Yates-Bowington Wedding in El Paso

In a candlelight ceremony last Thursday, at 7:30 p. m. Miss Becky Yates became the bride of Mr. R. L. Bowington in Immanuel Baptist church at El Paso.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. C. C. Merchant of Alamogordo.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Out of town guests included two sisters of the bride, Mrs. J. N. McDaniel and J. N. McDaniel of Carrizozo; Mrs. R. A. Pfingsten and husband of Douglas, Arizona; Mrs. Bill Armstrong and daughter, Mildred of Tucumcari.

The bride and groom went to Cloudford for a honeymoon and upon their return will reside at 917 Wyoming street, El Paso.

Bus Men Take Driver Course

Messrs. R. Ewing Carter of Green Tree, Pedro Salcido of Hondo, and Ben Sanchez, school bus drivers for Lincoln County, were among those registered today for the ninth annual Bus Drivers institute at New Mexico State Teachers college, Silver City.

Under the direction of Mrs. Ernest L. Martin, Albuquerque instructor in school bus safety for the college, the institute is the most complete one of its kind in the state and ranks foremost in the United States, officials say. Enrollees will take 25 clock-hours of course work covering all phases of school bus safety and driving. Those successfully completing the course will receive special certificates from Dr. H. I. James, president of the college, at a picnic.

New Mexico State Teachers college sponsors the training program in cooperation with State Board for Vocational Education and State Department of Transportation, Department of Education. It is fully approved by J. T. Reece, director of school transportation in New Mexico.

Mr. Bernard Valuckas has offered his nice home for sale. Ad may be read in this issue.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Lane was here from Ruidoso to visit his aunts, Mrs. Sherrill and Miss Lane.

R. A. Eigner

Mr. Ernest Key received a telegram Monday from Mrs. R. A. Eigner stating that her husband had died in his sleep on that date. The Eigners will be remembered as employees of the Southern Pacific hotel six or seven years ago. Mr. Eigner and Mr. George Bigelow of Tucumcari were in the United States Navy together before World War I, aboard a revenue cutter which plied the arctic circle. Mrs. Eigner requested Mr. Key to inform Mr. Bigelow of her husband's death.

Mr. Eigner was about 65. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. May Eigner of Los Angeles.

Annual Meet for Lincoln Otero Co-operative

Dan A. Storm

The annual meeting of members of the Lincoln-Otero County electric cooperative will be held in Cloudford on Saturday, August 6, at 2:00 P. M., in the high school gymnasium.

Preceding the meeting, at 12:00 o'clock noon a free barbecue will be served in the shade of tall pines and quaking aspen trees in the beautiful Cloudford park.

A committee consisting of Wilbur F. Coe, Glencoe; Bryan Runyan; Hope; J. C. Read, Cloudford; are in charge of the day's program. In addition to the business meeting at which trustees for next year are to be elected, there will be a demonstration of electrical equipment put on by various concerns of Southeastern New Mexico.

The power-use program of the REA will be explained to members of the gathering by a representative of the Rural Electrification Administration. In this discussion it will be brought out that a wide use of power, in addition to brightening the home and bringing in more money, brings down the cost of electric power to everyone in the whole area. This is made possible through the R. E. A. rate schedule, which is based on the operation of large government power projects designed to serve wide areas of the West.

All of the more than 1,000 members are welcomed and urged to come to this meeting not only to attend the business session but to become acquainted with the farm and ranch people who make up this cooperative. The area covered by this enterprise covers Lincoln and Otero counties, the Mescalero Indian Reservation, and part of Chaves county.

Those coming from Lincoln county would find the road from Mescalero up Tularosa canyon to be the best route. This road is nineteen miles long and in good condition. This will be a gathering of rural folks from the mountains, valleys, and prairie country who make their homes in the farms, ranches, and small towns of this area. They speak the same language. They are working to help one another in a non-profit enterprise—the greatest enterprise ever to serve our communities. Beginning by helping their neighbor to have a better home, they work toward the larger goal of a better life for the American people.

Wilbur F. Coe of Glencoe, in discussing the reasons why this meeting would be pleasant and profitable, recently suggested that Cloudford is worth visiting just for itself.

"Anyone who has never seen Cloudford," said Mr. Coe, "should see this mountain beauty spot while it is blossomed out in its summertime splendor, and the cool breezes and shade of the summit timberland are really something that a person from the lower country can appreciate at this time of year. And those who are familiar with Cloudford should see it now after a heavy winter snow and abundant summer rains have brought the wild flowers out in beauty not seen in many years."

Good Story in Ford Magazine

We received our copy of the July Ford magazine this week, and as we turned through it the word "Carrizozo" caught our eye. It is an interesting and absolutely true story of the great uranium hunt which took place in Lincoln County in 1948, when everyone with a little spare time went in search of the elusive uranium-bearing rock—and that still more elusive ten thousand simoleons they hoped to win. There are some good photographs too, especially of Mr. Foust, Nick Veer and Eddie Fitzpatrick. Story and photos are "muy bueno!"

Mr. Hays Injured

About 5 p. m. last Friday, Mr. T. O. Hays was caught in a flash flood just above Coyote. His truck turned over and he suffered numerous painful bruises and a sprained arm. Mr. Hays and Mr. Wade of Claunch sat and waited until the flood waters went down, then Mr. Hays being in front drove in first. He had not noticed the crest of another flood until it was almost upon him and it was impossible to retreat. His arm is in a sling.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Garrett and son spent a few days here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Farris. They left for Anker, Alaska where they intend to reside if a suitable location is found. Mr. Garrett is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Farris.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank English came down from the high country last Saturday to enjoy our warm climate but they hastened back to the Bonito because our recent rains had made it very cool here and quite muddy.

Mr. and Mrs. Gower left last Saturday for Arkansas for a visit.

DEPARTMENT OF GAME AND FISH

"More fishermen should get into the Charette Lakes and take some of those ring perch and big trout out of there," says State Game Warden, Elliott Barker today.

Joe Hendricks, Game Department Fisheries Biologist, has recently completed a survey of the two natural basin lakes situated some 20 miles Northwest of Wagon Mound, New Mexico, and found that the lakes abound in perch and trout. According to Hendricks, rainbow and brown trout from nine inches up to four and five pounds are plentiful in the lower lake. The Charette Lakes were purchased by the Game Department last spring.

"Those lakes aren't fished half as much as they could stand," Hendricks said. "It may be that they are a little hard to get to, but the Highway Department has graded off some of the roads and the local G.P.A.'s have erected signs there now to help in fishing it."

According to Game Department records, the lakes were stocked in 1947 with 18,000 rainbow trout and 45,000 Yellowstone native trout. 83,000 more Yellowstone natives were stocked in 1948 and in the spring of 1949, 10,353 rainbow trout from 7 to 7 1/2 inches in length were added. The bag limit and pound limit for trout apply on the lakes, but there is no limit on ring perch.

"The lakes are ringed with weed beds," Hendricks said, "so it may be necessary to fish from a boat in order to get the best results, although it is possible to wade in some sections of the lake."

"The Game Department makes every effort to prevent a violation of the game laws," said State Game Warden Elliott Barker in a talk before a new class of State Police trainees today.

In the talk, which was to acquaint the future patrolmen with the regulations and policies of the Game Department, Barker added.

"If we find a man unknowingly about to break a game law, it is our policy to prevent that man from committing an offense by warning him first. Preventing game violations is far more important to the Game Department than obtaining convictions. "After all," Barker added, "the Game Department is for the protection of the sportsmen as much as it is here to punish them when they violate the game laws."

Mr. Earl B. Nyon who came here recently from Texas, took possession of the Haseock ranch at Corona and will raise sheep there. Mr. L. W. Farris assisted in making the deal.

Dairy Herd Spraying Will Yield Dividends

May Mean $75 Extra Profit This Summer

Spraying dairy cows with methoxychlor to control blood-sucking stable and horn flies, may mean at least $75 extra profit this summer, according to H. B. Petty, insect specialist in the Illinois college of agriculture. And the chances are good, he says; that profits from spraying may run much higher.

Spraying dairy cattle is a big job for farmers, but it is one that should be done.

Petty figures the potential $75 extra profit from spraying in this manner: You can get 15 per cent more milk up to September if you spray. This has been demonstrated by careful small-scale field tests.

Spraying dairy cattle is a big job for farmers, but it will help build the type of clean, "contented" dairy herds such as that shown here.

It is generally estimated that the average cow will give 1,700 pounds of milk during the four-month fly season. A 10 per cent boost — instead of 15 per cent — would mean 170 pounds of milk for that time. For a 15-cow herd, that would mean 2,550 pounds of extra milk from fly-control.

Figured conservatively at $3 a hundredweight, that's just under $75 more in milk checks. And it costs only about 20 or 25 cents a head for spraying.

Petty recommends spraying the inside of dairy barns two or three times during the summer. He suggests that the formula used provide for one pound of 50 per cent methoxychlor-wettable powder in two to four gallons of water to every 1,000 square feet of surface.

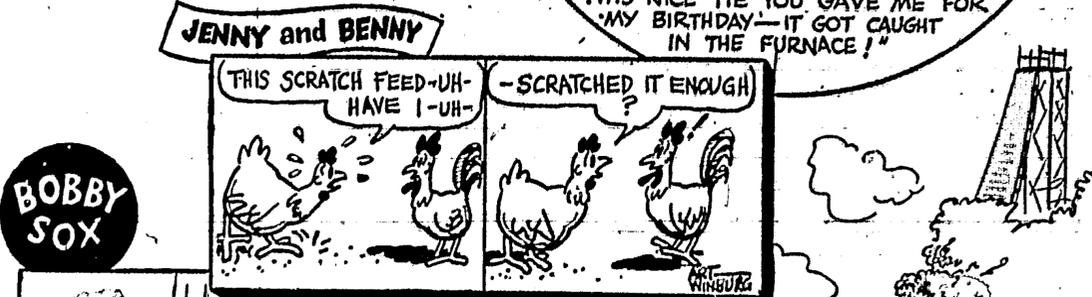

Dairy cattle should be sprayed with methoxychlor every two to four weeks to control horn flies.

The formula is one-half pound of 50 per cent powder in three gallons of water and apply one quart to each cow.

Vitamin B12 Heralded In Hog Feeding Practice

Will vitamin B12 revolutionize swine feeding practices? Michigan state college researchers don't say it will, but they're finding that this new vitamin is doing some rather remarkable things in swine feeding. They have found that it has growth stimulating properties for pigs and when added to other diets in small quantities it results in gains for dry-let pigs.

SCRIPTURE: Psalms 27, 102, 134:1-9
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 118:1-17:19

Thank God for God!

Lesson for August 7, 1943

WHILE the little children are thanking God for birds and bees and oatmeal, let us grown people rise and offer some adult thanksgivings. Reading the Psalms of praise which are this week before us, we get the impression that these poets were grateful a boy all not for anything God had given but for God himself. Thank God for God! sings through every line.

Dr. Foreman

Suppose there were no God? He is the Creator of all; without him nothing else can be. The nature of time and space, of molecule and atom and electron, the mighty power that holds all together; the emergence of life, of mind, the possibility of thought, of values, whatever is and whatever can be, is because he wills it so. That there is energy in the atom, light in the sun, refreshment in the rain and power in the lightning—that these things can be and that anything can be, we thank God.

No Unrighteousness in Him
SUPPOSE God were not good? A vast and vicious devil, his immense mind brimming with intelligence and malice, could perhaps have contrived a universe more enormous than this corner of one which is known to us. A creative devil—what pangs he could have invented to torture his creatures!

It may be, indeed, that only on this earth is there rebellion against the Creator, and that elsewhere in God's dominion all is peace. But suppose it were true that all the evil in the world was obtained by some Creative Hatred?—all the goodness in the world only an illusion, a deception?

Suppose it were the intent of some devilish maker of man finally to destroy all his creatures, or worse still, to make every creature long bitterly for death but find none? Let us thank God for God, the God of mercy whose loving kindness endureth forever.

He Knoweth Our Frame
LET US thank God for his providence. He did not create and then forget us, nor give us so much freedom that we could destroy his majesty or bring to naught his mighty plan. Let us thank God for his infinite love and interest that spares and speeds us, his knowledge of our frame, his remembering even the hairs upon our heads. Let us thank God that being infinite he can have a care for the infinitesimal, and that not a sparrow falls to the ground without our Heavenly Father. Let us thank God whose care for us is such that without his knowledge not the least of his creatures can fall asleep.

From death and disaster we and the nation and the world have been saved, time and again. Fall is the spirit in which the human craft is launched through this pathless universe; yet it holds, and will hold, because the universe is there by his almighty decree.

Who Redeemeth Thy Life
LET US PRAISE God for his promise and for his faithfulness. That he has not left us to our sins nor given us up though long we scorned him; that his divine patience outlasts the hasty heart, that he spared not his own Son but freely gave him for our sakes; that none who come to him will be cast out; that the God who creates is the God who redeems, we praise him from a heart of love. As the Psalmist of old knew himself as one of the children of the Covenant, so may every man who takes God's promises and makes them his heart's own.

To take this God for my God—this is the beginning and the end of religion. To step out on his promises as on a bridge that stands secure above all the floods of eternity.

To trust his faithfulness though all the race of man were liars; to look down the vista of the years without fear, knowing that the God of our fathers will be the God of each succeeding race; that his mercy is everlasting to everlasting and that his kingdom ruleth over all—this is to know him, and this is the eternal. Thank God for God!

Shopper Sleuths Protect Buyers In Metropolis

NEW YORK.—The butcher's scale read 3 1/2 pounds, but the chicken looked faraway to its prospective purchaser. She snatched the bird from the store keeper before he could clean it, deftly removed an 1/8-ounce slug from its gizzard, and identified herself as an inspector of the city bureau of weights and measures here.

She then served the startled butcher a summons to appear at a bureau of hearing on a charge of "short-weighting." He was fined $100 and warned that a second offense would mean criminal court prosecution.

This recent incident in a Manhattan store is typical of the hundreds of retail chiselling cases tracked down annually by the agency's shopping sleuths, whose slogan is "caveat emptor" (let the buyer beware). Although the bureau saves New York housewives millions of dollars a year, numerous instances of cheating unfortunately escape its vigilance.

Many Are Cheated
Fred J. Loughran, bureau director, said today that city storekeepers sold two billion dollars worth of food a year. Of this amount, he estimated that forty million dollars was mulcted from housewives as a result of underhanded practices behind counters.

Loughran cited a variety of methods dishonest retailers use to swindle gullible customers. A recent case involved a grocery-store owner who placed all purchases on large pieces of wrapping paper. As he weighed each purchase, he surreptitiously held down one end of the paper to make the scale indicator go up a few ounces, and thus added a few extra dollars to his cash register every day.

In another instance an inspector caught a butcher who weighed meat on a piece of paper under which he placed a pound of flattened-out bacon. The same agent also trapped a fishmonger who neglected to remove large chips of ice from his fish before he weighed them. Another inspector recently served a summons on a fruit vendor who casually left a few cherries and grapes on his scale as he weighed each purchase.

Develop Subtle Methods
Some ingeniously dishonest tradesmen have developed subtler methods for which they often dupe hundreds of innocent customers until a bureau employee spots the gimmick. One butcher who fell into this category wound a thin piece of string around the tray of his scale, the loose end of which fell to the floor behind the counter. To this end he attached a makeshift wooden pedal. As he placed a purchase on his scale he stepped on the pedal, regulating his touch carefully to add as much weight to a chicken as he desired.

To catch crooked retailers in the act of short-weighting, the bureau's 20 inspectors—four of whom are women—pose as customers and make test purchases.

Early Rising Beneficial To Those Under Surgery

CHICAGO.—Early rising after operations tends to prevent weakness, diminishes pain and would accelerate convalescence, according to Dr. J. B. Blodgett, Boston, writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Blodgett studied 234 cases in which early rising was practiced and 653 cases in which the patients remained in bed at least seven days after their operations.

Wound disruption after abdominal operations occurred in 27 per cent of the late-rising group, while the incidence in the early-rising group was 1.2 per cent. Wound-infection among the early risers was 2.8 per cent, compared to 4.4 per cent among the late risers.

English Village Pays Bills With Nothing but its Sand

SEDGEFOLD, ENGLAND.—This Norfolk village runs on sand.

The 700 villagers haven't paid a penny in local taxes in 15 years.

The tax rate is fixed at eight pence on a pound's worth of real estate, but it hasn't been collected.

Sedgeford has paid all its expenses and made enough extra to refurbish the war memorial and start a new athletic field by selling natural resources—sand from a village-owned sandpit.

Make Pleasant Work of Canning Relishes (See Recipes Below)

Savory Relish
RELISHES go with meals just as easily as some foods team together. What's a sandwich without crisp pickles, or peanut butter without jelly? Doesn't a meat platter look bare without spiced peaches? What's a hamburger without chili sauce or catsup?

If you answer these questions favorably, you probably are planning to stock your canning cupboard with a variety of these relishes, for they are just as much a part of your food supply as are fruits and vegetables.

There's little chance of failure if you follow recipes because spices and vinegar are a preservative and make success easy.

HERE'S A FAVORITE pickle which you'll want to make, especially if there are lots of sandwiches made at your home:

- Chunk Pickles (Makes 5 pints)
25 large (about 6 pounds) cucumbers
2 1/2 cups salt
2 quarts water
2 tablespoons alum
1 quart vinegar
2 cups sugar
2 1/2-inch sticks cinnamon
2 blades mace
1 tablespoon whole cloves

Wash cucumbers; place in a stone crock or jar; cover with cold brine made by dissolving salt in water; let stand for two weeks. Remove cucumbers from brine; wash and trim off stems. Cut cross-wise, into one-inch pieces. Cover with cold water; add alum and let stand overnight. Drain and wash well. Combine remaining ingredients and bring them to a boil. Four immediately over cucumber chunks and let stand. Repeat this process for three mornings, reheating the syrup each morning. Place cucumbers in sterile jars. Pour hot syrup over them and seal at once.

- Chili Sauce (Makes 4 pints)
10 pounds red tomatoes
1 quart chopped sweet red peppers
1 cup finely chopped white onions
1 quart sugar
2 tablespoons salt
5 cups vinegar
1 teaspoon mustard
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon celery seed

Scald tomatoes, remove skins and cut out cores. Wash peppers, remove seeds and dividing membranes. Put all through food chopper. Add all remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Boil for two hours, stirring frequently to prevent burning, until thick. As soon as the sauce is of desired consistency, pour into sterile jars and seal.

LYNN SAYS: Observe These Tips For Crisp Pickles

Salt used in making pickles should be of good quality, with not too much chemical added to it to prevent caking. Table or dairy salt, such as is used in flavoring butter, is good to use.

- LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU
Fried Pork Sausage
Potato Salad
Sliced Tomatoes
Pickles
Rolls
Butter
Beverage
Grapes
Sugar Cookies

- Spiced Peaches (Makes 4 1/2 quarts)
10 pounds clingstone peaches
3 3/4 pounds sugar (7 3/4 cups)
5 cups vinegar
4 teaspoons whole cloves
2 sticks cinnamon
4 teaspoons whole allspice

Choose ripe but firm, medium-sized peaches. Place sugar and vinegar in a saucepan and heat to boiling. In the meantime, slip the skins off the peaches by dipping them in hot water for a minute or two, then in cold water. Stick two or three cloves in each peach. Tie remaining cloves, cinnamon and allspice loosely in a cheesecloth bag and drop this into the boiling syrup. Add 8 to 10 peaches and cook until tender. Place peaches in sterile jars and cover with lids but do not seal. When all the peaches are done, pour hot syrup into each of the jars to within 1/2 inch of the top. Seal at once.

PLUM CATSUP is an excellent relish to use with meats and fowl.

- Plum Catsup (Makes 5 pints)
5 pounds plums, pitted and chopped
3/4 pound tart green apples, peeled and quartered
2 cups vinegar
4 cups brown sugar
3 tablespoons cinnamon
1/2 tablespoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon mace
1/2 tablespoon salt

Cook plums and apples in vinegar until soft enough to put through a sieve. Add remaining ingredients and simmer until as thick as desired. Pour into sterile jars and seal at once.

- Ripe Grape Jam (Makes 12 4-ounce glasses)
5 1/2 cups prepared fruit
7 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, slip skins from three pounds fully ripe grapes. Add one cup water to the pulp, bring to a boil, and simmer, covered, for five minutes. Remove seeds with sieve. Grind skins and add to pulp. Measure sugar into dry dish and set aside until needed. Place measured fruit into a five or six-quart saucepan, filling the last fraction of a cup with water, if necessary. Place over hottest fire and add fruit pectin; mix well and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard one minute. Remove from fire, skim and pour into sterile glasses. Paraffin hot jam at once.

In making catsups, use a low heat and stir frequently to prevent the mixture from burning.

Food choppers may be used for catsups, sauces and relishes for cutting vegetables and fruits easily.

Cider vinegar is most frequently used for pickling since many people like its mellow flavor. Light vinegar may be used for pickling light colored fruits and vegetables.

Over-mature vegetables will frequently give you tough and tasteless pickles.

Fruits which are overly-ripe should not be used for pickling as they will not hold their shape well enough to make nice pickles.

MAKES IRONING EASY

Drying Out Fresh Plaster

QUESTION: Is there a way of drying out plaster and Keeno's cement (in a bathroom) quickly, so that we can paint the walls of new rooms? We were advised to wait three to six months, but we need to hurry this if at all possible.

ANSWER: You can help to some extent with portable stoves, but I would not advise you to apply an oil paint under two months, three to six months will not be necessary. If you wish to cover the walls in a hurry, you can put on a resin-base, water-emulsion paint. This, however, is not intended for either a bathroom or a kitchen, as the surface is not glossy enough. But it may serve your purpose for a couple of months. You then can put on a varnish-size and when dry, apply two coats enamel undercoater and a finish coat of enamel.

Services for Capt. Elliot Jones

He did thirty-five dangerous missions against enemy installations receiving four medals which were: two Air Medals, the Purple Heart, and the Distinguished flying Cross. The latter is the highest medal award given except the Congressional Medal of Honor. During World War I there were less than one hundred Congressional Medals of honor given.

The body arrived at 2:45 A.M. Monday, July 18, in Corona and was taken to the L. L. Argenbright home where it remained until the funeral Tuesday at 2:00 P. M.

Capt. Foster of Hamilton Field (California) escorted the body and remained for the funeral which was held in Corona Gymnasium. Rev. Jessie Allen, Baptist Pastor, from Carrizozo, read the scripture and Rev. L. H. Markham, Presbyterian Missionary from Claunch delivered the sermon and had charge of the service. A Choir from the local Churches sang accompanied by Mrs. L. Parker at the piano.

The American Legion assisted Rev. Markham with the services. The floral offering were beautiful. The pall bearers were: Messrs Leroy Owen, Ernest Dishman, John Robinson, Billy Jonkiss, Finer Jones, Henry Kilpatrick. The Kelley Funeral home from Carrizozo had charge of the body which was laid to rest in Corona Cemetery.

The survivors are his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Carpenter of Albuquerque, a little daughter, Sherry Kay, Colorado Springs, Colorado, a brother, Captain Frank C. Jones, Rafael, California and an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Argenbright of Corona.

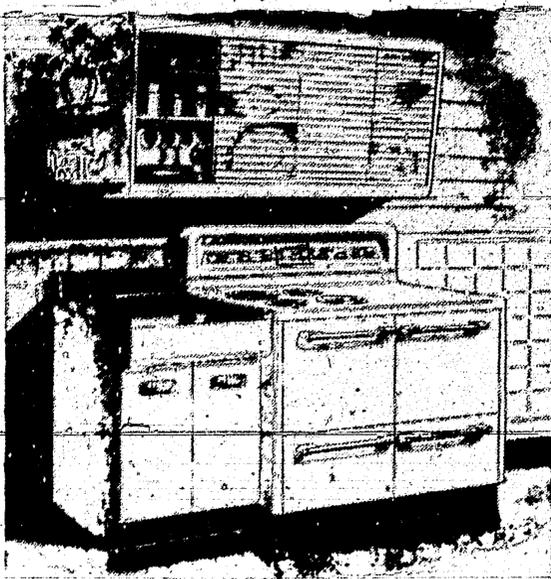

Capt. Elliot E. Jones was born March 10, 1920 at Corona, N. M. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Simpson. He lost his life October 5, 1945 when his plane crashed, in its take off on his last flight before sailing for home, in Mortoi, Dutch East Indies.

Elliot attended the Capitán and Corona High School graduating from Corona with the class of 1937. He did post graduate work in Corona High School the following year. In September 1938 he entered Eastern New Mexico College in Portales where he continued until he finished the first semester of his senior year. In January 1942 he entered the Air Corps to train as pilot. He married Miss Helen Townsend who was a student at Eastern N. Mex. College November 30, 1941.

He trained in various camps. When he finished the course at Randolph Field, Texas graduating September 8, 1942 as a photo reconnaissance pilot with a commission as second lieutenant.

In the early part of the war he was stationed on the West Coast where he was promoted to First lieutenant. He left the States in October 1944 and did service in various fields of operations including the Philippines and Dutch East Indies.

Out of town people who attended the funeral of Elliot E. Jones were: W. T. Watson and family, an uncle, from Kress, Texas; Mrs. Hubert Brooks, a cousin, from Clovis; and the following friends: Mrs. George Simpson, Ramon: N. Mex.; Mr. and Mrs. Claud Hays and family from Lon, N. Mex. Mr. and Mrs. Lawie Merritt, Yaso, N. Mex.; Charlotte Coulsen, Albuquerque, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bingham, Tucuman, N. Mex. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bingham Captain, N. M.; and Mrs. Robinson and son, John, from vicinity of Rosales.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Dulles Rebukes Pact Defractors; England Faces More Austerity; U S Steel Dislikes Truman Plan

Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper. (EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the Union.)

MONROE DOCTRINE:

Pact Fuss

John Foster Dulles, in his first speech as U.S. senator, appealed for ratification of the North Atlantic pact and rebuked Senator Robert A. Taft and others opposing it. Taft's opposition was on the grounds that the treaty commits the United States to re-arm its European signers.

Dulles countered with the defense that the pact does not obligate this nation to enter any arms program which "isn't defensible on its own merits." Dulles said that the treaty doesn't give any individual member the right to get any particular thing from any other member. No particular member has any claim on any particular aid he overed. It does not require the United States to build each signer up so that it could defend itself alone, Dulles said.

ANOTHER FOE of the pact, Senator Flanders of Vermont, wanted to extend the Monroe Doctrine in place of entering the pact. He said this nation would not be obligated in detail any more than in the original Monroe Doctrine.

Flanders also objected to possible arms commitments to Europe if we signed the pact. He said that if vast arms shipments are made to Europe we don't know what will happen to them in case of communist domination of nations benefited.

Senator Scott W. Lucas, the Democratic senate floor leader, said that the treaty imposes no legal obligation for an arms program, but added such a program is needed just the same.

The Truman administration seeks a $1,250,000,000 program to rearm western Europe.

ENGLAND:

More Austerity

Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, has placed a new austerity program before the British people. He announced that Britain will reduce her spending in the United States and Canada by $400,000,000, or one-fourth, in the current fiscal year.

THE BRITISH financial situation is more serious than Secretary of State Acheson has made it appear. However, it is not insoluble. British difficulties cannot be attributed to the American slump. The British will benefit from declining prices here of raw materials and food. Inflated war prices are blamed for the rapid consumption of America's 1946 loan to England.

There is taking place in England, according to a recent poll of the British Institute of Public Opinion, a shift of political sentiment toward the right. A general election now might turn the Labor party out of office.

Union leaders promised to try to end London's wildcat dock strike as more soldiers, sailors and airmen went into the miles of wharves to unload ships and move cargoes of food.

Three N. Y. Reds Sweat Out Trial In Jail

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New York ruled that three Communist defendants, on trial for conspiracy and recently jailed for contempt, must stay in jail for the remainder of the trial between court sessions.

Vaughan Accused

President Truman has been asked to suspend his military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan.

The request came from Rep. Shafer, Michigan Republican, who cited the army's suspension of two other major generals, Herman Fieldman, the quartermaster general, and Alden H. Wallt, chief of the chemical corps.

They were suspended pending a senate investigation of army contract handling. Shafer said Vaughan was implicated in the same case, but gave no details.

All three generals were mentioned in a recent news story which inspired the inquiry into dealings of "five per centers," those who hire out to obtain government contracts.

STRIKE RESPITE:

Steel Accepts Plan

The steel industry's biggest corporations accepted President Truman's 60-day peace plan under protest, thus averting a nation-wide steel strike. The fact-finding board, appointed by the president will study the dispute over a fourth round of postwar wage increases and pensions and group insurance—and will make recommendations.

The United States Steel Corporation had asked President Truman to alter his terms for a peace proposal with the United Steelworkers, as a steel strike deadline rushed closer.

The corporation demanded that the president's proposed fact-finding board be given no power to suggest a settlement.

The union threatened to strike against four companies—U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Inland. These firms are against any fact-finding boards outside the Taft-Hartley act.

Phillip Murray's big steel union agreed to a 60-day postponement of the walkout at companies which agreed with the president's proposal. The Taft-Hartley act provides for an inquiry board with no power to make recommendations.

Earlier, Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. (D., N. Y.) flayed Benjamin Fairless of United States Steel in a speech before the United Automobile Workers in Milwaukee for not acceding to the president's proposal.

Cancer Gauge

A "yardstick" for measuring the growth of cancer has been reported discovered.

A simple, quick and inexpensive method of gauging the growth or decline of a cancer was reported by Doctors Phillip West and Jessamine Hilliard of the medical school at the University of California.

The technique is based on an analysis of blood compounds and will measure the effectiveness of curative treatments. It is not a cure itself, nor is it a test for the presence of cancer.

FIRESIDE CHAT:

"Selfish Interests"

President Truman charged in a "fireside chat" to the nation that "selfish interests" are making budget-cut requests which threaten to "blunder" the nation into depression.

In his economic report, Truman assured the nation that it is not in a depression, "despite business decline." "Political reasons" lead some people to want depression, he said. He added that depression can be avoided.

He blamed "selfish interests" for the tax cut that congress passed over his veto and for the denial of anti-inflation curbs he requested.

HE FEARED a third great blunder and warned that "to slash government expenditures now would add to the downward trend." He defended his $42,000,000,000 budget for government spending the next 12 months.

He said, "If we follow the wrong budget policy at this time and slash our expenditures, we will decrease employment, cut down investment, weaken our defenses, and injure our efforts for peace."

His speech was seen as a movement to line up popular support for a showdown fight with the economy bloc in congress which is demanding that government spending be cut to income.

He criticized those who say we are in a depression.

"Many of these persons for political reasons would like to have a depression," he said. "Others are saying that there is nothing to worry about and an increase of the number looking for work is a good thing. This attitude ignores the human suffering . . ."

"CONEY ISLAND:"

"Trivialization"

Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, chancellor of the University of Chicago, demanded that mankind's expanding knowledge be turned toward achievement instead of "trivialization" and formation of a huge "Coney Island."

He spoke at the Goethe Bicentennial Convocation at Aspen, Colo.

He said that world catastrophe is inevitable if the "tribal self-adoration, which goes under the name of patriotism continues unchecked."

He asked for a world union of "men of good will," and said that world government is a step in the right direction to avert global suicide. He argued that "communication" with Russia is possible if other nations were sincerely willing to try.

A "moral, intellectual and spiritual revolution is the only thing that will turn the world from a downward course, he argued.

He attacked the "purposelessness" of contemporary living, made more so by technology, and declared that new-gained leisure has been used for meaningless recreations.

Of atomic energy in peace and war he said, "If we have war, we shall be blown to bits; if we have peace we shall be bored to death." Hutchins compared today's civilization with the fears and hopes expressed by the 18th century humanist, Goethe. The theme of his speech was "Goethe and world unity."

Goethe's dream for the world was that it should be a "world of friends," Hutchins said. He advocated Goethe's "civilization of dialogue."

Injured

Among the injured in the crash of the New York-California airliner that came to grief in the Santa Susana mountains near Chatsworth, Calif., was movie actress Caren Marsh. Latest estimates place the death toll of the crash at 25 with 18 injured. The plane crashed shortly after the pilot radioed that a violent fight was going on in the plane among the passengers.

SCIENCE:

Turbine Aircraft

Research on gas-turbine engine at McGill University, Montreal, may bring about improved flying. A turbine engine is a scientific version of the mill wheel. It has many small blades instead of a few big ones, and instead of water, hot gas is used to push the blades.

THE HOT GAS is produced by a blowtorch in which fuel is burned with the aid of air scooped from the atmosphere and compressed.

MAN BEARS CHRIST'S BURDEN . . . British railway porters bring ashore at Dover, England a 10-foot wooden cross built by Jerusalem monks. The cross will be carried across England on shoulders of volunteer Roman Catholic crossbearers. It already has been carried on foot through Syria, Lebanon, France, Italy and Belgium. In Rome the cross was blessed by Pope Pius XII. After its trip through England, the cross will be carried to Ireland, then it will be sent to the U.S.

MAINE STREET MIRACLE . . . For the first time in 18 years, Edward J. Ray, 63, East Maine Street, Hopkinton, Mass., looks at his daughter, Ruth. He had been blind that long and had remembered only the child's feet by his daughter, now Mrs. John Ketchford who lives next door to him. Ray said he felt an odd sensation one day recently and his sight was restored completely.

PRAYER FOR CREDS . . . Mary Stank, 7, kisses ring of Cardinal Spellman following mass at St. Patrick's cathedral, as Mary's sister, Anne, and mother, both dressed in Slovak costumes, look on. Spellman offered prayers for the people of Czechoslovakia in their fight against Red persecution in the mass in honor of Saints Cyril and Methodius.

BRAVELY WAITING . . . for the return of his slain father is David F. Nelson, four, son of Earl Nelson, Charlefield, Md., crab fisherman, who was shot and killed by an airborne Virginia conservation deputy while allegedly trespassing streets for illegal crabbing. David is waiting beside the portrait of his father. David Aches, 26, a rookie Virginia fisheries deputy, surrendered to police on a Virginia warrant charging him with murder of the crabman.

GOOD LUCK HUG . . . If there were a blue ribbon for cute poses, little Diana Hulme and her father's Afghan hound would surely win it. They were snapped like this at the Richmond dog show (London) as the Afghan waited to enter the judging ring.

STARLET . . . Hitting the ceiling (with her head) in her trailer home near a movie studio in Hollywood is Shari Robinson, new child actress, who is described as micro-sensational.

WAR DANCE ON WHEELS . . . Peggy Wallace, New York, is a good match for the Navajo Indian war dancers in her dance-skate interpretation. Rated one of the greatest feminine skaters, she holds the world's championship singles and doubles.

SMILE OF HOPE . . . China's Chiang Kai-shek has announced from Formosa that he is rallying all forces at his command to fight communism. He believes that he can oust the Reds from control of China if he receives requested aid from the United States.

OPPOSES PACT . . . Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio emphatically stresses a point in a recent talk to reporters after he announced in a senate speech that he would vote against the North Atlantic pact. He said it would promote war.

'MARRYING' ENGEL MAY BE FREED . . . N. Y. Reds Didn't Register as Man and Wife ... BY SUPREME COURT 5-4 DECISION

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Garble Sisters

"What a lot of exciting news there's been lately! Alger Engel marrying all those women! Judy Palmer being found guilty of lying about that typewriter! And the attorney general suing the Yanks to make them break up DIMaggio!"
"Yeah, and ain't that Engel a honey? What'll they do with him!"
"The government may have to put back controls to stop operations like that. He has a good chance of getting free on one of them supreme court five to four elections. Look what the court did in that lonely hearts case . . . they threw the case out because there was no quorum present."

"I wish the high courts would agree on what is the law like the low courts do. When a girl meets a Russian agent in New York and she is carrying a bag loaded with secret papers from government files why should it make any difference whether she worked for the Carnegie library and took a rug from some auto dealer?"

"It's like that trial of the eleven Communists in New York. They all deny they registered in Baltimore as man and wife and say that when they were arrested on that bus they were just getting material for a novel."

"I can't see why President Truman named Perle Mesta to that supreme court vacancy anyhow when Wagner stepped out with Justices Palmer, Murphy, Musial and Waitkus dissenting."

"It was all on account of the Taft-Hartkins law."
"Where does that stand now?"
"The part requiring anybody to answer yes or no has been cut out but everything else is left in, including the agenda which lets both sides bring their own referee and puts the coal miners on a three day week."

Ima Dodd says he read the verdict in the case but couldn't find out whether Judy Coplin retained the custody of the microphone.

The writer of this column does not claim to be the seventh son of a seventh son, but the following chapter from a book by him, "Private Purkey's Private Peace" (the original and much more apt title was "Peace, Wearing Purple Tights"), published a few weeks after World War II ended, revealed distinct powers of prophecy. In the story, Private Purkey and several companions crashed a peace conference in Paris, a feat duplicated in a way by Garry Davis a few weeks ago. And in a chapter headed "Discard in the Dovecotes" you pictured the collapse of peace hopes, the friction between the great powers, etc. thusly:

Months have now elapsed since the peace. And except for the lack of actual gunfire and bloodshed there seemed to be as much fighting going on between the nations as ever. A Hollywood movie czar had in fact put in a bid for pictures of the peace conference thinking he was bidding for fight pictures. Representatives of Russia, France, England and the other nations on our side—brothers all—were standing toe to toe in many arenas, no punches barred, and not even bothering to go to a neutral corner after knockdowns.

There were rumors that Anthony Eden had come out of a council meeting with the "Shiner of the Year," that an American peace conferee had been seen rolling on the floor with a Russian brother, and that Big Three meetings were being opened with demonstrations in jiu-jitsu. The spirit of mutual distrust was rampant.

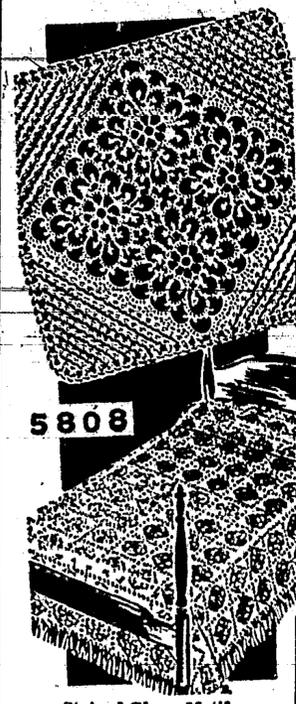

The assorted peace committees and sub-committees were giving evidences of heading for the rocks and discord, and some of them were less inclined to try dynamite than to upholster the rocks for comfort. Tossing in the heavy seas of conflicting interests in small boats, they seemed at times bent on attempting to cure seasickness by resolution and plug up leaks by amendment.

They were good men, kindly and well meaning, in these postwar world huddles, but they were in one of the hot spots of history and it made them jumpy.

"There is no need for any businessman to seek assistance from any five-percentor to do business in Washington."—President Truman.

RUTH HUSSEY may some day get the kind of roles she deserves in pictures; until then she'll probably continue to do her best work on the stage. Her new picture is Paramount's "The Great Gatsby"; her current play, "Good-bye My Fancy," in which she has the role created by Madeline Carroll. She has moved her family-husband, two small boys and a dog—to New York for its duration. Lurching with three members of the press, she could hardly get in a word until they finished telling her, at length, how wonderful she had been in "State of the Union," and how much they hope that Hollywood will soon do right by her.

That same day Betty Field lunched at an adjoining table. She and Miss Hussey hadn't seen each other since they worked together in "Gatsby," in which Miss Field and Alan Ladd star. MacDonald Carey and Barry Sullivan are featured.

Off-stage atmosphere: Two deputies of the Hollywood sheriff's office stood guard for two days over the machine-guns used in RKO's "Follow Me Quietly." The law demands that such guns be constantly under the eye of a law enforcement officer while in use in a picture, and that it be in the hands of an officer of the law between takes. No unscheduled shooting allowed!

Jay Livingston and Ray Evans, who wrote "Buttons and Bows" for Bob Hope's "The Paleface," have done such a good job on "Fancy Pants," written for his "When Men Are Men," that he thought that would be a good title for the picture. However, the other title sticks. Meanwhile Evans and Livingston, authors of "To Each His Own" and other hits, are writing a second song for him.

The Fiction ★ ★ THE RIGHT LOOK ★ ★ By Corner Richard H. Wilkinson

TRACY clawed his way up over the slippery ledge, threw his skin and poles on the ground and sat down panting. Generva laughed merrily.
"That's what city life does to you," she chided.
"See? You can't take it any more."
"For a fact I can!" he grinned. "Phew! What a climb! Skis are no good up here. If we're going to the top we'll have to hob-nail it up."
"We can quit and go down," she said. Her voice held the barest hint of a taunt. She hated herself for it.
"Quit nothing! Just because I've been away for two years you needn't think you can stump me." Tracy's eyes flicked over the girl's slim, wiry figure. "Boy, you always could take it," he admired. "Ever since we were kids I've had to hump to keep up with you."

The reference to their childhood escapades brought on a flood of regrets.
Two years ago he had left her with a brotherly clap on the back and a firm handshake. She had almost hated him. He had gone down to the city to become an architect. Then he'd written about Jessica. She was a singer in a night club. He had fallen madly in love with her. His letters had been full of their romance.

Generva had wanted to tell him to stop writing his everlasting prattle about a silly night club singer. Didn't he know that every word was a knife thrust in her heart?
"You know," he said suddenly, "you're growing more lovely every year, Gen. Some day soon a man's coming along and—"
She laughed out loud and scrambled to her feet. "Come on, City Man, we've got to get going if we want to make the top and get back before dark."

Tracy grinned and yanked himself up the first steep ascent. Before he had gone 10 feet he realized that it was a foolhardy business. Without ice picks and ropes climbing was hazardous.
He started ahead again and then stopped. Above him, maybe 30 feet away, he could make out the blurred form of Generva.

The blurred outline stopped. He listened for her reply, but if she called the wind drowned it. For an instant her hobnailed boots were clawing against the ice. Then she came coasting down the incline, reaching frantically for bushes that slid through her hands. Tracy made a lunge. His hand caught at her ski jacket as she whipped past, held, flit it slip through his fingers. A strangled cry escaped his lips.

Horror-stricken, he watched her reach the ledge and slip over its edge, disappear. In a moment he was back on the flat ground looking over the edge, not daring to hope.
Fifty feet below he made out a green patch, like a wisp of cloth caught in the gnarled branches of a hardwood shrub.
IT SEEMED like hours before he found footing against a rock 10 feet from where Generva clung to the hardwood shrub. Directly beneath her was a 200-foot chasm.
Tracy slipped the handle of one pole through the wheel of the other, tightened the strap on his wrist and cast out across the ice. At his second attempt Generva grasped the slim bamboo.

"Take it easy," he called. "You'll have to swing down like a pendulum, then slowly upward."
She nodded and released her grip. The impact of her 112 pounds almost caused him to lose his grip. But he held on. The moment she was below him he began pulling upward, hand over hand. In a moment their hands touched and she was safe on the rock.
Tracy's hand reached for hers. There was a queer light in his eyes. "It just came to me," he said, "what this old world would be like without you, Gen. I mean—" he gulped—"I never realized it before. Her eyes were misty. "Darling, you don't have to. I've been waiting for you to look like that for 10 years."
