CAPITAN

By ANN EARLING

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Anderson have just returned from a two weeks trip to Dallas and Wichita Falls. While in Dallas the Andersons attended a banquet for retired telephone employes, held at the Melrose Hotel there.

Floyd Sandoval, S. A., attached to the U. S. S. Kenneth Whitling A. V. 14, a plane tender based at San Francisco, is home on an eight-day leave.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Howard celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary on Saturday, Dec.
29. They received many messages of congratulations from relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Ackerman left for Pueblo, Colo., to attend the funeral of their grandson.
On Christmas Day, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morgan held open house to their many friends. Refreshments were served throughout the afternoon.

The American Legion Auxiliary distributed baskets of food to eight families at Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bancroft were hosts to their many friends that called at their home on Christmas Day. Refreshments were served throughout the afternoon.

Mrs. Roy Morgan underwent an operation at the Carrizozo hospital on Thursday, Dec. 27.
Reports are she is getting along nicely.

Mrs. Ed Guck, my co-worker on this paper, has also checked into the Carrizozo hospital. I hope you will be home at this reading, Dorothy, because I understand the mister is having a time braiding little Mary's hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Digger, now residing in Arizona, are the proud parents of a baby boy, born on Dec. 21.

On New Year's Day, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferris held open house to their many friends.
Refreshments were served between 5 and 7 P. M.

Judge Thomas F. Murphy to Direct Administration's House Cleaning

SCANDAL—Thomas F. Murphy, a New York federal judge, will direct President Truman's non-partisan commission which will attempt to clean up the present administration before the coming election campaign. Murphy is an old hand at investigations. He formerly directed the criminal section of the U S attorney's office in New York and prior to being elevated to the bench, served for a time as commissioner of New York's huge police force.

As things now stand, the President is taking personal charge of the cleanup campaign. However, administration critics, as well as some of its supporters, believe that corruption in government as revealed in the past few years has ruined the Democratic party's chance of re-election.

The postwar rash of investigations started when evidence of skull duggery was revealed in the disposal of surplus war property. Almost immediately afterwards a probe was started of "five-percenters"—men who peddled influence and obtained juicy government contracts for a fee. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was next in the headlines for flagging loans. This resulted in a shakeup in the agency and the naming of a single new administrator, W. Stuart Symington. Even Democratic National Chairman William J. Boyle figured in the probe and resigned as a result.

The R.F.C. scandal was still making news when the special congressional tax investigating committee plowed into the Bureau of Internal Revenue, resulting in sensational disclosures of "tax fixing" and in fluence peddling.

It was evident the President had this sordid history in mind when he announced he planned to establish a special house-cleaning agency and that wrongdoers will be ousted "no matter who they are or how big they are."

The President's action, however, is not likely to lessen the criticism of his administration. To the contrary, it could mean a fresh wave of embarrassing exposures, particularly if the probe is pushed as vigorously as the President says he intends. And if the probes show any sign of heel-dragging, there will be plenty of Republicans ready to prod them along.

It would seem, then, that the people in the home towns of America can expect further disclosures of corruption in government, perhaps more sensational than already revealed during the past few years. One GOP strategist has summed up the situation pretty well: "If this thing really gets rolling, it could make Teapot Dome look like a tea party."

TRUCE TALKS—The Korean peace talks hit a snag of vital importance and interest to home towners who have relatives fighting in Korea—the exchange of prisoners. The Communists refused to list the prisoners, or even to say how many they held. Until they do, the UN has refused to talk on the subject of prisoner exchange.

It may be the Communists will change their tactics and produce the prisoner list before this reaches print. If they do, the UN will then be concerned about the location of the camp and the exchange method.

There are 11,000 Americans and 1,600 British and other UN troops missing in Korea. Under the head of "alleged missing" (but not UN) are about 42,500 South Koreans. UN forces hold 153,000 of the enemy, of whom 48,000 are Chinese.

When the prisoners are exchanged, and they must be before there is any final peace in Korea, less than 4,000 can be expected to return, UN officials believe. One UN report recently estimated that nearly 8,000 UN soldiers have died of wounds or atrocities. This would support the general figure of less than 4,000 still being alive.

THE BUDGET—Within the next few weeks the people in the small towns of the nation will hear what the government expects to spend during the fiscal year beginning July 1. The budget is about ready for formal presentation to congress.

Advance reports indicated it may be about $33,000,000,000, although President Truman has spent considerable time trying to prune it below $30 billion on advice of political allies.

Even an $33,000,000,000 outlay would be the biggest in history, except for the two peak years of World War II, when spending peaked at $35,000,000,000. The spending this fiscal year, which will end next June 30, is expected to be about $73,000,000,000.

A number of factors directed "the President's pruning attempts: (1) Military spending must be kept within bounds to retain public support; (2) This year is a presidential campaign year and federal spending, deficits and indebtedness will be an issue; (3) Prospects for a new tax increase to match the rising budget are very dim; (4) Never before have taxes been as high as now.

CEILINGS CUT—Price ceilings on cattle hides, calfskins, carpelings, and rugs have been rolled back by the government. The roll-back amounted to 5 cents a pound on cattle hide and 10 per cent (10 to 15 cents a pound) on calfskin.

The reduction in hide ceiling is not expected to have any effect on the market price of leather or on shoes and other goods made of leather, price officials reported. Leather and shoe prices have been depressed and are lower than existing ceilings.

Meanwhile, a threatened shortage of tires next summer has been averted by the government's decision to stop allocating American made general purpose rubber.

James A. Newman, vice president of the B. F. Goodrich Company says the elimination of government restriction on the consumption of new rubber should make it possible for tire manufacturers to produce at least 71,000,000 passenger tires in 1952, or approximately 5,000,000 more than the probable production of 1951.

BRITAIN TO PAY—The British government has announced payment of $170,250,000 on United States and Canadian loans. The payment has an ironic twist since the British have asked the United States for another $300,000,000 in economic help during the next six months.

Britain owes the United States $4,223,000,000 and Canada $1,123,000,000. She has until the year 2000 to pay off these debts, incurred after World War II had ravaged the British economy. The first installment due on the American loan made in 1946 amounts to $128,500,000. Of this, $37,000,000 represents interest.

Propaganda
Congressman Kersten of Wisconsin played right into Communist hands—by introducing a public amendment to spend $100,000,000 to finance subversive activities behind the Iron Curtain. The Communists are now throwing this in our faces all over Europe. It also gives them an excuse to finance subversive activities in the U.S.A. During World War II, President Roosevelt spent $600,000,000 financing subversives in Germany and Japan.

This is the first picture released of the nation's newest tank, the giant T-36. Ordnance officials say it will outclass any lead-fighting machine ever built, although they will not reveal any statistics. They even photographed it blacked out against the setting sun to safeguard military security.

THREE A CROWD FOR REDS . . . These three pilots have destroyed 14 1/2 enemy planes and damaged six. Major George Davis (left), Hale Center, Texas, is leading jet ace of 4th fighter wing with six enemy craft destroyed. Col. Benjamin Freeston (center), Hollywood, Fla., group commander, has destroyed three, damaged two, while Major Winton Marshall (right), Raleigh, N.C., has destroyed 5 1/2 and damaged four Russian-built fighters. They met here to tally scores.

DEMONSTRATES CHANNEL WING PLANE . . . W. R. Custer, president of Custer Channel Wing Corp., Hagerstown, Md., stands beside his invention, a channel wing plane which was demonstrated in Pittsburgh. Custer says his plane can take off in a few feet, rise vertically, hover in the air, land vertically and attain speed of conventional aircraft. He claims that jet planes with the wing will be able to take off from a battleship.

WEIGH IN NEW MAYOR . . . Following a custom which originated in High Wycombe, England, in 1666, the newly elected mayor of Minneapolis, Minn., Eric C. Beyer, is weighed in before taking office. He will be weighed again when his term is up, and it is found that he has grown fat, it will generally be believed that he has grown wealthy, thereby jeopardizing his chances for re-election. Actual weighing was done with scales flown in from High Wycombe.

Crime in America

By ESTES KEFAUVER
United States Senator
Seventeen of a Series

Costello & Co. of New York

For sheer drama, for wholesale peeling back of deceptive camouflage, the New York City open hearings were the climax of the Senate Committee's crime hunt.

Our final judgment on Ambassador William O'Dwyer's official conduct when he was Kings County district attorney and then mayor of New York, was this:

"Neither he nor his appointees took any effective action against the top echelons of the gambling, narcotics, waterfront, murder or bookmaking rackets. In fact, his actions impeded promising investigations of such rackets."

O'Dwyer was questioned closely in connection with his handling as district attorney, of the wholesale homicide ring known as Murder, Inc. A former O'Dwyer appointee Frank C. Bals, one-time chief investigator for District Attorney O'Dwyer and later the seventh deputy police commissioner when O'Dwyer was mayor, was severely castigated by Senator Tobey.

The controversy was whether O'Dwyer and Bals had mishandled the case in such a manner as to permit Albert (Umbergo) Anastasia alleged boss of the murder ring, to escape prosecution.

Murder, Inc., which the gangsters themselves called "The Combination," was a tightly run crime syndicate which police believe was responsible during the 'thirties for assassinating between 120 and 130 persons throughout the country. It has been charged publicly that Anastasia directed its execution branch and that Joe Adonis was a top leader.

The operations of Murder, Inc. finally came to light when, through confessions of underlings, police obtained iron-clad evidence against Abe (Kid Twist) Reles, who later admitted he actually carried out the murders under Anastasia's orders. Reles made a deal with O'Dwyer to turn informer in exchange for leniency information he gave sent eight men to the chair and some 60 others to prison.

But before Kid Twist could testify against Anastasia who was eluding arrest, the informer met a mysterious death. Reles was under protective custody, not in jail, but in the suite of a Coney Island hotel. Early one morning while supposedly guarded by six policemen, Reles, fully clothed, went out of his hotel window and was found dead five stories below. Out the window with him went the case against Anastasia.

Bals admitted that Reles was so frightened of gang-reprisals that it was unlikely he intended to escape; also that "he was too much of a coward to commit suicide."

When Senator Tobey also later declared he believed Reles must have been thrown from the window, demanded an explanation of what had happened, Bals finally came up with the remarkable theory that the killer-informer must have intended to climb down one floor on a knitted bed sheet, come in a window and then trot back up to "kidd around" with his guards, who had fallen asleep.

Even O'Dwyer later said he could not go along with Bals on the "peek-a-boo" theory.

The fact remained that somehow, whether through carelessness or design, not only was the star witness against Anastasia eliminated, but Anastasia himself never was apprehended, although the Committee learned that he actually was serving in the United States Army—and the fact was no secret—during part of the time he was supposed to be a fugitive.

Moreover, another O'Dwyer appointee, James Moran, then chief clerk of the district attorney's office, had caused withdrawal from police files of the "wanted notice" cards for Anastasia and other Murder, Inc., fugitives.

Anastasia, who entered this country by illegally jumping ship now as a partner in a prosperous dress manufacturing business in Hazelton, Pa., and lives in a $63,000 home in New Jersey. He replied, "I don't remember" when we asked him to name any occupation he had engaged in between 1919 and 1942.

As for Joe Adonis, the committee found him one of the toughest, most contemptuous of all the racketeers we questioned. Like others, Adonis knew all the big boys of crime, and followed the gangster circuit of Miami in the winter, Hot Springs ("for d'bat's," he told us) in the Spring.

This man with blood-stained hands for years had set himself up as bigger than the law and was able to get away with it—until, in the wake of the Committee hearings, he was sent to prison on the New Jersey gambling charges. Previously, he had been arrested many times on charges ranging from grand larceny to kidnaping and extortion, but had paid only insignificant fines.

Adonis is slick and smooth, an extensively tailored figure with iron-gray hair pomaded into a Hollywood type hair-do. His voice was deep and gruff, but the words that came from his mouth were mostly windy, meaningless, legalistic phrases which sounded like the words of his counsel.

A bizarre picture of still another phase of underworld life was given by the former Virginia Hill, now Mrs. Hans Hauser, the once-striking, erstwhile consort of the murdered Bugsy Siegel and other gangsters. The strain of her life she had led since she ran away to Chicago at 17 from her little Alabama town has taken its toll. Now 33, and plumpish she no longer is the captivating figure who once charmed such gangsters as Siegel, Adonis and Frank Costello.

She told a fantastic story of how she collected an annual income that ran into thousands of dollars from "the man I was around"—only, she indignantly insisted, they were not gangsters or racketeers.

When she began living with the late Ben Siegel—her eyes flashed indignantly when Counsel Halley referred to him as "Bugsy"—the gifts ran into big money and even to "a house in Florida" costing $40,000.

Halley questioned Miss Hill about a famous six weeks she spent at Sun Valley, where, incidentally, she met her latest husband, a skiing instructor. In six weeks, she squandered $12,000—all but $1,000 of it paid in cash. Most of the money came from some Mexican gentlemen whose names she refused to reveal, as Halley suggested, "out of chivalry."

Her income tax return shows that she used to report large winnings from betting on the horses, anywhere from $10,000 to $24,000 "I didn't keep any books or accounts or anything, but I paid what I thought was right," she explained. When Halley suggested that this sort of tax reporting might seem a little irregular to Uncle Sam, she peevishly snapped: "Well, then, he'll have to take care of that, won't he?"

"Uncle Sam? Maybe to will, Mrs. Hauser," Halley said.

"Well," she retorted in her tough little voice, "that's all right, sure. I don't blame him."

If Bugsy or Joe Adonis or any of her friends would start to talk business around her, she testified, she would just get up and walk away. "Whether you believe it or not," she fared at Halley. "I don't know anything about their business. . . . I didn't want to know."

Of all the witnesses from the crime world summoned before us in New York, Frank Costello was the focal point of interest.

"No, Mr. Halley," Costello said toward the end of his long examination when counsel asked him if he supported a certain judge's candidacy. "Since the Aurelio case I burned my fingers once and I never participated in any candidacies."

It was not a convincing picture that Costello sought to paint of his lack of political influence. "There can be no question," the committee concluded "that Frank Costello has exercised a major influence upon the New York County Democratic organization, Tammany Hall, because of his personal friendships and working relationships with its officers and with Democratic district leaders even today in ten of the sixteen Manhattan districts."

Next week: Smashing the Crime Syndicate.

THE DOCTOR'S HOLIDAY

By Ralph Blanchard

THE FRIENDS of James Keenan often wondered why he should always spend his vacation in so dull and obscure a place as the sleepy little mountain community of Booneville.

For a surgeon, there was little hope of a future in such a place. It was more than merely a love for the mountains that James felt for this community, for had it been only this, he could have found a thousand places more near the city and his hospital.

"I'm not scared, now that you're coming," she answered. "Well, tell me what's wrong." "It's Paw. He's don'thly sick. You've got to come with me."

Army Delivers News to Troops On All Fronts

WASHINGTON—No foxhole is too deep or outpost too remote to prevent "doorstep" delivery of some type of Army newspaper.

More than 250 newspapers—varying from the two-war veteran, professionally-styled tabloid, The Stars and Stripes, to the most crude, make-shift edition of a regiment, battalion or smaller unit publication—are delivered daily to soldiers in all points of the world.

LOST OPPORTUNITY

Young Tommy sat on the curb crying bitterly. An elderly lady, passing by, stopped to console him. "There, there, my little man," she said cheerfully. "What seems to be the trouble?" "My brother, Jerry, drowned our Ginger's kittens," said Tommy, sobbing harder than ever. "Why, how perfectly dreadful," exclaimed the old lady. "But come, now, dry your eyes, and perhaps we can find another kitten." "I don't want another kitten," wailed Tommy, in a cloudburst of tears. "I wanted to drown Ginger's kittens, and now I can't cause Jerry's done it."

No Teams

The other night a radio sports reader was reciting a piece he'd done about the baseball schedule. And he came up with this unusual bit of information. "In the American League," he read authoritatively, "all the western teams invade the east and all the eastern teams go into the west." Leaving, of course, an awkward silence in the schedule in both sections.

He'll Catch Something

A boy, who, instead of going to school had gone fishing, on his way home met one of his school chums. Seeing that the boy was carrying a fishing line, the chum asked: "Catch anything?" "No," replied the boy, "I hain't been home yet."

Neighborhood

A neighborhood is a place where everybody knows not only which men beat their wives but which wives need a beating.

PASSED OFF

A small boy was asked to dine at the home of a distinguished professor. His mother questioned him on his return. "You are sure you didn't do anything that was not perfectly polite?" "Why, no, nothing to speak of." "Then something did happen." "Well, while I was trying to cut the meat it slipped off to the floor. But I made it all right," said the boy. "What did you do?" "Oh, I just said carelessly, 'that's always the way with tough meat.'"

Car Conscience

"Did they offer anything on your old car?" "Sure did. They took one look and offered up a prayer."

Marxism

"How old do you think I am?" Groucho Marx asked a contactant. "Oh, I'd say you were going on 50." "I'm going on ponticilla," was Groucho's retort. "And I make my own. I scrape it off moldy old jokes."

OBBLIGING

The ardent young butter drew his girl's young brother aside. "Jimmy," he said, "how would you like to earn some pocket money for yourself?" "Love to," came from the youth. "What do you want me to do?" "Well," said the lover, lowering his voice, "I'll give you a quarter if you can get me a lock of your sister's hair."

Say It's Not So

Lady of the house: "You know I think my husband is having an affair with his stenographer." Maid: "I don't believe it. You're just trying to make me jealous."

NOT SO REMARKABLE

Shortly after World War I, an artist painted a European battle scene which created a stir in artistic circles. One critic, who had passed the painting, remarked: "I understand that you have never been to Europe. Under the circumstances, that makes your picture even more remarkable." "Why?" replied the artist. "Do you suppose Leonardo da Vinci attended the Last Supper?"

How to Find Christ Lesson for January 6, 1933

NOT every one finds Christ in just the same way. This was true at the beginning and it is still true. A very interesting recent book is, "These Found the Way," edited by David W. Soper. (Westminster Press, Philadelphia, $2.50.) It contains the stories of a dozen modern persons who have become Christians. No two of them have the same story to tell, yet there is something in common among all of them.

Each of them in some way has "found" Christ. It is a mistake to think that all Christians must be cast in the same mold, or that each of us must plant his feet exactly in the footprints (for example) of St. Paul.

Sensational Conversions

At the beginning of John's gospel we find the story of one person after another who followed Christ. There is only one of these who believed in Jesus on the basis of what could be called a "supernatural" experience. This was John the Baptist. He testified that he had "seen the Spirit" (that is, God's Spirit) coming upon Jesus.

Whatever you make of it, John was an exception. All the others in the story became followers of Jesus through some one's word, suggestion, invitation; some one introduced them to Christ. That still is true.

Very few people who are Christians today started out with some vision in the sky, some vision of a dove or an angel or of Christ himself (like Paul, later on).

Simpler Cases JUST as likely, it was not spectacular at all. (Most of the conversions recorded in the New Testament were not in the least spectacular.)

It was some one saying, "Let's go to church," or it was a Sunday school teacher saying, "Bill, isn't it time you accepted Christ for yourself?" or a girl saying, "How can I marry a fellow that isn't even a Christian?"

However it comes about, two things are always true. First, some one introduces you to Jesus. Then, you make the decision for yourself. You are not likely to come to Christ unless some one else suggests it and helps you; but no other person however good, and no church however great and true, can do for you what you alone can do for yourself: make up your own mind to say "Yes" to Jesus Christ.

Nowadays much is said about "Fellowship Evangelism." There is nothing mysterious about it. For instance, a man who has never thought about becoming a Christian and perhaps no intention of being one, joins (say) a men's club at some church. . . . and one thing leads to another, and he gets acquainted in this way with the minister or with some one else who has had a real and happy experience with Christ. . . . and presently his heart is stirred and he too becomes a Christian—because he has made Christian friends.

Saying a Good Word YET it is a strange thing: many people will talk about anything else they believe in, before they will talk about Jesus Christ.

Suppose that from the beginning every one had been as close-mouthed about Him as most church members are? Simon Peter, for one, would never have become a Christian. If it had not been for his brother Andrew, who knows what would have become of Simon Peter? In commercial lingo, Jesus "sells" himself. First-rate things, ideas or persons always sell themselves. But even the finest articles in the world need to have their story told, they have to be introduced, people have to know about them. Every church, every Christian, ought to be (in the best sense) advertising Christ. Is yours? Are you?

Household Hints

Tender Padding. To prevent a tough top skin, cover puddings while hot with waxed paper.

Thin Icing. If icing is too stiff, add a few drops of hot water—a drop at a time—and mix carefully.

How To Clean Fish. To scale fish easily, dip in scalding water briefly.

Shoe Tip. Shoes take up a good bit of room in a suitcase, so stuff them with hosiery, underwear, cosmetics wrapped separately in washcloths, tissues, bathing cap, or anything else which seems "stuffedable."

NOGAL MESA

By DOROTHY GUICK

If I had known how dry we were in 1951, I'd have said far more about it. Heard radio announcer say last year was New Mexico's driest in 200 years.

Two things I want to remind you of before I forget: The polo foundation depleted their funds during the past year and want you to dig a little deeper to supply the March of Dimes. And the Capitan PTA has a regular meeting Monday, Jan. 7, at 7:30 P. M.

Chloe Peters went to Artesia to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Zumwalt, in their new home. On Friday, she was hostess to a party at her Angus home for the young people of the Nazarene Church.

Opal and LaMoynne Peters made an overnight trip to Clovis. Mrs. Gertrude Morris was hospitalized in Carrizozo and had to postpone plans for her trip to Glendale, Ariz.

Ben Pfingsten returned from Tucumcari declaring the damage of the collapsed water tank is terrific.

Leota and Peg Pfingsten spent New Year's Eve with the George Perrys of Glencoe.

I believe the old year blew itself out. New Year's Day, my husband spent the morning removing fallen trees from the phone line. That gave me time to compose my 10 resolutions for the year. In case you've had trouble thinking of specific ways to mend, maybe these will help:

1. As this is election year, I shall send a pluck and shovel to all Republican and Democratic politicians who plan to travel our Lincoln County roads;
 2. I shall say nothing when the item of "wife depreciation" is mentioned on the income tax record, but keep up the attack to lessen barnyard dirt dumped from the cuffs of blue denims;
 3. I agree to give up all aspirations for a fur coat that might be mistaken for mink and cook only small hams for the same reason;
 4. I shall be careful to keep my mouth shut on windy days;
 5. I intend to send the child of every parent who has not joined the PTA a loud toy drum;
 6. During 1952, I shall not mention LaMoynne Peters' cow or his milking habits, except on request;
 7. For the benefit of the Game Department, I shall buy a fishing license to pay for food to feed the ones I can't catch;
 8. For the highway patrol, I'll do my best to whitewash that black list of traffic deaths;
 9. To help the family budget, I'll try to cultivate a taste for macaroni and synthetic gravy;
 10. In my prayers, I'll ask for rain at home and peace abroad, and skip all the other needs.
- If you have concocted a few better resolutions, send them to me. I can use a lot of reforming.

Shelled pecan meats should be stored in an airtight container in a cool, dry, dark place to preserve their freshness and crispness.

ALTO

By B. L. LUCK

Mrs. Alice Lindsey, Sue and Jimmy and Mrs. Troy Brooks, Terry and Russell, of Denton, Texas, spent the Christmas holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Blood.

Mrs. Jim McEuen spent the holidays with her sister and family at Duncan, N. M.

Dr. and Mrs. M. R. Carner of Dallas, Texas, spent Christmas at their ranch here. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Peebles returned to Dallas with them the following weekend. The Peebles plan to visit Mr. and Mrs. Welch Morgan in Wichita Falls on their return.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McEuen and daughters, June and J. Ella, spent the Christmas holidays with relatives in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hightower are visiting Mrs. W. N. Hightower and Stanley this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Orland Perry of Roswell drove up to their place on Monjeau road today. They drove up part of the way, that is, and walked the rest of the way because of snow and ice.

Reba Jean Luck spent Christmas Day with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pearce and Lillian. Mrs. Pearce and Lillian returned to Alto with her Christmas evening and remained here the rest of the week.

I am late with the Christmas happenings around here. My wife and I returned Sunday from National City, Calif., where we spent Christmas with Sonny and two nephews and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clary of National City and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clary of Wilmington, Calif. We saw Billy McCarty while we were there. He sent regards to all his friends in and around Ruidoso.

Jim and Bonnie McEuen entertained with a community Christmas tree and party Dec. 21. Reminded us of days gone by. Everyone enjoyed it so much.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Lindamood returned to their home last week after spending several weeks with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hamilton in El Paso.

LINCOLN

By MRS. J. E. PHILLIPS

The Girl Scouts, Troop No. 1—26 of them, are going to be in charge of the March of Dimes in the Lincoln community this year. No cards will be sent out. Let's all help them put it over in a big way.

Margie Irish of Santa Fe, who has been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Sara Salazar, and others in Lincoln, will return to Santa Fe Sunday to start school again after the Christmas vacation.

The school bell rang again in Lincoln Wednesday morning. The Dockrays had the L. S. Gipsons and Roger Schenkes in for dinner Christmas evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Ramey and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hulbert went to El Paso for the Sun Carnival. They say it was wonderful, so many beautiful floats in the parade, and it was really a sunny warm day in El Paso.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Griego of Las Vegas, N. M., have been visiting relatives in Lincoln.

Mrs. Saturnino Griego has been very ill but is slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. John Davis and family have returned from their Christmas vacation trip to Oklahoma.

Mrs. Maggie Pfingsten had a group of relatives and friends in Sunday evening for a turkey dinner.

Mrs. Annie Ramey had guests from Ruidoso for dinner Sunday. Evelyn Romero, who attends school in Albuquerque, was home for Christmas.

Buy on these Plain Hard Facts

See for yourself how a Chevrolet truck can cut your costs in every way

FACT No. 1—Costs Less to Buy

FACT No. 2—Saves Money on the Job

FACT No. 3—Right Truck for Every Load

FACT No. 4—Keeps Its Value Longer

AMERICA'S truck users buy on down-to-earth facts, not fancy phrases. That's why more of them buy Chevrolet trucks than any other make... nearly as many as the next two makes combined!

What they get for their money is a rugged, sturdy, dependable truck that's factory-matched to their jobs and payloads—right power, right capacity, right price—with savings in purchase over other trucks of comparable specifications, and a record of savings on the job that can't be topped.

Come in and let's get down to cases on how a Chevrolet truck can cut your hauling or delivery costs. You can't make a better buy—to save your money!
