By JOHN J. DEMPSEY, M. C. WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—After one month, the Eighty-Second Congress has gotten into the swing and appears settling down to the serious business which faces it.

Number one item, of course will be bills and appropriations for defense. The President has submitted his budget which calls for $71.6 billion for the fiscal year 1952. This has been described as the biggest "peace time" budget in the history of the country.

As I stated on the floor of the House on January 17, I will vote for any appropriations necessary for the defense of the country. I don't believe anyone wants to quibble now about dollars, if we are convinced the money is necessary for national defense.

But I believe there are some places where this fat budget can be reduced, and I think indications are that Congress will pare off some of the excess fat. In voting for appropriations, I intend to use this yardstick. If it will help the defense effort, I am for it. If it will not, and is not absolutely necessary for the welfare of the country, I am for postponing it.

Among the items outside of the strict military which I consider badly needed to help New Mexico produce more for the defense effort are the Middle Rio Grande flood control project and the Vermejo irrigation project.

There is little need to recount to those who have lived in New Mexico the importance of flood control work. The Middle Rio Grande program is now underway, and it is of utmost importance to the people of New Mexico that it continue. When I was given my choice of subcommittees, as a member of the House Public Works Committee, I chose flood control and public roads, because I felt these two items are vital to our state economy.

The Vermejo project is another item that can be closely integrated with the defense effort. If the farmers of the nation are to be called upon for all-out food production as they were during World War II, it would seem only logical that any program that would aid toward this end should be expedited.

These are not the only two water control projects in New Mexico in which I am interested, but these have already been started. Development of water resources in our state must be continued if it is to prosper.

DRAFT AGE. The proposal by the Defense Department to lower the draft age to 18 faces a tough fight in Congress. Many members have received strong protests to the age change, and it is unlikely that the bill will be passed in its present form. Several possibilities exist for amendment of the measure. Among these are a compromise age limit, stipulation on the amount of training which must be given, and a provision to allow completion of high school.

Nothing definite has emerged so far on the proposal, but all of the members of Congress are concerned about it, and it will certainly get a careful going over.

AIR BASES. The Air Force has advised that they are "considering" reactivation of Clovis air base. Something definite should be forthcoming on this in the near future. From here, the chances look good that the Curry County field will soon be training fliers for "the wild blue yonder" as it did during World War II.

ON STAGE. A congressman's day does not necessarily end when he walks out of his office. I spent several evenings recently rehearsing for the VIP radio-television amateur hour which was broadcast from Washington last Thursday. Senators, congressmen, cabinet members, Supreme Court justices, ambassadors, other high government officials, generals and admirals joined in the show which was for the benefit of the newly established USO. The hundreds who poured into Constitution Hall for Look What Happened Here!

In the days when some shelves and a kitchen table were the height of convenience, this was an outstanding kitchen. But by today's standards it is a hopelessly outmoded, cramped and hard-to-clean place to work. Look at the tiny sink, the wasted space beneath it and the ugly, dust-catching pipes. To see what was done about it, with help from the Youngstown Kitchen Planning Service, see below.

As bright and cheerful as a sunrise and as modern as tomorrow, this new, attractive, time-saving kitchen was achieved without a single major structural change in the room. Most interesting is the electric sink with an automatic dishwasher that does the family's dishes in less than 10 minutes. It has a large bowl at left and is equipped with an automatic food waste disposer. Flanking the dishwasher are base cabinets that afford spacious work surface and a large amount of storage space, while above are convenient wall storage cabinets.

CAPTAIN BY ANN EARLING

The regular annual meeting of the Lincoln County Ropers Club was held on Thursday, January 25. In addition to the regular business meeting, the following board of directors was elected for the coming year: Wallace Ferguson, president; Fletcher Hall Jr., vice president; Dyer Forbus, member; Roy La May, member; Jack Earling, secretary-treasurer. The new board meets on Thursday, February 8, to discuss plans for rodeo activities.

Mrs. Frank Everts of Tucson, Ariz., and Mrs. Carl B. Schutz of Kansas City, Mo., were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bancroft.

Mrs. Corrinne Provino was host to the bi-weekly Wednesday Bridge Club last week. Mrs. G. A. Titworth and Mrs. Billy Hunt Hobbs tied for high score and Mrs. Byron Ausbrook held low.

Results of basketball games played in Captain last Friday: B teams, Carrizozo 27, Captain 41; A teams, Carrizozo 42, Captain 45. After the game the teenagers held a dancing party in the music room with Carrizozo teenagers as their guests.

Little Penny McKnight is recovering from facial discoloration due to a broken nose, suffered as the result of a kick from his colt.

Mrs. Carl Ness entertained the Thursday Bridge Club in her new home last week. Prizes were received by Mrs. Hugh Bancroft and Mrs. Ed Sawyer.

Results of Captain-Hagerman basketball games played in Hagerman Saturday, January 27: B teams, Captain 42, Hagerman 20; A teams, Captain 38, Hagerman 41.

Theodore Lantau celebrated his eighty-first birthday anniversary on January 21 with his two daughters, Mrs. Edna Laramis and Mrs. Byron Ausbrook, who arrived here from Davenport, Iowa, for the occasion.

I wish to correct an error made in this column two weeks ago concerning the appointment of Earl Harlow as police judge and his age stated as 24. His correct age is 22.

Lequitta Absher, reporter for the Brownie Scouts, reports that Brownie Troops 1, 2 and 3 enjoyed an outing on Saturday, January 27. They hiked to the top of Captain Mountain and held a picnic and marshmallow roast and played games. Seven of the mothers and 21 Brownies enjoyed this outing.

Hollis Cummins is home from college for a few days between semesters.

The following members of the Captain Fire Department attended the quarterly meeting of the Southeastern New Mexico Fire Association held in Carlsbad on Tuesday, January 23: Joe Wigley, Ray Provino, Wallace Ferguson, Lloyd Absher and Orland Wilson.

Mrs. Fred Blingsten is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Foster Putney and family, in Denver, Colo. Her husband, Fred, will join her there later.

There are over 20,000 different species of trees in the world. No one knows just how many, since new ones are constantly being discovered in remote tropical regions.

The performance gave the USO a good start in its campaign to raise money for its morale building activities.

LINCOLN

By MRS. J. E. PHILLIPS

The Lincoln Boy Scouts and their leader, John Davis, are working hard to improve their organization. They are remodeling a room in the rear of the old Dolan house to be used as a club room.

Bobby Romero, a first class Scout, is senior patrol leader. Other officers are: Edward Nell, scribe; Arthur Salas, treasurer; Donnie Zamora, scoutmaster; Barney Aldaz and E. G. Nell, committeemen.

Another new home is being erected here. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilson are the lucky people.

Orlando Sanchez has been ordered to report for induction into the Army February 7.

Joanne Amastae and son, Johnnie, spent a week in El Paso and brought Joanne's sister, Ruth Penfield, back to spend the week end in Lincoln.

Stanley Ramey came over from Ruidoso for a weekend with his grandmother, Mrs. Annie Ramey. Trinidad Cameroz and family have returned to Mexico from a vacation spent here with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cameroz.

Mrs. Chester Womack and sons visited the A. L. Hulberts. The Womacks have bought a home in Albuquerque.

Mrs. Eva Pflingsten is visiting her sister, Mrs. Maggie Pflingsten, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lazaro Zamora and baby daughter brought Cristobal Zamora Sr. back from Albuquerque and remained for a few days visit.

Last week Red Ramey, Mrs. A. L. Hulbert and little Dixie Dackray were ill.

Edmond Salas has been ill for some time but is improved. Mrs. Salas now has the flu and Mrs. Fronie Ramey is substituting for her at school.

Lincoln school's hot lunch program deserves unlimited praise. Mrs. Henek of Captain is in charge and does a wonderful job.

Carrizozo And Ruidoso Featured In New Song

A song copyrighted by the Bryant Music Publications, Nash ville, features the names of Carrizozo and Ruidoso among other New Mexico towns.

Called "New Mexico Scramble," the song tells of an individual loafing in his hometown station who hears the caller announcing New Mexico Stations.

Copies of the song were distributed at the New Mexico Press Association convention held in Truth or Consequences last week end.

Republic's outdoor drama, "The Savage Horde," which comes to the Lyric screen today and tomorrow, stars William Elliott and Adrian Booth.

Elliott, who recently stopped in Carrizozo on his way east, plays the part of a forceful range rider in hair-raising conflict with a ruthless individual determined to seize all small ranches in the area.

The picture is highlighted by one of the most spectacular cattle stampedes ever seen in a motion picture.

Sunday and Monday, February 4-5, Greer Carson and Walter Pidgeon return to the local screen in their unforgettable characterizations of Kay and Clem Miniver, starring in "The Miniver Story," sequel to Academy Award winning "Mrs. Miniver."

The picture shows Mrs. Miniver after six years of war awaiting reunion with her family. She has been told she is suffering from an incurable disease and has little more than a year to live. What she does with this year—how she sees her family through its readjustment to civilian life is the theme of the picture.

The stars are given excellent support by a well chosen cast.

Greer Carson, whose husband owns a ranch near Santa Fe, exhibited cattle at the State Fair in September.

"Dark City," starring Elizabeth Scott, is the Lyric's attraction for February 6-8. The film marks the screen debut of Charlton Heston.

Set against a background of gambling operations in various sections of the country, the picture depicts Heston as a gambler involved in crime to find time for the night club singer (played by Miss Scott) who is carrying a torch for him. He is involved in a nerve shattering race with death as he tries to trap a homicidal madman who believes Heston is responsible for the death of his brother.

The identity of the killer is revealed in an explosive climax.

Additional Marine Corps Reserves To Be Called

Headquarters U. S. Marine Corps has announced plans for the additional requirement of approximately 2,000 Marine Corps reserve ground officers and approximately 2,500 additional staff non-commissioned officers to be called to active duty in the near future. In addition about 250 Marine Corps reserve aviation personnel and aviation ground officers will be required. It was learned the officers to be called will be primarily in the grade of Lieutenant.

Under this new strength requirement the four-month minimum advance notice to Marine Corps reserve personnel ordered to active duty has been found to be impractical and henceforth a minimum of 30 days between receipt of orders and reporting for extended active duty will be authorized for both officers and enlisted personnel.

"Of the total officers to be called approximately 350 are in the Eighth Marine Corps Reserve District, comprising New Mexico, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas," Major C. G. Rollen, director of the Eighth Marine Corps Reserve District, announced.

"It is not presently known just when these men will receive orders," Major Rollen said. "This is simply a projected plan to bring the Marine Corps to a state of readiness."

If the weather remains as sunny and warm as it has most of the winter, perhaps we should look into the possibilities of snow making. Many of our south slopes are tinder dry.

Peg Pflingsten took a bull to the Roswell auction Friday. The Henry Peebles attended the sale also. The good grooming and pleasant friendliness of the delegates to the district FHA meeting in Carrizozo Saturday made me proud of our New Mexico misses.

Mr. and Mrs. Floy Skinner spent Sunday in Fort Stanton visiting with their granddaughter, Mary Ann Cox, before she returned to Portales to begin her second semester of college work. Mr. and Mrs. William Ferguson and some of the children went to the ranch Saturday to begin the tedious work of sorting and packing their belongings.

Roy LaMay returned to Tulsa Monday where he has been driving a Cat on erosion work.

The smoke on the Mesalero Reservation seen most of last week has caused a number of calls to the ranger station. Everyone is interested in doing his part to protect the forests from destruction. However, the Apache smoke is intentional. Bert Shields is supervising the burning of brush and mistletoe in the forest.

A. Hutchinson, ranger at Mayhill, and Charlie Sutton were on the Captain District Friday on a routine safety inspection.

Mrs. Mag Pflingsten celebrates her birthday anniversary on March of Dimes day. I might add that she is the same age as the late President Roosevelt, too.

Nothing Better Than Good Food, Says Ohio Man

If a man isn't able to eat the foods he likes he's in mighty sorry shape—imagine going through life without being able to enjoy a fine big platter of bacon and eggs. That is the way Joseph N. Damillo, 3414 E. 5th Street, Dayton, Ohio, used to be, but since he has been taking HADACOL, he says he feels just fine and is able to enjoy lots and lots of fine food. Mr. Damillo found that taking HADACOL helped his system overcome a deficiency of vitamins B, B, Nicotin and Iron. Here is Mr. Damillo's statement: "My first bottle of HADACOL convinced me that HADACOL was what I needed for the gas on my stomach at night. I could not keep food on my stomach, but after the first bottle I was going great. Now I eat bacon and eggs and other foods that never would stay with me. I also can sleep well at night. Thanks to HADACOL, I will never be without it, and can recommend it to all who suffer with the above ailments that I had. I know because I have suffered for quite some time."

1950 Report Submitted By Memorial Commission

The calendar year of 1950 was a year of great activity for the Old Lincoln County Memorial Commission...

The commission was formed July 1, 1949, for the purpose of preserving and administering the Old Courthouse (museum) at Lincoln...

This area, especially rich in history, embraced all of present day Chaves, Lincoln, Lea and Eddy counties...

Repair and maintenance, in authentic manner, of the historically valuable and irreplaceable 75-year-old courthouse at Lincoln...

The commission has retrofitted the living quarters, library, office and reception room of the old building...

Roofs, gutters, and plumbing have been extensively repaired. Exterior plaster has been re-applied.

Additional wiring, lighting the diorama displays and the stairway has been added...

An adequate septic tank has been installed, completing sanitary facilities for the many visitors to the old courthouse.

The commission plans, for the future of the building and property at Lincoln: (1) extensive painting, (2) wrecking away, outside-stairway at the front of the building...

In these, and other matters, the commission has gratefully received the advice and cooperation of the personnel of Section III officers of the National Park Service...

The commission has recently arrived at an agreement with the Lincoln School, covering the use of land at the back of the courthouse for the corral wall...

The commission has arranged to acquire a four-acre plot west of the courthouse adjoining the present property. This acquisition will serve to prevent any undesirable commercial property being built there...

In the town of Lincoln, 10 cast aluminum historical markers have been placed, locating historical sites of interest. Detailing information about each site...

The museum is staffed at all times by at least two attendants who welcome and register guests, offer guidance and answer questions.

Every state in the Union, several territories and foreign countries are represented on the register at the Old Courthouse. Total registrations for 1950 were 15,331.

Each adult guest is presented with a free copy of the commission's pamphlet, "Restorations in Historic Lincoln, New Mexico." The Old Courthouse houses the George Curry collection of photographs of eminent New Mexicans...

During 1950, the commission acquired the collection of the late George A. Titworth, pioneer rancher, merchant and antiquarian of Captain. It contains material of archaeological significance, as well as weapons, tools and implements of pioneer life.

A part of the Bill Hale archaeological collection has been secured for the Old Courthouse through the efforts of Howard Braun, Chaves County Archaeological and Historical Society, af-

Saturday evening a group from the Hondo Valley gathered at the Lincoln County Museum, Lincoln to practice square dancing...

The individuals who practiced square dancing at the museum were mainly those who have appeared on the Lincoln Day program in the dancing sequences.

Messrs. and Mesdames Fred McTeigue, Joe L. Salcido, Silvestre Salcido, Lupe Castillo, Roman Nunez, Albert Kimbrell and John Davis (Mrs. Davis is custodian at the museum)...

Several spectators also enjoyed the fun. Mrs. Serapio Nunez and daughter, Gloria, Hondo, were Sunday guests at the R. C. Nunez home.

Roman Nunez was in Albuquerque last Sunday and Monday. While there he saw several former state employees of his acquaintance...

Don't forget the program and dance at the Hondo gym Saturday evening, February 3, for the benefit of the Hondo PTA.

Mrs. Serapio Nunez and daughter, Gloria, Hondo, were Sunday guests at the R. C. Nunez home.

Roman Nunez was in Albuquerque last Sunday and Monday. While there he saw several former state employees of his acquaintance...

The museum staff answers hundreds of inquiries from scholars and researchers on historical points, as well as inquiries from elementary school students, prospective tourists, and the merely curious.

A branch of the New Mexico State Library Extension Service has been installed in the Old Courthouse and features primarily, volumes of New Mexico and southwestern history.

Lincoln is one of very few completely unpopulated frontier towns in the entire West, and its situation in an area singularly rich in history of the most colorful and interesting kind.

This commission has been functioning only 18 months. It plans to reach out over the entire area of Old Lincoln County to further the work of historical restoration, preservation and interpretation effectively on as many fronts as possible.

Following precepts laid down by former Governor George Curry (one-time state historian), the commission is endeavoring to make of it an "arsenal of information" in addition to featuring the Old Courthouse as a tourist attraction.

The museum is staffed at all times by at least two attendants who welcome and register guests, offer guidance and answer questions.

A coffee party was given in the Craft Shop on Tuesday, being in the form of a farewell to Gunnar Barlund, who is leaving on the first of February for the West Coast. Mr. Barlund will be missed by many of the boys due to his many sided talents and good natured help.

The new addition to the Seamen's Social Club was opened last Wednesday. While it is not completely finished, it can be used for a reading room.

Thanks are sent to Mrs. Edna Schlerenberg of La Huerta Curlo Shop at Glencoe for a number of books sent in to the library as the result of the request in this column.

Dave Hutzler and Hubert Walker left here on Monday to take jobs as security guards at the government installation at West Vaughn, N. M.

E. R. Smallwood has taken over the Fort cleaning shop and will do his best to please.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Payman and the Clyde Mullins did the honors at the monthly party and dance of the Bonita Club last Saturday night.

A check for $20 was sent to the county chapter of the National Polio Foundation at Carrizozo by the ladies of the auxiliary of the Captain Veterans of Foreign Wars unit.

Mrs. Tom Bureson was the hostess for the weekly USPHS Bridge Club last Thursday. Sixteen ladies were present and prizes were awarded to Mesdames Ness, Ziporyn, Shaw and Kuslanovich.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Payton had a little birthday celebration for "Jiggs" Marr last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Keeney weekended with the Percy Parkers and were present at the Bonita Club dance.

Mrs. James H. Howard is now working in the main office and will be a welcome help to the overworked staff.

Dr. and Mrs. Marvin Ziporyn are leaving for Washington, D. C. on Thursday. They expect to be gone a little more than two weeks.

About 80 people were in attendance at the weekly teen-ager party held at the VFW Home in Captain last Friday night. This is a really worthwhile undertaking and great credit should go to those who started the affair.

According to word from New York City, Ellis Island Marine Hospital will be closed on February 1, the date having been pushed up from March 1. Dr. Roy E. Whitehead is slated to go to the Marine Hospital at Manhattan Beach, Brooklyn, N. Y.

CORONA

Mrs. A. E. Mulkey, the News- Outlook correspondent for Corona, is staying at the hospital in Carrizozo to be near her son, Lee, who has been seriously ill. This week, however, he is reported by his mother as improving.

The following items were given the publishers by Mrs. Mulkey when they visited with her at the hospital:

Mrs. Mulkey says her entire family has had a checkup by Dr. J. P. Turner since Lee has been in the hospital.

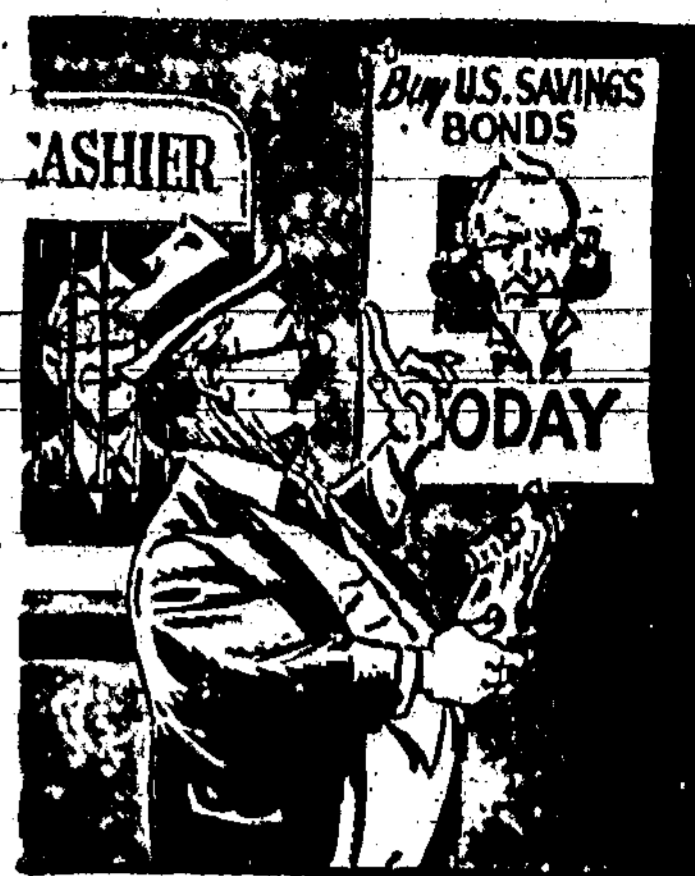

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Daniels, Livingston, Texas, have a new boy, Samuel James, born Saturday night at the hospital in Carrizozo. The infant weighed 6 pounds at birth. Mrs. Daniels is the former Miss Sue Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davidson, Corona.

Betty Ann Bond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dimmit Bond, is in the hospital at Carrizozo. Mrs. Bond is staying there, too, in order to be near Betty Ann.

Mrs. Raymond Bingham and her three little girls have returned from Carrizozo where the girls were hospitalized.

At various states in the present dispute with the brotherhoods of railroad operating employees... the railroads agreed to arbitrate. The union leaders refused. ... The railroads accepted the recommendations of President Truman's Emergency Board. The union leaders refused. ... The railroads accepted the White House proposal of August 19, 1950. The union leaders refused. Finally an Agreement was signed at the White House on December 21, 1950. Now the union leaders seek to repudiate the Agreement. The railroads stand ready to put the terms of this Agreement into effect immediately, with back pay at the rates and date indicated. The Agreement is given in full below.

- MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT Washington, D. C. December 21, 1950 1. Establish 40 hour week for yardmen with increase of 23 cents effective October 1, 1950, and additional 2 cents effective January 1, 1951. 2. Set aside 40 hour week agreement until January 1, 1952, and establish 6 day work week for yardmen. Effective with the first pay roll period after 30 days from the date of execution of the formal agreement, yardmen required by the carrier to work on the 7th day to be paid overtime rates except engineers who shall receive straight time rates for the 7th day. This does not create guarantees where they do not now exist. On and after October 1, 1951, three months' notice to be given of desired to go on 40 hour week. Provide for consideration of availability of manpower and 4 cents per hour if and when the 40 hour week actually becomes effective. 3. Settle rules for 40 hour week and 6 day week. 4. Grant yard conductors and brakemen other rules such as daily earnings minimum, car retarder operators and No. 81. 5. Settle following rules: Initial Terminal Delay (Conductors and Trainmen) Interdivisional Runs Pooling Caboose (Conductors and Trainmen) Reporting for Duty More than One Class of Service Switching Limits Air Hose (Conductors and Trainmen) Western Differential and Double Header and Tonnage Limitation (Conductors and Trainmen, all Territories) 6. Road men to receive 5 cents per hour increase effective October 1, 1950 and additional 5 cents per hour increase effective January 1, 1951. 7. Quarterly adjustment of wages on basis of 2001 of living index (1 point to equal 1/2 per hour. First adjustment April 1, 1951. Base to be 176).

- (2) 8. Agreement embodying principles applicable to yardmasters to be entered into for benefit of yardmasters. 9. Effective October 1, 1950, the basic hours of dining car stewards shall be reduced from 225 to 205 hours per month; no penalty overtime to accrue until 240 hours have been worked, the hours between 205 and 240 to be paid for at the pro rata rate. Effective February 1, 1951, overtime at time and one-half shall accrue after 220 hours have been worked. The basic monthly salary to be paid for the 205-hour month shall be the same as that now paid for the 225-hour month. Except that four dollars and ten cents ($4.10) month shall be added to the present monthly rate effective January 1, 1951. 10. In consideration of above, this agreement to be effective until October 1, 1953, and thereafter until changed or modified under provisions of Railway Labor Act. Moratorium on proposals for changes in wages or rules until October 1, 1953, as follows: No proposals for changes in rates of pay, rules or working conditions will be initiated or progressed by the employees against any carrier or by any carrier against its employees, parties hereto, within a period of three years from October 1, 1950, except such proposals for changes in rules or working conditions which may have been initiated prior to June 1, 1950. Provided, however, that if as the result of government wage stabilization policy, workers generally have been permitted to receive so-called annual improvement increases, the parties may meet with Doctor Steelman on or after July 1, 1952, to discuss whether or not further wage adjustments for employees covered by this agreement are justified; in addition to increases received of either party for living formula. At the request of either party for such a meeting Doctor Steelman shall fix the time and place for such meeting. Doctor Steelman and the parties may secure information from the wage stabilization authorities or other government agencies. If the parties are unable to agree at such conferences whether or not further wage adjustments are justified

- (3) they shall ask the President of the United States to appoint a referee who shall sit with them and consider all pertinent information, and decide promptly whether further wage increases are justified and, if so, what such increases should be, and the effective date thereof. The carrier representatives shall have one vote, the employee representatives shall have one vote and the referee shall have one vote. 11. If the parties cannot agree on details of agreement or rules they shall be submitted to John R. Steelman for final decision. The usual protections for arbitrators, miscellaneous rates, special allowances, and existing money differential in formal agreement.  The foregoing will not debar management and committees on individual railroads from mutually agreeing upon changes in rates, rules and working conditions of employees covered by this agreement.

Signatures of representatives from Eastern, Southeastern, and Western Railroads, including Grand Chief Engineers, Chairman of Western Carriers' Conference Comm., and Chairman of Western Carriers' Conference.

GOP Appointments Urged

PRESIDENT TRUMAN isn't likely to move on it, but some of his genuine well-wishers have been dropping discreet hints that the most important thing he can do to bring about national unity is appoint two top Republicans to his cabinet—including possibly Governor Dewey as secretary of state.

Most unfortunate difficulty about the current bickering over foreign policy is the reaction abroad. All over Europe there has been indecision and dismay. The recent foreign-policy controversies came on top of the Korean disaster, also on top of the President's music-critic letter, both of which increased lack of confidence among our allies.

Most people don't realize it, but the music-critic letter was published all the way from Africa to Norway. To the man in the street it may have been humorous, but to the prime ministers and foreign ministers of Europe, it aroused fear that the head of the United States government might lose his temper, not merely over a music critic but over a potential enemy, and plunge the world into war.

For these and other reasons, some of the top Democrats in Washington ardently hope for more unity, even if it means surrounding the President with a few Republicans.

They recall how President Roosevelt increased unity before Pearl Harbor by bringing two leading Republicans—Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox—into his cabinet as secretary of war and secretary of the navy. And while there is not too much personal animosity about Governor Dewey in Democratic circles, he is recognized as a man of real ability and deep sincerity as far as his country is concerned.

Furthermore, it is believed that Secretary of State Acheson would be glad to bow out in favor of Dewey in the interest of national unity. Acheson and Dewey have been conferring privately for the last six months, and several times Dewey has come to Acheson's support. Finally Acheson had privately hoped to leave the state department, though he does not want to do so under fire.

Naval Comeback It was just about a year ago the most harassed and criticized man in Washington was Secretary of the Navy Francis Matthews. At that time, the admirals were up in arms over unification and one admiral had to be relieved. Captain Crommelin was campaigning for a super airplane carrier. A secret propaganda agency in the navy was shooting out malice against the air forces. And Matthews was branded as a freshwater executive from Omaha whose knowledge of shipping was confined to mud scows on the Missouri river.

However, the political pendulum has a habit of swinging into Washington, and today Matthews is riding the crest of the wave. Secret of his comeback was keeping quiet, being a good sport and working closely with the efficient new executive whom he picked to be chief of naval operations—Adm. Forrest Sherman.

Today the navy has scored some real triumphs in the Korean War, especially the evacuation of Hungnam where not a single life was lost. And the much-debated super airplane carrier which the navy so much wanted is to be built after all.

Note — Admiral Sherman, who was Matthews' personal choice to be chief of naval operations, has been so fair with the army and air force that, if General Bradley should be promoted to become white house chief of staff, Sherman would probably succeed him as chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Morse Says No

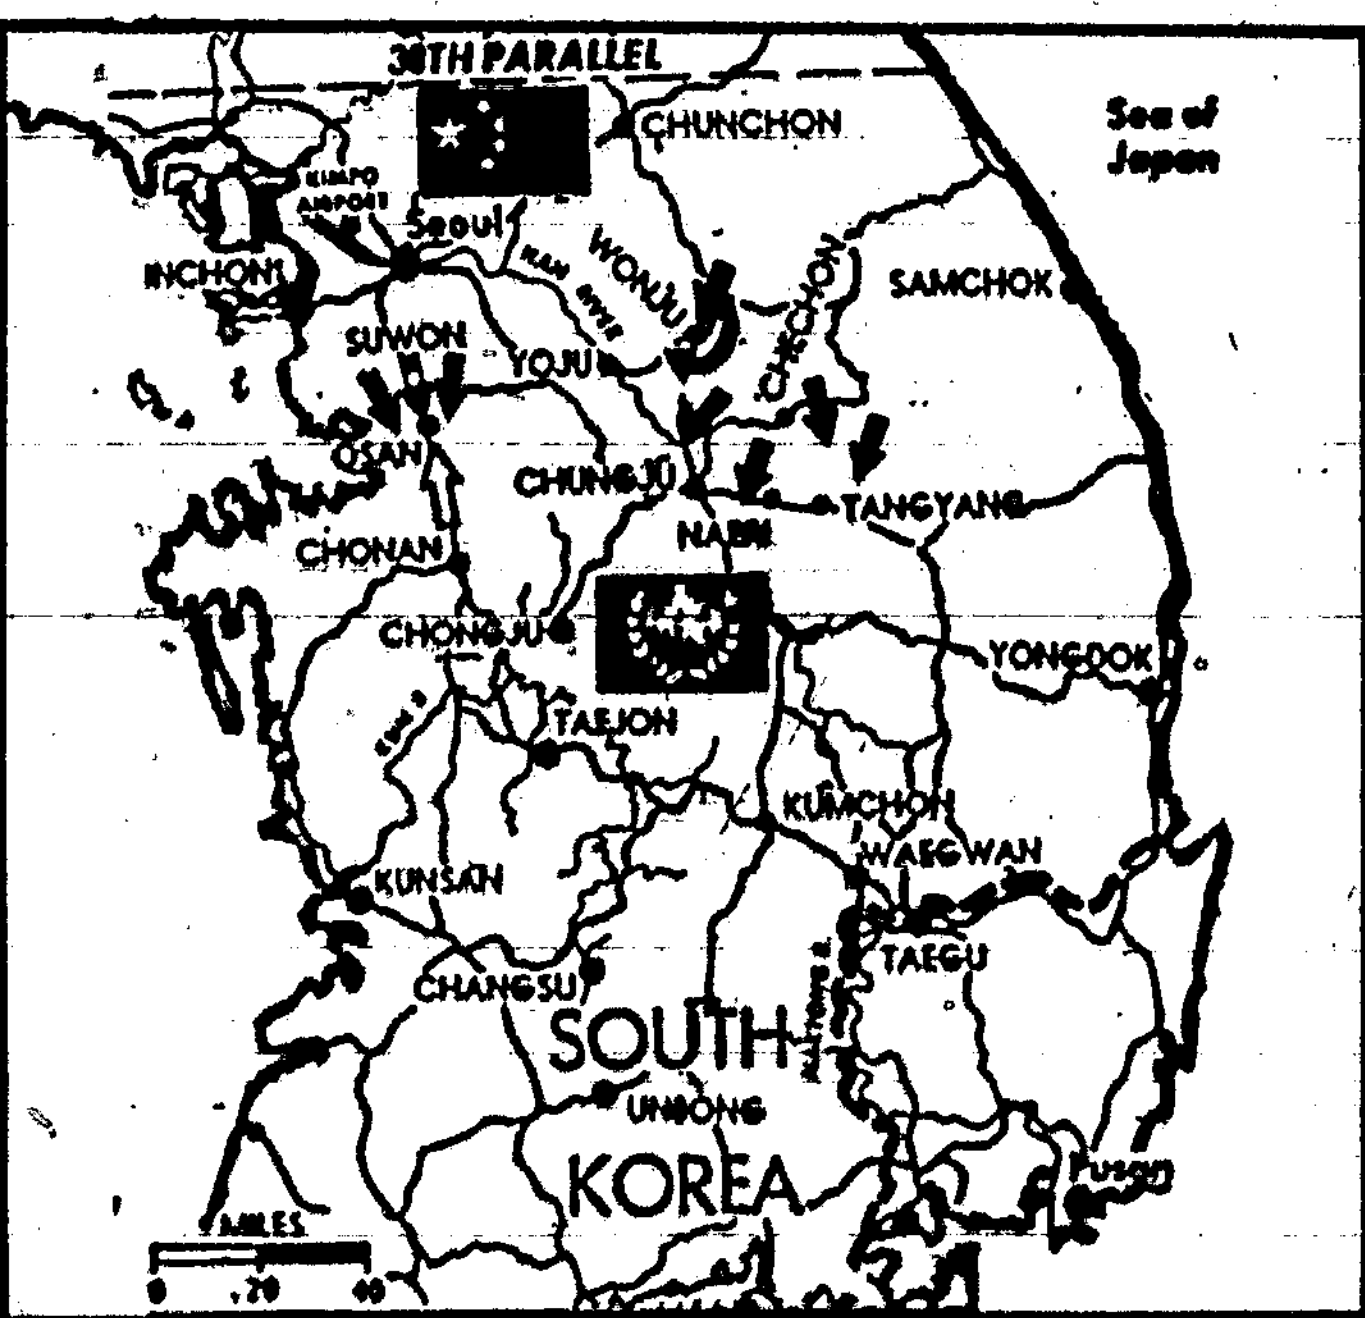

During every recent election, Wayne Morse, the independent, pro-labor senator from Oregon, has waltzed out into the political arena to make speeches for his conservative anti-labor GOP Col-league. No matter how much Morse disagreed with those colleagues, he rallied to their support at election time—even making a speech against his close friend, Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, in favor of the Chicago Tribune's candidate, Curley Brooks. Now, however, Morse says "no more."

"They need not think they can get me to campaign all around the country for reactionary candidates," he told friends, "and then discipline me in the Republican conference by not putting me on the policy committee. I've supported my last reactionary Republican and they can keep it."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Brunt of New Tax Program Likely To Fall on Lower Income Groups; Korean Evacuation Debate Rages

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

Bitter battles raged in Korea as North Korean and Chinese Communist troops continued pressure all along the line. United Nations forces retreated slowly toward the Pusan beachhead (dotted line) and what seemed possible evacuation of that war-torn country.

TAXES:

Era of Austerity

President Truman drew gasps from Wall Street in his message to Congress in which he asked an increase in taxes of "more than $4 billion a year and outlined a defense program totaling $140 billion. He also called for broader wage-price controls, one million more men and women in the armed forces within a few months, and four million more in defense production by the end of 1951.

But what made the little man want to crawl into a hole was the President's tax program. The brunt of that increase would fall on the middle-to-lower income taxpayer.

Some of Mr. Truman's critics said his program would mean an era of austerity for the American people. Some said they thought the President was "hysterical" and others said he had thrown the American standard of living out the window.

Although the nation was shocked by the President's message, Americans in every walk of life were beginning to understand the scope of the program we have undertaken. Most people realized to carry out that program a great increase in taxes would be necessary—possibly the highest in United States history.

It became increasingly clear, too, that such items as automobiles, electric refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, television and radio sets will not be available in such abundance to the American public as in recent years. Production of these items may be cut by one-third to well over one-half before the year is over.

By the end of 1951 the United States will be devoting about 18 per cent of its national output to defense. At the peak of World War II it was 45 per cent of the nation's output was for defense.

CIVIL DEFENSE:

Truman Signs Bill

President Truman signed the civilian-defense bill enacted in the closing days of the last Congress which provides a defense program estimated to cost about $3,100,000,000.

The measure directs the federal government to provide leadership to the states and communities in developing arrangements to protect civilian life and property in the country's 10 critical target areas against possible enemy attack by atomic bombs, biological or bacteriological warfare or any other technique.

The bill requires states to match federal funds provided for air raid construction. It was on this point that the bill received some criticism.

Governor Dewey of New York, for instance, said his state simply could not find the $249,000,000 indicated as its need.

Civilian defense is the one phase of all-out war in which this country lags. Britain has added to bomb shelters built during World War II and has an extensive training program for rescue in the event of atomic attack.

Poster Boy

Twelve-year-old Robert Lawrence McKemie, Jr., 1211 March of Dimes poster boy, proudly displays President Truman's autograph. The boy visited the chief executive on the opening day of the nationwide drive for funds to finance the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation.

KOREA:

Evacuation Inevitable

Bitter battles raged in Korea as United Nations forces continued their retreat toward Pusan and what seemed inevitable evacuation of that war-torn country.

And while the battles raged in Korea, bitter debate continued in Washington as to whether or not U.N. forces should evacuate the peninsula. There were rumors in military circles, too, that the U.S. had decided on a stand in Korea.

To the average man in the United States, to the people in the home towns of America, who are anything but defeatists, the Washington debates seemed ironic. The average American was counting the odds, estimated now at five to one, and which the Chinese can increase at will. In recent weeks there has been considerable confusion and a number of contradictions as to the actual number of Chinese troops thrown against U.N. forces.

To many the question now seemed to be whether or not U.N. troops could successfully withdraw to the Pusan beachhead and carry out an evacuation. The situation was described like this: Now it's a question of saving face or saving our hides—and we'd better save our hides. We'll need them in the future against the Communists.

The United States army in Korea is the only one this nation has at present and it must form the core of the new army we have dedicated ourselves to building in an effort to preserve our democratic way of life. Attempting to hold in Korea would risk this army—too great a risk in the opinion of many observers.

Whatever the decision, one thing the average American will tell the world: Man-for-man, the North Korean and Chinese soldier is no match for a well trained American soldier. And any victory in Korea will cost the North Koreans and Chinese dearly.

POLITICS:

Matter of Tradition

Critics of President Truman's foreign policy, led by Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, charged the President "violated the laws and the constitution of the United States" by sending troops to Korea and Europe without congressional approval.

In the last few weeks the thunder of debate on the subject has rolled through the halls of Congress. It is not, however, a new theme.

The issue of the President's right to send troops to carry out obligations of the country arose in the administrations of Washington, John Adams, Jefferson, Jackson, Tyler, Polk, Lincoln, Grant, McKinley, Taft, Wilson and the late Franklin Roosevelt.

And in every case the issue was settled in favor of the President, namely, that it is his sworn duty to carry out the obligations of the United States.

In this particular case, when the Senate ratified the North Atlantic treaty it made the obligations of that treaty law, binding on the President of the United States no matter who he might be. Certain articles of the treaty bind the North Atlantic nations to united effort to maintain the security of the North Atlantic area, including the use of armed force if necessary.

It is these articles of the treaty that the President is upholding in sending troops to Europe. If the Congress should deny the President the right to use troops or arms abroad, then certain articles of the treaty become meaningless.

In the few cases where similar questions have reached the Supreme Court, the President has been upheld in his action. It would seem that Senator Taft's attack, therefore, can not succeed in the face of tradition.

CROPS:

Prospects Not Bright

The agriculture department reported that crop prospects are not so bright as they might be for attaining the government's goal of a record harvest.

Shortages of soil moisture in important southwestern wheat areas, prospects of less irrigation water from snows, freeze damage to fall-sown grain crops in the south, loss of farm labor to the armed services and industry, and the prospects of shortages of repair parts for farm machinery were listed as having an effect on production.

The farmers of the nation face a production quota greater than any ever demanded in this country. Increased grain production is needed to rebuild surpluses which have dwindled in the last two years. In addition to rebuilding surpluses, the United States must again assume the responsibility of feeding much of the world if open conflict breaks out between the east and west.

ARMED FORCES:

Goal Increased 260,000

Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant to Secretary of Defense Marshall, told the armed services subcommittee that the goal of the nation's fighting forces had been increased 260,000 by June 30.

The armed forces had been working on a program of 3,200,000 by June 30.

Army, navy, air force, and marine officials urged the drafting of 18 year olds. Unless the draft age is lowered, Mrs. Rosenberg said married men and fathers, and possibly some veterans, would have to be drafted to meet the expanded quota.

Meanwhile, the FBI reported it had investigated nearly 8,000 cases of alleged violations of the draft law during the last six months. The bureau was reportedly receiving more than 2,000 such cases for inquiry every month.

More Men

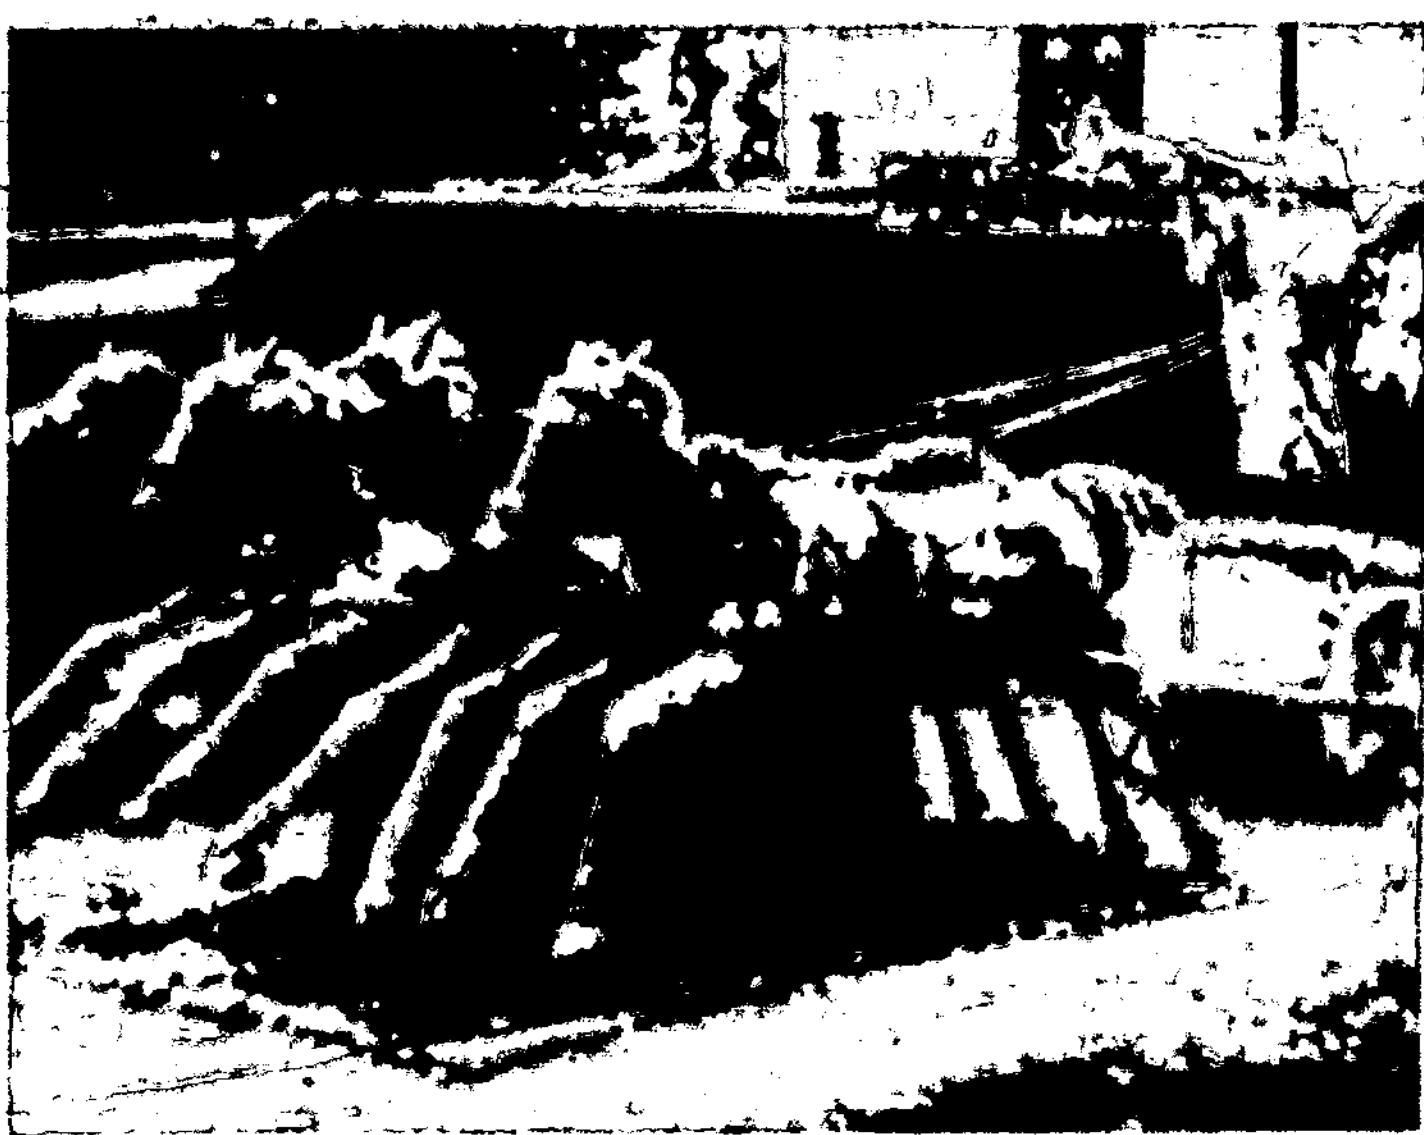

Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant defense secretary in charge of manpower, told a Senate armed services subcommittee that President Truman had increased the goal for the armed services from 3,200,000 to 3,460,000 men by June 30. She said the increase would require the drafting of 18 year olds.

Many Presidents Suffered Letter Writing Trouble

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Besides President Truman there have been a number of hot-tempered letter writers in the White House, Andrew Jackson was one of them.

In one letter he called the Bank of the United States "a hydra of corruption." In another, he exploded with indignation at a former cabinet member who ran out on a duel.

There is no record, however, of any of Jackson's letters setting that nation's tongue-wagging as have certain letters of the 20th century President who once caused a bronze statue of Jackson to be erected in front of the Jackson County, Mo., court house.

But for free-swinging prose, President Truman can hold his own with Old Hickory. It would be hard to beat the letter in which he called the marine corps a navy police force with a propaganda machine almost equal to Stalin's.

One fact most people in the country have overlooked is the fact that the President has written lots of letters on all sorts of subjects, and nearly all of them are good-humored. It's his occasional letters in the Andrew Jackson vein that got all the public attention.

Thomas Jefferson complained about people making public letters received from him. He said: "I should wish never to put pen to paper, and the more so because of the irascible practice some people have of publishing one's letters without leave."

And it has been argued that the public interest sometimes is served by publishing a letter, without the writer's consent—to provide, for instance, a fuller insight into the writer's views.

Many persons who have received letters from presidents have refused, as a matter of course, to publish them. Before they would allow publication of such letters consent of the writer would be necessary.

Of course a president-like anybody else—could copyright his letters, or they could be copyrighted by anyone who inherited them as part of his estate.

Star Dust STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO. By INEZ GERHARD. GLORIA SWANSON certainly never expected that her greatest fame would come when she was a grandmother. Winner of the National Board of Review's award as best actress of the year, for "Sunset Boulevard," she has rocked New York audiences back on their heels with her performance on the stage in "20th Century."

GLORIA SWANSON

One critic wrote, "It long since ceased to be startling that Gloria Swanson was amazing. It's only startling that she can go on being more amazing." Meanwhile she turns out a delightful radio program five times a week, on Mutual. And though her hair is touched with gray, she sometimes looks young enough to be her own daughter!

Jose Ferrer, with his film, "Cyrono de Borgoro" showing in a neighboring theatre, appears opposite Gloria in the play, giving a magnificent performance. He also directed it so well that he could have been content with it. As a highly eccentric producer of plays he brings every crumb of humor out of his role; as a director he did the same for the other actors.

Thelma Ritter gets star billing in her eighth picture, heading the cast of "The Marriage Brokers Story" (working title). She had served her time on the stage and in radio before tackling Hollywood; "Miracle on 34th Street" was her first picture. "A Letter to Three Wives" the one that made people sit up and take notice. "All About Eve" and "The Matting Season" are her latest.

LAST MONTH Lena got word that her sister in Racine was sick and needed her, and so, not knowing when she'd be back, she gave Otto permission to cash his pay check himself, warning him, however, to stay away from Stegmeyer's where the boozers could only lead him into evil ways. The following Friday night when Otto cashed his check he took the $37 in bills, rolled them into a wad, put a rubber band on it and shoved it into a pants pocket, along with an odd quarter left over from his previous week's spending money.

Never press velvet or any of the deep-napped materials. Place a damp cloth over the iron surface, after setting the iron upright.

Metallic materials should be treated carefully. First of all, make sure that you have a good pair of very sharp scissors for cutting the material.

Press metallic fabrics as little as possible while working with them, and then only with a warm, rather than hot iron.

If the outer fabric is likely to be marked with seams, when you press on the inside, lay strips of paper under each seam edge before pressing.

Straighten Fabrics Before Cutting

Warp and wool threads often get out of line during their finishing, printing or rolling processes.

Clip the selvage, catch one crosswise thread and pull gently out of the fabric.

Materials which have an even warp and wool, such as lightweight flannels, flat crepe, crepe de Chine and percale, clip selvage and tear quickly across to straighten.

Only very strong materials, ribbed or corded fabrics which do not tear easily should not be torn.

Plastic Materials Need Light Handling Smooth plastic materials out over a door before you start cutting and sewing.

No pins, basting or tacks should be used on the synthetic materials. Work with these materials only when the temperature is moderate.

Dampness which makes plastic stretchy and moist can be overcome to some extent by applying a bit of talcum powder to the material.

KATHLEEN NORRIS Marriage Can Be Successful

A TENNESSEE WOMAN, Alice Marble, writes me of her distress over her 10-year-old daughter's determination to marry.

"You said that couples could be married on an income as low as $100 a month," writes Mrs. Marble. "You certainly can know very little of conditions today if you can advise young people to take any such risk."

"We used all the arguments and pleading we can think of, but Gwen is determined to ruin her life and jump into marriage without the slightest idea of what she is doing."

For one answer to this approach I would like to show Alice Marble some of the scores of letters that that article brought me.

And by success and plenty I don't mean the sensational top-ed friend of our years ago, "All at once Sara's got a backer for her play and I've sold my patent that you all thought was so crackpot for sixty grand."

"Sounds like the beginning of good times!" someone said, after we had all gasped awhile.

Never Recovered Happiness "Sounds like the end of them," he predicted firmly.

To be sure, not all such couples achieve world fame or great riches. But gradually, energetic, ambitious men and women win their places.

So the truth appears to be that there is no income upon which the right man and woman may not marry.

ers who accumulated great fortunes, I mean the hundreds and thousands—yes, millions among us who started with nothing and had all the fun and excitement of conquering poverty and uncertainty.

Yes, and all the fun, too. The two-room home high up long flights of stairs in a big city; the marketing at push carts with every tomato and half pound of lean beef precious; the museums and concerts and galleries, all free; the long walks, the happy associations over dinners of spaghetti in basement restaurants; the long walks along crowded piers and through bustling streets, or in the green shade of the parks.

And then the beginnings of success. The poem or the story sold; the humble job of correcting proof in a magazine office, the miracle of selling the radio serial.

Power of God
Lesson for February 4, 1951

ONCE UPON a time, miracles were one of the strongest arguments supporting Christianity. In our times, it is quite the reverse; miracles are for many Christians a major embarrassment, and for others a principal reason for not believing what Christians teach. There is no room in one column to debate this question. A very readable recent book on this line by C. S. Dr. Foreman Lewis, called "Miracles," may help to clear the reader's mind, showing that the common idea that miracles are impossible, is a mistaken idea.

Christ the Power of God
PAUL calls Jesus—Christ—"the power of God" (1 Cor. 1:24). Whether you believe that Jesus could perform miracles or not, whether you find such a belief hard or easy, depends a good deal on what you think of Christ. If you think of him as a man much like yourself, and no more, then you have as hard a time believing that he could work miracles as in believing that you yourself could do so. But if you believe that in some way he was more than simply a man like yourself, but that God was in Christ (as Paul said), that in his mind was the wisdom of God and through him surged the power of God, you will not have much difficulty with the miracles.

But suppose you cannot start with the high faith in Christ as Son of God; at least you can start with historical facts which are not reasonably-doubtful. One of these facts is that there lived a person named Jesus of Nazareth. Another fact is that it was believed about him, already in his lifetime, that he could do all sorts of astounding things—cure impotent cripples, bring people back from the dead, stop a storm in his tracks, drive demons back to hell. You will have to admit that this Jesus must have been an extraordinary character to have such things believed of him, even if they were not true. Starting from that point, you may be led to look into this man's story further, and—like many others—may come out at last believing in Christ as the divine Lord.

Motive for Miracles

ONE THING the thoughtful reader will see in these miracles told of Jesus: they were not done to show off, Jesus himself did not brag about them, nor call attention to them, nor talk much about them. He saw people in trouble, and he came to their help. It was as simple as that. He is not reported to have stopped all the storms in Galilee, but only one; and that one not to save himself nor even to save any one else from death, but to save them from fear. He sent the demons tumbling into the lake, not to create a wonder-tale nor to show how much stronger he was than demons, but he did it to help a poor wild madman back to sanity. He did not go around to Tiberias in Palestine bringing all the corpses back to life and cheating the undertakers for three years running. On the contrary, he went to Jairus's home only when asked. There is a certain modesty about all these miracles; and there is love in each of them. The great difference between miracle-working power in the hands of Jesus and such power in the hands of ordinary men, is suggested in the remarkable tale by H. G. Wells, "The Man Who Could Work Miracles." It is the tale of a man who found to his dismay that his supernatural powers brought only disaster to the world.

The Most Personal Miracle

SOME YEARS ago there was a young man in Austria who had for a long time put up an unsuccessful struggle with himself. To put it shortly, just had him in his grip. He had about given himself up as a bad job, when he made the acquaintance of two young priests. He asked himself: What do these men say that I do not have? And he discovered the answer: Christ. That was how Baron von Hugel, one of the great minds of our century, became a Christian. He discovered that Christ, now can work a miracle in a man; and one miracle, experienced in one's own life, can be of more value than a hundred miracles recorded on paper.

Household Hints

The ink-written address on a package can be protected from being smeared by water or snow if you rub it several times with the stump of a white candle.

To clean a stone or brick fireplace, hot water and strong soap applied with a stiff brush are often adequate. If they're not, mix up a paste of powdered pumice and concentrated ammonia and cover the smoked areas with it. Let it stay about an hour or two before scrubbing it off with hot water and soap.

For tile fireplaces, sprinkle salt on the tiles and then rub them with half of a raw lemon. Follow this with a good scrubbing.

If you burn pine wood and want to prevent the gum from collecting on fireplace stones, bricks or tiles, coat them, after they're thoroughly cleaned, with boiled linseed oil.

To keep glue fresh when it's being used continually, throw away the top of the can, and push the brush or applicator handle through a large ball of modeling clay. The ball should be somewhat bigger than the mouth of the can, and it should be placed on the handle so that the brush reaches the glue. Thus, by resting the ball of clay on top of the can, air is kept out and the brush is always ready to use.

If something needs gluing and you have no glue, colorless nail polish makes a good substitute for most purposes.

To save wear and tear on your tongue when you have a lot of envelopes and stamps to lick, wrap an ice cube in a thick rag and moisten with that.

When vegetable glue gets dry and hard, it can be softened up with hot vinegar. Add the vinegar drop by drop and keep stirring until the glue is soft. Cold vinegar can be used, but it takes several days to soak through and become effective.

Before tying up a package, moisten the string. When the string dries, it will shrink and tighten up the knots.

Chimney soot, if it's free from salt, makes exceptionally fine fertilizer for gardens and potted plants.

Railroad Worker And His Family Praise Hadacol

Hadacol Supplies Vitamin B₁, B₂, Nicotin and Iron Which His System Lacked.

Railroad men all over the country are known for their extreme diligence and their wonderful sense of observation. Mr. G. E. Moncus, who has had sixteen full years of the service of a railroad flagman, is no exception. He is proud of the excellent job he is doing, and his observation powers are not limited to his job by any means. For instance, when a railroad flagman, he decided he had better try the same thing and he, too, might feel better. Yes, Mr. Moncus started taking HADACOL and now he says, "I have lots of pep and energy and just feel good in every way." Mr. and Mrs. Moncus were suffering deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Nicotin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Mr. Moncus says: "Quite some time ago I began to have indigestion and sour stomach. My food just didn't digest right. I'd get a full, 'gassy' feeling after I ate. This affected my appetite and my weight. I was run-down, too. My wife started taking HADACOL and so did my daughter. I saw how much it had helped them, so I started taking it. And HADACOL has certainly helped me, too. My stomach never bothers me any more. I have a terrific appetite. I have lots of pep and energy and just feel good in every way. I think HADACOL is wonderful. I wish I could tell everyone just how wonderful it really is."
