1949

DOUBTLESS God can do anything he wants to do. He could have sent Jesus to earth on a moon-beam; he could have had him for the first 30 years of his life on a lonely peak in the Andes, far from any human dwelling; he could have sent him into the world full-grown, without ever having to go through the grind of growing and learning as the rest of us do.

But God did not plan it that way. If the manhood of Jesus was to be real, and not a hothouse facsimile, he had to come up the hard way. Angels do not grow, they just are; but human beings grow. The great difference between Jesus and ordinary mortals is not that they grow and he did not; the difference is that he grew straight.

No 'Good Chance'

THE world around us makes its impression on us; it makes no impression on dolls. They go on smiling their built-in, painted-on smiles, but we have to learn through tears. And so did Jesus. The heavenly Father saw to it that his experiences were not always easy ones. He was born in a stable, of parents who were very poor, living the first few years of his life as a displaced person in a foreign country, with a price on his baby head.

He grew up in a village "off the main line," among commonplace not one of whom ever became famous, working through long years at a simple and not too well-paid trade. During Jesus' first 30 years his neighbors never guessed that the most extraordinary person of history was living in their village.

We sometimes wish that we had an easier time of it, and that God had seen fit to cast our lot in some big city with a rich family, instead of where we are. We feel we could be better people if we "had a chance." Yet every reader of these lines has a far better chance than Jesus. It did not take perfect surroundings to shape a perfect life.

Holy Family

WE CALL Joseph and Mary and the rest the "Holy Family," but they were not known that way in Nazareth. They were just Joseph the carpenter, and his Mary. Then there were the boys and girls; Mark, (6:3) tells the boys' names, but no one ever remembered to put down "the sisters' names. Even then it was no small family. Jesus, as the oldest of seven, would have many responsibilities. After Joseph's death he would be the chief breadwinner. Seeing that the rent was paid, that there was grain in the house for Mary to grind into meal, finding money for clothes for seven growing children—this could not have been easy for Jesus the young carpenter.

They were not an easy family to live with, these boys and girls. When Jesus later began his work of teaching and healing, we hear that even his brothers did not believe in him. But in spite of the brothers, there was always Mary. Mother-like, she loved her first-born as no other could or did.

There are some who worship her as "Queen of Heaven;" but it is enough for us to remember that she was queen of the home where Jesus, the child grew to be Jesus the man. Not this side of heaven can we know how much we owe, as Christians, to this one woman, whose mind and spirit were woven into the thought and spirit of her Son.

Home Memories

INDEED, Jesus' whole boyhood I was woven into his manhood. Among life's most precious memories are those of our growing years. Later on, we can see how Jesus' mind was bright with memories of home. The parables of the patched garment, of the leaven hidden in the meal, of the poor woman hunting with a lamp for her one lost coin, of the hungry neighbor at midnight, of the son who said "I go" but did not go—these and many others may well be echoes of Jesus' boyhood home. Deeper than these are Jesus' habits of prayer, his fondness for calling God "Father," his familiarity with Scripture even in death's agony—here surely are patterns learned in childhood's growing years.

Care, Clever Decorative Bits Can Freshen Up Your Wardrobe

By Etta Haley

AFTER THE HOLIDAYS, before the winter season comes to a close, you may take a look at your wardrobe and wonder just how you can make it do before it's time for new clothes.

You'll be happy to learn that a bit of care administered to the right spots, a new scarf or pair of gloves that adds color, or perhaps a new blouse that lifts the skirt out of the doldrums, are all that you'll need.

Now, before you get downright depressed about your wardrobe is the time to give them those refreshing touches. Check each garment methodically and see what it needs most. Then make out a schedule so that all the work can be covered in a few days or at least less than a week.

If dresses or coats, which have nothing particularly the matter with them, don't look just-right to you, whisk them off to the cleaners. It's surprising what a difference there is between clean and unclean clothes!

If you've been giving your silk and rayon blouses a quick cleaning, plan to give them more attention in both washing and ironing

Flattering Beret

A sophisticated, forward beret of steel gray felt is designed for the season by Fagan hats. Cook-ades of pleated gray grosgrain are artfully placed to give height and flattery while the short veil gives a softness of effect.

like a fur collar and cuffs on it, or just the former.

Wide full skirts for teen agers will take on a new look if you place a wide piece of quilting at the bottom of the skirt. This is a very new touch and very effective.

Dresses that are not quite long enough might take a contrasting colored hem of grosgrain or some such material. Or, if you like the cuffed effect that is featured on so many skirts, use this piece of the same material as the skirt. Sew it on but place buttons around the hem so that it looks as though it were buttoned rather than sewed on the dress.

How to Refresh Your Woolens

Garments will take on new life if they are properly cleaned. If you can't give them a dry cleaning at home, then have it done professionally.

If the cleaning does not add life to them, here's what you can do. First, brush the garment thoroughly. Now turn it on the reverse side and place a damp cloth over it. Go over every inch, using a warm or moderately warm iron. Do not iron until the pressing cloth is dry, for the nap of the garment will not stand up as well as though you had just pressed it leaving the cloth only somewhat damp.

When fabrics have become slightly stiff from frequent washings, such as happens sometimes with rayons, there are ways to restore some of the original finish. Use gum arabic for rayons. Dissolve one tablespoon of the substance in one quart of warm water. Dip the fabric in the solution after regular rinsing. Dry and prepare for ironing as usual.

Velveteens gain new life with this trick: take a piece of scotch tape and wind it around a glass with the sticky side up. Run this over the material, changing tape as soon as it gets dirty.

Both velvet and velveteens are refreshed by hanging in the bathroom and turning on hot water to create steam. This is the way to remove creases from them. Use the same treatment for hats of these materials.

Other Garments Need Special Attention

Sweaters sometimes get weary after long hard wear during the cool weather. If they have shrunk because of careless washing and are not thoroughly clean, have them done professionally as this will restore some of their original beauty.

You'll find that some sweaters will look better after washing and drying, if you go over them with an iron and a pressing cloth that is damp. Do this on the wrong side, just as you treat woolen clothing. Gloves should come in for their share of mending and cleaning just as other pieces of clothing. Purses should be brushed weekly and have their spots removed as they appear. Have clasps and fasteners changed as they show the need for it.

Felt hats should receive a thorough brushing, and ornaments may be changed as they need freshening. Veils on any kind of hat take on new life if you lay the veil against waxed paper and press with a warm iron.

Shoes may be refreshed by the repair shop if you cannot take care of the finish at home. However, there are good suede and leather cleaners that can do admirably if used properly. Change bows and ornaments if these have been banged out of shape.

Most scarves can be washed just like clothing. Apply gentle laundering methods inasmuch as most of them are delicate.

Buttons, buckles and belts take a lot of wear, and if they are shabby, it's a small matter to change them for new ones rather than repair them.

Splendid Cough Relief Is Easily Mixed at Home

To get quick and satisfying relief from coughs due to colds, mix this recipe in your kitchen. Once tried, you'll never be without it.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 1/4 cup of Pinex from any drug store. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its quick action on throat and bronchial irritations.

Put the Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint of splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. Never spoils. Tastes fine. And for quick, blessed relief, it is surprising. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy and lets you sleep. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

If cottons are looking a bit peaked, see what a good girding and starching will do for them.

If buttons are weary, or lace or ruffles shabby, change these. All of these are minor repairs, it's true, but you'll be amazed at how really effective they are in many cases.

Tricks for Hems, Collars Refresh Garments

Many a winter coat will take on new life if you change the collar or hem by adding new fur to it. This is especially true if the coat is not new.

High-standing, small collars are very popular on princess style coats. They don't take much fur, are easy to put on, and are very effective.

If you have a suit, this, top, might be smarter if you add a touch of fur to it. This may be circled around the hem or a few inches above it. It should be of a narrow flat type.

Be Smart!

There are ever so many tricks in jewelry this season! For one, leading jewelers have dreamed up this switch from pendant to pin. Wear a gorgeous piece such as the gold leaf or the scintillating rhinestone sketched on a chain or a quaint black ribbon, round your neck for formal occasions, then remove it and another at the throat or at shoulder as a pin with your hook-bugging jersey. The matching ear rings complete the ensemble, with comfort, thanks to their wigglyhook construction that anchor even the most massive designs easily and securely.

RAILROAD RATES AND COMMODITY VALUES

Railroad rates, of necessity, have risen since the war's end. Yet rail-freight charges today constitute a much smaller portion of the total delivered price on commodities than at any time in recent years.

The authority for that is the vice-president of a large eastern line, in a statement filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission. The prices of the commodities moved by his particular railroad, he added, have gone up more than two and a half times as much in value as the freight rates assessed for their transportation.

That is indicative of two conditions— first, the enormous changes that inflation has produced in the general price structure; and, second, the remarkable economy of the essential service which the railroads provide the producers and consumers of the country. That percentage of the selling price of almost all basic commodities which is accounted for by the cost of transportation is extremely small, and is a burden on no one.

At the end of November, the ICC began hearings on a railroad plea for another moderate increase in freight rates. This plea was made necessary by the ever-increasing costs of operation—and by the fact that only a financially healthy industry, which is capable of earning a reasonable profit, can meet the growing transportation needs of this huge country. The financial pressures of the time are felt by the railroads as well as by all other business, and their charges must reflect them.

WEEKLY SWING OF SOUTHWEST FARM MARKETS

Southwest farm markets experienced widely varying trends during the past week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Association reports.

Cattle markets closed Monday's trade $1. lower to $1 or more higher for the week. Calves lost $1 at Houston with common and medium grades selling at $19 to $24. Similar kinds brought $17.00 to $22 at San Antonio and Fort Worth. Good and choice vealers sold up to $26 at Oklahoma City, $26 at Wichita and Denver and $30 at Kansas City. Wichita paid $22 to $24 for good and choice calves.

Hogs changed little at Texas markets but gained $1 to $1.25 at other terminals. Top butchers sold at $20.50 at San Antonio, $21 at Fort Worth, $21.50 at Oklahoma City, Wichita and Kansas City, and $22.50 at Denver. Most cows moved in a spread from $16 to $18. Pigs brought $12 to $18 in Texas and to $19 in Oklahoma.

Sheep prices recorded only minor changes for the week. Good and choice clipped lambs brought 23.50 at Kansas City and $23, at Fort Worth. Oklahoma City and Wichita paid 23. to $23.50 for food and choice natives. Aged goats held steady at San Antonio. Kids lost 75c to $1 to sell mainly at $3.50 to $4.00 each.

Good scoured 6-month Texas wool sold in Boston around $1.30 a pound. Little 12-month wool was available, but good lengths quoted up to $1.75.

End of holiday demand, coupled with increased production brought lower egg prices again this week. Current egg receipts sold about 5 cents a dozen lower at Fort Worth, Dallas and Denver to bring 40 to 45 cents Monday. New Orleans paid 45 cents. Fryers fell to 29 to 30 c in Northwest Arkansas.

Prices rose sharply on Texas and Louisiana vegetables and citrus fruits following severe frost damage in other winter growing states. Texas cabbage prices jumped to 70 per cent, lettuce 54 per cent, carrots 33 per cent, and spinach 28 per cent. Zero weather retarded deliveries in Denver where Texas new potatoes brought $4 to $4.25 per 50 pound sack, and Texas strawberries 50 to 55 cents a pint.

Wheat lost two cents a bushel, oats, 1 and sorghums 4 cents a hundred pounds. Other grains changed very little for the week. No. 1 hard wheat closed Monday at $2.40 to 2.45%, at Texas common points, and No. 2 oats around $1 at Galveston. No. 2 yellow milo brought $2.63 to $2.73 per hundred pounds.

Southern rough rice markets quoted long grains steady at around $12 a barrel, and short grains $8.50 to $9. Wheat millfeeds and corn showed little change, but other feedstuffs sold weak to lower. Kansas City quoted No. 1 alfalfa hay unchanged to $30 a ton and up, with trucked in hay around $33 at Fort Worth.

Cotton noted advances of 25 to 75 cents a bale. Spot middling 15/16c inch closed Monday at 32-25 cents a pound at Dallas, 31.95 at Houston, and 32.10 at Galveston and New Orleans.

Illiteracy Decreasing

The number of those over 14 years of age in the United States who can neither read nor write has been reduced to the lowest on record, the Census Bureau reported last September 23, according to a dispatch from Washington, D. C. in the New York Times. The present rate of illiteracy is 2.7 per cent compared with the rate of 4.7 per cent in 1930, and 20 per cent in 1870.

Hoover Commission

The report of the Hoover Commission on the organization of the executive branch of the Federal government will be made available to the public in printed form. Advance subscriptions of $10 are now being accepted by the Department of Commerce field offices. The total number of publications has not been definitely determined, but 49 to 50 documents are tentatively planned and will be issued at irregular intervals early in 1949. The $10 subscription pays for all the publications and such orders will have priority over others.

What does your bank consider a good loan?

It's a good loan when it can meet these tests: Is the purpose of the loan constructive? Will the loan really help the borrower? Can the loan be made without contributing to rising prices? Can the borrower repay the loan out of his earnings without hardship? When the answer is "yes" to those questions, the loan is most likely to be approved.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Truman Asserts Red Aims Split As Some Leaders Desire Accord; Dutch Firm on Indonesian Stand

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

COLD WAR: Someone Tiring

If Harry S. Truman were right, then possibility of war with Russia was less than many Americans imagined. In a "surprise" statement during an unheralded appearance at a luncheon in Kansas City, President Truman declared bluntly that "certain leaders" in Russia "are exceedingly anxious to reach an agreement with the United States to end the cold war."

THEN THE PRESIDENT lashed out with an accusation that the Soviets have violated "sacred" agreements and said their government "has a system of morals that are not moral."

Deliberately or not, President Truman was baring some closeted secrets when he said during that speech that the Russians had not kept important agreements made at Yalta and Potsdam. By that statement, the President was conceding charges of long duration that certain commitments were made at these two parleys with the Russians which were not generally known, and results of which led to accusations that American diplomacy had failed miserably in negotiations with Russia's Josef Stalin.

The President's position was far from an earlier expansive statement that Stalin was a "nice old fellow."

He did not identify the Red leaders who prefer an "understanding"—as he put it—with the United States, but he asserted that there are Soviet top men who have no desire for war. Neither did the President say whether any overtures had been made by such Russian leaders.

The President said frankly: "I made certain specific agreements at Potsdam, none of which have been kept. Certain agreements were made at Yalta, none of which have been kept."

He reiterated that "all the United States wants is peace."

INDONESIA: Dutch Stubborn

Stubbornness is a characteristic trait of the Dutch—and Holland was running true to form. Despite announcement by the United States, from which she is receiving Marshall plan aid, that the invasion of Indonesia must stop, the Dutch said, in effect, they'd think the order over.

THE UNITED NATIONS was concerned, but a Russian step to the fore in demanding a cease-fire order and troop withdrawal in 24 hours did the Indonesians no good. This time, the U. S. abstained from voting and the Russian proposal lost.

However, the American position was difficult of understanding, and the statement of American delegate Phillip Jessup did little to clarify it.

"I decline to be put in a false position by other delegations," he said. "The record of the United States on Indonesia is before the world."

BUT ALSO BEFORE the world was the issue of American prestige and the integrity of the Marshall plan. America stood for help for Indonesia; America controlled the powerful weapon of economic aid to the Dutch. Yet, America, as yet, had delivered no ultimatum to the nation whose fate into Indonesia was being helped by American dollars. And the American delegate had declined to vote for a cease-fire order in the Indonesian fighting—joining Great Britain in the vote declaration.

Whatever else was true, and regardless of motive, the assertion of the Soviet Ukrainian delegate appeared to be true. He charged: "Without United States financial help, the Netherlands would have been unable to wage war in Indonesia."

Operation 'Tactical'

Sociology was looking up. The Australian Legion of Ex-Servicemen and Women had taken up the task of helping young veterans and their wives with "in-law" troubles. They started a scheme to enable veterans forced by housing shortages to live with parents-in-law to exchange homes with others.

Spokesmen for the legion said many English marriages had been saved from disaster by a similar scheme operating in Britain. They found couples could live happier with strangers where they were paying guests.

ALL MUST PROVE STATUS

Army Checking Newcomers for Red Taint

The army is looking closely to the political integrity of its inductees and applicants for commissions. Army spokesmen have released an announcement that existing regulations now require all inductees and applicants for commissions to certify whether they have been members of subversive organizations. If they had been

Taft Laughed

Usually pontifically serious, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was in an expansive mood as he chatted with newsmen on his return to Washington following a tour of Europe. He praised the operation of the economic cooperation administration (Marshall plan).

FOR CHINA: Watch and Wait

U. S. policy on China for the time being at least, appeared to be one of watching and waiting, coupled with a resounding diplomatic silence.

America had two good considerations upon which to base that policy:

1. THE UNITED STATES stood convinced that nothing other than direct intervention in the military situation in China would change the course of events, and that the government is not prepared to intervene to that extent.

2. There is, in the United States, an inaccurate assumption that American economic aid is a fool-proof solution to the difficulties of other countries; that this aid, if put into a given country, as raw materials are put into a machine, would suddenly be processed into an effective, finished product. Life was not precisely like that—especially in China.

To all of which might be added these two additional factors:

1. The United States was caught in this dilemma: If it issues a statement supporting the Nationalists, as Mme. Chiang Kai-shek urged, it might merely associate itself with the collapse of the present Chinese regime without preventing that collapse.

2. On the other hand, if it explains why it is not granting further aid to Chiang, and publishes what has happened to previous aid, it might hasten Chiang's collapse.

Hence, the attitude of watchful waiting.

MARSHALL: How Long?

The question of who would be President Truman's secretary of state was concerning official Washington and the diplomatic centers of the world.

Ailing Gen. George C. Marshall was ordered to rest, observe strict dietary instructions. Evidence was largely at hand that the President was reluctant to trust the touchy problems of international policy in less experienced hands, yet the chief problem persisted: Could Marshall carry on effectively despite his serious ailment—loss of a kidney through operation?

THE PRESIDENT appeared committed to a policy of letting Marshall stay on, or, rather, keeping Marshall on the job despite any desire of the latter to give up his post.

A close associate of the President was quoted as saying the chief executive was willing to wait until Marshall recovered sufficiently to do a full-time job, even if that should require months. Robert A. Lovett, said not to "gee" as well with the President as Marshall did, would continue to act for Marshall while the latter rested.

SOME OF THE President's friends declared that if he should finally decide that Marshall can't carry the load, he probably would like to have Chief Justice Fred Vinson take over.

To do so would mean a great personal sacrifice for the Kentuckian, for his position on the court is permanent, while an administrative change might leave him out in the cold—and Vinson is no young man, either.

PROBERS: Want More Law

Probers looking officially into the activity of foreign espionage agents in the United States were becoming irked. Too many witnesses had fallen back on the constitutional guarantee of immunity to questioning by claiming the possibility of self-incrimination.

The probe group would put an end to that—they would provide stiffer penalties for contempt of such groups.

REPRESENTATIVE MUNDT, of South Dakota, and Nixon, of California, Republicans, authors of the proposal, did not specify just how much stiffer they would make the penalty for persons convicted of contempt of congress. They did comment that "offenders should be severely and appropriately punished."

Existing law provides a maximum penalty of one year's imprisonment and a $1,000 fine.

Among "reforms" suggested for probe group procedure was protection of the right of all witnesses to counsel in both closed and open sessions; right of the accused to testify in open session; right of the accused to submit questions.

The new congress was to be given the proposals.

MEDICINE: U. S. on Par

Plans for socialized medicine received a rough setback when the Hoover committee reported it had found "waste and extravagance" in the present federal setup, which it described as without "any central plan."

FINDINGS of the committee—a "task force" of the Hoover commission on organization of the executive branch of the government—were sure to be hailed with delight by members of the American Medical Association battling against enactment by congress of a program of socialized medicine.

The investigating group, however, made it plain in its report that compulsory health insurance was outside the scope of its inquiry. But, even so, its declaration that governmental medical agencies and its program were inadequate and inefficient was certain to be construed as whistling over two strikes on the compulsory health insurance adherents.

THE FACT-FINDING group recommended a sweeping reorganization of federal medical services, and urged channeling of federal subsidies to the upbuilding of medical schools and community and private hospitals, with a minimum of supervision by the government.

The report asserted the government is assuming uncalculated obligations without any understanding of their ultimate cost, the lack of professional manpower to carry them out, or their adverse effect on the hospital system of the country.

BEST COWBOY: No Film Star

The small fry could bellow and complain all they liked—the best cowboy was not Gene Autry or Roy Rogers.

Instead he is Gerald Roberts, Phoenix, Ariz., who was top cowboy—world's champion, to get technical—for 1948. The Rodeo Cowboys association announced Roberts was the best all-round cowboy of the year, and they had the records to prove it.

ROBERTS won top honors by leading the 2,100 professional cowboys who were scored in the association's system for 575 rodeos in the U. S. and Canada.

The scoring system was based on one of the most impressive factors in any American competition—the dollar. One point was scored for each dollar won in competition, and Roberts ended the 1948 season with winnings of $21,000 in cash awards. There was no arguing with that sort of record.

Prodigal's Return

Jimmy Dykes, former third baseman of the Philadelphia A's and manager of the Chicago White Sox, gets welcome handshakes from Connie Mack after Dykes signed up as coach of the Athletics.

WOMEN: Fewer Home

Fewer American married women were staying at home. In a complete reversal of the war years, married women workers in the nation topped single women holding jobs.

A report by the federal census bureau showed that there were in the labor force—those working and looking for work—about 3,300,000 married women and 3,900,000 single women.

CARDINAL HELD ON TREASON CHARGE . . . Accused in an official government communique of "espionage, treason, black market currency deals" and of "seeking to overthrow the democratic government of Hungary," Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, Roman Catholic primate of Hungary, has been arrested by the Communist-dominated government. Ironically, the 64-year-old cardinal also was arrested by the Nazis in 1944 for seeking to promote democracy.

PONTIFF RECEIVES U. S. UNDERSECRETARY . . . Pope Pius XII is shown conversing in the Vatican with George Allen, U. S. undersecretary of state, during the latter's visit to Rome while en route to a conference of the United Nations Economic, Cultural and Social Organization. The pontiff gave Allen a private audience in order to discuss matters pertinent to UNESCO.

FREE INDIA'S FIRST NATIONAL CONGRESS . . . With the national flag of the Dominion of India being carried by one of the riders, a huge elephant leads the procession that marked the opening of the 5th session of the Indian national congress at Jaipur. This congress is unique, however, in that it is the first to be held since India won its independence.

FRANCO-ITALIAN RAPPROCHEMENT—OR SHAKE . . . Robert Robinson (left), French foreign minister, and Count Carlo Sforza, foreign minister of Italy, prepare for a jovial handshake as they meet at Cannes, French Riviera, for a 1948 international chat. They talked over problems common to both their countries, principally the threat of communism. Both have struck telling blows against communism: their nations' governments.

I STILL DON'T LIKE IT, FRANKIE

By COLIN DELL

Frankie had big ideas but when he struck what he thought was real pay dirt, Louie rebelled, albeit meekly. Everything went smoothly enough, but that, as far as Louie was concerned, was what was wrong—it was too smooth.

FRANKIE LIBOLD switched off the ignition and the green sedan glided to the curb and stopped, only a few feet from the winding footpath in Jackson Park.

"How's that for timing, Louie?" he asked in a suave, cocky voice that matched his personality. "I told you the old boy's as regular in his habits as a night watchman. I ain't been clockin' him all week for nothin'."

Louie Ferencsik eased a 38 automatic from his shoulder holster and dropped it into his right-hand coat pocket. He looked like an undertaker and talked like he looked. "I still don't like it, Frankie," he said slowly. "I still don't like it."

Frankie's hard black eyes gleamed contempt. He snorted derisively, then turned his attention to the figure advancing along the graveled footpath.

He was an old man, but his bearing was upright and dignified. His progress was leisurely and the reason was evident. It was a white cane he carried in his right hand. The tap-tap-tap of the metal-tipped walking stick rang clear in the afternoon air as the old man felt his way along the brick-bordered path. He was within ten feet of the car when Frankie Libold and Louie Ferencsik closed in, one on either side.

"All right, gran'pop, just take it easy and do as you're told and you won't get hurt," Frankie Libold said. He prodded the old fellow with a blunt-nosed revolver. "Just keep on walkin' and act natural."

The blind man faltered for an instant and a shadow flicked across his face. Not fear, perhaps, but something akin to it. Then Louie Ferencsik grasped his arm and urged him forward and into the car.

He remained silent during the forty-five minute drive to the west side, seemingly stunned by the unexpected. He allowed himself to be led to the second-floor hide-out without causing a disturbance. He sat quietly while Frankie Libold adjusted the handcuffs that shackled him to a low iron cot.

The two gunmen moved to a window overlooking the street and talked in low tones. "You and your hunches," said Frankie. He glanced at his morose associate. "It came off without a hitch, just like I said it would. And if this caper don't bring us a hundred grand my name ain't Frankie Libold."

"Maybe so," said Louie, "but I still don't like it." He shot a glance at the old man where he sat disconsolate on the bed. "I only hope his old lady keeps her head and leaves the G-men out of it."

The pair talked on in husky monotonous while they kept an eye on the cars crossing the busy intersection below. The bells of a Catholic church tolled the Angelus. Scounds began filtering up from the bowling alley on the first floor—the sharp click as the ball hit the polished surface of the alley, the echoing crash of the pins. The acrid exhalations of a varnish factory tainted the air.

Frankie Libold stretched lazily and suppressed a yawn. "I'm going out and get a paper," he told Louie. "Seen as I come back we'll get down to business."

He was back again in less than fifteen minutes, and he came in waving a newspaper. "She talked," he growled, tossing the paper to Louie. "Get a load of those headlines." "RETIRED INDUSTRIALIST BELIEVED KIDNAPPED," Louie read. And in smaller print: G. M. Carter, blind millionaire, disappears during daily stroll in Jackson Park.

It was a two-column spread, complete with diagrams and indignant editorials.

Louie Ferencsik dropped the paper in disgust. "Who'd I tell you?" he demanded accusingly. "Now what are we going to do?"

"Do? Why, the same thing we started out to do, you idiot!" Frankie snapped. He walked to a

He put it in a plain envelope, addressed it, and attached a special delivery stamp. "Take it over on the south side and mail it," he told Louie. "And be careful you're not picked up on the way."

A near-sleepless night left the kidnapers in worse spirits than ever. They snapped at each other like dogs. "Get out of here and get yourself some breakfast," Frankie ordered gruffly. "And don't be all day about it. I'm hungry too."

Louie Ferencsik yanked his hat down low on his forehead and stalked out without a word.

Frankie stared after him, his face a twisted mask of hatred. He laughed deep in his throat. "Still don't like it, eh?" he muttered half to himself. "I'll give you something you'll like even less after we collect that hundred G's," Frankie Libold studied it carefully. "It's all full of holes from them nails," he announced finally.

table and picked up a plain sheet of typewriter paper. "Get him something to write on," he told Louie. "We'll get this ransom note done now and put it in the mail. She'll pay off or else."

Louie pulled an empty drawer from a dresser and laid it upside down on the bed. Frankie started to lay the paper on it, then drew back. "Can't you get anything better? This thing's got nails coming up through the bottom." His smoldering eyes raked across his unresponsive partner. "Skip it," he growled. "Just skip it."

He slapped the paper down on the rough surface and thrust a fountain pen into the blind man's hand. "Here." He took the hand and guided it to the paper. "Feel around on this so you can tell what you're doin', then write exactly what I tell you to write. And watch those nails, you're punching a hole in the paper."

The sensitive fingers of the retired industrialist explored the makeshift desk, then the pen in his hand came to rest at the proper point. Frankie began, dictating—slowly, for the blind man seemed to have trouble finding a smooth surface to write on. He kept shifting and rearranging the paper, this way and that, but finally the note was completed.

Frankie Libold studied it carefully. "It's all full of holes from them nails," he announced finally, "but at least she'll know it's his handwriting."

and it won't be half the money, either."

He paced to and fro between the window and the door for a few minutes, then sat down at the table and began playing solitaire. He was arranging the cards for a second game when he heard footsteps in the hall outside.

The door swung inward and Louie Ferencsik stood framed in the opening. Then suddenly he came hurtling into the room catapulted by the foot of a man standing directly behind him.

"Don't shoot, Frankie!" Louie screamed as he fell. But he might just as well have saved his breath. Frankie Libold was covered by half a dozen guns before he had time to move.

Several of the plain clothes men frisked Frankie and relieved him of his gun and the handcuff key. Another, obviously in charge, crossed the room to the bed and released the blind man.

The old fellow was smiling in a pleased manner. "I see you got my message in time, officer," he said, seeking his rescuer with sightless eyes.

"We did, Mr. Carter, and I think that was a pretty clever idea, too—punching it in braille on the ransom note. All we had to do was locate a bowling alley on an intersection, with a Catholic church and a varnish factory in the same neighborhood, and that wasn't hard at all."

Louie Ferencsik glared at his gaping partner. "You see?" he said spitefully. "I told you I didn't like it."

Company Improves Side Delivery Rake

Completely Engineered For Power Operations

A new side-delivery rake, engineered from the ground up for power take-off raking and tedding, and completely designed for mechanized farming is now in production.

Manufacturers declare that a "history of the side-delivery rake, which is the machine you see piling up long rows of hay, straw and other crops for baling, shows that there has been little or no change in the machine since the advent of the tractor. It is the first all-new rake in 60 years."

Exclusive features of the rake are the floating reel and basket which permits use of the full length of the 64 pairs of raking teeth at all times and a positive chain pitch control which changes the angle of the teeth for different raking conditions.

Two speeds forward and one speed for tedding, or reverse raking, permit the operation of the rake at high tractor speeds. The four-bar reel is V-belt powered from the chain-driven power take-off.

First change in the mechanized side-delivery farm rake since the advent of the tractor is shown here. It has been engineered anew from the ground up and has floating reel and basket.

The rake is this manufacturer's third contribution toward complete mechanization of haymaking. A first one-man, two-tying pick-up baler produced commercially, and the new field bale loader already have cut huge chunks from the farmer's haymaking schedule.

Support for Bossy

This scantily-clad bovine beauty attracted wolf whistles at the second annual National Farm show in Chicago by appearing in a newly designed udder support. The novel "unmentionable" is said by the manufacturer to increase a cow's milk yield by 25 per cent.

New Animal Repellent Will Lessen Free Meals

Animal wildlife will find free lunches fewer and farther between next year. A new product developed by the B. F. Goodrich chemical company and tested by the state of Maine fish and game department at its Swan Island wildlife refuge, may be just what farmers have been seeking.

At Swan Island, the new material has been sprayed on leafy crops by biologists who observe that it will not wash off and that a deer, after nipping at the treated leaves, will turn up his nose at future free meals. Certain types of insects also are discouraged by the action of the repellent, researchers revealed.

Crop damage by raiding wild deer runs in excess of $150,000 annually in some districts of Maine and amounts to millions nationally. The search for satisfactory repellents has been a major project.

Beef Cattle Reported Liking Citrus Molasses

Beef cattle really go for citrus molasses. Cattle having access to this feed not only have shown no hesitation about lapping it up from troughs, but have seemed to prefer it. Cattlemen feeding the molasses are using a combination of trough and drum molasses for making the material available to their animals. The trough used is 20 inches wide and about 12 feet long.

Household Hints

Always remember that dark colors are slimming and a dark skirt will minimize large hips.

Pieces cut from an old felt hat or slippers and glued to the bottom of table legs will help prevent scratch marks on kitchen linoleum.

You can improvise shoulder covers to hang over dresses, in the closet with old pillow cases. Just make a slit in the closed end and slip over the hanger.

Save the peels of oranges and tangerines, dry them in the oven and store in glass jars. They give puddings and custards a delicious flavor.

To line cake pans easily with wax paper, grease pan lightly, cover with a piece of waxed paper and insert another pan identical or nearly so. Trim off the edges.

In sewing braid or rick-rack on any kind of fabric, use scotch tape to hold firmly in place. When the machine work is done, simply peel off the tape.

Many people believe breakfast just isn't breakfast without a bowl of steaming hot cereal every morning. Dried fruits added to the cereal while it cooks gives it a most pleasant flavor.

To save frosting a butter cake, sprinkle the batter with finely chopped almonds before baking; do not use an sponge type cakes since the batter is not heavy enough to hold the nuts and they will sink to the bottom.

A Song on a Bare Bough

I HEARD a vibrant cardinal Dark-red against the winter dawns; He whistled from a leafless tree Upon a barren lawn.

The tiny countless splootch of red. Shot up a challenge straight and high: A rocket-burst of silver stars To show us a winter sky.

The little brave, intrepid thing, A conqueror of cold and night, He drenched the bare boughs suddenly With color and with light:

A triumph and a victory That I have come to understand. I laughed, a broken laugh, and took Life once more by the hand.

JOE'S CLOTHES

We might have called this "wise guise," if we hadn't been afraid you'd tell us to take off the hooks. Anyhow, it's about the fashion on your favorite boys are wearing when they're not encased in those too bright shirts.

Carduways in Color—Since our last survey of male modes, corduroy jackets have moved up into first place for sartorial honors. Formerly, the boys were wearing them in light tan only. Now, they've branched out and you girls swoon for those collarless style corduroy jackets in maroon, green or gray. What are they trying to do, anyway—steal your thunder?

Play the Game—The newest cotton knit T shirts for boys are printed in a tick-tack-toe design, with only one frame already made out. The idea is to beat him at his own game and you can use your lipstick to make the "O's" and "X's." Guess he was jealous of your denim jacket with the checkerboard on the back and the checkers banging on a boy chain in front.

NEW MEXICO NOTES
From a wheel chair
By Katherine Mabry)
The very favorable comments by members of the legislature on the governor's message to them last week pleased him immensely. I am sure he wanted the lawmakers to understand he is a disciple of the school which believes in the independence of the three branches of government. That as chief executive he wants to help with the problems in a co-operative and advisory way without appearing to pressure them with any of his own ideas.
This session is starting off with a feeling of such good will that we can all predict some very profitable results, I think. From all the governor has said in his public statements, it will not be news to many of you to hear it repeated that the most irritating matter that has engaged his attention in the last few weeks was what he has characterized as uncalled for and exorbitant budgets. It seems various institutions believe that in order to get their place first in line for the state's cash they must make requests for appropriations which they know cannot be granted, expecting that these requests will be sharply cut anyway-- "the more asked for the more we get".
Perhaps a new and better practice will grow up someday.

As we see and read of the legislature working, of the efforts of these, for the most part earnest men and women, even we who cannot have the pleasure of visiting the chambers can feel that important work is going on.
Some people get impatient because the first few days, or even weeks, will not bring forth many of the laws which will be enacted later. This is probably desirable.
At least this is the way it usually turns out. Something which might appear as a good law to some members, or to some groups favoring it, may not be so desirable once the combined minds of all the members give it thought. Or, if it be desirable in substance, it is important that the rough spots be brushed off and the language used to express the idea behind the proposed law be clear and exact enough to stand the test of the courts when challenged, as most laws are.
It is for that reason that legislative committees must do most of the hard work in our legislative bodies. There was quite some logrolling, trading and political activity involved in the selection of the legislative committees at this time, as always. It seems, however, that pretty representative committees are chosen. We will know more about it when we see the work they turn out.
As legislature and the congress work, the vital and important things done in committee do not partake much of the spectacular.
They do represent hard work, reconciling differences, making necessary compromises with opposition and cutting out the dead wood.
So we should not become concealed if we do not see our own representative or senator on the front pages too often. It does not mean he or she is not on the job.
It may mean, in fact, that they are busier in conferences and in committee work than some who are heard from more often from the floor.
I have had the pleasure of meeting many of the new members whom I had not met before. They have been kind enough to call on me, bringing their cheer and good wishes to my bedside where I shall be for many more weeks, I am told.
The governor and I plan soon to entertain at the mansion all members of both bodies, as we did two years ago, although we must make it in relays. Meeting and breaking bread together often make better friends of, and for, us all; and it should afford an enjoyable social time when ragged nerves and sharp tempers can feel a little let-down.
