New Building Completed Santa Rita School Moved

The new modern building for Santa Rita Catholic school has been completed with the exception of a few finishing touches to be added to the interior; last Friday January 7th, the last desk was placed in the new structure which completed the moving.

The building has four large class rooms, and two offices; one for the Superintendent and one for the Principal.

The windows have all-steel cashes and are insulated with rubber bands to prevent dust from sifting in.

The Sisters of Saint Casimir are in charge of instruction. These Sisters are comparatively a new organization in this country.

The teaching staff is Sister Theodore, Sister Celis, Sister Dilceta, and Sister Frances Xavier.

The most Reverend Edwin V. Byrne, D. D., Archbishop of Santa Fe was here on October 10th, 1948 and dedicated the building.

Chairman of the building committee is Mr. Nick S. Vega; other members are: Messrs Sabino Vidaurri, Juan Martinez, Juan Pacheco, Manuel Pacheco. Mr. Tranquillo Vega was the builder under the supervision of Fr. Vito C. de Baca.

This school was much needed and the new facilities, modern in every way will make for the comfort of the students and teachers.

NEW MEXICO STATE LANDS 10-MILLION DOLLAR BUSINESS

Santa Fe, Jan. 13—New Mexico's state lands now constitute a 10 million-dollar business. Revenue from these lands totaled $10,328,600 during the year just ended.

This is an increase of more than four million dollars over the total of the year before, 1947, according to Land Commissioner Guy Shepard, who took office January 1 succeeding John E. Miles now a member of Congress.

Oil and gas leases produced $9,681,900 of the total, of 10 and a half million. Grazing fees on the State lands amounted to slightly under $362,000 during the past year.

"The income from our 11 and a half million acres of State land has been increased steadily during the past four years", said Land Commissioner Shepard.

"And we have reason to believe that it can be increased still more with the continued development of oil and gas production on this land. We are fortunate in having State tracts in Lea, Eddy and Chavez counties, where the oil activity is centered."

Revenue from the State lands goes to the public schools and to the land-endowed State institutions with the greater portion of it used for grade school expenses.

March of Dimes Fund Raising Campaign Jan. 14-31

This year 1949 is a critical one for the Nation Foundation. It finds the organization in great need of funds. The past few years have brought epidemics of polio in many states and we do not know what 1949 will bring, so we hope all will contribute generously this year.

The campaign chairman for Lincoln County is Mrs. J. P. Turner. Mr. Omer S. Spurlock of the Carrizozo Schools is County chairman of the School Fund raising campaign. The Corona, Capitan, Ruidoso and Carrizozo Women's Clubs have been asked to help with fund raising in their area. The Committee appointed from the Carrizozo Woman's Club consists of Mrs. B. J. Valuckas, Mrs. C. L. Hodgins and Mrs. Edith Crawford as other committees are appointed, their names will be published.

March of Dimes cards have been mailed to many persons and we ask that they be returned with a substantial donation as early as possible. If you do not receive a card please send a donation to the campaign chairman, Mrs. Turner, or place it in one of the many coin collectors which will be in stores throughout the county.

Lincoln County has been fortunate in that it has had few cases of polio, but these few have used all the funds we had available, so please send in your dimes and dollars.

DECLARATIONS OF INCOME TO BE FILED BY JANUARY 17

S. P. Vidal, Collector of Internal Revenue for the New Mexico district reminded taxpayers that Monday January 17, will be the deadline for filing Declarations of Estimated Tax for 1948. The final date normally is January 15 but since that date falls on Saturday this year the filing period is automatically extended to the next official workday.

Collector Vidal explained that this filing date is of special importance to farmers, since they were excused by law from filing their 1948 Declarations until this time. The date is also important to so many business and professional persons, investors, self-employed and similar taxpayers who were required to file declarations last spring but who want to change their estimates by filing amended declarations. Most wage earners whose pay is subject to withholding are not required to file Declarations since the withholding substantially covers their income tax, although some wage earners with large salaries or supplemental non-salary income are required to file declarations.

He also pointed out that many of these taxpayers can "kill two birds with one stone" by filing their final 1948 income tax returns instead of a declaration. In other words, a farmer required to file an original declaration or a businessman desiring to file an amended declaration at this time can substitute his regular return on Form 1040, which he might otherwise wait to file on March 15. If he files his return and pays the tax in full by January 17, he can save the task of preparing and filing the 1949 declaration or amended declaration which is due then.

If a taxpayer in 1948 had more than $100 of income which was not subject to withholding, he was required to file a declaration if his total income (including wages on which tax was withheld) was $600 or more.

If all of the taxpayer's income was from wages subject to withholding, he was required to file a declaration if his wages exceeded $3,500 plus $600 for each of his exemptions (for example, $6,300 in the case of a married man claiming exemptions for himself, wife, and one dependant).

The New Mexico Collector added that assistance is being given to the taxpaying public in Room 212 on the second floor of the Federal Building.

The new Pontiac models will be shown to the public during the General Motors Waldorf-Astoria show opening in New York January 26th.

In Remembrance Lesson for January 9, 1949

JESUS OF NAZARETH was the Unforgettable Man. All our information about him as he lived in Galilee comes from four small booklets known as the Gospels.

Dr. Foreman was a little more about him in the letters of Paul, and a few additional sayings of his have been preserved in papyrus fragments in Egypt.

Who Remembered Him? IT BOTHERS some people to discover what scholars have always known, that our Gospels as we have them are based on earlier writings and spoken traditions.

The farther back scholars can trace the origins of the Gospels, the more historically reliable they are proved to be. Some of the information worked into our Gospels came from personal reminiscences; this is the case with large parts of Matthew and John.

At any rate the Gospel of Mark contains just the sort of things that a man like Peter would be likely to remember. Luke himself, a missionary doctor and great friend of Paul, never knew Jesus personally, but lived for two years in Palestine and gathered the materials for his Gospel while there were still hundreds of people there who remembered Jesus well.

What They Remembered JOHN tells us that it would be impossible to write down all that was then known of Jesus' life. Out of the 400 days (at least) during which Jesus' public ministry lasted, not over 40 are recorded, even in part.

Yet what these men did recall and record is enough to reveal a matchless Person. A fifth Gospel might enlarge our knowledge of Jesus; but it would not greatly change it. Jesus never wrote a book, not even a letter so far as we know; yet such words of his as were remembered have influenced the world.

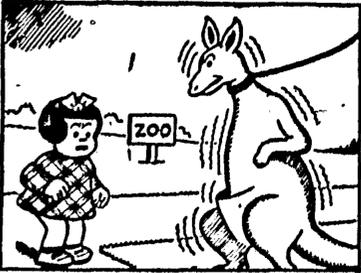

Jesus' entire public ministry lasted a shorter time than it takes to go through college; yet what he did has had a deeper effect on the world than the work of any university graduate in history. Jesus started no corporation, no formal organization; yet out of his fellowship have grown the greatest institutions in the world.

Why They Remembered THE STORY of Jesus was remembered and recorded by his followers partly because they could not help it. They could not forget him and did not want to forget him. One thing is true of all those who lovingly cherished these memories of the Master: they loved and adored him.

No unbeliever ever wrote a Gospel. Pilate wrote no life of Christ. Even if Judas had lived, he could not have written one. Our Gospels were written by men of faith, for the purpose of calling out faith in others. "These things were written that ye may believe that Jesus is the Son of God." (John 20:31).

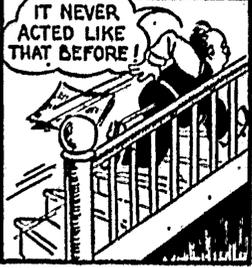

In one sense of the word we could write a better Gospel now, for today 19 centuries of Christian experience are behind us, and those centuries are full of the doings of Christ through his church. The four Gospels tell us of what Jesus did in Galilee. But now we can tell the story of what Christ has done in Africa and Greenland and Australia and America. Reading the Gospels is interesting; it is important; but the reading has not hit the bull's-eye if it leaves you, the reader, merely better informed than you were.

Bookshelf Offers No Problems to Builder

WOODWORKING can be lots of fun. It provides healthy relaxation and at the same time provides an opportunity of building some useful articles. Many people have no conception of how easy it is to work with wood, or how quickly household equipment and furniture can be built at home.

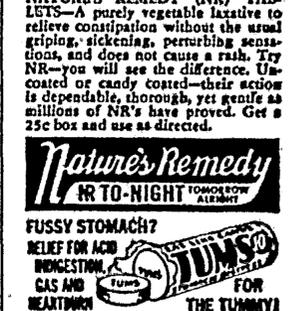

Working with wood pays off in two ways—it provides the means whereby you can obtain articles your home needs at less than half their cost if bought ready made, and at the same time it offers the best kind of entertainment.

The pattern for making this bookshelf, like all other full size woodworking patterns, is easy to use. Merely trace the pattern on the wood, saw and assemble. The pattern shows exact location of shelves, screws, etc. No special tools or skill are required.

Baked puddings are a wonderful menu inspiration especially when you're using the oven for the main dish, hot bread or vegetable because they can be cooked right along with the other things. YOU'LL KNOW WHY the recipe is called "Delight" when you try this delectable combination of jellied whole cranberries, chopped apples and a topping of rolled oats, brown sugar and nutmeats. This dessert takes an hour to bake and may be served warm with hard sauce or cold with whipped cream.

LYNN SAYS:
Know Your Food Facts and Fancies
For best results in baking, have milk at room temperature before mixing it with the other ingredients. This is especially true when mixing biscuits, muffins and cakes.
A teaspoon or two of lemon juice brings out the full fruit flavor of fruit pies. Add it when mixing the fruit in the sugar.
Leftover ham may be ground and shaped into balls. Serve with a sweet-sour sauce!

Unknown Britisher Slaps at Eisenhower In 'Crusade' Review

LONDON.—An unidentified London Sunday Times military correspondent has blamed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for what he termed needless casualties, including the loss of 70,000 Americans, in the 1944 "battle of the bulge."

This first heavy attack on the popular wartime allied supreme commander also included a charge that General Eisenhower's policy produced disastrous results for the western allied postwar political struggle against Russia.

The Sunday Times, a member of the Kimsley chain of British newspapers and not connected with the London Times, did not identify the author, and Morley Richards, foreign service executive said:

"I am unable to comment on the writer as I don't know who he is, but it is safe to say he is in an authoritative position."

The newspaper in an editorial described Eisenhower's book, "Crusade in Europe," as a "blow to Anglo-American friendship and understanding," and said "the injury must be healed."

The editorial added: "One is forced to the conclusion that Eisenhower considers the war really was won by America, that every American view was right, and every British view wrong."

Volunteer Workers Harvest Stricken Neighbor's Crop

KANSAS CITY, MO.—It was harvest time on the farm of George Leeker, two and one-half miles northwest of Lenexa, Kas., in more than one sense of the word.

When 53 of Leeker's neighbors worked all day to harvest the farmer's 32 acres of corn, Leeker was reaping a harvest from seeds of affection and kindness for his neighbors he has sown in the past.

The men went to their neighbor's aid because Leeker, who suffered a stroke in June, has been ordered to do no heavy work.

As many of the volunteers pointed out, Leeker, who is a 60-year-old bachelor, has always been one who has gone to the aid of others or who has organized volunteer groups, like the one which visited his own farm, to help some one else get a crop harvested.

Snake and Mule Fight to Go On Despite Officials' Ban

WALNUT COVE, N. C.—Carnival man Bill Page sold his boa constrictor to a promoter who said he would match—at sea—the 23 foot snake with a hard-kicking mule. A similar battle to the death was blocked here by officials and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Page said indignantly that the SPCA had accused him of seeking cheap publicity. "I don't see anything cheap about making $3,500," he said.

Willie Sleeps on State Road Until Bus Passes Over Him

BUTLER, PA.—State police tell the story.

William Burgoon picked out a nice hard spot in the middle of Highway Route 8 to take a nap.

Willie Sleeps on State Road Until Bus Passes Over Him

Bus Driver Harry T. Murtaugh, Fredonia, N. Y., was wheeling his bus along the highway when he noticed the "object."

It was too late to stop. Murtaugh took aim and straddled it.

Then he stopped the big bus and ran back to give aid.

Burgoon didn't like the intrusion. He had been drinking, he was tired and he wanted to sleep.

Radiotopes Assist in Search for Better Tires

AKRON, OHIO.—Radiotopes from atomic ovens are being used in studies to make better tires. One project is to determine how much and how well chemical solutions penetrate various types and grades of tire cords.

In the future, the tagged atoms may be used toward solving the secret of what happens to rubber in vulcanization, said Dr. Howard E. Fritz, vice president in charge of research.

LOOKING AHEAD

BY GEORGE S. BENSON President - Harding College Searcy, Arkansas

Labor Statesmanship

One branch of America's organized labor, the Congress of Industrial Organizations, has made a move that puts it in the same class with great statesmen. You might not expect these large groups, organized for wage bargaining within industry, to enter the field of international relations. Yet the CIO, meeting recently in its yearly convention, did much to strengthen the hand of our government for the growing struggle in Europe.

When Phil Murray raged forth against the Communists, who had managed to get in under the CIO banner, he was not simply delivering a private opinion. Mr. Murray, himself a stalwart statesman within labor's councils, knew he was speaking with labor's whole voice. His strong condemnation of Communist infiltration in American labor brought cheers and amens from almost all the nation's wage earners.

Against the Enemy

Said Mr. Murray: "I'm not going to protect small cliques of men whose interests are promoted and propagated by the Daily Worker and the Communist party." As if in answer, the CIO gave its leaders the power to clean out those few leftists who give "slavish adherence" to Communist dictates.

For years, Communist Russia has worked for undercover power in all countries. Also, it has been the Russian policy to stir up trouble between labor and management, wherever and whenever this could be done. Along with this, the drums of propaganda pound out the command to "revolt." There are aroused strong class feelings and hates that cloud up the issues. Nobody, then, is able to think things out around the conference table. Organized labor is dead, whenever Communism gets hold.

Not Russia's Tool

The CIO has delivered an ultimatum to Russia. The CIO has let it be known that America is doing all right without any "dictatorship of the proletariat." It has served notice that American labor will not permit itself to be used as a tool to accomplish Russian conquest of the world. It has said to the Communist party: You can't camp here while waiting for the revolution and turmoil that you hope will give you a chance to take over!

My thanks to Mr. Murray and the CIO convention! All of us know that Communism can bring nothing but ill to this troubled world, that so much needs peace. We know that our own American way is already delivering the goods to an extent that puts to shame all the Communistic promises, false as they are. When you think of it, it is amazing that any American would be a part in any scheme or plot to force upon us a way of life that adds up to nothing but slavery.

No Fooling Labor

I have confidence that the American people will not be fooled by anything the Communist propaganda mill can turn out. When we recognize the fruits of American enterprise that we enjoy, amidst all the freedoms and liberties that are ours daily, a man would seem like an utter fool to think of changing our system for something else. I am thankful that our labor unions are awake to their responsibilities along these lines. They must keep eternal watch!

NEW MEXICO NOTES

From a Wheel Chair
(By Katherine B. Mabry)

Santa Fe, January 11, 1949—The Legislature convened today for sixty days of work. Everyone seems to feel that we have no state troubles which public minded lawmakers cannot solve.

I suppose the first few days will be spent as usual, in organizing, receiving and studying bills and getting down to business. The Governor's message seemed to tell us there are no difficulties to be met which cannot be easily settled with close scrutiny of requests of educational and other institutions for spending money.

New Mexico can be proud of her schools and the way we have progressed in that respect in recent years. Schools have always received the full support of New Mexico taxpayers and they will continue to have this, I am sure. We all merely want to feel that the educational dollar which takes more of our money than any other single item of public expense, is well spent; and every child, whether he lives in a poor or rich district or area, has an equal opportunity for an education. No service which the state performs comes under the close scrutiny of the mother, like that of schools. I can remember as a high school teacher myself, in the early days of statehood, when seventy to eighty dollars per month for nine months of the year, was considered good pay.

We know it was not good pay, even then, compared with other services which required as much training. We have learned to value the teacher and his services by altogether different standards, in recent years.

Another thing which will doubtless require the best efforts of the law-makers is that of finding a way to lift the living standards of the indigent old folks and the homeless and dependent children. New Mexico has been doing a fairly good job at this, it may be said, but there will be demands for increases in allowances for these unfortunates. Our state, though not a rich one, will as it should, cheerfully take on any reasonable tax obligation to see that the problems of distress and hunger are met.

Dickens has said: "No man is useless in the world who lightens the burdens of some one else". We could as well say that no state or community has lived up to its usefulness until it has done as much for its population of indigent aged, sick and unfortunate. For no one should rightfully expect more aid from the state, for such purposes than tax income will justify, which may mean we cannot have all that would be desirable if we were better able to pay for it.

The Legislature seems like a body of earnest and able men and women. Give them your ideas of what should be done. This is indeed your round table state discussion. Make use of it.

SUCCESS OF 4-H DUE TO LEADERS

Asking no pay for their services 4,500 men and women in Iowa are responsible for the training which 4-H club members receive.

These local club leaders are picked to guide rural youth because they are outstanding farmers and homemakers, enjoy and understand youths and are willing to go out of their way to encourage them in their club work.

Have Own Duties
Often these men and women have duties in their homes which are pressing them, yet, they willingly take time to attend club meetings, train 4-H'ers for demonstrations, go along on club tours, and attend county meetings and all-day leaders training schools.

Many times, although corn may need picking or tomatoes canning, 4-H leaders will take two or three days to go with delegates to state conventions, short courses and fairs.

Why do these men and women devote so much of their time to 4-H work? Because they find that there is satisfaction in aiding rural youths to become rural adults, tomorrow's leaders.

Personality Counts
A 4-H leader must be a well-rounded individual who can guide his members in all phases of their work—agriculture or home economics, citizenship health, service, music, and literature. His personality is an important factor. He must be the kind of person who can serve as a goal and a model for his 4-H'ers; his life and his farm home must show that he practices what he preaches.

A million more neighbors...

Telephone service everywhere has expanded by leaps and bounds since the end of the war—and nowhere has the growth been faster than in rural areas.

The rural telephone expansion program is actually ahead of schedule, for the Bell System's five-year postwar goal of adding one million rural telephones has already been reached—in little more than three years.

Every telephone added, whether in city, town or on a farm, means one more "neighbor" for every telephone user.

It is our objective in 1949 to bring service to more and more people, not only in rural areas but everywhere—and to improve the service for all.

FUTURE FARMERS RODEO AT SANTA ROSA IN JUNE

Plans are now being made for the second annual State Future Farmers of America Rodeo which will be held in Santa Rosa, June 24th, 25th, and 26th. Last year over twenty-five hundred people saw 57 boys from 17 different F. F. A. Chapters through out the State compete for prizes. First prize in each event will be either a quarter-horse yearling or a heifer calf donated by the ranchers of Guadalupe county. The best all-round cowboy of the show will be awarded a Hobbs two-horse trailer and the runner-up will receive a hand-tooled roping saddle. Other prizes are donated by business concerns, makers of western clothing, etc. The top rodeo officials in the state donate their service for the show. Entries are limited to high school boys who are members of the Future Farmers of America Organization. At their convention last summer the State Organization designated the Santa Rosa Rodeo as the Official State Rodeo. Indications are that a much larger entry list is to be expected this year.

IN THE NEWS

Chevrolet's biggest newspaper advertising campaign will use 5,972 dailies and weeklies to announce new models January 22. Dwarling Toni Banish, here's what a 2022 newspaper look like, each representing an individual publication.

New Markets are Born in a Test Tube

Many million head of livestock are marketed annually. Demand for meat from these animals has been increased by Swift research.

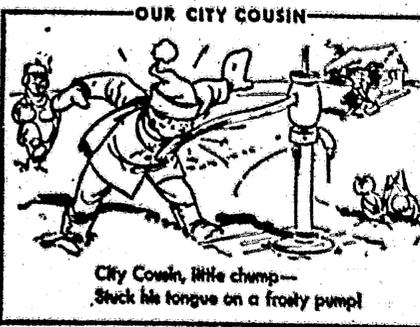

From livestock country to city counter, science blazes the trail for a thriving livestock-meat industry. Among these trail-blazers are 400 trained personnel in the Swift research laboratories and test kitchens. Pioneer-scientists, they develop new meat products—find new uses for more and more livestock by-products. Scientist-salesmen, they create new markets—better values for your livestock.

Yes, their work means money to you... millions! The average annual commercial slaughter for the last ten years was over 28½ million cattle and calves, nearly 65 million hogs, and over 22 million sheep and lambs. That's a lot of meat—and it's a lot of by-products, too! Cowhides, pigskins, and sheepskins, by the millions, for everyday leather goods. Well over 50 million pounds of pulled wool annually for cloth and clothing. Thousands of tons of lards and soaps for home and industry. Carcasses of animal foods. Tons of hair for upholstery. The list is almost endless.

Research found how to derive life-saving pharmaceuticals from animal by-products. Hero numbers are important. For example, tiny glands from many thousands of animals must be saved to produce one pound of adrenalin, powerful heart stimulant. To yield one pound of crystalline insulin, vital in the treatment of diabetes, the pancreatic glands of 20,000 cattle are needed. Important, too, is albumin, tuberculosis "detector" recovered from cattle blood—and many more beneficial, all-important medicinal products derived from animal slaughter.

Now recent research has developed an entirely new line of important chemicals from fatty acids. One chemical from fat makes clothing water-repellent. Another is a flotation agent, useful in the separation of phosphates for fertilizers. Another prolongs the life of synthetic tires by causing them to run cooler. And detergents, "soap substitutes," have been recovered for use with hard water in the home and industry. So the list grows, from day to day.

Yes, science performs a direct, very valuable business service for you, the livestock producer. Through new products and new markets, it 1) maintains or improves the position of meat on the American menu; 2) often reduces the price we get for the meat to less than we pay for the live animal; 3) enables the meat packer to pay you more for all your livestock.

New products are developed, new uses are found for meat and by-products in Swift's Food Research Laboratories. Thus our "scientist-salesmen" help you find wider outlets for your livestock.

Business Must Serve

As you look about your own neighborhood you'll find some men who are assets to the community, others who add nothing to community life. These good citizens may be large operators or "little fellows." You do not rate them by the size of their operations but by their characters, abilities and what they contribute to the good of the community.

This same principle holds true in business. The business that performs worthwhile service to the community is an asset, whether it be a local concern or a big national organization.

In our livestock-meat industry both large and small meat packing plants are essential. Two-thirds of our country's livestock is raised and fed west of the Mississippi, where the great grainlands and grasslands are... Two-thirds of the meat is eaten east of the Mississippi, where most of the people live. Large packers are needed to handle the processing and distribution of meat for a nation of 145,000,000 people.

Swift & Company has grown with the expansion of the United States in the past 65 years. That's because we perform services of value to the people of America—to farmers, ranchers, meat dealers, and consumers of meats. We have to be efficient to provide these services. Meat packers have applied to meat products the economies of mass-production and mass-marketing. We have developed one of the lowest cost food distributing systems in the nation. By saving by-products and by reducing waste, we increase the value of producers' livestock.

But so keen is the competition—in both the buying and selling ends of our business—that these services have averaged us, over the years, earnings of only a fraction of a cent per pound of meat.

To all of our friends on the farms and ranches of America, we of Swift send our sincere best wishes for a happy, peaceful and prosperous New Year.

John Hodson
President, Swift & Company

Home-makers use more and more meat and livestock products, thanks to findings of Swift nutritionists.

Martha Logan's Recipe for PORK AND NOODLES (Yield: 5 servings)
1 pound ground pork 1 4-oz. package noodles

New Year's resolutions are like eggs—they're made to be broken. It's not the hours you put in, but what you put into your hours.

QUOTES OF THE MONTH

Animals have done more to make America great than any other one thing. Directly and indirectly, animals account for about 80 per cent of the jobs in the food industry, and the food industry accounts for about 55 per cent of the total employment in this country.

Soil testing with the Illinois test not only saves the average farmer $30 for every $1 spent on testing, but increases food production by using every ton of fertilizing material where it will do the most good.

Crossbred or Fine-Wool?

by A. C. Esplin
Utah State Agricultural College;
Logan, Utah

Crossbreeding in Western Range herds has long been a discussion point among operators. The advantages of the crossbred over fine-wool are:

- 1) Crossbred ewes are better mothers;
- 2) they are more prolific breeders;
- 3) they produce lighter shrinkage wool;
- 4) they produce high percentage combing wool;
- 5) they produce better mutton lambs;
- 6) they are better rustlers on the range; and
- 7) they are larger sheep.

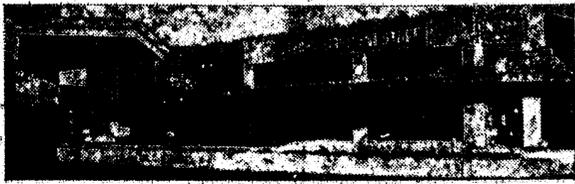

The disadvantages reported for crossbred ewes are: 1) they are shorter lived than fine-wool ewes; 2) they lose wool on brush and do not hold fleeces when past 3 years of age; 3) crossbred ewe lambs must be sold as feeders and ewes bought for replacement; 4) they are more difficult to herd than fine-wool ewes; 5) they are not as hardy as fine-wool ewes; 6) it is impossible to maintain standards of breeding and uniform wool grades with crossbred ewes; 7) annual death losses are more than with fine-wool ewes.

This, as a whole, expresses the range operator's thinking on problems of breeds of sheep and breeding operations. Length of life, density and quality of fleeces, uniformity of herd, and hardiness instincts are considered by the largest number of operators.

What does your bank consider a good loan?

It's a good loan when it can meet these tests: Is the purpose of the loan constructive? Will the loan really help the borrower? Can the loan be made without contributing to rising prices? Can the borrower repay the loan out of his earnings without hardship? When the answer is "yes" to those questions, the loan is most likely to be approved.

BACKWARD GLANCES

40 YEARS AGO FROM 1909 CARRIZOZO NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. French returned this week from Knoxville Tennessee. Mr. French is engaged in the sheep business at Ancho, but has rented a dwelling in Carrizozo.

Misses Lena Boyd and Myrtle Elinon left Sunday on No. 1 for the agricultural college having spent holidays at home.

The Carrizozo Trading Company had a page advertising "a great slaughter" in Ladies winter suits dresses and coats, also included in sale was fine line of ladies fleeced lined union suits "at prices to make them go."

Welch and Titsworth of Capitan had a half page advertising cement building supplies, and everything for ranches.

30 YEARS AGO FROM CARRIZOZO OUTLOOK

Chas. A. Snow who has been stationed at Gulfport, Miss., arrived home on No. 4 last Monday. Mrs. Snow who has been visiting her husband's relatives in Texas arrived Tuesday. Verily, there is much "Snow" in the old town now and it does us good to see it.

O. Z. Finley has purchased the H. S. Campbell home on Whit-Oaks avenue, and also the Campbell ranch. Mr. Finley is to congratulate on the purchase of Mayor Campbell's home.

Last Saturday January 4th, Mr. Elton Boone and Mrs. Beulah White were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. White. Having been reared here her friends and admirers are many. The groom is assistant cashier at the Lincoln State Bank. The groom has lived here three years and has made friends rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kelsey have moved from Occura to Carrizozo. Mr. Kelsey has accepted the appointment as Deputy Sheriff at the hands of Sheriff Duran, and in justice to this appointment we say it could not have been better.

THE NEW MEXICO WEEKLY NEWSLETTER

(Dr. G. Ward Fenley)

It has been quite an interesting week - what with brickbats calling merrily toward this poor "two-bit" reporter's head on the intensely interesting subject of New Mexico place names.

Arch, says Portales' Mrs. R. E. White, came from Arch Gregg early sheriff of Roosevelt County. Belen is a contraction of Bethlehem (for the information of Bethel's Carter Wajd.)

Carlsbad, first known as Eddy, was named for the Carlsbad Spring which in turn was named for the famous watering place in Bohemia. Frances Rasser Brown in a book entitled "The Spanish had a Name for Them"

Among the brickbats hurled our way this week, we have been informed that the Santa Fe Railroad named millions of New Mexico towns, and their information is reliable.

Chama, meaning "red" came from the color of the Chama River - according to Mary Austin in "Land of Journey's Ending."

Clayton was so-called from Clayton Dorsey, son of Arkansas' famous Senator S. W. Dorsey. Senator Dorsey and the well-known Bob Ingersoll established the Triangle Dot ranch of Union and Colfax counties - according to Col. Jack Potter.

Ranch Names Abound

To show the importance of New Mexico as a ranching territory, 3 counties have towns named Coyote, Lincoln, Rio Arriba and Sandoval.

Cuba got its title from the 340 Rough Riders who went from New Mexico with Teddy Roosevelt's expedition to Cuba.

Deming came into being because of Mary Ann Deming, daughter of an Indiana sawmill man. She later married Charles Crocker. Crocker was instrumental in building the Southern Pacific through Deming.

Another Country Heard From

Correcting our information on Elida - we said Curved Draw - Alsey Alford wrote the Carlsbad Current - Argus saying the town was named for a 1802 settler there Mr. J. H. McGee, who had two daughters, Ella and Ida - thus Elida. Gallup got its post office corner from D. L. Gallup, auditor of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad. The Atlantic and Pacific met the Santa in New Mexico and was bought out by the AT&P later.

House was for John and Josie House, who homesteaded there. Mr. House was in the territorial legislature at the time New Mexico's constitution was formed.

20 YEARS AGO FROM 1929 LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS

Annual Watch Party of the Carrizozo Woman's Club was held at the home of Mrs. Nellie Branum Monday night. Program was under the direction of Mrs. Paul Mayer. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Branum and her daughter, Mrs. Clouse. The club feels very grateful to Mrs. Branum for opening her home to the club on this occasion.

A two-column space is devoted to prospects of oil development. People were being urged to lease lands in the "Carrizozo Flats" to prospectors.

Mr. T. J. Pittman was operating the Crystal theatre, Betty Comson in "Desert Bride" and Joan Crawford in our "Darling Daughter" were the stars for Jan. 10 and 11.

Ziegler Bros. had a page ad announcing their January clearance sale. Shoes, millinery, suits, dresses, were to be sold at "drastically reduced prices."

Penfields entertained at Lincoln with their usual charming hospitality. Covers were laid for Nellie Shaver, Juell Miller, Nellie Pfingsten, Julia Penfield and Messrs. James Garner, Tommy Hubbard and Edward Penfield.

10 YEARS AGO FROM 1939 LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS

Zeigler Bros. had a page ad. On sale were mens chambray shirts at 69c. Ladies winter coats at half price. Ladies wash dresses at 99c and $1.69

Land notices were being published for M. G. Penix, Woodrow Payne, Fred Strawbridge, Laura Guhl, James Brown and others.

Edward Penfield was county clerk. Mrs. Thelma Shaver was his deputy.

Mrs. Carolyn Rountree came over from Capitan and spent the week end with friends.

The Lincoln County Agency has their ad headed "E Pluribus Unum" and hoped that all classes and groups to bend their efforts to achieve the unity essential to progress, as indicated in the motto.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Dutch Forces Overrun Indonesia; Peace Feeler Offered China Reds; U. S. Stand Settled If War Comes

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

WAR IN INDONESIA . . . Describing the offensive as "police action" against Indonesian terrorists, the Dutch government managed to invade the Indonesian republic by land, sea and air in time to enable Dutch troops to spend Christmas on Java. The capital city, Jogjakarta (1), was captured in the first hours of fighting, and the Netherlands forces moved easily through Indonesia in an almost bloodless occupation.

DUTCH PUSH: Into Indonesia

The young Indonesian republic was fallen on evil days. Dutch troops raced through Java and Sumatra in a bloodless occupation, threatening the remaining important centers of the republic.

DUTCH MARINES had forged to the outskirts of the Republican army's only oil center on Java. Other Netherlands forces, in a lightning thrust through western Sumatra, were within 40 miles of the chief Republican city on that island.

Decrying charges of war and invasion, the Dutch termed their activities "police action." Well ahead of their time-table, the Dutch had effected advances with practically no bloodshed.

International diplomats turned eyes toward Washington where the United States had been formally asked to grant "political and economic" support to the tiny republic. The Indonesian minister had further asked serious consideration of U. S. cutting off of Marshall-plan aid to the Netherlands because of the Dutch action in the East Indies.

The Dutch announcement on the outbreak of hostilities said:

"FOLLOWING a breakdown of informal talks with the republic after its failure to comply with its truce obligations or to reply to the last Dutch note asking for a binding declaration on four essential points, the Netherlands government reluctantly finds itself obliged to take military action against terrorist activities and undisciplined elements in the republic who render any constructive policy impossible."

The Indonesians had some support. An American member of the United Nations good offices committee charged the Dutch had violated the Indonesian truce agreement signed last January after the first abortive war in Java had ended.

U. S. DECISION: All Settled

If it comes to war with Russia, where will the United States stand?

Diplomatic informants had no doubt as to the answer. Their opinion was firm and immediate: The United States is prepared, even in advance of a formal military alliance, to coordinate its military forces in Europe with those of the western European powers in the event of open conflict with Russia.

IF SHOOTING ever starts, these officials said, American forces would come under the general operational control of the western European commander, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, of Britain. Montgomery is chairman of the military staff committee of the western European union.

But these sources added that there is no reason now more than there ever has been to consider that war with Russia is close at hand or unavoidable. In fact, it was said top officials have great hope that the building up of real power in the western world by devices such as the military arrangement for western Europe will discourage the Russians from committing any overt act.

THE COUNTRIES in the western European union, Britain, Belgium, France, the Netherlands and Luxembourg are negotiating now with the United States on more permanent military arrangements. Their embassies are working with U. S. state department officials to draft a north Atlantic region security alliance by which the United States would be committed to help any member nation if any of them were attacked.

POLL-TOPPER: Mr. Truman

If there is anything to the adage about he who laughs last laughs best, Harry S. Truman should be chuckling at to kill himself.

He not only pole-axed the pollsters with his election victory but, snatching a hair from the dog that bit him, he turned up as the "most admired man" in the world, as far as Americans are concerned. And he did it in a poll—Dr. George Gallup's poll, in fact.

PEACE FEELER: To China Reds

Time really was running out for the Nationalist government of China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. Sun Fo, son of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, revered "father of the Chinese republic," was at the helm as premier and had put together a new cabinet. "We have to fight on," he told the cabinet, "until we can secure an honorable peace" with the Communists.

THUS WAS the cat out of the bag. Indications were plain that if nothing could be worked out with Chiang in the saddle, he might be unhorsed and peace brought to troubled China by other hands.

Sun's statement, which could be viewed as a peace feeler toward the Reds, came as the Communists tightened their squeeze on the big northern city of Tientsin.

After his comment about an "honorable peace," Sun added:

"I CAN ASSURE you that we will not surrender outright . . . Such a surrender, he said, would mean "scuttling" the anti-Communist front and "China would become a second Poland or Czechoslovakia—which I am trying to prevent."

Failure of any enthusiastic reception to Madame Chiang's "help, please" visit to Washington and of the nationalist armies to stem the Communist hordes combined to dim any hope for survival of the present nationalist regime.

GOOD NEWS: About Food

Out of the welter of news of bad things that might happen, come good news of food—among them report of prospects of lower prices during 1949.

FOR INSTANCE, various food authorities predicted that increased food supplies would reduce to some extent the cost of setting the nation's tables in the coming 12 months. Comments to this effect were forthcoming from the annual food-industry-review issue of the National Grocers' bulletin, a publication of the National Association of Retail Grocers.

Too, various indexes of wholesale prices showed the food-price level declining.

In the grocers' bulletin, Agriculture Secretary Brannan said:

"The United States has entered the door of the year of plenty."

FOOD RETAILERS added rosy tints to the picture with the observation that prices, besides declining slightly, would be more stable in 1949 than they have been in the postwar years.

Breadwinners and householders greeted the news warmly. Both could stand a lot of price slashing as an ease in such other aggravating problems as automobile and housing shortages, dwindling dollar value in other fields, drafting of the nation's youth and threats to peace abroad.

DOPE: Fewer Addicts

Federal narcotic agents could take a breather—there were fewer dope addicts in the United States.

Three experts, writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, declared there are only 48,000 narcotic addicts in the nation now, and most of them are men. These experts declared that the number of drug users has dwindled from between 150,000 to 200,000 in 1914 to about 48,000 at the last count.

Drug addiction is a symptom of a basic underlying personality maladjustment, according to the experts, and victims fall into five general classes. These are, in the order of their numerical importance:

THOSE WHO become accidentally addicted while taking drugs for illness; those who take drugs to relieve psychoneurotic symptoms; psychopathic persons who learn through association with other addicts; persons with real mental illness who feel better while taking drugs; and a minor group with "behavior or character" disorders.

RED FACES: In Pentagon

There were red faces in the Pentagon building, seat of army bureaucracy. A citizens' committee had declared flatly that the nation's military establishment is "cumbersome and costly" despite reported unification.

The members speculated that Russia might be trying to achieve "victory by bankruptcy" in forcing the United States into constantly increasing military expansion.

THAT APPRAISAL came from a committee of the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of Government, established by the last congress. Former President Herbert Hoover heads the whole commission, Ferdinand Eberstadt, New York financier, is chairman of the unit reporting on national security. Other members include educators, newspapermen and business executives.

The committee said that "while unification had made the United States far better prepared, the cost of defense preparations were alarmingly high in terms of money, manpower and drain on resources."

It cited mistakes it said had been made by the armed forces, hence the red faces in the Pentagon.

It added that President Truman might well have asked for complete mobilization if he had followed the estimate that "an immediate military effort was afoot aboard, rather than an intensification of the cold war."

The agency making the mistake was not identified in the report, but there was speculation it stemmed from the air force. It appeared, too, that the army had somehow lost track of 9,000 of its tanks.

TAFT: Main Event

Ohio's U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, longtime big wheel in Republican party affairs, conceded in a talk with capital newsmen that he faces a fight for his political life in 1950.

TO ONE newsmen who asked if he had any ideas of seeking the presidency in 1952, Taft replied, "I am going to run for the senate two years from now. Frankly, my eyes can't see a thing beyond November 2, 1950—or whatever the date is. It's going to be a major contest."

Taft was only admitting what all Ohio politicians have known and all labor people are saying. To them, the only question remaining is who his Democratic opponent will be.

TAFT RECALLED that he had "read some place that labor has three million dollars to spend, and they probably will spend one million in Ohio."

Standing firm on issues which may ultimately drive him out of the senate, Taft served definite notice of his unyielding opposition to any administration move to repeal the Taft-Hartley law outright.

FARMERS: No Croesus

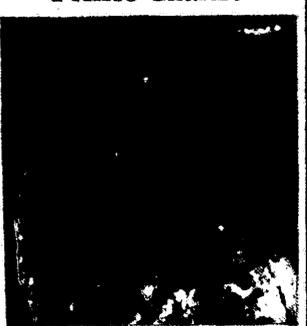

Contrary to a supposition among many citizens, farmers were not getting rich on "boom time" prices.

THE NATIONAL Planning association found this out when it raised the question: Should farmers use profits from record-high farm prices to buy more indoor plumbing, give their children better educations, or take a trip to Europe?—or should they buy more land and expand their farms in the hope of making more money?

The staid, competent Associated Press sampled farmer opinion on these questions. Results: Many farmers denied they had made any "boom time" profits, claiming that it must have been the western cattlemen and wheat growers who made all the money.

They contended, generally, that the high price of labor and farm machinery ate up the profits.

Prince Charlie

Smiling happily as only a young mother can, Princess Elizabeth poses with her baby after the royal infant had been christened Prince Charles Philip Arthur George of Edinburgh. The prince took all the pomp and circumstance with tongue in cheek and thumb in mouth.

Can't Stay There

Housing remained critical. In Detroit, four families with a total of 18 children, faced eviction from living quarters they had set up in voting booths. The families, all able to pay rent, were allowed to use the vacant wooden polling booths when they were unable to find other housing.

An official ordered the children taken to hospitals or children's homes, and gave the parents more time to find quarters.

GLAMOUR PLANE . . . The stately interior of this U. S. air force Lockheed Constellation shows the "executive stateroom" which reportedly was too swank for President Truman. He prefers his less glamorous DC-4. The "mystery plane," said to have been ordered for use as a flying flagship for Dewey, is now at Mitchell Field. The plane holds 36 passengers plus a crew of six.

BACK TO JAPAN . . . Jacob Deshaizer, 36, made his first and only trip to Japan early in the morning of April 29, 1942, as a bombardier in General Doolittle's famous raid on Tokyo. He was forced down and spent 46 months in a Jap prison camp. Today, Deshaizer and his wife, shown here, and their year-old son are on their way to Japan determined to serve the rest of their lives as missionaries.

HONOR WRIGHT PLANE . . . General view of the celebrity-studded gathering at the formal presentation of the Wright brothers' "Wing Hawk" at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. The ceremony opened a day of tribute to the first men to fly 45 years ago. In the right background is Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, chief of state of the Smithsonian, as he addressed the crowd after acceptance ceremonies.

DOUBLE DUTY

By JOHN H. ROSE

He was so young to have the heavy burden he was carrying, but Martha didn't realize her son was strong mentally as well as physically, nor that he could keep a secret as well as the next person.

"JOEY, supper will be ready in half an hour," called Martha to her son who was entering the spring house with a bucket of milk in each hand.

"O. K., Mom," shouted the lad in response, "I'm through with the milking. I'll be in as soon as I clean up."

Martha watched him a few minutes later as he trudged toward the house. He was big for 14, and with faithful "Shep" trotting along at his heels, Joey made an impressive picture against the backdrop of the setting sun.

"Just like a magazine cover," thought Martha, as tears of pride welled up into her eyes. Her little man, Joey had shouldered a burden during the past year that many a man could not have handled as well. The plowing, planting, fence repairs, and the thousand odd chores that must be completed on a farm had all been mastered by Joey. He seemed to almost relish his role as man of the house while dad was away.

Day after day he had toiled in the fields with the team while other boys his age were swimming, fishing, and berrying, unhampered by the cares of labor. But Joey had seemed impervious to their comings and goings. Many evenings at the supper table, Martha noticed the boy dozing from exhaustion. A spoon or fork would often pause, suspended mid-way between mouth and table. She never gave utterance to this observation of weariness, lest her sympathy extinguish his feeling of being the family breadwinner. Their conversations were those of business partners rather than mother and son.

Martha longed to tuck him in at night, or to hug his tow head to her breast. Little Joey was her only consolation in her longing for Big Joe. Countless times during the lonely nights, she had tiptoed quietly into his room to stand beside the bed where he slept. Often she caressed his blond head or kissed him lightly on the cheek as he lay deep in the refreshing sleep of childhood. Each time, she struggled within herself to check the tears of love and loneliness as she slipped quietly back to her own empty room; fearful lest she waken him and bring his big world tumbling down around him.

Joey was living from day to day in a world of big responsibility, and she could not, in spite of her longing to be more demonstrative toward her 14-year-old, jolt him into reality. She told herself that was the reason why she had never told Joey about his father.

Well-meaning friends had tried to persuade Martha to sell the farm and move to town. Her troubles dated from the day she had received the telegram from the Arizona hospital. Big Joe was never coming back! He had a hopeless case of tuberculosis—it was just a matter of months. But how could she tell Joey? The knowledge of her unshared grief had caustic her to shed thousands of inner tears in Joey's presence, and endless nights of heart-breaking sobs in her own room. But she felt that, somehow, they must keep the farm that held so many fond memories.

The first days after she and Joe were married had seemed almost impossible. The work at the barn and in the fields had continued endlessly. At first, she had worked side by side with Big Joe, and they had sacrificed everything, denying themselves the very necessities of life in order to make the payments on the farm. Then little Joey had come to crown their happiness. A mutual pride and joy which they had shared in watching other things grow on the farm had then been centered in Joey.

Martha had decided that life was practically perfect until one day big Joe had come in from his work in mid-morning. Surprised to see him, Martha had inquired what was wrong. Joe just stared off into space, and then he answered,

"Martha, there's something wrong with me. I'm weak and tired all the time, and I keep coughing and coughing."

For the first time Martha noticed how tired Joe really did look. She suggested that he see a doctor at once, but big Joe said he probably just had spring fever. The following

"Just like a magazine cover," thought Martha, as tears of pride welled up into her eyes.

Saturday when they went to town, she had persuaded him to stop in to see old Doc Crane.

It hadn't taken Doc long to decide that Joe should have some X-rays. The following month the X-rays were taken by the county health officer in the new mobile unit, and Doc Crane's fears had been substantiated. Doc suggested Arizona.

Martha could still remember those two weeks when she and Joe had planned how they could make out if she could keep the farm going. Her father would help and little Joey would continue to school. Big Joe was not to worry, but exert all his effort toward getting well again.

The first year, things had gone very smoothly indeed, until the rheumatism laid her father on the shelf. Martha was desperate. All the spring work lay ahead, and it was impossible to find anyone to take over the work. She had talked it over with Joey, and together they had decided to go it alone. She could still hear little Joey as he said,

"Gee, Mom, I'm big enough to do the work. Grampa let me plow some last year, and I'm lots bigger and stronger now."

So Joey had become the man of the family. Then the telegram had come. Big Joe would never be coming back. There were those who thought Martha cruel for not telling the boy that his Dad wasn't coming home. At times, she thought she must tell him; but she postponed it, feeling that, somehow, the right time would come... a time when he might be strong enough to stand the heartbreak. Perhaps in a few weeks before Joey returned to school, or when Miller moved in to sharecrop the farm.

The summer had come and gone swiftly. Already the first suggestion of impending autumn was noticeable in the coloring of the countryside. The crops had been abundant, and the harvests were good for Joey and Martha. Many had bestowed compliments and Joey glowed with pride when the men had remarked about the size of the yield during the threshing season.

Returning home from a Saturday shopping trip, the two were making big talk about the coming school term.

"We sure were lucky to get Miller, weren't we, Mom?" asked Joey. "Yes, son," replied his mother. "And not a bit too soon either. I don't know what I would have done with you going back to school if we hadn't found someone to take over this winter."

Suddenly Martha knew that the time had come to tell Joey the unhappy secret which she had carried now for more than a year in her grief-stricken heart. But how could she bring herself to do it? She must strive to make it as easy as possible.

She swung the car into their lane, and pulled to a stop in the yard before the kitchen door. The purchases were quickly unloaded, and Joey lit a fire in the big kitchen range. Now was the time! Even before she removed her wraps, Martha laid her arms across Joey's shoulders, and began,

"Joey, dear, there's something I've been wanting to tell you for a long time. I've been so proud of you this summer, and I... Well, somehow it seemed I just couldn't spoil everything you were working so hard for with bad news. Now you're going back to school, and we're so fortunate to have Miller coming."

"I want you to work hard at school this fall," she continued as she noted the questioning look in his eyes. Then she simply related, "God decided that you and I had a job to do together, Joey... Your Father will never be able to come home. In fact," she continued as she struggled to hold back the tears, "he may have only a few more months to live."

There was a long moment of silence... a moment which lasted an eternity for Martha. "Oh, dear God, make him understand," she prayed silently.

Joey didn't say a word but drew his mother's face to his own and kissed her, tenderly and boyishly. He patted her softly on the cheek.

"Aw, gee, Mom, I understand," he said, and the tears stood in the corners of his eyes. Martha could see how brave he was trying to be. "Now I better take care of my feeding," he said somewhat hoarsely. "Can we have the pecan roll we got in town for our supper, Mom?" he asked as he changed from his suit coat into his overall jacket. The coat was thrown carelessly across the seat of a nearby chair. Martha watched him walk slowly from the room, a firm set to his shoulders.

"He took it like a man," she thought, as she removed her own wraps. Then she saw his coat lying on the chair, and smiled, thinking, "He acts like a man in some ways, but when it comes to his clothes, he's all boy." She picked up the coat to hang it properly. As she did so, a small notebook and some papers tumbled from the inside pocket. Gathering them up to replace them, Martha was startled at the sight of the yellow envelope. Could it be?

It was! Among the contents of Joey's pocket was the well-worn and much read telegram from the tuberculosis sanitarium.

Ringold Lady Dora Tops Hampshire Sows Raises Total of 71 Pigs to Weaning Age

First of her Hampshire breed to become a "seven-star" sow, Ringold Lady Dora No. 753,056 has raised a total of 71 pigs to weaning age, an average of 10.1 pigs per litter. This record is more impressive when compared with national averages. According to U. S. department of agriculture reports, the national average is 6.18 spring pigs and 0.39 fall pigs per litter raised to weaning age.

Here, with her seventh "star" family, is Ringold Lady Dora No. 753,056, champion production sow in the Hampshire breed and the first of her kind to qualify as a "seven-star" sow.

To qualify for a star in the Hampshire production registry a sow must raise a litter of at least eight pigs, without fault or defect, to weigh 320 pounds within 60 days of farrowing. And of course to gain a "seven-star" record Ringold Lady Dora has repeated this performance seven times. She is the first cow in the Hampshire breed to be listed for either the sixth or seventh "star" litters.

In her seventh "star" litter, this sow farrowed 16 pigs, nine of which were saved. The eight selected for registration weighed 443 pounds at 60 days after farrowing.

The production champion was fed a ration containing corn, oats, alfalfa and pelleted milk by-products prior to farrowing. Her pigs were creep fed early and raised on a ration of seven parts corn, and three parts oats, with 8 per cent milk by-products added.

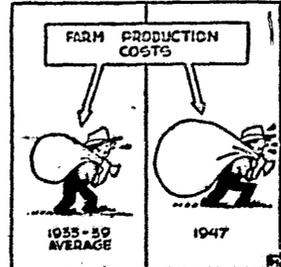

Ringold Lady has been owned and bred by William C. Goodheart, Jr., of Eaton, Ohio, since 1944, and was sold to Meadowlark Farms, Inc., Sullivan, Ind.

Farm Production Costs

Farm production costs have nearly tripled since the pre-war years of 1935-39, according to U. S. department of agriculture statistics. These costs totaled 14.9 billion dollars in 1947, compared with 5.2 billion before World War II's outbreak. Farm wages are now three and a half times the 1935-39 average.

Meanwhile, farm prices have slumped and many economists expect a further easing in months ahead. Corn and wheat are already 25 to 40 per cent under their early 1948 peaks.

Farmers can best meet the impact of higher production costs and lower prices by good soil management that steps up crop producing efficiency and lowers output costs per unit.

Good soil management involves no magic or mystery. It simply means playing fair with the soil by returning organic matter and plant nutrients used up by constant crop production. Organic matter can be restored by growing deep-rooted legumes such as alfalfa or sweet clover in the rotation and plowing them under for green manure.

When the soil is restocked with organic matter and plant food you will get higher yields and you will cut your production costs.

Strange Fruit
Two little girls were being taken away from London, and as a special treat someone had given them a couple of bananas—the first they had ever had.

As soon as one child had taken a bite of her banana the unlighted train ran into a tunnel.
"Oo, Mary," she said, "have you eaten yours yet?"
"No," replied Mary.
"Well, don't," added Jane.
"They make you blind."

"Were you ever disappointed in love?"

My Creed

I HAVE the faith to know that this deep sorrow Weighing upon my heart will lift at last; That I shall waken on some glad tomorrow, Happy once more, the troubled darkness past.

And I have hope—I keep its fire burning, Although my soul and body be distressed— The hope that somehow with the old earth's turning This pain will cease, and time will bring me rest.

Oh, I believe that He who walks beside me Closer than any lover, any friend, Will lead at last, no matter what beside me, Into the sunlight at the journey's end.
