4,545 Fish Planted In Upper Ruidoso River

He stated a load of fingerlings will be planted this week on the south fork of Bonita Creek, and another load of legal sized trout planted on the north fork of the Ruidoso. The planting of the fish will be completed prior to the opening of the season on May 5.

Humphries announced the State Game Commission changed the formal opening of fishing season from May 25 to May 5, due to the prevailing drought situation, which will cause great loss of fish in late spring unless heavy precipitation occurs.

However, warned Humphries, this change in date applies only to a certain area in accordance with the following notice published by the State Game Commission:

"In all trout waters situated south of U. S. Highway 60, the trout season shall open on May 5, 1950, instead of May 25, as provided by said regulation, provided that Bear Canyon Reservoir shall not open until May 30."

Corona REA To Expand

April 8, 1950, marked the starting date of a construction contract between the Central New Mexico Electric Cooperative, Inc., and the Basanda Construction Company, Oklahoma City, for 33 miles of 34.5 transmission lines, 33 miles of single phase and 17 miles of three phase distribution lines was announced by Carl H. Johnson, manager, Power for the transmission line will originate at the Corona plant and will bring adequate service to the cities of Vaughn, Pastura, Encino and adjacent areas. The distribution lines will make service available for the first time to a number of farms and ranches and will extend northeast of Vaughn making electricity available by the cooperative. Johnson stated that plans are being made to completely rebuild to REA specifications the electrical construction in the cities of Vaughn and Encino.

In keeping with the development programs of the REA, the cooperative through acquisition on March 3 purchased the Inland Utilities Properties whose offices were located at Mountainair. The generating plant of this acquisition is located at Willard, which produces power for Mountainair, Estancia, Stanley and Moriarty. The purchase of this property brought the number of generating plants owned and operated by the cooperative to three, and a total connected consumers to 1,950.

Johnson also stated that staking of the "C" station of 479 miles of additional lines is near completion and will make service available for the first time to areas in and around Púnto, Manzano, Abo, Scholls, Mountainair and the Estancia Valley. The 479 mile section will bring electricity to approximately 480 additional consumers and will do much to aid the progressive development program of irrigation which is already in progress in the Estancia Valley.

An area survey is in progress as a part of the pre-allocation work on the "D" section and every person who desires service and has not been contacted personally by a representative of the cooperative, is urged to contact the Corona office immediately. In every case feasible to do so, the cooperative's goal is to bring adequate electricity to every farm, ranch and resident within its territorial boundaries just as quickly as possible.

The cooperative held its annual meeting of the membership on April 3 and 2,000 persons jammed the Corona High School gym to cast 947 votes in the management of the cooperative. The following board of trustees were elected: C. W. Kellogg, Estancia, president; Noble Duncan, Encino, vice president; E. C. Berryman, Cedarvale, secretary; F. A. Hall, Mountainair, treasurer, and Paul Simmons, Stanley; J. L. Merritt, Yaso; Jim Hall, Ancho, member. The board met immediately after the election and selected as the cooperative's manager Carl H. ## Public Warned Of 'Dud' Danger

Fort Bliss authorities offer the following cautions concerning "duds":

"In the course of normal business you may find yourself in the immediate vicinity of anti-aircraft artillery firing ranges or actually on the range when you have prior permission from the range officer to that effect.

"It is possible that you may find certain explosive types of materiel. Normally this will be what is called by military people a "dud." A dud is simply any projectile which has been fired from a gun or dropped from a plane and which has not yet exploded.

"It is dangerous only if it is molested.

"To the best of our knowledge a dud has never killed or hurt anyone who was not deliberately tampering with it. To quote a safety axiom, "better be safe than sorry." Do not molest or move in any way any dud that you may find. Report its location to the nearest military installation or law enforcement agency.

"Normally it can be expected any dud you may find will appear as a piece of rusted metal, cylindrical in shape. It may be seen sticking out of the sand or lying completely exposed on the surface. This type of dud is an artillery dud. It is filled with TNT as an explosive. Its size may vary from about 1/2 of an inch in diameter and about 3 inches long up to about 6 inches in diameter and about 2 feet long. Any of these types contains sufficient explosive to kill within a radius of 50 to 100 feet.

"It is possible, although not probable, that you may find a complete round of ammunition which will have a brass or steel cartridge case still fixed to the projectile.

"Also you may find a hand grenade or rifle grenade which has failed to explode. These items are shaped roughly like a football and the outer edges are corrugated. They will vary in diameter from about 2 to 3 inches and will be about 4 to 6 inches in length. Each of these grenades is extremely dangerous if you attempt to handle it.

"If you are like most people, you are interested in why a dud is a dud and how it happens to be where it is.

"In any area where any amount of artillery firing is done with anti-aircraft or field artillery, duds are bound to occur. Duds result from failure of the projectile to function. Such failures can be due to mechanical reasons, chemical changes in the explosive components, improper assembly at the factory, or a combination of any of these.

"The Army makes every possible effort to dispose of duds immediately when they are found. It also maintains teams which search the ranges continuously in an effort to discover any duds which may have occurred.

"Just remember that a projectile is designed to explode. When a projectile becomes a dud, it must be treated as a dangerous item.

"Don't touch it and you will not be hurt."

Suckles is survived by his widow and three small children. Mrs. Suckles is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stroops, pioneer residents of Corona.

Southwest Is Facing Worst Fire Season

An urgent plea for all fishermen and campers to help in preventing forest fires this year was made today by Elliott Barker, state game warden. "It is apparent that the Southwest is facing one of the worst forest fire seasons in many years," Barker said, "and only by enlisting the aid of the many people who hunt, fish and camp can we hope to get through the year without a number of disastrous fires."

In ordinary years, fires are not expected to begin until later in the spring, but this year, due to acute moisture shortages and high winds, the fires began as early as March. According to Barker, the forests and, particularly the lower range lands, are as dry as tinder and any careless spark could cause another fire like the recent 23,000 acre blaze in northern New Mexico which destroyed millions of board feet of standing timber.

While it is true that many fires are started by lightning which can't be prevented, Barker pointed out that far too great a number are usually started through human carelessness which can and should be prevented.

"During this critically dry season, I cannot urge too strongly that those in the woods and along fishing streams carefully extinguish cigarettes and matches, and to be sure all camp fires are completely dead before leaving them," Barker said.

Camp and picnic fires should be built only in safe places where there is no possibility of the embers being blown about. When a camp is left, the fire should be either well covered with damp earth or put out completely with water stirred in with coals and ashes.

"Our scenic areas in New Mexico are for the enjoyment of all," Barker said. "Let us all join in the prevention of forest fires for the public will get very little recreational use from hundreds of square miles of fire blackened tree trunks and baked earth. That is what may happen if we are not extremely careful."

Carrizozo Sixth Graders Present Musical Play

 "The hair-brained chatter of irresponsible self-seeking men should never distress honest and earnest ones engaged in a task of service."
 —Anon.

Now that The News-Outlook has the able assistance of Dale Benesch, a young printer from Colorado, the editors are taking advantage of any leisure time afforded to travel over the county and get acquainted.

Last Saturday we made our first trip to Corona. The day was a beautiful one, and the scenery along the way matched the weather.

From Ancho on, the countryside takes on a different appearance—more rolling hills with lots of green vegetation.

At Corona, we visited with Mrs. A. E. Mulkey, our news correspondent, and met her husband who operates the Corona Motor Company. He relieved our fears that we had a defective fuel pump, and we started out again.

Next we saw Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Brown. Mr. Brown is mayor of Corona. Transferring to Brown's car, we drove around Corona to see several of the projects sponsored by this progressive minded town. The REA plant was among those visited.

Although we do not qualify as electrical experts, it is readily seen this plant is excellently equipped, and should provide uninterrupted service for the area. The new city hall and fire station is expected to be fully finished sometime this year.

Mayor Brown explained the work which has been completed to date and includes the foundation, outer walls, windows, doors and inside partitions, is completely paid and that it was done without the issuance of bonds or raising of taxes.

The workers at the air field outside Corona will have modern attractive quarters in which to live. The federal government is completing several houses upon which the final inspection will soon be made. They are all two-bedroom houses with large living room, combination kitchen and dinette, and bath. There is also an attached garage as well as a large utility room and stoves and refrigerators are furnished. The houses are heated by an automatic oil system and butane gas is available for cooking purposes.

After making these inspections, the mayor drove us over to meet Lonnie Atkinson, a resident of Corona since 1904. Brown has been in Corona since 1902. Atkinson has an antique and curio shop, and makes beautiful and out of the ordinary furniture. Much of it is manufactured from cacti he obtains near Tucson, Ariz. His prize possession is a table, the top of which contains wood from every state in the Union as well as wood which came from the White House, Washington, D. C.

The various pieces of light and dark woods have been placed to form a map of the United States. The table was on display at the last World's Fair in Chicago.

Stepping out of Atkinson's shop, we observed Superintendent of Schools Parker across the street on his front porch. He cordially invited us in to meet Mrs. Parker, after which we went with him to view furniture made by students in the industrial arts classes. We were quite impressed with the handwork of these students.

The furniture showed the student's careful attention to detail both in the cabinet work and finishing. From these classrooms we were taken to the school's cafeteria. The equipment there is de luxe with its large steam table, refrigerators, hobo range, etc. There is even an electric appliance for peeling potatoes. Preparations were in progress for the junior-senior banquet at the time of our visit, and the room was attractively decorated with colored crepe paper. The long tables were inviting with their white covers and gleaming glass and silverware. Most appetizing odors were emanating from the steam table, too.

Upon emerging from the cafeteria, one is confronted with the superb view of the surrounding countryside that is commanded from this hilltop site.

Construction on the new school building which will house a modern gym is now in progress. In addition to the Corona student buses are used to bring in students from outlying areas. A most enjoyable afternoon was spent in Corona, and we fair to me and tell me who can be dispensed with and what service they would curtail.

I have said before that we could, through appropriate legislation, secure some savings in consolidating some departments which overlap in authority and service. I have attempted, this where I thought I could do it even without express law authorizing it.

Our books are open. I announced that would be done when I first took over as governor—that books would not only be open to public inspection but that I would insist upon state employees affording every facility for any interested citizen to see the records and learn the facts in any office or department. I have heard not one complaint that genuine courtesy and helpfulness has not been afforded by all employees under my control.

Let's drive the pussy willow howlers into a corner and make them tell us specifically where we are spending too much money and on what service. We are not interested in bellyaches from political fortune hunters without a constructive thought. That kind of campaigning is old stuff. We hear these things every election year. We are interested in improvement in the public service wherever it can be had and we want your constructive suggestions.

Correction

In two recent issues, this paper has credited the new well at the hospital to "Chester Foust, local Ford dealer." This is in slight error. The well is being paid for by Lincoln County Motors, Inc., as a frank advertisement of the fact that when you do business with this firm the whole community benefits, as well as you. It also is intended to suggest to others that they can do some of this kind of advertising as a proper, chargeable business expense.

I won't drive a foot—without insurance. As important as the motor. It's foolish to drive any car a city block without ample insurance. You may hit somebody the first 50 feet and get sued for 50 thousand. You may not have 50 thousand, but the law may take your home or attach your wages for years. Or your car may burn, be stolen, be damaged or contain damage. Yet air, a car is full of risks. Let us give you figures on the many protections an American Faa policy can give you.

Rev. and Mrs. O. J. Rainey attended the annual Episcopal convocation held at the Church of the Holy Faith, Santa Fe, Frank C. Boyce also attended the meetings.

The Jack Smiths and the Emmett Womacks did the honors for the Dangerous Deorum Club on Saturday night, April 15, at the Casa Bonita. There were quite a number of guests, and Melvin Knox, well known impresario of the square dance, and his wife were in this group. Mrs. Jack Smith honored Miss Nina B. White on Sunday, April 16, by giving a picnic in her honor at Padilla Springs ranch. Situated at the foothills of the Capitans, the ranch is an ideal place for picnics, and the attending group had an excellent excursion.

From almost every pair of lips comes forth words of praise for the work of Dr. Whitehead. The morale of both patients and personnel is excellent. Improvements are planned and patients can look forward to sitting outside on the porches or "on the hill" without being bothered by myriads of flies.

According to Lawson D. Fish, medical technician par excellence, he gets wonderful help from his assistant, Perry Zamora, the response to the appeal for blood donors has been "durn" good; to date 60 people have been typed and have cards to prove same. A new departure in the Fort laboratory is the first of a series of laboratory procedure discussions for the medical and nursing staff.

Last week this column said that Dr. McQuigg did the thoracic surgery on Johnny Soderback. This was an error, as the former operated on Johnnie's roommate and Dr. Stance of Santa Fe and Albuquerque was Johnnie's surgeon.

Miss M. Angela McCallum is still doing the night "owl" duty. When she walks in the front door each night at 11 o'clock "everything automatically gets under control." One and all of the patients feel that when Miss Mac "hits the deck" everything is "shunky-doodle."

Mary Fish, who has been ill with a bad case of sunburn from her trip to the White Sands, is much better and is ready and willing to make another trip to the Sands.

Cadet Lyle Hutter of NMMI at Roswell was a recent weekend visitor of the McCains; he is the one responsible for the at times far away look in Shirley-Anne's eyes.

Dr. Roger MacQuigg came down from Lovelace Clinic in Albuquerque, to look over some of the patients, gave some bronchoscopic treatments and will be back here again soon to confer with the medical staff on cases needing thoracic surgery. Dr. MacQuigg is also consultant to New Mexico State "San" at Socorro and Veterans Hospital at Fort Bayard.

A lovely voice was heard in the little Fort Stanton Catholic Chapel on Sunday, Mary Lou Bailey, new stenographer-typist in the main office, will be a valuable addition to the all too small choir. Anyone who can sing is asked to get in touch with Mary Lou and she will try and arrange some practice sessions.

Chaplain William Benson of Walker Air Base was a Sunday visitor and Rev. Vito de Baca also looked in the hospital for a few moments.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Durand of Taos visited with the Manuel Millers on Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Durand and Mrs. Miller are brother and sister.

An excellent attendance was on hand at the home of Mrs. George Perry, Glenwood, on Wednesday, April 26, for the once in a while extension meet. Mrs. Roy E. Whitehead, who has written scads of stuff on cancer, was on hand. The speaker of the day was Mrs. Jean Mitchell of the American Cancer Society. A covered luncheon, lots of talk and then some very excellent listening.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Romero are the proud parents of Linden John, 7 pounds, 12 ounces, baby son who was named for Dr. Linden E. Johnson, who helped Mrs. Romero (Lola) when she was stricken with TB.

The Welfare State Gulls

On a craggy island in Penobscot Bay off the coast of Maine, there once lived a thriving colony of sea gulls. They were of the full-throated Herring gull and Laughing gull families and whenever the whole colony rejoiced over an unusually good catch of fish or insects their screaming cacophony could be heard almost to inland Augusta.

Their flights to sea as they went searching for schools of fish were beautiful to behold. Their sleek silver-gray backs and the smooth, snow-white belly feathers glistened in the bright sunlight reflected off the ocean's surface. And upon returning to Penobscot with fish-in-beak, their proud wheelings and turnings and glides were masterpieces of aerodynamic art. It was a great day indeed for any baby sea gull lucky enough to be hatched in the Penobscot colony. No prouder, happier family of gulls graced the Atlantic Coast.

Fishing Came Natural

The young hatched out a grayish-brown, able to walk and with the instinct for flying and fishing strong within them. For a few weeks parents fed their down-covered babies. But very soon the fledglings were encouraged to hop off rocks and test their gliding equipment. Flying then came quickly. The biggest thrill for the young gulls was the first carefully chaperoned trip to sea for fishing. There the instinct took over.

The young gulls were natural fishers. And they early developed a sturdy self-reliance. If the fish weren't running, young and old flew far inland to search out and feed upon hordes of insects such as grasshoppers or even worms. The greatest event of a young adult Penobscot gull's life, however, was the rugged migratory flight to Florida which the colony conducted each fall.

The "Free" Lunch
One raw November as the Penobscoters were heading for the extreme southern Florida Keys a squall set them down on Conch Island, a stone's throw off the water front at St. Augustine. They were properly welcomed by masses of southern gulls. The next morning the Penobscoters waited anxiously for their southern hosts to guide them toward the fishing grounds. But the fat Conch Island gulls just sat around as dawn brightened with morning sun.

Promptly at 9:15 A. M., the Conch Islanders, somewhat slow and lazy in flight, led the way. But not to the fishing grounds. They flew 100 yards across the water front to the shrimp wharf. There, lined up busily cleaning yesterday's catch, were nearly 100 shrimp-fishing vessels. And in the early morning sunlight the water already had begun to be flecked with tiny dead fish and shrimp scraps. For the Penobscoters this was almost too good to be true. But it was a reality—food without effort!

Gulls Without Gull Instincts
Thousands of Penobscoters did not fly back north the following April as was the custom. They were too fat and too satisfied with life on Conch Island. They hadn't had to bother with fishing or hunting a single day. Always the shrimp fleet was at the wharf, or would be there shortly, with its free, anytime-a-day lunch. The fleet and the gulls stayed on. The gulls got fatter and lazier. But one day last March they flew over for breakfast and found no ships. They flew back to Conch Island and sat waiting, eyes toward the sea. They sat waiting all day, necks pulled in, one foot retracted. They got awfully hungry.

Five days and nights passed and they began screaming. The fleet hadn't returned. They were starving. They sat at the water's edge in long rows, helpless, bewildered, staring out to sea, screaming their hungry pangs. St. Augustine people heard them and investigated. They found the shrimp fleet had gone for ever. They found the gulls dying because their ability to fish and hunt was extinct. Ornithologists were astonished. The free shrimp lunches, provided month after month, had destroyed the gulls' natural ability to find food for survival. They were not sea gulls now; they were mere creatures. The moral: A Welfare State, for gull or man, always first destroys the priceless attribute of self-reliance.

This Nameplate makes the Price Remarkable!

Price is one thing. And these days it's mighty important. But even more important is what you get for your money!
Most people realize this—that's why more people are buying Pontiac today than ever before. They have studied the automotive market and found that no car as good as Pontiac is priced as low.
Pontiac is the lowest-priced straight-eight in America. Pontiac is the lowest-priced car offering GM Hydra-Matic Drive. Pontiac offers you a choice of Silver Streak engines. And Pontiac is unquestionably the most beautiful thing on wheels. Dollar for dollar, you can't beat a Pontiac.

Feather-bedding scheme of Firemen's Union to put an additional fireman on diesel locomotives has been CONSIDERED TWICE!

Fact Finding Boards appointed by Presidents Roosevelt and Truman have said these demands were "devoid of merit" and they were REJECTED TWICE!

Now the Firemen's leaders seek to paralyze railroad transportation to compel the railroads to employ a wholly unnecessary additional fireman to ride on diesel locomotives. This scheme is plain

FEATHER-BEDDING!

LEADERS of the Firemen's union have called a nationwide strike starting with four great railroads on April 26. These railroads are the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, and Southern.
The union claim that a second fireman is needed on grounds of safety is sheer hypocrisy. Safety has been dragged into this dispute only in an unsuccessful effort to give a cloak of respectability to vicious feather-bedding demands.
After a careful study of the first demands of this union, a Presidential Fact Finding Board on May 21, 1948, reported to President Roosevelt that there was no need for an extra fireman on diesel locomotives.
Again, on September 19, 1948, after a second hearing on the union leaders' demands, a second Board reported to President Truman that: "there presently exists no need for an additional fireman... upon either the ground of safety or that of efficiency and economy of operation."
Safety Record of Diesels is Outstandingly Good extra fireman is needed for "safety" reasons. Here's what the Board had to say on that point:

"The safety and on-time performance of diesel electric locomotives operated under current rules have been notably good...
"Upon careful analysis of the data submitted on safety, we have concluded that no valid reasons have been shown as a support for the Brotherhood proposal under which a fireman would be required to be at all times continuously in the cab of road diesels. The proposal must be rejected."
The real reason behind these demands is that the union leaders are trying to make jobs where there is no work. In other words, a plain case of "feather-bedding."
The railroads have no intention of yielding to these wasteful make-work demands.

"The Safety Record of Diesels is Outstandingly Good..."
PRESIDENTIAL FACT FINDING BOARD REPORT
Read these excerpts from official reports of Presidential Fact Finding Boards:
"The safety record of Diesels is outstandingly good, and it follows that the safety rules now applicable have produced good results."
"The safety and on-time performance of Diesel-electric locomotives operated under current rules indicate that Diesel-electric operation has been safer than steam locomotive operation..."
Remember! These are not statements of the railroads. They are just a few of the many similar conclusions reached by President Truman's Fact Finding Board which spent months investigating the claims of the union leaders.

Brewers Ads Promote New Mexico Events New Mexico's community events of local and statewide interest are being promoted through a monthly "calendar" in 12 advertisements prepared by the United States Brewers Foundation, Charles J. Huff, state director, said today. The advertisements, headed "New Mexico's Pageant of Events," are designed to encourage interest and stimulate attendance at these festivities. They are scheduled to appear in 40 of the state's leading newspapers, carrying dates and locations of such affairs as rodeos, crop festivals, historical celebrations and Indian fiesta dances. "The brewing industry and its local representatives feel such events are the backbone of New Mexico's famed hospitality among its own citizens and for out-of-state visitors," Huff said. First two of the advertisements spotlighted the Cattle Growers and Wool Growers Association conventions. Later, special advertisements will feature the Gallup Inter-Tribal Indian Ceremonial, Santa Fe Fiesta, State Fair and Eastern New Mexico State Fair at Roswell.

Iron Lung Returned To Lincoln County The iron lung which was donated several years ago by the VFW group in Capitlan for use in Lincoln County is back home again. The lung was requested by Hot Springs several years ago during a severe polio epidemic. From there it was sent to Los Angeles and eventually found its way back to an El Paso hospital. Although Lincoln County residents will be happy to know this valuable medical equipment is back in the county again, they will also be pleased to know it was instrumental in saving lives of countrymen that might otherwise have been lost.
