County Teachers Hold Instructive Meeting

Most Lincoln County teachers were present at the meeting called by the county superintendent for Friday morning, August 19th, at the Lincoln County library, Carrizozo, New Mexico.

Rev. Bell, Methodist minister, gave the invocation. Guest speakers were Mrs. Ann Barber of the State Department, and an authority on Elementary Education; Mrs. Kelly, Director of Teacher Training and Certification; and Mrs. Juanita Taylor, the Field Service Director for school lunches.

Mrs. Elva Wilson, county superintendent, spoke to the teachers, stressing the value of keeping accurate records, and reports, of taking advantage of the simple devices used in the health program. She also made it clear that teachers are responsible for carrying out rules and regulations regarding school buses. Traffic must stop both ways when the bus stops, she stated, and this rule must be enforced strictly.

The State Testing program was explained by Mrs. Taylor, who stated that the test was not a device for rating teachers or teaching but was a way to find out how to help the child, and to enable the teacher and administrator to better understand the need of the individual child. Mrs. Kelly also urged teachers to take advantage of all visual aids available. Audiovisual education, she said, is very important. Sometimes these aids, Mrs. Kelly said, might not make the job of teaching easier, but if they make for better teachers, then they serve their purpose. She stated that the State Department stands ready and willing to help teachers in any way possible, in order to make for a better quality of teacher.

The hot lunch program was explained by Mrs. Taylor, and an expansion of the program was urged. The different types of programs receiving state and national aid were explained, and slips of paper listing free commodities were distributed.

Mrs. Bernice Swinney, president of the Lincoln County Teachers Association, called for nomination of officers for the new year. Candidates were named by the nominating committee and most of them were chosen by acclamation. New officers will be: Mrs. Joyce Simpson for president; Mrs. Inez Pacheco, vice-president; Mrs. Ruby Allen, secretary; and Miss Ruth Sikes, treasurer. The next meeting was set for December 2nd, and the group accepted the invitation of Mrs. Carlene Simpson to meet at Tinnie.

Mrs. Barber explained the importance of our National Educational Association, as well as our State organization. What has been accomplished, she said, in having salary increases, has been due largely to the efforts of the NEA and the New Mexico State Teachers Association. She expressed the hope that all Lincoln County teachers would become members of the National Education Association as well as of the State organization.

The County nurse, Mrs. Bumgardner, spoke briefly on Health Education, and said she is always ready to give any aid possible in promoting the Health Program of Lincoln County.

Summarizing the aims and goals set for teachers and administrators by Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Barber, the writer finds the following very worthy of consideration of every teacher:

"The Child Program must be the nucleus, so to speak, around which and from which must come: growth and development mentally, spiritually, physically, socially, and emotionally. Teachers must adhere closely to and observe strictly the rules and regulations providing for Health Administration, Recreation, Safety Education. Teachers must realize the value of the home, the school, the community, the church, and must ever strive to maintain a wholesome school environment."

Adhering closely to this kind of school program, we, the teachers of Lincoln County, hope to improve the quality of teaching.

Respectfully, Mrs. Ruby Allen

School Lunch Room Proves to be Success

We have all heard that "an army marches on its stomach." Well, we will paraphrase that statement a little by saying a school progresses, and improves when its lunch room is well managed.

Last Tuesday we went down and gave the lunch room the "once over." It was a surprise; apparently visitors are not an unpleasant surprise, but just the opposite.

It is hard to decide just what to describe first and what to praise first; there are so many things that other schools do not have, and lucky Carrizozo does have.

For instance the lunch room is very large and airy and everyone can be served, so that there will be no crowding. Tables are all painted white, and tables and floors are covered with heavy linoleum.

Mrs. Compton is in charge of the lunch room and she has ample cooking facilities with a very large Majestic range and utensils of ample size, including two large cookers.

Mr. Manire spent almost his entire summer getting things ready for the opening of school—especially the lunch room—he did an excellent job too. The walls are lined with cabinets and storage space. On one side of the range is a large water heater and on the other is a double sink; opposite these a long work table extends almost across the entire room. Other things we noticed were scales, large pans, baking pans, and even tubs. The serving of 120 meals is a maximum job, but Mr. Manire has arranged things so it can be done with a minimum of effort. Mr. Manire spent about $400 this year for equipment and new cabinets. Mr. Jim Tom did much of the cabinet work. A lot of responsibility falls upon Mr. Manire's shoulders. He is also the buyer. Everything possible is bought locally. The government is supposed to furnish commodities. So far only five sacks of Irish potatoes have been supplied. Mr. Manire pays all help and buys all food not furnished.

Students wait tables, help with serving, wash dishes, peel potatoes, clean vegetables and help generally; they are remunerated according to their work.

Last year the average number fed was about 100 per day. This year the average each day is 120. Meals are served in shifts.

First shift of course is the younger, smaller children, next the larger ones and usually three shifts complete the task.

Each Monday morning collections are made for the week's meals. One meal costs 25 cents; for the entire week only $1.00 is charged. Meals are well balanced and include four items besides dessert and drink or beverage.

Tuesday's menu was meat loaf, corn on the cob, hashed brown potatoes, lettuce salad and apple pie for dessert. Wednesday they were to have tomato juice, Lima beans, cooked cabbage, macaroni with cheese, corn muffins, carrot sticks and a dessert.

The Parent Teachers Association as well as other organizations have this project near at heart and assist in any way possible.

What is a joint account?

When two people open a checking account, against which either is to deposit or make withdrawals, the account is called a joint one. Both persons sign an agreement which authorizes either to sign checks. This is a good idea for wives and husbands, and for business partners.

What is a joint account?

When two people open a checking account, against which either is to deposit or make withdrawals, the account is called a joint one. Both persons sign an agreement which authorizes either to sign checks. This is a good idea for wives and husbands, and for business partners.

WEEKLY COMIC SECTION

Lot of Bull (Whip)
The legislators of a western state were holding a banquet. A newly selected member, an old cowman who had been persuaded by neighbors to run for office, was ill at ease, and a little irked at the incessant chatter going on around him.
Finally a buxom woman, whose husband was a professional politician, turned to the old cowman. "You had better vote for my husband's new bill," she warned loudly. "After all, you know he's the party whip."
"I know," said the cowman-senator. "But there's one big trouble with whips. They're often cracked."

New Approach

"Please, lady," said the tramp, "the doctor has given me this bottle of medicine, but I have nothing to take it with."
"Surely," replied the kind old soul, "I'll get you a spoon and a glass of water."
"No, thank you, madam. I guess I can get along without those. But the directions on the bottle say, 'To be taken with meals.' Haven't got a meal you can spare, have you?"

Through Channels, Please

A London newspaper says that a recently discharged soldier, who had unpleasant memories of his military experience, took the first opportunity after resuming his civilian clothes to write to his former colonel:

"Sir: After what I have suffered for the last two years, it gives me much pleasure to tell you and the army to go to— a place where only the wicked are consigned. In due course he got his reply: "Sir: Any suggestion or inquiries concerning the movement of troops must be entered on army form 2132, a copy of which I enclose."

Welcome Visitor

"But are you certain that Miss Gotrocks is not at home?" insisted the caller. The maid gave him an injured look. "Do you doubt her word, sir?" she replied icily.

Full Day's Work

A lady had been looking for her friend for a long time without success. Finally she ran across her unexpectedly.
"Well," she exclaimed breathlessly, "I've been on a perfect wild goose chase all day, but thank goodness, I've found you at last."

Good Reason

When Freddy came home from school he was crying.
"Teacher whipped me because I was the only one who could answer the question she asked the class."
Freddy's mother was both astounded and angry. "I'll see the teacher about this! What was the question she asked you?"
"She wanted to know who put the glue in her ink bottle."

Even So

"There isn't so much difference between a man's wants and a woman's wants," declared Mrs. Smith.
"Oh, yes, there is," insisted Mr. Smith. "A man wants all he can get."
"Yes!" said Mrs. Smith, waiting.

No Flowers

A motorist on a muddy road pulled up alongside a fellow traveler who was digging his car out.
"Stuck in the mud?"
"No, my engine died here and I'm digging a grave to bury it."

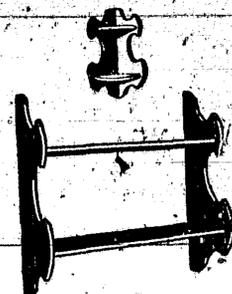

New

Another nice thing about silence is that it can't be repeated.

What Is Justice?

Lesson for September 4, 1948

EVERYBODY is in favor of justice but not everybody knows what justice is. Justice is more fundamental than democracy. If we believe that democracy is the best form of government, it is only because we believe that justice can be better secured in this way than in any other.

Justice is as old as God

Since for at least 3,000 years historians, politicians, philosophers and theologians have been wrangling over the meaning of justice, you won't learn the last word about it merely by studying one Sunday school lesson. But this is the place to remind ourselves that justice as an ideal, Dr. Foreman and democracy as a means of reaching that ideal, were not born yesterday.

Labor Day will recall the great services rendered to democracy by the organized workers of the world, for example, in the peak they have given to free and universal education. But democracy is older than the labor movement, is older than July 4, 1776, is older than the Magna Charta, is older than the Roman empire, in which one of many methods was "Let justice be done even if the sky falls."

Justice and democracy go back to the ancient Hebrews, the people who wrote the Old Testament. It was written in their laws, preached by their prophets, sung in their Psalms. But of course they did not invent it; they proclaimed it; but justice is older than the human race. The whole Bible and not only the Old Testament teaches that justice is rooted in the nature of God himself. No unjust person can be called godly.

Songs of Justice

OUR Psalms for this week give us some valuable light on what justice is. Some people think that if everybody were rich, that would be justice. Psalm 49 shows how foolish that notion is. It says in almost so many words, "You can't take it with you."

Riches do not spell happiness. Making everybody rich might mean making many people miserable. Money by itself does not cure the ills of life. It may make them worse or even create new ones. Many a family in the "upper brackets" has troubles that would vanish if they had less money.

Psalms 72 and 82 give us more positive suggestions. Psalm 72 sees it as the king's main duty to judge the people with righteousness and justice. The king was the government; in these days, he was the executive and the legislative and the judicial branch of government all rolled into one. In modern terms, the business of government is something more than furnishing police to lock up and punish wrongdoers after they have been done.

The welfare of the people is the concern of government. When public officials take any other view of their job, they are off the beam. In a democracy, the government is the people, that is to say, ourselves. If things are bad we are to blame for it; if they are going to be any better, we shall have to work for it. Every appeal to a king, in the Old Testament, when translated into terms of a democratic country, means an appeal to the people.

The Little People

JUSTICE always has to be concerned with the little people. It was true in the simple little world of the ancient Hebrews, it is just as true in our global complex world, that the strong will always exploit the weak if there is not a hand to stop them.

God is always for the "poor," the "children of the needy," and he is always against the "oppressor." In ancient Israel the oppressor was usually the big landowner who treated his slaves with cruelty or underpaid his workers. Nowadays the oppressor is any exploiter, any man or group of men who will use power to squeeze out or crush down the little man.

But justice is positive, not negative, prevention and not cure only. Concern for social justice includes taking care of people laid low by an epidemic or made homeless by fires; but it goes far beyond this. It will mean working for conditions such that no one will be forced to live in unsanitary tenements.

Many Fall Prey To Gold Lure Found in Maps

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—Those "authentic maps" of the legendary Lost Dutchman gold mine are in season again.

The way the story goes, millions of dollars in gold await the fortunate person solving the mystery of the location of the long lost mine in the rugged Superstition mountains.

The mine is located in Maricopa and Pinal counties of Arizona. Legend says the Lost Dutchman produced untold wealth for a Spanish family named Peralta and later for Jacob Walz, popularly known as "Snowbeard, the Dutchman."

The Phoenix Chamber of Commerce, backed by the sheriffs of the two counties, believes the production and sale of these "authentic maps" is a big business for someone.

Happens Every Summer During recent decades the sale of maps has brought a far greater return than has the mine.

Every summer, chamber officials report, they receive letters reading like this:

"I have come into possession of an old map showing the location of the Lost Dutchman mine. Can you please send me information on how to outfit an expedition?"

Sheriffs Lynn Earley of Pinal and Cal Boles of Maricopa urge extreme caution on the part of the would-be fortune hunters. They estimate almost 20 persons have lost their lives in the barren Superstitions.

Both advise prospective map buyers and those who believe they hold the key to the treasure to use extreme care and caution in accepting the validity of maps and in attempting to explore the mountain fastnesses.

They have issued a joint statement of warning:

"No one should attempt to enter the Superstitions between the months of May and November. In most years there is no water available in the mountains and death from thirst is a definite possibility.

"Any accidental injuries in the mountains might be fatal, and the rugged nature of the terrain makes any exploration extremely hazardous even under ideal conditions."

Asked to Register Well aware, however, that adventurous prospectors will continue to enter the mountains, the sheriffs have asked members of all such parties to register with them before setting out.

"Hire a competent guide and carry provisions and water for the contemplated stay," they advise. The story of the Lost Dutchman remains a favorite tale around Arizona campfires.

According to the old legend, the Peralta brothers, Spanish prospectors, discovered rich deposits of gold in the Superstition mountains. They worked the claims for several years before raiding Apache Indians forced them out.

Primitive ore grinders found in the mountains are believed those of the Peraltas.

Later Jacob Walz, the Dutchman, was credited with finding rich ore deposits. He died in Phoenix in 1832 without divulging his secret.

Uranium Discovery Prize Spurs Prospector Army

CHICAGO.—With the atomic energy commission offering $10,000 rewards for each acceptable discovery of uranium deposits, a growing army of amateur prospectors annually is buying more than $250,000 worth of a new-type Geiger counter designed to aid them in their search for the deposits. It was learned yesterday.

The instrument, called a nuclear "sniffer," weighs 2 pounds, can be carried in a coat pocket and generates 1,200 volts from two flashlight batteries. In the presence of uranium and other radioactive substances the counter emits clicks through a telephone head set.

Four young Chicago scientists developed the counter. John Kuranz, 27 years old, a physicist and vice president of the Nuclear Instrument and Chemical Corporation of Chicago, which the scientists have built into a million-dollar yearly business, said the counter was being distributed through large department stores.

Scientist Says Children Not Taught How to Listen

STATE COLLEGE, PA.—Although children spend most of their time in school listening, few teachers ever have bothered to teach the science of constructive listening, one educator says.

As a result, Dr. Miriam E. Witt said, "many children half listen or daydream through the day's activities."

Dr. Witt of Pennsylvania state college, advocates classes in listening. She said it is inherent in almost every classroom activity, and as such, should be taught.

"The effectiveness of the teaching of listening," she said, "can be measured in terms of new learning, better adjustment to environment, personal pleasure, and satisfaction and behavior."

Delicious Fruits Still Available for Housewife In Canning, Preserving

IF YOU'VE suddenly decided to embark on canning, there's still time to put up jellies, pickles and jams for your favorite winter meals. Then, too, some of you may still have space on your canning cupboard shelves for some of the late arrivals.

Peaches, pears, grapes, plums and apples are now reaching markets to be available for preserving.

All these fruits have a definite canning appeal whether you're past master at the art of preserving or a new bride about to embark on her first jelly-making adventure.

HERE ARE SOME colorful and delicious jam combinations which are guaranteed to please because the flavors of fruits used compliment each other:

Peach-Plum Jam (Makes 12 6-ounce glasses) • 4 1/2 cups prepared fruit 7 1/2 cups sugar 1 bottle fruit pectin

Prepare fruit by peeling and pitting 1 1/2 pounds soft ripe peaches, chop or grind fine. Pit but do not peel 1 pound fully ripe plums. Cut in small pieces or chop. Combine fruits and measure 4 1/2 cups into a large saucepan.

Add sugar to fruit and mix well. Using high heat, bring to a full boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add pectin, stirring. Stir and skim-by-turas for 5 minutes, ladle quickly into glasses and paraffin at once.

Pear-Peach Jam (Makes 6 6-ounce glasses) 2 cups finely chopped pears 1 1/2 cups finely chopped peaches 1 box powdered fruit pectin 4 1/2 cups sugar

Add powdered fruit pectin and sugar to fruits which have been mixed together. Mix well and heat to the boiling point, stirring constantly. When a full rolling boil is reached, boil for 1 minute. Remove from heat and skim. Seal in hot sterilized glasses.

Pear-Plum Jam (Makes 6 6-ounce glasses) 1 1/2 pounds peeled, ripe pears, chopped 1 1/2 pounds ripe plums, chopped 4 1/2 cups sugar 1 box powdered fruit pectin

Mix fruits, stir in pectin and sugar and heat to a full rolling boil. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from heat and skim. Ladle into sterile glasses and seal at once with paraffin.

Crabapple-Grape Jelly 1/2 peck crabapples 4 pounds Concord grapes

Many delicious combinations of jam may be made from two favorite fruits in place of one. A good example of colorful and appetizing jam is the use of peaches and plums, as illustrated here.

LYNN SAYS: Quickly Prepared Sauces Are Always Popular Children will cheer when you serve them bananas which have been speared with wooden skewers, then dipped in melted semi-sweet or milk chocolate and placed in the cube compartment of the refrigerator to freeze until chocolate is firm.

Make a man-sized snack by placing corned beef hash slice on a piece of bread and spread with barbecue sauce. Broil until hot.

Make certain your canning cupboard has shelves well laden with pickles, jams and jellies for good winter eating. There's still time to make the pickles and jellies from late-ripening fruits, berries and vegetables.

Water barely to cover Sugar
Select under-ripe apples and grapes. Wash and pick over. Add just enough water barely to cover the fruit and boil until soft. Mash and pour into a jelly bag to drip. Do not squeeze. Measure juice and let boil for 5 minutes. Add sugar (1/4 cup sugar for 1 cup of juice) and cook until a drop jells on a cold plate, or until two drops come off upon at the same time. Pour into sterile glasses and seal with paraffin at once.

Delicious Cucumber Pickles
6 quarts of cucumber slices
1 quart sliced onions
4 large green peppers, cut fine
6 cups vinegar
6 cups sugar
3 teaspoons turmeric seed
Few whole cloves

Place layers of cucumber slices, onions and green pepper in a crock or large vessel and cover with salt water, made by using 1/4 cup salt to 1 quart water. Let stand for 3 hours. Drain. Mix together vinegar, sugar and spices; heat thoroughly but do not boil. Pour over the vegetables and seal in sterile jars.

Raw Tomato Relish (Makes 6 pints)
1 peck ripe tomatoes
2 cups chopped celery
6 large onions, chopped fine
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup salt
1 cup white mustard seed
1 quart vinegar

Peel tomatoes and chop fine. Drain in a bag overnight. Add celery and onions and remaining ingredients to tomatoes. Mix thoroughly and seal in sterile jars. This may be served just as it comes from the jar with sandwiches, or it may be warmed slightly to serve with leftover meats.

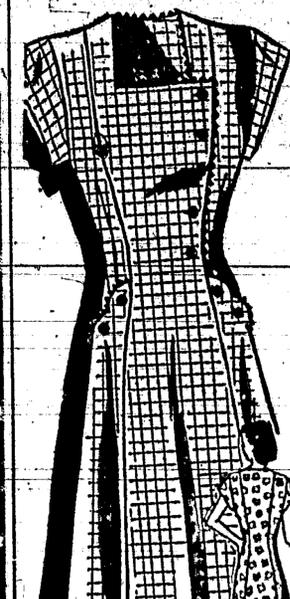

Sweet Pear Pickles
1 peck ripe pears
6 large onions
2 red peppers
2 green peppers
1 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon mustard seed
2 cups vinegar
1 teaspoon salt

Fare and quarter the pears. Slice onions thin and mince the peppers. Combine all ingredients and cook until the pears are tender. Seal in sterilized jars.

Hungry men will appreciate a sandwich from the pork roast when it is made by placing slices of the meat on buttered bread, then topped with thin slices of unpeeled, cored apples. Top with a slice of buttered bread and serve with cheese-stuffed celery stalks and potato chips.

Combine canned fruit juices for interesting beverages to serve with sandwiches and cookies. Half and half combination of apricot whole fruit nectar and sweetened grapefruit juice is most refreshing.

Did you know that table napkins may be folded in triangular fashion for an informally served breakfast, lunch, supper or tea.

In making tucks, pleats or darts, it's a good idea to reinforce them, by turning the fabric around and stitching back half an inch.

Buy a 10-cent scrapbook, then when sewing save a large piece of any material you think you may need for patches later, put paste on one edge and paste it in the book. Devote separate pages to "Mary's clothes" or "Bob's clothes" or other members of the family. It's much simpler than hunting through a bag of scraps.

Mace, as well as nutmeg, is delicious sprinkled on baked custard before baking. Try it on bread pudding and on sugar cookies, too.

My school-age children enjoy scrubbing their faces now. I packed a large mixer below our own at the proper height for them.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Deep Freeze Gifts 'Chill' Demos; Senate Kills Welfare Setup Plan; Taft Is Target of AFL Vote Drive

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

DEEP FREEZE: Capitol 'Chilled'

To paraphrase an old tune, it was "January in June" in Washington as the story of the gifts of the home freezer units unfolded and expanded. Finally, the sordid angles of the "5 per center" operations reached to the White House.

WITNESSES before a group probing the extent and results of "influence" obtainable by the "5 per center" testified that of several deep freeze units given away by the manufacturers, one went to Mrs. Harry Truman, wife of the President of the United States. Others who apparently received a similar gift were Chief Justice Vinson of the U.S. supreme court, James K. Verdaman, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, Mr. Truman's military aide. In fact, General Vaughan got two, so the witness said.

In connection with that development, there was a question which it seemed should have been answered long ago by the man most concerned. The man was President Truman. The question was: Why hasn't the President declared that White House influence and prestige are not for sale, cannot be wheedled by favorite hangers-on, and cannot be avowed by anything except the best interests of the people of the United States?

ANY FAIR-MINDED citizen will concede that there is no reason to think the acceptance of the gifts mentioned involved any law violation. Even though the company which paid the bills for the home freezers is linked with the ubiquitous John Maragon and the inquiry into the activities of "5 per center" the mere fact of receiving personal gifts does not constitute legal offense.

In any sense of the word, it seems to be an offense against propriety. It is further evidence of a downward trend in political morals, a not too new development in these changing times. On the evidence at hand thus far, the deep freeze affair is not important—it is merely symptomatic.

ELECTIONS: Taft Is Target

The American Federation of Labor, looking to the 1950 congressional elections, set plans for raising a million dollar war chest with which to knock off candidates obnoxious to the organization.

THE MILLION DOLLAR figure was the "minimum" officials said, with a voluntary contribution of $2 a head to be asked of the federation's members for work in the 1950 campaign.

It was no secret that Ohio's Senator Taft was the main target of AFL efforts, with the second target being Senator Donnell (R., Mo.) who was described by AFL's William Green as "more like Taft than anyone in the senate."

The per capita contribution, double that of the organization for the 1948 elections, will be split evenly with the state federations whose share is to be used in working at the precinct level.

AFL's election activity will have an important bearing on the future of the Republican party in the nation. For instance, if Taft should be knocked off in his race for reelection to the senate, it would mean that Dewey would remain as a top figure in the GOP hierarchy. On the other hand, if Taft should win and Dewey were defeated in a bid for his third term as New York's governor, the party would be all Taft's.

SYRIA: New Cabinet

The fighting, the blood-letting were over. Peace of a sort reigned in Syria after a lightning like army coup that overthrew and executed President Hosni Zayim. The army committee which took things into its own hands was replaced by a new coalition cabinet which was organized by Col. Sami Hennauli who headed the revolution.

IT APPEARED that civilian rule would predominate, inasmuch as the new cabinet was composed mostly of civilians. The new government represented three political parties and various independent groups that opposed both Zayim and the constitutional regime which fell last March. The premier is Hashim El Atasy, head of the national bloc and a former president of Syria.

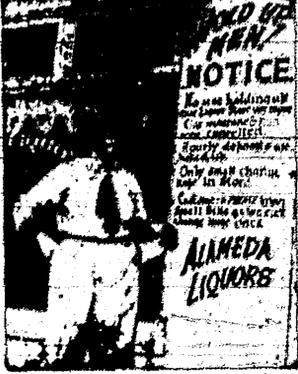

TOO MUCH WHEAT?

Problem of Farm Price Support Mounting

It might be an unpleasant task, but an inescapable one—the demand for wheat was falling off. That was the conclusion of the National Industrial Conference Board.

This organization reported that total domestic consumption for the year beginning July was expected to be lower than at any time since 1941.

Slim Pickings

It will be slim pickings for holdup men who go after Frank B. Tippins' store in Miami. Twice within one month hold-up men came and got a total of $513. Smartened up now, Tippins will no longer be a lure for robbers.

WELFARE:

No Cabinet Status

The senate was having none of President Truman's proposal for creation of a federal department of welfare with cabinet status. A coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats dealt the project a pulverizing blow by a vote of 69 to 32.

WITH a constitutional majority in either house able to veto any such plan, the senate action meant complete and final defeat of the plan to transform the federal security agency, which handles the nation's education, health, and social security functions, into a department of welfare.

This proposal stemmed from the recommendations of the Hoover commission which spent two years seeking ways and means to make government more efficient and economical.

OHIO'S Republican Senator Taft, denying the Republicans were repudiating Hoover in opposing a plan they believed ran counter to the Hoover commission recommendations, declared: "I believe very strongly that Mr. Hoover was misled."

This led Senator Lucas, Illinois, Democratic floor leader, to state that he was both "shocked and surprised that the good Republican from Ohio would deal with Mr. Hoover in this manner."

'THOUGHT' LAW: Held too Broad

The fallacy of attempting to deal with ideologies through laws has been highlighted by a Maryland circuit judge. The judge, Joseph Sherbow of Baltimore, ruled that the state cannot punish a person for what that person thinks.

The opinion was given in a case involving a state law against people who join or work with subversive organizations. It was the first courts test of the new law that required loyalty oaths by public employees and candidates for office.

The supreme court, Judge Sherbow said in his opinion, "has made it clear that laws may punish acts and conduct which clearly, seriously and imminently threaten substantial evils."

"They (the laws) may not intrude into the realm of ideas, religious and political beliefs, and opinions. The law deals with overt acts, not thoughts. It may punish for acting, but not for thinking."

The law, which Judge Sherbow tossed out did not specifically ban the Communist party. Its preamble said communism is a dangerous, world-wide conspiracy that fits the definition of subversive activity. Anything that aims at the overthrow of this government by force was deemed subversive.

Justice Sherbow said the law was too general. Declaring it violated the first, fifth and 14th amendments to the constitution, and Maryland's declaration of rights, he added:

"As stated by Justice Jackson (in a West Virginia case before the supreme court):

"If there is any fixed star in our constitutional constellation, it is that no official, high or petty, can prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, nationalism, religion or other matters of opinion, or force citizens to confess by word or act their faith therein."

BARKLEY:

"Much Ado . . ."

Although he had declared it was "much ado about nothing," the nation wasn't dismissing Vice-President Barkley's seeming romance with a pretty 37-year old widow so lightly.

RECEIVING almost as much publicity as the Rita Hayworth-Aly Khan love story, Barkley's attentions to Mrs. Carlton S. Hadley, St. Louis, was second only to the "5 per center" probe as a topic of national speculation.

The "Veep"—as Barkley likes to be called—didn't seem too distressed by all the furore. He was smilingly posing with the widow for pictures; he had taken her to "meet the folks" in his home town of Paducah, Ky., and he had squired her to some baseball games and social affairs.

WOULD HE and the widow get married? Most folks seemed to think so. And, if that were current opinion, it was touched off by the "Veep" himself. Newspaper readers would remember that, crowning a beauty queen at Culpepper, Virginia, Barkley had declared that one day he would crown a "queen" of his own. The fact that later, at Paducah, he referred to his granddaughter as being the "queen" to whom he referred, few people believed him.

MACARTHUR:

Problem for Truman

No matter how the Truman administration plays it, Gen. Douglas MacArthur is a tremendous public relations problem.

THE GENERAL has twice declined the invitation to appear before senate committees, the second refusal being in connection with a bid to come home and tell a probe group what he thinks about the Chinese situation. The general replied that he thought he could do better staying in Japan.

Of course, President Truman could order the general home, but if he did so, and MacArthur accepted the order, both the White House and the state department would be in a constant case of jitters over what the 63-year-old prima donna might say in speeches throughout the country.

If the President chooses not to order the general home, then his critics will have fuel for added clamor that MacArthur is being isolated and persecuted.

APPARENTLY, no one seems to know the procedure in the event MacArthur refused to come home if ordered. There seems to be a prevalent conviction that MacArthur can stay in Japan forever, if he so chooses.

There are those who say for the general to make that decision would be a typical MacArthur gesture and that it would fit in superbly with his fine sense of the dramatic.

STALIN:

Very "Courteous"

The delayed report on how U. S. Ambassador Alan Kirk made out with Russia's Joe Stalin in a talk in Moscow held nothing more important than Kirk's report that the Soviet ruler was very "courteous and pleasant." However, anyone who might have expected anything else was indulging in wishful thinking.

SOME EXCITEMENT was stimulated by Kirk's refusal to comment immediately upon his interview with Stalin. He told reporters following the conference that he'd have something to say later.

The ambassador, a retired admiral and former envoy to Belgium, held the first meeting with Stalin that any American official has had in nearly a year. He described his visit to Stalin as a "courtesy call."

In for Year

Seeking to win a bet of $1,000 against $25,000, Den Hayes, Ashland, Ore., is to spend a year in this deluxe car. He made the bet with rancher D. M. Mauldin, a neighbor. The year will be up next February. Hayes holds a girl's picture he found in the road and she was to be given a new car if she identifies herself.

SAILORS:

Pockets, Me!

The navy has relented at last. Harkening to a complaint stemming from 1787, the seagoing branch of Uncle Sam's forces has promised sailors—they'll have pockets in their pants—but not until June, 1953. But, having waited this long, sailors could wait two more years. And that wasn't all. Promised, too, was elimination of the ill-fusion front on sailors' trousers to be replaced with a zipper.

ONE THAT GOT A "WEIGH" . . . This blue marlin weighs 370 pounds and is believed to be the largest fish ever landed in Bermuda on rod and reel. It was caught by Durham Stephens (left) of Bermuda who, with his guide, Ray Taylor, displays it. The huge fish measures 11 feet and four inches and was brought to gaff after a fierce two-hour battle. It was caught off St. David's Deep, Bermuda.

DOWNCAST . . . Gun-shy Mickey Cohen, Los Angeles gambler (right), emerges from self exile at his barricaded command post to take stand at the inquest into the "rabot" of "Neddie" Herbert, his chief lieutenant. Cohen was one of the victims of the ambush from which Herbert was felled by gunfire, but the gambler's wounds were not serious. With Cohen is his henchman, Johnny Stampanato. Passerby did not recognize Cohen. Several Los Angeles policemen were arrested in connection with the Cohen shooting.

GREETINGS . . . Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, chief of U. S. naval operations and spokesman for three U. Yours Truly, for More Flexible Shirt Tails

THE 'STARCH' OUT OF PHILLIPS

By H. I. PHILLIPS

'NO STARCH'

"THEY STARCHED my shirts again," we said to the wife. "Well, don't say it so accusingly," she replied. "I didn't do it. It's the laundry."

"But the laundry has been told again and again not to put any starch in 'em," we said.

"I'm all in from repeating the word 'No starch' to it," said the wife.

"What does the laundry say?" "It says 'O. K. No starch.'"

"And back it comes starched in technicolor, with the collars on summer shirts as hard as lawn-mower blades, and the cuffs so hard you have to button them with a chisel and hammer. Why don't we change laundries?" we moaned.

"Hah!" snorted the missus.

GRACE NOLL CROWELL

The Everlasting Arms

AROUND me and about me and beneath me,
Closer than breathing, closer than my friend,
The everlasting arms draw near to shield me,
To comfort and to keep me to the end.

Earthly arms grow weary in their holding,
Earthly arms may fail the weight they bear,
But oh, these everlasting arms, enfolding,
Have never one brief moment failed me there.

I wake each morning in their blessed keeping,
I rise to serve, or wait his blessed will.
Life passes—whether waking, whether sleeping,
God's everlasting arms will hold me still.

"Change 'em and what do you get?"

"More starch," we suggested.

"Exactly! The laundries or the laundry workers are in a great national conspiracy in restraint of soft collars and cuffs. They are in a secret society dedicated to the use of starch. Their motto is 'You'll take starch and like it!'"

We resolved to investigate. We spread our shirts among different laundries. Our routine was the same at each laundry.

"Does this laundry do shirts without starching them?" we asked.

"Certainly. All you gotta do is specify you don't want no starch, mister."

"I so specify. Do you want it in writing?"

"Naw. I'll put a note on it 'no starch.' Then it goes through and comes out with no starch."

"I've been putting notes 'no starch' on my shirts for years," we said.

The laundryman looked surprised. "I can't remember that," he said. "Are you sure they came back starched?"

"Look at my neck. You think those red circles are from rope?" we demanded.

"Some laundries are careless, you know how it is. With us when a customer says no starch he gets no starch. We got a system."

"What is it?"

"We have a starch department and a no-starch department. All the stuff that don't want starch goes to the starch department. Also we got a starch superintendent and a no-starch superintendent. And on top of that we got starch and no-starch classification clerks and inspectors. Here's something else, we don't use much starch anyhow, even if you ask for starch."

"So these shirts will come back with no starch then?"

"You may take my starch—beg pardon—my word for it."

"Positively no starch!"

"Positively!"

The laundry came back in a few days. We felt confident and carefree as we opened it. Then we leaped through the second story window.

"I know," called the wife, looking out, "Starch!"

"Starch," we admitted, crawling from the shrubbery, cut and bleeding.

VIDEO AND EDUCATION

College courses by television are now being announced. We suppose the grade will win trophies instead of diplomas.

And get minkskins instead of sheepskins.

We can see it all now . . . the baccalaureate by Howdy Dooddy.

But a lot of people have felt that our educational system flickered too much as it is.

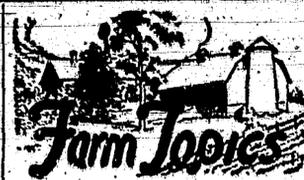

Personally we feel that education hasn't been dramatic enough. A jackpot could have helped us through ancient history. And we are positive that we would have done better under our professors if they had introduced puppets in the Latin, French and mathematics courses.

We just had to get an education, such as it was, by study. We had no outside aerial.

But now we are entering an era when ignorance may be easily attributed to the fact that the set was connected up poorly and lacked a "booster."

Your education may become a little dependent on fuses and you may find that your low scholarship resulted from a small screen.

Ira Hirschbaum, former education and now a video official, makes the announcement that Hunter college will make the first tests in video education, with history the first televised subject. Lectures on historic events will be synchronized with the picture, the cash prize on the commercial.

Health Unaffected By Soil Fertility

Status Of Land Not Disease Cause

Any statement that cancer, arthritis or heart disease are increasing because the foods we eat are raised on mineral-starved land is hokum according to specialists on the subject.

An article in Successful Farming magazine contends there is more oratory than knowledge about the effects of soil fertility on human health. The experts talked to doctors of the soil, doctors of plants, doctors of humans, nutrition experts and evangelists who say we are facing "race suicide."

It was pointed out that heart disease is often linked to diet, but not because food is of poor quality. Rather stoutness and heart disease show a correlation.

As to arthritis and cancer, millions will call you blessed if you can show definitely how to stop them through diet. Meanwhile, it is dishonest to give the false hope that soil treatment can cure these diseases.

Other myths blasted in the article are (1) that the baby won't have good bones if its formula is made of milk from a cow whose feed was deficient in phosphorus and calcium; (2) that the adult won't build muscle and blood from beefsteak devoid of protein-building minerals and iron; (3) that all chemical fertilizers are poison and that compost and earthworms are the only means of soil enrichment we should use, and (4) that we are being starved to death because the grains, fruits and vegetables we eat come from soils which lack needed minerals.

Discussing starvation from a mineral deficiency in foods, it is asked why we have a generation-by-generation increase in the size of the bony structure of our young people if we are mineral-starved.

So far as scientists know, man needs some 12 mineral elements for growth. Ruminant animals need cobalt, to make 13. Plants also need 13 mineral elements, 11 of them the same as needed for man and animals. Except for cobalt and iodine, plants won't grow unless all the man-needed minerals are present, according to the article.

As to statements that some milk is low in phosphorus and calcium, it is said a cow will take calcium from her own bones and put it in her milk if her diet is low in calcium. As that supply runs low, she will give less and less milk. But it will contain heaviest weight in minerals. When her mineral supply is gone, she quits giving milk and often dies from the effects of robbing her body.

A fertilized farm will produce more milk than one unfertilized—but not better milk. That's because it produces more grass. There is no evidence to prove the grass is any better, blade for blade.

Champ Milk

Evelyn Frazer, 16, of Watertown, N. Y., displays her technique in winning the 1949 grand championship milking title at the dairyland festival by milking 11.8 pounds in two minutes. The contest climaxed a week of parades and pageants at Watertown in the heart of New York's great milkshed.

Contour Crop Plantings Saves Soil, Boosts Yield

Topsoil can be saved and crop yields boosted by planting crops on the contour instead of up and down the slope. Each furrow makes a tiny dam that prevents the swift runoff of water. By holding back the water, these dams allow time for the soil to soak up moisture. When contouring is teamed with cover crops and adequate fertilization, top soil conservation benefits result.

PRETTY ROSEMARY PETTIT thinks she's just like any American girl; had no exotic birthplace for Hollywood to make a fuss about—she was born in Tulsa, Okla. She went to high school and college, one year, in California, where she lives. She had to go to New York for Hollywood to discover her and take her back for bits in Michael Curtiz productions.

ROSEMARY PETTIT

She returned to New York to study, went back again, really ready for films this time. You will see her in Warners' "The Lady Takes a Sailor," and later in Curtiz' "Young Man with a Horn," for which she's just gone west, after a season in summer stock at Princeton, N. J.

Paul Henreid, seen currently in Paramount's "Rope of Sand," will be long remembered for his appearance as the family counselor on "The Second Mrs. Burton" August 31. Vivaly interested in doing what he can to further the conquering of polio, Henreid's own experiences when a member of his family was struck by the disease gave him touching material for his talk.

Joan Crawford's six-year-old son, Christopher, believes that his mother is the bravest woman in the world. So does Joan. During her vacation in the wilds she caught six lizards for him, put them in a box and brought them home.

Helen Hayes returns to radio's "Electric Theatre" Oct. 9 in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street"; meanwhile she and her daughter Mary are doing a new play for six weeks in summer stock; if good enough they will do it on Broadway. 12-year-old Jamie, last member of the family to become an actor, has appeared in "The Corn Is Green"—once in a part all written in Welsh!

The Fiction * ON BUSINESS * By Richard H. Wilkinson

3-Minute Fiction

WHEN DOUG PRINGLE signed a contract to illustrate stories for Midweek Fiction magazine at a figure that surpassed any amount he had earned in the rather uncertain past, he felt that he had reached a milestone in his career.

"Now," he declared to his wife, Aggie, "we can begin to have a few of the things we've been doing without for the past seven years."

"And the first thing we'll have," Aggie told him, "will be a nice little camp on Spur Lake where you can work amid surroundings that you love and where, accordingly, things will be easier for both of us."

"The camp," he told her gravely, "will come immediately after Mrs. Pringle has replenished her wardrobe."

It turned out that Aggie could have her new clothes and they could purchase the camp and not feel too extravagant. They went up to Spur Lake the following week and talked to a real estate agent. They had been there many times before. They knew just what they wanted for a camp site and where they wanted it. That afternoon the real estate agent made the easiest sale he'd transacted in years.

The Pringles sat down and made up a schedule of guests for weekends. They wanted to have company. This was the first time they had lived in a place big enough to hold guests conveniently. They were eager to share their possession.

And so two weeks later the first guests arrived. Doug and Aggie slept in the work room and everything was fine. All hands had a swell time. The guests departed in high enthusiasm. In fact, their enthusiasm apparently bubbled over, for in the middle of the following week some friends dropped in who had "heard so much about the cute little camp the Pringles had bought." Aggie and Doug asked them to stay over night and they did.

The summer hadn't progressed very far when Doug decided they ought to turn the present workshop into another bedroom.

"I'll build a studio for myself down by the lake. It seems there are a lot of people who are just Gosh! After all, I'm a working dandy to see our cute little camp man."

"It's fun having guests, though," Aggie said.

"Sure," Doug agreed.

So the Pringles built a studio for

Doug, a rather attractive building that added to the general outlay. He moved into it with all his equipment—and the next week-end Aggie moved in with him.

In August the Hollands arrived. The Hollands were bore. Steve Holland belonged to Doug's golf club. They were friends of some of the Pringles' friends.

HOWEVER, they arrived and Mrs. Holland spied the studio and wanted to look at it. Aggie smiled wearily. She was getting used to this sort of thing. She led them down to Doug's workshop and Mrs. Holland peeked inside.

"Why, there's no one there!" she exclaimed.

Aggie nodded. "Doug's away. On business."

The Hollands were disappointed at not being able to see the artist at work, but there was nothing they could do about it. They departed shortly after.

At dinner time Doug came home. He was in high spirits.

"I've found just the place I wanted. A room right in the heart of Goodwin's business district. Plenty of noise and dust—a place where a man can do a real day's work without being bothered."

Aggie smiled fondly.

"The Brants are arriving tomorrow."

"Swell!" said Doug. "Show them the works and tell them I'm away—on business."
