CORONA NEWS

(By Mrs. A. E. Mulkey)

Mr. Fred Burgess, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Burgess, has been employed as teacher here next year. He has his degree from New Mexico Agricultural College, and this will be his first year teaching. His father is one of the high school teachers here.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Nation will also teach here next year. They have their degree from Eastern New Mexico College, and they both have several year's experience in Curry and Quay Counties.

The Senior Girl Scouts are planning to go camping in the Gallinas Mountains the week after school is out. They will leave Sunday, May 7 and return Friday May 13. Next Sunday, Mother's Day, the girls are inviting all their friends to come out and inspect the cabins, and bring a basket lunch.

The application for sale of Vaughn and Encino Light Plants to the Central New Mexico Cooperative, was sent to New Mexico Public Service Commission May 2. This sale is expected to be consummated about June 1, says Mr. Robert A. Jones manager of REA here at Corona.

Dr. F. E. Toland made a business trip to Chandler, Ariz., the past week end. Mrs. Toland and baby stayed with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Foster at Cedarvale.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dishman were visiting at Markle, Ok., the first of this week. They went home with two of Mr. Dishman's sisters who were visiting here, Mrs. Myrtle Bowers and Mrs. Bessie Clark.

A tea was held last Sunday afternoon between four and six p. m. at the W. B. Winniford ranch honoring Mr. Sterling Rodke, fifth grade teacher in the Corona grade school.

This is the last week of school at Corona. The annual school exhibit was held last week, Friday, April 29. The exhibit was as good as the years past—if not better. Visitors from Carrizozo were Mrs. Baumgardner, county nurse; Mrs. Eva Wilson, county superintendent, and Mrs. Callie Rocelle, who brought her famous button collection—more than 17,000 buttons. Many others, parents and friends, visited the different rooms throughout the day. Exceptional fine work was displayed in all rooms and departments. Corona school is one of the best in the state, and our school faculty is to be congratulated upon the completion of a successful year.

Olan A. Roper, Jr., small son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Roper, Jr., died in a hospital in Lubbock, Texas, Thursday, April 28, at the age of eight months and one day. Funeral services were held at Fort Sumner Friday, April 29th.

The remains of Olan A. Roper, an uncle of the Olan, Jr., and brother of Sam Roper, is due at Corona either May 6 or May 8 from the Philippines. The Ropers have lived around Corona and Carrizozo for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. DuBois of Stockton, Calif., announce the arrival of a son born April 17. They named him David Thomas. The DuBois family are former residents of Corona.

Joe Garcia

Mr. Joe Garcia, prominent and well known citizen passed away last Tuesday after an illness of three weeks. Funeral services will be held this morning.

His sons from California and other relatives are here for the funeral.

Father Max Valdez, Fiesta Speaker

Patronal Feast at Santa Rita Church, Announced by Fr. de Baca.

Father Vito C. de Baca, Pastor of Santa Rita Church, has announced that the "funcion" i. e., the patronal feast of the parish, will take place on May 17th and 18th.

St. Rita of Cascia (1896-1456) was born at Rocca Perena, Italy. She was a model wife and mother for eighteen years. After the death of her husband and sons, she became a nun at the Augustinian convent at Cascia. She was noted for her mortification, and mystical gifts. St. Rita is specially honored in Spain, where she is called the "Saint of the Impossible,"—owing to the wonderful favors obtained through her intercession. The Patron of the St. Rita Church is represented holding roses, and sometimes with a wound in her forehead. Saint Rita is outstanding for her love of the sacraments and for her frequentation of the sacraments.

The ceremonies of the "Funcion" will begin May 17, at 7:00 with solemn Vespers. The officers of the Vespers have been tentatively announced as follows: Celebrant: The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Jose Garcia, Vicar General of the Archdiocese of Santa Fe; Deacon: Father Carl Hammer; Subdeacon: Father Roy-ner Bartos; Master of ceremonies: Father Leo Fay, Immaculate Conception Church, Las Vegas. The minor offices will be held by the students of the Santa Rita School.

The solemn Mass will begin on May 18, at 10:00. Father John T. Sanchez will be celebrant; Father Patrick Pharrand and Father Myron, O. F. M. will serve as deacon and subdeacon. Sabino Vidaurri and David Luera will be Master of ceremonies and assistant master of ceremonies respectively. Rudy Padilla and Joe Navarro will serve as acolytes. Nick Vega Jr. will be thurifer and Jake Herrera will be boat bearer.

The confessions for the occasion will be heard by the visiting clergy immediately after the ceremonies on Tuesday night.

The processions with the indispensable "Luminarias" are the special charge of the Society of Our Lady of Guadalupe. The ladies of the parish will prepare the dinner for the visiting Priests at the Woman's Club at 12:30 May 18.

The St. Rita choir, under the direction of Sister M. Dilecta is preparing the music for the Mass and Vespers.

The Pastor expresses his appreciation for the splendid cooperation in the preparation for the "Funcion de Santa Rita".

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mr. Sherwood Corn celebrated his 70th birthday last Monday. Present at the dinner were Mrs. Ada Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Roley Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Keil and daughter of Tucson and Mr. and Mrs. Cooper Hightower of Tucumcari; Mr. and Mrs. Corn.

TO GO EAST

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lemon will leave next week for Virginia to visit their son Lt. Col. Maurice Lemon and family. They expect to spend the month of June there and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McBrayer and little daughter arrived home from California last Thursday.

BATES-KILPATRICK

Miss Evelyn Kilpatrick of Corona became the bride of Mr. Dale Bates in a double ring ceremony performed Tuesday evening April 20 at the home of C. D. Bates in Mountainair, New Mex., co. The rites were read by the groom's father, Rev. W. A. Bates.

The home was decorated with lovely spring flowers in profusion. The bride wore a teal blue suit with white accessories, and her corage was of pink carnations. Miss Annie Griffin was maid of honor, and Mr. Denzil Bates attended his brother as best man.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green and family, Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Bates, Mrs. Roscoe Jurns, Mr. and Mrs. Cal Bates and family, all of Mountainair, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kilpatrick, Miss Joyce Kilpatrick and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kilpatrick and children all of Corona.

Mrs. Bates is the popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kilpatrick of Corona, and is a graduate of Eastern New Mexico College. This young couple are at home in Mountainair where the bride will continue her position with the Soil Conservation Service with whom she has been employed for six years, and where the groom has farming interest.

ROPER'S CLUB DANCE

The Lincoln County Ropers Club is sponsoring a dance to be held tomorrow night, at the grade school gym, in Capitan. Music will be furnished by Ray Wheeler's Music Makers. Admission per person is 75 cents. Big time for all is guaranteed.

AGRICULTURE DEVELOPMENT DISCUSSED

Las Cruces, N. M., May 10—Development of more effective methods of pushing its state agricultural programs was one of the major subjects for discussion and action at the annual leaders' conference of the New Mexico Farm and Live stock Bureau at Albuquerque, May 10 and 11. Delmar Roberts, Berline, state Farm Bureau president, will preside at the meeting.

The Hilton Hotel was headquarters for the two-day session which was attended by top-flight farmers, ranchers and their families from all sections of the state.

Speakers on state legislative program development were President Roberts, John Simms, Albuquerque speaker of the New Mexico House of Representatives, and Edwin Mcchem, Las Cruces, former state representative, now attorney for the New Mexico Farm Bureau, W. B. McAllister, vice-president, led legislative discussions.

ROPING CONTEST AT CAPITAN

The Lincoln County Ropers Club will sponsor a roping contest at the Capitan arena next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. John Thomas and Tom Babers, of the Lincoln County Club versus Buzz Taylor and Preacher Green will be the contestants. Open jack-pot to follow roping.

ENTERTAIN SENIORS FROM 12 SCHOOLS

The boys from the senior classes of 12 New Mexico high schools will be guests of St. Michael's College, Santa Fe, for "High School Day" May 13.

Boys from the following schools have been invited to visit the college; Santa Fe high school; St. Michael's high school, Santa Fe, U. S. Indian school, Santa Fe, Espanola high school, Santa Cruz high school, Polosque high school, Los Alamos high school, Pecos high school, Stanley high school, Immaculate Conception high school, Las Vegas and St. Mary's high school, Albuquerque.

The visitors will be taken on conducted tours of the campus by members of the "Block M" club composed of varsity lettermen. An assembly will be held in the Little Theatre and the boys will be guests of the college for luncheon.

In the afternoon there will be a baseball game between St. Michael's and Highlands University and tennis matches in which the Knights will play Highlands. A semi-formal dance in the gymnasium at nine o'clock will close the festivities.

Bobby Sox by Mary Lohr

"LIFE IS SO COMPLICATED, ALVIN! IF IT WEREN'T FOR YOU, I SOMETIMES DON'T THINK I'D HAVE THE COURAGE TO GO ON!"

Nice Guy
It was the first day of school and the teacher was going from desk to desk, making the acquaintance of her new class. Stopping in front of the desk of little Mehitabel, the daughter of a trailer manufacturer, she inquired, "What is your father's name?"
"Daddy," replied Mehitabel.
"Yes, I know that," said the teacher, "but what does your mother call him?"
"She doesn't call him anything," was the girl's sharp reply. "She likes him."
KNEW WHAT SHE WANTED

Two career girls were exchanging confidences just before Christmas. One said to the other: "Sis, would a long stocking hold all you want for Christmas?"
"No," said the other, "but a pair of socks would."

Miscellaneous
At a gathering of literary and radio personalities, a certain well-known producer was holding forth on the countless mistakes he had made in his business and how much money they had cost him.
"I declare," he announced, "I'm my own worst enemy."
"Not while I'm in the room," was the rejoinder of columnist Franklin P. Adams.

Creating An Opportunity
"At her request you gave up drinking?"
"Yes."
"And you stopped smoking for the same reason?"
"I did."
"And it was for her that you gave up dancing, card parties and billiards?"
"Correct."
"Then why didn't you marry her?"
"Well, after all this reforming, I decided I could do better."

ONE WAY TO DO IT
One morning Brown looked over his garden wall and said to his neighbor: "What are you burying in that hole?"
"Oh," he said, "I'm just replanting some of my seeds, that's all."
"Seeds!" shouted Brown angrily. "It looks more like end of my hens."
"It is. The seeds are inside."

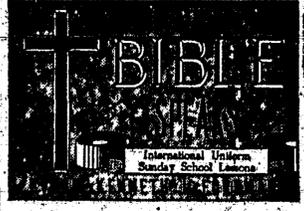

Went To Long
At the baseball game the boss suddenly came in behind his office boy, and tapped him on the shoulder.
"So this is your uncle's funeral?" he demanded of the startled youth.
"Looks like it," the quick-witted boy replied. "He's the umpire down there."

Frivolous Tars
A silly old woman took an ocean voyage. One night a terrible storm came up and washed away most of the deck rigging. The alarmed captain sent up rocket distress signals. When the silly old woman saw the red flares she confronted the captain.
"Look here!" she said. "I don't think this is quite the time to be shooting off fireworks."

Sure Fringe
Rastus: "Where you going, boy?"
Sambor: "I'm going down to get myself some tuberculosis stamps."
Rastus: "What is they? I ain't never heard tell of 'em."
Sambor: "Ever' year I gets 50 cents worth and sticks them on mah chest and I ain't never had tuberculosis yet."

Dismissing Returns
"Why don't you send your suits to Sam the tailor any more?"
"Because he took a spot out of my gray suit."
"Well, that's what he's supposed to do, isn't it?"
"No, this was a ten-spot."

ANOTHER BOSS
A motorist pulled up outside a filling station on which there was a sign: "Under New Management."
"But," he said, "there's the same manager sitting in his office."
"Yes," said the attendant, "but he got married this morning."

Judgment Day

Lesson for May 15, 1949

FORTY DIFFERENT Christian denominations sponsor this column, although it goes without saying that not all of the millions of Christians in those denominations would agree point for point with everything that is said here. Now if the reader could interview one leading Bible expert from each of these 40 denominations, and ask each one the same question: "In your personal opinion, exactly what is the meaning of Mark 13?" you might not get 40 different answers, but you certainly would get more than one.

There is no chapter in the Bible that has been the subject of more arguments than this one, and no arguments have ever been more useless than these.

Leaving extreme views aside, let us try to discover some meanings which all 40 denominations would find in this chapter, some truths on which all reasonable Christians can agree.

A Certain Fact
IN JESUS' view one thing is certain: God's judgment on this world and on all persons in it. Christian churches have different ideas about what happens after death. We have different ideas about how the judgment is to be carried out, or where it will be held, or when. But that every man will have to give account of himself before God is something Christians believe.

Your true unbeliever is not the person who goes around saying there is no God. A more subtle and dangerous form of unbelief is in the person who takes the Christian creed upon his lips but lives as if the creed were a lie.

He repeats the Apostles' Creed: "From thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead." If these words are sincerely spoken, the believer will honestly try to please God above all others. But the unbeliever, whatever his words may say, shows that he does not believe by the fact that he tries to please, first of all, either himself or his family or his neighbors, and not God above all.

An Uncertain Time
IT IS ONLY children who think that if something doesn't happen now, it will never happen. Now and never are not the only times on God's clock. When will the judgment be? The disciples wanted to know, but Jesus did not tell them. He did not claim to know himself, when it would be (Mark 13:32.) What he did say was, Watch! There is a sense in which God's judgments are going on all the time. The end of your world will come in your own lifetime, whoever you are; for there is not much difference whether the world folds up and leaves you or whether you fold up and leave the world.

Death is the end of the world for every one who dies. Further, whenever a person suffers by and because of his own wrong-doing, here in this life and on this earth, God is judging him by the eternal moral laws which are the very warp and filling of the fabric of life.

There is also a sense in which God judges societies and nations. We have recently seen how terrible a judgment Germany drew down on its head. The nation that takes the sword shall perish by the sword. The nation that sets out to enslave others by force will come under the same death-sentence that cut down Assyria and Rome and Japan and Germany. But not all God's judgments are on this earth. "God does not settle all his accounts in October." There is a final accounting, and no man, in the life or any other, can escape that solemn meeting with God.

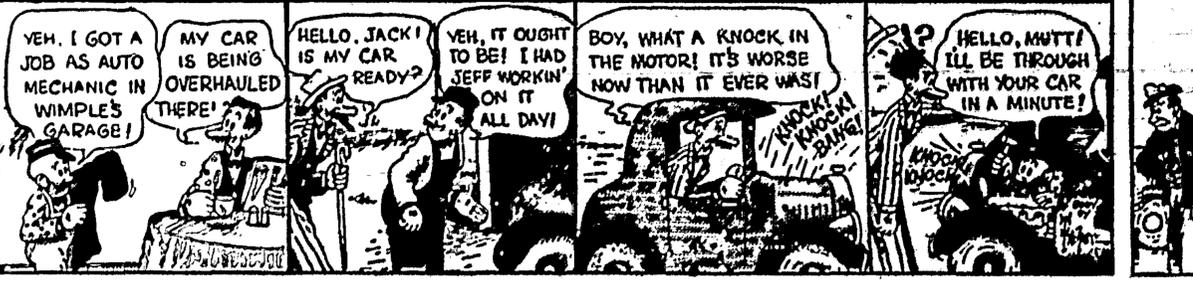

The Only Judge
TWO THINGS are sure. One is that the only true judge of any man is God. The man himself is partial, his friends are partial, his enemies are prejudiced against him. Further, no one knows all the facts but God. Only God knows what a man's motives are; only God can see to their final end and all the consequences that flow from a man's act.

White Mice Serving In Chemical Tests

Insecticide Shower Evaluates Formulae

An old-style phonograph rigged up to give a revolving shower bath to a white mouse is helping test new chemicals for effectiveness in stable fly control. The mice are pinch-hitting for dairy cows in making the tests, says the U.S. department of agriculture.

The old phonograph was one that played wax-cylinder records. The test mouse is confined in a screen cage that replaces the old record holder. The mouse is rolled around several times under a sprayed solution of the new chemical, and then is rolled under an air stream until dry. The test comes the next day in another cage with 20 stable flies. If as many as four of the flies succeed in attacking the mouse without being driven off or poisoned, the chemical is not regarded as worth a full scale test on a cow. This is the first time white mice have been used in just this kind of experimental work.

Federal entomologists are searching actively for a spray that will protect animals from attack by stable flies and other blood-sucking flies and mosquitoes. Recent experience has proved abundantly how profitable it is for farmers to protect cattle from the torment of "fly time" and thus avoid the summer slump in milk production and gains in weight of animals on pasture.

This search calls for trials of hundreds of chemicals. Many of these are now synthetics.

Soil Protection

Pelting rains may be a soil destroyer rather than a farm blessing unless your land has a protective "umbrella" over cover crops.

Battering rains on bare land break the surface soil into small particles. These particles quickly fill the pores of the surface soil. The surface forms a hard crust. Water cannot soak in. Instead, it runs over the surface. The farm land then suffers a double loss. It loses needed moisture for crops and it loses valuable top soil.

The Middle West soil improvement committee suggests these steps for protecting your soil and giving your crops better use of the rains you get:

1. Use a cropping system that gives your soil a continuous cover as possible throughout the year.
2. Thick growing grasses and deep-rooted legumes give the best cover.
3. Small grains following corn help keep the land protected.
4. If winter wheat or rye is not feasible, a good covering can be had by mashing down corn stalks or soybean tops.
5. Legumes like alfalfa and sweet clover prevent washing away of soil. Their prying taproots open the soil so rain soaks in and is held for crops. Legumes well fed with phosphate and potash fertilizer add life-giving organic matter.

Land Should Be Turned Under for New Legumes

When corn is to follow first year sweetclover, it is advisable to get the ground turned under before the new growth of the legume removes too much moisture from the soil.

This tip comes from D. L. Gross, Nebraska university extension agronomist. He advises, however, not to plow under the clover before new corn shoots get to a length of four to six inches. Earlier plowing may not kill the legume

'Rolling Stones' Sure of Getting Mail at Lew's

SEATTLE, WASH.—The only privately owned and operated post office in the United States began its 40th year on Seattle's 3rd av. with more than 700 seafarers and rolling stones of every profession on its rolls.

The proprietor, Lew Charlson, a retired contractor, isn't exactly competing with the United States post office. He uses United States stamps and gets three deliveries a day from a standard mailman in his cubicle lined office at the back end of Raymer's old Bookstore.

"It's a post office with a personal touch," Charlson says.

The forwarding mail service for travelers was started in 1899 by Charles Raymer, who up to that time had made a good thing of selling books on prospecting to miners bound for Alaska an manuals on fancy rope work to sailors on shore leave.

Work Became Sideline

A friend stopped in at the store one day to ask Raymer to handle his mail while he was in Alaska during the salmon season. The word was passed along and Raymer was soon licking stamps by the gross, with book selling coming in as a sideline.

Lew Charlson bought the bookstore and post office from Raymer's heirs and put his wife in charge of the book department. With the old rate of $3 per box per year, Charlson says he's not getting rich fast, but he maintains that there is a certain fascination in figuring postal rates to far away places. Among other remote spots, he now has customers holed up in Wee Wee, New South Wales, Medina, Saudi Arabia and Santiago, Chile.

If a box holder doesn't send in a forwarding address for a year or so, Charlson piles the overflow accumulation in the basement. He has learned from experience not to give up any of his customers for dead.

Lost Two Got Mail

A few months after V-J day, three seamen who had been listed as missing in action by the marines' service showed up to claim their mail and got it. The trio had been in a Japanese prison camp for most of the war.

Some customers have held the same box for over 35 years, but box 13 changes hands every few months, Charlson says.

Forwarding addresses are kept in strict confidence according to postal regulations, but Charlson admits sadly that the rule has ended many a romance.

"Girls come in here quite a bit to find out where their sailors have gone. All I can do is tell them to write him a letter in care of the wanderer's mail service."

After observing the trend back over the years, Charlson concludes that "more and more people are going farther and farther away from home today."

Railroad Stops Big Train To Give Cat to Young Girl

OXFORD, LA.—A railroad stopped its passenger train at this little Louisiana town to give a girl a tomcat. The girl had baked a cake for the railroad.

The cat went to 13-year-old Marlene Wendt, replacing one which was killed by a Texas & Pacific locomotive.

The presentation was made by the engineer of the train which ran over Marlene's dead pet. Other railroaders were present.

Marlene invited the railroad men to the store owned by her father, W. H. Wendt, to try a cake with chocolate icing she had baked.

"I like the cat," said Marlene. "He looks just like Cinder, my other cat. I'm going to name him T&P."

The girl wrote the Texas & Pacific railroad saying:

"Dear sir: My cat was killed by one of your engines. He was a black cat named Cinder. I would appreciate another cat."

The railroad thought that one over a few days.

"In the near future we will see that you have a cat to replace Cinder," the line wrote to Marlene.

Employees of the railroad scurried around to find a cat to suit Marlene. "Cinder didn't have any white whatsoever," she had said in a second letter. "Cinder was a big pet. I mean you could pick him up any time and pet him."

The railroad finally found a suitable animal and arranged for a train to stop here for presentation ceremonies.

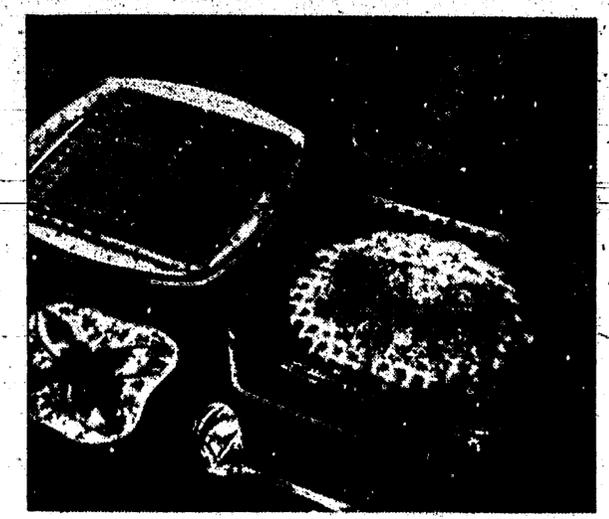

Keep Worries to Yourself They're Catching, Says Doc

CHICAGO.—Blues are catching. That's what a Washington psychiatrist, Dr. Benjamin Karpman says. He declared that emotional tension is "something we catch," like measles, from other people.

Many people, he said, "are driven into anxieties, depressions or other unbecoming states of tension," by behavior in others.

"That," he added, "is one of the reasons why we so readily succumb to war propaganda."

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

Versatile Waffles Fit Any Menu! (See Recipes Below)

"AS LONG as I know how to make waffles, I can get together a good breakfast, a fancy luncheon or serve a glamorous dessert," said a new bride. This young lady was indeed on the right track; she had perfected one dish, and she could be certain that any occasion would be covered simply but adequately with it.

Waffles may be varied in many different ways, and they can easily go from breakfast to luncheon to dessert for dinner or a party. No, not the same waffle, of course, but with a slight variation waffles really can do all these things.

Plain waffles with butter and syrup or honey are ideal for breakfast main dishes. Try pairing them with crisply browned sausages, crisply browned bacon strips, or ham.

For luncheon, vary the waffle, and serve with creamed eggs, chicken, tuna fish or mushroom.

The dessert waffle is rich, and it may be plain, orange or even chocolate-flavored. Have you ever put together chocolate waffles with peppermint stick ice cream and posted the chocolate sauce? Yes, simple but very elegant! Or, how about crisp and golden brown waffles crowned with whipped cream and bananas? Yes, another favorite!

BASIC WAFFLES may be quickly and simply made from a pancake mix in the following manner:

Quick Waffles (Makes 5 servings)

- 2 cups pancake ready-mix
- 1/2 cup melted shortening
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups milk

Place all ingredients in a medium-sized mixing bowl. Beat with a rotary egg beater until batter is fairly smooth. Pour batter into a waffle iron which has been heated. Bake until iron stops steaming.

Honey-Butter Sauce: Warm one cup liquid honey in the top part of a double boiler. Add to it 1/2 cup butter, 1/4 teaspoon of cinnamon and a dash of nutmeg. Serve warm.

Light and delicious oatmeal waffles have a nutty flavor all their own. Besides adding flavor, rolled oats make waffles high in the important B vitamins, protein and iron. They're excellent served with butter and syrup, along with crisp bacon. For a supper main dish, pair them with creamed eggs.

Oatmeal Waffles (Makes 5 servings)

- 1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1/2 cup melted shortening
- 1/2 cup quick, rolled oats, uncooked

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add eggs, milk and melted shortening.

Beat with rotary egg beater until fairly smooth. Fold in rolled oats.

LYNN SAYS:

Use these hints

For Making Waffles

Season the grids of a new waffle iron unless the manufacturer advises you otherwise. To season the iron, when it is still cold, brush with cooking oil. Heat the iron to baking temperature and allow to cool. Discard the first waffle made, as it will be greasy. After this, waffles will not stick to the iron.

Don't peek into the waffle iron while it steams. This means the waffle is still baking.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- Creamed Chicken
- *Cornmeal Waffles
- Tossed Vegetable Salad
- Beverage
- Green Apple Pie a la Mode
- *Recipe Given

Four batter onto hot waffle iron. Bake until iron stops steaming.

IF YOU WANT to serve these waffles for a quick supper or luncheon dish, here is a suggestion for creamed eggs:

Creamed Eggs (Serves 6)

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon onion juice
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 6 hard-cooked eggs, shelled and chopped

Melt butter in top of double boiler, add flour, onion juice and salt. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly, and cook until smooth and thickened. Add the eggs and cook until heated through. Serve over waffles.

*Corn Meal Waffles (Makes 5 servings)

- 1 cup sifted enriched flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 cup corn meal
- 2 eggs
- 1 1/2 cups milk

1/2 cup melted butter or fat. Sift together dry ingredients. Place eggs, milk, sifted dry ingredients and melted butter in a bowl. Beat with rotary beater until batter is smooth. Do not overbeat. Pour batter onto hot waffle iron and bake until iron stops steaming.

THERE ARE ANY number of variations for dessert waffles. Use them for an easy dessert, or serve them as a party snack.

Dessert Waffles (Makes 12-15 small waffles)

- 1 cup sifted cake flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 3 eggs, separated
- 1 cup rich milk

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add to milk, then blend in dry ingredients. Fold in melted butter and last, the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into waffle iron and bake until steaming ceases.

Ice Cream and Waffles: Use dessert waffles, top with a scoop of vanilla ice cream and serve with sweetened, crushed strawberries or chocolate sauce and bananas.

Chocolate Chip Waffles: Stir into the batter, before baking, 1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips.

Chocolate Waffle: Add to dessert waffle, 1/2 cup sugar sifted with dry ingredients. Fold in with butter, 1 1/2 squares, melted, unsweetened chocolate.

Orange Waffles: Fold in the dessert waffle batter, two tablespoons orange juice and 1 1/2 teaspoons grated orange rind. Serve with orange or pineapple sauce.

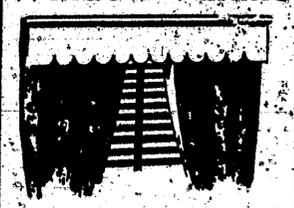

If batter spills on the iron, let it cook on before trying to remove it. When dry, it flicks off easily.

When brown spots appear on the iron, from spattering fat, use a fine scouring powder, rubbed gently, to remove them.

Keep waffle cords in good condition by putting them away without kinks and knots.

Leftover kernel corn, cooked rice and blueberries may be added to waffle batter. One cup of any of these food items is folded in the waffle before baking.

You Build It Window Valances Easy to Make

ADD CHARM to your living or dining room by making the Williamsburg style of window valance illustrated above. No, you don't have to be a carpenter or need any special tools. Just send for Full Size carpentry pattern. Trace pattern on the wood the pattern specifies, saw and assemble as the pattern indicates. It's easier to use than a dress pattern. The pattern consists of a full size printed outline of all component parts of the valance, step by step instruction sheet that anyone can understand, numbered assembly drawings that even the most inexperienced can easily follow.

The list of materials supplied with each pattern tells what and how much to buy. All materials suggested can be purchased at any lumber yard.

Camel Newspaper Campaign Features 30-Day Mildness Test And Big-Name Testimonials

In their present newspaper campaign for Camel cigarettes, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company features the 30-day Camel mildness test.

A similar coast-to-coast test was recently made by hundreds of smokers under the supervision of noted throat specialists. In this test, hundreds of men and women smoked Camels, and only Camels, for 30 consecutive days. . . . smoking an average of one to two packs a day. Each week the throats of these smokers were examined by noted throat specialists. . . . a total of 2470 careful examinations. And these throat specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

Each advertisement in this campaign features two outstanding personalities who are Camel smokers. One a famous "veteran" star in some particular sport or other activity who has been a Camel smoker for years, and the other a rising young star who has recently switched to Camels as the result of making their own 30-day Camel mildness test.

Among the outstanding personalities used in this series are Johnny Vander Meer and Gene Bearden, baseball pitchers, Willie Hoppe and Willie Mosconi, billiard players, Gene Sarazen and Lew Worsham, golf professionals, Gladys Swarthout and Virginia MacWatters, opera and concert singers, Cole Porter, composer, and Patricia Morison, singing actress and star of the new Cole Porter musical comedy hit, "Kiss Me Kate."

This current Camel campaign is also being featured on the Camel radio programs, which include the Screen Guild Players, the Bob Hawk Show, the Jimmy Durante Show, and the Vaughn Monroe Show.

Dealers throughout the country who have cooperated in this campaign by placing Camel displays in their windows and on their counters have reported new sales records for this favorite cigarette.—Adv.

WEED-NO-MORE BOOSTED YIELDS - SAVED LABOR

"LOOK AT THIS GRAIN—NEARLY LOST IT"

"I WAS about to dig up this field and plant corn until I decided to try Weed-No-More," says Roy Lebold of Zoarville, Ohio. This story of how weeds threatened to ruin a crop is typical of many that are reported. Weed-No-More moves right in on the weeds—even the hard-to-kill kind, but when applied according to directions is perfectly safe on the crops.

WEED-NO-MORE great for many crops!

SMALL GRAINS—Weeds rob growing grain of water, fertility, sunlight. Control them safely, easily, inexpensively with Agricultural Weed-No-More. You'll get more bushels per acre of grain that grades higher.

FLAX—Annual weeds in flax can now be controlled with Agricultural Weed-No-More. Wide-scale successful spraying of flax in 1948 showed increased yields up to 20%.

PASTURES—Spraying is quicker than clipping. And Agricultural Weed-No-More kills weeds, roots and all—without harming livestock, grasses or resistant legumes. Weed-No-More gives your pastures greater grazing capacity!

GRAIN SEED CROPS—Keep your grass seed free of weed seed. Use Agricultural Weed-No-More to kill weeds that would contaminate your grass seed crop.

Get Into the Corners

Spring is drawing to a close. The hot summer days, with their special fire hazards will soon be with us. It's time, if we haven't done it already, for everyone to "clean up" their property in the interest of both safety and attractiveness.

The spring clean-up campaigns, in which thousands of communities participate, are a fine American tradition. Buildings are painted. Yards are groomed. Useless stumps are torn down. Overgrown vacant lots which have been the starting points of some of the country's worst fires are mowed and cleared. It's amazing what sort of face lifting does to a town's appearance.

From the fire safety standpoint, the clean-up must be confined to the surface of things. Some of the prettiest homes, for instance, offer a constant invitation. Most of us have some of the instincts of the magpie we store and keep all kinds of junk, from 1930 newspapers to clothes and furniture and various knickknacks we never use again. The result in crowded attics and basements and closets, all set for a destructive fire.

Another very common hazard lies in the improper handling and storage of paint, solvents and other flammables. Fires like this too.

Finally, during the warm season, get your heating plant ready for the cold months that lie ahead. These may seem small things—but they'll prevent an amazing number of fires.

Sometime ago, the Commissioner of Public Roads delivered a startling address, whose main theme was the vast damage being done to our highways by heavy commercial vehicles. Much evidence in support of that is appearing in various states. According to a story in the Chicago Daily News, written by Roy M. Fisher, "Failure of Illinois officials to enforce truck weights laws is a major cause of the $2,000,000-000 highway crisis facing the state today, highway engineers believe." In this case, the weight limits were lifted as a war emergency measure. After the war, the limits were theoretically reimposed, but there was only a nominal amount of enforcement. According to an Illinois division of highway survey, one-third of the trailer type trucks operating on the state highways carried illegal loads in 1947.

Mr. Fisher also wrote: "Although ruckers have long insisted weight has little to do with highway wear, highway engineers point to a growing list of examples to prove the contrary." Some of the huge modern trucks are so heavy that past ideas of the causes of road damage have had to be changed. Roads which last indefinitely under the stress of normal traffic break down relatively quickly under the big loads. And to build roads which will stand any kind of truck and load involves a staggering cost to the taxpayer.

This has become a national problem. It is a problem which will grow more intense as time goes on. The only sound solution seems to be the imposition of reasonable weight limits—coupled with strict enforcement of the law. The highways, after all, are a public property, publicly paid for and maintained. They are in a very different category from a railroad right of way which private enterprise must support entirely out of its own pocket.

We should think union members would be disillusioned about strikes by this time and would be willing to accept some kind of reasonable compromise. If strikes only affected the strikers it would be a different matter. But directly and indirectly everybody in the nation must suffer from their unreasonable determination to be the winners.

DOUBLES OUTPUT

CHICAGO—In the first production increase in the appliance industry this year, Hotpoint, Inc., one of the nation's largest appliance manufacturers, has doubled scheduled output of a new automatic washing machine introduced early this year, James J. Nance, president, announced. The boost to 2,000 machines a week was necessary to meet strong demand. Nance said that the step-up, made now in the face of adjustments in the national economy, reaffirms the company's faith in America's system of producing abundantly in order to continually lower prices. Our $25 million expansion program completed last October was an investment of American savings in developing new manufacturing efficiencies to bring the benefits of electrical living to the greatest number of people in the history of this country.

Only in America can we find this example of industry teamwork resulting in more new work saving devices priced within the reach of every one of the nation's homes, Nance added.

School Bonds
The building of school houses has been proceeding rapidly during the last several years. During the war there were practically no school bonds voted. On the contrary, bonds were paid up, so that on June 30, 1948, there were only $4,262,529 of such bonds outstanding. On June 30, 1948 the amount of outstanding bonds, in spite of continued serial payments, were $11,814,224. Since Jan. 1, 1949, new proposals have been made to the amount of almost amount outstanding on June 30 of this year to more than $14 million.

These prices feature "Extras" that aren't!

If you're price-conscious these days as you shop for new cars, you've probably made a big discovery.

It's important to find out what the price includes—particularly in the normal "spread" between-list and delivered prices.

Take these Buick prices given here. All of them, as the panel tells you, cover such universally wanted accessories as radio and antenna, heater and defroster, windshield washers and built-in back-up lights.

These are individually itemized on your bill of sale. Not itemized, but still included in your Buick when you get it, are many things that classify as extra-cost items on many other cars.

For instance, Foamtex seat cushions are an extra value on Buick SUPERS and ROADMASTERS that cost you nothing extra. You get direction signals, rear wheel shields, a flexible steering wheel, an air cleaner, an oil filter, a clock—all included in the basic list price. On all ROADMASTERS, these prices even cover Dynaflow Drive as standard equipment, not an extra-cost item.

Included also, of course, are such Buick extra values as Fireball power, which you get nowhere else—all-coil springing, almost an exclusive—the widest rims in the industry—and that very special and desirable solid Buick feel.

So—check the "extras" when you price today's cars. Check the "deal" too, and make sure it's as fair and aboveboard as the Buick sales policy.

We're pretty sure what your conclusion will be when you see what stepped-up production is doing to deliveries. You'll decide "Buick's the buy!"—and get your order in.

WOOL AND COTTON LEAD IN ALL MEN'S CLOTHING

New York-Nature's two great fibers, wool and cotton, are still the overwhelming preference of men for all items of their clothing. With synthetic fibers of only minor interest, declares the Wool Bureau in an analysis of the report on the first Consumer Fiber Preference Survey just concluded and made public by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture.

The survey, which the Bureau of Agricultural Economics declares represents the opinions of fifty million American men, was completed in June, 1948. It includes inquiries as to men's fiber preferences in summer suits, dress and sport shirts, pajama, socks and robes, and raincoats.

The outstanding preference for wool, the Bureau reports, is in men's summer suits. Sixty-two per cent of those questioned stated that they insisted on wool for summer outer apparel because of its comfort, its resistance to wrinkling, its durability and appearance, and satisfactory cleaning. Eight per cent preferred cotton suits for summer and seven per cent said they would take rayon. In this connection the Bureau emphasizes the survey included all of the South, rural and urban dwellers and low, middle and high incomes.

Cotton, the great natural vegetable fiber which so much of the economy of the South is built, the Bureau says, is still preferred by men for their underwear, pajamas, socks, and summer business and sport shirts. The invasion of wool into the fields of sport shirts and men's robes is an outstanding feature of the survey. In the field of men's robes, the preference for wool was overwhelming. Forty-eight per cent of the men questioned declared they preferred wool because of its comfort, its durability and its appearance. Thirteen per cent wanted cotton and twelve per cent said they would take rayon.

One of the most important facts developed by the survey, the Wool Bureau reports, is the tremendous increase in the number of lightweight, wool tropical worsted suits being worn throughout the country. The vogue for skeleton-lined, tropical worsted suits is not more than fifteen years old. Today it represents between 25 and 30 per cent of the entire men's suit business. Forty per cent of the population, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics survey, own one or more of these suits.

"Until a decade or so ago," the Wool Bureau states, "the men's tropical summer weight suit was more or less a luxury or a novelty. Today it is a staple and an increasingly important part of all men's clothing lines. At the out set these tropical weight worsted suits were worn during the summer months. This period has now been extended until at the present time tropical weight suits are worn from April into November, and in some cases worn by men the year round. This extended use period is typical of the tendency toward the use of lighter weight wools and worsteds by both men and women in all articles of outer apparel. It is one of the fundamental reasons for the tremendous increased use of fine wools by this country."

The Wool Bureau characterizes the Consumer Fiber Survey by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics as a splendid example of practical and valuable cooperation between an important government bureau, industry and retail trade, to the advantage of all concerned including the public.

CLOTHING CRUSADE

Over 100,000 New Mexico school children will participate in the greatest clothing drive ever undertaken by New Mexico Schools. It was announced today by Charles L. Rose, State Superintendent of Public Instruction at Santa Fe, and New Mexico State Chairman of the Eighth National Children's Clothing Crusade of the Save the Children Federation. The week of April 24-29 has been designated as Bundle Week in which children will bring bundles of good useable clothing and shoes to school. The clothing raised in New Mexico will be used by the Save the Children Federation to furnish clothing to needy Navajo families in New Mexico.

The Save the Children Federation which operates extensive child service programs in the mountain areas of the South and in many countries of Europe inaugurated an extensive child aid program on the Navajo Reservation last year. In addition to the aid furnished orphans, school children, crippled children and babies, the Save the Children Federation sent 15,000 pounds of processed clothing to the Reservation last month. Federation officials advise that there is a tremendous and continuing need for clothing on the Navajo Reservation. Over 500 New Mexico schools have already notified me that they would participate, Superintendent Rose stated, adding that he expected almost universal participation of schools as schools daily are advising me that they will participate.

Sylvester Says:

"Here's one reason for overcrowded homes. But don't be kidded. The building industry is taking up the slack between war time population increases and housing needs."

Last year, the greatest in home building world history, the building industry constructed enough homes to house the combined populations of Detroit, Baltimore, Boston, Indianapolis and Atlanta.

If you like to think in terms of wide open spaces, then consider this: you could house the total population of these 7 mountain states: Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Nevada in the homes built by private industry during 1948.

The policy governing the waiver, compromise and collection of veterans' debt to the Government resulting from payment by VA to lenders on defaulted GI loans, has been announced by the Veterans Administration.

A committee on waivers and compromises is being established in each regional office with authority to determine in each case whether all or part of the amount paid in settlement of a veteran's defaulted loan is to be waived, collected or otherwise adjusted.

A similar committee will be set up in Washington, D. C., Central Office with original jurisdiction in cases involving over $3,500. The committee will also pass on appeals from decisions of the regional office committees.

Under the GI Bill, where VA has no make good on its guarantee of a veteran's defaulted loan, the amount constitutes a debt owed by the veteran to the government. However, VA has authority to waive or compromise all or part of such indebtedness if the facts and circumstances warrant.

VA said that the debt would be waived only in meritorious cases. Such a case is described as one in which the veteran is found to be without fault, where recovery would be inequitable, and where enforced payment would result in undue hardship on the veteran or his family.

40 YEARS AGO FROM 1909 CARRIZO NEWS

The remains of James Cree, founder of the V V ranch in this county, who died and was buried at his ranch seven-teen years ago, were dignified and started on their long journey across the sea. The bones of this early citizen of Lincoln County will finally rest in their native soil at Edinburgh, Scotland. Mrs. Agnes Cree, the widow who has spent the greater portion of her time since her husband's death at the ranch in this county, accompanied the remains and we are told she does not intend to return to this country.

The Democrats were to meet in Roswell June 10th, to select 225 delegates to hold a state convention and the state convention would select 6 delegates to attend the national convention in Denver. The delegates were instructed for William Jennings Bryan "in whose great ability as a leader they had unbounded confidence and they hereby favored his nomination for president in Denver, Colorado, July 7, 1908"

Apr. 24, 1908. George A. Titworth is having plans drawn for a commodious home which will soon be under construction. J. Ross Thomas of Fort Stanton is the architect. Stone for the foundation is on the ground and work will begin as soon as plans are perfected.

Miss Lucile Abston, the first patient treated at Dr. Laws Ranch Sanatorium at Lincoln left on Monday's train for her home in Hickory Flats, Mississippi, apparently restored to perfect health. Miss Abston left the Sanatorium last September to assume the duties of a governess in the family of Emil Fritz, a short distance from Lincoln, where she went to visit her southern home. She intends to return in 6 weeks to resume her duties in the Fritz family.

Last of April and first of May issues contained notice of sheriff's sale to set the $8,933.60 with interest at 6 per cent to be held at the Lincoln Co. Court house in Lincoln. The following mines are only a few of the mines to be sold: Blue Wing, Lady Frances, Etta Emma, Rising Star, Top of the Morning, Good Fortune, Red Bird, Turkey Flacer, Half Moon, Hard Times, and about 250 others to settle mortgage.

A Dangerous Tax

There's talk in Washington of a $4 billion tax increase. If Congress permits this new siphoning of income and savings from the people into the federal treasury, the results can be dangerous for the whole nation. This is fact, regardless of whether or not the President and his administration would be cramped in spending a proposed $42 billion budget.

Of course, like our Senator McClellan told homefolks recently: Mr. Truman's program means that taxes can go only one way—up, up, up. Senator Fulbright, our other distinguished senator, tried to ease the misgivings of the economy-minded by pointing out that saving federal money and reducing taxes is a question of "what you are willing to give up." That is a problem, all right. Too many of us have the attitude of the well known politician, who said he had never voted for a tax bill nor against an appropriations bill.

Justify Spending
If we manage to fool ourselves into thinking the other fellow is going to have to pay for the handouts, we then show no enthusiasm about economy. Citizens and congressmen alike, too often see economy as a fine thing when it's not close to home, but work like mad for all the government "aid" they can get for themselves.

One thing is wrong with the question our Senator asked about what we would give up. It puts the burden of proof on the citizen who would economize! That proof belongs elsewhere. Every bureaucrat who demands funds should explain and justify the expenditure of every dollar!

Wherein lies the danger to the nation in heavier taxes at this time? It is proposed that the burden of a $4 billion tax increase be placed upon corporations and businesses. This might look to some like an easy way to shift the tax load onto somebody else. Actually, a tax that is shouldered by business is still borne by the people—because people buy the products of corporations that are owned by people.

Don't Kill Incentive
At present the nation's business corporations pay a 33 per cent tax on income. Earnings distributed to owners may get taxed up to 92 per cent. (Other taxes, also, are levied upon corporations.) Tremendous sums, therefore, are handed to Uncle Sam by industry. But right now, the nation's economists are agreed that America's industry must have huge amounts of additional capital for growth and for expansion. There's danger, if instead these billions must be poured into Washington.

Any industrial plant that is not able to spend money continually for expansion or for newer, better equipment is a corporation moving toward failure. An amount roughly equal to the President's proposed budget of $42 billion is the least we ought to put this year into our industrial plant. If America is to have the industrial strength it should have, if jobs are to remain plentiful, and if wages are to be high—then we had better have a care about penalizing our industry. America can lose out by exacting too much "take" from business.

Unless industry is allowed to expand, modernize, and meet today's needs, there'll be nothing at all to tax one of these days. When taxes take what would be invested, and when incentives to invest is killed—the country will go into reverse. Another $4 billion in taxes on corporations would be most unwise.

Taste-Teasers
"The way to a man's heart..."
By NANCY COOK

When planning a fish course, you can pretty well trust the canned food shelf for a year-round catch, for I was amazed to learn there are over 40 kinds of canned fish products on the market today. In addition to the long-time favorites for main dishes like salmon, tuna, shrimp, sardines and mackerel, tasty delicacies such as anchovies, caviar, lobster and smoked trout are good bets for party fare. Here's a quick-to-prepare main dish using canned tuna, which can be ready for table service in about five minutes.

TUNA QUICKIE
Add 1 cup of milk to a can of condensed cream-of-mushroom soup in a saucepan; heat, stirring constantly, to the boiling point. Add 1 7-ounce can of tuna which has been flaked into bite-sized pieces. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco. Serve hot over toast, baking powder biscuits, potato chips or noodles. Yield: 4 servings.

Flotence Freeman, glamorous girl reporter in the daily news-serial, "Wendy Warren and the News" (CBS), is married to a clergyman... has two children, Deana, aged 8 1/2, and Judith, 10... lives in a lovely old renovated house in New Jersey... makes the house a real home to every member of the family. She has a favorite recipe for a delicious dessert, using Instant Coffee. I found it so good, I'm sure you'll thank me—and "Wendy"—for passing it on to you.

COFFEE SOUFFLE MOLD
Combine 3 slightly beaten egg yolks, 1 1/2 cups of milk, 2 tablespoons of Instant Coffee and 3 tablespoons of sugar in double boiler. Cook until mixture coats spoon, stirring constantly. Soften 1 envelope of unflavored gelatin with 1/2 cup milk. Add hot custard mixture, stirring until gelatin dissolves. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat 3 egg whites until foamy. Add 3 tablespoons sugar. Beat until stiff. Add 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Fold into gelatin mixture. Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serve plain or with cream. Yield: 6 to 8.

A tempting "Taste-Teaser" to win a glad "ahoy" from kitchen skippers everywhere! These Eggs-In-A-Boat have a crunchy corn flake topping which gives them an especially zesty flavor. When served with green peas, it's a dish which not only looks pretty, but provides a tasty and nutritious meal for the whole family. So port your helm and unfurl your sails for a happy cruise in cooking.

EGGS-IN-A-BOAT
Bake 6 large potatoes until tender. Cut off tops lengthwise. Carefully remove pulp; mash well; mix with butter, milk and salt. Fill the potato shells with this mixture, leaving a depression in the center. Break an egg into each; top with grated cheese (1/2 cup for 6 potatoes) and corn flakes (2 cups), which have been crushed and mixed with 2 tablespoons of melted butter or margarine. Bake in moderate oven, 350°, until eggs are set—about 10 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Household Hint:... When grease drops on floor, quickly pour ice cold water on it—harder grease so steam will not seak in wood.

Sylvester Says:

"Here's one key to low-cost housing—but who wants to use it?"

Even the house in front of the back-house can be easily prefabricated, if you care for outdoor plumbing. But you can't produce a lot, a foundation of deep, underground plumbing and water connections to the street; a paved street or a sidewalk, in a factory. In fact, you can't even factory-build the hole under the backhouse.

The modern, ordinary comforts, conveniences and land—the essential nature of any American home—account for about 1/2 of the cost of the house even though more and larger parts of the house are being factory fabricated and shipped.

Americans are no longer satisfied with 4 rooms and a bath. That's why we have the highest standard of living in the world for the average citizen. In fact, 9 out of 10 of the world's bathtubs are in American homes, according to latest compiled international figures.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Now They Even Wash Your Spinach For You!

Twenty-five years have sure made a big difference in the way things are sold. Remember when you wanted cheese? The grocer whacked a hunk off a big "cartwheel" on the counter (and usually forgot to put the cheesecloth back over it to keep the flies off).

Today cheese comes vacuum-packed in glasses you can use afterwards. And coffee. Instead of out of a bin now you get it roasted-fresh in a container—and don't even have to grind it!

Take the old-fashioned "for men only" corner saloon. Today taverns selling beer and ale are "open to inspection" to everyone. That's because the tavern owners and brewers have set up a Self-Regulation Program to see that their "product" is always sold in the right kind of "package."

From where I sit, that's an important part of the American way—keeping product and package right up to the minute as the seller and the public both benefit.

Chevrolet's 'Balanced Design' Adds Beauty and Comfort

Progressive streamlining of the 1949 Chevrolet is in line. Notable in the rounded, lower nose is a balance emphasis in the view of the Styling De Luxe four-door design that adds greater comfort and driving ease. See sedan against a new 1949 Buick 241 passenger air— as well as smart appearance.

NEW MEXICO NOTES

From A Wheel Chair By: Katherine B. Mabry

If any human beings survive our atomic age until the year 2000 A. D., they will probably look back on our 1949 civilization and regard it as fantastic as a personally conducted trip to the planet Mars.

Probably no form of communication is wielding so large an influence as the impact of the dozens of 250-watt radio stations that have sprung up like Johnson grass over New Mexico.

Since many of them are not affiliated with the major networks, they run instead of the Soap Operas, a series of Juke Box Reviews. It's the kind of program where Johnny, Mary, Juan and Ignacio write in and request some hill-William records to be dedicated to them.

It's the kind of program where the announcer is reading postal cards and can't quite make out the names of the folks who write in.

Sombody should be writing a huge volume to preserve the influence of the corner drug store—as witnessed in 1949. Lewis Nurdyke was quoting an original poem by Mrs. A. K. McDonald in the Amarillo News-Globe:

"A small town store that handles drugs, Is stocked with serums for killing bugs, With vitamins to give you vigor, Chill tonic if you have a rigor: Reducing pills to make you thin, Lotions and creams for a soft, smooth skin. There's every kind of prescription item,

For bugs-insecticides to smite 'em. There's thousands of items on counter and shelf— If you have and doubt, just count 'em yourself."

Taxes and Death I suppose somebody will look back on the middle 1900's and find taxes were a surer way of killing than sudden accidents. Dillon Suthers of Tucumcari dug out a present-day tax epic by Mrs. Ams Wickham:

"Tax the farmer, tax a fowl, Tax the dog and tax his howl; Tax the ox and tax the ass, Tax the 'henry' and tax its gas. Tax all business, tax the shops, Tax the business, tax the stocks. Tax the living, tax the dead, Tax the unborn before they're fed. Tax them all and tax them well, And do your best to make 'em hfe."

I'm afraid sociologists will find it the year 2000 that most marriages were arranged for convenience. Wallace Barnes of Gallup was telling about a doctor who said to a woman "Mrs. Brown, I've been treating your husband and I don't like his looks." She answered: "Neither do I, Doc, but he's good to the children."

Signs of the Times Today is the age of experimentation. Nothing is true until proved. Just last week, little 6-year old Allan Ake jumped without much damage from the second story of the new home, his father, Roscoe Ake of Socorro, is building.

Little Alan explained: "No dangos of me being caught like a rat in my bedroom if there's a fire."

A Roswell score keeper was the most confused man of the week. Typical of the West-Texas New Mexico baseball league scoring, both Roswell and Albuquerque in a pre-season warm-up scored five runs each in the third inning. He had no "fives" to put on the board so he scored four runs for each in the third and one each for the fourth inning.

Then, Bill Wetzel from Clayton who claims to be the fattest man in the world, is going to tour the country, capitalizing on his size. That wishing to buy steak in his enter price can do so at $1-a-throw—as you get his picture to boot.

And as Max Mandelke says in the Cruces Citizen: "The low-necked, dresses and scanty bathing suits of 1949 are all right—providing some one other than your wife wears 'em." Fifty Years Ago

Yes, we'll probably be thinking fifty years from now, just what we are thinking about the early 1900's—"what crazy folks lived back there!"

Dorothy Alexander of the Santa Fe New Mexican staff was leafing through old copies of New Mexico papers and found an 1899 editorial. Some good was lamenting a move to change the name of Eddy to Carlsbad. "Carlsbad," said the editorial writer, "meaning 'Charles' Bath' would be kiddy, and would suggest knee pants, tops, toys and scribbling of dirty boys' ears. If Bath (Bad) must be added, who not, make it "Eddy's Bath?" Yet, fifty years from that date it is Charles' Bath - Carlsbad.

And in Conclusion. That's all, this week except to wonder (with Punch) if girls in 1999 will still love men with blue eyes, brown hair and greenbacks.

You and Your Share If ever this nation needed an economy-minded Congress, it is now. The cost of government has shot up all out of sight. Current high costs of government represent more than just dollar inflation. What we have had, without clearly realizing it, is a boom in government. This boom has flourished until there is danger of collapse from the very size of the superstructure itself. Our ship of state is indeed top-heavy.

Lumping all government together—federal, state, local—tax collections for the 1948 fiscal year came to 26 per cent of the national income. Perhaps you can see it better if we should divide up that $5.5 billion of tax collections to find what was your part. It amounts to $377 for each man, woman, and child in the nation. You didn't pay that much? Brother, your share was tucked away in the price of every thing you spent your money for!

Government Unlimited? You can see how much taxes have grown, if you compare the above figures with those for 1940. The tax collections were $14.4 billion, or 18.9 per cent of national income. The amount for each person in 1941 was only $109. In eight years, therefore, we have more than tripled our taxes. A lot of it results from the war. We're spending a lot in Europe, certainly. But let us not use that as an excuse for lack of vigilance about the rest of it.

We are inclined to justify boom government and resulting high taxes in a number of strange ways in depression times, we call for more and more spending. That means taxes, but we put them off until later. Then in time of plenty we think up more things that government can do "better" for us feeling sure that we can afford it. At the same time, we ignore war time debt and forget that we've got a "deficit" spending! Must we dedicate ourselves to unlimited government?

Knowing that "power to tax is power to destroy," the founding fathers placed tax power upon Congress. This power was not meant to be abused. Citizens then were aware that government was meant to serve them, not they to serve the government. That is the viewpoint of taxpayers.

But times have changed. Now we tax American voters (though they be taxpayers to the tune of billions) look upon themselves first as receivers of government benefits, last as payers of tax. Our federal government is now making payments direct to 15,830,899 persons. Some of these are necessary. But too many of us, far too many for the good of the nation, have a personal interest in seeing government expenditures continue. Will any of these 16 million bite the hand that feeds them?

You see, this is the way we ourselves can undermine the corner stone of freedom. Almost without knowing it, we have created a huge central government, then given it power to perpetuate itself. If big government can minimize the dangers of entrenched bureaucracy, keep public waste and extravagance out of sight, and go on taxing—then this thing will continue regardless of the party in power. When big government sells people on the idea of lavish handouts which they themselves pay for by high taxes, you can call this bribing people with their own money!

OUR PUBLIC BUSINESS

Employment in New Mexico The Employment Security Commission reports 128,450 persons in non-agricultural employment for March, an increase of 950 over February of this year and 8000 over March 1948. In manufacturing there were 9800 employees; in mining, 11,900; in transportation and utilities, 4,800; in trade, 23,700; in finance, insurance and real estate, 8100; in service and miscellaneous, 19,100. In contract construction, 15,150; and in government, 27,600. In mining employees were classified as follows: metal - 3750; coal - 1550; petroleum and natural gas - 4950; non-metallic (except coal) - 1700.

Local Government Costs County budgets for all counties in New Mexico amounted to $3,085,009 in 1940-41 and to $5,359,083 in 1948-49. All school budgets are mounted to $9,488,112 in 1940-41 and to $25,971,378 in 1948-49. A city, town and village budgets are mounted to $2,185,182 in 1940-41 and to $5,599,725 in 1948-49, exclusive of municipally owned utilities. For all local government, budgets increased from $14,758,903 in 1940-41 to $36,920,189 in 1948-49 or 150 per cent.

A Million Every Twelve Minutes Our government spent a million dollars every 9 days a century ago—in the fiscal year 1849-50. Today it is spending a million dollars every 12 minutes. A century ago Federal expenditures were $1.70 a year for each man, woman and child in the United States. By 1900, however, they were running at the rate of $ year per capita. In 1920 the rate was $60 per capita and by 1929 it had dropped to $27. By 1939 it had reached $69 per capita and in 1941 the rate is $296 for each man, woman and child in our population.—Family Economics Bureau.

New Taxes According to the Tax News Letter of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, new taxes—even the threat of them—chip away at one of Texas most valuable assets—its reasonable tax program. The same may be said of New Mexico's tax system. To quote further, "A recent national poll of industries was taken to determine the ten most important factors influencing their location. It discloses that a favorable tax program ranked second. It was topped only by consideration of the distribution of its product."

VISITING ARTISTS AT UNM Albuquerque, N. M., Chiura Obata and Adja Yunkers, internationally known artists who will be visiting professors for the University of New Mexico summer session, will have a joint exhibit of their works in the JNM fine arts building, June 7 to July 6. The exhibit arranged by Raymond Jonson of the University art department will consist of 12 representative paintings of each artist.

Obata is a Japanese artist who has lived in the United States since 1903. He has had more than 200 one-man shows of his works in various parts of the Union. He is professor of art at the University of California. A prolific worker, in water colors, oils and wood block prints, Obata produced more than 500 paintings during a seven-month period he was in a relocation center in Utah during the war.

Yunkers has recently been awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship for 1949-50. He will have a large print in a forthcoming exhibition of contemporary American prints at the Museum of Modern Art in New York. Yunkers has also been invited to show his color block prints at the New School for Social Research in New York and at an international exhibition in Paris.

Uncle Sam Says

Everyone will have a part in the U. S. Savings Bonds great "Opportunity Drive" May 16-June 30. The armed forces are responding to the call for volunteer assistance by offering to buy a number of covered wagons to independence, Mo., for a big ceremony marking opening of the drive. They will then transport the wagons to various States. The covered wagons typify the hardships the original 42'ers went through in their search for riches and security and how easy it is for the modern 49'er to build for a secure future. Today you are given the opportunity to invest in U. S. Savings Bonds—the easy way to pile up riches. In ten short years you will receive $100 for every $75 invested.

WILL ROBINSON SAYS

(By Will Robinson)

There have been times when I classified Karl Gutmann as several others who are skeptical about the value of a modern education, a more or less old crab. This crab continued until I ran up against a young woman from one of our best high schools who couldn't analyze a sentence.

Then another who admitted that she hadn't been taught anything about spelling or penmanship. Another who didn't know how to start computing interest on the loan her mother had to arrange to carry her through college. There were several of both sexes who didn't know who is vice-president of the United States, or lieutenant-governor of New Mexico.

Several understood what a unicameral legislature was, this because they had to know that the student legislature is in session. Still could not say how many counties there are in New Mexico. No one could tell the difference between Communism and Socialism. They have rated fairly well when it came to reading aloud as to pronunciation.

Nearly all of them used good English in talking—maybe they picked it up from the radio, but they had it. Finally their deficiencies were less than two per cent of those cross-sectioned! We are not exactly going to the dogs educationally, though as Dillon Suthers says there seems to be something screwy about our present system of education.

You often hear it said that "Fathers and Mothers are alike, just as people are all alike." There couldn't be anything farther away from the truth. There are 5,000 students at the University of New Mexico. Back home there are 5,000 mothers and 5,000 fathers. There are no two students who see with the same eyes, just as there are no two dads and mothers

The other day this writer was having coffee with a young man from the Pecos country at the SOD. (That came this bombshell: "Uncle Bill, I thought I knew my dad. Probably you think you do. Neither of us does. Here is dad as he really is," and he handed me a letter he had been reading. There was one paragraph that gripped: "No extra remittance, son. If you want more money, earn it. I am going to give you an extra ten for every A grade you get, otherwise not a thin dime extra. That will show me that I am getting something for $2,000 a year you are costing me. I know A's are not easy, what with athletics, student activities and girls, but you can dig a little an get 'em."

"And I thought he never noticed my grade or anything and that the only word he knew was 'no.' I am going to bet that old goof for $40 at this exam." I'll bet a cookie he does just that. And this ultimatum came from a man who was a campus Don Juan and never sweat when I first knew him!

ATTEND TULAROSA MEETING

Mesdames Chas. Hodgins, Fred Napp, L. P. McClintock, F. O. Brown, C. A. Shultz, C. E. Digner, J. E. Thornton, and the Rev. Harry Waby, pastor of the Methodist Church, attended a District meeting in Tularosa last Friday in the interest of the Vacation Bible school.

Southern Pacific Railway and Game and Fish Department officials conferred yesterday on opening of Bonita Lake near Capitan, to fishing.

The lake has been stocked with fish. The railroad has asked the state to build sanitary and camp facilities if it agrees to open the lake.

Bonita was built by the Southern Pacific. It furnishes water for the railroad and several towns including Vaughn, Capitan and Corona.

MODERN HAWKEYE . . . Although no detective in the "who-dun-it" sense, Government Inspector Ezra E. Ruyle, shown as he removes a can of dog food from a filling machine, scrutinizes Fido's dinner with a thoroughness that would make even the venerable Mr. Holmes sit up and take notice. In order for a manufacturer to display the Department of Agriculture's seal of certification, now given to dog foods meeting certain high standards, his product must be inspected through every phase of production—from raw material to labeled can.

SCHOOL TESTING PROGRAM

The school has for a number of years conducted a testing program, using the standardized tests for this work. This shows the grade level of each pupil and the progress that they have made since the last test. The tests used are the Otis, Metropolitan and the Stanford tests. If parents at any time should desire to see the results, we shall be glad for them to see these records.

It is true that all pupils do not make the progress that we would like to see but the average progress of each class has been very satisfactory. The sixth grade this year was given two tests and two averages shown between the two tests was that the class average was twice the number of months gain that had elapsed since the last test, this was also true in the fifth grade. It is true that some made very little progress during the time, probably due to lack of effort and other factors.

The present eighth grade average was very low when the yentered the seventh grade, this was in part due to the number of new pupils that entered school here for the first time, and other factors that existed here, but now after the two years work the class average is well above standard, and with a number several grades ahead of their classification in ability.

The results from the State tests on the senior class were the best we have had for many years, with one pupil in the top bracket for all students in the state.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U.S. Seeks to Avoid Chinese War As Warships Flee Shanghai Trap; Reds Talk of Berlin Blockade End

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

BOUND FOR "HOT SPOT!" ... American marines wave from the U.S.S. St. Paul as they embark for trouble spots in China. The St. Paul, heavy cruiser, was one of the two warships leaving for China and which carried much larger complements of marines than normal.

The United States was showing the world that it planned no maneuvers which might create the situation for an "incident" leading to involvement in the Chinese war.

To the surprise of practically everyone, particularly the 2,500 Americans in Shanghai, the entire U. S. fleet fled suddenly from Shanghai, evidently having abandoned their current plans for evacuation of American nationals from the scene.

THE GOVERNMENT was sending some marines to Chinese troubled spots, but these were to do only sentry duty.

United States action came despite admittedly great provocation. The Chinese Communists, in their triumphant surge across China to Shanghai, had invaded the heart of U. S. Envoy J. Leighton Stuart in Nanking and hinted he was to be held in custody.

Meanwhile, the Chinese Reds broadcast a demand for American and British officials to evacuate all their "aggressive forces" from China.

Already British warships had been fired upon and it was assumed American fleet elements had fled Shanghai in order to avoid any such predicament as was experienced by the British vessels.

THE COMMUNIST threat to Shanghai was increasing hourly and despite Nationalist decision to battle to the end, it appeared the city's plight was hopeless.

Communist victory in China would put all the western nations in a ticklish position. For, with the Reds in control of all China, those who opposed communism would be helpless and hopeless in event of a western-powers move to apply economic sanctions, if such a stop should be taken. If this procedure were not to be followed, the western powers would be put in the paradoxical position of recognizing and trading with proponents of an ideology with which they were struggling in a cold war.

AUTO LABOR:

Flareup Looms

The nation's coal mines didn't present the only likely flareup in labor-employe relations as bargaining time rolled around in various industries. Those who were in position to know held the opinion that it was an "uneasy peace" which hung over the automobile industry.

UNION FLAREUPS had been quelled at the Packard and Ford motor companies and a temporary work stoppage had halted body production at the Briggs manufacturing company's plant.

The future of labor relations in the industry was as confused as it was uneasy. Recent action by manufacturers in cutting prices of automobiles had brought accusations from labor that the reductions were only "token" cuts, and did not represent a fair action on the part of the manufacturers.

However, with prices of other commodities beginning to spiral downward and easement of installment buying widened, it began to appear that labor would be in a vulnerable position by the time contract-signing time rolled around.

WHILE there was little in the press about the intentions of dynamic Walter Reuther, head of the United Automobile Workers' union, there was slight doubt that the fiery redhead would be in there pitching for his union members when the time came to sit down at the bargaining table.

Would labor attempt to overreach itself in bargaining or would it recognize the trend of the times and be content to hold present gains? That was the question whose answer would be anxiously awaited by the citizen who is always in the middle in such struggles—the average American consumer.

SPRING COMES TO ENGLAND

Nature Gives Weird Vent to Vernal Urge

It was spring in England, and whimsy and fantasy were all around.

For instance, cows get a license to kiss. A loveless cat set fire to a house. A thief, no doubt actuated by the season, stole two dozen love birds. A swim, winging male, only up the Thames in search of a mate, plunged in a creek at high noon and pined up trunks for a mile. Everything, it seemed, was in a tizzy.

BERLIN:

Reds Want Talk

If the United States and Britain looked with a jaundiced eye on Russia's public offer to lift the Berlin blockade, it was thoroughly understandable. Too often the Soviets have held out the olive branch or made apparent overtures that never materialized to ease the crisis the Reds may have been developing at that time.

HOWEVER, the western powers had virtually accepted the Russian proposal to lift the Berlin blockade in exchange for a four-power conference on Germany. But it was made very plain that acceptance was based on the condition that Russia had no secret strings attached to the offer.

A U. S. state department official was quoted as saying that if Moscow's policy actually stands as it was reported in a dispatch by Tass, Russian news agency, the "way appears clear for the lifting of the blockade and a meeting of the council of foreign ministers."

At the same time, however, it was learned that the Russians were told that the United States, Britain and France do not intend to delay their plans for unifying western Germany and creating a German government, probably by July 15.

SOME TOP officials believed the Russian offer's real purpose was to delay this action, and indicated that if this were the case it was most uncertain whether a real and final agreement on the Berlin blockade would be reached any time in the near future.

The Russian proposal was construed as suggesting three concrete means for reducing international tension. These were outlined as (1) proposal for a meeting of the council of foreign ministers on the subject of Germany; (2) lifting the Berlin restrictions as soon as a meeting date was fixed for that meeting; and (3) direct negotiations between Premier Stalin and President Truman on basic conflicts between the United States and the Soviet union.

FARM PROGRAM:

Who's Confused?

The administration's bold new farm program was becoming so muddled that even its proponents seemed to be less than certain of just what its purpose is, to say nothing of how much it will cost.

When the program was first presented, the general impression generated by its proponents was that it was a device that would keep up the price of farm products while at the same time resulting in less cost to the consumer.

TO CRITICS who callously pointed out that it would require tax money to finance such a program and that both farmers and consumers would have to pay those taxes, the plan's advocates answered that such persons simply didn't understand the aims of the proposal.

Then along came Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan with a statement that indicated he didn't quite understand it either, or if he did, it was a new conception. Now, the secretary was saying, the plan wasn't meant as a consumer subsidy at all. No, indeed, it was a farm price support measure, aimed at giving the farmer a "fair return" on his investment and his labor.

CREDIT CONTROLS:

Are Eased Again

Developments were showing President Truman's demands for price control power further and further into the realm of absurdity.

THE FEDERAL reserve board, after looking the situation over, decided that installment buying controls could be lowered again safely. And this it did. It set out that on household appliances such as refrigerators, radios, electric washers, etc., the down payment would have to be only 10 per cent of the cost of the item, instead of the previous 15 per cent. On automobiles, the down payment remained at 30 per cent; but on autos and household appliances, too, the time of payment was extended from 21 to 24 months.

THIS ACTION brought both commendation and criticism. That element in the federal government which would recoup all the wartime controls for the President, was aghast at the action, terming it dangerous. Others who had watched prices continue their downward spiral—especially merchants who were facing a buyers' market and difficulty in moving goods off sales floors—saw the action as a boon to business.

SULLIVAN:

Quits Navy Post

There was little else that John L. Sullivan, secretary of the navy, could have done but resign after the "multi-million dollar reprimand" he received from Defense Secretary Louis Johnson.

SULLIVAN, as navy chief, had gone ahead with plans to construct the 65,000-ton U. S. aircraft super-carrier, the United States, despite lack of congressional authorization for the project.

It was no particular secret that abandonment of the carrier and Sullivan's resignation were all a continuing part of the apparently hopeless fight to unify the nation's armed forces. The congressional act calling for such a step has never been carried out, and the navy's attempt to go ahead with building the huge carrier without any legal authority was another example of high-handed service tactics that have tended to make unification appear impossible of realization.

DEFENSE SECRETARY Johnson, commenting on Sullivan's resignation, said, "I regret very much that my old friend and colleague . . . has joined the aircraft carrier issue on personal grounds and I believe that he too will soon regret his action of today."

DAIRYMEN:

Will Push Sales

According to the experts, milk prices would be tumbling again this summer, but American dairymen wouldn't be cheering about it.

In fact, dairymen were getting set to launch a 1.5 million-dollar campaign to promote the sale of dairy products and, at the same time, wage war on oleomargarine. Most dairy leaders were said to believe that a promotional campaign to boost consumption was the only way to check a nose-dive in milk and butter prices that has caught producers with their income down and their costs up.

In little more than seven months, according to a federal dairy specialist, dairy prices had dropped 23 per cent. Butter, which not long ago was at almost prohibitive prices, had dipped to the government support level. Milk prices also had been falling off a cent or two at a time on retail markets.

The federal specialist pointed out that domestic unemployment has contributed to the drop in consumption of dairy products.

Grown Up

Shirley Temple, one-time "Little Miss Marker" of movie fame, now is fully grown up. She recently celebrated her 13th birthday anniversary. The dimpled child screen star of more than a decade ago is the mother of a year-old daughter.

FROZEN FROG:

May Yet Jump

Dr. D. L. Albasio, of Angels Camp, Calif., was keeping his entry in the annual frog jumping contest on ice—literally speaking. He has to, because his frog, Laxatus, has been frozen stiff for an estimated 1,300 years.

The physician said he found his prehistoric frog frozen deep in the ice of Dana glacier in Yosemite national park and felt confident his entry would be able to jump.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN RECEIVES FIRST BUDDY FOGGY . . . President Truman is shown receiving the first Buddy Foggy of the 1948 sale from five-year old Kalika M. Smith, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars home for widows and orphans in Eaton Rapids, Mich. She visited the White House for the ceremony. The Buddy Foggy sale is conducted annually by the VFW to raise funds for rehabilitation work among needy veterans.

NO KLANSMEN, THEY . . . This striking view, so similar to many seen in the United States when the Ku Klux Klan was most active, would seem to be that of a group of klanesmen marching along with the traditional lighted cross—but nothing could be further from the fact. These paraders took part in observance of Holy Week in Madrid and are members of the "brotherhood of silence." About 6,000 members took part in the solemn procession.

HAVING A "HIGH" TIME . . . Daring equilibrist, gravity and sandy other things which bar this sort of thing as a pastime for ordinary persons, Betty Fox, featured performer of the Barons Brothers circus, is shown on a tiny platform extending from a 12th floor window of the Congress hotel in Chicago.

THIS BIRD HAS TABLE MANNERS . . . Meet any party "wants a croaker," but only Rebecca, a stunner for propriety, insists on a spoon with her. Besides being adept at the table graces—including proper use of knife and fork—Rebecca can dance and is an excellent conversationalist. Her vocabulary is reported to be "interesting." Her home, appropriately enough, is a restaurant called the "Chatterbox."

FEMALE PEACE ORGANIZATION WOULD Why Not Let the Ladies Take Over UN's Job? SOLVE THE GROMYKO PROBLEM PRONTO

By H. I. PHILLIPS

LET THE GAL'S TAKE OVER!

Sen. Margaret Chase of Maine proposes that the women of the world form their own United Nations or other peace organization. Why not? Even if they didn't get peace the fighting would be easier on the eye. An international debate never loses anything through being photogenic.

The men have had their chance at bringing world peace and have sliced every shot. Senator Chase declares. We agree. This harassed world would feel better if it knew that its future was in the hands of somebody who could at least bake a cake.

No matter how deep the planet's faith in those men delegates ever got there was always the realization that they really didn't know how to replace a lost shirt button.

It seems to us that the men might well be called off the peace job and the women sent in. In four years the men haven't even made anybody turn around and look at them. Not a delegate has had a song written to him. There hasn't been a heartthrob in a carload.

U. N. has no glamour. For one person who can name the head of the organization 1,000 can name the young woman who was Miss Somebody's Beer for 1948.

If the women formed a peace organization, took over U.N. and sent the men home to look after the kids, put out the cat and do other things not subject to the veto, the peace movement would immediately acquire immense affection and devotion. Maybe what the world needs is a League that can be whistled at!

We can see swift results. A female U.N. would get a bigger play in all the newspapers and magazines. It would probably make the cover of Life. It would even make television, which is the ultimate goal these days. Whenever interest in the organization tailed off the delegates could be photographed in beach attire or endorsing a girle.

A woman's United Nations would solve the Gromyko problem pronto. There has never been a time when one woman could veto 1,000 other women and live.

What can men do when the world is crazy? Nothing. But in a showdown the women could get what they want merely by flashing a two-word message to all women everywhere: "Stop cooking!" And they could follow that up with an order to the girls to refuse to answer the universal question, "Where did you put the aspirin, Nellie?"

To cap it all they could say, "Not a bed will be made or a sock washed until the armies of the earth disband."

Gangway for the ladies! They will know the right perfume. And if, by any chance, they muddled things up even more, the muddle would at least have that certain something.

CUFF STUFF

President Truman threw out the first ball at the opening of the baseball season in Washington. It was a Blair House twister with alternating altitude and depth, and everybody can now understand why he feels control is so mandatory to the American system.

Can you remember away back when the flags in a college student's room did not include picket banners?

The Blair House, now occupied by the president as a temporary White House, has been piped for music from a corporation rendering this service to hotels and restaurants. Does this mean Mrs. Truman and Margaret are in an all-out move to discourage Harry at the piano?

Elm trees a half century old have been carted in from the country and planted along Fifth ave. We feel sorry for them. It's a little late in life to start afresh in New York. We saw one of the trees on a truck preparatory to planting and distinctly heard it moan, "New York is all right for a visit, but I'd hate to live there."

NIGHT

THANK God for night, with its great gift of sleep. More wonderful than all His gifts to man! For stars that walk the dreamways, and that keep their wide-eyed watch until dawn breaks again. Thank God for blessed silence down the land. More soothing than the drip of summer rain; For darkness, soft and cool as some dear hand laid on a forehead feverish with pain.

Oh, only those who carry sleepless scars Can know how sweet sleep is that comes at last; And only the eyes that have looked long at stars Have learned night's secret as it marches past, Have learned to know how quiet God must keep To guide us earth through stars that men may sleep.

Star Dust

BY INEZ GERHARD
JIM AND MARIAN Jordan had been in and out of small-time show business for several years when a $10 bet landed them on the radio. They were visiting Jim's brother in Chicago when Jim remarked that he and Marian could do a better job of singing than anyone on the radio program they were listening to. Jim's brother bet him $10 they couldn't. That was a lot of money to the Jordans then; they showed up at Station WJBO, and landed on the air. Five months later the radio job ended, and they went back to vaudeville. It was not until later that they became "Fibber McGee and Molly" in one of radio's top ranking radio series.

Dr. Henry Darrington, Rector of New York's Church of the Heavenly Rest, recently appeared as family counselor on "The Second Mrs. Burton." Listening to the singing commercials, he remarked, "If churches used a device as catchy as this, I could guarantee standing room only." No doubt he went home and asked the cook to try those seven delicious flavors.

Burt Lancaster is back in the circus; he finished "Rope of Sand" and headed for Louisville, Ky., and the Cole Brothers' circus, to do an acrobatic act with his former partner, Nick Cravat; will appear with it in 20 cities.

Howard "Sam Spade" Duff revived a scary experience when he and other members of the "Partners in Crime" cast were flying to Universal-International's location in Tucson. The plane shook violently, and one engine went dead. Finally landed on the remaining three. When he was in the South Pacific during the war, Duff was in a plane that encountered severe headwinds, threatened to run out of gas. He admits that he was as scared as anybody else, but he took out some cards and started a solitaire game.

The Fiction POACHERS OUTWITTED

By Richard H. Wilkinson

IT HAPPENED that young Glen Lloyd was the only warden on duty when Chief Fred Mather received word that poachers were doing a wholesale business in moose meat up in Birchhill county. Glen was a rookie on the job. As yet he'd had no contact with either the hardships or the dangers of a north woods game warden. Chief Mather decided to use discretion. "You go up there and do some reconnoitering," he told the youth. "You'll find a base camp under a cliff near the headwaters of the Beaver. Make this your headquarters until Warden Loomis arrives. He'll tell you how to proceed." Chief Mather drummed with his pencil. "Don't take any chances, son. I've an idea that Moe Stanford's behind this ring. He's a bad actor."

Glen reached the base cabin two days later. The ground was covered with a six-inch fall of snow. Glen waited two days more and then decided to take matters into his own hands. Armed with his service pistol and a flashlight he concealed himself near the tote road on top of a ridge where the progress of the truck would have to be slow. It was bitterly cold and a brisk wind was blowing. Also there was the promise of snow in the air.

Midnight came and went and Glen's spirits ebbed low. Cursing himself for delaying action, Glen was about to quit his hiding place when he heard distantly the roar of an automobile motor.

He waited until the driver was shifting gears for the final pull, then stepped out into the glare of the lights. He held his gun in one hand. The badge on his sheepskin coat was plainly visible.

Instead of stopping, the driver bore down on the accelerator. The truck roared straight at the warden. Glen stepped to one side, barely avoiding being hit, and as the heavy machine lumbered by he swung himself onto the running board. He clung there perilously for a moment, then something hit him on the head, he heard an angry curse, and went spinning of into space.

Fifteen minutes later he emerged on to the same tote road where it doubled back on itself. The lights from the truck were already sweeping up the incline.

over the cab. The noise of the motor had drowned out sounds of his approach. Reversing his service gun, Glen crept up behind the men, felled one of them and grappled with the other. The scuffle was short-lived. Taken completely by surprise the poacher was at a disadvantage. Stunned by the blow which he tried to dodge, he fell against the cab and slumped to his knees when Glen struck out a second time.

The warden handcuffed the two men to an upright in the truck, then approached the cab. There was a small window in its rear. Through this Glen thrust his gun, splintering the glass. The two men inside turned to find themselves staring into the gun's muzzle.

Warden Loomis, trekking northward to join young Glen Lloyd, was astonished to find a truck on the old tote-road. The truck stopped and a friendly, boyish voice greeted him.

"Hi, Joe," Glen yelled. "Put some bracelets on these birds in front, will you? My hand's so stiff from holding this gun I can't move it—let alone pull the trigger."

When Chief Mather heard the story he wrote a personal letter to Supervisor Herjick, complimenting the supervisor on his choice of men.

Mrs. Henry Hoffman was hostess to the Past Matrons' Club Tuesday of this week. Eight members and two visitors were present. An enjoyable and instructive afternoon was spent.

NEWS ADS BRING QUICK RESULTS

Mr. Henry Hoffman advertised a Fairbanks-Morse Electric pump for sale last week and his daughter, Mildred, advertised for a hat ring; the pump was sold, and the ring was found before another issue could be placed. Three weeks ago Mr. Roy Shaffer advertised some pigs for sale and they were sold the first week.
