Harkey Greets Many Visitors

Personnel of the Harkey Lumber Company, Carrizozo, relaxed Monday after weeks of preparation for the formal opening of their new home, which took place Saturday, August 5, and was a marked success.

Registered adult visitors for the prizes which were awarded numbered 533. In addition to this group were many children and teenagers who were not registered.

Attending as out-of-town representatives of business firms whose products are handled by the Harkey company were Bill Paschich, Shapleigh Hardware Company, El Paso; Walsh Miles and Al Atkins, Mومن, Dunnegan and Ryan, El Paso, and O. W. Breyer and L. M. Willis, Southwestern Sash and Door Company, El Paso. In addition, some out-of-the-county guests attended.

Practically all of the business firms in Carrizozo as well as the Atlas Lime Company, El Paso, extended congratulations to the Harkey firm through the medium of this paper. The Atlas Lime Company are the manufacturers of the cinder-concrete block of which the new building is constructed.

Baskets of flowers, gifts of friends and well wishers, accented the lovely pastel interior of the new store.

On display were General Electric, Crosley and Philco refrigerators; General Electric, Universal and Sunbeam traffic appliances; All American steel kitchen, and model bathrooms. In addition there were various displays of sporting goods, household and kitchen ware; paint; fine china; and general lines of hardware.

The exterior building is cinder-concrete block stuccoed white with terra cotta trim. Stucco walls of pastel blue and insulated tile ceiling form the interior. The floor is gray tile highlighted by touches of color. The knotty pine offices with furniture of the same wood are particularly effective against their attractive background.

The company personnel received guests from 1 to 5 P. M., during which hours a steady stream of visitors viewed the new building and attractive displays of merchandise, and parking space near the store was practically impossible to find.

Each visitor was given a door prize upon entering the store, and adult guests were registered by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lemon, Carrizozo.

Mesdames Jack Harkey, Ralph Petty and Fay Harkey presided at the refreshment table which was cleverly draped in red and white crepe paper with decorations of aluminum foil paper tools. Gallons of coffee and punch were consumed during the celebration in addition to platters of delicious home baked cakes of various kinds and frosted with colored kings.

The hour of 5 P. M. had been designated by the company as the time when awards of valuable merchandise would be made absolutely free. As the hour approached interest intensified and the comments of many were "I'd like to win one of those prizes."

The Alamo man who had been chosen as master of ceremonies was unable to be present and it was necessary to secure a substitute shortly before the awards were scheduled to be made. Arl Posey and E. E. Lemon replaced the regular master of ceremonies. Holding aloft a round box covered in aluminum foil and decorated with red crepe paper, the men announced it contained the stubs of tickets received by registered guests. The two men then took turns at shaking it vigorously and handed it over to the small

Lions Club Plans Fair Queen Contest

At a meeting of the directors of the Carrizozo Lions Club Thursday evening, August 10, final details for their sponsorship of a Lincoln County entrant for State Fair Queen were completed. The local club will announce final plans in next week's issue of The News-Outlook.

Contestants for the county selection must be single; between the ages 16 to 20, inclusive; and must be permanent residents of Lincoln County. Entrants will be judged solely upon their riding ability and southwestern personality. These rules and regulations have been set by the State Fair officials.

The girl selected from Lincoln County will be the guest of the State Fair at Albuquerque from September 23 to October 1.

It is expected all counties in New Mexico will be represented. Contestants will be chaperoned during their stay in Albuquerque and their rooms and meals will be paid by the State Fair.

Each county representative must furnish her own horse, as well as transportation for herself and horse to Albuquerque and return.

The girls' costumes for the entire week will be western attire. It is pointed out by the State Fair this is not a beauty contest, and only western clothes will be worn by the girls, and there will be positively no need for street or evening dresses and accessories.

State Fair Queen contestants will ride in the Grand Parade Saturday morning, September 23. Governor Thomas J. Mabry will make the official declaration of the opening of the New Mexico State Fair, after which the queen will be chosen by the judges.

Plans are underway to have a talent scout from Hollywood on hand to judge the girls on their personality, and other judges will decide their riding ability.

Only one girl, of course, can receive the coveted title of Queen, but the others will be known as the Westernettes.

The Queen and her Westernettes will ride in the Grand Rodeo entry every evening, as well as participate in many other State Fair events. They will also assist in presenting the awards and ribbons given to winners of the numerous contests.

Girls between the ages 16 to 20, inclusive, who wish to compete for the honor of being chosen the Lincoln County contestant for State Fair Queen should address a signed letter of application to The Lincoln County News-Outlook, Carrizozo. Proof of age must accompany each application. Each letter of application must show the applicant is single; a permanent resident of Lincoln County, N. M.; between the ages 16 to 20 inclusive; can furnish her own horse; and furnish transportation for herself and horse to Albuquerque and return.

All letters will be turned over to the local Lions Club for processing. Members of the committee in charge of the Lincoln County contest for a State Fair Queen entry are: Fred H. English, Friday Sierrill and Marvin Roberts.

A closing date for entrance in the Lincoln County contest has not yet been announced, but contestants are urged to submit applications as soon as possible.

Daughter Of Rev. Hall Married In California

A program of nuptial music preceded the afternoon ceremony when Miss Martha Frances Hall became the bride of Warren Anderson recently in Palo Alto, Calif. Rites were performed in the Calvary Methodist Church in Palo Alto by Dr. James H. Strayer.

Musical selections were presented by Mrs. Howard Oltz, organist; Miss Katherine Williams, vocalist, and Gerald Walters, violinist. Miss Williams sang "Calm as the Night" and "I Love Thee, Dear," and Walters played Schubert's "Ave Maria."

Miss Hall was escorted to the altar, which was banked with baskets of white gladioli and fern, by her father, Rev. O. E. Hall, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Carrizozo. Her gown of white tulle and lace, fashioned in ballerina length, featured a low rounded neckline with an off-shoulder collar, fitted bodice and tiered skirt. She wore a strand of seed pearls and the white net crown which held her fingertip illusion veil was bordered with seed pearls. Her bouquet was composed of white baby orchids, fleur de l'amour, and stephanotis.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. E. F. Hopkins of Palo Alto.

Miss Virginia Hall, another sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Dorothy Pool was bridesmaid.

Verdy Lindahl of Duluth, Minn., was his brother-in-law's best man and guests were seated by Ed Hopkins of Palo Alto, brother-in-law of the bride, and Earl Watson, also of Palo Alto.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Carmel, Santa Barbara and Laguna Beach, the new Mrs. Anderson was attired in a white flannel suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of baby orchids.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Hall of Carrizozo. She attended Athens College for Women in Athens, Ala., and Middle Tennessee State College in Murfreesboro, Tenn. The benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Anderson of Duluth, Minn. He was graduated from the University of Minnesota and now is employed at Ames Aeronautical Laboratory, Moffett Field, Calif. ## Lost, Strayed Or Stolen—One Man From Mars

Was the Man from Mars so adept at magic he transported himself out of Carrizozo before he was in? His show, scheduled to appear at the local grade school auditorium August 4, has not yet been seen.

Superintendent L. Z. Manire reported some individuals arrived at the school about 7 A. M. the morning of the 4th, announced the stage was too small, and departed saying they would return shortly.

It was reported the troupe breakfasted at a local restaurant, after which they apparently staged a disappearing act. Their advertisements featured a mystery act among others. Evidently the disappearing act was the only one Carrizozo was scheduled to see.

'Smockey' Joins AAA School Safety Patrol

Smockey, the bear cub now living in the Washington Zoo, who was found with burned feet clinging to a tree and whose parents were believed to have died in the forest fire which swept the Capitan Mountain early this summer, this week became a member of the American Automobile Association school safety patrol.

In the presence of Dr. William M. Mann, zoo director, and Raymond E. Marsh, acting chief of the U. S. Forest Service, George R. Hammond, safety and education director of the AAA, presented Smockey with his membership card, white canvas Sam-Brown belt and a shiny new badge.

Three boys and one girl member of the District of Columbia school safety patrol were present when Smockey was initiated.

"These boys and girls are teaching lessons in safety on the streets and highways just as this New Mexico bear, Smockey, is teaching lessons in safety in our national forests and parks," said Hammond.

Smockey will appear on the cover of the "American Motorist" magazine published by the AAA, he added.

Beauty Contest To Be Held Here

The next month apparently is going to be a busy one for contestants who want the title of queen.

The local Lions Club is announcing plans for the sponsorship of a Lincoln County entrant for State Fair Queen, and the Woman's Club of Carrizozo reports it will hold a contest to select a beauty queen in Lincoln County.

Mrs. Winzell (Pinkie) Rickerson, president of the club, stated plans are not yet completed and further details will be given to The News-Outlook for next week's issue.

The mayor of each town that enters a contestant will be asked to serve as one of the judges.

Tentative plans call for girls between the ages of 16-20, inclusive, and they will be judged upon posture, personality and natural beauty. The girls will be requested to wear formal attire.

Each girl should be sponsored by a business man, according to Mrs. Rickerson, and the entrance fee is set at $2.50.

The ceremony for crowning of the queen is for August 26 at a time to be announced later. Red Brown, radio artist on KRQD, El Paso, is expected to be here for the ceremony, and will also announce the contestants and sponsors over his morning program on the El Paso station.

Watch next week's issue of The News-Outlook for further details.

The Precipitation Research Corporation, an organization composed of ranchers and farmers in Lincoln and Socorro Counties, is cooperating with the Socorro School of Mines in research work on rainmaking, according to Roy Shafer, secretary.

Shafer reports their group has been doing considerable cloud seeding with apparently, some success.

Mr. Shafer stated the corporation is set up on a year-around basis, and hopes to increase snowfall in winter as well as rain in summer.

The corporation plans to send letters in the near future to all business firms, ranchers and farmers in the vicinity outlining the program and soliciting membership.

The organization is hopeful of a generous response, as the cost is small compared to the possible benefits to be derived.

Lincoln Day Attracts Crowd

The historic days of Old Lincoln Town were re-enacted last Sunday for an audience of several thousand people. Once the county seat and hub of activity in Lincoln County, the peaceful little village is a far cry from the turbulent days of yesteryear when violence was the order of the day.

The annual celebration was first planned by Colonel Maurice G. Fulton, supervisor of the Court House Museum, as a memorial to the Lincoln County pioneers. It is sponsored by the Lincoln County Historical Society under the leadership of Wilbur Coe, president; Bert Pflingsten, vice chairman, and Mrs. Ruth Penfield Martin, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Caroline Davis wrote and directed the pageant on the "Last Escape of Billy the Kid," and John Davis, her husband, played the part of Billy the Kid.

That the annual re-enactment of the dramatic and colorful history of Lincoln County has aroused national interest is forcibly brought to attention by the appearance this year of members of the staff of Life Magazine. That magazine sent a writer and photographer to cover all the events programmed for the day-long celebration. Flash bulbs were exploding all over the place as the photographer dashed to various points of vantage to take pictures of the performers in action.

Shortly before noon, oldtimers in this area began arriving in Lincoln and to their number were added visitors from New Mexico and elsewhere, who traveled from far and near to view the colorful dramatization of the early history of Lincoln County.

Many brought basket lunches which were shared by old friends and neighbors as they chatted about bygone days. Others ate at the Lincoln School where food was served from 11 A. M. to 7 P. M., and refreshment stands were located at various places throughout the grounds.

A continuous program of entertainment during the afternoon hours was provided, which included vocal and instrumental selections as well as many dance numbers, by both local and out-of-town artists.

Ray Reed and his Lincoln County boys dedicated one of their numbers to Ray Bell, former game warden in this area. The theme of the song was significant of the deer hunting season.

Joy Mable, Picacho, sang several numbers for which she received a big hand. A Chicago radio artist substituted for Louise Massey Mable, mother of Joy Mable, and sang "Adobe Hacienda," the song written several years ago by Mrs. Mable.

The song proved so successful it was featured as one of the top tunes on the Hit Parade for months. Other entertainers included W. C. Massey, Roswell; Stockley brothers, Roswell; Sholdon Taylor, San Antonio; Wilbur Coe, Glencoe; Bruce Griffin, and Mrs. Jay Gould, Hondo. The Spanish polka performed by Hilario Gomez and Lupe, the little Spanish lady who is in her nineties, and has never been farther from Lincoln than Capitan and Picacho, drew many admiring comments.

The Spanish quadrille performed by a group of Lincoln County residents was another number well received by the audience. Those who know the complicated routine of this dance are mantled it and stored the material in a back room at their new place of business. He sold this lumber to people who bought it a stick at a time. Soon, he had sold all this used lumber, and then decided to stock a little new lumber in some old coal sheds on the property. As time went by, the demand for lumber increased to such an extent, the Harkeys decided a lumber yard was needed. The old coal sheds were torn down to make way for a lumber yard to serve the needs of this area.

Until a few years ago, Mrs. Harkey assisted her husband with the business. However, as their sons, Fay and Jack, grew to manhood, they gradually took over many of the duties connected with it, and relieved their father and mother of much detail.

The Harkeys are proud to present this new and modern building to the public as evidence of their faith in the growth and progress of Carrizozo and Lincoln County. It is the result of many years of hard work and foresighted planning.

Mr. Harkey's two sons, Fay and Jack, are associated with him in business, and to them is ascribed a full measure of credit for the assistance they have given him.

tion against out of city competition. Johnson told council it would be nice in Socorro if they could legislate competition out, but they could not and he did not want them to do so.

He pointed out his firm had proven its responsibility and stability and quoted the following costs in other towns: Magdalena, $10 per year; Hot Springs, $25 per year; Albuquerque, $30 per year. He added Socorro charges an Albuquerque laundry firm $35 per year to operate there.

The Socorro firm does not believe it is practical to establish a local agency, and said without the Buldosa turn-around the route would not be profitable. Johnson pointed out he had not raised rates despite the increase in his Carrizozo license, and is engaging in fair and clean competition. Council did not appear inclined to change the ordinance and reduce Johnson's license fee.

Councilman Shafer is of the opinion the ordinance should be left on the books as a protection to local businesses. Report made electric meters are being tampered with and also damaged. Council stated meter owners will be held responsible. It appears also that youngsters may be doing some of the damage, and, in such cases, the parents will be held responsible.

The present staff of the Harkey Lumber Company includes: Luciano Gallegos, Art Posey, Otto Lowe, Antonio Lueras, Mabel Otero.

The Harkey Lumber Company express their warm appreciation to friends and customers who have stood by them through the years, and helped make their dream a reality.

John Harkey and family cordially invite residents of Lincoln County and vicinity to drop in on opening day—August 5—have some coffee with them, and look around. Store hours on August 5 are from 1 to 8 P. M.

Harkey Greeted Many Visitors

Personnel of the Harkey Lumber Company, Carrizozo, relaxed Monday after weeks of preparation for the formal opening of their new home, which took place Saturday, August 5, and was a marked success.

Registered adult visitors for the prizes which were awarded numbered 533. In addition to this group were many children and teenagers who were not registered.

Attending an out-of-town representative of business firms whose products are handled by the Harkey company were Bill Paschich, Shapleigh Hardware Company, El Paso; Walsh Miles and Al Atkins, Momen, Dunnegan and Ryan, El Paso, and O. W. Breyer and L. M. Willis, Southwestern Sash and Door Company, El Paso. In addition, some out-of-the-county guests attended.

Practically all of the business firms in Carrizozo as well as the Atlas Lime Company, El Paso, extended congratulations to the Harkey firm through the medium of this paper. The Atlas Lime Company are the manufacturers of the clinker-concrete block of which the new building is constructed.

Baskets of flowers, gifts of friends and well wishers, accentuated the lovely pastel interior of the new store.

On display were General Electric, Crosley and Philco refrigerators; General Electric, Universal and Sunbeam traffic appliances; All American steel kitchen, and model bathrooms. In addition there were various displays of sporting goods; household and kitchen ware; paint; fine china; and general lines of hardware.

The exterior building is clinker-concrete block stuccoed white with terra cotta trim. Stucco walls of pastel blue and insulated tile ceiling form the interior. The floor is gray tile highlighted by touches of color. The knotty pine offices with furniture of the same wood are particularly effective against their attractive background.

The company personnel received guests from 1 to 9 P. M., during which hours a steady stream of visitors viewed the new building and attractive displays of merchandise, and parking space near the store was practically impossible to find.

Each visitor was given a door prize upon entering the store, and adult guests were registered by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lemon, Carrizozo.

Mrs. Jack Harkey, Ralph Petty and Fay Harkey presided at the refreshment table which was cleverly draped in red and white crepe paper with decorations of aluminum foil paper tools. Gallons of coffee and punch were consumed during the celebration in addition to platters of delicious home baked cup cakes of various kinds and frosted with colored icings.

The hour of 8 P. M. had been designated by the company as the time when awards of valuable merchandise would be made absolutely free. As the hour approached interest intensified and the comments of many were "I'd like to win one of those prizes."

The Alamogordo man who had been chosen as master of ceremonies was unable to be present and it was necessary to secure a substitute shortly before the awards were scheduled to be made. Al Poney and E. E. Lemon replaced the regular master of ceremonies. Holding aloft a round box covered in aluminum foil and decorated with red crepe paper, the men announced it contained the stubs of tickets received by registered guests. The two men then took turns at shaking it vigorously and handed it over to the small

Lions Club Plans Fair Queen Contest

At a meeting of the directors of the Carrizozo Lions Club Thursday evening, August 10, final details for their sponsorship of a Lincoln County entrant for State Fair Queen were completed. The local club will announce final plans in next week's issue of The News-Outlook.

Contestants for the county selection must be single; between the ages 16 to 20, inclusive; and must be permanent residents of Lincoln County. Entrants will be judged solely upon their riding ability and southwestern personality. These rules and regulations have been set by the State Fair officials.

The girl selected from Lincoln County will be the guest of the State Fair at Albuquerque from September 23 to October 1.

It is expected all counties in New Mexico will be represented. Contestants will be chaperoned during their stay in Albuquerque and their rooms and meals will be paid by the State Fair.

Each county representative must furnish her own horse, as well as transportation for herself and horse to Albuquerque and return.

The girls' costumes for the entire week will be western attire. It is pointed out by the State Fair this is not a beauty contest, and only western clothes will be worn by the girls, and there will be positively no need for street or evening dresses and accessories.

State Fair Queen contestants will ride in the Grand Parade Saturday morning, September 23. Governor Thomas J. Mabry will make the official declaration of the opening of the New Mexico State Fair, after which the queen will be chosen by the judges.

Plans are underway to have a talent scout from Hollywood on hand to judge the girls on their personality, and offer judges will decide their riding ability. Only one girl, of course, can receive the coveted title of Queen, but the others will be known as the Westernettes.

The queen and her Westernettes will ride in the Grand Rodeo entry every evening, as well as participate in many other State Fair events. They will also assist in presenting the awards and ribbons given to winners of the numerous contests.

Girls between the ages 16 to 20, inclusive, who wish to compete for the honor of being chosen the Lincoln County contestant for State Fair Queen should address a signed letter of application to The Lincoln County News-Outlook, Carrizozo. Proof of age must accompany each application. Each letter of application must show the applicant is single; a permanent resident of Lincoln County, N. M.; between the ages 16 to 20 inclusive; can furnish her own horse; and furnish transportation for herself and horse to Albuquerque and return.

All letters will be turned over to the local Lions Club for processing. Members of the committee in charge of the Lincoln County contest for a State Fair Queen entry are: Fred H. English, Friday Sherrill and Marvin Roberts.

A closing date for entrance in the Lincoln County contest has not yet been announced, but contestants are urged to submit applications as soon as possible.

Her gown of white chantilly lace, fashioned in ballerina length, featured a low rounded neckline with an off-shoulder collar, fitted bodice and tiered skirt. She wore a strand of seed pearls and the white net crown which held her fingertip illusion veil was bordered with seed pearls. Her bouquet was composed of white baby orchids, fleur de l'amour, and stephanotis.

Lost, Strayed Or Stolen—One Man From Mars

Was the Man from Mars so adept at magic he transported himself out of Carrizozo before he was out? His show, scheduled to appear at the local grade school auditorium August 4, has not yet been seen.

Superintendent L. Z. Manire reported some individuals arrived at the school about 7 A. M. the morning of the 4th, announced the stage was too small, and departed saying they would return shortly.

It was reported the troupe breakfasted at a local restaurant, after which they apparently staged a disappearing act. Their advertisements featured a mystery act among others. Evidently the disappearing act was the only one Carrizozo was scheduled to see.

'Smoky' Joins AAA School Safety Patrol

Smoky, the bear cub now living in the Washington Zoo, who was found with burned feet clinging to a tree and whose parents were believed to have died in the forest fire which swept the Capitan Mountain early this summer, this week became a member of the American Automobile Association school safety patrol.

In the presence of Dr. William M. Mann, zoo director, and Raymond E. Marsh, acting chief of the U. S. Forest Service, George E. Hammond, safety and education director of the AAA, presented Smoky with his membership card, white canvas, Sam Brown belt and a shiny new badge.

Three boys and one girl member of the District of Columbia school safety patrol were present when Smoky was initiated. "These boys and girls are teaching lessons in safety on the streets and highways just as this New Mexico bear, Smoky, is teaching lessons in safety in our national forests and parks," said Hammond.

Smoky will appear on the cover of the "American Motorist" magazine published by the AAA, he added.

Beauty Contest To Be Held Here

The next month apparently is going to be a busy one for contestants who want the title of queen.

The local Lions Club is announcing plans for the sponsorship of a Lincoln County entrant for State Fair Queen, and the Woman's Club of Carrizozo reports it will hold a contest to select a beauty queen in Lincoln County.

Mrs. Winzell (Pinkie) Rickerson, president of the club, stated plans are not yet completed and further details will be given to The News-Outlook for next week's issue.

The mayor of each town that enters a contestant will be asked to serve as one of the judges.

Tentative plans call for girls between the ages of 16-20, inclusive, and they will be judged upon posture, personality and natural beauty. The girls will be requested to wear formal attire.

Each girl should be sponsored by a business man, according to Mrs. Rickerson, and the entrance fee is set at $2.50.

The ceremony for crowning of the queen is for August 26 at a time to be announced later. Red Brown, radio artist on KROD, El Paso, is expected to be here for the ceremony, and will also announce the contestants and sponsors over his morning program on the El Paso station.

The Precipitation Research Corporation, an organization composed of ranchers and farmers in Lincoln and Socorro Counties, is cooperating with the Socorro School of Mines in research work on rainmaking, according to Roy Shafer, secretary.

Shafer reports their group has been doing considerable cloud seeding with apparently some success.

Mr. Shafer stated the corporation is set up on a year-around basis, and hopes to increase snowfall in winter as well as rain in summer.

The corporation plans to send letters in the near future to all business firms, ranchers and farmers in the vicinity outlining the program and soliciting membership.

The organization is hopeful of a generous response, as the cost is small compared to the possible benefits to be derived.

Lincoln Day Attracts Crowd

The historic days of Old Lincoln Town were re-enacted last Sunday for an audience of several thousand people. Once the county seat and hub of activity in Lincoln County, the peaceful little village is a far cry from the turbulent days of yesteryear when violence was the order of the day.

The annual celebration was first planned by Colonel Maurice G. Fulton, supervisor of the Court House Museum, as a memorial to the Lincoln County pioneers. It is sponsored by the Lincoln County Historical Society under the leadership of Wilbur Coe, president; Bert Pflingten, vice chairman, and Mrs. Ruth Penfield Martin, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Caroline Davis wrote and directed the pageant on the "Last Escape of Billy the Kid," and John Davis, her husband, played the part of Billy the Kid.

That the annual re-enactment of the dramatic and colorful history of Lincoln County has aroused national interest is forcibly brought to attention by the appearance this year of members of the staff of Life Magazine. That magazine sent a writer and photographer to cover all the events programmed for the day-long celebration. Flash bulbs were exploding all over the place as the photographer dashed to various points of vantage to take pictures of the performers in action.

Shortly before noon, oldtimers in this area began arriving in Lincoln and to their number were added visitors from New Mexico and elsewhere, who traveled from far and near to view the colorful dramatization of the early history of Lincoln County.

Many brought basket lunches which were shared by old friends and neighbors as they chatted about bygone days. Others ate at the Lincoln School where food was served from 11 A. M. to 7 P. M., and refreshment stands were located at various places throughout the grounds.

A continuous program of entertainment during the afternoon hours was provided, which included vocal and instrumental selections as well as many dance numbers, by both local and out-of-town artists.

Ray Reed and his Lincoln County boys dedicated one of their numbers to Ray Bell, former game warden in this area. The theme of the song was significant of the deer hunting season.

Joy Mable, Picacho, sang several numbers for which she received a big hand. A Chicago radio artist substituted for Louise Massey Mable, mother of Joy Mable, and sang "Adobe Hacienda," the song written several years ago by Mrs. Mable.

The song proved so successful it was featured as one of the top tunes on the Hit Parade for months. Other entertainers included W. C. Massey, Roswell; Stockley brothers, Roswell; Sheldon Taylor, San Patricio; Wilbur Coe, Glencoe; Bruce Griffin, and Mrs. Jay Gould, Hondo. The Spanish polka performed by Hilaro Gomez and Lupe, the little Spanish lady who is in her nineties, and has never been farther from Lincoln than Capitan and Picacho, drew many admiring comments.

The Spanish quadrille performed by a group of Lincoln County residents was another number well received by the audience. Those who know the complicated routine of this dance are

Polio: A Multiple Mystery

By HELEN NASH WHITEHEAD
 Polio and summer are becoming synonymous. Last summer polio struck the United States with epidemic intensity that indicated the disease was a far greater challenge to the human race than had heretofore been believed. There were 48,000 cases, or double the average for the previous years, which increased in certain areas at the rate of 4,200 a week, for which the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis spent $27,000,000 on patient care alone. This amount represented the money collected during the annual March of Dimes the previous January. This was not enough and for the first time in its 11-year history, the foundation had to launch an emergency drive to raise $14,000,000 more.

At the same time that officials of the U. S. Public Health Service and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis report that they are better than ever equipped. They also announce that they are preparing for what looks like the worst polio summer in the history of the U. S.

The epidemic of 1949 may have been the peak of a wave, followed by a recession during the present year and possibly a second year, but there is no guarantee that the wave may not rise higher before receding, or that after a recession the next wave will not top all former records. Reports so far this year are pessimistic, too—from Colorado comes the belief the incidence will be higher, Colorado reports a boy ill with polio, six El Paso children stricken and so on. As a precaution measure Albuquerque put on a "blanket drive" for worn blankets of 60 per cent or more of wool. According to the director the response was wonderful.

Both the national agencies have established maximum alerts to send aid into stricken areas. The foundation also has its finger tips on names and location of all available personnel and necessary equipment, such as iron lungs. During the 1949 epidemic, the foundation shipped to emergency areas 620 respirators, 493 hot pack machines, 320 cribs and mattresses, 83 beds and mattresses, 4,753 pounds of wool for hot packing. It also recruited for emergency duty 153 physical therapists, 2,427 specially trained nurses, 10 consultants of the Joint Orthopedic Nursing Advisory Service, four epidemiologists, four polio aid teams and 34 resident physicians.

The Public Health Service have teams of doctors and scientists ready to be sent immediately to epidemic areas. Their first job is to ascertain whether local doctors have made an accurate evaluation of the seriousness of an outbreak. There are several diseases which resemble polio but which do not have its crippling effects. Outbreaks of these less serious diseases have sometimes been incorrectly called polio epidemics, panicking a city or area. Local doctors have also made the reverse estimate of an outbreak, underestimating its seriousness.

The next job of the PHS workers is research in an outbreak area, whose ultimate goal is to try to find out just how the disease is transmitted from one person to another. This is the stumbling block and this lack of knowledge is the biggest mystery of all about polio. It is possible that it spreads from close association—sleeping in the same room, kissing, using the same wash cloth or a youngster may unthinkingly share an ice cream cone by taking a lick.

Then why doesn't whole families get the disease when one member is stricken, someone asked? They do in a sense. In a Fort Worth outbreak the virus was found in 75 per cent of the family associated with the victim, 18 per cent of non-family contacts. It has been shown that during an epidemic at least 100 persons are carrying polio virus for every one that is attacked.

Nature provides a cushioning effect against a sudden vast upsurge of the disease, in the form of a natural immunity which is conferred probably by exposure to the disease and an efficient defense mechanism in the bodies of those who achieve this immunity. About 80 per cent of the population is estimated to have such immunity.

If 80 per cent were immune to all three types there would still be 30,000,000 persons in the country susceptible to any one or all three types. One out of every 10,000 susceptible individuals in the country acquired the disease last summer, but only a very small fraction of the 30,000,000, however, were exposed to contact danger. In the areas where epidemics were prevalent the ratio was of the order of 100 times as great, but specific figures cannot be given as the number of susceptible individuals in a community and the extent of exposure are not known.

Scientists know that there are three kinds of infantile paralysis, which are produced by three viruses known as the Lansing, Brunhilde and Leon types. Within these types there are additional variants. Dr. James E. Salk, University of Pittsburgh, says. The disease produced by any one of the three viruses cannot be distinguished from each other by patient symptoms alone, but only by testing the viruses.

These tiny organisms cause paralysis by attacking the nerve cells in the brain and spinal cord that control muscle action. The disease varies widely in intensity; of all diagnosed cases about 8 per cent die and 15 per cent are left paralyzed. The rest recover with little or no ill effects. And for every diagnosed case there are probably 50 too mild to have been recognized.

The fact that half of the cases produce mild transient symptoms indicates that much larger numbers acquire the disease in still milder form, so that they do not require treatment for paralytic or other symptoms. Their illness may not be identified as infantile paralysis at all, but considered just stiffness in the muscles in a child or an upset stomach. Such cases can infect others who do not possess so effective immunity response and who may develop full paralytic symptoms.

Postpone if possible the removal of tonsils or any other operation about the nose, throat or mouth during an epidemic. Accent cleanliness, especially hand-washing before eating. Fight flies as these pests have been found carrying polio virus and avoid chilling and over fatigue.

Before the late President Franklin Roosevelt was stricken in 1921, he cruised up to Campbell, exhausting himself at the wheel of a yacht during a heavy storm. Then he went sailing, helped fight a forest fire, took a long swim in the icy waters of the Bay of Fundy and sat chatting with his family in a wet bathing suit. That night he became ill; two days later his legs were paralyzed.

Polio is one of the most expensive diseases known to medical science. It is estimated that it costs $2,000 to provide the necessary treatment for the average patient. One patient, Bird-sall Sweet, who was stricken at 13, spent 18 years in an iron lung at the rate of $100 a week. This is the longest iron lung battle in medical history.

Realizing the need for concerted effort to eliminate this dreadful epidemic, Roosevelt founded the National Foundation to lead the fight against polio. Funds are voluntary contributions, collected during the annual March of Dimes. Since its establishment the foundation, which does not maintain its own research laboratory, has authorized $41,781,531 as of December 31, 1948, to various institutions throughout the country for investigations on the cause, prevention and cure of polio.

In addition there are many independent efforts being made which is the only way in which to banish forever the mysterious scourge of polio.

FORT STANTON

By HELEN NASH-WHITEHEAD

Fort Stanton was certainly a deserted place last Sunday after everyone left for Lincoln, where "oldtimers" celebrated their annual "Billy the Kid" play and pageant. In addition to a large cast of between 150 and 200 persons, several thousand spectators jammed the little town to relive this colorful period of another era. According to those who have seen the show before, this year's performance was the best and there were numerous comments on the professional quality of the acting.

Mary Nell Taegar gave Caroline Davis a competent hand in the makeup department.

The Fort Stanton and Captain Boy Scouts did a bang-up job with their parking concessions, too, netting $120 which, after it is divided between two troops, will be used for pup tents. Mr. Baker and the 12 boys from the Fort left in the morning, cooked their meal of hamburgers, beans, etc., over a campfire and emptied five cases of pop during the day. The youngsters arrived home tired, but happy and some slept through the next day until noon.

The Lincoln School cleared about $500 on their plate supper, which will boost their fund for new indoor toilet facilities, according to Mrs. Clarence Boyd, who worked indefatigably to make it a success.

The Clarence Boyds took off for a 10-day vacation in Greeley, Colo.

Dr. Richard P. Waggoner, our surgical consultant from Roswell, flew into our new "airport"

Tuesday morning to operate on L. H. Merrell.

Dr. Rodger MacQuigg, Lovelace Clinic, Albuquerque, came Wednesday to do the second stage thoracoplasty on Wozencraft. This is the patient who was up and about in record time after the first half of the operation. Good luck again!

Chief Nurse Miss Young and Mrs. Stemmer went El Paso-Juarez shopping with the Ray Bakers Friday and Saturday.

Mike Koyal was El Paso-Juarez bound over the weekend.

The dairy farm has been undergoing a face-lifting. The project includes rebuilding barn, fences, new water troughs and gates, all to make the animals contented. Even the little calves have a place to themselves and last but not least—we have a new bull bringing our total to two.

The pharmacy too has been streamlined which will bring Leo Payman's storage space into one compact unit which will certainly make for more efficiency. At the moment his storage facilities are so far away he says he spends a great deal of time walking back and forth.

The Kuslanovich family are off on a three-week jaunt by car to Florida and Georgia where they will visit relatives.

Chief Dietitian Ruth Ostrander has just returned to duty after a month's vacation to her home in Washington state.

The Misses Young and McCollum went to Gallup for the weekend to attend the annual Indian tribal rites and dances.

Mrs. Henrietta Macnair is working in the main office while hubby "Chuck," a B-29 pilot, has rejoined Uncle Sam's military forces.

Among the many folks who stopped by on their way to the Lincoln Day festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Kinnard, co-editors of this paper—The News-Outlook, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Broxon of El Paso; which reminds me that, if you haven't sent in your subscription already won't you do it today? See either Frank E. Smith or your correspondent. Isn't it worth $2 to keep posted on the "doings" in the county?

Mike Gameroz, a paratrooper on leave, visited the Fort Monday with his father, Ralph, and Ralph Jr. This is Mike's first visit home in four years.

The Whites enjoyed a family reunion for the first time in many years—George was here from Beaumont, Texas; Willette returned from a cruise, flew into Roswell from the coast, picked up Ethlyn, thereby making the family circle complete.

The Paymans have had Mrs. Payman's sister, Miss Jane Hilligas of Buffalo, N. Y., for a week's

"There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us, that it's hard to tell which one of us ought to reform the rest of us."—Ex.

The traffic safety record for the state of New Mexico, while considerably improved over the last three years, is still not good. Our record on the whole is better than that in five western states, but it is not as good as in four of these states. This leaves us in the unenviable position of being between good and bad.

While authorities agree that it is not fair to compare the record of the western states, which have a high proportion of tourist travel, with other areas, we still have great latitude for improvement. The whole nation is alarmed at the tragic toll of lives taken each year in traffic accidents.

In 1946, the death rate per 100 million highway miles traveled was 13.9. In 1949, the rate had dropped to 10.1, which was a decrease of 28.3 per cent in three years. During the last year there have been improvements made in nearly all categories of safety operation, but the improvements have not been great enough.

We are not strong on rural accident reporting. The law requires that every accident involving property damage of more than $25 shall be reported to the Drivers Licensing Division. This is not being done as it should be.

In order to strengthen the entire program, I have named a new committee to study all phases of the traffic problem and to draw an entire new safety code which will strengthen all of our legislation pertaining to traffic safety. I am also asking this committee to make recommendations to be submitted to the next legislature.

Last year there were 245 persons killed in traffic accidents in our state. This was nine fewer than were killed in 1948 and 15 fewer than were killed in 1946, but this number still is far too great and is a stigma on our record. New Mexico wants to be at the top in its safety program.

I am not trying to assess blame. The state itself must have the cooperation of all governing bodies, as well as all organizations and individuals to be a success. We must achieve a better safety record.

becoming fewer. Long before time for the presentation of the pageant people gathered to insure themselves good seats. Since the seating capacity on the old courthouse grounds is limited, many were forced to spread blankets or newspapers on the ground. Much work was expended in the construction of the little replica of Old Lincoln used as a background for the action which takes place. The pageant was presented by some 200 men and women and children of Lincoln County, dressed in authentic costume, and well versed by tradition in the style of the story presented. The play was built around the life of the central character of the times, William H. Bonney, and traces the life of the young gunman from his entrance into Lincoln County as a youth of 16 to his escape from the Lincoln County courthouse in 1881 at the age of 21. Scenes included "The Horrell Brothers' Revenge," "Billy the Kid and Tunstall," "The Death of Buckshot Roberts," "Governor Wallace's Appeal to Billy the Kid to Lay Down His Arms," and "The Last Escape of Billy the Kid." Frank Smith of Fort Stanton gave the voice of Old Man Gauss, Juan Patron, Buckshot Roberts, Governor Wallace. Frank in recovering from a long illness, and returned from Florida mainly to take part in a Day in Old Lincoln. He was assisted by Arthur Anderson of Bonnell's Ranch who gave the voice of John Chisum. The narrator was George Walsh of Roswell. The voice of Billy the Kid was given by Henry Latham, San Antonio. Ed Ponds of England was the voice of Tunstall. Soft music was played by Ray Reed and his boys throughout the pageant. The actors, all Lincoln County residents, enacted their parts with realism and perfect timing. Many of them are descendants of those who fought in the Lincoln County war, and the manner in which the various characters were played would have been a credit to professional players. Audience appreciation of the work of the actors was high, and when the last round of ammunition had been fired and the smoke of battle cleared away, many admiring remarks were overheard as the spectators dispersed. Apparently the thought in many minds was the rugged and dangerous life lived by these early pioneers, who worked so hard for the civilization we take for granted.
