Give From The Heart

By HELEN NASH WHITEHEAD
"Many times a year the American people turn to the Red Cross. Once a year the Red Cross turns to the people." President Truman said recently. March is the month give from the heart!

A caseworker visiting a little crossroads community in the South tells of seeing an elderly farmer sitting astride an old mule while the animal drank from the village watering trough. Nearby two boys were deep in a discussion of whether or not to give their money in the present Red Cross fund raising campaign which began March 1. When the old man couldn't stand listening any longer, he interrupted the boys' conversation with an account of how the Red Cross had helped him get back on his feet after a tornado destroyed everything he had. "Why," he said, "they even bought me another mule to plough with." Then he slapped the reins against the mule's neck, waved good-bye to the boys and set the animal on his way with "Giddap, Red Cross, giddap."

Contrary to popular belief, the American Red Cross is not a government organization. It is supported entirely by voluntary contributions of individuals and organizations and receives no financial support from the government. In addition, its work is carried on by thousands of volunteer workers who have been described as the "life-blood of the American Red Cross." Working in the National Blood Program, in health and safety education, and in community institutions, they sew and knit, deliver supplies, perform personal services for the hospitalized, assist in welfare problems of servicemen and veterans; feed, clothe and shelter disaster victims, solicit funds for the support of the organization.

Did you know that disaster struck in all but three states—Delaware, Rhode Island, Maryland and the District of Columbia last year? Two days after the year's most violent hurricane which swept over 22 Florida counties last August, Red Cross chapters were caring for 18,000 people in 181 shelters.

It gave food, medicine and clothing to 10,000 Navajo and Hopi Indians, starving and sick on their Arizona, New Mexico-Utah reservation.
Floods, as usual, took their heavy toll. On May 17 a cloudburst caused the worst flood in the history of Fort Worth. Nearly 4,000 families suffered a loss, but the Red Cross was on hand and hustled 2,400 people into nine temporary shelters.

The most extraordinary of these catastrophes was the series of paralyzing blizzards of last winter, which piled up snow in seven states 20 feet high with 50 degree below zero temperatures. While the Fifth and Sixth Armies rescued millions of cattle caught in snow drifts and cleared thousands of miles of roads, the Red Cross literally took to the air to carry on rescue and relief work. They bombed stranded men and women with food, blankets and medical supplies and evacuated 300 persons to hospitals. Like the nation's standing army, the Red Cross disaster committee is on the job at all times, prepared to go into immediate action the minute an emergency arises. Last year it helped in 330 disaster operations or more than any year since its organization, spent $6,574,741 and assisted 223,500 persons.

Less dramatic are thousands of volunteers across our land at work, such as the Gray Ladies regularly assisting in special classrooms for crippled children. In Illinois, a motor service volunteer taught a paralytic to drive a specially equipped car and briefed him on traffic regulations. . . another volunteer saw to it that an amputee, in the hospital for three years, got home weekends to see his family. . . In Minnesota, canteen service provides meals for the personnel of the Crippled Children's Clinic and the children attending. . . Custer County, South Dakota, production and supply volunteers make bandages for first aid class and in Coffeyville, Kansas, production workers make hundreds of dressings for cancer patients. As one of our patients here at Fort Stanton said: "I could go on ad infinitum about the work of the Red Cross. I know because I did lots of Red Cross work right here during the war and believe you me, one never knew what one might have to do next."

A Red Cross worker from the Walker Air Force Base at Roswell visits the Marine Hospital at Fort Stanton approximately once a week. To get a first hand reaction, I asked Frank Smith about the Red Cross services, who said: "You might mention the many little things done by Mr. Hoffman and Mrs. Hunter, such as shopping around Roswell for some of the boys, taking notes, etc., for letters to be written when they get back to their office, maps procured from the various service stations, many little things that would be done by Gray Ladies in the larger hospitals." In addition to the "many little things," 250 bathrobes, 200 pairs of pajamas and 50 sweaters in addition to a great deal of other wearing apparel were distributed to the patients here during the past year. Approximately 20,000 cigarettes are distributed monthly as well as smoking tobacco, playing cards, tooth brushes, razor blades and other health and comfort articles. Prizes for bingo games are provided through the Lincoln County (non-commissioned officers) Wives Club at Walker.

During the Christmas season free cards were distributed and each patient received at least one free gift. Helping to make this past holiday season a festive one was Mrs. Sidney Prager of Roswell, N. M., who early in October requested a list of all patients which she distributed to various organizations. In addition to Red Cross chapters, women's clubs, auxiliaries of the American Legion, VFW and DAV and the Women's Club for American Merchant Marine of New York sent in a box of gifts for the patients, too. Wives of the non-commissioned officers wives' club at Walker and Lincoln's Red Cross Chapter at Carrizozo donated $50 worth of Christmas lights and tree ornaments. Volunteer workers from the NCO Wives Club of Walker, working with Mrs. Hunter, did a grand job of decorating. A vote of thanks is long overdue Earl Hoffman, field director for this area, and his able assistant, Mrs. Hunter.

The American Red Cross is a many-faceted humanitarian organization. It functions through its 3,745 chapters and 4,669 branches, with its national headquarters in Washington, D. C., and four rear offices located in Alexandria, Va., Atlanta, Ga., St. Louis, Mo., and San Francisco Calif., respectively. The Red Cross movement originated in Europe in 1864 when 16 governments convened in Geneva to devise methods for caring for the sick and wounded in time of war. Eighteen years later the U. S. ratified this treaty and thus began the American Red Cross. Since then its work has gradually expanded to include a wide range of humanitarian services essential to the welfare of our people.

Since our wartime General George C. Marshall took over the leadership from Basil O'Connor last October, he has often been asked why he left the retired quiet of his Leesburg, Va. home to become president of the Red Cross. He replied "that the Red Cross offers too great an opportunity and challenge to be ignored."

Last year's goal was $68,000,000. It was over subscribed by over $7,500,000. The goal this year is $67,000,000. As it has been in the past, so it is today, the 1950 fund drive must be successful for the sake of humanity. Can you afford NOT to give? Give from the heart.

Rocky Mountain Area To Get New Industries

Walter E. Taylor, New Mexico State Employment Service, in a discussion on "Decentralization," states a recent article in the Saturday Evening Post, discussing the movement of industries into and out of New York City, gives some indication that the Rocky Mountain region, including New Mexico, may expect to get some important new industries during the next decade, provided communities are properly prepared to receive such industry. The Post article cites the case of a major publishing firm which has moved its business, including huge presses, to Denver. Another large company, in

The very essence of free government consists in considering offices as public trusts, bestowed for the good of the country, and not for the benefit of the individual or party.

Our schools and institutions, as I have pointed out many times, take the lion's share of our tax dollar. That is as it should be in a democracy.

At the conclusion of World War II, a great amount of federal equipment became surplus and was available to the state schools and institutions which could make use of it.

Last year 83 municipal and independent public schools, 17 county school systems, four institutions of higher learning and seven independently supported non-profit institutions received equipment from these government surpluses.

The material obtained by the educational agency for surplus property and the Educational Budget Auditor's office was of the personal property type. It did not include the many millions of dollars worth of removable buildings and real estate acquired by schools, colleges and institutions from the War Assets Administration.

Retirement Plan During the 1947 legislature, my administration had the pleasure of getting up the first general retirement plan for state, county and municipal employees.

At the present time there are 2,417 active state employees and 500 active municipal and county employees participating in the retirement plan.

Under the law, both the employer and the employee contribute to the retirement fund. Retirement payments vary with the length of service and the salary received.

Municipal Tax Collections Set All-Time Record

During 1949, 41 New Mexico municipalities collected $579,803 in city gasoline taxes. This compares with $487,996 collected in 1948, and is a decided increase over collections of $192,103 in 1938. Carrizozo motorists contributed $1,685 in municipal gasoline taxes last year. The revenue was earmarked by city ordinance for street maintenance purposes. Corona motorists contributed $1,526, but it was not earmarked by city ordinance for street maintenance purposes.

According to Fred Linn, secretary of the New Mexico Highway Users Conference, the municipal gasoline tax act was passed in the depression year of 1931 to enable cities to secure additional tax revenues for municipal purposes, when other sources of revenue were insufficient to meet their needs.

He goes on to say, "New Mexico is one of the few states where legislative approval has been given cities to collect a special gasoline tax for general fund purposes."

Certainly, if the state gasoline tax is considered a toll for use of highways, and is used exclusively for road improvement, then the municipal gasoline tax should also be used for the special benefit of motorist taxpayers for street improvement and maintenance.

It is encouraging to note, says Mr. Linn, that officials of 10 New Mexico municipalities have recognized the fact that municipal gasoline taxes are special highway user taxes levied upon one class of taxpayer and have amended their city ordinances to earmark the revenue for road and street improvement.

New Mexico motor vehicle owners are the most heavily taxed group of citizens of the state. State, city and federal taxes average 9 1/2 cents per gallon. Motorists should insist that the municipal gasoline tax law, either be repealed, or revenues derived from city gasoline tax levies be used exclusively for street maintenance purposes.

Parent-Teachers Plan St. Patrick's Day Dinner

The Carrizozo P.T.A. under the direction of Mrs. J. E. Thornton, have completed arrangements for a St. Patrick's Day dinner on March 17.

Dinner will be served from 5:30 to 8 P. M. in the lunch room of the local school.

The members of the local group have planned a mouth-watering menu, and will furnish and cook the food for the occasion.

The Carrizozo P.T.A. promises a delicious dinner, and urges the public to attend. A charge of $1 will be made for the regular plate dinner, but half portions will be served for 50 cents.

This organization has done excellent work in behalf of the local schools. Among the many projects they have sponsored are the electric refrigerator in the school lunchroom and the library for the elementary school. Funds derived from the St. Patrick's Day dinner will be used for other P.T.A. sponsored projects for the welfare of the local schools.

The public should be solidly behind all the endeavors of this civic minded group.

American Legion District Meeting Held In Capitan

By JAMES A. KENT
On Sunday, March 5, more than 55 members of the American Legion from posts located in District 5 of the Department of New Mexico, which includes posts from Capitan, Alamogordo, Mesquite, Ruidoso, Bent, Corona and Carrizozo, met in the American Legion Home in Capitan to discuss general items of interest concerning the American Legion and veterans of America.

The meeting was presided over by Comrade Roger Schenck, District 5 commander from Ruidoso, who incidentally was largely responsible for the contacts of speakers and outstanding representation.

The local commander, Douglas J. Glatfelter, formally opened the meeting at 3 P. M. with a message of gratitude for the interest taken by American Legion members in this district, which was proved by the large attendance. Every post in the district was represented with but two exceptions, which were readily excused for sufficient reason.

Those present were honored with the presence of Seyborne Collins, the department commander of the American Legion for the state of New Mexico; his staff members including Comrade Earle W. Stark, the department adjutant; the Rev. H. L. Greaves, department chaplain, of Ruidoso, and to our knowledge the only Congressional Medal of Honor winner ever to visit this community, who is the contact representative of the Roswell District; Legionsnaire Woody Williams, the mayor of Roswell, and at present candidate for governor of New Mexico; Lake J. Frazier, national committeeman from the state of New Mexico and a resident of Roswell; Comrade Reed Mulkey, last but not least, the bulwark of the American Legion and the strength of the veterans who comprise the membership of the Legion posts in District 5 as well as the state.

Comrade Roger Schenck was quite happy to inform the district members of the 100 per cent rise in interest taken in the oratorical contest within District 5 this year over the previous year, although the department adjutant did lower our enthusiasm by mentioning the increase was not prevalent throughout the state.

A resolution was presented at this district meeting which was to be passed on and taken up at the next state convention of the American Legion. The resolution as read by Rev. Greaves provides for among other things, that the veterans of New Mexico be given a bonus from the state at not to exceed $1 per day of domestic service in the armed forces and not to exceed $1.25 per day for foreign service. The period to be from December 7, 1941, through 1945. It is interesting to note the resolution provides the money to come from interest other than the taxpayer's pocket. The resolution when given for ballot was unanimously adopted.

The principal speaker was the department commander from New Mexico, Seyborne Collins. His speech primarily pertained to the Hoover Commission report that affected the Veterans of America. It is to be understood completely and clearly that the American Legion of these United States, the commander stated, is not against the Hoover Commission report in its entirety, but rather only against that part which affects the veterans of America. Commander Collins willingly commended the Hoover Commission report on practically all of its findings except that part which was to take away from the veteran what he, the veteran, had respectfully earned. It was pointed out that due to the recommendations of the Hoover Commission the Veterans Administration is at present required to release approximately 8000 employees who handled and settled the problems of the veteran. It is needless to mention the Veterans Administration has been understaffed to a point where they could not efficiently handle veterans' problems in the past and with the additional cut in personnel, the veteran is going to be much more neglected. It is surprising, Commander Collins stated, the love for the veteran when he is fighting for his life and the life of America on the field of battle, but as soon as the war clouds clear and economy and efficiency is the main problem, then the man who fought for his country and his life is the first to feel the economy drive. Commander Collins further stated that those organizations supporting the Hoover Commission report, or at least some of them, have publicly stated they have not read the report of the commission, for fear that instead of being for the report they would be against it.

In closing the meeting the local commander regretted that non-members of the American Legion and those that are not eligible, through no fault of their own, were not present at the meeting. The American Legion realizes the fight it has to keep the rights of the veterans continuing and that many non-members who are getting benefits and privileges and who are probably sons, brothers or sisters of those who did not see service, would be helpful if they knew the problems of the American Legion. He further asks everyone, whether they are members of the American Legion, to make themselves acquainted with the problems in your community. To take advantage of the only free privilege we have in this country, to have it run efficiently and that is to vote at all community, state and federal elections.

CORONA NEWS

By MRS. A. E. MULKEY
Funeral services for Pierre (Pete) Nalda were held last Saturday in Ruidoso at the St. Peter's Cathedral. Those attending from Corona were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hiner, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Noble Snodgrass, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reynolds and Mrs. and Mrs. Juan Erramospl.

Rev. D. H. Peoples, pastor of the Baptist Church, and some of the church members were taking a religious census in Corona Saturday, March 4.

A large number from Corona attended the basketball tournament in Mountainair Saturday evening. It was reported the best game of the season. Corona won over Estancia. Tommy Talaya, Bryon Yancey and Norwood Vickery won special awards. These three boys will play on the district team. The grade school boys will go to Capitan this Saturday for their tournament games.

Mrs. Letha Sharp and Mrs. Maude Millner, also Nell Smith, went to Portales for the weekend to attend the wedding of Mrs. Sharp's brother, Kenneth Helich, and Miss Shirley Owens, which took place at the home of the bride in Portales. Mr. Helich formerly attended school at Corona.

The subject for discussion this week is Water Works for Corona. Personally, we would all like to keep the water works which we now have, but whether that is possible is the question. A petition for a water bond election was being circulated this week, said election to be held April 4.

There will be a youth rally at the Baptist Church Friday, March 24, at 7 P. M. This date was set some time ago, and arrangements were made for some young people to be here to lead the rally. The date cannot be changed now. It has also been announced there will be on this same date, March 24, the school operetta. We are sorry, but we can't attend both of those affairs at the same time. The title of the operetta is "An Old Kentucky Garden."

There was an important REA meeting in Mountainair last Friday, and another meeting in Corona Tuesday of his week. News of the meetings will be available next week. An election of REA board members will be held next month. Every member of the New Mexico Cooperative should come out to vote.

Congressmen Miles And Fernandez Favor Repeal

An announcement from the office of the New Mexico Theater Association discloses Congressman John E. Miles and Antonio M. Fernandez favor the elimination of the 20 per cent excise tax on theater admissions.

In reply to letters accompanying petitions for the repeal of this tax, which were sent to these congressmen, the association states Miles said, "I have introduced a bill calling for the removal of all excise taxes. I will do everything I can to influence the members of the House ways and means committee to report a measure which would repeal these taxes."

The association added Fernandez replied was, "I am thoroughly in favor of eliminating admission taxes and will do everything I can to help in bringing that about."

The association also disclosed the tax program will have to be investigated, debated and a vote taken. The organization emphasized the battle is not yet won, and, in fact, has only started. It pointed out that the public will benefit if this tax is repealed, since any saving will be passed on through a reduction in the price in the amount in substance equal to the tax saving.

The association added the February 23 issue of Hollywood Reporter stated, "Gael Sullivan, executive director of TOA, will carry the fight for the reduction or removal of the federal admissions tax to a personal meeting with President Truman. In the meantime, there is evidence of increasing support in legislative circles behind the TOA drive."

Modernization of Railroads Described By D. J. Russell

Revolutionary postwar modernization accomplished by the nation's railroads was described by Vice President D. J. Russell of Southern Pacific at the Associated General Contractors of America's convention in San Francisco recently.

Railroading has borrowed from the electronic sciences to speed the dispatching of trains and to communicate with moving trains, he said, and Southern Pacific in addition has led in the use of a radar type device to locate faults which may occur in the railroad's far flung telephones and telegraph lines. To facilitate the classification of railroad cars for quicker make-up of trains Southern Pacific has recently completed the first west coast installation of electro-pneumatic car retarders.

Russell noted that the eight-state territory served by the Southern Pacific has had a population gain since 1940 of 34 per cent compared with 8 1/2 per cent for the other 40 states. "Industrial growth has followed the population growth," he reported. "In the past 20 years an average of one new industry for each calendar day has been established on our lines—three new industries a day in the period following V-J Day."

Congressmen To Speak At Annual Cattlemen Conclave

Congressman Antonio M. Fernandez and John E. Miles will appear as principal speakers at the thirty-sixth annual convention of the New Mexico Cattle Association in Albuquerque, March 27 and 28, according to G. W. Evans, Magdalena president. Honorable Thomas J. Mabry, governor of New Mexico has also agreed to speak in the opening sessions of the convention, Evans said.

Other speakers will include Loren Hamert, president of the American National Live Stock Association, Yoncali; General Harry H. Johnson, co-director of the Alfalfa eradication program in the Republic of Mexico, and Ralph Trigg, Washington, D. C. president of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Waldo E. Stephens, vice president of Stephens Oil Company, Oklahoma City, is scheduled to discuss the Hoover Commission reports the afternoon of March 28.

"Morning convention sessions" will be held in the New State Theater in Albuquerque because of limited auditorium facilities in the major hotels," Evans said. "The annual dance, floor show and other entertainment will be held in the Armory," Evans concluded.

Johnny Lee Willis and his boys of Tulsa, Okla., have been engaged to furnish music at the colorful western dances scheduled for the nights of March 27 and 28. Huler Means, Silver City, is chairman of the association entertainment committee.

Plentiful Foods

Homemakers make substantial savings on the grocery bill when they shop for foods in plentiful supply, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration.

Featured items on the March plentiful foods list are Irish potatoes, eggs and pork, particularly ham, bacon, picnic, pork chops, roasts and sausage.

Also plentiful for main course dishes of economical menus are broilers, fryers, hens, dried beans, processed dairy products and fresh and frozen fish.

Vegetables in good supply at attractive prices are carrots, cabbage, beets, lettuce, canned corn and canned lima beans.

SECURITY—AT WHAT PRICE?

Man's quest for economic security will always be one of the strongest human motivations. Throughout all history there has been only one sustained, sought-after goal to emerge paramount over security in the minds and hearts of men—and that goal is, of course, freedom.

Political masters have built their totalitarian governments on the promise of providing security without destroying individual freedom. The bait is well-nigh irresistible. And now the problem of having economic security and freedom too has begun to plague acutely the citizenry and the intellectual leadership of America.

In this vital postwar period when guards have been dropped, these propagandists and their dupes have sought to convince us that elsewhere the Socialist State is fulfilling its promises of "full employment," "fair shares" and "lifetime security" in a "democracy" where freedom reigns. The actual facts shout down this alien song. They nevertheless are trying to lure our people away from a healthy confidence in the American way of life or stamper it into politically operated programs that would bankrupt our nation and lay us wide open for government based on the principle of force.

We've rejected the Socialist doctrine when labeled as such. But a lot of our people have fallen for a security-plus-freedom program being offered in Congress by planners who get angry when called Socialist or when any objective analysis reveals the facts about their plans. I've just read such an objective analysis made by the Brookings Institution. It is entitled "The Cost and Financing of Social Security." Its purpose is simply to examine the facts and figures.

The Brookings Institution study develops the following primary fact: The major social programs being pushed in Congress by the Planners would cost an estimated $30,770,000,000 a year by 1960, and $44,000,000,000 a year by 1990. Add veterans' benefits of from $5 to $10 billion and the soaring regular budget outlays of $40-$50-$60 billions, and you have a total running up toward 50 per cent of the present national income—or a cost to all of us equal to about half of all of our incomes.

The Brookings report says these tremendous sums for security programs ultimately would have to come annually from new taxation regardless of the monthly payroll taxes. The proof of this was given in an Senate speech by Senator John L. McClellan (D., Ark.). He revealed that $39,250,000,000 belonging to the present old age, unemployment, railroad retirement and other such trust funds financed by direct payroll tax, had been dissipated by the government on a hundred and one other spending projects.

Benefits from these funds will now have to be financed again, by additional taxes on the general public. Everybody's pay check will be hit. Here we have a striking example of what happens to trust funds sent into Washington in the form of payroll taxes for pensions, benefits, etc. Although the fundamental human desire for security cannot be denied, we must approach the problem with calmness, unhurried by pressure of politico-planners. Above all, it must be taken outside the reach of politics.

Long range economic security can never come by grant of a political boss or clique. The soundest way to obtain it is through individual thrift and by teamwork of workers and employers that will increase productivity and thus boost real wages. Contributory retirement plans help to ease the anxiety and preserve pride and independence. I strongly favor group insurance pensions and medical insurance. A voluntary, contributory basis, however, will prove far better for all concerned than a compulsory, government managed plan. More on this next week.

Local Druggist Lauded By Noted Writer

A copyrighted article in the April 1933 issue of Esquire magazine reveals a man whose name should be of special interest to Lincoln County residents. It includes mention of Art Rolland, his drug store, and this vicinity. However, the article is copyrighted and cannot be reprinted without permission. The News-Outlook hopes to obtain permission to copy the article for the information and enjoyment of its readers.

USDA Will Continue Egg Supports For March

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that during March it will continue to support egg prices at levels reflecting an average price to producers of at least 25 cents a dozen for shell eggs—the same as the January-February price. This is the price that vendors, who sell dried eggs to the department under its current price support program, must certify that they have paid producers in the surplus producing midwest area for shell eggs they buy.

Capitan Future Homemakers To Give Box Supper

The Capitan branch of the Future Homemakers of America will hold a box supper Friday night, March 17, at 7 o'clock. The primary purpose of this social event is to raise funds to be used in sending representative girls from this branch of the organization to the state FHA meeting, which is being held at a later date. The group is planning a novel program which will be interwoven with the supper hour. The climax of their program features a "pie walk" for the dessert course.

A. D. Brown, Deming, and Albert R. Mitchell, Lordsburg, are both honorary vice presidents of the organization.

Sheriff Apprehends Reckless Driver

According to S. M. Ortiz, Lincoln County sheriff, Juan Coyazo, Alamo, was observed driving in a reckless manner within Carrizozo last Friday morning. Sheriff Ortiz stated he sounded his siren, but Coyazo speeded up and forced him to take up the chase. About three miles out of town, Coyazo's car turned over and he was taken to the local hospital where it was discovered he had suffered a fractured jaw. Charges are expected to be filed against Coyazo, the sheriff said, when he is released from the hospital.

Rev. F. Leo Wilshire, district superintendent, will preside over the conference and hear the reports which are due. Budgets for the coming year will be discussed.

The conference of the Capitan Methodist church was held March 5 at 8 P. M.

Rev. Wilshire will be the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Harry Webb, Carrizozo, March 13 and 14, during which time he will also preside over the Tulare Methodist church conference.

Invitational BB Tournery Held Here March 10-11

The Lions sponsored Invitational Carrizozo, will hold their invitational tournament here March 10-11.

Friday night Ruidoso meets Capitan and the town team will play the Glover Packing Company, Roswell. The first game starts at 7:30 in the Carrizozo High School gym. On Saturday morning, Green Tree will meet Tulare, while La Luz is pitted against Ruidoso. The winners of these games will play in the semi-finals on Saturday afternoon to determine the finalists in the finals on Saturday night.

The losers in the semi-finals will meet on Saturday night also to determine the winner of third place.

The trophies to be awarded in the tournament, which have been on display in the window of the Carrizozo Hardware Company, will be placed at the local high school during the tournery.

The trophies are figurines representing the center on a basketball team and are made of 22-karat gold.

The proceeds derived from the tournery will be applied toward the small remodeling payment due on the automatic timer and scoreboard, which was donated to Carrizozo High School by the local Lions Club.

SOMETHING TO CHEER

A group of Texas farmers have made some refreshing and encouraging news. At a financial sacrifice to themselves, they have sent a healthy slice of federal government cash back to Washington with a note to the U. S. Treasury which said in effect, "Here's your money. By struggling a little harder and plucking our chickens, we can get by without it."

Newspapers and farm journals sent up hurrahs; and even the Saturday Evening Post wrote glowing editorial praise. The unsolicited return of federal funds to the U. S. Treasury especially makes news at a time when the trend is altogether in the other direction. In fact, there are two angles of this action of the Texas farmers that justify attention. It encouragingly shows, in the first instance, that the spirit of independence is not dead in our country; and, secondly, it spotlights a sensible project by the federal government in the realm of financial assistance.

No Democrats

The Texas farmers who have made this sound declaration of independence are members of the 36 Production Associations in Texas. They are 3,000 of them. Since 1933, when the PCA's were established, the 36 agencies had accepted $2,000,000 of government capital for lending; and with it, of course, some regulations and controls. However, the entire lending program was handled and the administration of the 36 agencies was carried on by the farmers themselves. That's the clue, no doubt to the success of their venture.

Each time the PCA's made a farm loan (and 236,000 were made up to 1933) the recipient bought a proportionate amount of stock in the association, payable on installments like his loan was repaid. The stock buying was mandatory; the idea being that ultimately the PCA's would be owned lock-stock-and-barrel by the farmers. Wanted! Independence.

With the government funds, plus the accumulating capital from the stock sales and a somewhat slim profit return accumulated in "reserves," the 36 PCA's have made loans totaling $314,244.03. Ten years after they were established, they found they still were operating with $9,566,000 of the original federal government capital. They could keep it indefinitely. The government wasn't asking for it. But the farmers were got together and talked things over.

With the government money in their corporate setup they still were under the thumb of the government. They all wanted to get out from under. Yet there weren't enough surplus funds to anywhere near make the payoff. The former lender-borrowers thereupon (in 1934) started to assess themselves a much higher interest rate and stiffer service fees. Moreover, all of them began to dig down in their stocks and buy extra stock in their 36 PCA's.

Independence Costs Something

Shortly after January 1, 1935, the last U. S. dollar was returned to Washington, in a final settlement check for $100,000. The Texans had their independence again. But it hadn't been bought cheaply. Not only had they studied themselves financially to achieve it; they also were tossing away a whopping tax immunity that would cost them another pretty penny. With the government out as a partner, their exemption from income and other taxes was lost. Tax-wise they're now on the same basis as any other private lending agency.

The commendable action of the Texans attract our attention to the entire farm credit system which started with establishment of the Federal Land Bank in 1917. It had been demonstrated by then that farm loans were a peculiar province; that agricultural financing was different from industrial financing. To a large degree, the lending agencies have been kept in the hands of farming people. Our Texans are way out ahead in a precedent setting action, but the other 40 PCA's around the country have performed an important service well.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hodgin, Mountair, brought their two youngsters in this week for the final operations.

Veterans Administration supply deposits during December, 1933, amounted to 3,200 tons of supplies for hospitals.
