CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, September 9, 1949

Outlook Vol. 40 — No. 18

Policies of the Board of Education

- Teachers of New Mexico will be given first preference, other things being equal. Teachers must meet the conditions required by the North Central Association and State regulations before they can be considered.
- Individual Board members make no promises, take no action, outside of Board meetings, which will tend to embarrass the Board.
- Any matter to be brought before the Board by any person, or groups of persons, must be presented by that person or group of persons at a Board meeting where both sides may be presented and action taken according to the evidence produced.
- Pupils in the upper six grades are not to have corporal punishment by teachers or administrators, unless the parents have been consulted and it is thought the best way to correct the offense.
- The school authorities may bring any problem before the Board, regarding discipline, school work, or other thing where both pupil and parents may be present and work out the best solution possible.
- The Board assumes they have no business in meddling in the private affairs of the teachers as long as they conduct themselves as ladies and gentlemen. The conduct of the teacher should always be a private matter.
- The teachers value to the school is not judged along by the work they may do in the school room, but also by their attitude toward extra curricular activities and community in general.
- The Board member will work for the best interest of the school, and not for any favored group of people. The Board regards their position as a trust and responsibility to be used for the best welfare of the entire community.
- No Board member will discuss confidential business in their home, on the streets, or in their office, the place for such discussion being at the Board meeting. When a decision is made by the Board each member will fully support that decision as long as they are members of the Board.
- Teachers that come into the community should adapt themselves to the conditions as best possible, and not expect a radical change to suit their particular case. It is true there is a vast difference in communities, and no one place is ideal. It takes time to bring about changes that may be desired.
- The Board will not find fault with or criticize to the public, other Board members or school officials for decisions properly and conscientiously made in which there may be an honest difference of opinion.
- The Board will not elect any principal or teacher that has not been recommended by the superintendent, and will consider merits only in electing teachers.
- The Board will hold confidential all matters pertaining to the schools, which if disclosed, would needlessly injure the individuals or the schools. The Board will not expect of the principal or teachers any privilege or favor for their children or the children of their friends, or their employees which would not be granted under the same circumstances to other patrons of the school.
- The Board will see that the superintendent actually has the power commensurate with his responsibility and will not in any way interfere with or seek to undermine his authority.
- The Board will help to form Board policies and plans only after considering the recommendations of the superintendent and his reason for making such recommendations.
- The Board will not use the schools or any part of the school program for their own personal advantages or for the advantages of their friends or supporters.

17. Board members will endeavor to keep informed on all educational developments, both local and state, and will require the superintendent to make reports from time to time of the school affairs and problems that may come up in the local schools.

Oldsmobiles Unsurpassed

All monthly production records for the past 52 years were shattered at Oldsmobile Division when the last Oldsmobile produced in August, 1949, rolled off the assembly line, S. E. Skinner, vice president of General Motors Corporation and general manager of Oldsmobile announced today.

A total of 31,095 new Futuramic Oldsmobiles were built last month, Mr. Skinner stated. This record monthly output surpassed the previous top mark of 28,446 units built in March, 1941. A new daily average record of 1,351 cars per working day was also set, Mr. Skinner said, thus providing Oldsmobile dealers across the nation with more new cars for delivery than ever before in the history of America's oldest motor car manufacturer.

Despite all-out efforts to keep pace with demand for new Oldsmobiles, particularly the Series '88' and '98' models equipped with the new high-compression "Rocket" engine, Oldsmobile production is still trailing sales, Mr. Skinner said. He pointed out that 63 per cent of the total August production was devoted to new Oldsmobiles powered by the sensational new eight-cylinder "Rocket" engine introduced by Oldsmobile Division a year ago this month.

As far as this Division of General Motors Corporation is concerned, we have not experienced any "softening" of the market to date. On the contrary, demand is so insistent for all three series of Oldsmobiles, including the Series '76' model with the 1 1/2 Six engine, that we are now expanding the capacity of our "Rocket" engine plant, building a new final assembly plant, and increasing our working force to take advantage of the gratifying upsurge in demand for our product.

NOW THEREFORE, I, Vernon Petty, Mayor of Carrizozo do urge each and every resident of Carrizozo to respond most generously to the National Foundation's emergency appeal during the week of Sept. 8-15, and,

Doyle Rentfrow, Well Known Ranchman Killed by Lightning

Following the heavy rain which fell last Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Doyle Rentfrow, age 50, who resides 14 miles from Carrizozo went to a new water tank which he had recently built on his ranch to see whether or not the tank was holding water. He went during a lull in the storm, saying he would be back in a short time.

At 8 o'clock he still had not returned, so his wife became so uneasy she went on horseback to search for him.

She found him and his horse beside a fence where they had been struck by lightning. Presumably one bolt killed the horse and rider instantly.

Mr. Rentfrow had resided on the ranch near Carrizozo all his life. He had many friends all over the state who are grieved beyond words and inexpressibly shocked over his sudden and untimely death.

Mr. Rentfrow was born in Weatherford, Texas in 1896. Came to New Mexico with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rentfrow in 1899. He attended school in Capitán. When he became older he enrolled at New Mexico A & M College. Like many other young men he left school to enter the first World War, where he rendered faithful and distinguished service.

In September 1922 he was married to Miss Mabel Henrich. In 1936 his mother passed away and in 1941 his father died.

After his father's death he bought the interest of his sisters and had operated the ranch very successfully.

Funeral services were conducted in Trinity Methodist church with the pastor, Rev. Harry L. Webb officiating. The church was crowded to capacity and many persons were standing.

Mr. Rentfrow is survived by his wife Mrs. Mabel Henrich Rentfrow; two sisters, Mrs. Shaler Ladd of Oceanide California and Mrs. Era Rentfrow of State College, New Mexico.

Casket bearers were Messrs. Joe West, Louis Nalde, and Wm. Gallacher of Carrizozo; Allan Johnson, Ben Dingwell and G. Dabney of El Paso.

His friends were many and devoted. They came from El Paso, Albuquerque, Carlsbad, Three Rivers, Bingham, Socorro, Tularosa and many other points in New Mexico and Texas.

The devotion of friends and high esteem of neighbors was well attested by the gorgeous floral offerings which filled the church with their splendor and beauty.

Labor Day Casualties

Labor day casualties were numerous all over the nation. Even Lincoln County contributed her quota with several automobile wrecks. One at Tinnie and one at Hondo were the worst.

In the wreck at Hondo an air force nurse lost her life enroute to their home at Holloman air base; while driving with her husband Sgt. William Evans, the car struck a bridge abutment. The impact threw the car door open and the nurse fell to the pavement. She lived only a short time after the accident.

Popular Couple Marry in Alto

Miss Doris Webber and Mr. Lawrence Peebles of Alto were united in marriage last Friday, September 2nd. The bride and groom are both very well known in the county and both belong to prominent families. They left immediately for a bridal trip through Texas, Oklahoma, and Missouri. In Missouri they will visit Louis and Donald Peebles and their families.

Congratulations are extended this popular young couple by a host of friends.

On Thursday, August 25 Misses J. M. Pearce, Barney Luck, Mayer and Miss Robb Jean Luck of Alto honored the bride to be with a magnificent shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Luck. Gifts were numerous and love y.

First P.T.A. Meeting Well Attended

Jesus and the Psalms

Lesson for September 11, 1949

SOME parts of the Old Testament Jesus never once mentioned. Others he quoted again and again. Could this be because some parts were more helpful to him than others? At any rate, the Psalms were one section of his Bible which he often quoted.

Worship

ONE Use Jesus made of the Psalms was in public worship. Whenever he went to the Temple he would join in singing or in listening to the great choirs singing these ancient hymns. Many of our own best-loved hymns, while not direct translations, are based on Psalms. For example, "Still, Still With Thee" is from Psalm 16; Dr. Foreman "God Is My Strong Salvation" from Psalm 27; "The King of Love" from Psalm 23; "O Worship the King" from Psalms 104. In private worship also we know Jesus used the Psalms. One of the Hebrew names for them was "The Book of Prayers," and Jesus, like many another who has loved these Psalms, found in them the natural expression of what was deepest in his heart when he turned toward his Father in heaven.

A striking proof of this comes from the story of Calvary. The cry, "My God, why hast thou forsaken me?" is a quotation from Psalm 22:1, and "Into thy hands I commend my spirit" is from Psalm 31:5.

Thus, two out of three prayers he uttered in his last moments were from the Psalms. So the reader today, pondering in a quiet moment these immortal poems, either from the printed book or better yet, as Jesus did, from the treasures of memory, may often find in them prayers which seem breathed from his own mind and to which he need only say, Amen.

Truth about God

JESUS also found in the Psalms a revelation of truth. It would be too much to say that Jesus derived his ideas of God from the Psalms. But certainly some of the great teachings about God which we hear from Jesus we can read already in the Psalms.

Jesus did not use the Psalms stupidly, of course. He would never have supposed that you could take just any sentence about God out of some Psalm or other, and quote it as the last word about God.

For instance, during his temptations the thought was suggested to him that he could jump off a high building and not be hurt; had not God promised just that in a Psalm? Now it is true that Psalm 91:12 does say that God will keep you from "dashing your foot against a stone" but Jesus knew that does not mean that God will guarantee to keep you out of trouble or harm no matter how foolish you are!

Christ in the Psalms

JESUS found in the Psalms also prophecies. There is a rather thin line between illustration and prophecy.

For instance, when the Jerusalem boys and girls were making such a noisy welcome for him, and the dignified priests were protesting, Jesus quoted Psalm 8:2 in defense of the children: "Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise."

Did he mean that the Psalmist had predicted that very occasion, or did he mean that the Psalm expressed a truth always good?

At all events, we do know that Jesus often took a Psalm, or a part of one, as a prophetic picture of himself. He knew himself to be the true King of Mankind, "the Lord's Anointed," as his use of Psalm 110:1 plainly shows.

Yet he also knew that he must pass through suffering to his throne (Luke 24:26). When the leaders of his people rejected him he was not surprised, for he thought at once of Psalm 118:22-23. When he hung on the cross, and saw the soldiers gambling for his clothes, Psalm 22:16-18 would surely come into his mind.

And can we doubt that in his last agonies, one who knew the Psalms so well would not have remembered also the later lines from the same prophetic Psalm? It begins with the tragic question—Why? But it rises to a song of triumph—"When he cried unto him, he heard!"

Spinach Disclosed As General Favorite Consumption in 1949 To Top 180,000 Tons

Whatever may be the generally accepted idea to the contrary, Americans like spinach. This year they will eat about 180,000 tons of the bright green leaf, a fact which should concern most farmers. Consumers will use spinach from their own gardens, bought over grocers' counters as fresh greens, or in frozen or canned forms.

That 180,000-ton figure may be a conservative estimate, for it includes only the estimated size of the commercial crop. The figure is well under the quarter-million-ton crops of recent food rationing years, but compared with prewar production, however, it shows, according to a National Geographic Society survey, that spinach is holding its own in national competition with pot-herb greens.

As much spinach as the markets will take is sold fresh. Last year, for example, 114,000 tons of spinach were shipped to fresh markets from coast to coast. The rest — about 49,000 tons — matured for the most part when fresh markets were supplied. It went to processors at prices lower than the fresh-market level, and became the year's pack — canned and quick frozen.

Texas' renowned Winter Garden area of huge truck crops leads the nation in producing spinach for fresh-market sale. Spinach leaves grow best where soil is rich, water is plentiful, weather is cool without frost, and days are short. The Winter Garden country touching the Rio Grande 130 miles southwest of San Antonio provides these conditions from November to April when most growing areas have too much frost.

A sheep and goat ranging area until 1920, the Winter Garden, thanks to irrigation, now covers five counties. It pours forth onions, cabbages, potatoes, lettuce, spinach, beets, peas and beans in late winter when they bring top prices. Eagle Pass on the Rio Grande, Crystal City, and Carrizo Springs are its busy centers of spinach shipping in season. At Crystal City, growers in 1937 erected a heroic-size plaster statue of their special hero, Popeye the Sailor.

Near Eagle Pass, one of the biggest onion growers switched gradually to spinach 20 years or more ago. Riding on a national trend to spinach, sources of iron, calcium, and vitamins A and C, he increased plantings.

Dehorning Spreads

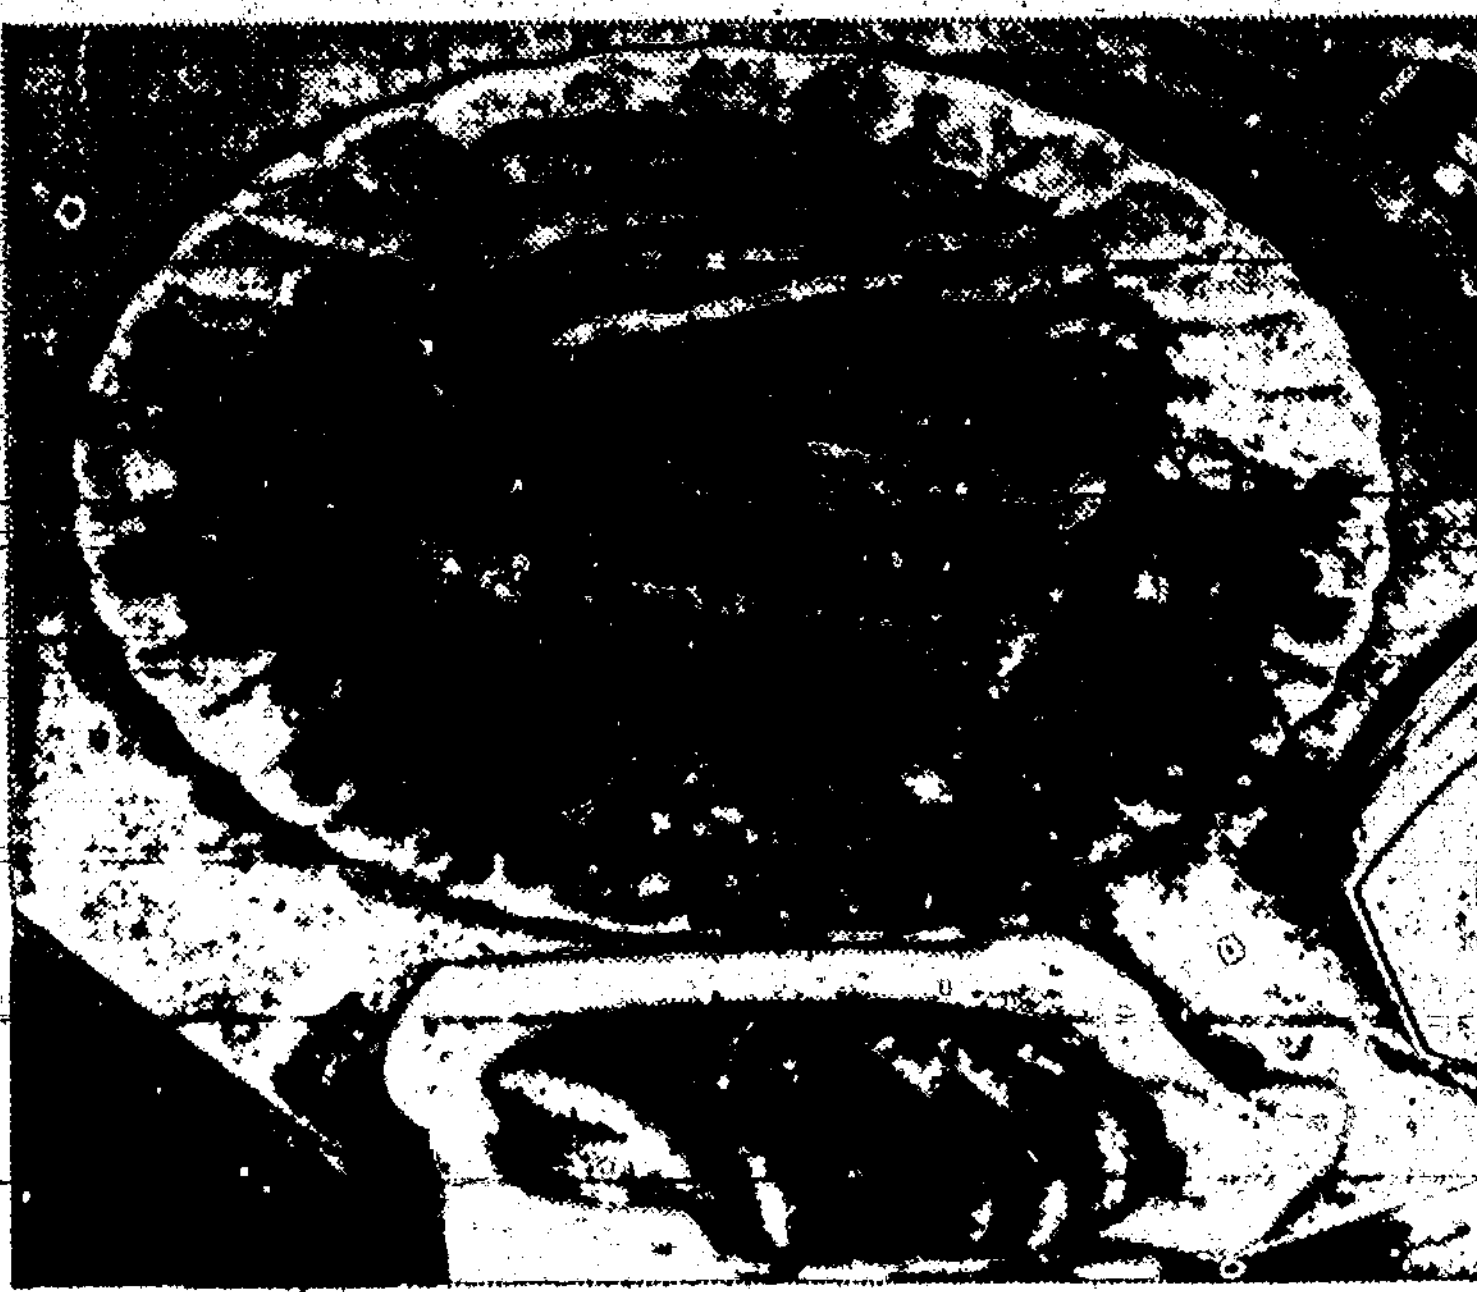

Meat makers may soon have to raise their own cattle if they want to show them with horns, for dairymen and ranchers are becoming convinced that horns can become costly liabilities. Horned cattle often gore each other and their attendants. The latest equipment developed for dehorning is this electric dehorning iron. It consists of a 300-watt soldering iron with a special tip having a hollow cone point. After pre-heating for about 15 minutes, the iron is applied over the horn button, with best results when the horn button is from 1/4 to 1/2 of an inch high. The instrument kills the horn cell and cauterizes the skin around the horn button. In about five weeks the scab, formed by the operation, dries up and falls off, taking the horn with it. The electric dehorning iron can be plugged into a 115-volt AC circuit.

Fires, Shoes Can Spread Many Ills Among Swine

Truck tires and farmers' shoes can spread hog cholera, erysipelas and other acute swine diseases. This caution, urged by the American foundation for animal health, also pointed out that hog cholera is again on the upswing throughout the United States. Only by strict precautions, sanitary measures and vaccination can it be curbed, the foundation said.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Have your Meat Tender, Delicious, Juicy (See Recipes Below)

Meat Magic

HERE DOES SEEM to be a magical quality about meats which are cooked to juicy, tender perfection. However, it's not a mystic magic which all aspire to, and few achieve. If there is a secret, it's available to all.

It is no secret that you should have a good cut of meat with which to start, if you want to have a delicious cut to set on the table. But once you have a good cut, do cook it properly instead of ruining it.

This latter statement may sound a bit far-fetched, but every day there are thousands of women who go to a great deal of trouble finding a perfect roast, then cook it like a pot roast which is practically stewing it. Then, too, there are other thousands who lose pounds of meat by using old-fashioned methods such as high temperature for "browning" the meat. This is not necessary, because meat cooked at constant low temperature will brown enough to be attractive to the most discerning eye, and will not shrink and lose juice as well as waste meat.

If you have a covered roaster, resolve right now to discard the cover and invest in a rack for a roast. A true roast is not, at any point during roasting, cooked with a cover. It should sit on a rack, fat side up, at low to moderate temperature in the oven, to roast perfectly.

How long should a roast be cooked? The most accurate way of determining this is to insert a meat thermometer into the meat as you place it in the oven, and when the temperature has reached its proper point the roast is done. Insert the thermometer through the center, as deep into the meat as possible. You may figure out the time to roast by pounds, but this is not nearly so accurate, especially if you are cooking roast beef to medium rare.

WHEN PROPERLY PREPARED corned beef can be a real delicacy. The meat is muscular, and needs to be cooked long and slowly for real tenderness, without which it is not a delicacy by any manner of means. Here's a novel way to prepare it.

Glazed Corned Beef
 6-7 pounds corned beef
 1/2 cup canned fruit juice
 1/2 cup brown sugar
 10 whole cloves
 Spiced peaches
 Wash corned beef under running water to remove all traces of brine. Cover with cold water and bring to a boil. Drain and replace water. Simmer, slowly, in a covered kettle for 4 1/2 to 5 hours or until meat can be pierced easily with a fork. Add more water if necessary. Drain meat and place on a rack in a roaster. Pour fruit juice over meat and sprinkle with brown sugar. Stick with cloves. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for 1/2 hour. Serve, garnished with spiced peaches.

HEARD AS IT MAY BE for you to try roasting meat at low and constant temperature, if you've followed other ways in the past.

Wipe meat with damp cloth. Do not remove tell, the thin, papery covering over the meat. Make four gashes in the roast and insert a piece of garlic clove in each of them, if desired. Rub ginger, salt and pepper into the meat. Place in roaster on rack, fat side up, and roast in a slow (300°) oven until thermometer registers 120° for well done lamb. During the last 20 minutes of cooking time, baste the meat with grape juice which has been melted in the hot water. Remove garlic before serving.

Veal shoulder or breast may be stuffed with the following to give a very tasty roast. In roasting veal, use a slow oven (300° to 325°) and cook until the thermometer registers 175°, which is about 40 minutes to the pound.

Raisin Stuffing
 (For about 5 pound roast)
 4 cups soft bread crumbs
 1/2 cup melted fat
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 cup seedless raisins
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 Combine all ingredients and stuff lightly into meat, allowing room for expansion. Or, place stuffing to the side of the meat or in a casserole and baste with juices from meat. If you cook stuffing separately, bake for 30 to 40 minutes.

Brains, after pre-cooking, make a delicious dish when dipped in seasoned flour, then browned in fat and served with creamy scrambled eggs.

Hearts need a lot of long slow cooking to make them tender. Veal hearts are especially good when filled with prune stuffing, then braised.
 To shorten the cooking time for heart, cut it in cubes and brown in hot fat. Then fold into tomato sauce used for spaghetti and bake the whole casserole for 30 minutes.

G-Man Hoover Scans Career

Has Served Bureau For Past 25 Years

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It was 25 years ago that John E. Hoover, a librarian turned lawyer, took command of a run down police force whose officers could neither make arrests nor carry guns.

In a quarter century, much has happened. America's criminal glossary has been swelled by such terms as "G-man," "G-heat" and "public enemy." The era of gang warfare as a national characteristic and kidnaping as a big-time source of racket money have flowered and faded. The careers of "Machine Gun" Kelly, Dillinger and Karpis have boomed in the news headlines and ended at morgue and prison gates.

And along the way, "John E." has become "J. Edgar" and the sedate police force of May 10, 1924, has blossomed into the pride of a nation which once maintained that law enforcement was a strictly local problem and no business of Washington's bureaucrats.

In honor of his silver anniversary as head man of the federal bureau of investigation, director Hoover reviewed the FBI story and told how it all began.

It is a story of politics, good and bad, of an era that created a new enforcement approach, and of a criminal punk with a machine gun and a smart wife who did a million dollar publicity job for the FBI. Above all it is the biographical tale of an unimportant federal employe who took an unimportant appointment in 1924, and, without changing jobs, has become one of Washington's and the nation's most potent figures.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: Is there anything I could put on my aluminum outdoor clothes line so that black smudges can be kept off the clothes? Even after thorough wiping it is possible to rub "black" off the line.

ANSWER: After thorough cleaning, rinsing and drying, give the line a coat of good spar varnish. To get an even coat, saturate a piece of cheesecloth with the varnish and wipe it on the wire. Since there will be a great deal of friction, the varnish gradually will wear off, and the treatment must be repeated. Instead of all this fussing, why not use a good cord clothesline, to be taken down and put away when not in use?

HIGHWAY CONTRACTS

On September 13, the State Highway Department will open bids and let contracts for 14 projects in 11 counties to total approximately 120 miles, as follows: Bernalillo, 1,329 miles; Dona Ana, 6,040 miles; Eddy, 9,412 miles; Guadalupe, 20,115 miles; Lea, 24,006 miles; Luna, 9,310 miles; McKinley, 1,514 miles; Otero, 12,055 miles; Sand oval, 7,681 miles; Torrance, 12,372 miles; Valencia, 16,793 miles.

Two of the 14 highway projects on which contractors' bids will be opened by the State Highway Commission on September 13 are on Highway 54.

In Otero County south of Orogrande, 12 miles will be resurfaced and widened.

In Guadalupe County a project calls for 20 miles of construction, drainage, top course surfacing and sealing.

The call for bids, according to Burton Dwyre, state highway engineer, has been held up pending final decision on whether New Mexico's 1949 gasoline tax law was subject to referendum. The new law raised the tax from 5 cents to 7 cents, with a provision that the extra 2 cents be used to retire highway debt, and that it is self repealing when sufficient funds have been collected for the retirement of the debt, which now stands at $22 million.

The 14 projects will cost approximately $3,000,000. Twelve of these call for federal aid, in which the federal government contributes about two-thirds of construction costs.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Wheeler of 2031 North Washington Avenue, while on an antique buying trip in northern New Mexico recently found a picture which interested them.

They were visiting at Watrous, New Mexico, 35 miles north of Las Vegas, and were looking through some trunks when they found an old picture of a company of cadets of the Goss Military Institute (New Mexico) NW. Of particular interest to them was the captain of the company—J. M. Harvey, prominent Roswell attorney. —Roswell Dispatch

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

Ten amendments to the State Constitution will be voted on by the people on Tuesday, September 20. There are two of these amendments which will increase expenditures and that means increased taxes. Amendment No. 8 should be defeated, in the opinion of the executive committee of the Taxpayers Association of New Mexico because it will increase expenditures for current purposes by a million dollars or more. Amendment No. 9 should be defeated because it would increase salaries of members of the Legislature from $600 to $2400 for a 60 day session of the legislature and increase the total expense of a legislative session to a quarter of a million dollars or more.

Appliance Prices For Reduced Living Cost

CHICAGO—Electric appliance prices advanced less than one-half the amount of the average of all commodities since 1939, and they led all durable consumer products in "rapid and thorough price reduction to pre-war levels," James J. Nance, right above, president of one of the nation's largest appliance manufacturing companies, explains recent message "The Truth About Appliance Prices" to Leslie Hicks, president of Hawaiian Electric company. Here to study price stabilization moves, Hicks was told of recent activity by which 10,000 Hotpoint dealers received letters explaining prices; meanwhile, local and national advertising is being scheduled to inform the public that some appliance prices have returned to 1939 levels. Nance said that business was in a leveling off period following the recent post war readjustment from economy of scarcity to one of ample supply. This change brought the sharp price reductions which have brought back pre-war appliance prices so that "today dealers can go forward with their sales and advertising programs, and consumers can buy needed appliances with full confidence that they are getting their money's worth," he added.

Bonito Lake Opening Proposal Rejected

"The State game Department's proposal for opening Bonito Lake to fishing has been definitely rejected by the Southern Pacific Railway Company," State Game Warden Elliott Barker regretfully announced today. "The Game Department, sportsmen's organization, Chamber of Commerce and others have been trying diligently for years to get Bonito Lake, located between Carrizozo and Lordsburg, opened to fishing, but we're right back where we started."

Superintendent P. D. Robinson's letter of July 13 refusing to open the lake following a conference on February 21, 1949 of representatives of the Railway Company with the State Game Commission, and another meeting at the lake on May 3, 1949, between the Company's representatives, Game Department and the Forest Service officials, sportsmen and Chamber of Commerce. As a result of these conferences, the State Game Department submitted a definite and constructive proposal designed to provide better protection of the watershed from fire (the two items in which the Railway Company is primarily interested) than exists under present unregulated use of the area above the lake.

In answer to Mr. Barker's letter stating these proposals, Superintendent Robinson wrote, "It is a matter of general notoriety, that despite all conceivable precautions taken by trained forest rangers and others similarly engaged, thousands of acres of forest timber worth perhaps millions of dollars, are annually destroyed by fire, and that many of such fires are caused by careless campers or cigaret smokers, not withstanding the utmost vigilance of those policing the forest. Just one such fire, with a wind blowing in the right direction, might sweep away the magnificent forest timber now populating the headwaters of the Bonito; and with it would go, for all substantial purposes, the costly Bonito water supply and pipeline, with no other practicable source to turn to. These waters, too, despite all reasonable precautions taken to prevent it, might become contaminated by some act of the fishermen or member of the public frequenting the headwaters of the Bonito or the reservoir." In closing the letter, Mr. Robinson stated: "My Company must, for the reasons stated, respectfully, but firmly and finally, decline to open its Bonito Reservoir to camping and fishing."

"Specifically," Barker said the Game Department's proposal was to build a fire line around the parking and camping area, provide adequate toilets and other sanitary facilities, have one man to check in all fishermen and campers and another to constantly patrol the lake shore and recreation area, keeping it well policed up and insuring orderly use of the whole area. Not only could fires better be prevented but there would be two extra men available instantly day and night to help extinguish any fire that might occur anywhere on the watershed. It surely seems to me that such well-supervised and strictly-regulated use would very materially reduce, instead of increase, the fire and pollution hazard that exist today under the heavy unregulated and promiscuous public use of the area above the lake without any sanitation facilities or supervision.

Mr. V. Reil and daughter Joy Daw were business visitors in Alamogordo last Thursday.

NEAR FIRE and EXPLOSION

What might have been a serious fire and a dangerous explosion on last Wednesday at the apartment of Lee Carl was prevented by prompt action of Aubrey Melton who cut the gas off and gave the fire alarm. The fire department responded at once and prevented the explosion. That which happened was a ruined water heater. Mrs. James Duncan who lives in the main house had gone to the train to meet her mother. On the way home they wondered where the fire was. To their astonishment the fire engine was in Mrs. Duncan's yard. It gave them "quite a turn".

Carrizozo To Have Circus

Tom McLaughlin advance representative of the all new Stevens Brothers Circus and managerie was a caller in the News Outlook office this week and announced the coming of the first big circus of the season, the date having been set for Monday, Sept. 19th with two performances scheduled at 3 and 8 p. m. under auspices of the Lions Club.

In a few days the regular advertising trucks will arrive and begin the task of placing the bright red posters throughout the surrounding territory; McLaughlin further stated, in addition to presenting six cages of wild animals the management will have with them at this time Dolly Jacobs (famous trained elephants); Bob Grubbs (liberty horses) and a host of big time circus acts.

Nothing Fat About Him But His Name

Walking down Main Street with my cousin, Ed, from upstate, we passed Fat Allen, who runs the food store. He nods hello to us and I greet him with "Hi, Fat!"

Ed looks surprised. "How'd you ever come to hang a name like Fat' on him?" he wants to know. "Wasn't any extra poundage on the man that I could see."

I told him Allen used to weigh 300 pounds, and how one day he caused a sensation by saying he was going on a diet "and shave off a half-ton or so." No one thought he'd stick it out, the way he loved to eat. But today, Fat's figure shows a "profitable loss."

From where I sit, Fat's example of self-discipline was like the way the tavern owners cooperate in their Self-Regulation Program to make sure beer is sold only in nice surroundings. You've got to make rules and then, stick to 'em—whether it's your place of business or your waistline you're trying to keep in shape!

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Russia Threatens Yugoslav Regime; Truman Takes Arms Row to People; Excise Tax Cut Stymied This Year

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

YUGOSLAVIA: War Clouds

Was the United States ready to go to war on behalf of Yugoslavia? That was a paramount question as the hard-boiled struggle between Yugoslavia and Russia reached the threat-of-war stage.

BRITISH and American diplomats, however, ruled out the likelihood of a shooting war. They regarded Moscow's threat to "take more effective measures" in Yugoslavia as only a part of the war of nerves.

No one outside the Kremlin could know for sure what was coming next. But the threat that began 14 months ago to upset Tito when the Cominform read him out of the Communist party developed long ago into frequent shooings along the satellite borders.

Diplomats in Belgrade frankly were worried. As an example of the jittery situation, one embassy thought it had an inside tip on an "invasion" date.

THE QUESTION of American involvement was not quite as academic as it might appear. With the issue squarely joined between Communism and the west, and with the U.S. serving as the arsenal of the west, involvement as a result of any warlike Kremlin move was an ever-present possibility.

EXCISE TAX: Not This Year

All hope for any reduction this year of federal excise taxes appeared doomed as congress shut the door on the issue. Excise taxes are collected on such items as furs, jewelry, luggage, cosmetics, transportation and telephone bills.

CHAIRMAN DOUGHTON (D., N.C.) of the tax-writing house ways and means committee issued a statement saying that he sees no prospect for a reduction in these taxes now. He gave as a reason the federal deficit threat of more than five billion dollars in the current fiscal year.

To clarify the subject for consumers, he added:

"I believe it is important to make this clear so that consumers will not postpone the purchase of goods subject to tax in the hope of an immediate reduction."

BUT HE HELD out hope of tax relief in the future. He said he had requested the congressional staff of tax experts to begin now a study of possible tax revisions and reductions for the consideration of congress next year.

There remained a middle course, Doughton went on, which might provide a reasonable reduction in government expenditures, to require some increase in taxes where the increase can be borne without disturbing the economy, and to provide for a reduction in those taxes which are crippling enterprise and interfering with business expansion.

ACID TEST: Fails For Granny

The gambling grandmother of Gordona, Calif., had a relapse. MRS. SULA BELL STIMSON, 62, had been stricken with a compelling urge to gamble. She reached the stage where she forged checks with which to obtain funds for poker playing. She just couldn't resist the yen to see what that next card would be.

Last November she was brought into court for her weakness and was placed on probation for three years. Last April she was arrested again and a physician testified she had undergone a personality change from a normal housewife to a person afflicted with a craving for gambling.

HE SAID doses of glutamic acid had been used with some success in similar cases, recommended such treatment for Mrs. Stimson. The court agreed, and she was released to the custody of her family with court orders to continue the treatment.

It didn't work. The gambling grandmother had succumbed again to the fascination of the poker deck. The acid test had failed.

U.S. AGENCIES

Six Departments Undergo 'Streamlining'

As a result of congressional action several government agencies went under the streamline plan and some mild reshuffling came about. Some 3,300 federal employees were affected as six of President Truman's reorganization plans went into effect under terms of the reorganization act of 1949.

Streamlining has been the gist of what occurred. The U. S. employ-

TRUMAN: To The People

President Truman submitted his arms-for-Europe proposal to the people through the medium of the golden jubilee convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Miami.

DECLARING the armament proposal was the "price of peace," he termed it this nation's guarantee against war and urged approval.

The President, contending that peace with freedom and justice cannot be "bought cheaply," urged that congress immediately approve the 1.5 billion-dollar arms outlay.

He conceded the cost was "considerable," but added that it "represents an investment in security that will be worth many times its cost."

There were those in congress, however, who were in noticeable disagreement with President Truman. These included several congressmen who have been stalwart supporters of administration policy.

THE DISSENTERS argued that it was "pouring money down a rat-hole" to attempt to prevent war or adequately arm the north Atlantic pact dignitaries as the Truman proposal planned. Others declared the program was simply "cutting small arms in the hands of constabulary of little nations." U. S. military experts agreed that even with the program operative as envisioned by the President, Russia could overrun the continent in 60 days.

Claiming this, they added that since the U.S. would have to pay for World War III anyway if and when it came, the wiser course would be to build up national defense and striking power to the point where no surprise attack on this nation could be successful.

ELECTRONICS: Machine Has 'Brain'

The parade of "mechanical brain" devices appeared never-ending. The newest group—an automatic computer called Binac—is smaller, cheaper, brighter than the others.

It can calculate 12,000 times faster than a human being and does problems 25 times faster than more complicated machines. The inventors predicted it would usher in another industrial revolution in which machines can take over many jobs now done by man.

BINAC, built to order for Northrop aircraft company, was designed especially for complicated engineering problems such as in designing new military aircraft and guided missiles.

But Binac was not the last word in the field of mechanical "brains." A larger, general-purpose type of "magic brain" called Univac is under construction. Its first customer will be the U. S. census bureau.

UNIVAC, it was said, could even play chess, but only about as good as an average player, not an expert. It is expected that the machine also would be able to write simple melodies and lyrics because musical harmonics follow simple rules.

With Univac, according to reports, the American people will find out a lot of things they didn't know about themselves—that is, statistically speaking.

CHINA REDS: Trading Is Out

It had a familiar ring: "You can't do business with the Chinese Communists." Remember? "You can't do business with Hitler." That certainly was true, and according to officials best informed on the Chinese situation, it was equally true of the Chinese Reds.

SLOWLY BUT SURELY, American businessmen and officials are finding out the truth of the statement. In ever-increasing numbers they are pulling out of the great centers in China. And with them goes inevitably the prospect for any important trade agreements between the United States and Communist China.

Yet there was an annoying paradox in the situation for the Chinese friends of the Kremlin. For the fact was that the Reds would have to turn to the United States—if they were to obtain many things they need to fill the gaping holes in China's distraught economy.

THE American state department and other U. S. officials are incensed at the way American officials and private citizens have been treated by the Communists in China. They apparently have come to the conclusion that nothing can be accomplished by maintaining large consulate staffs in cities where the Reds have taken over. Weeks of trying to come to some terms with the Communists show nothing but failure.

To the initiate, this came as a surprise to U. S. policy makers. They had expected that as the Chinese Communists poured into Shanghai and other coastal points they would take a live-and-let-live attitude toward the Americans. They also figured that the Communists would have to do business with the U.S., inasmuch as they would have to look to the West rather than Russia for imports to meet China's economic needs.

But somehow or other it didn't work out that way.

POLIO: Isolation Cut

Sufficient beds for polio patients in the nation's hospitals—a major problem in fighting the malady—appeared to be in sight as a result of a new approach to treatment and diagnosis in the early stages of the disease.

THIS may be brought about almost overnight and it can be done without adding a single bed in hospitals for acute cases, or training another nurse. Too, it will save millions of dollars in the cost of treatment.

All this is declared possible because of a decision by public health and medical authorities cutting the isolation period for early polio to one week—longer only if the fever lasts longer. Some states have been isolating polio patients for two weeks, some even for three or four, but the average has been two weeks.

The one week recommendation, made by 29 medical authorities, is part of a new guide for health officers of all the states. The guide is being sent to local health authorities, hospitals and doctors by the various state health officers.

POLIO patients are kept isolated when they are first ill to prevent spread of the disease, but medical studies have concluded that the disease is communicable only during the first three or four days before symptoms appear, and for two or three days afterward.

So for safety, isolation, the experts said, is necessary for only a week, or as long as there is a fever.

The distance to market was 12 miles overland. Joe had a truck but he decided he and the bull would hoof it. "It was kind of cool," he said, "and it seemed like a good idea. Five hours and 18 minutes later, Joe and the bull arrived. The bull lost 180 pounds.

A BETTER MOUSETRAP

"HOW ARE THINGS" as of early September?" we asked the man who built a better mousetrap, this being our regular seasonal inquiry into business conditions. "I can't quite make out," he replied, with a glance at the paths made to his door. "The paths seem fairly active but the activity could hardly be called path-beating at this moment."

"Would you say there was a slump?" "I might think so, but Harry Truman says no." "Does he think much about mousetraps?" "You know Washington. There are experts in everything available. The President has aides who claim to be specialists in mouse habits and mousetrap trends in our economic system. There is a federal mousetrap commission at work now."

"Has it been here?" "I think so. There has been a group here which acted like a federal committee. It came up the paths backward, asked where it was, and immediately wanted to know where there was a good place to eat."

"What did it do after eating?" "It showed up every day at 11 and quit at 3, announcing after a week that it had studied my business thoroughly and would have an early report with a complete solution to all problems in the mousetrap field." "You think it will find that you are prospering and that there is no cause for concern?" we asked. "I am sure of it," said the man who built a better mousetrap. "The commission left in a very happy mood and announced nothing was worrying me."

"Strictly on your own," we asked, "what is the real situation in the mousetrap industry?"

"I am optimistic. It can't be that the country has caught all the mice. Hence the drop in demand for traps must be due to something else. People may be making old traps last longer. I had a fellow come in with some holes and ask that we build a trap around 'em." "Are you operating in the red at the moment?" "Yes, but don't let the President hear it. He would hold I am sabotaging public confidence. He may even say I want depression for my own selfish ends."

"So what?" "Well I guess I should do some deficit-financing and expand. After all I don't want federal control of mousetraps."

The man who built a better mousetrap paused a moment and reflected.

"I shall have to style my mousetraps," he resumed. "I must bring out smarter models with startling new innovations. Streamlining might help and possibly some mechanical devices that will make it possible to bait a trap by pressing a button. This will cost a lot of money, but I can borrow it or something."

"Have you thought of turning out a trap with fewer holes?" we asked. "Wouldn't half as many holes mean that people with mice would need twice as many traps?" "Aha!" exclaimed the M.W.B.A. B.M., showing us the door. "I knew it. You are one of those economic experts direct from the capital, Scram!" We scrambled.

Star Dust

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

ARNOLD MOSS has succeeded in so many fields that it is hard to know where to begin describing him. He entered college at 15, has a master's degree. He has been a success on the stage, radio and screen, an actor, writer and producer. As narrator for "Duel in the Sun" he was so good that he was engaged for the same stint for "Arch of Triumph." His latest picture is "Reign of Terror," for Eagle-Lion. During the war he did broadcasts in four foreign languages, narrated six pictures for the navy. The coming season will see him on the stage in "Twelfth Night," and on television as well. He is married, has two young children—and makes interviews a pleasure.

Daytime serials may be broadcast in Korea, if Miss Ok Yul Kim, an announcer, and Mr. Young Ho Song, a director, both with the Korean radio network, have their way. Here to tour New York's radio studios and study American technique, they visited "The Road of Life" and "Young Dr. Malone" broadcasts, said they'd recommend them to their government-operated radio system.

George Burns and Gracie Allen cut their European visit short by two weeks, came rushing home to Hollywood early this month. Could be that they had last-minute preparations to make for their new comedy show, starting September 21 on CBS.

In Columbia's "Feudin' Rhythm" Eddy Arnold sings a song called "Nearest Thing to Heaven" to little Tommy Ivo, playing his son, and something about the song reminds one of Al Jolson's "Sonny Boy," although the tune is entirely different. Arnold expects the song to be very popular once the public hears it. Jolson hopes Arnold's right—he wrote it.

The Fiction A MISUNDERSTANDING

By Richard H. Wilkinson

I'LL NEVER FORGET the spectacle of Joe Abbott and Count Obeld fighting. Thinking of it, I am more apt to shudder than smile. Though it certainly had amusing aspects.

3 Minute Fiction

Anyway, when Joe and I stopped off at Cabindas on our world cruise, we were much pleased with the place.

That night we had dinner at the Plaza and it was there that we first saw Kandace. She was sitting alone in a booth, and when she caught Joe staring at her boldly, she nodded and smiled at him.

Instinctively I knew, when I saw the tall dark man come through the door, that Joe was in for trouble. And I was right. The tall dark man strode toward the booth and there was something about him that caused my blood to creep. I stood up, but was by no means quick enough. The stranger had grasped Joe by the coat front, jerked him to his feet and slapped his face.

Joe was hauling back for a haymaker when my arms closed about him. After a while a messenger came in and handed me a note. I read it and looked sourly at Joe. "Now you've done it. That was Count Obeld and that was his girl you insulted."

"Insulted?" said Joe. "And he wants to fight a duel with you. He realizes our boat sails first thing in the morning, so in order to accommodate us he'll await our pleasure at dawn. He will do you the honor of permitting you to choose your own weapons."

Joe shook his head and tried to grasp it. "That punk—the dope who smacked my jaw—wants to fight a duel? You mean like they do in Sabatin's books?" "And I can choose my own weapons," Joe went on. He stood up. "Come on." I followed him, not quite daring to use force in stopping him again, yet ready for an emergency. We went back to the Plaza. The count and his girl were, of course, gone. Joe made inquiries, wrote down an address and beckoned me to follow. A taxi deposited us before a pretentious looking house of white adobe. A servant admitted us and presently Count Obeld appeared. "You're giving me the honor of choosing my own weapons," said Joe. "I'll take these," and he knotted up his fists and held them under the count's nose. "Threat!" said the amazed count. "Yeah," said Joe, "and on your honor as a gentleman you can't refuse. Also, why wait till dawn?" WHAT followed was pitiful. We trooped into the back yard. Joe and the count took off their coats and squared off. Grinning, Joe stepped in and delivered a quick one-two on the nobleman's chin. Blood appeared on his mouth. He swung wildly. Joe set him back on his heels. The count came in again and Joe knocked him down. He got up and came back for more. "Listen, old horse," he said, "you're as dumb about the customs back in America as I am about them over here. Only I didn't have the guts to fight you your own way —and you, well, by geeh, there are danged few Americans can take it the way you have. And right here and now I rise to remark you have my apology, and I'll tell that dame so, too, if you'll tell me where she lives."

Well, the count only caught on to about one-third of what Joe meant and grinned and offered his hand.

Ten minutes later the three of us were sitting around a fire in Kandace's living room, laughing and talking and drinking punch and telling each other that it was too bad there wasn't a perfect understanding about customs of different countries, and agreed that if such were the case every one would be happier.
