Is it possible there are residents of New Mexico who do not yet realize the importance of good highways to the general welfare of their state?

It would appear the public is not yet sufficiently "road conscious." Otherwise, New Mexico would most certainly have had a connecting system of highways which would be a credit to this state that has so much to offer the touring public.

And most certainly that portion of Highway 54 between Corona and Carrizozo, comprising approximately 35 miles, would have been rebuilt long before now. True, the war years interfered with road building in many places, but that is no longer an excuse. In fact, it should be a spur towards better roads. At the risk of appearing a "war monger," let us reiterate that in this age of atom bombs and H-bombs, jet planes and guided missiles, "fast" roads could be vital to the nation's welfare should disaster strike.

But to return to a more peaceful aspect of this road situation, we cite that portion of Highway 54 referred to in the foregoing paragraph.

It is supposed to be a federal highway, yet we can see no traces of pavement on those 35 miles mentioned. In fact, we have driven over side roads which were not even marked as improved roads, but which were far easier to negotiate. We will also wager the majority of the ranchers in this section have more adequate roads into their property than the stretch of road which bears the misnomer "Highway 54."

Any road so rough it can open the tightly closed rear compartment of a car certainly does not deserve the name "highway." The writer had this experience last week while on the way to attend a meeting at Ancho. Car tools could easily have been lost.

On the return trip Postmaster Kell, Carrizozo, netted a flat tire. There may have been other "car casualties" on the other end of this stretch of "highway" about which we did not hear.

The completion of Highway 54 is essential to the welfare of Lincoln County. Undoubtedly there are other sections of New Mexico with similar problems. Let us look at the records on highway travel in New Mexico. Governor Mabry's column in last week's News-Outlet revealed some interesting figures on the development of our state through tourist travel.

It is estimated tourists spent more than $133,000,000 in New Mexico during 1937. Back in 1933, the state took action to encourage tourist travel. A national advertising campaign was the medium used, and since then a large number of new businesses have grown up along the highways to give service to the traveling public. Mabry pointed out that the tremendous sum of money which the visitors spend have helped every community and almost every individual in one way or another.

From 500,000 non-resident motor vehicles entering the state in 1933, the figure has increased to 2,211,000 during 1940. There were nearly 6,000,000 persons in these 2,211,000 vehicles, and these 6,000,000 persons spent more than $133,000,000 in our state. This was an increase of more than $28,000,000 over the amount spent by tourists in 1933.

The governor's article states the financing of our highway construction program is partially met by the tourists who pay approximately one-third of our gasoline tax. They also help finance our public schools through the payment of the 2 per cent school tax on their purchases.

Gasoline tax collections, based on 5 cents per gallon, have increased about $7,000,000 since 1933. That means more than 2,000,000 gallons of gasoline were sold to meet this increase. We might also point out this increase occurred during a period in which our country was at war for almost four years, and tourist travel was practically non-existent. Motor vehicle registrations during this 14-year period were increased by 113,000. New Mexico is among the first five states in expenditures for national advertising.

Governor Mabry stated $150,000 was spent for national advertising during the first year of his administration; $181,000 the second, and $271,000 the third.

If the roads of New Mexico that are adequate for tourist travel bring in the amount of income as shown, what would a system of interlocking super highways do for the state?

Such a system would distribute tourists easily and quickly to various points of interest within the state, and reduce traffic congestion wherever it may exist as a result of inadequate freeway and highway facilities.

New Mexico has grown rapidly in the last few years, but officials should not lose sight of the relation one section of the state bears to another.

Unless all sections of the state work for the ultimate good of all, progress will be retarded. Isolationism does not and cannot work in this day and age. The fact tourist travel is becoming more and more popular, even with Mrs. Henry Peebles, Nogal, wonders if anyone else saw the "Northern Light" last Sunday morning in the early hours. Mrs. Peebles said she saw it as a result of being called to stay with a neighbor who was ill. She described it as quite pretty, being a deep red with shafts of white light, reaching like beams of a searchlight high into the heavens. Mrs. Peebles said several other neighbors also saw it.

Card of Thanks

With sincere gratitude we extend our appreciation to those many good friends for their kind expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral tributes in the loss of our mother, Mrs. Mollie Smith.

These of moderate means, should prove the contention good highways will pay rich dividends through tourist income. Let us pull together. Lincoln County needs Highway 54. Another county may want some other highway or a major repair project. The public wants a road proof highway.

State, county and city officials should be ever on the alert to achieve adequate highways within their jurisdictions. Good highways will attract tourist travel, which in turn is a major factor in the development and prosperity of New Mexico.

Patsy Sanchez had a few little friends in for ice cream and cake on her birthday anniversary, Tuesday, March 21.

Shirley Anne McClain has a heart interest in Roswell. She and "The McClain" made a special trip there on March 21.

Death peacefully came to Mrs. Juan Chavez (nee Quirina Zamora) of well known Lincoln pioneer family on February 19 in her home in Denver, Colo., at the age of 75, having been born at Lincoln May 12, 1874.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Merrell and child, with Mr. and Mrs. V. Ross, parents of Mrs. Merrell, came over from their Stillwater, Okla., home for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Merrell.

Dr. Roy E. Whitehead, distinguished honor alumnus of Indiana U. medical school and eminent specialist in thoracic diseases, is the Fort medical officer in temporary charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Eustacio Chavez and Judy were visitors at the Fort for a few days while on an extended vacation from their Palo Alto, Calif., home.

Thomas M. Smith is a late arrival from Galveston Marine Hospital and is already feeling lots better for the change in climate and altitude.

Was glad to see that Mrs. Whitehead made front pages of Atlanta Journal, Mobile Register, Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch with her Townsend retirement and farewell party stories.

Corona 4-H Livestock Club Named Livestock Judge
Under the auspices of Carl F. Radcliff, county extension agent, and local leaders, a group of 33 members of the Corona 4-H Livestock Club made a trip to Roswell for the purpose of judging fat livestock.

They judged a class of fat steers and fat lambs at the Bogie feeding pens; Dexter, a class of fat shoats at Philfer's farm near Dexter, and a class of dairy cattle at Clardy's dairy farm near Roswell.

The trip through the dairy farm was a new experience for most of the Corona 4-H'ers. The group watched the cows being milked with milking machines and observed how the milk was handled.

The members of the Corona club say they learned much, as well as having a wonderful time. The young people also express their appreciation to the leaders who furnished their transportation and to the ranchers who permitted them to judge the livestock.

By the end of 1949, Veterans Administration made National Service Life Insurance death payments of $36,013 beneficiaries of deceased World War II veterans.

March is Red Cross Month.

Hondo, Nogal 4-H'ers Win
Wool Show Trophies

Alfred McTeigue, a member of the newly organized Hondo Valley Livestock Club, is setting an example for club members in that area these days.

Alfred was recently awarded a first place trophy on a registered Corriedale ewe fleece that he entered in the State Junior Wool Show held in Albuquerque.

Alfred started his 4-H Club work in 1946, under the 4-H Sears, Roebuck Foundation contest. He was winner of a pen of five registered Corriedale ewes awarded by the foundation and selected by County Agent Radcliff from the Floyd Childress flock.

Since starting his 4-H sheep project, he has received: One third ribbon award in 1946; a third award in 1947; a first and third award in 1948, in showing his animals at the Eastern New Mexico State Fair.

On showing fleeces, he has received at the State Wool Show: Second award in junior division in 1948, and first award on a fleece in 1949.

Alfred also won a second award ribbon on a registered Corriedale ewe fleece shown at the National Western Wool Show held in Denver in January of this year.

Bobby Peoples of Nogal has added a trophy and five more ribbons to his collection of 4-H awards.

County Agent Radcliff reports that out of five fleeces, which Bobby entered in the State Wool Show and National Western Wool Show held in Denver, Bobby was recently awarded: A third place ribbon on a Rambouillet fleece shown at the International Wool Show; a first place trophy on a registered Rambouillet ewe fleece; a third place ribbon on a Rambouillet Ram Fleece shown in open class; a third award on a "group of three fleeces" and a sixth place award on a registered Rambouillet fleece.

This makes a total of 60 awards that Bobby has won since starting his 4-H sheep project in 1946.

Bobby also won an all-expense-paid trip in November of 1949 to the National 4-H Club Congress held in Chicago. This national recognition was awarded Bobby under the 4-H achievement contest sponsored by the A. T. & S. P. Railway Companies, in cooperation with the Extension Service of the New Mexico A. & M. College.

Correction

The News-Outlook regrets a typographical error that occurred in its February 24 issue.

We are glad to print this correction for Mr. Degrier.

THE LEOPARD'S "FREE" LUNCH
Once upon a time there lived in the jungles of northern India a handsome young leopard. He roamed the dense virgin forests carefree and happy, with a zest for living and with that love of freedom which is intense in all members of the animal kingdom, including man. When he had learned to protect himself against the elements and jungle denizens, there remained for him only one real problem—food.

Early in life the leopard learned to forage for his breakfast and supper. He learned too that appeasing hunger didn't come easily. This always required physical exertion and the use of his jungle-bred intelligence. He learned, in fact, that satisfying all his wants sometimes was most difficult, but this knowledge only made the young cat work the harder.

Something for Nothing, Eh?
Bounding through the great forest, like a character in the Tarzan stories, our leopard grew to young adulthood sleek, lithe and slinky, a powerful and beautiful creature of 175 pounds. One day while roaming happily through the vine-hung stretch of forest, the big spotted cat caught a tantalizing scent on the down wind raw meat. He wasn't too hungry but he swung along the scent trail to investigate.

At the edge of a clearing the leopard came upon the meat. It was a rich red hunk, odorless, tempting, asking to be taken. The cost? Nothing! The leopard circled it, sniffing. The animal really wasn't hungry, but here was something too good to pass up. He licked his chops and stepped in for the feast. Wham! The trap-door worked. Four months later the leopard was the star attraction at the Oklahoma City Zoo. In an 18-foot deep concrete pit.

Zoo—A Good Provider
The zoo provided the captive with a mate, a beautiful leopardess. The spotted prisoners liked each other and they seemed resigned to make the best of things. Zoo Director Julian Frazier was delighted. He took a fancy to them. They got shelter, protection, cold running water and an eight pound hunk of juicy horse meat every morning. No worries at all. But the big male leopard from the jungles of India got restless. He longed for the soft shady floor of the forest and the wind rustling through tree boughs. A basic instinct was at work. He longed for freedom.

Late one afternoon, driven by this powerful instinct, the leopard made a single incredible leap, cleared the meat, the 18-foot high pit wall, and regained his freedom. While the hue and cry of the whole countryside was raised in pursuit, and front pages bannered the story from coast to coast, the leopard hid by day and roamed the woods by night—free. For three days he was lost to the world. But in those woods game was scarce. And thoughts of the lonesome mate drew the big fugitive back to the zoo area.

The Belt Attracts Again
It was moonlight when the animal reached the encircling fence. One leap and he was within the zoo grounds and approaching the pit. He sent a whining call to his mate. But—ah, ha! The scent of raw meat intruded. Two big hunks of horse meat lay at the pit's rim. With a growl the big cat closed his jaws on a four-pound piece—another free lunch. The meat disappeared. The leopard attacked the second hunk, devoured it. Then, satisfied, he became strangely drowsy. He staggered down a runway and collapsed, asleep.

The captive from India never again

Music Department
Friday, March 24, at 7:30 P. M., the seventh and eighth grade glee club of Capitan High School will present an operetta entitled, "The Life of a Gypsy." This operetta will be directed by Mrs. Fred Pierce. Piano students of the music department will also present several numbers on this program. The public is cordially invited.

regained his senses. Within 15 hours he was dead. Zoo Director Frazier was grieved. The meat, he explained, contained a sleeping potion. And the leopard ate more than expected. Of course the zoo officials had only wanted to capture their leopard, protect him, and provide for his welfare in their own way. "We didn't want to kill him," pined the late leopard's masters. "We only wanted to put him to sleep. We thought everything was working perfectly."

Are we Americans, like the leopard, trading our liberties for a free lunch?

"Freedom from want, if interpreted as freedom from the necessity to struggle, would be a calamity if ever realized."—Walter H. Judd.
 Our effort to make out-of-state commercial truckers pay their way for the use of our roads has paid off. Let's look at the record in this connection.

New Mexico businessmen, we know, are required under our laws to pay several taxes. They are entitled to some sort of protection from unequal competition by out-of-state operators. It was for that reason that the Legislature created the Department of Courtesy and Information, which is commonly known as the Ports of Entry.

This department was not set up to be a trade barrier in any sense of the word. Its primary purpose was to prevent gasoline bootlegging and to see that non-resident commercial truck operators, who use our highways, help pay for their support the same as commercial truck operators who have their places of business in New Mexico.

Out-of-state truckers hauling New Mexico farm products to market are exempt from taxes of any kind. Last year this department collected a total of $820,340, a gain of $155,720 over the previous year. Of the total collections, approximately a quarter of a million dollars came from the mileage tax paid by non-resident commercial truck operators. None of the operators who paid a mileage tax at the ports had their trucks licensed in New Mexico, or held a corporation commission permit. Most of them traveled through the state only once or twice in the course of a year. For that reason, the mileage tax would not have been collected except for the existence of the ports. Operating expenditures for the last calendar year totaled $154,000. The collections from mileage tax alone for more than pays for the operation of the ports. It is estimated that because of their existence, they increase the collection of gasoline taxes by more than $300,000 annually. Gasoline bootlegging has been virtually eliminated since the ports were established.

By way of comparison, the ports collected a total of $323,131 in 1941, the last pre-war year. Operating expenses in that year, including some building costs, totaled $162,333. Today the department operates with 50 employees compared with 76 in 1941. The Department of Courtesy and Information, as operated today, in more than self-supporting. It performs a distinct service to the people and indirectly produces a considerable amount of revenue to the state by preventing gasoline bootlegging, and in other ways. Trucks from states which have signed reciprocal agreements with New Mexico are not required to pay mileage tax or to buy a New Mexico license plate. So far, 13 states have signed such an agreement.

I am happy that the men who operate our ports of entry have the confidence and support of the people when a few years ago they were in the political "dog house" much of the time.

Too late now for boiler insurance

Insurance calls for foresight

Maybe it takes a pessimist—or at least a realist—to foresee the need for complete insurance protection. But there is nothing that will do as much to make an optimist out of anybody as insurance. For insurance absolutely wipes out many fears. For example: any boiler or hotwater system can pop its seams any minute . . . so a wise man pessimistically imagines such a misfortune and optimistically purchases inexpensive America Fore insurance to protect himself against it. Let's talk this over.

 Eric Ness, former mayor of Petersburg and territorial representative of Alaska, gave some interesting highlights on that country. Mr. Ness is the father of Carl Ness, Capitan and Fort Stanton. Ness stated it had been 80 years since Russia sold Alaska to the United States, and the latter's residents are eager to become good citizens of this country. He recounted the town of Petersburg has spent 20 years trying to get six miles of road built to their electric plant, which is valued at $250,000. At present it is necessary to resort to boats and other methods of transportation to deliver supplies to the plant. Ness reported Alaska to be a great country but vastly different to the U. S.
 Along the southeastern coast, there are many islands, according to Ness, and three major cities are located on islands. Their only means of communication are by water and air. Ness stated it is more difficult to travel to the interior of Alaska than to go to Seattle.

 That section of Alaska has much snow and rain as well as cloudy weather. Last year was a record one for rain with a total of 202 inches, said Ness. Their average annual precipitation is 160 inches. Ness stated it is a growing country and they are eager to acquire adequate roads to facilitate such growth.
 Several members of Highway 54 Association from towns not on Highway 54 but who are interested in seeing the road completed, spoke on the benefits which would accrue from its building. Carl Ness, Fort Stanton and Capitan, was one of these speakers. He pointed out that in order for the state to grow, it must secure good roads for easy access to the various towns and points of interest, and that Highway 54 will be a stepping stone toward that end.

Tokens of appreciation were presented to the Ancho PTA for their work in the preparation and serving of dinner to the 80 members and visitors. A contribution of $5 was made by A. E. Huntsinger, Vaughn, and the highway association gave them $10. Jackie Silvers, Ancho, made the acceptance speech.
 A resolution was introduced by Roy Shafer, Carrizozo, that the Straley family be given a vote of thanks for their excellent work in arranging the meeting, and their gracious hospitality.
 The members of the Straley family who were present were persuaded to come to the "mike" for introduction. Harry Straley said the only two Straleys, of those living in this vicinity, not present were Mrs. Reba Bingham, who is a patient at the local hospital and C. S. Straley, general manager of the Straley interests who had to go out on the range to feed the cattle.
 The Ancho PTA "hot lunch" fund was increased by $66.50, the proceeds derived from this dinner.
 An aftermath to the Ancho meeting was recounted this week by Harry Straley. It seems John Harkey had promised Harry he would attend the meeting, but didn't get there. Several days later Harkey was approached by Straley who told him he'd seen several Carrizozo representatives, but failed to see Harkey. Straley reported the Ancho PTA had hoped to deposit $100 in their treasury, and since Harkey had not appeared he would have to be responsible for making up the deficit. Straley added that Harkey was a good sport and immediately "dug down" for the necessary $35.00.
