By Thomas & Mabry GOVERNÓR.

There is no disputing the fact that all the free world today is tense, and uncertainty and frustration confronts us wherever men-hoping and working for peace-turn. But out of it al comes the brighter picture of more unity, less partisanship and more dependence on our experts in the military and diplomatic Helds. Let's hope and pray that a solution will be found, and in the meantime we civilians at home must prepare for our own defence.

Civilian defense against disasters of all kinds is one of the most important problems facing our state today. We were caught short in World War I; we were caught short at Pearl Harbor and we were again caught short in Korea. We must not be found unprepared in case of another worldwide catastrophe.

New Mexico's planning for cl villan defense is progressing. At the present time most of the larger cities have completed a civilian do lo no o organization. While the state civilian defence council and the civilian defence director are co-ordinating all work done by local organizations in the state, it is in the final analysis up to the local commu nities to perfect their own civillan defense plans; at least that is what we have been told by Washington up to this time. I am in hopes that Congress will give us more aid, particularly in the strategic spots like one or two we have here in New Mexico.

We hope that war is not just around the corner. We are merely buying insurance which we hope we will not have to use, but it will have countless lives should disaster strike our state.

I have been very gratified with the co-operation New Mexico has neceived from many organizations and groups, as well as from rown and city councils. The Loy twouts of America, the Girl twouts of America, organized laum, the Medical Association, tho Hospital Association, the American Legion and other organiza. tions have come forward and ofiered the state their facilities and their co-operation in setting up a civilian defence program.

The board has also advanced funds to the New Mexico Western Collège at Silver City to conduct a state. wide program for training fire fighters. Fires will be one of our chici hozardo in caso of emorgency.

The next legislature will be called upon to provide funds for civilian defense activities and 1 hopo adequate fundo are made avallable.

The American Red Cross has offered its statewide cervices to all individuals who desire to take first aid training courses. It has also voluntegred its sorvices in training student nurses. Every adult in Now Mexico should be trained to give first aid. Such training should be obtained even though there was no pessibility of any general disaster.

FORT STANTON By FRANK E. SMITH

According to word from New York, Dr. and Mrs. Whitehead arrived in that city in the middle of the howling storm that played such havoc with many of the football games, They had to stay on Eilis Island for three days.

The blessed event for the David Coopers happened around midnight Friday, December 1 when a baby boy weighing 71% pounds was delivered by Dr. Pruitt of Roswell at St. Mary's Hospital. The mother and Bobby Burns are both getting along fine. Due to an attack of the flu, Dr. Cooper was not on hand and had to wait until the next day when Bur R. S. New Mexico Magazine Features Villa Raid

Although more than 34 years have passed since Pancho Villa raided Columbus, N. M., "the real cause of the raid still remains an unsolved mystery," one of the eye-witnesses to the raid writes in the December issue of New Mexico Magazine.

Roy E. / Stivison, M. D. of fenaha, Texas, was serving as school principal at Columbus orior to graduation from medical school when the raid occurred on March 9, 1916. He tells how he and his wife "spent three hours, of agony and terror listening to occasional bullets striking the house, and to flendish shouts of 'Viva Villa! Viva Mexico. Muerte los gringos."

The article goes on to describe he death and destruction, the gram for the Fort Stanton school neroism, of the telephone operachildren by the home and school or, and descriptions of other

Veterans Administration

Veterans Administration cautions veterans buying homes to be sure they fully understand any contract or document thepyare asked to sign, before they risk a deposit or down payment on a house. Inquires to V-A from veterans ndicate they have experienced a variety of difficulties in attempting to buy homes with the ald of V-A guaranteed loans. In most cases, V.A said, the difficulty arose from the veterans' failure to read and understand the sale contracts and other papers which they signed.

Most complaints center upon documents which veterans find later are only reservations to purchase, and not firm sale contracts, or upon "escalator" and "hostility" clauses included in sales agreements.

While there is nothing illegal in the action of the seller, V-A explained, complaining veterans are convinced they have been cheated, and have requested V-A. to protect them. Actually, there is little V-A can do once a veteran has entered into an agreement with a seller. A contract or sales agréement is a private matter over which V-A has no control. Consequently, V-A urges veterans to J. W.
